Three Honor Groups Induct New Members

Seventeen University of Connecticut students were recently initiated into local chapters of three national honorary engineering societies on the UofC campus.

The societies are: Tau Beta Pi, a national honorary society for all engineering majors; Eta Kappa Nu, a national honorary society for electrical engineers; and Chi Epsilon, an honorary society for civil engineers.

Two non-students were also inducted into engineering honoraries. Bernard S. Sheehan, an electrical engineering instructor, was inducted into Eta Kappa Nu; and Arthur W. Sweeton, a Hartford County civil engineer, was inducted as an honorary member of Chi Epsilon. Mr. Sweeton is deputy manager and chief engineer of the Bureau of Public Works, Metropolitan District Commission of Hartford.

Tau Beta Phi
Students initiated into Tau Beta Pi, national honorary for all engineering majors, were: Douglas A. Bendel, Timothy S. Dougherty, John W. Crosby, Alfred L. Meyers, Richard A. Whittlesey, Howard H. Sargent, III.

Also, Edward O. Hartel, Arthur F. Pengue, Louis C. Parrillo, Ronald Graziani, Robert McCullough, and David M. McClellan.

Chi Epsilon
Students initiated into Chi Epsilon, honorary for civil engineers, include: Steven C. Provost, John J. Buckley, George A. Anderson and Alan W. Todd.

Eta Kappa Nu
Inducted as members of Eta

Kappa Nu, national honorary in electrical engineering, were: Douglas Bendel, Joseph M. Nicotia, Jr., Howard Sargent, III, Arthur Pengue, Louis Parrillo and David McClellan.

Children's Choir Sings Sunday

The Obernkirchen Choir makes its only Connecticut appearance this year when they appear Sunday afternoon at 3 in the Jorgensen Auditorium.

The 36 voice choir, now in its 13th year, will offer "To Spring," by Franz Schubert; "Gypsy Life," by Robert Schumann; "The Swallows," by Bedrich Smetana; "A Girl's First Love Song," by Hugo Bistler; "The Woods in Bloom," by Carl Orff; "The Soldier's Serenade," by Orlando di Lasso; "Songs of the Bird," by Clement Jannequin.

Also, "Bloom, Lovely Rosebush, Bloom," arranged by Jakob Christ; "Jereakina," arranged by G. Becker; "Roses at the Pond," arranged by Eduard Zuckmayer and James Benner.

Senate Chooses New January Election Date

By JACK CARLSON

The Student Senate voted Wednesday night in favor of having new campus-wide elections in January. The decision was based on the report of the specially formed Elections Investigating Committee.

The Committee reported that "the apparent irregularities, both procedural and other, brought to light were numerous and shocking." A complete copy of the report is printed on page four of this paper.

The Senate accepted the report unanimously, then went on to discuss the possibility of a campus-wide election. When the Committee was questioned on why they felt this way Mr. McAllister stated:

"First of all, I would like to say that I was not there when the Committee was deciding this particular issue. However, I will give you my reasons for feeling that this is best.

"In the interests of justice, and recognizing the difficulties of a re-election—the difficulties to the candidates, the realization that some people who won might lose in a re-election, and that you might get people voting from a negative rather than positive basis in a re-election—considering all these things, the Committee decided, and I feel that in fairness and the best interest of the Student body as a whole, who are the people to be represented, that this is the only way you could be certain that a fairness would be achieved."

Roll Call Vote

The Senate went on to take a roll-call vote and pass the motion for a new election. The only person objecting to the action was Senator Daniel Zucchi (USA).

Zucchi said that he felt there was not enough basis for a new election. Since there was only one irregularity that the Committee was certain of, Zucchi said that he did not feel a new election was in order. Although admitting possibilities of other discrepancies, Zucchi said, "Possibilities can not be used as fact." However, Sen. Zucchi did emphasize the importance of changes in election procedure. He commented that this was the "most important" result of Wednesday night's meeting.

Leaders Comment

The leaders of both political parties were also asked to comment on the Committee Report and action taken by the Senate. Mr. Joel Hirschorn, President of the United Student Association had this to say:

"I am pleased with the findings of the election committee in so far as the new elections procedure which they have formulated. I think that if this procedure is utilized properly it will prevent irregularities in future elections. I feel, however, that the committee's recommendations for a re-election was based on insufficient evidence and lack of precedent.

"I am interested in securing a fair and honest election. Nonetheless,

Freedom Leader Speaks Today

The University Christian Fellowship will have as its guest today at 3:00 p.m., Mrs. Lola H. Hendricks, an enthusiastic leader in the Southern Freedom Movement and the Corresponding Secretary for the Alabama Christian Movement for Human Rights.

When the NAACP was outlawed in Alabama six years ago, a grass roots civil rights' movement sprang up under the leadership of the Rev. Fred L. Shuttlesworth, pastor of Bethel Baptist Church in Birmingham.

At the second meeting of the movement, the Alabama Christian Movement for Human Rights, Mrs. Hendricks, a young matron and mother, volunteered to help and was appointed Corresponding Secretary. Since then, she has helped to organize every campaign in Birmingham including the bus boycott, the school desegregation struggles, and also the selective buying campaign.

During the spring of 1962, Mrs. Hendricks, with her never dying concern for the equal opportunity for all men, prepared the arrangements for the meeting and conference of the Southern Conference Education Fund, which was the first interracial gathering pledged to further integration in Birmingham in 24 years. It was this meeting that paved the way for this fall's conference of Dr. Martin Luther King's Southern Christian Leadership Movement.

Mrs. Hendricks will speak in the Community House and will be accompanied by the Rev. William Howard Melish, the Regional Representative of Mrs. Hendricks' sponsor, the Southern Conference Educational Fund in New York.

Students and community members concerned with this vital issue of our day are invited to hear and talk with Mrs. Lola Hendricks.

Concert Offers Traditional Muse

The University of Connecticut will present its traditional choral concert of Christmas hymns and carols Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in the Jorgensen Auditorium. Director is John Poellein, a music instructor in the School of Fine Arts.

A highlight of the 1962 concert will be the appearance of the Community Choral Society, an ensemble of students, faculty and area residents who will present the "Bach Magnificat." They will be assisted by an instrumental ensemble.

Soloists

Soloists with the choral society will be Lesli Looftli, a soprano; Mrs. Sylvia Katz, a contralto; and Kenneth Holten, director of choral music at the University's E.O. Smith School.

The evening program will open with a performance by the 150-voice University Chorus of Sanders' "Out of the Cradle." Shirley Perregraux of Storrs will be soloist. The Chorus also will offer four Slovak folk songs by Bartok and "Ezekiel Saw de Wheel."

The 16-voice University Singers will then sing "A Ceremony of Carols" by Benjamin Britten. Soloists will be Lynn Lockard and Anne Gillard. The Singers will be accompanied by a harpist.

Next, the Concert Choir will sing two selections by Francis Poulenc — "O, Magnum Mysterium," and "Hodie Christus Natus Est."

Before the concert begins, the brass choirs from the Uconn Concert Band, directed by Assistant Prof. Allan Gillespie, will play several Christmas carols. The concert is open to the public without charge.

The Christmas Weekend continues today with a talent show, "Holiday Revue" at 3:00 p.m. and a semi-formal dance "Mistletoe Magic," beginning at 8:00 p.m.

"Holiday Revue" will present a variety of campus talent in the HUB lobby from 3 to 5 p.m. Music for the dance will be provided by the Tarriers, a folk-singing group and the Bert Orr orchestra. Suits and semi-formal dresses are required dress for the occasion.

Saturday the Bavarian Beer Band, consisting of members of the Uconn band will entertain at a Swiss Chalet Party beginning at 2. Occurring simultaneously with the party in the lower lounge will be a Christmas party for the children of the community in the HUB Ballroom from 2 to 4 p.m.

At night Sy Wallick and the Jazz Doctors will appear in the HUB lobby. WHUS will sponsor a record hop, "Jingle Bell Rock," in the HUB Ballroom from 9 to 12 p.m.

Concluding the weekend will be the Obernkirchen Children's Choir's performance in the Jorgensen Auditorium beginning at 3 p.m. For the complete program see page 1.—(Campus photo—Brevoort)

'Cultural Crises In Education' Phi Beta Kappa Lecture Topic

"Cultural Crises in Education" is the Phi Beta Kappa Fall lecture for this year. Lecturer is Richard McKeon, a philosopher and educator. He will speak tonight at 8 p.m. in Humanities 143 and the lecture is open to the general public.

Dr. McKeon is Professor of Philosophy and Greek at the University of Chicago, which institution he served as Dean of the Division of the Humanities from 1941 to 1947. He has also taught at Columbia University, the University of Arkansas, Baroda University (India), and Yale University.

A specialist in ancient and medieval philosophy, he has been President of the Western Division of the American Philosophical Association, the Metaphysical Society of America, and the International Institute of Philosophy.

His general educational interests led to his appointment as a U. S. delegate to the general conferences of UNESCO in Paris (1946), Mexico City (1947), and Beirut (1948). He has also been Counsellor at the U. S. Embassy in Paris.

The author and editor of a number of scholarly works, his books include Freedom and History and Thought, Action, and Passion. He has also contributed to many different philosophical journals and especially to The International Journal of Ethics.

The University of Connecticut Chapter, Epsilon of Connecticut, presents a public lecture each semester as a public service to the University Community. The subjects of the lectures reflect the concern of the organization with scholarly and cultural values.

Encouraging Results

The Elections Investigation Committee made its recommendations to the Student Senate Wednesday night, following a two-week study. The report recommended that a new campus-wide election be held, invalidating the results of the recent class elections. This election would be conducted under a new procedure, also drawn up by the committee. We support the recommendations of the committee as being in the best interests of the student body.

The committee report stated that there is "conclusive evidence" that ballot stuffing did occur in at least one instance. In addition, there exists a strong possibility that stuffing could easily have taken place at several other polling places. We agree that since there is this doubt a re-election is in order.

The report also included a list of fourteen recommendations to improve present election procedure. These recommendations are clear-cut, complete and intelligent. If they are carried out by the Student Senate, virtually all possibilities of the occurrence of election irregularities will be eliminated.

These reforms in election procedure have long been necessary. In the past, however, Senate after Senate had just gone along from election to election without bothering to make the needed changes. Unfortunately, or fortunately, this year's election reached a high in election violations and irregularities.

The number of violations may be considered fortunate in that the matter finally came to a head. Wisely, the Senate established the investigating committee to determine just what went wrong with the election and to make recommendations on the prevention of irregularities in the future.

We hope that the Senate seriously weighs the importance of the committee report. In this report lies the foundation upon which a stronger student government can be built. The re-establishment of fair elections over mere fiascoes should result in the restoration of the student body's faith in student government.

The current Senate has demonstrated that it is concerned with election abuses. This attitude is encouraging. By holding new elections, under a new procedure, the Senate should be able to convince the student body that it is interested in bringing an effective student government to the University of Connecticut.

Bear Your Share

"I wasn't there. Why should I pay?"

"We're concerned with social activities, it's none of our business."

"Are you crazy? The girls didn't have anything to do with it. It's not fair to ask us to pay."

No one should have to ask the student body to pay for damages incurred in the riot in October. The students should be concerned enough about the situation that they would volunteer assistance.

Whether the students belong to the Board of Governors, Pan-hel, West Campus, Towers or North Campus living areas, the problem is as much theirs as it is that of the Interfraternity Council or the Daily Campus.

This is a STUDENT problem. These same people delight in preaching the need for greater student responsibility. This is their opportunity to prove that they are willing to accept that responsibility. When the Noftsker Edict was issued in the fall, students cried that they hadn't been consulted. The matter should have been dealt with by student organizations; the students are mature and responsible to straighten out their own problems.

The students have a problem again. If student contributions don't meet damage costs, the bill will have to be paid from university funds. This is tax-payer's money. The use of their money to pay for riot damages would undoubtedly cause a state-wide uproar. This is not the type of publicity that a university entering a "new era" deserves.

The students should remember that everything that happens on this campus directly affects them as members of the community. It is not enough to merely share in University achievements. The students must agree to share in those periods of University "embarrassment" as well.

Contributions, from groups or individuals, may be mailed or delivered in person to the Daily Campus offices in the Student Union. We will forward all such funds to President Babbidge. Contribute today!

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

For the past quarter century, Washington has basked in its reputation as one of the most beautiful capitals in the world and tried to ignore the fact that it had an ugly back yard.

The things you read about in the papers or saw on television featured lovely ladies in evening gowns going into the White House, or cool garden parties where uniformed butlers served strawberries and champagne, or exclusive little dinner dances at the F Street Club where lobbyists with legislation to grind frequently picked up the check.

But on the east side of Sixteenth Street, the avenue on which the White House faces, begins the ugly side of the city—the back yard most people have tried to ignore. There it hasn't been safe to walk down the street after dark. There streets are dirty, garbage cans kicked over, children play ball in the streets, and people sit on steps in their undershorts to escape the steaming summer heat inside.

This is the Harlem of the nation's capital, a Harlem which has expanded into the vacuum left when middle-class whites moved out to suburbia. Until today the area which "most people have tried to ignore" contains "most of the people."

Fifty-four per cent of the capital of the United States today is Negro.

Replica of Ole Miss

On Thanksgiving Day the people of Washington paid for the fact that they had tried to ignore the ugly side of their capital; paid for the fact that hate had welled up in the hearts of the "ugly" residents; paid not only for their own neglect but for the hate engendered by those howling mobs which had screamed "Black B—" and "Black S.O.B." on the campus of Ole Miss.

A championship football game between Eastern High (Negro) and St. John's Parochial School (Catholic and largely white) ended with St. John's the victor. Immediately, Negro spectators descended from the grandstand, swept across the field like an angry army and with fists, knives, rocks, pieces of pipe proceeded to beat up white spectators.

The pattern, except for the color of the ringleaders, resembled the melee on the campus of Mississippi. Many of the spectators obviously had a secondary interest in the football game. They would not have brought pieces of pipe otherwise.

One of the white students assaulted was Anthony Lausi, Jr., 16, whose father works for Rep. Silvio Conti, R-Mass. When he saw a schoolmate being beaten up, Lausi went to his defense, was pushed aside by two Negroes who tried to drag him into the men's room. He managed to escape.

"The fellows who went after me weren't high school students," Lausi said. "They were grown men, about 27 or 28. They didn't have any weapons, but I could see others chasing people with knives and broken bottles. A Negro woman was even beating a white man over the head with an umbrella."

That's how high tempers ran on the ugly day when Americans were supposed to give thanks for their blessings.

Negro Leaders Shocked

There were many Negroes who remained in the grandstands, and some who went to the defense of the whites. Afterward the Negro leaders deplored the incident. Rev. E. Franklin Jackson, chairman of the local NAACP, lashed out at the rioting in a sermon the next Sunday.

"We must continue to press for rights," he said, "but at the same time seek to develop a sense of responsibility."

Simeon Booker of Ebony Magazine stated frankly: "The explosion of hate stemmed mostly from my own people," but pointed out that the majority of Negro spectators were shocked at the brawl.

However, the fact remained that this was the worst race riot Washington has seen since the riots immediately after the end of world War I over 40 years ago.

One spectator told this column: "We were terrified. There was a man in the box below us who kept threatening those who wanted to leave by opening and closing a large pair of hedge shears."

Two Catholic priests who tried to break up some of the fights left the stadium with bloody faces.

Washington police—there were 100 on hand—were unprepared for the riot and hopelessly outnumbered. They were convinced this was far more than a schoolboy riot; also convinced that you can't right a wrong in Mississippi with another wrong in Washington.

One Negro policeman who understands the sentiments of his own people better than white policemen, said: "I knew there was going to be trouble. It was sure to come. Even 200 cops couldn't have handled 'em."

But what most of the Washington police don't see, or else don't want to remember is that the eruption on Thanksgiving Day really goes back, not to Mississippi or Little Rock, but to what has been happening right here in Washington. It goes back to the ugly side of the capital of the free world, to the back yard which most of the people have tried to ignore until its residents have become most of the people.

Friday Film Series Presents 'Aparajito'

The Friday Film Series presents Aparajito tonight at 6:45 and 9 p.m.

In this film, admirers of Pather Panchali, as well as newcomers to the saga, are able to follow the further fortunes of the family that made that picture so memorable. "Aparajito" is the second part of the brilliant Satyajit Ray's trilogy of Indian life, and reveals the scope of his conception. He has set himself the task of dramatizing the tremendous social changes of this century in India. "Pather Panchali" showed the defeat of an Indian family in its struggle for existence in a poor and backward village. At its end, unvanquished, the father, mother and small son, Apu, set out to make a new life in a new place. Aparajito records their struggles in city and countryside. It shows Apu's gradual estrangement from his mother and the traditional ways, and ends with Apu, all ties severed with the past, studying at the University of Calcutta.

Grand Prize Winner

The picture, winner of the Grand Prize at the Venice Film Festival, has the directness of life itself. It is distinguished by imaginative use of the camera, particularly in the scenes in Benares. "As a record of a people's life in its daily travail and its larger aspects," noted The New Republic, "Aparajito bears comparison with Flaherty's Nanook and Moana." It is certain to be regarded among the notable films of our time.

Aparajito was adapted from the novel by B. Bandopadhyaya. The producer and director is Satyajit Ray. Leading players are Karuna Banerji, Kanu Banerji, Smaren Kumar Ghosh.

Election Committee Recommendations

The following is the report the Elections Investigation Committee submitted to the Senate Wednesday night.

The Elections Investigation Committee has heard testimony from a number of sources, including the Elections Committee, the Presidents of both political parties, poll tenders, poll watchers, interested and disinterested voters, and others. The Committee checked and re-checked both ballots and ballot boxes at questioned locations.

The Committee sought to establish what, if any, irregularities occurred in the recent class elections. The apparent irregularities, both procedural and other, brought to light were numerous and shocking.

Whatever blame that might be placed on any one individual is small relative to the burden that both the Student Senate and the Student Body must bear for irregularities in present and past elections.

The irregularities tended to be in two major areas, procedural and other than procedural. This report first lists the irregularities and then makes recommendations relevant to those irregularities.

I. Procedural irregularities and recommendation.

A. IRREGULARITIES

1. Election committee not familiar with election procedure.
2. Printing of Ballots.
 - a. No written record of negotiations with printer.
 - b. Last minute changes on ballots.
 - c. No definite plan of delivery.
3. Candidates qualifications not certified far enough in advance.
4. No set procedure for ballot distribution to balloting locations.

5. Student directory not obtained far enough in advance.

6. Service organizations received insufficient notice and training.

7. Lack of instruction given to poll watchers causing disorganization.

8. Construction and method of sealing ballot boxes completely inadequate.

9. Great possibility of double voting.

10. Size of elections committee inadequate.

11. Improper handling and security of unused ballots.

12. Easy accessibility to blank ballots at all times by passers-by.

13. Delivery and pick up of ballot boxes too haphazard.

14. Method of ballot counting and instructions to ballot counters inadequate.

15. No plan for retention and disposition of election materials after election.

B. RECOMMENDATIONS

1. Elections committee should be increased to four senators. Adequate training and familiarity with elections procedure should be stressed.

2. An elections timetable, as below, should be adopted.

a. Election day — second Thursday after first Monday of November.

b. Cut-off date — third Wednesday prior to election date. No substituting candidates after this date.

(1) Except cases of death or injury.

(2) Doubtful cases to be decided by the election committee.

c. Voting hours — 11 a.m. delivery — 7 p.m. close polls.

3. Ballot Boxes.

a. New boxes constructed of heavy wood or metal.

b. Locks — The top of the ballot box shall be locked. A flap shall extend over a slit in which voters shall place their ballots and also over a compartment in the bottom of the box in which unused ballots shall be placed at the end of the voting day. This flap shall be locked at close of polls. The locks should be combination; capable of being changed. Combination to be set by elections committee.

4. Ballots—Ordered by certified letter and picked up by elections committee and immediately locked in administration vault. Protective containers should be used to hold ballots at polling places. Distribution of ballots should be such that they will equal 105% of the qualified voters in each area.

5. Candidate Qualifications — Must be determined by the cut-off date.

6. Poll Tenders and Watchers—There shall be one poll tender, and may be one poll watcher, from each party at the polling place. A list of these individuals shall be submitted to the Student Senate on or before the cut-off date.

7. Counters—There shall be one senator or representative from each political party at each ballot box. Elections Committee shall decide if a representative is qualified to count ballots.

8. Training—Tenders, watchers and counters shall be properly trained and instructed within the week prior to the election. The elections committee should provide this training.

9. Student Directory—Adequate and sufficient copies should be obtained at least one week before the election.

10. Voting—I.D. cards shall be punched at the fall election and at the spring election with two different types of punches to prevent double voting. No other means of identification will be acceptable.

11. Electioneering — All campaign materials must be at least 50 feet from the polling place. Candidates shall remain at the poll only long enough to vote.

12. Collection of Ballot Boxes—Two cars each holding two members of the elections committee, each followed by a security car.

13. Counting of Ballots—Ballot counting procedure to be submitted to the Student Senate from the Elections Committee no later than the cut-off date.

14. Post Election Ballot Disposition — After counting, ballots locked in ballot boxes and secured in an appropriate place to be designated by the Elections Committee. Not to be removed until election is formally validated. Directories and unused ballots shall be dealt with similarly.

We feel that security, efficiency and proper training through the above recommendations will be effective means toward the realization of our goals. However, the possible use of voting machines will almost inherently alleviate any election discrepancies.

II. Evidence to substantiate charges that there were fraudulent actions involved in the election.

A. There is conclusive evidence that at least one ballot box was stuffed.

B. There was both party and individual, including candidate, electioneering within 50 feet of the polls.

C. Poll watchers at times interfered with the election procedures.

C. There is a discrepancy at the Windham Hall ballot box between those votes counted and those votes reportedly cast there.

III. Possibility of fraudulent actions during the election.

A. Conceivably ballot boxes could have been switched by any political party desiring to do so. The committee conducted an experiment which proved that ballot switching could have been possible between 7 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

B. The possibility of stuffing existed at many other polling places, i.e., Crawford B. Fairfield Hall, Kingston House, Whitney Hall, Windham Hall, Student Union Box, and Tau Epsilon Phi.

C. The possibility of ballot stuffing when boxes were being brought to the counting room was great.

IV. Recommendations:

In the analysis of our investigation certain factors must be taken into consideration. The limitations of the investigatory committee must be a major factor. Inadequate time, lack of professionalism, the lack of negative sanctions (both administrative and judicial) and the general lack of student co-operation are such factors.

The committee, after the review of all testimony and careful deliberation ascertains that a multitude of irregularities and opportunities for such, have existed. Although only one discrepancy in actual voting is a certainty, we believe it entirely possible and probable that others did occur.

Thus, the Student Senate election study committee unanimously recommends to the Student Senate that a new Campus-wide election be held. We feel, that through new voting procedure, as described above, the electorate will be assured of a totally fair and valid election.

In all 50 states, the big switch is to Marlboro

Remember 1955, when Marlboro came to town? Suddenly, the U.S. had a flavor cigarette with a filter on the end. Sales grew in every town, in every state. Today the whole place is Marlboro country—land of the filter cigarette with the unfiltered taste. Behind this popularity is the famous Richmond recipe of ripe tobaccos (the finest grown), and the pure white Selectate Filter. Pack or box, you get a lot to like.

Wrestling Coach Osur Hopeful About Showing Against MIT Saturday

The Uconn wrestlers take to the road tomorrow for a match against the MIT wrestling team in Boston. The contests with MIT, the second on the Uconn schedule, will be held in the evening at MIT rather than in the afternoon as had been originally scheduled.

The freshman matches will commence at 6:30 while the varsity action will get underway at 8:00 p.m.

Soundly Beaten

In their opener both the freshmen and the varsity were soundly beaten last weekend by a Wesleyan team rated one of the tops in New England. Uconn coach, Nate Osur, commented, "Wesleyan is one of the best in New England right now," and added, "they will be close challengers to Springfield, the long time New England leaders."

Wesleyan Loaded

The coach pointed out that the Wesleyan team is loaded with New England champions. From the 147 class on up to the Unlimited they are all New England champions either last year or the year before. And in the 122 and 130 pound classes their men were runners up for the New England championships.

In summary of the Wesleyan matches Osur commented, "We never really got a chance, they were too much out of our class."

The Uconn coach was a little more optimistic about the coming matches with MIT. He said, "MIT is more in our class. I feel they will be better than us but if things work out well we could give them a hard time of it and have a fighting chance."

MIT "Pretty Fair"

He termed the MIT team, "pretty fair judging from last year's frosh team." They are particularly strong in the middle weights and Osur commented, "We might have a chance in the lower and upper weights."

He went on to explain, however, that little is known about the team from Massachusetts since tomorrow's matches will be their openers.

"They have a number of good wrestlers on campus but because of their heavy lab schedules some of the best don't ever come out." It is difficult therefore to tell much about the MIT squad until after the first match.

For Varsity

For the varsity Andy Junker will wrestle in the 123 pound class. Carl Dunham will carry the banner in the 130 pound class. Tom Story will go for the Uconn in the 137 pound class.

In the 147 pound class will be Martin Lugus, and Lee Abrahamson will wrestle in the 157 pound class. Going for the Huskies in the 167 pound class will be John Dietrich while Andy Havis will start in the 177 pound class.

Wrestling for the Uconn in the unlimited class will be either Bill Poe or Joe Licata. Poe went last weekend for Uconn but former footballer Licata may get the nod against MIT.

Going against the MIT freshmen will be: William Stigliani, 123; possibly Peter Candelman, 130; Madis Linask, 137; Ronald O'Connell, 147; Dennis Walsh, 157, and Stewart Kent, 167.

Pierce Doubtful

Kenneth Pierce may wrestle in the 177 pound class for the frosh but his status was doubtful due to a nose injury. Coach Osur mentioned that he would have to check with the doctor before allowing Pierce to wrestle.

Wayne Candela, a big lineman from the frosh football team, will go in the unlimited class for the Pups. Osur commented that the team will miss Bernard Jackvony who has been unable to compete this year because of a virus. When he is well Jackvony will probably wrestle in either the 167-177 pound classes. Osur labeled him, "a pretty fine wrestler, one of the best on the squad."

Nat Optimistic

Although not overly optimistic about the prospects this season, Osur said, "after we get by the first three I think we will have a pretty fair chance of doing well against the rest of the schools." He explained that the first three matches, with Wesleyan, MIT, and Brown, were the toughest and that the remaining teams were more in Uconn's class.

Following tomorrow's match with MIT will be a contest with the wrestlers of Brown, December 15. The first action after the vacation will be a home meet with the grapplers of Rhode Island, January 9.

Aqua-Huskies Open Season With Match Against Worcester

The Uconn swimmers begin their 1962-63 season up in Worcester, Mass., tomorrow against the swimming team of Worcester Poly Tech. Swimming Coach, Squires, is slightly optimistic about Uconn chances of improving last year's poor showing.

On WPI

On WPI he commented, "They're not a strong team usually but use freshmen and could come up with a surprise." "They have one outstanding man, a sprinter named Rounds," he continued and explained that this performer's :52 in the 100 yard freestyle would probably be too much for the Huskies. He placed third in New England last year.

Fine Sprinters

Nevertheless, Squires, was high in the praise of his crew of sprinters. He pointed to seven men who could swim the 100 in :54 or less and said, "we have more depth in the free style than we have ever had . . . and the Uconn record set by Bruce Maxwell as 51.8 could be broken."

The one event where the Huskies are weakest is in the butterfly. Ted Boynton, the first Uconn to get under one minute, was graduated leaving George Dews to carry the ball for Uconn.

He is a senior who has lacked the motivation in previous years but has come out this season. Squires termed him, "a real good prospect" and said, "he could be the best flyer we have ever had . . . but he needs to get into shape."

Fly Prospects

Other prospects in the butterfly are Bob Garrity and Bob Henderson. "Neither are great on training," commented Squires, and he added "that is our major problem in the fly."

In the breast stroke Squires felt the team will be better off in the second semester. At that time Wally Graskiski will become eligible. However, the top man will be junior, Dick Dempsey. "He came close to the Uconn record last year and should break it early in the season," said Squires.

William Allen and Bob Hagen will add depth in the breast stroke.

Busher In Back Stroke

Team Captain, Dick Busher, will be a consistent winner in the back stroke for the Huskies. He is a former New England record holder, the New England champion two years ago, and placed second last year. The coach reports that Busher is, "in for his best season."

Another backstroker is Bill True, a sophomore. Squires said, "he will make a good place winner."

In the freestyle events Uconn will be the strongest. Squires described the freestyle crew as, "the best all around freestyle team we have ever had."

Heading the list of freestylers is Bill McCalmon who is the, "best all around swimmer on the squad," according to Squires. The coach added, "he is one of the fastest 100 yard freestylers we have ever had and could break the school record."

Freestyle List

Squires went down the list of his freestyle men:

Bob Henderson, who improved greatly toward the end of last year according to Squires.

Roger Gesswein: He didn't come out last year and is doing :54 right now at the beginning of the season.

Bruce Wallace: He has been out of school for a year.

Dick Schneider: He is another :54 freestyler.

Bob Garrity: He is an All-American High School diver who has turned to swimming because of a plantar wart on his foot. Squires commented, "he should get down to :23 in the 50 yard freestyle."

All-Around Swimmer

Another of the all-around swimmer is Dave Sykes. He swims the 200 freestyle, the 500 yard freestyle and possibly the 200 yard individual medley.

In the middle distance events, where Uconn lost Bob Benson, a top New England swimmer, one of the chief hopes will be Ami Trauber. He is a former Israeli Olympic swimmer who didn't come out last year because of financial pressures. He is also a fine sprinter.

Devidian-Diving

Ron Devidian from New England swimming power, Cranston, R. I. high, will take over the diving chores for the Uconn. Squires had been expecting to count on Bob Long, last year's New England champion, but he had scholastic difficulties.

Squires tapped Devidian as a "very good diver, not as good as Long but he will win a lot of places for us." Another diver is Ken Huminski up from last year's frosh team, Squires, however, was unsure of his interest.

On Season . . .

On the season Squires commented, "we will do better dual meet wise . . . our only claim to fame last year was a third place in the New England." "I hope we will do better against teams like Amherst and Springfield where we did poorly last year," Squires added.

He explained, "the first big test will be Rutgers next Saturday . . . they will be vastly improved over last year when we beat them in the final relay." Following the WPI and Rutgers meets the men will get a rest until after the vacation when they will tackle powerful Yale down in New Haven January 9th.

Frosh Seek First Win, Play Eagles In Prelim

The Uconn Freshman basketball team will be paired against Frosh of Boston College in preliminary game tomorrow night at BC. The Pups will have Dan Hesford of North Arlington, New Jersey; and 6-1 Jacob James of Bloomfield as their starting forwards. Playing guard will be Bill Gregor of Bristol and Whitney of Brighton, Me. Ken Hertoff, the tallest man on the team will be playing center.

Second Chance

Tomorrow night's game will be second chance for the Pups to break into the win column after missing their first chance last Saturday night. In their debut, the Frosh lost a heartbreaker to Yale, 32-28, after jumping to an early 10-3 lead. The Pups were outmanned by the Yaleies and when the intermission came, the score was Yale 32-Uconn 28.

The Yale Frosh extended their lead in the third quarter, only to see it cut by a last period surge by a battling Uconn five. The Pups came as close as three points, but another basket by the Yearlings, rapped things up.

The Yale five had two players who scored over 20 points: Herb Broadfoot with 27 and John Skelton with 20.

Average 1st Game

Uconn Coach George Wigton in commenting about last Saturday's game said, "It was an average first game." The Uconn Frosh mentor with the aid of ex-varsity basketball player Len Carlson have been working with the boys all week, shaping them up for tomorrow night's game.

Huskies Look To BC For Second Hoop Win

Having knocked off Ivy League champion Yale, the University of Connecticut basketball Huskies aim at Greater Boston champion Boston College at the Roberts Center in Chestnut Hill, Mass., Saturday night.

Boston College opened its season with a very strong performance against the Miami Hurricanes, which the Eagles lost by a 72-69 count earlier this week. Uconn topped Yale, 61-49, in its only outing thus far.

BC Scouted

Coach Hugh Greer of the Connecticut team scouted the Eagles against Miami and came back to Storrs with a great deal of respect for the Boston club that won 15 and lost seven last winter. "We cannot take this club lightly," Greer remarked. "They impressed me with their sharp shooting."

The Eagles, under new coach Frank Power, who is a former BC hoopster, lost high scoring Jim Hooley from last year's club. However, the Eagles' freshman team enjoyed one of its best seasons and there is plenty of promising sophomore help on hand.

Eagle Lineup

Seniors Gerry Ward (-4), at center, and Charlie Carr (6-2), a guard, are veteran performers as well as juniors rFanrk Richichi

(6-5) and Dave Reynolds (6-6), at forwards. Newcomer George Humann (6-1) rounds out the starting five. Ward hit for 23 points and Carr 20 in the opening game against Miami.

Coach Greer of the Huskies was satisfied with the Connecticut showing in the Yale game. He states his game strategy against Boston calls for employing eight players, with three men working on spot assignments so that he may vary his offensive and defensive patterns.

That tactic paid off handsomely at Yale with 5-9 Dale Corney of Waltham, Mass., coming off the bench and exploding for 10 points down the stretch to stop Yale's last threat during a 16-point performance. Al Ritter also filled in quite ably at guard while Bob Haines helped the big men to take a rest during the action.

Connecticut is expected to open with 6-6 Gerry Manning and 6-10 Eddie loSmcenski up front, Toby Kimball (6-7), at center, and Capt. Andy Czuchry (6-0) and Dom Perno (6-1) at guards.

Two more Huskies were declared by Greer ready to take their place on the firing line if needed. They are 6-4 junior John Fahy and 6-4 senior Bill Hulteen. Fahy, from Pt. Pleasant Beach, N.J., is a junior college graduate who joined the club this season, while Hulteen is a senior from New Haven who has been trying to make the grade the past two years.

campaigning. The primary purpose in college is not to run class councils but rather to glean at knowledge in preparation for their life's endeavors.

"Unfortunately this whole new situation will tie the hands of the class councils until at least February. This is very poor, especially in the case of the Senior Class, who should be making their arrangements for their annual Senior Week now.

"I trust that all my candidates are still desirous of seeking office and I hope that despite all this new precedent candidates from either party will not consider dropping out."

Wallace

Mr. Fred Wallace, President of the Independent Student Organization put his feelings this way: "My general opinion of the meeting is that it was good. The Senators might more fully realize now that they could work together. Outside of this, however, I don't think that it is a step in any great direction.

"Although many don't realize it, we are moving towards the direction of a British type government. As a result of the Senate's action the political parties have been put in such a place that the next logical step would be a party government — which I think would be a good idea."

Other Opinion

Opinion varied in other places. Most of the senators questioned felt that the action of the senate was a giant step in promoting the integrity of the institution. Typical of this viewpoint is that of Sen. Vic Schacter, (ISO), who had this to say: "The Senate, I believe, took a very significant step forward in recognizing considerable laxity on its part. But more important, in correcting the election shortcomings it is taking a significant step forward in providing a fair and equitable election procedure for the students. To me it seemed like a new step in the proper direction for student government at the University of Connecticut. But there still remains a long way to go."

Pall Mall Presents~ GIRL WATCHER'S GUIDE

SWEET-TOOTHED
CUPCAKE

CAMPUS TYPE IV

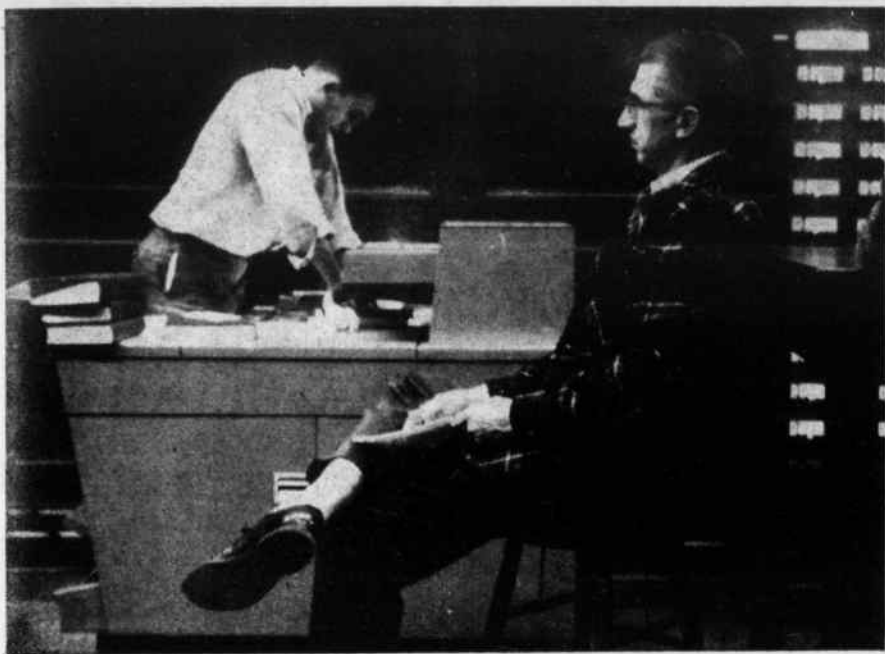

The natural habitat of the Cupcake is the Home Economics kitchen. She believes, as her mother did, that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach. While this viewpoint might be considered unsophisticated by many of today's more enlightened male students, none of them has ever been known to turn down a tin of her Fudge-Frosted Nut-Filled Brownies. She really has a way with a dish and, as you can see, she's quite a dish herself.

Just as the Cupcake has found the perfect recipe for Frosted Brownies, the makers of Pall Mall have found the perfect recipe for a delicious smoke. Taste Pall Mall's natural mildness and see what we mean.

Pall Mall's natural mildness is so good to your taste!

So smooth, so satisfying, so downright smokeable!

This Is Progress

Lack of study space seems to have been a long-standing complaint of the Uconn student. The announcement last year of the University's plans to build an addition to the Wilbur Cross Library elicited a response from the student body which was slightly reminiscent of the Hallelujah Chorus. However, when Uconn students returned to campus this fall, it was evident that the scheduled summer groundbreaking of the new library wing had not taken place. Plans now call for work to start at the beginning of next year.

Along with the obviously necessary noise and confusion that goes hand in hand with any construction, students will have an added cross to bear. The Reading Room, now used for studying by many, will not be available, thereby cutting down the already seriously limited amount of study space.

Such is progress.
