APO Book Exchange Begins February 4

The Alpha Phi Omega book exchange, which is held at the beginning of every semester, will take place during the week of February 4 to February 8. It will be held in the HUB lobby Monday through Friday from 1 to 5 daily with one additional day, Monday, February 11th, for picking up books or money.

For anyone not acquainted with the exchange, it is run by Delta Sigma chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, a national service fraternity. Any profit which may result from this exchange is given to charity. Besides giving to charity, individuals are also saving considerably on the purchase, or sale of books.

Fee Charged

A nominal fee is charged for handling, and for the first time, these charges have been made variable. The usual charge of 15c is made if the sale is over $1. If the sale is less than $1, only 10c is charged; and the biggest improvement is that if the book is not sold, the fee will be only 5c. It is hoped that these improvements in the handling charges will result in the most successful exchange yet.

In addition, to avoid the time consuming search for a book, which may, or may not be on the shelves, a list of all books which are available will be kept.

Successful If

This book exchange will be successful only if it is patronized by the student body. Last semester, over 500 books were handled, and this semester, with the likelihood that most of the books which were used last semester will be used again, a goal of 1,000 books has been set. This is an ambitious figure; but with approximately 9,000 students on this campus, each one of whom had about 5 courses last semester, it can be achieved. If only one-quarter of the students sell only 1 book apiece, our goal will be doubled. The only limitation to the success of the sale is the number of students that participate.

Everyone is urged to check over their old books, and bring to the sale those which they don't want any longer; and then before purchasing new books, look through the selections available — you could save quite a bit of money.

Sadie Hawkins Day To Feature Debbie And Darnels At HUB

Debbie and The Darnels, a sparkling and refreshing singing group under contract to Columbia Records, will appear at the Student Union Ballroom, January 11, after the home basketball game. Accompanying this group will be the "swinging" five-piece rock 'n roll band, the Passengers.

Sadie Hawkins Theme

This program is the featured event of HER Day (His Economic Relief), sponsored jointly by the Board of Governors, the Student Senate, Pan-Hellenic Council, and the Inter-Fraternity Council. HER Day, a variation of the typical Sadie Hawkins Day, is designed to give the girls an opportunity to ask the men of their choice and pay all expenses.

The admission for Debbie and the Darnels is fifty cents. Tickets may be purchased at the Student Union Control Desk, or at the door.

Singing together for about a year, Debbie and the Darnels have appeared at many colleges in the East. Their first record, "Mr. Johnny Jones," was a best seller throughout the country. Recently they scored a hit with "Dancing Around the Christmas Tree." The Passengers, who recorded "Night Coach" and "Roundtable," have appeared with such popular names as: Neil Sedaka, Dion, Adam Wade, the Five Satins, Little Anthony, and the Imperials. The Chantels, Joanne Campbell, and many other recording stars.

Dr. Van Dusen To Study Trade

Storrs Conn., Jan. 3—Dr. Albert E. Van Dusen, associate professor of history at the University of Connecticut, is about to embark on a study involving trade between England and Connecticut prior to 1800.

To aid him in his research, which will largely be conducted in the United Kingdom, Dr. Van Dusen has received a $1,500 grant from the American Philosophical Society of Philadelphia.

An authority on American colonial history, Dr. Van Dusen completed in 1961 a large volume entitled, "Connecticut."

This is the last issue of the Daily Campus for this semester. The first issue, next semester will be Wednesday February 6 and the deadline for that issue is noon, February 5. This deadline is for all material including activity notices.

Leadership Conference Sets New Precedent

Approximately 60 student leaders from 15 organizations on the Uconn campus will attend a Leadership Conference sponsored by the Board of Governors from Jan. 22-24. The purpose of this meeting, the first of its kind in the history of the school, is to bring all the student leaders together to work as a group in order to discuss with the faculty pertinent issues before the University and the student body.

Election Returns

The USA has made a clean sweep in the Senior Class elections, and has taken three of the Junior Class positions as this story is going to press. The only ISO candidate who has been elected as of yet is James Gadarowsky, defeating his opponent, Michael Levy by an unofficial tabulation of 271 to 174.

His number voting yesterday was considerably smaller than the previous election. There was a grand total of 1,406 (plus or minus five), and may be broken down as follows: Freshmen, 346; Sophomores, 341; Juniors, 442; and Seniors, 257. In the first election in October, some 3,000 students went to the polls.

In the Senior Class, Zucchi (USA) defeated his opponent, Dave Julian, 186 to 64.

In the Junior Class the closest battle was for the position of Treasurer, with Reitman winning over Miss Nancy Miller, 233 to 206.

Returns were insufficient as of now to determine any direction in which the Sophomore or Freshman Class would go.

Stewart Heller IFC President

Stewart Heller led the list of new officers of the Interfraternity Council after an election Monday night. Heller, President of Alpha Zeta Omega, was elected to the post of President of the IFC by acclamation.

In commenting on his election, Heller said, "If in the future a history of the IFC is ever compiled, let's hope that 1963 is the year that stands out for its progress and accomplishments."

Elected to the posts for the two vice-presidents were James Tomchik and Robert Carroll. Tomchik of Lambda Chi Alpha was elected first vice president, and Carroll of Tau Kappa Epsilon was elected second vice-president.

Richard Levinson of Phi Sigma Kappa was elected to the post of Secretary unopposed. Also unopposed was the election of Richard Gitten of Phi Epsilon Pi to the post of Treasurer.

Fran Markette of Sigma Alpha Epsilon was placed in the position of Rush Chairman, and Ron Massey of Chi Phi was elected to serve as Assistant.

Other action at the meeting was a proposal that no Fraternities hold parties, other than coffees, on February 22nd after 9:30 p.m. The proposal was made by John Santa, of Sigma Phi Epsilon, who is chairman of Winter Weekend.

Lecturers And Problems

During the three day conference, the students will be given lectures in parliamentary procedure, speech, and communications. President Homer D. Babbidge will also present the student group with certain problems to be solved. In order to aid them in the solving of these problems, two lectures in the Problem Solving Process will also be presented. The student solution to the problems will be presented by Al Medeiros, spokesman of the students, at a luncheon on the last day of the conference.

Areas Discussed

The particular areas to be discussed are to be announced by President Babbidge at the conference. The Board of Governors reports that the Uconn president is anxious to see the meeting succeed and that Dr. Arwood S. Northby, Dean of Students, has been very helpful in its planning stages. The BOG also reports that there has been tremendous cooperation on the part of the faculty and students.

President Babbidge also feels that a meeting of this type bringing all the student leaders together to work in conjunction has been needed for a long time.

Registration

Registration for the conference is scheduled for 4 p.m. on Tuesday, Jan. 22nd. It will be followed by greetings from President Babbidge at 5 p.m.

To conclude the conference, faculty members plan to invite student leaders to their homes for supper.

Organizations Represented

The organizations to be represented at the Leadership Conference are; the Board of Governors, the Student Senate, the various house councils, WSGC, ISO, USA, IFC, the Pan-Hellenic Council, Photopool, the Conn. Daily Campus, the Nutmeg, WHUS, the North Campus Presidents Council, the Mortar Board, and the Archons.

HUB Dance, Light Film Series Scheduled As 'Tension Breakers'

To help relieve the tension of finals, the Social Committee of the Board of Governors is sponsoring a series of four light films aptly called "tension breakers."

These movies to be shown during finals' week will feature such favorites as Tony Curtis, Peter Sellers, Terry Thomas and Alec Guinness.

There will be two showings a night for each featured film, with an admission charge of a quarter. All movies are to be shown in the HUB Ballroom.

Schedule

The schedule for the films is as follows:

Monday, January 14—The Great Imposter, starring Tony Curtis, Edmund O'Brien.

Tuesday, January 15—The Lady Killers, starring Alec Guinness, Peter Sellers.

Wednesday, January 16—Make Mine Mink, starring Terry Thomas and Athene Seyler.

Thursday, January 17—Upstairs and Downstairs, starring Michael Craig, Ann Heywood.

On Friday the 18th there will be a tension breaker dance from eight to twelve in the HUB Ballroom. This evening function will be sponsored by the Student Union Board of Governors. The music will be provided by the Starliners.

Shenkman To Head Husky Handbook

Mark Shenken is to be the new Editor of the Husky Handbook. It was disclosed yesterday by Miss Ann McGluaghlin. The announcement came after various screenings by the Husky Handbook Committee.

Shenkman is a third semester Arts and Sciences student, residing at Phi Epsilon Pi. He is presently Chairman of the Recreation Committee of the Student Union Board of Governors.

Miss McGluaghlin stated that any students willing to help out with the Handbook should contact either herself or Mr. Shenkman.

This year is the first year that the Husky Handbook is attempting to run itself as a separate organization from the Student Senate, and much help is needed in its initial stages.

URI Grid Coach Chironna Resigns

John Chironna, head football coach at the University of Rhode Island for the past two years, has resigned that position to accept a full-time assignment in the department of physical education.

The decision came as a surprise to the University community and Maurice Zarchen, director of athletics, said that at the moment he had no one in mind to succeed Chironna.

Possible Extension For FA Magazine

John Calahan and Madge English, literary editors of the Fine Arts Magazine, have announced that the deadline for contributions to the magazine is still January 10. However, additional time to work on material will be allowed to anyone who contacts them about their intentions. Students wishing to take advantage of this extension should leave their name and a telephone number where they can be reached at the HUB control desk before January 12.

The editors urged students to contribute general and critical essays, a new category added to the magazine this year in addition to the poetry, short story and drama divisions. The magazine, which accepts contributions from graduate and undergraduate students, will be sold at 25 cents per copy and will be available about the end of April.

Wasted Seats

It is discouraging to note that eight Student Senators face possible impeachment because of their absences. Yet it would be even more disheartening to report that the Senate was completely oblivious to these absences.

These individuals have ignored their responsibility. They each campaigned last spring, promising to serve the student body. Since they were elected, it was obviously believed that these individuals could best represent the student body in the Senate. But the students who voted for these individuals have been cheated. They are not being represented adequately in the Senate.

The Senate Constitution allows each Senator three absences from the weekly meetings. After this, the matter goes before the Steering Committee to determine if there are "extenuating circumstances" in the individual cases. If not, the Senator is faced with the choice of resignation or impeachment.

It is interesting to note that of the eight Senators in question, seven are now serving their first Senate term. These eight Senators have a total of forty absences, or an average of five apiece.

We find it difficult to understand how anyone in their first term can be so bored by the Senate in only one semester of office. Obviously, these people feel that they have nothing concrete to contribute to the Senate. If they did, they would make a point to be there each week.

As it stands now, these people are only stagnating student government. They are taking up valuable and important Senate seats. Yet they are doing nothing to prove that they are capable of holding these seats. They are not even demonstrating a simple interest in the affairs of the Senate.

The Senate, the class councils, the Daily Campus; everyone speaks about that overworked problem: student apathy. But how can these groups even dream of creating student interest when the very "student leaders" are apathetic themselves? It seems to be a question of "cleaning up the backyard" before going on to bigger things.

We cannot blame the student body for being skeptical about the importance of voting in class and Senate elections. If the candidates, and later the winners, can't take it seriously, why should anyone else?

Of course, it's nice to be able to claim the Student Senate as an extra-curricular activity when the graduate leaves Uconn. But we dislike seeing certain individuals filling up their Senior Data Sheets at the expense of the entire student body. We hope something is done about it.

To the crossword puzzle fans: Yesterday's puzzle was out of sequence. This is the puzzle which should have followed Monday's.

Postcard Time

The prices may have increased, but that hasn't hurt the business any. With finals rapidly approaching, students are standing in line for those all-important little slips of paper: postcards.

Business is booming at the Storrs Post Office these days as students pour in to purchase a supply of the new four-cent cards. It looks as if anxious students aren't bothered by the penny-increase in mail rates. The only important thing is getting the results as fast as possible.

Like the rest of the student body, the Daily Campus staff is making the rush for the post office. Mainly because, like the rest of the student body, the Campus staff faces the impending horror of final exams. For that reason, we're suspending publication for the semester with today's issue.

With luck, we'll all be back next semester. (We hope our readers all make it, too). To the student body (and the Campus staff, which really needs it) good luck on finals. But try studying. Waiting for those postcards is much less painful that way. (At least, that's what we've been told).

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

Mr. Wilds of Zeta Psi has received a mistaken impression of the Branches from the students who informed him that they were a "refuge" for students from Storrs with poor grades.

The reason that freshmen and sophomores are able to attain better marks at the Branches is not because the academic standards are lower, but because the classes are limited to thirty or forty students, eliminating the detrimental aspects of the massive lecture courses which freshman on campus must endure. As a result of smaller classes there is a greater opportunity for teachers to devote special attention to individual students at a time when they are being introduced to the demands of college study.

I will agree that college is an experience which extends beyond "books and marks," but I do not believe that the enriching activities lie in the realm of fraternity parties, shoots to the Cove, or enthusiastic cheering at the basketball games. Yet it is evident from the sloppy grammar, punctuation, and vocabulary of Mr. Wilds' letter that the major part of his college life has been spent in pursuit of relatively sophomoric activities.

Having attended the Hartford Branch for two years, I can attest to its attributes. In addition to the superior teacher-student ratio and the lack of unproductive distractions, the Branch provides a stepping stone where students can adjust to academic requirements without having to simultaneously face the impersonality and confusion of a large college campus.

Rather than limit admission at the Branches, I favor continued expansion of their facilities as a possible means of reducing the excessively high freshman drop-out rate.

Grand Jury Meets In Oxford To Investigate Integration Riots

Mississippi, Jan. 8.—(AP)—A federal grand jury convenes in Oxford, Mississippi, today and is expected to delve into integration riots at the University of Mississippi.

Federal attorneys have prepared cases against eleven men, including former Army Major General Edwin Walker.

Walker and the others were arrested within a week following the September 30, riot which killed two and injured scores on the university campus. Rioting broke out after federal marshals escorted Negro James Meredith onto the campus.

Charges against the eleven include interference with federal officers in performance of their duties, conspiracy to impede officers, rebellion and insurrection and conspiracy to oppose the authority of the United States.

In addition to Walker, those arrested and charged are Melvin Bruce of Decatur, Georgia; Robert Blackard of Memphis, Tennessee; William Gilbert Marr of Olive Branch, Mississippi; Philip Lloyd Miles of Prichard, Alabama; Richard Hayes Hinton of Lucedale, Mississippi; K. Lamos May of Prichard; Frank Lamar Ott and Joseph Cutrer, of Kentwood, Louisiana; and Edward Louis Shade of Atlatum, Mississippi.

Answering charges by Attorney-General Robert Kennedy, Chancellor John Williams of the University of Mississippi says the school has obeyed all federal orders since its de-segregation crisis last fall.

Williams said no complaint had been made by an official representing the Justice Department when he conferred at length with university officials last week.

Kennedy's criticism of university officials came after James Meredith said yesterday he would withdraw from the university unless the situation changes.

Meredith, who distributed a statement at a news conference in his dormitory apartment, didn't say what changes he had in mind. But he told newsmen he felt he had to have a situation more conducive to learning.

Chancellor John Williams of the University of Mississippi says the school had obeyed all federal orders since its integration crisis last fall. Williams' statement is in reply to charges by Attorney General Robert Kennedy in the wake of a disclosure by Negro student James Meredith that he may withdraw from "Ole Miss" at the end of the current semester. Meredith said he will pull out unless the situation changes. He did not say what changes he had in mind, other than telling newsmen he felt he had to have "a situation more conducive to learning."

Robert Kennedy followed Meredith's disclosure by charging in Washington that a number of administrative officials at the university "have not met their responsibilities." At the same time, the attorney-general said Meredith is "as free to leave the school as he was to enter it."

Chancellor Williams observes that no complaint had been made by an official representing the Justice Department when the official conferred at length with university officials last week. Since the first month after his enrollment, Meredith has gone largely unnoticed on the Ole Miss campus, although most students have refused to associate with him.

Academic Trouble

Meredith has been rumored to be in academic trouble since he started classes at Mississippi. At one point he acknowledged a need for tutors to help improve his grades.

A little later Kennedy issued a statement in Washington in which he called on university officials to take appropriate steps to make it possible for Meredith to continue in school.

In New York, a spokesman for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said the possibility that Meredith might withdraw from the university would not lessen efforts to de-segregate the school.

Other Integration Moves

The spokesman said efforts soon will be made to integrate the Universities of Alabama and South Carolina. He would not say how many Negro students may be involved.

Chancellor Williams said the administration and faculty have done all that was responsible and proper to insure the best possible education for all students.

Setback For Frost; To Undergo Surgery

Poet Robert Frost is said to have suffered a setback yesterday. Frost underwent surgery December 10, and then suffered a heart attack while recuperating. He is eighty-eight.

Doctors at the Boston Hospital said that Frost will have to undergo minor operation to correct a condition that has caused blood-clots. They said that the latest clot, which went to the lungs occurred last night and caused their decision to operate.

Nuclear Discussion

Jan. 8.—(AP)—A British government mission flew to the United States today to discuss the technical means of providing Britain with a nuclear deterrent system based on the polaris missile.

The team is headed by Sir Solly Zuckerman, chief scientific adviser to the defense ministry. It includes vice-admiral Sir Varyl Begg, vice chief of the naval staff, and seven other men from the admiralty.

In meetings with officials in Washington the group will consider how to implement last month's Nassau agreement between President Kennedy and Prime Minister MacMillan.

Discussions are likely to cover the guidance of the missiles and navigation of atomic submarines.

'Breathless' Captures Spirit Of Sartrean Existentialism

By Paul Brodt Korb, Jr.

Michel, the hero of Breathless, steals a car, shoots a cop, beds a girl, is betrayed, shot, and killed. Before his death, he behaves with a kind of fatalistic spontaneity that lacks all moral reflection. Patricia, the girl who betrays him to the police does so in order to discover how she feels about him. This is a picture which Sartre has called beautiful, and Cocteau miraculous.

Some American viewers will be bothered by the picture's lack of moral commitment; others by its lack of interest in its characters' psychology, which remains triumphantly opaque; others may be bothered by its time, which by eccentric cutting is speeded up or slowed down as the characters experience it, but is never just clock time. The rest of us may feel that Breathless is a cops and robbers flick which does not deliver the fascinating glimpses of clever and patient detective work leading inexorably to the murderer's downfall that we paid to see. All of us, as movie-goers, are being had.

Yet we are being had skillfully. Jean-Paul Belmondo as Michel, the killer, is an actor of incredible grace. Jean Seberg's short-haired hair, flat American French, and muted somnambulism are perfect for her part. The photography, much of it done with a hand-held camera, is faultless. Obviously, the director, Jean-Luc Godard, knew exactly what he was doing.

The question for us can only be why did he choose to do this, in this way? Why does Godard affront our expectations? One possible answer is that he does not share our common assumptions about art or reality. He is, in fact, retailing Sartrean existentialism to us in a form that perfectly embodies its content, something which Sartre himself has not yet been able to do, and which accounts for his praise of this movie.

For example, time appears subjective and disjointed because the movie recognizes no certified "reality." Like the Sartrean world, it has many realities, all potentially valid, because its character is that of an endless more or less disjointed series of appearances. The totality of its appearances is its reality.

Multiple Identity

In such a world, man, according to one of Sartre's formulas, is a useless passion, just as, in the film, Michel clearly is. Further, man's inmost self is a void that has no essence; it is totally mysterious; in so far as it exists at all, it exists in action subject to the unpredictabilities of change and chance. While man must constantly become by creating himself out of nothing, his tendency is to try to deny the vertiginous freedom at his center by playing out various inauthentic roles, as if he were some sort of goal in the mind of some platonic Playwright and therefore a kind of predetermined thing.

At one point, for instance, there is an enormous photograph of Humphrey Bogart to which Michel tips his shades in silent respect, and we may then recognize that a gesture of reflection—a move we are not permitted to penetrate. Michel's thumb across his lips As Michel says, "Squealers out the film is an old Bogart ges-kill, lovers love." Is the end, as sure, and that Michel's life is at the end of so many Bogart kind of de-sentimentalized French movies, the cops mow the hero re-invention of the Bogart role, down just as in the beginning he a role behind which in this picture mowed down one of them.

Historical Quips:

Ban The Bomb
Save The Insects

By John Caruso, Jr.

That's right! You read it. We should ban the bomb. Down with the aerosol bomb. How much longer can this wasteful slaughter go on? Each year hundreds of millions of 'harmless' flies, ants, mosquitos, roaches and beetles are murdered by these deadly Radioactive (which means they are actively advertised on Radio) clouds. Each year thousands of insect children are born (hatched) deformed because of chemical by-products introduced into their parents' bodies.

The bombs are particularly harmful to two denizens of the insect world. The Asian Fly (which is still multiplying in a "great leap forward"), and the European Red Ant (which is extremely hard to dislodge because of its unique underground cell structure and dividing Walls). Previous to their appearance on the international scene, conventional weapons (e.g. flyswatters and ant cups) had held the German Gnatzi and the Roman Roach in check. It was only in the extreme case of the Japanese Beetle that the bomb was introduced, but our present world situation does not require such drastic actions.

Filterosophically speaking, the European Red Ant and the Asian Fly display many similar cultural behavior patterns, such as the Red Ants' affinity for moving in a military fashion and the Asian Flys' animosity towards Indians (not unlike our Colonial forefathers).

What are our choices of action? They are obviously apparent (to be redundant, ad nauseam, ad infinitum, aw add one and one).

We must organize pacifist groups (who will wear the Mercedes-Benz emblem as an identification button) to print pamphlets and carry signs furthering our cause. Then we must picket the harbinger of carnage such as Johnson, Fuller Products and Black Flag.

Yes fellow bugatarians, we must cease this senseless battle. For without these bombs the Red Ant and the Asian Fly will be able to multiply and spread their doctrine of piece by pieceful co-existence. Until the whole world is subsumed in a swarm of wings and a mechanical crackling of antennae. Down with Raid.

Student Activities On Campus

JUNIORS: Juniors interested in chairmanship of the Junior Prom are requested to sign up at the control desk so that they can be interviewed.

OUTING: CLUB: Kommen sie! Pause in your studies. Take time out tonight for a refreshing Outing Club meeting, 7:30, in HUB 102. Now is the time to get in on skiing in Canada or caving in West Virginia during semester break.

FRIDAY FILM SERIES: Godard's "Breathless," originally scheduled for September 28, will be shown instead of "The Crucible," which has been shown earlier. "Breathless" is a fleeting glimpse into the life and death of a Frenchman who, in his passions and through his crimes, portrays the urgency and conflict of modern life. Jean-Luc Godard directed this film, which has received the highest praise from Cocteau and Sartre. The film will be shown at 6:45 and 9 in the Community House; refreshments and discussion follow the second showing. Next week, January 18, Friday Film Series will present "A Night at the Opera," one of the Marx Brothers' funniest farces, at 9 p.m. This film is guaranteed to keep you from breaking under the strain. It will be shown in the Community House.

BIOLOGY CLUB: The meeting tonight at 7:30 in life Sciences 1 will consist of a movie titled "The Thread of Life." Refreshments will be served. All are invited to attend. This hour long movie, put out by the Bell Telephone Company, is in technicolor. It discusses some of the basic ideas on biochemical genetics involved with DNA. Refreshments will be served after the meeting. Faculty and students are cordially invited to attend.

FOLK CLUB: There will be a meeting tonight at 7:30 in the HUB Lobby. Anyone interested in the continuation of a folk club next semester is requested to attend. Informal singing will follow the short business meeting.

UCF: Supper will be served at 5:30 p.m. in the Community House on January 13 and January 20. Call 429-5900 or sign up in the Community House.

SAM: The University chapter of S.A.M. will present a General Motors film entitled "Strange Interview" tonight at 8 p.m. This hour film will show how products and successful operations depend on the attitudes of the employer toward his employees. The story illustrates that when attempting to solve production problems, the employer should reorganize the "dignity of the individual." Everyone is invited. Dress will be casual.

DEBATING CLUB: There will be a meeting tomorrow at 5 p.m. in HUB 207.

FENCING CLUB: There will be a meeting in the basement of Hawley Armory at 7 tomorrow. Anyone interested is invited to come. Experience is not necessary.

HILLEL SEMINAR: Hillel seminar in Judaism and Christianity will meet tomorrow in Hillel House at 4. All are welcome.

GAMMA SIGMA SIGMA: There will be a meeting Thursday at 7:30 in the HUB. Check on HUB activity for room number.

BOARD OF GOVERNORS: There will be a meeting today at 4 p.m. in Commons 312.

WOMEN STUDENT COUNSELING CHAIRMEN: Pictures for the Nutmeg will be taken tonight at 6:30 in the HUB Ballroom. Please be prompt.

LAST LECTURE SERIES: Neil Keleinman will present his "Last Lecture" tonight at 7:30 in the Community House.

SIGMA DELTA PI: Sigma Delta Pi, National Hispanic Honor Society, will meet January 10, at 7:30 in HUB 104.

UCF VESPERS: Mrs. Dian Molton will sing spirituals accompanied by Sherman Goble on the guitar, tonight at 7 in the Waggoner Chapel. No organ will be used. Focal point of the service will be James Welden Johnson's "The Creation." On January 16, at 7 p.m. Mrs. Virginia Lucke's Sacred Dance Group will work with a spiritual theme and guitar accompaniment in Waggoner Chapel.

ACCOUNTING SOCIETY: The Society sponsored computer demonstration takes place tonight at 6:30 in SS55. Suits coats and ties must be worn for Nutmeg photos to be taken in HUB ballroom after the demonstration at 9:30.

PRE-EXAM HOLY HOUR: here will be a pre-exam holy hour this Sunday at 7 p.m. in St. Thomas Aquinas Chapel, sponsored by the Newman Club. All are invited. Father Raymond Roy, O.M.I., from the Immaculate, a Retreat in Willimantic, will speak. The chapel hall will be open for student studying all during exam week. Quiet hours will be observed at all times.

FRENCH CLUB: There will be a film shown tonight at 7 in HUB 201. All are invited. There will be no charge.

THEATRE TRYOUTS: Try-outs for the Department of Theatre's Fourth major production, George Bernard Shaw's "Misalliance," will be held Wednesday and Thursday, February 6 and 7, between the hours of 7 and 9:30 p.m. in FA 228. Roles for nine (6 men and 3 women), ranging from 17 to 55. No experience is necessary and new people are eagerly welcomed. The play is open to all members of the University. Scripts are available in the College Reading Room of the Main Library. Candidates may come either or both evenings.

PERSHING RIFLES: There will be a meeting tonight from 7 to 9 in the ROTC Hangar. Brothers and pledges are to wear fatigues.

PRE LAW CLUB: Cornelius J. Moynihan, Professor of Law at Boston University will speak on his law school and law schools in general today at 3 in the Student Union. Please check at control desk for room number.

SOCIETY OF FRIENDS (QUAKERS): There will be a meeting held Sunday at 11 a.m. in the house across from the Storrs Grammar School.

PHYSICS COLLOQUIUM: Dr. David E. Leventhal of the Department of Biology of Princeton University will speak Friday at 4 p.m. in Physical Sciences 199. Tea will be at 3:30 p.m.

TENSION BREAKER DANCE: There will be a dance January 18 from 8 to 12 in the Student Union Ballroom. This dance is being sponsored by the BOG Social Committee. The music is being provided by the Starliners.

The following organizations are scheduled to have their group pictures taken for the 1963 Nutmeg as follows:

Myron Krasij Chosen For Pan-Am Games Soccer Team

Myron Krasij, Uconn's star inside right, fought his way onto the Pan-American Games soccer team which will represent the United States in the Pan-American games this April in Brazil.

All New England

The All-New England first team selection was invited to the Eastern college trials where he competed along with 54 other players. As one of the top 22 he then went to Brookland where the college players competed with the top soccer players from all the amateur clubs in the East.

Krasij's play in these play-downs netted him a birth on the all-east squad of 22 that went to the Pan-Am final playoffs held in St. Louis December 29-30.

There the top 22 players both amateur and college from the East formed two teams which met two similar teams from the West and Mid-West.

In the first day of play on a muddy the Uconn inside right, "Didn't distinguish himself particularly," in the words of his coach who went to St. Louis as one of the 11 selectors.

One Of 17 Players

On the second day of play, however he was, "outstanding at inside right scoring two goals and setting up other players," commented Squires. As a result Krasij was chosen as one of 17 players picked for the Pan-Am team and may be in line for an All-American selection when the National Soccer Coaches Association announced the All-American team this Saturday at their annual banquet in New York.

On Krasij's chances Squires stated, "I think he is an All-American whether he makes it or not." He explained that the calibre of team played on has a lot to do with the selections and Uconn's soccer team this year was off its usual standard.

Joining Krasij on the All-New England team are co-captain Bob Hartwell who was chosen to the second team and Egon Knets who received honorable mention.

MYRON KRASIJ (right) BOB HARTWELL the co-captains of this year's Uconn soccer team. Both were named to the All-New England team and Krasij was picked to the Pan-American Games team. He participated in the tryouts against both the finest college and the best amateur players from all over the country and made the squad by virtue of his showing in this talented field. The Uconn star was one of two college players named to the team. By virtue of this showing there is a good possibility that the Husky inside right will receive All-American honors when the 1962 All-American soccer team is announced soon. (Uconn Photo)

Winless Wrestling Team Hosts Rhody, Swimmers Face Tough Yale Today

The University of Connecticut varsity wrestling and swimming teams will be in action today.

Coach Nate Osur and his varsity wrestlers who have lost three December matches in foreign rings will make their home debut at 4 p.m. when they grapple with Coach Art Maack's Rhode Island wrestlers on the Physical Education Building basketball court.

The varsity swimmers, who had a 1-1 December record, make their only January appearance when they swim a strong Yale club in New Haven, tonight at 8.

Coach John Chapman's hockey team plays its season's opener, at Cambridge on Friday night, playing an M.I.T. club which has won one and lost two to date.

A freshman wrestling meet between the Uconn Pups and Cheshire at the Field House, Friday afternoon at 3; and a varsity rifle meet between Uconn and Providence at Storrs, Saturday, winds up the week's schedule.

Contoulis Goes To NFL Vikings

Uconn's John Contoulis signed a contract with the Minnesota Vikings of the National Football League last Thursday after playing in the nationally televised Blue-Gray game. The 23 year old Husky tackle, who was an announced draft choice last year by the Vikings, was also given offers to play by the New York Titans of the American Football League, and the Canadian Football League's Toronto team.

Why NFL

When asked why he picked the Vikings over the other two offers, Contoulis said, "I picked the NFL because it is the best brand of football in the world, and I would like to try and be a part of this great national sport."

The 245 pound 6-4 giant saw considerable action in the Blue-Gray game in Montgomery, Alabama and for his effort he received many gifts including a blue blazer, a lighter, and a $100 check.

The chief scout of the Vikings met Contoulis at the Jefferson Davis hotel after the 10-6 Blue victory over the Gray. An interesting point to make here is that Contoulis was the only player from the East coast to play in the game; the other players were from schools in the Big 19 Conference.

UVM, Maine At Storrs For Weekend Basketball

Friday and Saturday loom up as crucial days for the UConn basketball team in the Yankee Conference. Going into last night's action the Nutmeggers were undefeated in YanCon play having beaten Umass in their only previous conference test.

Weaker Clubs

This weekend two of the weaker teams in the conference will be at Storrs to face the crown aspiring Huskies. These games must not be taken lightly since often a smaller but hot shooting type of team is the one that fares best against the Uconns Vermont and Maine both have teams like this and both share one other thing in common, they would like nothing better than to hand the much touted Huskies a defeat on Uconn's home court.

Before last night's action Maine was third in the conference with a 2-1 record in YanCon play. They defeated the Vermont Catamounts twice early in the season, both games being played at the Black Bear's den in Orono which gave the Maine team an edge. In their only other contest they were defeated by league leading Rhode Island in Kingston.

Chappelle Lost

Last year's club which stunned the Huskies twice and eliminated Uconn from the YanCon race was hit by the graduation of several leading performers. The hardest felt loss is Skip Chappelle who won all sorts of honors for his performance last season. He averaged 19.5 points per game.

The Maine team this year is built around returning veterans Art Warren and Laddie Deemer. Warren a 6'4" senior set a new Maine rebounding record last year and averaged 13.8 points per game. He was particularly effective against the Uconns and his inside drives were instrumental in both Maine victories.

The Black Bears invade the Field House Saturday night with varsity action slated to begin at 8 p.m.

Vermont Friday

Friday night the Huskies will host an experienced Vermont team which was picked as a possible dark horse in the conference this year. Thus far the Catamounts rate fifth in the conference with a 1-4 record. Their only league win came over the New Hampshire Wildcats in Burlington and that game was a close one 78-73.

They have lost to Maine twice and to Rhode Island. Coach Fuzzy Evans' charges are virtually the same as the team that won 2 and lost 13 last year. Four of the five returning lettermen averaged in double figures for the season last year and the five averaged 62.5 points per game.

The Catamounts are led by 6'2"

Benny Becton who led the scoring parade with a 16.8 average which certainly would have been better if he hadn't suffered an injured ankle during the season. This year he is throwing in the ball at about the same rate but is up in the national standings in rebounding. The powerful center ranks twelfth, above Uconn's Toby Kimball with a 15.4 average.

UVM Lineup

Also in the UVM lineup are Dick Ader, 6'2", who averaged 12.4 points a game last season; 6'2" Jack Shabel, who hit for a 15.6 average last year; Captain John Stahler, 6'3", and averaging 5.8; and finally the only native Vermont boy in the lineup, Dave Strassburg, 6'3" averaging 11.9 points per game last season.

The Catamounts are a seasoned club which has bucked a tough schedule so far this year. They have a small fast, and good shooting team which can be very dangerous on a good night. Last year the Huskies took their measure 67-63 in Burlington and 91-57 in Storrs.

Both of the varsity contests will be broadcasted over WHUS 670 AM and 90.5 FM.

Uconns Top Wildcats Without Toby Kimball

The Uconn Huskies got back to their winning ways last night as they survived a first half scare to rout the New Hampshire Wildcats 84-58 at Durham.

Winning by only two at half time, the Huskies rolled off nine straight points at the start of the second half to put the game out of reach, 44-35. This rally featured a layup and foul shot by big Ed Slomcenski, a three point play by Dom Perno, and baskets by Bob Maines and Gerry Manning.

Minutes later the margin was up to 17 points as Slomcenski sandwiched two hoops around a Haines' jumper to make the score read 62-45. The game, now out of reach for the Wildcats, became exceedingly sloppy. Coach Hugh Greer emptied his bench which finished up til the 86-58 ending.

In the first half the Huskies had jumped off to a quick five to one lead on a jump shot by Haines and three free throws by Slomcenski. This margin was maintained til Jim Rich put together two foul shots and a rebound to give the Wildcats a 17-16 lead with nine minutes gone.

The Uconns then seemed to pull away and put the game out of reach as John Fahey hit on a one hander, Manning on a foul shot, and Dale Comey on two straight jumpers to make it 25-19. Minutes later Slomcenski scored two fouls and Comey added a jumper and two fouls to give them their biggest lead of the half 35-25.

However, the Wildcats came back with a flurry of eight straight points to cut the half-time margin to two, 35-33. The big man was Rich, who threw in a jumper and a layup. Jim Fuller scored the final two on a one and one foul situation with three seconds left.

The Huskies were without the services of their star 6-7 center, Toby Kimball. The leading scorer and rebounder was left back at Storrs due to a wrenched knee from the Holy Cross game. It is hoped that he will be back in action this weekend.

However, Ed Slomcenski was able to step over from his forward post and bear the brunt of the Uconn scoring and rebounding duties. He hit for a season high of 25 points. Second high was Gerry Manning with 19, Uconn

Finals Again

Finals are upon us. The feverish last-minute study rush is on again, whether it be in the privacy of one's room, in a crowded corner of the Wilbur Cross Library, or in an empty classroom. Some students like to curl up on a bed to study while others prefer to sit at their desks in straight-backed chairs. Whatever the position, whatever the subject, all signals are "go." With a supply of "Verve" at his side to keep him going when he's "weary but must study" the Uconn student attacks his books with vigor, looking forward to the best vacation of the year—intercession—when there isn't anything to do but recuperate and enjoy himself. While most of the next three weeks will be spent in cramming those last important facts into one's memory, most of us will follow the fellow at the left's example and catch enough sleep to be able to appear wide-awake when we take our exams.

The Whole Book?
