Editor Comments:

HERE YOU SEE PICTURED an example of property defacement, destruction of grounds and an ignored University regulation. The question we ask is "why does this situation exist?" The first answer is obvious. In a way, it is the student's fault. People just should not park where parking is not allowed; and students should show more respect for state property.

But there is another reason this situation exists. Students know they can get away with it; they know Campus parking officials will not initiate action to enforce parking regulations during busy Uconn weekends. Cars parked in these areas, (on grass, hanging over curbs, on hills) are rarely if ever "tagged" on a "big" weekend. Yet the indi-vidual who finds he parked an extra ten minutes in front of the HUB often finds the familiar yellow tag reminding him to bring his two, three dollars or more to the Administration Building.

If extensive ticketing is to be carried on, it should be done in a uniform manner that will be fair for all. If students were not led to believe they could park all over state property during Winter Weekend by past "lack of enforcement" by those who regulate ticketing, we are sure they would have parked in "F" Lot, only a few hundred yards away, instead of all over the grass.

And the University wonders why the DAILY CAMPUS frowns upon editorial suggestions by the Maintenance Department telling students not to walk on the grass so as to maintain the beauty of Candidates for the Student Senate have reported to us that some students think they can only vote for senators in their own class. For this reason, they have only questioned individuals campaigning for seats in their own

The fact of the matter is that students can vote for Senators in all classes and are encouraged to do so. Part of the misunderstanding undoubtedly stems from the election procedures used in the fall campaign where students are allowed to vote for only their own class officers. This is especially true in the case of Freshmen, since they have never experienced a Senate election.

In later issues, the DAILY CAM-PUS will publish a complete explanation of the voting system in effect for Senate Elections. Generally speaking, though, this is the way it works. Each student can utilize as many as

Letters To The Editor:

Answers Nelson's Letter

In a recent CAMPUS issue, Miss Birute Nelson accused Father Zimmerman of "poorly though-out argu-ments and half-truths" in his discus-sion of overpopulation. On the contrary, it is Miss Nelson who is guilty, not only of reckless charges, but also of some extremely careless thinking. For example:

1. Miss Nelson complained that, instead of giving the Catholic Church's views on birth control, Father Zimmerman spoke solely about the demographic aspect of world population. However, as Father O'Brien pointed out before the lecture commenced, it was hardly necessary to bring Father Zimmerman all the way from Chicago to answer questions which any priest or any well informed Catholic could answer. If Miss Nelson wanted to know the Catholic Church's position on birth control, she could have stopped in at Aquinas Hall anytime or she might have read any of the been written by Catholic theologians on this subject, dating at least as far back as the time of St. Augustine (354-430) who, incidentally, wrote, "Relations with one's wife when conception is deliberately prevented are as unlawful and impure as the conduct of Onan who was slain". Thus, if the Catholic Church's position on artificial methods of birth control is not clear to Miss Nelson, that is not the fault of the Catholic Church.

But Miss Nelson goes on to insinuate that the Newman Club misled "almost 500 Uconn students" who expected to hear a lecture on the Catholic Church's position on birth control, However, if Miss Nelson will reread the flyer the Newman Club issued on the lecture, she will read as the general title of the lecture "Catholic Viewpoint on Overpopulation." not "Catholic Viewpoint on Birth Control". The sub-title read, "Must It Be Overpopul lation or Birth Control?" In other words, is there no other solution to the problem? The Catholic position on birth control was not on trial last Wednesday evening. Father Zimmerman's solution to his own question, "Must it be overpopulation or birth control?", lies in the field of demography where it belongs.

The title over Miss Nelson's letter, BIRTH CONTROL LECTURE, gets off to a bad start right away.

2. Father Zimmerman pointed out that birth control puts a heavy economic burden on the only child of a marriage, because this child, if he crimes of violence, juvenile marries, may have to support as many as four parents. Miss Nelson states, "But he (Father Zimmerman) failed to conclude that with the pres-

I'm afraid you must, Miss Nelson because you have overlooked one fact: the married couple, if they are not products of two birth controlled marriages, will have several brothers and sisters (on both sides of the family) to help them support their parents. Thus, instead of having to carry the entire burden of supporting four aging parents, the married couple will have to bear only a fraction of their

THE THUNDERING MARCH OF PROGRESS

Today, as everyone knows, is the forty-sixth anniversary of the founding of Gransmire College for Women, which, as everyone knows, was the first Progressive Education college in the United States.

Well do I recollect the tizzy in the academic world when Gransmire opened its portals! What a buzz there was, what a brouhaha in faculty common rooms, what a rattling of teacups, when Dr. Agnes Thudd Sigafoos, first president of Gransmire, -lifted her learned old head and announced defiantly, "We will teach the student, not the course. There will be no marks, no exams, no requirements. This, by George, is Progressive Education!

Well sir, forward-looking maidens all over the country east off their fetters and came rushing to New Hampshire to enroll at Gransmire. Here they found freedom. They broadened their vistas. They lengthened their horizons. They unstopped their bottled personalities. They roamed the campus in togas, leading occlots on leashes.

And, of course, they smoked Mariboro eigarettes. (I say, "Of course." Why do I say, "Of course"? I say, "Of course" because it is a matter of course that anyone in search of freedom should naturally turn to Marlboro, for Marlboro is the smoke that sets the spirit soaring, that unyokes the captive soul, that fills the air with the murmur of wings. If you think flavor went out when filters came in-try Marlboro. They are sold in soft pack or flip-top box wherever freedom rings.)

But all was not Mariboro and occlots for the girls of Gransmire. There was work and study too-not in the ordinary sense, to be sure, for there were no formal classes. Instead there was a broad approach to enlarging each girl's potentials, both mental and physical.

Take, for example, the course called B.M.S. (Basic Motor Skills). B.M.S. was divided into L.D. (Lying Down), S.U. (Standing Up) and W. (Walking). Once the student had mastered L.D. and S.U., she was taught to W.-but not just to W. any old way! No, sir! She was taught to W. with poise, dignity, bearing! To inculcate a sense of balance in the girl, she began her exercises by walking with a suitcase in each hand. (One girl, Mary Ellen Dorgenicht, got so good at it that today she is bell captain at the Deshler-Hilton Hotel in Columbus,

When the girls had walking under their belts, they were allowed to dance. Again no formality was imposed. They were simply told to fling themselves about in any way their impulses dictated, and, believe you me, it was quite an impressive sight to see them go bounding into the woods with their togas flying. (Several later joined the U.S. Forestry Service.)

There was also a lot of finger painting and sculpture with coat hangers and like that, and soon the fresh wind of Progressivism came whistling out of Gransmire to blow the ancient dust of pedantry off curricula everywhere, and today, thanks to the pioneers at Gransmire, we are all free.

If you are ever in New Hampshire, be sure to visit the Gransmire campus. It is now a tannery. * *

If you like mildness but you don't like filters-try Marlboro's sister cigarette, Philip Morris. If you like television but you don't like cowboys-try Max Shulman's "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis" every Tuesday night on CBS.

The big story is basketball. Where do we go from here? As a word of explanation of a complicated situation, we find that the University of Connecticut's hoop out on Elson's final marker, aggregation has won 15 of its 23 games.

OF CONFERENCE CONTESTS, the Hugh Greercoached quint has won seven games and lost two. Following the Huskies in the YankCon heap are Maine (5-2), Rhody (6-3), and Massachusetts (4-3).

The Connecticut boys have the better of the remaining schedule, with but one Conference tussle to go. Maine and Mass each has three YC games ahead, including two-one on Friday and one on Saturday which will feature the Maine Bears in the dark at Umass' Curry Hicks cage,

The remaining game for the Huskies is with Rhode Island, to be contested Saturday at the Field House. Rhody, probably the second best team in the loop, has the only chance to upset the Uconn applecart.

Of course, there's the possibility of a two, three, four way conference tie. What then?

The Yankee Conference championship committee would then choose the YankCon representative to the NCAA tournament. On this committee are: chairman Fred Tootell, athletic director at Rhode Island, Ted Curtis, faculty manager of athletics at Maine, and J. Edward Donnelly, Vermont athletic director.

The Conference champ would sojourn to New York City for a Tuesday game at Madison Square Garden in the opening round of the national collegiate tourney.

The Yankee conference champ has drawn powerful New York University for this game. NYU is probably the City's best college team since the basketball scandals in the early fifties.

Assuming that the Uconns finish their schedule unscathed, someone will have to beat Maine, New Hampshire had a chance last night.

It's getting to be the time of year in which everybody bats the breeze with baseball talk.
So why not join the crowd and wait until October and then correct mistakes. On the local scene, the Uconn baseball crew should not do as well as last year. But this prophecy is not a necessarily gloomy one.

Last season, the Connecticut squad went far, to the College World Series at Omaha. The Huskies' overall record was 20-3, and the J. O. Christian-coached diamondmen raced through their New England schedule without a loss.

But probably the best outfield in the country last ear has graduated.

Last season's pitching was not great, the fielding was at times poor. But the huge clubs of Moe Mor hardt, Bill Cullum, and Bill Stevens kept Connecticut in the ball game.

Without bats and fielding prowess, this year's team will lose games, but it may once again find itself Omaha-bound.

Politics is a malignant fgorce. It has, to the horror of sportsmen, crept into sports.

Olympic games have been taken in the wrong light. "The important thing in the Olympic games is not to win, but to take part; the important thing in life is not the triumph but the sruggle; the essential thing is not to have conquered but to have fought "To spread these precepts is to build up a stronger and more valiant and above all more scrupulous and more generous humanity."

These are the words of Baron de Coubertin, founder of the modern Olympics.

The good baron's words are worth pondering. Sport for its own sake now seems to be a thing of the past. All athletic activity has now taken the aura of an epic sruggle.

More on this subject to follow.

GETTING WAY UP THERE is the University of Connecticut's Johnny Pipczynski, No. 44, driving for a score. The Vermont defender is Charley Isles, captain of the Yankee Conference cellar-dwellers. Isles was the game's high scorer with 29 points in a losing effort Saturday. The Winter Weekend sporting highlight was rather tame, with Vermont never really challenging the Huskies.
