Polling Places For Thursday Class Elections Announced

Voting arrangements for class elections on Thursday have been announced by George Balco, Elections Committee chairman. Polls will be open from 12 noon until 7 p.m. and will be staffed by members of Alpha Phi Omega and Gamma Sigma Sigma.

Each student votes for the officers of his class, and can vote only once. Identification must be shown; ID cards are preferred, but a note from the house mother or identification by a student senator will be checked in the student directory to check on whether he is voting at the assigned polling place and to determine which class officers he is eligible to vote for.

Voting Polls

The following houses will vote at Sigma Alpha Epsilon: Theta Sigma Chi, Zeta Psi, Sigma Chi Alpha, Phi Sigma Delta, Tau Kappa Epsilon, Chi

Phi, Phi Sigma Kappa, Lambda Chi Alpha, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Theta Xi will be the polling place for the following houses: Sigma Nu Alpha, Theta Chi, Phi Epsilon Pi, Alpha Sigma Phi, Tau Epsilon Phi, Beta Sigma Gamma, Delta Chi, Sigma Phi Epsilon and Theta Xi.

At Phi Chi Alpha: Aisop-A, Aisop-B, Alpha Zeta Omega, Alpha Epsilon Pi, Kappa Psi, Trumbull, Sherman, and Phi Chi Alpha.

Voting at Whitney will be Sprague, Holcomb, and Whitney; at Grange, Hicks and Grange; at the Student Union, Manchester Hall, C.E.C., and commuters.

On South campus, the following dorms will vote at Kappa Kappa Gamma: Beard-A, Beard-B, Pi Beta Phi, Alpha Epsilon Phi, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Crandall-C, Crawford-A, Crawford-B, Crawford-C, French-B, At Stowe-C: Phi Sigma Sigma, Kappa Alpha Theta, Alpha Delta Pi, Wheeler-C, Pi Mu, Delta Zeta, Delta Pi, Stowe-C, Merritt-A, and Merritt-B.

In the over quadrangle, Alpha Gamma Rho will serve as polling place for Alpha Gamma Rho and Colt House.

On North campus, Fairfield will serve as polling place for New Haven, Fairfield, Litchfield, Tolland, and Baldwin, while New London will be the voting place for Hartford, New London, Windham, Middlesex, Hurley, and McConaughy.

Advance Registration Begins Today, To Continue Until November 22

Advance registration for the spring semester begins today at the Old Main Dining Hall. Students can register until November 22, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., through the lunch hour.

Volunteers from Gamma Sigma and Alpha Phi Omega will check programs at the four tables set up on each side of the dining hall. Students must gain approval of their schedules from all four tables.

The Desired Program Card will be compared with the Registration Card to see that the counselor has signed the material properly.

Students taking an excess of 17 credits (18 if taking basic N.D. or 19 if enrolled in engineering or pharmacy) must present a signed petition.

New Credit System

The new credit system to be employed by Air Force and Army N.D. will be checked. Air Force 118 gives 2 credits, 138: 0 credit, 244: 1 credit, and 294: 1 credit. Army 142 gives no credit, 144: 1 credit, 251: one credit, and 251: two credits.

Special notice will be given to students signing up for Music 122, 221, and 223 to make sure the courses are coded according to instrument to be studied and that students have gotten proper approval to take the subjects.

English 106 has been discontinued; no one should have this on their registration card. English 108 is open only to students who have taken English 105 (107 and 108).

English 109

The following people are eligible for English 109: all second semester students other than Business and Engineers and, at other students who have taken 105 or 107, but not 106.

Hours for the first choice of sections must be written out in pencil on the class hour section of the Registration card. Second choice of sections must be indicated when possible.

Sophomores may take certain 00's courses; courses not open to Sophomores require a petition with the signatures of the instructor (third and fourth semester students) and Dean of School (third semester students). Petitions can be obtained from the Registrar's office on the first floor of Administration.

Trial Ship Unnecessary

The trial program slips handed out at the residence halls are not necessary for registering this year. They were given to students as a convenience in figuring class schedules. At the completion of registration, the Desired Program Card will be stamped "Received" and returned to the student as a receipt. The Trial Program Slip serves this purpose in the past.

The purpose of the University's registration system according to Gerard T. Corcoran, Assistant Registrar, is to make sure "the student is properly counseled so he won't hurt himself later on in his college career". He emphasized that every effort is made to give students the schedules they desire. "Many other schools do not do this," stated Corcoran, "at Dartmouth the students have no choice of time or instructor."

A full report telling whether the change in registering has been effective will be available after Thanksgiving.

USA Frosh Platform Has Four Planks

We, the USA candidates for the freshman class officers, do hereby pledge to uphold the following planks of our platform to form a stronger and more unified freshman class.

1. Freshman Class Council

We wish to improve the organization of the Freshman Class Council to establish spirit, unity and an interest in all freshman class activities by full representation at the meetings which will also be open to all who have an opinion to express or a suggestion to make for the improvement of the class.

2. Freshman Activity

Towards the end of the second semester we will sponsor a freshman class activity. The specific event will be chosen by the consensus of opinion of the class as a whole.

3. Inter-Class Council

We support the establishment of an Inter-Class Council to promote understanding, interest and organization between the four classes on the campus of the University of Connecticut.

4. Unity

We feel this is a self explanatory plank which is essential to promote interest among fellow freshmen for their class, its members and its activities.

If elected, we, the USA candidates for the freshman class officers, will pledge ourselves to work for and with the class and will accomplish the aims of our platform in the interest of the freshman class.

Authentic Replica Of Globe Theatre Used In Production

The University of Connecticut will soon be one of the few university theatres in America to have a replica of the original Globe Theatre for use in the production of Shakespearean plays. Mr. Frank W. Ballard and his stage crew have designed and are constructing such a stage for the Department of Speech and Drama's production of "Romeo and Juliet" which opened in the Little Theatre on Monday, and is running for this week including a matinee Saturday.

Mr. Ballard, the designer, stated today, "Our set will be an authentic reproduction of the first two floors of the Globe Theatre. It will be as historically accurate as possible even to size and decor." The set will have two levels, the second level being ten feet off the floor, and it will include three stages, one in back and two on the sides. All will have overhanging balconies. Four sets of draw curtains will be on stage so that changes may be made behind some curtains while the play continues. This means the play will have continual action as it was written.

The type of theatre used in the Elizabethan period grew out of the staging methods of traveling players who visited the inns of the countryside, set up a platform and acted the play. When a permanent theatre was desired, theatre stages copied directly from the old inn's courtyards. The playwrights of the day, including Shakespeare, wrote with this stage in mind.

An extra feature of the stage that is being built is that it is portable, and thus it can be used as desired for Elizabethan productions in the future. This feature of portability made the job of designing the set somewhat more difficult for Mr. Ballard.

"The Significance of Kennedy's Election" was the subject of discussion following Sunday supper at Hill. George Cohen, Hill president, introduced Dr. Norman Friedman of the English department, president of the adult congregation, who sponsored the panel. Dr. Arthur Schragger, program chairman, introduced the moderator, Dr. Fredrick Kort, assistant professor of political science.

The first speaker was Dr. Harry Marks, associate professor of history. Dr. Marks related future developments to the past. He feels that under the Eisenhower campaign, we were offered salvation by faith alone, but Kennedy and Nixon promised salvation by faith and good works. He stated that we will now have a stronger leadership than that of Eisenhower.

Problems which Dr. Marks considers most crucial today—the allocation of economic goods and of natural resources, the problem of China—were not touched upon during the campaign.

Dr. Marks stated that with Kennedy in the White House, we would not have to worry about our president taking a bribe or being impressed by large sums of money being a millionaire in his own right.

Either Kennedy or Nixon would show enormous strides in the action of the presidency as both would be willing to use the advice of experts. The country is going to be in firm hands with more action, Dr. Marks predicts, as Kennedy is willing to present the American as a rational person.

Summarizing his own ideas, Dr. Marks presented four different kinds of hopes for our country under Kennedy's leadership: positive direction to federal policy, greater imagination, more courageous leadership (in that Kennedy would do what he thinks right, rather than what would make him popular), and the final hope, that Kennedy has been blessed with wisdom.

The next speaker, Dr. Morris Singer, assistant professor of economics, discussed the economic implications of the election.

Economic growth, according to Dr. Singer, has been at the rate of about two and a half per cent under the Eisenhower Administration. This is below par because in his opinion Republicans are concerned with too much federal expenditure.

He went on to say that Democrats, on the other hand, are more concerned with raising the growth rate; we can expect a new rate of three and a half to four per cent. A rising rate of growth will in turn stimulate more employment until full employment is reached. At this point, inflation would begin, mostly caused by monopoly powers.

While the Republicans have been strictly enforcing anti-trust laws, they have been neglecting public utility regulation. Here, the Democrats could improve the situation.

Dr. Singer does not believe there is any danger of "creeping socialism" under Kennedy as the Democrats are not particularly government oriented.

Continuing he said that although the Democrats might push higher prices of farm goods to make them more scarce, on the whole the low income group has traditionally benefited under Democratic administration.

Dr. Singer feels that it is worthwhile pursuing a high growth in spite of a price rise. In his opinion we can look forward to a somewhat better economic performance.

The final speaker, Dr. Louis L. Gerson, associate professor of political science, discussed foreign policy. He told the audience that he voted for Kennedy because he believed the Democratic party is one of courage and bold action. He also stated that in the beginning of the campaign he was impressed by Kennedy's realism, which later seemed to have been blunted in place of gaining public popularity.

Dr. Gerson made a point that foreign policy must be related to the more important domestic policy. Growth in domestic social welfare can support vigorous foreign policy. The Democrats are strong on social welfare. But, Dr. Gerson said, "I believe Kennedy won, not the Democratic party. In this instance, Kennedy may believe this shows that the public doesn't want such strong government and many follow a middle-of-the-road policy."

Dr. Gerson concluded by saying it is the vigor and the people of the country which make foreign policy.

Class Candidates

As announced last Thursday, the Daily Campus is taking an editorial stand on candidates in the campus elections.

We believe that our function as a student newspaper is to interpret the news as well as to report it objectively.

The qualification that we place on this is that we label clearly what its objective reporting and what is subjective interpreting. This is exactly what we are doing when we support the candidacy of one student as opposed to the candidacy of another. We are labeling it subjective interpretation.

It is the subjective interpretation of the Editorial Board of the Daily Campus.

Probably the main argument that

Sophomore Candidates

Because of his past experience in campus politics and his better knowledge of campus problems and solutions for them, we feel that Ed Goglia (Independent) is more qualified to fill the position of Sophomore Class President than his opponents, Kevin Dunne (USA) and Vin Bernardi (ISO).

When asked in what the University was lacking in, besides giving the standard answers such as school spirit, poor student-faculty ratio and poor Alumni Association, he mentioned one point which no other candidate did, the counseling program. He felt that if fewer students were assigned to each faculty counselor, this would alleviate the problem of students not getting enough attention from their faculty counselors.

DUNNE (USA) although he presented a fairly adequate knowledge of the problems of the University and the politics on campus, does not have as much experience for this office as Goglia. He has not attended Senate or class council meetings in the past and only a few this year. This would have been a very instructive way for him to have gained some experience.

When the question of school spirit was posed, rather than stating some ways of improving on it as a class, Dunne said he felt that this was a function of the Student Senate and not the Class Councils.

BERNARDI (ISO) possesses no experience in college politics nor did he attend any Senate meetings. If elected, he mentioned that he would improve the class councils by eliminating formal, parliamentary procedure. Parliamentary procedure is the only effective way of controlling an organization. They would not function well without it.

Bernardi stated many of class representatives do not understand parliamentary procedure very well and thus do not voice opinions as they otherwise would.

For the position of Sophomore Class Vice-President are Ralph Palmesi (Independent), Eve Haaland (ISO), and Beverly Ruoff (USA). Again due to the important fact inherent in an election—experience—we are supporting Ralph Palmesi.

PALMESI was treasurer of his class last year, organized the Freshman picnic and was on the class constitution committee. He has also been to his class council meeting and to Senate meetings.

He mentioned that school spirit could be improved through the Class Councils. He hopes to improve class spirit by having a Sophomore class Newsletter published in the Campus to let the class know what their representatives are doing. He feels that the Alumni Association could be improved if interest were high enough on campus for students to carry this interest with them after they have graduated.

will be used against the Daily Campus taking this stand is that, since all of the students compulsorily pay for the Daily Campus, it is the newspaper of all and should not be used to further some students and hinder others.

To this, we refer to an editorial in Friday's Daily Campus supporting a University Court for all cases of student discipline involving suspension or expulsion. We have heard no criticism of our taking a stand on that issue and yet we are sure that some students disagree with the idea.

If we were to subscribe to this contention that we must offer opinions that ALL the students agree with, we would be reduced to a news medium not far above the Student Union Calendar.

MISS RUOFF, on the other hand, has had no political experience and has not attended any class council or Senate meetings. She, in her interview with the Campus, also stressed the importance of having a class Newsletter to instill spirit in the members of the class. She felt this should be handled on a more personal basis, such as mimeographed Newsletters rather than just printed in the newspaper. This was a good point.

She seemed to have a fairly good knowledge of the class dues system and sliding activities fee when asked which she favored. Her one drawback in running for this office seems to be her lack of experience in comparison with Mr. Palmesi.

The third candidate MISS HAALAND (ISO) does not seem to have any of the necessary qualifications. She has no experience, never attended a council, or Senate meeting, and when asked what Uconn lacked, replied that the main lack was school spirit, but had no ideas on how to overcome this problem.

Running for the position of Sophomore Class Secretary are Arlene Strok (ISO), Mary Beth Ellwood (USA) and Carla Hallin (Independent). None of these candidates seemed to know what they were talking about, but Miss Hallin on the basis of her past experience in campus politics is our choice.

MISS HALLIN ran for Student Senate last spring, was on her class council, Chairman of the Freshman picnic and is now WSGC representative from her dorm.

Miss Strok has never attended any council or Senate meetings. She is a member of Gamma Sigma Sigma and was class secretary in high school. However, she did not have a very good working knowledge of the problems and politics on campus.

MISS ELWOOD, who also has had no political experience here, seemed very unsure of her position on various questions. She didn't display an adequate knowledge of campus problems to comment on them intelligently.

For the position of Treasurer of the Sophomore Class, our choice is Glen Bruce (Independent) over his opponents, Arnie Mann (ISO) and Ed Tyler (USA).

BRUCE, who has been on the class council for the past year, has had some experience but is still not that conscious of problems at Uconn. He, along with the other candidates running for this office, are not too aware of anything. Even if they are, they did not have ideas to better existing situations. Bruce seems to be more qualified than his opponents.

Even though we have endorsed the entire Independent slate in this class, we did not do so on the basis of their being independent but rather because, individually in comparison, they all seem to be more qualified than their opponents.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

by Drew Pearson

Drew Pearson says: Richard Nixon most likely GOP contender in 1964; Ike sees coveted place in history vanish in Kennedy smoke; Khrushchev welcomes Kennedy as more reasonable than Nixon.

Washington — There is one development from the recent election you can write down definitely: Richard M. Nixon is likely to be the next candidate for president on the Republican ticket.

Nixon's fighting finish and the terrific scare he gave the Democrats on election night when JFK was confident he could coast in has pepped up the Republican party as at no other time following an election defeat.

Nixon has had a lot of offers to join various law firms, including that of ex-Gov. Tom Dewey. Nixon, however, is not going to take any of these—soon, he will look around carefully for a springboard which can keep his name in the news and put him in line for the nomination in 1964.

Meanwhile it's better than a 50-50 bet that Nixon will run for Governor of California. He has noted the wobbly political power of once popular Gov. Pat Brown, Democrat, and he has no compunction about pushing his old supporter, ex-Gov. Goodie Knight, to one side again. He pushed Knight over to a Senate race and certain defeat two years ago when Knight was a sure bet to be re-elected Governor. Now Knight is itching to run again.

However, one of the best ways to stage a comeback for 1964 is a routin' tootin' race against Democratic Governor Brown two years hence, which would roll up a heavy vote and victory. You can write it down he will take the road which will put him in line for a comeback—soon.

Ike's Depression
President Eisenhower flew to Augusta, Ga., very depressed over Senator Kennedy's victory.

Though at the start of the campaign he had announced he would stay out, by the time election night rolled around Ike had worked himself up into a real fury over Kennedy's criticism. He particularly resented Kennedy's charge that the Eisenhower administration was standing still, that the USA had lost prestige.

Eisenhower, at the age of 70 and with over 40 years of military experience behind him, is now playing for the history books. He has wanted to go down in history as a man of peace as well as a great commander in time of war. And he now believes that Kennedy's charges during the campaign plus his victory on November 8 will go down in history as an indictment of his eight years in the White House.

Until the very end, Ike was confident for Nixon. He figured a mighty surge of Republican votes would put the Vice President over the top. His hopes were buoyed by a telephone call from Governor Rockefeller two hours before the polls closed in New York, when Nelson confidently predicted that New York would surprise everyone and go Republican. Despite all the polls to the contrary, the President believed this.

So, when New York State gave Kennedy the biggest plurality of any in the Union, Ike was stunned. This was why he went to Augusta very depressed and why he sent one of the curtest congratulatory messages in history to the new President-elect.

Mr. K and Mr. K

Some people may have been surprised at the cordial telegram sent by Premier Khrushchev to President-elect Kennedy. It fairly glowed with exultation over his victory.

What the public doesn't know is that early last fall the Soviet Embassy in Washington, headed by astute Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov, took a very careful reading on the two presidential candidates. The report went back to Moscow that while on the surface both Nixon and Kennedy were alike, actually Kennedy was the more dynamic, the more courageous, and the more liberal. In addition, Soviet leaders already knew Nixon.

But the Russians have now become realists in regard to American politics. Khrushchev was advised when in New York to keep his mouth shut regarding either candidate. The same advice had gone to him from Ambassador Menshikov almost two months before. Foreign Minister Gromyko had received the same advice. They all concurred. And they kept their mouths shut.

Every member of the Soviet Embassy staff in Washington plus every other Eastern European diplomat smilingly said "no comment" regarding the American election. Or on some occasions they commented: "They're both the same. What difference does it make?"

Premier Khrushchev, however, has now made it clear that he's delighted over Kennedy's victory. American diplomatic reports from Moscow state that this is genuine. They also state that Khrushchev does not expect Kennedy to be any easy mark at the conference table, but much more reasonable than Nixon when it comes to constructive agreements for peace.

Crisis in France

against him. The plot is well under way and may explode any day.

Behind the plot is French Army resentment over De Gaulle's plan to make Algeria virtually an independent republic. The French Army had helped to put De Gaulle into power on the belief that he would champion their cause in Algeria, and now they're bitterly disappointed for approximately 15 years the French Army has been in intermittent, sometimes definite mutiny against the premiers of France. At times they thumbed their noses at civilian rule.

De Gaulle, however, has cracked down on them hard. As a military man, he knows what the score is. He also knows that some of his own officers are restless and plotting, has had the colonel and generals who are in on the current plot watched day and night.

The situation has become so tense that some time ago Communist leaders in Paris notified De Gaulle that he could count on the trained underground army of the Communist party in case of trouble. What is feared most in Paris is an assassination attempt on the President. De Gaulle is notoriously careless about his own protection. He drives to his country estate at breakneck speed, with no armed escort to speak of. It would be a fairly simple matter to crack up his car on one of these trips.

News From Other Universities

Brunswick, Me. — (I.P.) — A revitalized course of studies within the voluntary Bowdoin College Reserve Officers Training Corps program was announced here recently by President James S. Coles.

Beginning with the present academic year 1960-61, advanced ROTC students will take about 30 per cent of their military instruction in regular college subjects taught by civilian faculty members in the general fields of science, psychology, communications, and political institutions.

This option, authorized by the Department of Defense, was selected by the College as most advantageous to the student 1 mile last two years of the four-year ROTC program.

The new course of studies here will remove some 45 hours of instruction from the direct supervision of the ROTC Department and enable the students to elect certain academic subjects in place of what were formerly subjects of an exclusively military nature.

To permit the change, military subjects such as crewed weapons instruction will be taught during the six-week summer camp period, normally attended between the junior and senior college years.

The Army anticipates that the program will stimulate increased intellectual attainment on the part of the ROTC students, lessen the training load on students, and make the overall program more attractive.

Athens, O. — (I.P.) — Ohio University has seen the last of its controversial drinking issue as far as the administration and Campus Affairs Committee are concerned. Contained in the new Student Government handbook is the five-point drinking plan.

The main provisions of the plan deal with the use and possession of alcohol at social functions and where those functions may be held. According to the plan now in effect, social functions where alcohol is present may be held in all licensed establishments within the corporate limits of Athens.

The only restriction placed on student organizations is that the social event must be registered with Dean of Men William Butler and must be chaperoned.

"The major change in University regulations gives more responsibility to the students," Dean Butler said, "and if they do not assume the responsibility of abiding by the state, local, and university regulations, we will probably go back into prohibition."

Uconn Coed Is USMC Candidate

What did you do last summer? Most coeds would probably reply that they had one of the ordinary summer jobs, waitress, camp counselor, or secretary. However, one Uconn coed reports a new and interesting summer—as a: Officer Candidate in the United States Marine Corps.

Gail Waugh, senior political science major and sister of Delta Pi, attended the Woman Officer Training Class at Marine Corps schools, Quantico, Virginia, this past summer.

"Not many people realize the many opportunities open to women, as well as men, as an officer in the Marine Corps," she said.

"The summer was a fascinating experience for me, and I would like to urge alert girls who are seeking an executive job to consider the possibilities of becoming a Marine Corps officer."

The requirements for entrance into the annual Officer Candidate class include: a girl must be a junior or senior in good standing, or a graduate, of an accredited college. She must be in excellent health and of good moral character, as proved by references and interviews. Until such time as a candidate receives her college degree and then accepts her commission, she is under no obligation to the Marine Corps or to the government.

Officer Candidates receive their training at government expense, at the famous Marine Corps Schools in Quantico, Virginia. The 37,000 acre "campus" is located on the banks of the Potomac River, 35 miles south of the nation's Capital. All officers, both men and women, receive their instruction at Quantico.

Women Candidates attend classes in such subjects as Marine Corps history, courtesies, and traditions, leadership, drill, personnel administration, and the organization and missions of the Armed Services. Tours, demonstrations, guest speakers, swimming, and care of uniforms and quarters add variety and interest to the 12 week program. Gail reported all of this program is not work, however. She found time on weekends to sightsee in Washington and nearby Virginia, sail, ride and swim. An excellent golf course is available to the women Officer Candidates and to the college men enrolled in the Platoon Leaders Class.

Uconn coeds will have an opportunity to obtain more information about the Woman Officers Training Class when the Marine Corps Officer section team visits campus this week.

Lieutenant Elaine Primeau will meet interested girls in the HUB Lobby, 9:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. November 17 and 18. Arrangements may also be made for Lieutenant Primeau to call at the dormitory in the evening.

White House aides, led by Hagerty, have urged contesting President-elect Kennedy's victory. Nixon has now made it clear, however, that he does not want to be associated with any such move.

He warned that an attempt to reverse the election this late might even lead to revolution. His attitude was that the 1960 election is past and Republicans should concentrate on winning the 1964 election.

Nixon definitely hopes to make a comeback try in another four years. If he displays sour grapes over his 1960 loss, he fears it would only hurt his chances in 1964.

As a compromise, Republican leaders have decided to bring election charges on a local level. Local leaders have been instructed to dig up evidence and press for action. Whatever trouble they can stir up on a local level, the GOP chiefs believe, will embarrass the Democrats without backfiring against Nixon.

Note—The Senate Elections Subcommittee is also investigating charges of election irregularities on the part of Republicans in GOP-dominated states.

Recount Of Votes Rejected By Nixon

Vice President Nixon has rejected the pleadings of some advisers that he make an issue of alleged vote frauds in Illinois and Texas with a view to challenging the election.

His aides reason that California should fall into the Nixon column after the absentee votes are counted. If vote frauds should upset the results in Illinois and Texas, Nixon might end up with enough electoral votes to win the White House.

No less than President Eisenhower favors trying to reverse the election before it becomes official on December 15. So far as this column has been able to learn, Ike never talked directly to Nixon about challenging the results. His views were passed on to Nixon's campaign aides, however, by White House Press Secretary Jim Hagerty.

GOP headquarters has received more than 1,500 telegrams charging election irregularities, particularly in Illinois, Texas, Michigan and Pennsylvania. This has set off a series of excited backstage huddles to decide what action to take.

Kappa Psi Sponsors Drive; Purpose: Diabetes Detection

by Michael W. Licamele
What is Diabetes? An insignificant question? No! Many may laugh. But the one person in seventy will not laugh—for he will contract the disease.

It is a disease without a cure... BUT WITH PREVENTION... It is estimated that there are more than 1,250,000 known diabetics in the United States or about one in every 140 Americans.

In addition there are nearly as many unknown diabetics—people who have diabetes but do not know it. Thus approximately one person in every 70 has diabetes, either known or unknown. By these figures more than 160 persons on the University campus may have the disease.

What is the Drive
You may ask yourself — "What is the diabetes detection drive?" This is a year round campaign conducted by the American Diabetes Association, working with local county and state medical associations. Each year, the Detection Drive is renewed by Diabetes week, which comes in the third week of November, just before Thanksgiving.

The Kappa Psi Pharmaceutical Fraternity is sponsoring an all out drive this week for your protection... The wise man and woman will take advantage of the free service offered to the community.

The two questions most often heard about the Campaign are: "Will this test show for certain whether or not I have Diabetes?" and "How will I know the Results?" The answer to the former is No. But it will always show whether or not sugar is present.

Test Results
Sugar very often, but not always, is a sign of diabetes. If sugar is found, the University Infirmary will cooperate in further testing. As far as knowing the results, volunteers from Kappa Psi who have been expertly trained in the detection technique will inform the testee as to the results. He will advise either a trip to the infirmary for further testing or give an A number 1 O.K. to the testee.

Because of the inaccuracy of morning testing the clinic will be set up in the Student Union Lounge, on either side of the door, near the men's and women's cloak room, from 12 o'clock to closing.

Captain Siclari, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Siclari, New Haven, teaches air science courses at the sophomore level. He completes his second year with the Uconn instructional detachment next June.

$10,000 Grant Supports Year Of Research

A $10,000 grant will support a second year of research on animal enteric viruses of pathogenic significance in the Animal Diseases Department at the University of Connecticut.

The grant from the National Institute of Health will finance studies being conducted by Dr. Charles F. Helmboldt, Head of the Animal Diseases Department, and Dr. Roy E. Luginbuhl, associate professor of Animal Diseases. Work is scheduled to begin Dec. 1 at the College of Agriculture's Experiment Station.

Viruses living in the intestinal tract of cattle and poultry will be isolated and studied in an attempt to determine their significance to animal diseases. After identification and comparing with known viruses, particularly human viruses, they will be grouped for further testing.

The significance of the virus to the health of the animal will be studied. In cases where the virus might be similar to a human virus, its effects on the health of an individual will be probed.

The tissue culture method will be the basis of all laboratory work involved in the project. Growing of tissue in chicken and calf kidneys will take place in test tubes.

Pups Lose 15-6

By DAVE SHEEHAN

"It was the same old story," said Coach Nick Rodis in reference to last Friday's 15-6 defeat of his Pups at the hands of the Harvard team. "We just played real bad ball," he added, "the line didn't hit and the backs couldn't hold the ball."

Fumbles Again

The fumble-recovery statistics seem to bear out the coach's remarks. A rough estimate is that the Pups fumbled 9 times and lost the ball at least half the time. And added to this fact is the 150 yards plus that the Uconn were penalized, neither of these figures would be expected to be conducive to victory.

To his previous remarks coach Rodis added that he hoped that the boys would wake up by Friday for their finale against Boston University.

Early Drive

The Pups appeared to be rolling early in the game against the Crimson, but their first drive was stopped cold on the Harvard 15. Then the "Bean City" boys took over and drove 85 yards in about 15 plays to pay dirt.

The extra point was good, and they picked up an easy two points a few minutes later when a mix-up in the Uconn backfield caused the ball carrier to be caught in his own end zone for a safety.

Pup's Score

The Pups came back in the 2nd period to score their only TD of the contest on a 20-yard run by Ken Luciani, but Ken dropped the extra point pass in the end zone. At the half it was 9-6.

The Crimson ended the scoring in the 3rd stanza with another 6 pointer after a sustained drive.

Mistakes Fatal

Rodis said that the boys were up for the game but that their mistakes killed them before they had a chance. They fumbled several times at crucial points in the game and were never in contention after the first TD. He added, "We have yet to play a real good all-around game, I'm hoping we can do it this week."

B.U. Beaten

Reports from the North say that the Dartmouth frosh knocked off the previously unbeaten B.U. boys last week by a 28-7 count. And the Umass Redmen who broke the Pups' unbeaten streak two weeks ago, had to scramble from behind to whip the "catsies" from New Hampshire.

Someone Ready

The latest word from the infirmary is that Joe Simeone, who played a little in the Harvard game, should be ready by Friday. But first-string quarterback Tommy Dooling was hit in the head in that contest and did not practice with the team on Monday.

The B.U. game, incidentally, will not be played at B.U., as was scheduled. Instead it will be right here at Uconn. Giving the Pups' rooters one more chance to see their team in action.

By Ned Parker
The University of Connecticut Soccer team has been given the New England Championship berth in the National Collegiate Athletic Association soccer Tournament.

The decision to give the berth to Uconn was announced yesterday by the New England area selection committee. The committee is composed of Hugh McCurdy, Wesleyan; Lawrence Briggs, Umass; and Bruce Munro from Harvard. The final selection of Uconn over Amherst was made in a meeting held Monday morning. Prior to the game between Amherst and Williams this Saturday Amherst had a slight lead over Uconn in the rating system used to decide the winner.

Although Uconn played a rougher schedule, Amherst was undefeated and had been tied only once in regional play. Uconn on the other hand had lost once to Bridgeport but had no ties.

Williams, Amherst Tie

In the game Saturday Williams and Amherst played to a 1-1 tie giving Amherst two ties and no losses. Due to the fact that Uconn played a harder season and lost only once in conference play they scored higher on the rating scale and thus were given the berth.

The soccer team has had its third best season this year. They finished their twelve game schedule with 10-2-0 record that is only surpassed by the seasons of 1948 and 1958. In '48 the team went undefeated and suffered only one defeat in '58 to Yale.

This year the team got off to a good start by downing Dartmouth, Wesleyan, Yale, and Umass in quick succession. Then on October 11 they traveled to Bridgeport for their first loss.

Bridgeport was the national runner up last year losing to St. Louis in the final. They were reported to be even stronger this year than last and the game seemed to strengthen this report. The Uconn squad was so afraid of the Bridgeport squad that they fell apart and the game turned into a rout for Bridgeport.

Near the end of the game, Khulman the Bridgeport star, halfback broke his leg on the knee guard of one of the Uconn players. This put him out for the season a fact that has been instrumental in Yale's defeat of Bridgeport. They also tied one game completely putting them out of contention for the NCAA berth.

Following the Bridgeport defeat the Uconn booters bounced back and downed Williams, Hartford, and Boston University. Once again they were beaten however this time at Colgate. The game was close and some of the boys on the team seem to feel that they can beat Colgate if they meet in the tournament. The Colgate team said that they thought they were lucky to beat Uconn.

Coach Squires said that he felt we would have a "Real battle," if we do meet Colgate again.

After the defeat at the hands of Colgate which doesn't count toward the region standings, Uconn defeated Springfield, Coast Guard, and Brown in that order.

The Springfield game was a particularly hard one with the Uconn booters pulling out the win in the last few minutes of play.

The winner of the New York region will be announced sometime today and will play Uconn in the quarter finals either next Saturday or Monday. Myron Krasij the phenom al Uconn scoring ace broke the Uconn scoring record in the Coast Guard game. He is a flashy dribbler and has complete control of the ball whenever he is close enough to it to put his powerful foot on it. After the Coast Guard game a

Cadet player was heard to remark, "We heard he was your best player but we had no idea he was that good."

The team will be working out at this week in preparation for their first tournament game this weekend.
