

Connecticut Daily Campus

Serving Storrs Since 1896

VOL. LXVIII, NO. 55

STORRS, CONNECTICUT

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1963

Author, Politician are University Professors

An outstanding British literary figure and one of America's leading authorities on political parties have accepted appointments as the first "University Professors" at the University of Connecticut.

Rex Warner, a novelist, translator and poet, was named University Professor of English. Dr. E.E. Schattschneider, Professor emeritus of political science at Wesleyan University, was appointed University Professor of Political Science. Both appointments were announced today by President Homer D. Babbidge, Jr.

and begins his new assignment in February. He will teach a graduate course, "Interests and Interest Groups in Politics," deliver a series of public lectures, work with students and individual projects and offer general consultation.

Mr. Warner has been teaching at the UConn since September, when he began a one-year tour as visiting professor of English. An Oxonian by education, he was a close associate of W. H. Auden, Stephen Spender and C. Day Lewis during his own college days.

Recent Novels

His more recent novels include "Pericles, the Athenian," and "The Young Caesar, Imperial Caesar." The latter won for him the James Tait Black Memorial Prize for the best English novel of 1960.

E. E. Schattschneider

It was also during the decade of the '40's that Mr. Warner began his translations of Greek and Latin Classics, including Xenophon, Thucydides, Plutarch, Caesar and St. Augustine. His poetic gift was disclosed first in "Poems and Contradictions" and later in verse dramas of Aeschylus and Euripides.

Shortly after World War II Mr. Warner became director of the British Institute in Athens and a close friend of Mr. Seferis. This friendship led to Mr. Warner's numerous translations of Seferis and the former's reputation as the most authoritative translator of the great Greek poet.

Dr. Schattschneider, meantime, has had an equally distinguished career in his own field. He received his doctorate in 1955 from Columbia University, where he had first embarked on his long teaching career eight years before. In 1930 he had accepted a post as assistant professor at New Jersey College for women and a year later joined the Wesleyan faculty in a similar capacity.

He became professor at Wesleyan in 1939, a post he held until his partial retirement in 1960. His books included: "Politics, Pressures and Tariff," "Party Government," "Struggle for Party Government," "Guide to the Study of Public Affairs," and "The Semi-Sovereign People."

Dr. Schattschneider has served as chairman of the Governor's Commission on Community Adjustment Problems, and as a member of the State Board of Mediation and Arbitration, the State Election Laws Commission and the Middletown City Council.

South Is Meeting Race Problems Claims Ochs

"Will real solutions come first in the South?"

Martin's Ochs editor of the Chattanooga Times, posed this question last night at more than one hundred close listeners in the Student Union Ballroom.

Mr. Ochs believes that the South is meeting its racial problems. Chattanooga is a good example of the South's efforts. The city desegregated a year and a half ago without so much as one hint of an incident.

Chattanooga is not alone. Mr. Ochs pointed out that from May to October, 1963, "... lunch counters were desegregated in 102 more Southern cities, restaurants in 129, hotels in 60, theaters in 144."

Mr. Ochs said that "... for a century this nation has tended to tell itself there was no American race problem, only 'a Southern problem.' There is definitely a 'Southern problem', however it has ceased to be merely that; the rest of the nation must now share the burden of guilt.

Because of the current population movement there are now "... five times as many Negroes in Chicago as in Birmingham; four times as many in Detroit as in New Orleans, six times as many in Los Angeles as Miami."

Because of this movement, only half of the nation's Negroes live in the South. The other half are trying to find homes in the rest of the nation.

Mr. Ochs pointed out that the worst race riot in our history occurred in the Northern city of Detroit. It happened in 1943 when 34 died and 700 were injured.

"The tragedy dwarfed anything that has happened before or since in the South."

"Some Notherners", says Mr. Ochs, "cannot seem to rid themselves of the incantation that the South is the source of all ignorance and insularity."

He cited Dr. Martin Luther King as saying "... I think that if the North isn't very careful, the South may well outrun the North in human relations."

Freshman Class Seeks Jonathan Replacement

The freshman Class has undertaken to secure a new husky mascot to replace the ailing Jonathon V currently in kennel retirement. The project was initiated at Monday's Class Council meeting, which also saw the passage of the Freshman Constitution. This is the earliest passage date of any previous freshman class constitution.

Alaskan Offer

The proposal to provide the University with a new mascot was suggested in view of an offer made by the University of Alaska following the death of Jonathon IV in 1958. Alaska offered to present us with five white Husky pups if we could provide transportation from Yukon to UConn. Unfortunately, the expense of providing the necessary transportation resulted in the project's demise.

Air Force Assistance

The Frosh, however, are working on an alternative which they hope will eliminate shipping expense. Freshman Class President, Lee Grief, is currently exploring the possibility of free AFROTC transportation to bring Jonathon VI to his new home.

A "Jonathan Committee", headed by Karen Fromkin, is in charge of contacting the University of Alaska and inquiring about the offer. Miss Fromkin pointed out that despite the early planning, it could not hope for the husky's arrival before next fall, if all goes well.

Monday's meeting drew approximately eighty-five interested freshmen making a grand total of 275 students who have attended the three council meetings.

President Greif introduced Dr. Pfeifer of the Botany Dept. to the council. Dr. Pfeifer is the new Freshman Class Advisor. The Frosh were reminded of the Thursday night Carol Sing and plans for a February Valentine's Dance were discussed.

Correction

Gary Garofolo, UConn junior charged with breach of the peace, was incorrectly reported yesterday as residing at Kingston House. Garofolo is a commuter.

Breakage Deposits To Finance Senior Week

Ed McCaffrey, Treasurer of the Senior Class has asked all seniors to hand over their breakage deposit to finance the Senior Week activities as well as other class functions.

Free Senior Week

By giving the class council this money a senior will be entitled to free tickets to all senior week activities including the formal dance, cut-rate prices on a corsage and tuxedo, and a one year membership in the Alumni Association. The class gift will also come out of the breakage deposit. All seniors are asked to cooperate so that plans can be started immediately for senior activities.

Walt Twachtman, President, said that he spoke with Mr. Johnson, head of the Alumni Association, with which the senior class wants to develop closer contacts. Mr. Johnson wants to address the senior class this year about the function of the Alumni Association.

Babbidge Approval

(Continued on Page 7 Col. 5)

UConn Volunteers At Mansfield:

A TYPICAL SCENE: UConn volunteers and Mansfield State Training School children enjoy the out-of-doors. Volunteers have become involved in almost every area of the school.

The children have prepared a Christmas pageant to be held tonight at 7:30 p.m. Students and faculty of UConn have been invited to attend.

(Campus Photo—Fiebig)

Blood Donors Needed

Students from the New Haven Area Needed as Blood Donors for Open Heart Surgery December 20th.

An additional fifteen pints of blood are urgently needed to provide for the open heart surgery of a six year old Wilimantic area child.

Students from the New Haven area or community residents that are willing to donate at 7:30 a.m., December 20th at the Grace New Haven Hospital, are urged to contact Mr. Macione, Koons Hall, room 118 at their earliest convenience.

Connecticut Daily Campus

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1963

Many Souths

"There are many Souths," said Martin Ochs last night. There are many Souths. Each one of us has in our own mind a "South". Prejudice and discrimination is no regional problem. No longer is it possible for men of conscience to look at the problem as belonging to someone else in another era or another section of the country. The problem of discrimination is with us, perhaps no more than ever before. We are just more aware of it than ever before.

Whenever the question of discriminatory practice arises, people immediately say something about solving the problems in our own back yard before crusading to the South or the problem areas within our own state. Immediately fingers are pointed at sororities or fraternities.

It is about time that we faced the "problem in our own back yard", and it's about time we faced it honestly.

The leaders within the Greek system point with pride at their clean white charters containing no discriminatory clauses. The independent dormitories swell with the conviction that they are under no charter system at all, that they are not inherently based on selection as are their rivals the Greeks. And in their quick self-defense, both of these elements are missing the basic problem, the basic "South", which is a part of us all.

The discriminatory issue on this campus is not an institutional one. It cannot be solved by blotting out a clause in a charter. It cannot be solved by the elimination of a charter. The problem is a very personal one. Fraternities and sororities are so set up that a few votes by members of the society may "black-ball" a prospective pledge. But what happens in an independent dorm when a Negro moves in down the hall? No vote can eliminate him or her from living in that room. But living there by no means indicates that he or she "belongs" or is "accepted".

Perhaps the Greek system makes it a little easier to discriminate. It is founded on the principle that men or women want to be able to select their companions, to select those with whom they will live and eat. But the members of an independent dorm can be just as bigoted and discriminatory, by no formal vote, but by their very conduct and attitudes.

Discrimination and bigotry, we repeat, cannot be eliminated by erasing a phrase from a charter, or by living without a charter. We must look to ourselves for the basic roots of discrimination and therefore to ourselves for the elimination of those roots.

As long as we can look at another human being and say, "I don't want to live with him because he is colored," we have in no way solved the problem, the sickness of prejudice which threatens to contaminate and mortally injure our nation. It is not discriminatory institutions which we have to fight here at UConn, it is the evil of blind prejudice itself which lurks in every one of us.

How do we fight it? As long as we refuse to associate with another because of race, we have no chance. The only way we will ever be able to conquer that fear of another because of race or creed is by fighting our stereotypes. And we can only fight those false images by replacing ignorance with personal knowledge of a specific person, of a group of people.

Yes, there are many Souths. Each of us harbors a South within us. Only after we recognize it, can we possibly fight it.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Senate Broadcast

To the Editor:

I have noticed letters concerning the broadcasting of Student Senate meetings in the CDC for the past two days. I sincerely hope WHUS will take notice of these letters and begin by broadcasting the Senate meeting Wednesday night. Knowledge of these meetings is vital to the campus.

Lorna N. Pokart
Holcomb Hall

Morgan Monsters

To the Editor:

The Kangaroo Court convened Friday evening at Morgan House to try the case of the "Elephant versus the Cheshire Cat." The elephant was naturally exonerated because everyone knows an elephant never forgets . . . or does she? The Cheshire Cat was convicted, of course, on the basis of his malicious grin. Presiding was the lion, although he was also the district attorney and chief witness.

Twelve animals were there: zebras, monkeys, foxes, lions and hyenas abounded . . . even a giraffe was there. It was a lot of fun for all, but a bit unconstitutional. The vice president, who was supposed to head the judiciary committee wasn't even around; and twelve is more than the five board members stipulated in the constitution.

But we aren't here to criticize, rather to congratulate the animals of Morgan for starting to clean up their house. They were fortunate we think, in being able to obtain such morally virtuous and upstanding young beasts on their board. They have done an excellent job so far by keeping dope out of the house and salt out of the sugar bowls. And since so many of the righteous members of the board have such intimate contact with the felonies committed here and there, we're sure that they'll get right on clearing up those little problems such as embezzlement of house funds and house liquor. They have already made a start in censoring those people who can eat at the house or come to parties free . . . by limiting them only to a select group of the lion's friends. We won't mention the predetermination of house affairs before they reach house council as an affront to democracy; it is done simply in the name of Efficiency.

Whatever the above situation might be, it is none of our concern, we merely offered a few humble suggestions for future improvements. As we have already stated, our only motive was to congratulate you for the positive step you have taken in ridding yourself of one low-down scoundrel; a malicious smile should be enough to hang anyone, unless the executioner's vision were impaired, perhaps, by the halo that had slipped in front of his eyes. But we are sure that the members of the jury withheld their personal prejudices and abided by the old maxim: "With malice toward none."

However, we realize that if there really were any lions who abused their power, we could not really criticize them for doing so, if the rest of the herd weren't terribly informed or interested in what was going on, or were too lazy to change it.

One last reflection: In a remote sense, the whole situation reminds us of La Fontaine's story, where the ass was sacrificed because he ate the monk's grass, but the lion? . . . why he only ate a shepherd!

June Brown
Joan Carter
Linda Ribas
South Hall

Who's Responsible

To the Editor:

In reply to the letter of December 10th, in which a student says the third floor R. A. of Hartford Hall has a "lack of responsibility," I can only say that this student himself shows a lack of social responsibility. The disturbances on the third floor of Hartford are caused by a nucleus of only a few students. Certainly the majority there do not usually participate in the activities.

The R. A. in question knows who these people are, and has already taken all the steps he can against them. The argument that the "R. A. is seldom there to enforce" quiet hours is really no argument at all: it shows a lack of initiative, responsibility, and maturity on the part of the writer . . . or the writers. Must they have a "Big Brother" to constantly run to, to constantly depend upon?

Can't they do anything for themselves? Evidently not: the attitude of "let George do it, I don't want the responsibility" prevails. If the majority cannot enforce its wishes over the minority, then that is nobody's fault but the majority's.

I say this to the third floor of Hartford: govern yourself as far as you can. Do not depend too much on the bureaucracy, and do not allow yourselves to be terrorized by a minority. Or you may end up by being run by a Gestapo.

John Wells
Fourth Floor
Hartford Hall

R. A. Praised

To the Editor:

Let it be understood that the letter on December 10, entitled R. A. Lax, and signed, "Third Floor, Hartford Hall", does not represent the true feelings of the members of the third floor. A personal derogation, such as this, appearing in a campus-wide paper, seems to be a personal antagonism rather than a professional one. Anyone knowing our third floor RA would agree that the article and the person are in complete antithesis.

The writer of the present article has often times felt free to discuss personal problems and to submit complaints to the advisor.

It is the consensus of opinion of the "rest of the third floor" that the "lack of responsibility" lies not with the RA, but with the complainant. Did he interview the Advisor personally? First-hand information says he did not. The complainant believes in social control. So he "passes the buck" to the Advisor, while he calmly sits down and writes letters.

Stephen Gordon for the third floor
Hartford Hall

Political Logic

To the Editor:

As political chairman of Phi Kappa Tau Fraternity, I feel I must make comment on the letter in Tuesday's edition of the CDC by one Joel Hirschhorn. Mr. Hirschhorn stated there that "Phi Kappa Tau has joined the 'Calder Group'".

—Mr. Hirschhorn, we are flattered.

We are flattered because we consider the "Calder Group" to be comprised of anyone opposed to Mr. Hirschhorn, his method, or his followers. This we infer from Mr. Hirschhorn's recent outcries in the CDC, especially the aforementioned letter in which his logic follows thusly: Pat Sheehan opposes Barry Rudolf; Pat Sheehan is a brother of Phi Kappa Tau; Matt Radomski opposes Barry Rudolf; Matt Radomski is a pledge of Phi Kappa Tau; therefore, Phi Kappa Tau has joined the "Calder" Group.

The issue, Mr. Hirschhorn, is who and what is Barry Rudolf, who and what is his opponent, and what consequences will follow from either's election. With respect to Mr. Rudolf, we believe that your philosophies and methods are, at least a part of his, and that his election would once again put student government and the U.S.A. party in a plight of cheapness and amateur corruption.

Tom Stronawski
Political Chairman
Phi Kappa Tau

Connecticut Daily Campus

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF
Dianne D. Rader

MANAGING EDITOR
Evelyn Marshak

News Editor: Peter Kierys
Sports Editor: Leigh Montville
Feature Editor: Bill McGovern
Senior Associate: Andrew McKirdy
Executive Aide: Jack Carlson
Associate Editors: Kenneth Gustafson, Alison Sakowitz, Judi Becker
Layout Staff: Bernice Golden, Anita Ellis, Nancy McCleary, Judith Kohanski, Lenore Grossman

News Staff: Jeff Belmont, Arlene Bryant, Barry Altman, Mark Healy, Judy Kierys, Leslie Hunt, Sue Cronin, Carol McNamara, Janice Priebe, Leslie Corin, Malcolm Barlow, Dave Gross

Sports Staff: Lou Matsikas, Guy Caruso, Bill Rhein, Hawk Brown, Pete Dunning, Garry Clarke, Patti O'Brien

Feature Staff: Natalie Marinelli, Jim Rhinesmith, Sheila Duram, Joe Brzenski, Donna Parffumi, Suzanne Duffy, Jack Chiarzio, Ellen Mehligust, Brenda Rudin, Pat Krawski, Carol Lewis

Copy Staff: Jane Bunn, Carol Barnes, Betty Lukasik, Steve McNamara, Joanne Haire, Lynda Gigliotti, Robin Crosby, Peggy Beaucage, Cookie Caggianello, Gloria Rotunno

Photo Staff: Ken Golden, Marcia Laughrey, Mary Irvine, John Howland, Bill Morris, Don Woodworth, Steve Fitch, Mike Coon, Al Fiebig, Nancy Ungerer, Larry Fogelson.

PUBLISHED DAILY WHILE THE UNIVERSITY IS IN SESSION EXCEPT SATURDAYS AND SUNDAYS. ENTERED AS SECOND CLASS MATTER AT THE POST OFFICE, STORRS, CONN., MARCH 19, 1952, UNDER ACT OF MARCH, 1879. MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED COLLEGIATE PRESS. ACCEPTED FOR ADVERTISING BY THE NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC. EDITORIAL AND BUSINESS OFFICES LOCATED IN THE STUDENT UNION BUILDING, UNIVERSITY OF CONNECTICUT, STORRS, CONN. SUBSCRIBER: ASSOCIATED PRESS NEWS SERVICE. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: $5.00 PER SEMESTER, $8.00 PER YEAR. PRINTED BY THE HALL & BILL PRINTING COMPANY, 84 NORTH STREET, WILLIMANTIC, CONNECTICUT. RETURN NOTIFICATION OF UNCLAIMED MAILED COPIES TO CONNECTICUT DAILY CAMPUS, UNIVERSITY OF CONNECTICUT, STORRS, CONNECTICUT.

All I Want For Christmas

VIEWPOINT

By JACK CARLSON

According to the latest WHUS top forty poll, the latest hits that will be popular on campus will be All I Want For Christmas is a New Student Senate, and Senators roasting on an open fire, Hirschhorn nipping at their nose.

And our sources also say that this one could turn out to be something big: I'm gettin' Nothing for Christmas.

As a matter of fact, I, as a student of the University of Connecticut, am getting nothing most of the time: no leadership, no planning, no student government (not to mention a few personal things.)

What's that, you say I am getting something? Well, besides headaches and pains in my stomach when I go to Student Senate meetings, I suppose there are a few things which I could look forward to in my stocking this year:

Stocking Possibilities

- (1) A % finished Constitution.
- (2) Satisfaction that all budgets are in order.
- (3) A memo on my desk that says that the Student Senate, with possible exception of Constitution, has not done a damned significant thing this year.

Big Promise

They tell me that on New Year's Eve, among other interesting things that happen, some people even go so far as to make a resolution which they allegedly will promise to try to keep in the future. (Supposedly this promise is to have a little more weight than the usual political promise). I hope the Student Senate won't think me too forward if I suggest to them that they try to make some resolutions. Realizing that I am dealing with, I assume, people and not things, and hoping that I will not be "stepping on anyone's toes," I offer for the hell of it a few possible suggestions which the Student Senate may choose to resolve.

Resolutions

- (1) Do something for a change.
- (2) Attend meetings for a change (just check the Senate attendance tonight and you will see what I mean)

- (3) Finish the Constitution (time is running out.
- (4) Pass some actions other than those that are representative of high school games.
- (5) Try thinking about the students.
- (6) Form a communication committee.

Yes Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. Too bad there isn't a student government.

UConn Students Named To Law Review Posts

Two high-ranking students at the University of Connecticut's School of Law have been named to editorial posts on the school's Law Review.

Second Year Students

They are: John Marshall Dillman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond B. Dillman, Fairfield, and Kenneth W. Mango, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Mango, Meriden. Both are second year students.

They were selected on the basis of scholastic excellence and writing ability. UConn Law Review members contribute articles of interest to the legal profession for publication in the Connecticut Bar Journal.

John Dillman

Mr. Dillman received his bachelor's degree in business in 1961 from Lehigh University where he graduated with honors and was a member of Delta Phi, a social fraternity. At the UConn law school he won a book prize for the freshman course in contracts last year. Mr. Dillman is a graduate of Andrew Ward High School of Fairfield.

Kenneth Mango

Mr. Mango received his bachelor's degree in industrial administration from UConn in 1962. Currently the fourth ranking member of his law school class,

Lost Teaching Of Christmas: Topic For Nutmeg Fellowship

"The Jewish Background of Christmas" will be the unique topic presented tomorrow night at NUTMEG CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP. The Reverend Albert Brickner, a Hebrew-Christian, will be the guest speaker.

Christians believe that the roots of the Christmas season are found in Jewish history. The promise of a Messiah was given as far back as the book of Genesis, and all of the Old Testament is filled with the prophecies of when the Messiah would come, and what He would be like. Yet in the contemporary commercial orientation, many lose sight of the Christmas heritage. In his talk

Rev. Brickner will seek to discuss some of these often forgotten teachings about Christmas.

Born in Alabama, Rev. Brickner was raised as an Orthodox Jew. He writes that it was while he was a student at Wayne State University in Detroit that he "discovered Jesus Christ as the Promised Messiah, and had his life virtually transformed." Rev. Brickner is a graduate of Gordon College and Divinity School in Wenham, Mass.

For a number of years he has been working in the greater Boston area, largely with college and university students, with an organization known as Israel's Remnant. Israel's Remnant, which has its headquarters in Detroit, is a movement which "seeks to present the claims of Christ to Jewish people, and to inform Christians about the spiritual needs and outlook of the Jews." attend.

Moonlight Girl Competition

In the competition for the title of Phi Sigma Kappa Moonlight Girl, the field was narrowed down to thirteen semi-finalists at a coffee held Monday night. These "lucky thirteen" will now vie for the local title, the winner of which will enter the National competition. The National winner will receive an all expense paid week in Los Angeles, California.

The semi-finalists are: Barbara Leeds, Robin Jones, Marjorie McCann, Pat Giliberty, June Thom, Ann Escott, Marilee Menard, Mary Jean Wiegel, Roxanne Markoff, Pamela Halpin, Laura Wolfel, Aline Furman, and Anita Palermo.

Would the girl
in this picture
please stop by

Photopool

Thursday Afternoon

Room 215, S.U.B.

Foreign Students Desire To Share Xmas

There are many foreign students on campus who are facing a long holiday vacation with no place to go. Christmas is the time for people to open their hearts and spread a little spirit to the less fortunate.

Most people will enjoy the holidays with friends and relations and people who will not stop to think of those who are alone.

It is in the interest of those who are unable to go home, that any local family who would care to entertain an international student is asked to offer their hospitality.

Anyone interested in opening up his home is asked to please contact Mrs. William Snavely, 429-6130, Mrs. Howard Ogushwitz 429-2604, Mrs. Lawrence R. Penner 429-9960, or Mrs. Wendell Davis 429-9512.

It's a 'snap' with
ARROW

"For want of a horse,
the battle was lost"...
so said the poet, but never let it be said that for want of a collar button your date was lost.
The new Decton oxford Tabber Snap by ARROW gives you the trim, good looks of a traditional tab collar without the fuss and fumble of a collar button.
Tapered to trim body lines and labeled "Sanforized-Plus"
to ensure perfect fit washing after washing.
Keep that date in an ARROW
Decton (65% Dacron*, 35% cotton) oxford with Tabber
Snap collar.
In long sleeves
$6.95

*DuPont T.M. for its polyester fiber

A DIFFERENT TYPE OF FOLK

From out of the isolated Brazilian jungle comes Los Indios Tabajaras and their "Maria Elena." Now it's the title tune for a fascinating new album. A treasury of tribal folk songs like "Maran Cariua," "Los Indios Danzan" and "Baion Bon." Get this album and hear the most intriguing new sounds in music today—at your record shop.

RCA VICTOR
The most trusted name in sound

Between The Lines:

U.S. Foreign Policy Re-asserts Leadership

'TIS THE SEASON TO BE JOLLY

If you have been reading this column—and I hope you have; I mean I genuinely hope so; I mean it does not profit me one penny whether you read this column or not; I mean I am paid every week by the makers of Marlboro Cigarettes and my emolument is not affected in any way by the number of people who read or fail to read this column—an act of generosity perfectly characteristic of the makers of Marlboro, you would say if you knew them as I do; I mean here are tobaccoists gray at the temples and full of honors who approach their art as eagerly, as dewy-eyed as the youngest of practitioners; I mean the purpose of the Marlboro makers is simply to put the best of all possible filters behind the best of all possible tobaccos and then go, heads high, into the market place with their wares, confident that the inborn sense of right and wrong, of good and bad, of worthy and unworthy, which is the natural instinct of every American, will result in a modest return to themselves for their long hours and dedicated labors—not, let me hasten to add, that money is of first importance to the makers of Marlboro; all these simple men require is plain, wholesome food, plenty of Marlboros, and the knowledge that they have scattered a bit of sunshine into the lives of smokers everywhere; if, I say, you have been reading this column, you may remember that last week we started to discuss Christmas gifts.

We agreed, of course, to give cartons of Marlboro to all our friends and also to as many total strangers as possible. Today let us look into some other welcome gifts.

Do you know someone who is interested in American history? If so, he will surely appreciate a statuette of Millard Fillmore with a clock in the stomach. (Mr. Fillmore, incidentally, was the only American president with a clock in the stomach. James K. Polk had a stem-winder in his head, and William Henry Harrison chimed the quarter-hour, but only Mr. Fillmore, of all our chief executives, had a clock in the stomach. Franklin Pierce had a sweep second hand and Zachary Taylor had seventeen jewels, but, I repeat, Mr. Fillmore and Mr. Fillmore alone had a clock in the stomach. Some say that Mr. Fillmore was also the first president with power steering, but most historians assign this distinction to Chester A. Arthur. However, it has been established beyond doubt that Mr. Fillmore was the first president with a thermostat. Small wonder they called him Old Hickory!)

But I digress. To get back to welcome and unusual Christmas gifts, here's one that's sure to please—a gift certificate from the American Chiropractic Society. Accompanying each certificate is this winsome little poem:

Merry Christmas, Happy New Year,
Joyous sacro-iliac!
May your spine forever shine,
Blessings on your aching back.
May your lumbar ne'er grow number,
May your backbone ne'er dislodge,
May your caudal never dawdle,
Joyeux Noel! Heureux massage!

© 1963 Max Shulman

The makers of Marlboro, who take pleasure in bringing you this column throughout the school year, would like to join with Old Max in extending greetings of the season.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The pall of uncertainty that covered the world for the past couple of weeks finally has dissipated itself. United States policy has re-asserted its leadership in the grand manner. Our allies are listening to us more intently than ever before, and our enemies have become conscious of the essential solidity of our institutions more conscious than ever before.

There has been no dislocation since the tragic departure of John F. Kennedy. President Johnson has taken a firm grip on the reins and he is driving in the right direction. All differences have not been smoothed over in the Western camp but there isn't the least doubt that we are marching together just the same.

Conditions in the East certainly are not as rosy. Plagued by divisions in the communist orbit and internal economic trouble provoked by agricultural failures, Soviet Premier Khrushchev has kept looking in the direction of Washington for signs that limited agreements can be achieved.

The Communists generally are not too well acquainted with the political soul of our country. They are at times fooled by their own notions and slogans. They have implied through their propaganda that a war party exists in the United States, thereby displaying unbelievable ignorance. Some of us do get heated up occasionally, but we are essentially a peaceful nation. We are not an appeasing nation.

The record of the past when we were not so strong ought to be sufficient proof for any one.

The lack of understanding on the part of the Soviet may explain why certain projects conceived while President Kennedy was alive have been lagging somewhat. The Russians have not quite taken the measure of President Johnson. But they will, in time. They learn very fast when they have to learn.

There is no need to fear for the cause of peace. It is still very dear to American hearts. The administration is still dedicated to the idea of minimizing the risks of war. The Russians will be met more than half way in any acceptable scheme that will reduce the chances of disaster.

It is pretty well conceded in knowledgeable quarters that the real danger to peace in our generation comes, not from the Soviet Union, but from Communists

China. This may need a great deal of explaining but it is a reasonable assumption. The Russians know what a nuclear war would mean. They have all the nuclear weapons and rocket carriers needed to black out the world. We have much greater capabilities but we realize that a duel would mean the end of everything.

The men of the Kremlin are not romantics. Neither are they moved by an inner fire that knows no bounds. They are cold and calculating. They will do everything they can to win the ideological struggle short of taking part in the universal suicide.

But the Chinese Reds, for all their outward calm, are burning with the acid of frustration. They have gotten nowhere on the score of industrial eminence and military power. They are given to dream of things that can't happen. They have reasoned that a nuclear war between the giants would reflect to their advantage, in that the nation most likely to survive in a small degree is one with a large population. They have yet to understand that this is a gross fallacy and that nuclear war would spare no one.

One may be tempted to say that the problem of China belongs exclusively to the Soviet Union, but that is not the case at all, for if the Chinese can maneuver the Kremlin into a war it does not want, all nations will be victimized.

The Russians have seen fit from time to time to minimize the Chinese potential. They have told us that Peking will not have a nuclear establishment for years to come. But is scarcely the front. War is the point, a war which could be engineered by Red China and which would drag every nation into the consuming fire.

There has been mounting concern over this aspect in our country and among free nations. All of a sudden we find that a plague affecting our chief enemy may reach us indirectly. If there ever was a time to think in terms of containment, this is it. Red China is a troubled nation that has given up all thought of caution. We may

(Continued to Page 7 Col. 1)

WINTER SPECIAL

Triple Treat

only 39¢

EVERY
MON., TUES.,
WED.
ONLY

1307 Main St., Willimantic

Home of the World's Greatest 15¢ Hamburger!

GIRLS !!

There is still time before Christmas !

Knit a Bulky Sweater of "Scandia" — "Pin-Up"
or "Mohair"
from

"Tioga Yarn Shop"

Where You Always

Save $$$

Shop Mon. - Sat., 9-5

Off Route 31,

Coventry — 742-7288

FREE L. P.!!

With Your Purchase Of The

'64 NUTMEG

Only $6.00 Before January 13th

$8.00 After

Nutmeg Office

SUB 213 or

The Control Desk

Movie Review

DEVI: Devil Or Deity

By ANITA ELLIS

"You are as dark as your name, Kali;
You, Mother, are all-powerful;
You, Mother, are all-strength.
You are not of stone, Mother;
For such warmth is not found in stone."

These words from the chant to the goddess Kali in Satyajit Ray's Devi (The Goddess) set the mood for the hauntingly beautiful masterpiece of one of India's most sensitive directors. Set in the India of 100 years ago, the story has universal implications no matter what time or what people.

Simple Plot

The simple plot of the story is that the Father-in-law of Daya, wife of his son Uma, is shown to him in a vision to be the reincarnation of Kali, the Mother-Goddess. The Father-in-law has her set up as the "devi" to be worshipped and petitioned. Many cures are effected at the shrine of Kali but when her own nephew Khoka is brought to her, the child dies.

Daya's husband is a student and a learned man. Also he has abandoned his father's religion to become a Christian. Therefore, he refuses to believe that his wife is the reincarnation of Kali.

It is through Uma's eyes that Ray leads us through the shades of the image-reality theme. What appears to be and what is are often fused and it becomes almost impossible to separate the two. The other theme, connected in many ways to the central, is the struggle between the old and the new ways.

Eloquent Development

Ray develops this theme through word and through pictorial essays. Uma tells his wife Daya that he and his father, although both learned men, are nonetheless a "generation apart in idea." Daya, a young and innocent seventeen, can not comprehend this.

The New Against the Old

When Uma confronts his father, telling him that it is a farce to set up Daya to be worshiped as Kali, they are standing at diametrically opposite corners of a table, symbolizing the diametrically opposed view of the old and new generation.

When the Father-in-law, a strong believer, has his vision, Ray first of all focuses the camera on the window. The moonlight, symbolizing truth, is prevented from entering by the bars on the window. The old man, in clinging to his old ways, prevents the truth from penetrating.

Central Question

When Uma again accuses his father of not facing reality and thereby causing Khoka's death, the old man falls down before his son and the camera focuses on the scene from father's viewpoint, giving ing the impression that the sun of his son was on the rise and his was waning.

The question central to the picture is whether or not Daya is the reincarnation of Kali. In the vision the face of Daya is made to resemble clearly that of Kali's statue so that one begins to wonder. Daya herself does not seem sure if she is Kali or if it is just the whim of the Father-in-law. When he prostrates himself before her to worship her, she cringes and digs her nails into the caly wall. It is because as Kali, she has been found out, or because as Daya she may never again be the wife of Uma?

Again, why does she not flee with Uma to Calcutta to escape? It is because as Kali she can not run from her responsibility as "devi" or is it that as Daya, the obedient and faithful daughter-in-law, she is afraid to disobey the will of her father-in-law?

Empty Life

During the ceremony, Daya surrounded by a murky mist of incense, wears a wreath of fresh flowers around her neck. After the ceremonies, the flowers wither and dry up. To Daya, this symbolizes her empty life-it has withered into unhappy separation from Uma. Her main joy, aside from the love of Uma, was the joy, affection, and warmth of her little nephew Khoka. Before, she would feed him sweetmeats and tell him stories, often after he had crept into her room at night.

When she came to be worshiped as Kali, the boy shunned his Aunt, fearful of the unknown idea of a "devi".

When he becomes ill, Khoda calls for his aunt three times. Daya, as Kali, had often before cured children of sickness, but Khoka she does not. Why can't or doesn't she?

Ray has left us this last effort to decide if Daya is what she portrays-Daya, or what she is called-Kali.

If as Daya, Daya can not cure Khoka, then she isn't a goddess, and she does go mad in the end. But if she is Kali, then, having become so attached to Khoka, she takes him with her, then she hasn't become mad but is only running to hurry to go where she came from. But Ray leaves us there, with Uma, in the midst of the fog that surround image-reality.

Sub Plot

A sub-plot to the old-new conflict are the actions of the Elder Brother, father of Krokha. He does not at first believe that Daya is Kali's reincarnation, but, (as was pointed out by Jahan Daruwala of India, who helped review this movie) he prostrated himself at her feet at his father's command because the father has absolute authority and control over the lives and futures of his children. He decides who will inherit what or if anyone will inherit anything. The elder son did not believe, yet, since his father controlled the wealth, he fell down to worship.

The clash between the old and new is irrepressible. It is a heart-breaking and soul-searing process but it is inevitable. However, Ray is trying to tell us that even within the new generation a clash ensues between those who will give up all to pursue the truth as they see it, and those who are willing to compromise or given in for material advantage.

Broadening Experience

For the American viewer, this film is a broadening experience not only because it affords an opportunity to see some of India, her costumes, customs, and people, but also it points out the universality of men in their emotions and reactions-the little Khoda munching of a sweetmeat, getting a piggy-back ride, of playing ball; the look of loving adoration for Uma in Daya's eyes, the tired slump into a chair at day's end by the father-in-law, and the look of jealousy for Daya by the elder brother's wife.

Rewarding Evening

On the whole, the evening was very rewarding, not only because of the new (for Americans) surroundings, but also because of the realization that we are all of the "Family of Man."

BERMUDA COLLEGE WEEK 1964

MARCH 22 - APRIL 11

Everyday packed with action...new friends...fun!

SUN.—Get acquainted dance. (Wear Bermudas!) MON.—College Day at the beach. Talbot Brothers Calypso, College Queen Contest, barbecue lunch. TUES.—Jazz session, Limbo contest, buffet lunch. WED.—Cruise to St. George, Steel Band entertainment, Gombey dancers, refreshments. THURS.—On your own: swim, shop, sightsee, sports. FRI.—College Week Revue—entertainment, Tennis finals.

All these...and lots more complimentary activities! See your Campus Organizer now!

The Bermuda Trade Development Board
620 Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10020

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Answer to Yesterday's Puzzle

ACROSS

- 1-Identical
- 5-Man's nickname
- 8-Sloppy person (slang)
- 12-Silkworm
- 13-Native metal
- 14-Unadulterated
- 15-Rage
- 16-Indonesian tribesman
- 17-Spanish pot
- 18-Goes in
- 20-Flower
- 22-Decay
- 23-Cloth measure
- 24-Propositions
- 27-Abdicate
- 31-Ventilate
- 32-Beam
- 33-Repaired
- 37-Landed property
- 40-Exist
- 41-Toll
- 42-Kind of coal
- 45-Struck out (slang)
- 49-Keyed up with interest
- 50-Reverence
- 52-Ill-boding
- 53-Entice
- 54-Still
- 55-Lamb's pen name
- 56-Shakespearean king
- 57-Bishopric
- 58-Peruse

DOWN

- 1-Withered
- 2-Island off Ireland
- 3-After-dinner candy
- 4-Diners
- 5-Brags
- 6-Worthless leaving

7-Industrious animal

- 8-Spindles
- 9-Soothe
- 10-Heraldic device
- 11-Whip
- 19-Fish eggs
- 21-Suffix: like
- 24-Scottish cap
- 25-Hasten
- 26-Sea eagle
- 28-Man's name
- 29-Ship channel
- 30-Brood of pheasants
- 34-Peril
- 35-Before
- 36-Procrastinate
- 37-Exhausted of energy
- 38-Ocean

- 39-Offer
- 42-Hall
- 43-Chills and fever
- 44-Girl's name

- 46-River in Africa
- 47-Silkworm
- 48-Lifeless
- 51-Tiny

Distr. by United Feature Syndicate, Inc. 6

Lovelier
Fashions for Less

When it comes to fashions... come to Barker's! Smart U-Conn's know Barker's is the place to go... for Lovelier Fashions for Less!

DRESSES
COATS
SUITS
TOPPERS
COORDINATES

SPORTSWEAR
LINGERIE
ACCESSORIES
SEPARATES
SHOES

Barker's

1391 MAIN ST.
WILLIMANTIC

SHOP 10-10
DAILY

a particular place for particular skiers...

Mad River Glen

WAITSFIELD • VERMONT

Student Activities On Campus

ARNOLD AIR SOCIETY: There is a MANDATORY meeting for all brothers and pledge brothers tonight at 7:30 p.m., HUB 104. Don't forget your dues.

PRE-LAW CLUB: Tomorrow afternoon a trip has been planned to the UConn Law School primarily for seniors interested in attending UConn Law School. For further information contact Carl Dunham at 429-5535.

CHRISTMAS CAROL "SING DOWN": Plan a hearty dinner for tomorrow because the Freshman Class is sponsoring a "Sing Down" at 6:30 p.m. All will assemble at the Union.

SOCIAL COMMITTEE '66: The last meeting before vacation will take place tonight at 7 p.m. in HUB 103. This meeting is very important and all members are asked to please be present.

UCF VESPERS: Tonight at 7:30 p.m. Communion will be served at the vesper service in Waggoner Chapel. Rev. Warren Molton will lead the service.

SKI GROUP: This year skiing is receiving extra attention in the Outing Club. It is now a means through which ski lessons may be received at campus group discount, used equipment may be purchased and rides may be found for weekend skiing. A meeting will take place Wed. at 7:30 in HUB 102.

FRESHMAN COMMUNICATION COMMITTEE: All interested in joining are welcome to come to the meeting Thursday afternoon at 4:30, room 301.

CLASS OF '66 CLASS COUNCIL MEETING: The regular meeting of the Sophomore Class Council will be held this Thursday evening at 7 p.m. in room 306 HUB. All representatives are requested to attend.

CLASS OF '66 STEERING COMMITTEE: Business to be acted upon at Thursday's Class Council meeting should be brought up for review at this committee meeting. The meeting will be held in room 203 HUB at 4 p.m. today. All members of the committee are requested to attend. Any interested member of the class is also invited to attend.

RESEARCH AND EVALUATION COMMITTEE: All members and interested persons are invited to attend the meeting tonight at 7 p.m. in room 316 Commons.

FROSH CAROL SING: Meet in HUB main lounge tomorrow at 7 p.m.

DEPARTMENT OF THEATRE: Try-Outs for The Heiress, third major production of the Department of Theatre, will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, January 7th and 8th from 7:00-9:30 p.m. in Fine Arts Center, Room 228. There are roles for six women and three men. Rehearsals of the play will not begin until the second semester. Scripts are available in the library.

MANSFIELD PEOPLE-TO-PEOPLE: Any local family who would like to entertain in their home an International Student at some time during the Christmas holidays.

PSYCHOLOGY CLUB: There will be a meeting of the Psychology Club tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in SS 143. All who are interested are invited to attend.

LUTHERAN VESPERS: On Wednesday evening there will be a pre-Christmas celebration held at the Lutheran Chapel of the Holy Presence beginning with a supper served by the ladies of the church at 5:30 and continuing with a carol sing and Vespers Service at 7 p.m. All members and friends of the congregation (students included!) are cordially invited.

MANSFIELD VOLUNTEER PROJECT: The students and faculty of the University of Connecticut have been cordially invited to attend the Mansfield State Training School Christmas pageant, to be held tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. Transportation will be provided if necessary. Call Pat Giliberty, 429-5671 for further details.

SOCIETY FOR ADVANCEMENT OF MANAGEMENT: There will be a triple feature presented for all ardent movie goers and business-minded men and women. All are invited. The subjects will be "Industrial Purchasing," "Working Together," "Work of the Stock Exchange," and it will be held tonight at 7 p.m., SBA 122.

UNIVERSITY OF CONNECTICUT SOCIETY OF CHEMICAL ENGINEERS: Mr. Robert Clary of Pratt & Whitney will speak on "Materials Problems in Nuclear Reactors" as related to alkali metal coolants, tonight at 7 p.m. in HUB 101. A short business meeting will take place before.

COURSE CRITIQUE: There will be a Course Critique committee meeting tonight at 4 p.m. The meeting will be held in HUB 203.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION MAJORS ASSOCIATION: Tonight at 7 p.m. in room 201 HUB there will be a speaker on job opportunities in Physical Education and related problems by Dr. Van Bibber. All majors are invited to attend.

EXPERIMENT IN WORSHIP-U. C. F.: Bible study will take place tonight at 6:45 p.m. and vespers at 7 p.m. in Waggoner Chapel.

WSGC: There will be a meeting held in the United Nations room of Student Union, this afternoon at 4 p.m.

LUTHERAN VESPERS: There will be a meeting tonight at 7 p.m. at the Chapel on Dog Lane for vespers, coffee, and "open-end" discussion. All are welcome.

PERSHING RIFLES: Tonight at 7 p.m. - 9 p.m. there will be a meeting at the Hangar. Sneakers are not to be worn. Wear boots or hard-soled shoes.

HILLEL: There will be a Brunch at 11:30 a.m. Pre-registration is necessary before 5 p.m. Thursday.

SPANISH CLUB: Tertulia — In keeping with the Christmas spirit there will be an informal get-together on Thursday from 3-5 p.m. in SS 100. Spanish carols will be sung. Come for as long as you can.

PEOPLE-TO-PEOPLE: There will be a meeting tomorrow night

(Continued to Page 7 Col. 1)

FOR RENT

4-Room Apartments — 800 Sq. Ft.

All Electric — Stove, Refrigerator, Garbage Disposal, Heat. Laundry in Building.

All Brokers Protected

HARDWOOD ACRES

4 Miles from Campus

Mansfield City Road, Storrs

423-6756

AT BOTH THEATRES

COLLEGE

On Rt. 195, Tel. 429-6062

CAPITOL

WILLIMANTIC

An Old New Wonderful Adventure
In Fantasy-Land

WHERE DREAMS COME TRUE!

The MIRACLE OF SANTA'S WHITE REINDEER

For All Ages
2 to 102
who love
the spirit of Christmas

PLUS-Added Fun in Santa Land

5 COLOR 5

CARTOONS 5

INCLUDING

HARE RAISIN TALE

BUNNY HUGGED

RABBIT FIRE

MATINEES ONLY-Children 50c

Show the whole Family Should See Together!

BUTTON BOX GIFT SHOP

GURLEYVILLE ROAD, 1 Mile off Campus

For Your Holiday Gifts For All, At Factory Prices

Specialties in Mother-Of-Pearl

Special Appointment, Call Anytime, 429-2536

HOURS: 8 A.M. to 5 P.M., Monday thru Friday
Antiques Bought and Sold

STARTS
TODAY!

Ends Sat. Eve.

"Engaging...Ironical...Humorous...Entertaining film done with distinctive style and charm."
—Bosley Crowther, N. Y. Times

JOSEPH E. LEVINE presents

LOVE AT TWENTY

Spectacular Added Color Hit!

"SNOW CARNIVAL"

Narrated by Gary Cooper

SCHEDULE

Wednesday, Thursday Matinee 2 p.m.; Evenings 6:30

Feature Screened at 2:20, 6:50, 9:05

Friday Feature Evening Only 5:40, 7:45, 10:00 p.m.

Saturday Feature Evening Only at 6:50 and 9:05

* STARTS SUNDAY *

"RAMPAGE" and "WALL OF NOISE"

Action! Action! Action!

WHUS Schedule

WHUS AM

670 AM - 90.5 FM

2:00 CBS News
2:08 Robert "J" and the Afternoon Soiree.
2:30 Connecticut Headlines
2:32 Afternoon Soiree
3:00 CBS News
3:08 Afternoon Soiree
3:30 Connecticut Headlines
3:32 Afternoon Soiree
4:00 CBS News
4:08 Afternoon Soiree
4:30 Connecticut Headlines
4:32 Afternoon Soiree
5:00 CBS News
5:08 Afternoon Soiree
5:30 Relax - with your Hostess Debbie Zolov
6:30 WHUS Evening Report
6:45 News Commentary

7:00 Collector's Corner - Featuring selections from the collector's series of Westminster records.

9:00 All That Jazz
10:00 Late Evening News Round-up
10:10 All That Jazz
11:30 CMFCL

WHUS FM

1:58 Sign On
2:00 Concert in the Afternoon with Carol Petito and Georgia Nikola
5:30 Relax
6:30 WHUS Evening Report
7:00 Collector's Corner
9:00 All That Jazz
10:00 Late Evening News Round-up
10:10 All That Jazz
11:30 Sign Off

COLLEGE WEEK IN BERMUDA

MARCH 22 - 28

One Week Packed With Fun

Contact University Travel Service

Immediately For Full Particulars,

As Space Will Soon Be Impossible To Get.

429-9313

HOLIDAY HOP

FEATURING

The Polynesians

THURSDAY, 7 - 10 P.M.

Dress Is Informal

U.S. Policy Re-Asserts Leadership

(Continued from Page 4 Col. 5)

hear a great deal more on this in the weeks and months to come.

It is a dangerous thing these days to speak of a possible evolution within the Soviet Union and in Communist East Europe. Most of those who have followed the pattern in the past 15 years remain convinced that Soviet Russia has not changed its ways, that it has merely put on a new disguise.

Yet, returned travelers, shrewd observers and diplomats, have said the Russia of today bears little resemblance to the Russia of ten years ago. It is stronger than it was ten years ago, yet it is less belligerent. Freedom still is limited, but there is more of it. Russians are not as afraid to talk as they use to be.

Communism itself has not changed. But the relationship between the government and the people has. This is difficult to explain in positive terms. We know, for instance, that Soviet Premier Khrushchev holds absolute power, but we also know he is forever seeking public support. This is something of a phenomenon. Stalin didn't care what the people thought of him. He had total authority and used it ruthlessly.

Soviet domestic propaganda has ceased to be a vital influence. What the government says is taken with a grain of salt. Not all Russians believe that foreign broad, from world broadcasts, are propaganda. There is a healthy skepticism abroad on the Soviet Land, and that may lead to pleasant vistas in the future.

Another aspect is that the Russian people do not place too much credence of charges that the west is aiming to destroy the Soviet Union. This type of appeal served the Kremlin well in the years immediately after the war.

The Russians continued to bear up with Stalin because they believed the West had aggressive designs.

This is not the case any longer, for two main reasons: Russia's might is well understood. There is comprehension of what a nuclear war would mean. It is realized that the fate of this planet would be sealed no matter which side provoked a conflict. The term so often used by the Kremlin with reference to the West, "War-Mongers," has ceased to have any meaning for the Russians.

Much has been said about the might of the principals in the East-West conflict but is not sufficiently realized that the big fellows seldom strike openly at one another. Most great wars of the past started as a result of a small fire, in the Balkans or some other sensitive area.

It will be the same if a nuclear war is allowed to happen. The two camps will face each other menacingly in a quarrel between minors which, presumably, would affect their alleged vital interests. They seemingly minor conflict, each side putting the blame of the other little fellow. Then, if no solution is reached, the big powers will start escalating. They will move their military hardware into position. From that time on, the fate of the world will be in doubt.

The unpleasant fact is that there are too many small nations with axes to grind and that they have to involve the big fellows in their disputes. This is the case in some parts of Africa, in the Middle East and Southeast Asia. It's even the case in our own hemisphere.

UConn basketball returns to the Field House this Saturday night when the Huskies entertain Boston College. Two new coaches will face each other in UConn's Fred Shabel and the most famous new mentor in the country, BC's Bob Cousy. A freshman game will precede the varsity tilt. (Campus Photo—Albino)

Leaping Louie Fontinato Out Of Hockey Picture

The action is as hot and furious as ever in the National Hockey League these days.

But there is one former star who is not a part of the picture any more.

He is leaping Louie Fontinato.

At one time he was the terror of the league as a defenseman for the New York Rangers and the Montreal Canadiens.

But eight months ago he suffered a severe accident at the Forum in Montreal when he crashed against the boards. His spinal cord was severely damaged and for a time it was believed that he might be confined to a wheel-chair.

But Fontinato manages to get around these days although he tires easily.

Of course, his hockey career is finished and he is somewhat bitter at some of the officials in the league. He says money had been promised him after the accident and he hasn't seen any of it yet.

(Continued from Page 1 Col. 4)

In regard to the speaking of UConn undergraduates at Connecticut high school to improve the image of UConn, Twachtman said that the senior class has received full approval from administration and encouragement from President Babbidge. Participation in this program will not be limited to just seniors, although Twachtman feels that seniors would be more qualified to carry out the program. Participants will be selected from volunteers by the speech department. People interested in being a part of this program should get in touch with Walt Twachtman or with the senior class council representative from their residence hall.

Textbooks

In her secretary's report, Helen Sharp mentioned the low attendance at meetings with a reminder of the Senior Class Constitution's clause on absenteeism from meetings. She also spoke about a university in the Congo in need of 60 textbooks. An affirmative vote was taken to form a committee to contact publishers to see if they will donate the books. The senior class would then handle the mailing charges.

Campus Classifieds

1.—LOST & FOUND

Lost: Chinese Passport of W. B. Fung. Please call Fairfield Hall 115 if found.

Lost: Parker Fountain Pen. Borrowed at Tapping. Call Frank Sebestyan at ext. 334.

Found: gold bracelet with inscription on round disc. Contact Leslie Hunt, 9-2177.

Lost: Class ring, green stone, R.P.B. inside - Reward, Call Russ Bellico, Kingston House 429-9097.

Lost: Madras print purse, Sat. night at Kappa Psi. Contact Barb Ronan South Hall. Reward.

4.—SERVICES

TUTORING - ENGLISH, Almost all subjects. Individuals or small groups. experienced, competent, ex-teacher. Reasonable rates. 429-6514.

5.—RIDE WANTED

Ride Wanted next semester - Mon., Wed., Fri. from Manchester. Will be through at 2 p.m. Call 643-1039 collect.

9.—SALE OR RENT

Modern designed compachomes and mobilehomes. Two bedrooms. Furnished. Just two miles from campus. Call Phil Olson, Jensen's Inc. Hartford 247-5209.

For Rent: Furnished Apartment. Available immediately in Mansfield Center Call 423-3521.

12.—PERSONAL

SLEEP - LEARNING, Hypnotism! Tapes, records, books, equipment. Astonishing details, strange catalog free! Sleep - Learning Research Assn., Box 24-CP, Olympia, Wash.

To Mrs. SANTA CLAUS at Delta Pi. Start divorce proceedings. "Abe"

CARE

660 First Ave., New York, N.Y. 10016
1963-64 FOOD CRUSADE

If shipped simultaneously, it would take 90 ocean freighters to carry the 1,376,000,000 lbs. of U.S. farm abundance CARE will deliver overseas during fiscal year 1963-64. Contributions to the CARE Food Crusade, New York 10016, help bring this aid to hungry people, as gifts from Americans.

Child deaths due to measles are 25 times greater in Mexico than in the U.S., largely because underfed children have no resistance. Contributions to CARE's Food Crusade provide milk and other foods to nourish 350,000 youngsters at Mexican health clinics.

Each $1 CARE Food Crusade package sent by Americans contains 18 to 50 lbs. of food for the hungry in other lands.

BREAKING ALL SALES RECORDS!

'64 TRIUMPH

LOWEST PRICED CONVERTIBLE IN U.S.A.!

Family-Sized 1200 Convertible
$1949
FULL PRICE DELIVERED

SEATS 4 ADULTS COMFORTABLY

COLLINS GARAGE
Columbia Center, Conn.

ALTNAVEIGH INN

1 Mile From University Campus
Directly Across From
Mansfield Town Hall

Dine In
Colonial Atmosphere
Full Course Luncheons

From 95c

Full Course Dinners

Served From 5:30 p.m.

Starting At $2.50

Overnight Accommodations
For Our Guests.
Facilities for Private Parties.
Rt. 195, Storrs, 429-4490

Grossinger's 4th Annual COLLEGE JAZZ WEEKEND

Fri., Sat., Sun., Dec. 20, 21, 22

Special College Rate from $35 For The Entire Weekend

Besides the intercollegiate jazz championship, you'll enjoy six lavish meals; Darn-to-Yawn entertainment; jazz jam sessions; a midnight swim party; Broadway shows; gala ice skating show; dancing to Latin, American and Jazz tempos; tobogganning; ice skating; skiing.

WANTED

Jazz Trios or Soloists are invited to compete. Write for full information.

Call or write for RES. FORM & SOUVENIR PROGRAM
Grossinger's
Has Everything
GROSSINGER, N.Y.
For Res.: N.Y.C.-LO 5-4500

Santa Is Dead

The Way The Ball Bounces

By LEIGH MONTVILLE

Did you know that the UConn Athletic Department sent its own version of Santa Claus around the New England region every winter? Well they used to, but things have changed. In the past the UConn hockey team served this function as they brought happiness and good cheer to college throughout this region in the form of lopsided victories.

But last year Santa turned into an ogre as he not only put coal in some of the colleges' stockings, but in more times than not dashed away into the night with a victory of his own under his belt. The Husky six finished with a 5-4-1 record, the first winning one since the team began four years ago.

The UConnns this year (which is probably their last without a home since a rink is to be built in the spring), may have a tough time matching this, but they won't be the same laughing old Santa Claus.

They will field a veteran starting team, but again will probably be hindered by their lack of depth and once more by their lack of practice time on the ice.

As in years past the team has been working out at Loomis Prep School two nights a week, which really isn't enough for the schedule they now face. It has been expanded to twelve games this year, including two tournaments over vacations, two more than any other UConn team will be playing.

The first of these is the First Annual Yankee Conference Tournament to be held Dec. 27 and 28 at Burlington Vermont, with UMass, and New Hampshire joining the host University of Vermont and the Huskies. These are all teams that have their own rinks, so the UConnns will be definite underdogs, even though UVM is in its first year of varsity hockey.

The Huskies once again will rely heavily on the town of Hamden, Connecticut for their material.

Four of the starters including the co-captains, are from Hamden.

Co-captains Carl Westberg and the first line with Hamdenite Russ Hintz at the center post. The defense will be shared by only three throughout the season. D. Rick Andrews, the fourth from Hamden, Dick Kupec all Yankee Conference center in football, and Dave Engstrom will divide the two positions.

The goal situation, with the departure of last year's starter, Dale Carpenter, is still up in the air. Rod Pentland and Dick Swanson are the contenders at the present moment.

The second line finds Phil Ventrella, Bill King, and Bill Fowler or Dave Griffith, while the third line has George Vicenzi, Bryan Abaczic and Jim Littlefield.

The second tournament the Husky six plans to enter is the MIT Intermission Tournament during semester break. The UConnns in Cambridge will run up against the likes of Hamilton, Merrimack and MIT.

The forecast then is that though the team isn't any worse and perhaps even better than last year's they will have a tough time matching the 62-63 results due to the better calibre of their competition.

But Virginia, it must be told, Santa Claus is dead! Taking a victory from the Husky six will be as tough as borrowing a nickel from Uncle Scrooge.

A note here might be injected about one of the most pressing problems over in the Athletic Department: swimmers, or the lack of them. At present the freshman swimming team is composed of only nine men to swim the eleven events in a meet.

Coach George Taterosian, commented the other day that it was a shame, since he believed that they had the nucleus of a fine team, but just not enough manpower to handle their schedule.

Huskies Lose Again 60-59 Fights, Disputes Prevail

You name it they had it last night at Curry Hicks Cage . . . fights, thrills and a UConn loss. The Huskies lost their second game of the year to the host UMass Redmen as time ran out and fans streamed onto the court.

The game was won by sophomore Tom Edwards when he threw in a foul shot with a little more than a minute left to play to put the Redmen ahead 60-59. On that play Dan Hesford fouled out and big Toby Kimball lay at the other end of the court shaken up.

Slomcenski replaced Hesford, Kimball stayed in, and the Huskies moved the ball down court, with Al Ritter being fouled. Ritter missed the shot, but stole the ball seconds later and the Huskies called time out with :32 seconds remaining.

The UConnns took the ball out, but couldn't get a play off and called time out with 28 seconds left. This brought on a heated argument from UMass coach Johnny Orr that the Huskies had called too many time outs, and announced that the Redmen were playing the game under protest.

Ritter couldn't find a man in the clear and was forced to throw the ball inbounds before five seconds, with no time outs left. It was intercepted by Edwards and UMass tried to stall. With 13 seconds left Kimball fouled Tom Ryan, and then the first fight broke out. Players from both sides joined in, the net result being the expulsion of Kimball.

Ryan stepped to the line for two shots, with Chris Whitcomb replacing Toby. Ryan missed both and UConn had to come down court and hurry a shot by Bill Della Salla. It went awry with Perno grabbing the rebound with three seconds left. The ball was jumped, UConn not being able to get a shot away before the final buzzer sounded. Fights then broke out with fans joining in going on the court.

The game had been close all the way with the Huskies being down at the half by one, 34-33.

COACHES SHABEL AND WIGTON TALK IT OVER

(UConn Photo)

Yanks Schedule Suburban Nights

(AP) — Our changing way of life in this country has caused an innovation for some of the games scheduled for next season by the New York Yankees.

They have planned what they call Suburban Night.

It will consist of Thursday night games starting at six in the evening.

The Yankees say fans will be able to head for home around eight-thirty in the evening and spend a part of the evening with their families.

The Yankees have scheduled six such games against the Boston Red Sox, Kansas City Athletics, Baltimore Orioles, Washington Senators, Chicago White Sox and Los Angeles Angels.

The Yankees are preparing to sell box lunches as evening meals for the fans who plan to attend the Suburban Nights.

It is an interesting idea.

Deadly Reckoning

by Robt. Day

"I DON'T THINK THE 'WATCH OUT FOR PEDESTRIANS' SIGN MEANS WHAT YOU THINK IT MEANS."

The Travelers Safety Service

More than 260,000 pedestrians were killed or injured in 1960.

Come In And Talk Over Your
Ski Problems with

Cliff Taylor, Professional ski instructor, author of Instant Skiing, and originator of famous Short-ee Skis.

Will be in our shop

Thursday, December 12th
6 to 9 P.M.

FOR ALL YOUR
SKI NEEDS
VISIT OUR
SKI SHOP

HEADQUARTERS
FOR:

Parkas — Shells
Sweaters
Gloves — Mittens
Skis — Poles
Boots — Bindings
Waxes — Tapes

Repair Shop

Rental Shop
Special
Weekly Rates
On Rentals

Largest Assortment of Ski Equipment in Northern Conn.

Sport Mart

Open Wed. - Thurs. - Fri. 'Til 9 p.m.

7 Park St., Rockville

SPORT MART
SKI
HEADQUARTERS

... the serious shop for serious skiers, specializing in the best of everything you need. Buying or renting, ask for our advice . . . and rely on our experience.

SPECIAL!

Men's — Women's

INSULATED

FIGURE SKATES

$9.88

Just 15
Minutes
From
Storrs