Brien McMahon Lecture To Be Given By Venezuelan

Romulo Betancourt, former president of Venezuela and distinguished statesman will deliver the eighth annual Brien McMahon Lecture tonight at 8:15 p.m. in the Von der Mehden Recital Hall. President Betancourt will speak on "The Social Revolution in Latin America; Problems and Prospects".

As is traditional with McMahon lectures, President Betancourt will also meet informally during his visit with interested members of the faculty and graduate students.

The former Venezuelan chief executive will be the second prominent foreign figure to give the McMahon Lecture, which was established by Sen. William Benton in 1957 in honor of his onetime colleague in the U.S. Senate.

Betancourt left the Venezuelan presidency in 1962 after a long and eventful six-year term. By virtue of his position as a former president of this Latin American republic he holds a lifetime seat in the Venezuelan Senate.

Born appropriately on George Washington's birthday in 1908, President Betancourt spent his 20th birthday in prison and has spent 19 years of his adult life in prison, in exile or in the underground running from police.

At the age of 37 in 1946, President Betancourt, as head of the provisional government, called and presided over the first free elections ever held in Venezuela. He also presided over the delegation of Venezuela at the 19th Inter-American Conference at Bogota.

Elected president of the republic on Dec. 7, 1958, he was victim of a TNT attack a year and a half later. The bombing cost him the life of his chief military assistant and he himself was wounded.

Don Nelson Recipient Of ROTC Certificate Of Appreciation

At last Tuesday's Army ROTC drill period Don Nelson, Director of the University Radio and Television Center, was presented with a Certificate of Appreciation from the First United States Army in recognition of his profound interest in the ROTC program and his efforts to further it.

Nelson, who has been at UConn since 1956, has contributed to the ROTC program through his work in the public relations field. He has promoted Army ROTC through announcements sent to regional radio and television stations across the state and through films and tapes of Military Day at UConn and UConn students at Summer Camp.

He spent three years on active duty in the Army with a rank of Sergeant. Eighteen months of this service were spent in Korea and the remainder in New York City. His latter assignment brought him under the jurisdiction of the First U.S. Army and involved publicity work for the United States Army Recruiting Program.

Upon receiving the Award Mr. Nelson said, "I sincerely appreciate being given this Certificate and I feel that my activities in this area are certainly part of my job. The certificate is especially meaningful to me because of my experience in the First Army when I was on active duty."

"I think it is important that both prospective students and Basic Course ROTC students--and their parents--are aware of the many benefits of the ROTC program. Radio and television can be used effectively to bring about this awareness."

His film of last year's Summer Camp at Fort Devens, Massachusetts demonstrated the activities of Advanced Course ROTC students in Camp. It was broadcast on Channel 8 in New Haven and Channel 30 in New Britain.

Nelson plans extensive film and tape coverage of Military Day this Spring. He stated that coverage would be roughly equivalent to that given last year.

World News Briefs

Wisconsin A Major Disaster Area

(AP)--President Johnson has declared Wisconsin a major disaster area. His action makes the state eligible for federal financial help in recovering from flood and tornado damage. White House News Secretary George Reedy said there was no immediate allocation of money. He said amounts will be decided after disaster relief teams in the field make their reports.

The Mississippi crested at 17 and seven-tenths feet today at La Crosse, Wisconsin, instead of the expected 18 feet. And the prediction is that the flooded river will begin to fall in the area tomorrow. But downstream, they're bracing for more floods--in Illinois and Iowa.

More Help For Viet Nam

(AP)--Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara has announced a step-up of military aid to South Viet Nam. Assistance to help fight the Viet Cong will be increased from 207 million dollars to 330 million for the fiscal year which ends June 30th. The defense chief made his announcement after briefing President Johnson on the strategy conference on Viet Nam just concluded in Hawaii.

Secretary McNamara told newsmen that American air attacks on North Viet Nam have damaged the morale of the Communist forces fighting in South Viet Nam and have slowed down but have not stopped infiltration into South Viet Nam. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who also attended the White House briefing said there is evidence of problems of morale in North Viet Nam. He said there have been 126 defections from the North in a single week, the greatest number so far.

The chief speaker at today's opening day ceremonies was Vice President Hubert Humphrey, who called the fair "very impressive--one of the great achievements of the country."

World's Fair Opening

(AP)--The New York World's Fair reopened today--and opening day was far better than last year's. Today it was warm with a bright sunshine. Last year, it was chilly with rain.

A Helping Hand

For several years radio station WTIC in Hartford has broadcasted the basketball and football contest for our University. This has been a great service to not only the University community, but also to residents throughout the State. George Ehrlich and Floyd Richards, the sports announcers for the station, have continually presented complete and accurate coverage of the events, and the frequent hints of favoritism for our UConn teams have not been unappreciated by the thousands of Husky rooters who follow the team.

Since the start of this semester, WTIC has taken several steps toward contributing even more to the University. The Hartford radio station is apparently in the process of modernizing its equipment by replacing "tube" equipment with "transistorized" equipment. WTIC, and particularly Mr. Harold Dorschug, the station's Director of Engineering, had to decide upon a method of disposing this still very valuable equipment.

Recently, WTIC donated over $7,000 worth of equipment to both WHUS and channel 24, Educational Television in Hartford.

We hope that WTIC will continue to recognize the value of our own radio station, and their need for the equipment which the Hartford station is presently replacing.

In addition to the donation of valuable equipment, WTIC has also cooperated with WHUS in various other ways. For example there are some athletic contests that WHUS, due to financial restrictions, is not able to cover for the student body. For these games, WTIC has allowed the UConn network to "hook up" their lines, and monitor the games back to Storrs. Ordinarily this service is accompanied by a considerable fee for royalties, due to the expense of covering an away contest. WHUS has never been charged for this service.

Also, the staff of WTIC, according to Gene Roure, Consulting Engineer for WHUS and a UConn graduate student, has been extremely co-operative in assisting the staff with valuable advice and information. Bob Ellsworth, a newscaster and announcer for WTIC, and Fred Edwards, a member of the Engineering Staff of WTIC, have spoken at the WHUS healing program for this semester.

On behalf of WHUS and the thousands of listeners to UConn's radio station, we wish to express our sincere appreciation to the management and staff of WTIC, and particularly Mr. Dorschug, for their contribution to our University.

Diana's Pool

To The Editor:

My attention has been directed to the editorial "Keep It Clean" which appeared in the Connecticut Daily Campus under date of March 29, 1965.

Diana's Pool has long been a favorite spot for University of Connecticut students to welcome spring and many return often until spring finally fades into summer. Many students have recognized the uniqueness of this small piece of public domain and have used the area with consideration and respect, while others have reacted with a callous disregard for the area and the rights of all of our citizens.

Your editorial has called timely attention to an annual problem and I feel that you have attempted to instill in the users a sense of responsibility and stewardship in the use of our natural resources. I can only hope that the students will heed the wisdom of your words.

Sincerely yours,
Theodore B. Bampton

No More Forum

To the Editor:

I am writing to inform you that I find it impossible to continue doing FORUM in this newspaper, under present conditions. This week, as you know, I was informed on Tuesday afternoon in the act of laying out the page, that the amount of advertising the paper would have to carry this week would not permit room for FORUM. As you also know, there have been a number of other weeks during which FORUM has come within an inch of not being printed. I have found repeatedly that much of my time in doing the page has been spent in arguing with the CAMPUS staff not only for the existence of the page, but also for its value.

Needless to say, it is difficult to write for a page--or to ask other intelligent people to write--for a page whose existence is so uncertain from week to week, and which is regarded not so much as valuable to the university community as a personal favor to me.

The page began last fall in response to your annual "don't moan about how bad the paper is--come on over and do something about it" editorial. I have had nothing personal to gain by doing the page--except the sheer love of doing it. And I put a great deal of myself into it--often staying until midnight working with the printers to dummy it. With it I tried to demonstrate from week to week the kinds of things I thought a decent college newspaper ought to be doing. It was read with interest and affection by the majority of the intelligent Storrs community, and circulated widely on other campuses across the country. It was met by polite indifference by you and your staff--many of you not even taking the trouble to read it.

It made mistakes for which I was solely responsible. But even the mistakes came out of the whole inventive experiment of trying to see just what a GOOD college newspaper might be capable of.

letters to the editor

I must apologize for having been overly emotional--and at times overly dogmatic in my handling of the page. My only defense is that they were honest mistakes. Ultimately the page will have to be its own defense, as to whether or not it was worth it all.

I would like to thank all of those people who wrote, typed, criticized, argued, applauded, screamed, or otherwise gave something genuinely of themselves to the page. And I apologize for letting them down now. I regret for their sake that I am not patient enough to put up with administrative decisions which I do not understand and over which I have no control.

Sincerely,
Everett C. Frost
Graduate Assistant,
Dept. of English

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mr. Frost has incorrectly stated that he was informed that it was impossible to print a FORUM this week. Due to circumstances beyond our control, he was told it could appear on Friday. It is unfortunate that Mr. Frost lacks the maturity necessary to cope with the inconveniencing situations which arise daily on a newspaper. Any material students or instructors had planned to submit for the FORUM will be accepted for the Feature page.

An Open Letter

To the Editor:

Dr. Cohen: We, residents of Whitney Hall, have been informed that our dormitory will be used to house graduate men next semester. We also have been informed that this decision is irrevocable. Nonetheless, we feel compelled to express our feelings both as a group and as individuals:

1.) We wish administration had had the foresight to realize the necessity for this move last year when they transferred the residents of Sprague to Whitney in order to make room for graduate women.

2.) Since we cannot move as an entire group, we will have to accept the house officers elected by the present residents of the dorms to which we move, having neither the right to vote nor to be elected to office.

3.) Ninety percent of the present residents, excluding graduating seniors, desired and intended to remain in Whitney next semester. Not one person rushed a sorority.

4.) We have already been inconvenienced during the semester by painters and plasterers. We tolerated this interruption of our studies and sleep thinking we would benefit from the result for several years. Now we find all the hurry was for the graduate men.

5.) Whitney offers undergraduate women a unique experience in dormitory living. Since the majority of the rooms are singles, residents can function as individuals; yet, close social contact and ties are possible if desired.

While we realize that nothing can or will be done to alter our situation, we hope that greater consideration will be given to the feelings and plans of the persons involved in any future housing decisions. Inclosing, Dr. Cohen, even if we do "forget by second semester" there will be at least one semester during which forty or more girls will have their outlook towards UConn and college as a whole adversely influenced by your decision.

Regretfully,
The Women of Whitney Hall

Counselors

To the Editor:

I would like to express an opinion regarding your editorial of April 8th entitled "Guidance or Guessing". You state that you are in favor of professional guidance counselors to replace the present system of faculty advisors. I agree with you wholeheartedly when you state that the faculty rarely takes the time to give proper advice to their advisees. However, I feel that the reason is usually either a lack of time, because of the understaffed condition of the University, or, a lack of the University, or, a lack of concern, in which case the faculty member has no business being in the teaching profession.

The problem faced by the serious student IS NOT how to choose courses so that certain minimum requirements for graduation will be met, but rather, how to choose courses compatible with his long range objectives. And who is more qualified to do this than a faculty member working in the student's chosen field?

I suggest that the remedy to the situation lies in obtaining a sufficient number of teaching oriented faculty members. A sufficient number of obtained (as far as I am concerned) when classes are small enough so that teachers can get to know their students and appreciate their individual educational problems.

Richard Busher

UMinn Students Stage Nursery School

MINNEAPOLIS (CPS)--Students at the University of Minnesota recently ran a nursery school for college students.

Students attending the school, which met in the university's student union, busily played with building blocks, modeling clay, crayons, board games, and jigsaw puzzles. Crayon drawings lined the wall behind them.

The school was presided over by Betsy Luck and was promptly named "Mother Luck's Nursery School."

Mother Luck's charges were not going through a second childhood brought on by the pressures of final examinations--as the casual observer might have deduced--but were actually staging a protest demonstration against a decision by the student union's Board of Governors to ban card playing in the building's grill area.

The Board decided that card playing cannot be controlled there and could spread into gambling.

So Mother Luck's Nursery School was born as a "spontaneous group action" to protest the situation. One enrollee said most of the students involved in the protest preferred to "work through channels." But, he added, "we intend to push this thing all the way."

The school attracted a good deal of attention in the grill, as students flocked around to inquire what it was all about.

Student union officials declined to comment on the situation until they have a chance to talk it over at their next meeting, but in the meantime, they requested the students to remove their crayon drawings until such time as they obtained authorization for them.

Dr. Nathan Whetten

Dr. Whetten Named To Receive UConn Club's 1965 Award

Dr. Nathan L. Whetten will be honored at the UConn Club's 12th annual awards dinner on May 11 at DePasquale's Restaurant on the Berlin Turnpike in Newington.

In making the announcement, UConn Club president Michael Molochko said, "Dr. Whetten is an outstanding member of the faculty. By his excellence he has contributed significantly to the University of Connecticut's academic stature."

Dr. Whetten becomes the 11th man to receive the UConn Club award. Other recipients were Andrew McMillan, Roy J. Guyer, Dr. A. N. Jorgensen, Hugh S. Greer, J. Orleans Christian, E. O. Smith, Victor Borge, Sumner A. Dole, Laurence J. Ackerman and Lester E. Shippee.

Born in Mexico of American parents, Dr. Whetten attended college in Utah, did graduate work in Minnesota and received the Doctor of Philosophy degree in sociology at Harvard.

He joined the Connecticut faculty in 1932 and when the University's Graduate School was founded in 1939 he became its first dean. More than 2,000 students are now doing work toward advanced degrees at Connecticut.

He has played a leading role in graduate education on a regional and national level, having served as president of the New England council on graduate education. He is presently on the Executive Committee of the U.S. Council of Graduate Schools. He has also served as national president of the Rural Sociological Society.

He was the first UConn professor to receive a Guggenheim Fellowship for study abroad. He has published books on Mexico and Guatemala.

Legal Sale Of Marihuana Advocated

by Bob Rogoz

Throughout the history of this country whenever the rights of men have been threatened, the younger generation has always responded. In typical fashion our generation has again in protest. This time against our antiquated Marihuana Laws.

In this article I will give reasons why the sale and distribution of Marihuana should be legalized.

An important point is what are the Marihuana Laws and how strictly are they enforced? Under the provisions of the Marihuana Tax Act, no one can import, manufacture, sell or buy Marihuana in the United States without first obtaining certain forms from the Treasury Department and paying of a tax. But since the Marihuana Act is in reality a law to regulate social behavior, the Secretary of the Treasury refused to provide the necessary forms, thus making the manufacturing, buying and selling of Marihuana illegal. The enforcement of the Marihuana Act varies from state to state. In California there is a very strict enforcement with mandatory jail sentence. In New York, despite wide publicity given to so called sex orgies involving Marihuana smokers, there have been numerous cases of people found with small amounts being simply given a small fine. A milestone in pot legalizing history occurred in Boulder, Colorado when twelve defendants accused of Marihuana possession were acquitted on the grounds that the Colorado statute was unconstitutional. Incidentally the head of Denver's police laboratory testified for the defense.

A question being asked is what are the effects of Marihuana smoking? Critics against Marihuana say that it is destructive to the character or personality, that it is habit forming and that it leads to sexual relations. In answer to the first point, I think all of us know at least one person who's character or personality has been changed due to alcoholism. Yet the Prohibition Laws, the Volstead Act, have been repealed and the United States today tolerates four to five million alcoholics and some fifty to sixty million social drinkers. To answer the critics second charge I will quote the remarks from a U.S. Public Health Service film. It states the following, "Marihuana smokers are generally mildly intoxicated. They do not stagger or fall. They giggle, laugh, bother no one and have a good time. Smoking Marihuana has no unpleasant after effects, no dependence is developed on the drug and the practice can easily be stopped". I will also quote Col. James Phalen, M.D., U.S. Army. In an article entitled the Marihuana Bugaboo he said, "It is my opinion that the smoking of the leaves, flowers or seeds of the Marihuana plant is no more harmful than smoking tobacco...It is further considered that the legislation in relation to Marihuana was ill advised, it branded a menace a matter of trivial importance. This article incidentally was written before the existence of the theory that there is a link between cigarette smoking and cancer." The anti-Marihuana groups third charge is that Marihuana smoking leads to sexual relations. My first argument is "What the hell is wrong with that". Secondly, smoking Marihuana actually decreases the sexual drive in the male, although increasing it in the female. Picture this situation, hot women and cold men. The guy who never touches the stuff will be the one on Cloud Nine.

My final point is that the sale of Marihuana should be placed under legalized control. The sale of Marihuana and other narcotics is a prime source of revenue for the underworld. In the 1920's they were exploiting another American hypocrisy, the sale of alcohol. Yet during this time there was more drinking and violence than any comparable period in our history. Since then narcotics and its underlying results larceny, prostitution etc. have been the underworlds main means of support.

What I would like to see now is the legalizing of the sale of Marihuana, not only because the dangers involved are minimal, but as an initial step in solving the entire narcotics problem. If this step is successful many of the prejudices concerning narcotics and addiction can be reconciled. Only then can we approach the narcotics issue in a rational manner.

Mansfield Players

Raymond Hitchcock, UConn art instructor and sculptor, has designed the set for the Mansfield Players' production of "A Country Scandal". Mr. Hitchcock admits that his conception of set design was greatly stimulated by his contact with the Swedish Little Theater in Helsinki, Finland. As a Fulbright recipient he lived in Finland last year, working on his sculpture, and subsequently became interested in the contemporary ethnic theater of the Swedish minority. The Little Theater company there, which shares the Mansfield Players' perennial problem of a small stage area, avoided intricate details and elaborate sets and used simple props and set changes.

For the Players' production of the Chekhov play, which calls for four major set changes, Mr. Hitchcock has relied on a relatively uncomplicated basic set and placed considerable emphasis on the use of color, costumes and props, including one enormous stuffed peacock which the Players were able to rent from Alex's antique shop in Norwich.

The play will be presented at the Buchanan School in Mansfield Center on April 29, 30 and May 1. Tickets may be purchased at the Paperback Gallery in the Storrs shopping center.

Jack Kraft To Speak On Basketball At Clinic

Jack Kraft To Speak at 20th ACCC Jack Kraft, head basketball coach at Villanova University, has been named to speak on that sport at the Twentieth Annual Connecticut Coaches Clinic which will be held at the University of Connecticut on Aug. 17 and 18. The announcement of his appointment was made by J.O. Christian, director of intercollegiate athletics here.

Previously announced as guest lecturers were Dan Devine of Missouri in football, Dan Jessee of Trinity in baseball and Mel Lorback in soccer.

Kraft comes to the Storrs clinic with highly impressive credentials. He now has an 87-26 record for four years of coaching and has steered the Villanova Wildcats into post-season competition each year, in the NCAA in 1962 and '64 and the NIT in '63 and '65. He finished second in '65. Also, Jack's teams have won two holiday tournaments--the Quaker City in 1961 and the Holiday Festival in New York in '63.

A native Philadelphian, Kraft attended St. Joseph's Prep where he captained the basketball team in his senior year and was selected to the All-Catholic team. A graduate of St. Joseph's College where he was the regular backcourtman for three years, he went on to establish an excellent prep school record.

He won the Inter-Academic League title his first year at Malvern Prep and tied for the title in his second and final season there immediately prior to his appointment at Villanova. Before that he was head coach at Bishop Neumann High for 12 years, winning two Catholic League titles.

During his tenure at Bishop Neumann he established a reputation as a sound fundamentalist and a defensive specialist which has followed him into the collegiate ranks.

The clinic is co-sponsored by the Connecticut High School Coaches Association, The Connecticut Interscholastic Athletic Conference, and the University of Connecticut.

Capacity Crowd Expected Tonight At Los Angeles

A capacity crowd of more than 14,000 is expected to pack the Los Angeles Sports Arena tonight for the fourth game of the National Basketball Association's final playoffs between the Lakers and the Boston Celtics.

Boston took the first game by 32 points, and captured the second by six. Reminded of the difference in the scores, Los Angeles Coach Fred Schaus commented: "We're going to get closer this time."

Boston coach Red Auerbach said before the third game that he will be happy with a split of the two games to be played in Los Angeles, but, he quickly added that he would just as soon win those two games and end the best-of-seven set on the west coast.

Liston-Clay Fight Ruled Illegal By Federal Judge

A Federal Judge in Miami has ruled that last year's Heavyweight Championship fight between Sonny Liston and Cassius Clay was illegal under Florida law. The opinion was offered by Judge Emmett Choate as he dismissed a $400,000 damage suit growing out of the promotion of the fight.

The Judge noted that one Florida law bans boxing matches but exempts bouts sponsored by various veterans groups.

The Judge said the exemption provision extends the privilege of presenting boxing to certain citizens while denying it to others. He said this is in violation of the equal protection provision of the 14th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

In other Sports News:

Former Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson has arrived in Stockholm, Sweden, to prepare for his fight on May 14th with Tod Herring of Houston, Texas. Patterson said in an Airport interview that if he beats Herring he will fight Heavyweight Champion Cassius Clay in September. Patterson was not quoted about what would happen if Sonny Liston should beat Clay in their title fight next month.

However, Patterson said if he beats Clay, he next will fight Liston, then retire.

One of the oldest tournaments on the Pro Golf tour, the Texas Open, gets underway tomorrow in San Antonio. Several of the big name golfers are sitting this one out, including the big three--Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player.

The National Hockey League's Stanley Cup finals have moved to Chicago, where play will be resumed tonight. The first two games were played in Montreal, and both were won by the Canadians. It seems that the return to their home ice will turn the tide in the series. They point out that in their semi-final series with the Detroit Red Wings, they lost the first two games which were played in Detroit, and won the best of seven series.

Right From The Lip

by Charles Lipson

It is still early in the 1965 baseball season but peaks if that's the word to call them, have been reached. The Mets won their first game after only losing two thus surpassing the mark of the previous year when they failed to win in five straight at the beginning of the season.

Almost no-hitters are in the news already as Bernie Daniels of the Washington Senators, pitched no hit balls for seven and two thirds innings before giving up a single to Smokey Burgess of the Chicago White Sox.

Ralph Terry reached his goal by winning one game for his new team, the Cleveland Indians. When he was traded to the Indians to complete the deal for Pedro Ramos, Terry said his primary goal in 1965 was to win one game and then take it from there.

The Mets also set another standard as they were the first team in 1965 to make a triple play. It was a weird one, not surprising for this ball club, as it went to pitching at Dodger Stadium second base.

The Los Angeles Dodgers may have found a solution to their "sore arm problem" as Claude Osteen has been pitching fine ball for the weak hitting team. They will need this pitching to stay in contention and with the return of Sandy Koufax might surprise a few of the forecasters, including myself.

If Koufax, who pitched a good game Sunday, should get back into the rotation, he should stick to pitching at Dodger Stadium where he won 12 of 14 decisions there last year winding up with a 0.85 earned run average.

Staying with the Dodgers for a moment, it seems as if they never give Don Drysdale any runs to work with. Although, Don had a good season last year and a fine earned run average he wound up with 16 losses. Perhaps this was due to the fact that the Dodgers scored two runs or less for him in 10 of his 16 set backs during the year.

Matson Places In Queens-Iona Meet

UConn's Pete Matson soared to 6'1" in the high jump Saturday to win third place in that event and Connecticut's only three team points in the Eleventh Annual Queens-Iona Relays held at Downing Stadium, Randalls Island, New York.

As sure as add and drop, Villanova copped team honors with thirty-nine points.

The Detroit Tigers, who are considered one of the most improved teams in the American League will hope to have a few three-hundred hitters in their line-up this season.

However, they sure won't want to accomplish this average the way their acting manager Bob Swift did in one of his 22 years of baseball. It was the first and last time he approached the three-hundred mark and how he got there is one of his favorite stories.

It seems that back in 1934 when he was with Muskogee in the no defunct Western Association the 19 year old Swift needed four hits on the last date of the season to make .300. He only got three of them however and ended up at .299.

Walt Lacey, one of the Muskogee pitchers heard about it and told the scorers to change one of his hits and credit it to Swift.

How they did it no one knows but it's there in the record books as .300.

That's it for now.

Hugh Dougherty To Be Guest Speaker At Annual UConn Club Awards Dinner

Hugh Daugherty, head football coach at Michigan State University, will be the guest speaker at the 12th annual UConn Club awards dinner, it was announced yesterday by president Michael Molochko of Waterbury. The UConn Club dinner is scheduled for May 11 at DePasquale's Restaurant on the Berlin Turnpike in Newington. It will get underway at 6:15 p.m.

Daugherty, renowned for his Irish wit, is one of the most widely sought public speakers from the world of intercollegiate football. He also happens to be one of the nation's most successful coaches.

After laboring anonymously as line coach under Biggie Munn at Michigan State, Daugherty was elevated to head coach when Munn became director of athletics. In his second season as head coach, he led the Spartans to a 8-1 record, the Big 10 title, the Rose Bowl championship and was later elected "Coach of the Year" by the biggest landslide vote in the history of the balloting.

His overall record in the tough Big 10 Conference is 63 wins, 34 losses and three ties. His winning percentage (.649) is second highest among active coaches in the Big 10.

Daugherty's unfailing good humor and optimism mark him as a refreshing maverick among college football coaches. Daugherty, for example, is not superstitious, but says, "It's bad luck to be behind at the end of the game."

He was born in Emeigh, Pa., in 1915. He attended Syracuse and was captain of the team in 1939. In his career at MSU, Daugherty has helped to develop 18 All-American grid stars.

Spring Football Starts With Seventy Man Squad

Coach Rick Forzano, heading for his second season, started his University of Connecticut football squad on spring drills, yesterday afternoon. Spring work is scheduled to terminate with an intra-squad game on Saturday, May 8.

Fifteen of the 20 lettermen due to return for next fall's schedule will be included in the group of 70 men slated to report.

Coach Forzano says his main objective this spring is to improve team speed and develop depth. Eight starters are gone from a year ago when Connecticut had a 4-4-1 record.

The returning lettermen are as follows:

Joe Hassett and Ron Kotin, ends; Gerry McWeeny, Tom Pope and Chuck Smith, tackles; John Trumbull, guards; John Coughlin and Joe Smey, center.

Gene Campbell, quarterback; (Con't To Pg. 7 Col. 1)
