Coffee To Begin CDC Spring Healing Program

Connecticut Daily Campus healing for the Spring semester starts Thursday evening, February 24, at 7:30 p.m., in room 208 of the Student Union with an informal coffee.

"This semester's healing program is designed to rapidly integrate the student interested in newspaper work into the operations of the Connecticut Daily Campus," commented Ira Loss, Managing Editor and Healing Director. He stressed that, "No prior experience is necessary for any of the departments."

The only requirement needed to work on the paper is at least one free hour a week. There are openings on the feature, news, sports, layout, and business staff for those whose interest lies in either reporting, layout, or writing.

Dean Hewes will be a guest of honor at the coffee and there will be an opportunity to meet with the editors of each department. An informal tour of the newsroom and an explanation of the paper's production will follow.

White House Favors Free Elections

The White House has issued a statement which stresses that the U. S. favors free elections in South Viet Nam, with everyone abiding by the results. In issuing the statement, News Secretary Bill Moyers said that apparently there is no disagreement between the Administration and Senator Robert Kennedy.

The Senator had urged on Saturday that the Viet-Cong have a place in a Saigon regime when the war ends. Moyers emphasized that any such decision would await free elections.

Vietnam Debate Deals With Policies

The Chief U. S. Delegate to the U. N., Arthur Goldberg, says it would be a great mistake for North Viet Nam and Red China to fail to comprehend what he called America's "basic unity of purpose in opposing force and aggression." Goldberg said in a speech yesterday at the University of Kentucky that the national debate on Viet Nam policy deals with how to achieve these objectives, not with the objectives themselves.

Wilson Confers With Kosygin

British Prime Minister Harold Wilson has conferred in Moscow with Soviet Premier Kosygin and other leaders. Wilson urged the Soviets to help preserve stability in the Middle East and to help end the Viet Nam war. British informants say they saw signs of some Soviet willingness, even though Kosygin's response appeared to be the standard repetition of communist demands.

Labor Will Fight With Or Without Aid

AFL-CIO President George Meany has said labor will fight on alone, if President Johnson refuses to back a substantial increase in the federal minimum wage. Meany also told a Miami Beach news conference he has information that Johnson will accept the recommendations of his economic advisers to apply administration guide-lines for holding down wage increases to the bottom of the nation's wage scale. Meany said "I don't think it squares with his war on poverty."

J. William Fulbright To Deliver Annual Brien McMahon Lecture

Senator William Fulbright, chairman of the U. S. Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, has accepted an invitation to deliver the ninth annual Brien McMahon Lecture at the University of Connecticut March 22.

Currently in the national spotlight via his Foreign Relations Committee hearings on Viet Nam policy, the Senator will deliver a public address at 8:15 p.m. in the Jorgenson Auditorium. He also is scheduled to meet informally with faculty and graduate students March 23 at 10 a.m. in the Student Union.

As a onetime Rhodes Scholar and principal architect of the Congressional act which bears his name, the 60-year-old Arkansas legislator long has had an abiding interest in higher education, in general, and international educational exchanges, in particular.

The McMahon Lecture was established by Senator William Benton in honor of his onetime Connecticut colleague in the U. S. Senate. Senator McMahon, who also was a member of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, served in the Senate with Mr. Fulbright. McMahon lecturers are chosen for their special interests in foreign affairs and atomic energy, two of the late Senator McMahon's principal concerns.

Previous lectures have been delivered by Sir John Maud, Henry Kissinger, Jans J. Morgenthau, John K. Fairbank, Adolf A. Berle, Jr., Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, Dean Acheson, and President Romulo Bettancourt of Venezuela.

Senator Fulbright, whose interest in foreign affairs covers a span of some 40 years, received his bachelor of arts and master of arts degrees from Oxford University. He also holds a bachelor of laws degree from George Washington University, where he lectured during 1935-36. The year before he was a special attorney with the U. S. Department of Justice.

Thirty years ago Senator Fulbright joined the law faculty of the University of Arkansas and three years later, at 33, became president of the University. He left the groves of academe for the U. S. House of Representatives in 1942.

Meeting For UC Literary Magazine

A literary magazine to reflect the thoughts of those who populate the campus is presently under consideration.

The first meeting of the UConn Literary Magazine will be held Thursday at 8:00 in Commons 207. All students who are interested in writing for the magazine or joining the staff should attend.

Poems, essays, and short stories by undergraduates, graduates, or faculty who are interested in contributing are welcome. The deadline for the first edition is March 31. Mr. Scully of the English Department will be the advisor.

As a young Congressman he served on the Foreign Affairs Committee until he was elected to the Senate in 1945. Nine years later he served as a member of the U. S. Delegation to the United Nation's General Assembly.

During his two decades in the Senate, he has held a number of important committee assignments. From 1955-59, he was chairman of the Banking and Currency Committee. He became chairman of foreign relations seven years ago and still sits on the Finance and the Joint Economic Committees.

Senator Fulbright became a Fellow of Pembroke College, Oxford, in 1949, and a Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences in 1950. He received the award of the National Institute of Arts and Letters in 1954 and holds a number of honorary doctorates, including one from Oxford issued in 1953.

His present focus on the Viet Nam controversy may have been presaged two years ago when he issued a statement challenging the United States "to shed her old foreign policy myths in the face of new world realities."

Burr Announces Movement Of Fallout Shelter Supplies

The material required to stock the University's numerous fallout shelters will be moved from distant depots in New Jersey and Thompsonville to central warehousing on campus March 1. Walter Burr, University director of Civil Defense announced today.

In making the announcement Mr. Burr stressed the fact that the shift is due to the abandonment of the Thompsonville depot (where much of the University's civil defense supplies and equipment have been stored) and not to any change in the global situation.

The material, which includes radiological monitoring devices, emergency food rations and medical supplies, will be distributed to the various University shelters from the new campus storage point only in the event of an emergency.

Mr. Burr observed that there are today on campus some 9,200 shelters spaces - sufficient to accommodate the student population and most of the remainder of the University community.

These shelters are located principally in residence halls and are intended only to afford protection against radiation. They are designated in most cases by signs fixed to the exterior of buildings and markings within the buildings.

Mr. Burr noted that in recent months several signs have been removed or defaced. He suggested this kind of vandalism is potentially dangerous. Without the markings, students would have difficulty locating their shelters in an emergency.

"I would like to stress the importance of keeping these shelter areas properly marked. It can mean the difference between life and death. They are the only valid devices for leading you to your shelters," he cautioned.

The Civil Defense director also observed that in the next week or two a new directive will be posted on all campus bulletin boards. The directive will describe the alert and take-cover signals and offer instructions on how members of the University community should respond when these signals are sounded.

Senior Week Entertainers Announced

Activities for Senior Week will be held June 8 and 9 at the Ocean View Hotel on Block Island. Entertainment will consist of the Bitter End Singers, a Boat Ride, Dancing, and a Ball and Buffet. Also on the agenda is DOM & L "On the Beach."

Breakage fee of $15 plus $5 extra to reserve a place at the hotel can be left at the Student Union Lobby anytime from 9:00 to 4:00 the week of February 28. The total expected fee is $32. Friends also want to be located near each other must sign up together. It is important to sign up as soon as possible as there is a limited capacity. Further information can be obtained at the booth in the Union Lobby.

Chairmen for this year's Senior Week are Arlene Reiss and Jerry Rose, who in a previous statement said that "This year's Senior Week will be different from any in the past." Sub-committee chairmen are Doug Kenney, Entertainment; Karen Johnson, Location; Toni Bellisario, Publicity; and Doug Drayton, Finance.

Today

Class of '66 Restaurant Poll will continue in the Student Union until Friday, Feb. 25.

ASCE

"Modern Methods in Concrete Construction" will be presented to the UConn student chapter of ASCE tonight at 7, in Engineering I 207. Guest speakers will be Richard A. Hansen and Glen J. Mirtl. "Concrete Slip-Forming" and "Tilt-Up Construction" will be their respective topics.

Master Lesson

Robert Cohan will present a Master Lesson in Graham Technique tonight during two classes in the Hawley Armory Gymnasium. Beginners in modern dance should plan to attend at 6:30 p.m. A class for Orchestral members and experienced modern dancers will be held from 7:30 to 9. Admission to one of the classes will be $2.00.

Vietnam Dissent

Since the CDC at one time came out in favor of the Administration's policy in Viet Nam, it is perhaps necessary to offer a minority view with a touch of speculative prophecy.

Since the United States has no legal basis for being in Viet Nam as we are supporting no signed treaty, and since the United States has no moral commitment in Viet Nam as witnessed by indiscriminate bombings and support of Diem's dictator state, some of us question our alleged commitment.

A question should arise in each of our minds as to why we really are waging this war against an enemy we dare not beat. Perhaps Vietnam is not the issue at all. Perhaps we are after much larger stakes. Military sources have speculated that we could set Red China back approximately forty years by two days of swift and well-placed nuclear bombings. And how appropriate these bombings would be if China decided to enter the Vietnamese "conflict." Such an entrance would provide the United States with a "reasonable" excuse to sacrifice millions of human lives for the sake of democracy.

Of course, President Johnson has not come out and stated this as our reason for being in the war, nor is it likely that he is going to do so. However, it does make for interesting speculation. And what if our prophecy is correct? What would it mean for the United States in terms of its relations with the rest of the world? Quite simply we would become the most omnipotent threat to peace on the globe and quite rightfully we would become the object of distrust and censure.

It should be obvious that we do not wish peace in Viet Nam. The humorous attempt at peace negotiations not long ago brought no fruit since just about everyone was contacted except the Viet Cong and its representatives. During the negotiations the bombings were halted, which was to some extent a wise move, but we notice (and no doubt the Viet Cong also noticed) that defense production did not slow down and the draft nearly doubled. Were we really serious about our peace moves? Permit a bit of skepticism.

And now we are building our defense machine more and more. Estimates of 1,000,000 men in Viet Nam by next year are common. General Hershey has announced that the draft may soon triple. Many of us will not return to school next September and many of us may lose our lives. Do we seek peace in Viet Nam? Do we really need all of this muscle to take care of the Viet Cong? Or do we have our "Eye of Democracy" on larger stakes. Is the land of liberty contemplating a massive genocide unlike anything hitherto known to man? Is it possible that the Christian country would be willing to massacre millions of innocent peasants?

It has already been stated that we are killing four North Vietnamese peasants to everyone Viet Cong, while crying that the Viet Cong is heedlessly slaughtering thousands. Perhaps we ought not to cast the first stone. However, perhaps the Pentagon has enjoyed the first casual sips of innocently spilled blood and would like to quaff a larger cup - a great Red cup of irradiated peasants. But we suppose that if there is only one nation under God that this is all right.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Hartford Tutorial

To the Editor:

Yesterday's CDC contained an article by F. Richard Marracino about the need for more UConn students in the Hartford Tutorial Project. Unfortunately, the most vital part of Mr. Marracino's article was omitted from the final version appearing on page three. The CDC neglected to mention that further information about the Tutorial Project is available from Judy Steinhardt who may be reached at Holcomb Hall.

The importance of the Tutorial Project cannot be overemphasized. The children being tutored are residents of Bellview Square, a large Negro slum in the North End of Hartford. They are unable to obtain outside help from any other source and many of them have a home life which does not lend itself to effective study. Arsenal Elementary school, where most of these children attend classes during the week, is both understaffed and short of books. As a result, a number of these children are below grade level in reading and arithmetic. If these children are to be helped, they must be reached now - at an early age - while they still have a strong desire to learn. That is exactly what Hartford Tutorial is attempting to do.

Each volunteer is assigned to tutor a single child. The same two work together week after week, establishing a social as well as academic relationship. Under this set-up a child's specific needs can be met. At the present time, there is a waiting list with the names of 230 children who desire tutors. Your help would be appreciated.

Students who would like to join the program are asked to meet at the parking lot of the University Administration Building at 5:30 p.m. Thursday. It is preferable for new volunteers to contact a member of the Steering Committee before attending their first session.

Editorial

To the Editor:

Your editorial on Marijuana was the first respectable one this year. Hopefully the CDC is muting positively. In this editorial the administration was not parroted verbatim as to that of which morality consists. There was some thought before any words were splattered on the page. This is especially welcome considering that the administration was so cooperative with the State Police in its inquisition.

Elliot Toubman

Clamping Down

To the Editor:

In order to keep our dorm respectable, we have a special core of dedicated, mature, intelligent young women, who, on their own time, and without monetary compensation, unselfishly devote their energies to providing the residents of MacMahon with an important service. The Judicial Board (J.D.) is faced with the full time job of keeping sexually deviant behavior at a minimum in our lounge.

The most popular technique utilized by the board members is the "Lounge Patrol" - an effective means of catching the sexual perverts in the act. The multitude of oversexed, passionate college students who infest our lounge don't stand a chance. We are indebted to our J. D. board for its untiring efforts aimed at ending the large scale public indecencies which pain the sensitive eye of the onlooker (including Dr. Babbidge, whose reaction and comment on this matter was very disappointing to me - and not at all in keeping with his usually progressive image.)

Should the reader fear that this elite corps might, given the size of their task, shirk their responsibilities, let him rest assured. For in line with their mature handling of the situation, the J.D. board would not think of limiting their activities to habitual offenders. A word notifying such people that their conduct is becoming offensive might be sufficient, BUT wouldn't this amount to a superficial handling of severe misconduct? We are fortunate in knowing that the board members will nab the hand-holder now, BEFORE he and his kind become hardened sexual deviants. We can also feel secure knowing that all aberrant conduct is noted, duly recorded, and later used at the hearing.

One example will suffice to demonstrate why praise and especially recognition are due our seldom noticed but vital J.D. board. They render an essential service to the UConn campus in their unending efforts to maintain at least a semblance of morality in our decadent lounges.

Recently, a particularly offensive individual was finally nabbed. She was caught and subsequently charged with "extended and repeated kissing" - (approximately ten 1-5 second kisses in a three hour span). Also carefully noted in the record was the fact that at one time the girl had her head on the boy's chest - how brazen can one be! Her sentence (loss of three days lounge privileges) was especially light in view of the severity of her offense.

GUEST EDITORIAL

Two Sergeants

Two men from the United States Special Forces have made big news recently, Maj. Sgt. Donald Duncan and Staff Sgt. Barry Sadler.

Duncan, just discharged, has many credentials of a military hero and was the soldier selected last July to brief Defense Secy. Robert McNamara on Special Forces Operations. But he has ironically made news by publishing an article in the February Ramparts magazine, charging that American servicemen are dying in Vietnam for "a lie."

DUNCAN'S ARTICLE contends the war is basically an indigenous rebellion, that the attitude of our own white soldiers toward both their own Negro compatriots and the personnel of the Army of the Republic of Vietnam is characteristically racist, that the use of air power is strategically ineffective and that the segment of the population we are supporting is self-serving.

Generals William P. Yarborough and Joseph Stilwell Jr. have replied to the article, as has the Defense Dept. Stilwell and the Defense Dept. have concentrated on a brief passage describing the teaching of torture methods in Special Forces school - which they, of course, deny. In context, Sgt. Duncan explains there was a subtle suggestion that the torture tactics studied might be used in extenuating circumstances in the field.

Gen. Yarborough's reaction to the article was shock at the "distortions, misstatements and disclosure of sensitive information" (emphasis added).

While individual reactions will vary, we urge Daily readers to digest this article - along with the amount of salt each wishes to take. The challenges posed by Duncan warrant more than blanket denials from those at whom they are directed.

THE SECOND SERGEANT in the news is still serving active duty, although for Sadler active duty means strumming the guitar and singing poor songs. Sadler's "Ballad of the Green Berets" is a smash hit and has sold 700,000 copies. This is regrettable, for the lyrics are the kind of glorification of militarism Paul Goodman writes about on today's page.

Marshall Graney, a research assistant for the University's Family Studies Center, himself a veteran of six years in the armed services, is circulating a petition asking local radio stations not to play the song.

While we do not advocate banning the distasteful ballad from the air as long as there are listeners who truly enjoy it we cannot help but view it as the sort of commercial propaganda that always arises in time of war. (Minnesota Daily)

Theatre Conference Announces Play Contest

In an attempt to encourage the writing of new plays, and to assist members of The New England Theatre Conference in the production of new plays, the New Scripts Committee of the Conference is sponsoring a contest for original, unproduced and unpublished one-act plays.

The best three plays will be awarded cash prizes of $25.00 each, and will be given script-in-hand performances by leading community and educational theatre groups at a "Showcase" performance. Comments on the award-winning plays presented at the "Showcase" will be made by a leading New England drama critic. Members of the audience will be invited to submit written comments to the playwrights after each performance.

The playwright must observe the following rules in submitting manuscripts to the contest:

I. Three typewritten manuscripts of each play must be submitted. Manuscripts must be firmly bound.

II. More than one new play may be submitted by each eligible playwright.

III. Manuscripts should be typewritten according to the format used for professional play manuscripts (See "A Primer of Playwriting" by Kenneth MacGowan, a Dolphin Handbook, #C365, or any other book on playwriting.).

IV. A one-paragraph synopsis of the plot and a cast list must accompany each manuscript.

V. If the playwright wishes the manuscript returned, a self-addressed, stamped return envelope should accompany the manuscript. (Although every care will be taken of the manuscripts submitted, the New Scripts Committee will not assume responsibility for their loss, damage or return.)

VI. The deadline for submission of plays is June 15, 1966.

VII. Mail manuscripts to the Chairman of the New Scripts Committee:

Frosh Icemen Go For 12th Win Today

The University of Connecticut freshman hockey team will be seeking its twelfth win of the season against only two defeats, when they oppose Longmeadow High School, (Longmeadow, Mass.) today at 4:00 p.m.

The game will be played at the UConn skating rink and there is no admission charge.

The next game for the freshman will be against AIC, here at Storrs, also at 4:00 p.m.

Frosh Mermen Undeclared; At Home Today

The University of Connecticut freshmen swim team continued in its bid for an undefeated season by overwhelming the University of Vermont Frosh 68-27.

Glen Partelow was a double winner, taking first place in the 200 yard and 400 yard freestyle. In addition, both relays were won by the speedy UConn team as well as first place finishes in the 50 yard freestyle, the diving, the 100 yard freestyle and the 100 yard breaststroke.

This afternoon, the Husky Frosh will put their unblemished record on the line against always tough Williston Academy. This promises to be the toughest meet of the year and will get underway at 3:30 at Brundage Pool.

Sport Short

It is going to cost the Los Angeles Dodgers plenty of money to get the signatures of pitchers Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale this year, according to a copyrighted story in today's Los Angeles Examiner.

The newspapers say both want three-year contracts with Koufax to receive $600,000 and Drysdale $450,000 for the length of the contract.

The newspaper also says short-stop Maury Wills also is demanding a salary in line with the money given to Koufax and Drysdale.

General Manager Buzzie Bavasi admits they are asking for a lot of money but says the figures quoted by the newspaper are news to him.

Right From The Lip

by Charlie Lipson

This past weekend has brought about some interesting developments on the UConn sports scene. Most of these were not publicized and it only seems right to keep the UConn students informed.

1. Rick Forzano's chief assistant is no longer going to be with us. As a matter of fact, Lou Holtz has taken a job at South Carolina as an assistant coach, reports an undisclosed source out of Meridan, Connecticut.

2. Rhode Island officials report that the Rhode Island-Connecticut game will be on television, Channel 10. Connecticut officials report that Channel 8 will supply the facilities and also televise the game.

3. The girls at Beard B, headed by Judy Graves, are looking to organize a women's wrestling team. They figure that in a couple of weeks practice they should be capable of taking on the varsity.

4. Coach Panciera hopes to give the UConn students their only big winner of the year with the 1966 edition of the Husky baseball nine. Baseball, actually, is the only sport in the Yankee Conference that competes regularly with big time sports schools across the nation. (UConn wound up fifth in the nation last year.)

5. A quote from sports ID Joe Soltys. "The job of athletic director should seek the man rather than have the man seek the job." Rumor has it that a top man in the UConn alumni is now first in line for the job.

Other comments about campus:

1. Rhode Island takes their independent games more seriously. They have been more consistent as well as able to beat some big name schools. Even if we (UConn) beat them out for the conference championships they should get the bid to the NCAA. They would probably go further. (Note: Rhode Island has beaten Wyoming, Fordham, Holy Cross and Providence.)

2. Saturday afternoon games might become popular on campus. The crowd spirit was good as well as the fact that it will give the UConn males more time with their dates on Saturday night. Also, newspapers across the nation gave us better coverage as the reports were sent well before their deadlines.

Wes Blalosuknia is closing in on the three year scoring record. Thus far he has 921 points. He needs 441 points to break the mark, set by Toby Kimball.

Sullivan Sets Two Pool Marks As Swimmers Defeat UVM 55-40

by Dave Flora

The University of Connecticut varsity swim team defeated the University of Vermont 55-40 before a near capacity crowd at Brundage Pool.

UConn speedster Dan Sullivan continued to establish new records as he lowered the Connecticut varsity record in the 100 yard freestyle to 49.1 seconds, and the 50 yard freestyle record to 22.7 seconds.

The meet was well under control throughout most of the afternoon, although Vermont did manage to jump out to a 7-0 lead by coping the 400 yard Medley Relay. Their winning time of 4:05.7 was just enough to beat out the strong finishing Huskie team of Kellers, Mariano, Marshall and Gustavson. In the second event, the 200 yard freestyle, UConn tied the score with a one-two finish. Bob Holster's winning time was 1:56.0 and Howie Larson was about a second behind.

The 50 yard freestyle was another one - two sweep for UConn, with Dan Sullivan setting a new varsity record of 22.7 in a winning effort. Chet Crabtree finished a strong second, while Vermont's Czisler finished third. In the 200 yard Individual Medley, Greg Siler won handily, splashing home in 2:23.9. Vermont took second and third in that event and going into the diving events, the score stood at 21-13.

Pete Derrig turned in his usual fine performance on the one meter board, beating out his closest competitor by 30 points. His total for the six dives was 184.6.

Vermont managed to take a first and third in the 200 yard Butterfly, while John Marshall placed second. The winning time was 2:28.7. At this point, UConn led in the meet 29-23.

Any hopes for a Vermont surge were killed by Dan Sullivan's record setting pace in the 100 yard freestyle. His winning time of 49.1 seconds equalled his record set in a 20 yard pool at Springfield College last week. UConn's Frehm took third place.

The 200 yard backstroke widened the Huskie margin further as Kellers and Renuado took first and third respectively. Kellers' winning time was 2:20.9. The 500 yard freestyle was won by Howie Larson in 5:52.9 with Pete Larratt finishing third. Greg Siler then won his second event of the afternoon, finishing the 200 yard breaststroke in 2:34.9. John Mariano was just a half second behind.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CONNECTICUT swim coach John Squires is shown timing ace freestyler Dan Sullivan in a recent team workout at the Brundage pool. Sullivan has been spectacular all year and recently set two records in a meet with Vermont.

Huskies Face Rutgers Test

The finest basketball team in Rutgers history will provide the opposition for Connecticut, at New Brunswick, N.J., tonight at 8.

Connecticut, entertaining hopes of beating out Rhode Island in the Yankee Conference race, enters the game with a 12-7 overall record. The Huskies are 7-1 in the Conference, behind Rhody's 8-0.

Wes Bialosuknia continues to lead the Huskies in scoring with a 21.6 average while Tommy Penders, who enjoyed his best shooting game from the floor at Connecticut last Saturday, has boosted his average to 9.6. Bill Corley has a 13.8 point average and 13.7 rebounds while Capt. Dan Hesford is 6.7 and Bob Steinberg is 7.3.

Tournament-minded Rutgers boasts of a 14-6 record and five straight wins.

Leading the Scarlet Knights to their best record in the school's history are three juniors, a senior and a sophomore.

Six - one junior sharpshooter Bobby Lloyd of Rutgers, leads the nation in free throw percentage with 92.4 per cent and he is 20th in scoring on a 25.2 average. His misses at the free throw line are rare and he ran one string to 43 straight before going off the mark.

Adding scoring power to the back court is 6-0 junior Jim Valvano (16.4); while 6-4 senior Phil Robinson has a 12.5 average, 6-6 soph Rick Harley is 8.1 and 6-5 junior center Doug Clark is 6.7.

Radio Stations WTIC and WHUS will broadcast the action of the game which lists an 8 p.m. tip-off.
