two students suspended in weapons incident

By THOMAS C. JACKSON

Two University of Connecticut students have been suspended and removed from University housing for allegedly violating a UConn regulation prohibiting the use or possession of "dangerous weapons". This action followed an incident last Monday night in the North Campus area.

"The Office of Student Affairs," a University spokesman said, "has confirmed that two students have been involved in a series of violations of the University policy concerning the possession of dangerous weapons on campus and have been suspended."

"These suspensions," he continued, "will be enforced pending the final adjudication of each case on its own merits."

Contacted by The Campus last night, Associate Dean of Students John J. Manning refused to make any further comment on this matter, saying that "University policy in these matters prohibits any comments which might lead to the identification of the students involved."

Manning also refused to delineate the nature of the alleged offense, or to disclose any detailed information which could lead to identification of the students involved in the incident.

He did say, however, that in cases in which students have been suspended from UConn, they are also removed from University Housing, "within a reasonable time."

Since there are several appeal procedures available to the suspended students, Manning also said that he was unable to give a set date by which the final adjudication of these cases would be reached.

A reliable source told The Campus last night that the two students were allegedly shooting at exterior lights in the North Campus area late Monday night from their dorm rooms.

"As far as I know," he continued, "it came to the attention of University officials that two students had been firing 22 caliber rifles out of the windows in their dorms."

"Apparently, they were trying to shoot out the lights on the outside of the buildings," he said.

"If they had missed," he explained, "the shots would have gone right into student rooms."

"Tuesday night, Deans Manning and Neilson went to the dorm in question and talked with the students whom they thought were involved in this incident," he added.

"The students surrendered their guns and admitted to having fired at the lights. Now," he concluded, "these students have been suspended and are working through appeals procedures."

demonstrators are arrested at IRS headquarters

WASHINGTON - UPI - Police arrested 205 antiwar protesters blocking the entrance to Selective Service headquarters Wednesday, and 10 blocks away demonstrators served Internal Revenue service employees with pies, lemonade and "don't pay war taxes" appeals.

About 50 District of Columbia policemen moved in at 7:40 a.m. to haul away demonstrators who had spent the chilly, rainy night camped outside the main doors of national draft headquarters, singing songs by the light of hand-held candles.

Joined at dawn by other protestors, they lay face down as symbols of Vietnam War dead, forcing Selective Service employees arriving early for work to walk over them.

The demonstrators went limp or walked peacefully with police to waiting buses. Most of them were booked on charges of disorderly conduct or blocking an entrance after they ignored two police warnings to disperse. Seventeen who scuffled with police and building guards at a rear entrance were charged with unlawful entry.

By 9 a.m. only two mothers and their infant children were left at the main entrance, huddling under blankets and a bright green umbrella and surrounded by diaper bags and cans of baby food. They flashed two-fingered "V" signs for peace at passing employees.

The women were identified as Mrs. Cleo Ackerman of Philadelphia and Mrs. Carolyn Wentworth of Auburn, Ga. Police Chief Jerry V. Wilson said they were not bothering anyone and ordered them left alone.

At Internal Revenue Service headquarters 10 blocks away on Pennsylvania Avenue, a growing number of demonstrators paraded outside with signs reading "Pay for Peace-Not War" and "People Before Property." One sign showed a tax dollar pie with 63.7 cents going for war, 18.3 cents for health, education and welfare, and 18 cents for "other."

During the noon lunch hour, as skies began to clear, the protestors offered pies and lemonade to IRS employees, and handed out antiwar leaflets. One IRS worker, Bruce Pitt, 24, who said he had joined last Saturday's mass peace march and rally at capitol hill, came out with cups of coffee for the demonstrators.

At midday, five of the protestors were admitted inside to confer with IRS Commissioner Randolph W. Thrower.

changes adopted in tenure system by faculty senate

As a result of action at the Faculty Senate meeting Monday, new procedures for granting tenure, promotion and reappointment will be instituted here on a two-year trial basis.

Among the recommendations contained in the Faculty Standards Committee report is one which will allow students to serve on department tenure committees at the discretion of the department, according to David Ivry, chairman of the Standards Committee.

The changes do not affect the criteria for tenure or promotion, but only the review system and grievance procedures.

In addition to "encouraging" the solicitation of student opinion, the report recommends changes in two major areas.

Currently, faculty members being considered for tenure, promotion or reappointment are reviewed by a tenure committee including members of their department, the department head, and the Provost before the President of the University and the Board of Trustees take final action on the committee's recommendations.

The new procedures will require that each faculty member being reviewed be given a written report of the recommendation made by each review level.

The new procedures will also allow the faculty member to start an appeal at any level of the review system. Now he has to wait until final action has been taken by the Board of Trustees.

Debate on the report lasted nearly six hours, and spanned three meetings. During the debate more than two dozen amendments were considered.

The Board of Trustees will now be informed of the changes, but it is not expected to take any action on them, as they are only an experiment and do not mark any changes in the by-laws of the University.

The final vote in the Senate was 46 in favor of the changes, one against and four abstentions.

the joy of owning

an automobile

One of the great advantages of owning a car is that you have the pleasure of paying enormous, out of proportion fees for repair work.

Garages have a ready made market in Americans mechanical ignorance. Americans love cars, they love big cars with plush interiors, instrument panels that look like airplanes and big engines with an excess of power. They also love little cars that promise economy but crumple like tin cans when hit. They are in love with automobiles, except that the average person has no more idea of how to take care of a car other than wash it, fill it with gas and occasionally put in a quart of oil. Americans are in awe of the beauty that Detroit has created for them, but are totally ignorant of how the damn things work.

Gas stations are not ignorant, however. They will tune up your car for twenty dollars, making money on the parts which cost them no more than five to seven dollars and charging the rest for no more than a half hour to forty five minutes labor. Brake jobs, fuel pumps, various adjustments, minor repairs, all make money on parts and excessive labor rates.

There are several choices open to the consumer to combat garage prices. You can find a cheap garage, (there are several in the area although they are hard to find), you can form an organized car owners group and see if some sort of fair garage rates can be arranged or you can learn some simple auto mechanics. The last suggestion can be accomplished with common sense, a small investment in tools and engine manuals and possibly some help from a friend with experience.

There are things you can do about the cost of auto repairs rather than calling a garage and footing an outrageous bill every time the car won't start.

letters to the editor

renaissance of the jewish people

To the editor:

Since the Six Day War, American campuses have seen a tremendous upsurge in the activities of Jewish Liberation groups. Old ideologies are being questioned and new approaches to the centuries-old quest of the Jews for personal and political liberation are being tried. Campus Hebrew communes, study sessions on Jewish history and culture and radical religious services have been put into effect. Young Jews have demonstrated a renewed awareness of the focal importance of the State of Israel in their lives and a determination to realize themselves as Jews. Over forty underground Jewish newspapers and a vastly increased immigration of American Jewish students to Israel testify to this trend.

At the University of Connecticut, The Shalom Group has played its part in this renaissance of the Jewish people. Since its inception in October, 1969, the group has grown in strength until it now constitutes one of the largest political and cultural organizations on this campus, with well over 100 active members. Seeking to spur renewed Jewish identity, the group has sponsored speakers, films and cultural entertainments with remarkable success. The latest of these efforts is Jewish Cultural Week, which seeks to interpret Jewish life in the twentieth century to the campus community.

i would like to make it quite clear

To the Editor;

This is an open letter to the Student Senate. Dear Student Senators;

As in the past by your vote to allocate funds to the SDS, you have again proven unworthy and incapable of representing the student population at UConn. By your actions in allocating up to $1500.00 for up to six buses to travel to Washington D.C. you are again representing only a small minority of students.

It is my opinion that the Student Senate should be more concerned with student government and how you can benefit the student population than you are in Federal Government. It has become quite clear to me in the past year that the Senate feels that students are incapable of forming their own opinions on political issues. You feel you must voice your own political beliefs in the form of motions and resolutions and the student population which you think you represent is suppose to abide by them. Perhaps this is one of the benefits you think you earned by being elected to office, but at the risk of shocking you, may I inform you that this isn't why you were elected.

I would like to make it quite clear that I would like to see total peace in the world as would most of the demonstrators attending the rally in Washington D.C. My objection to the Student Senate allocation is based on my belief that a demonstration such as this isn't the answer to obtaining peace, but rather an incentive for North Vietnam to continue fighting. I also object to the fact that a handful of Senators are using the Senate as a soapbox to express their own political ideas and back them up with student money.

As of yet I am unable to convince myself of the fact that all of the demonstrators truly believe in their cause. If they did, the number of buses from UConn wouldn't have had to be increased when the Senate announced they would pay half of the bill. Surely they don't think a "sacrifice" of an extra $8.00 is a high price to pay for PEACE.

It is my sincere hope that you will take a close look at the purposes and duties of the Senate in the near future and will abide by them. I for one am becoming quite disgusted with the misuse of power and funds which you are will known for and sincerely hope it will be stopped.

Very truly yours,

David L. Smith

P.S. If you don't change your ways I would like you to know that I for one do not wish to be told who to vote for in '72 by the Student Senate. Thank you anyway.

bugged by the local bughaus

To the Editor:

Local "bug" owners unite . . . or the new Storrs "BUGHAUS" will get you! Last Saturday, my husband, Bob Schoepfle and I decided to bug out of Storrs to make the scene in Cambridge, Mass. and Boston. In the interests of ecology and 30 miles to the gallon, we decided to take my 1965 ever-faithful "Bitsy Beetle-Bug". Once in Bitsy, we discovered that she had a broken speedometer cable. Making a snap decision, we stopped at the new "BUGHAUS" (on Route #195 just beyond 4 Corners) for what we estimated would be a speedy and inexpensive 10 minute repair job.

10 minutes later, "Bitsy Beetle-Bug" was all repaired and ready to take us off to the big city . . . BUT to our total disgust we found that the "BUGHAUS" had ripped us off for our minor repair to the tune of $11.15! Asking for an explanation, the "BUGHAUS" said that they charged us $2.90 for the new speedometer cable (a fair charge) BUT that they charged for labor at the flat book rate, in this case $8.00 for 8/10ths of an hours work.

When we asked WHY we were charged for 48 minutes of labor for a 10 minute job, we were told that that's the way the "BUGHAUS" does it. It's called the "STORRS WAY."

Undoubtedly, the "BUGHAUS" will continue its unfair labor charging practice of charging bug-owners full flat rate labor rates irrespective of actual repair time (which is often less than the flat book rate) UNLESS:

- 1) local VW bug-owners boycott the "BUGHAUS" and take their business elsewhere . . . or
- 2) organize to get the "BUGHAUS" to charge fairly for the labor involved in a repair job.

Nader Raider types who own VW's, let's get our bugs together! If you qualify and are interested, ring us up at home. 429-3593.

Sincerely, one who has been bugged by the local "BUGHAUS"

could have breezed along

To the Editor:

As a fourth semester student, I have just been informed that in the fall I will be starting a whole new cumulative system. This would not bother me so much except for the fact that when I entered in 1969, I became acquainted with students a year ahead of me who were informed that their QPR was cumulative from the first semester onward.

Being a 34 student, it maddens me to think I could have breezed along by just passing everything since in the fall, it doesn't make any difference what my past grades are. So fellow students, don't make fools of yourself like I did.

Thanks UConn,
Linda Rosinsky

pollution solution

Dear PS,

Do other countries suffer from the same roadside "foliage" which we have in the U.S.? I am referring to the multi-colored cans, trash, and litter which "grows" along our roads. Is this found in other countries of the world or is it as American as apple-pie and throw-away bottles?

Dear Road Tripper,

PS suspects that in countries where litter is a problem as opposed to general poverty, U.S. litterers are the worst offenders. If anyone (travelers, foreign students) has more information, please contact PS.

18-year-old vote

brewster sees 'ballot bomb'

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. - UPI-Enfranchisement of 18 to 21 year olds has created a "ballot bomb" which may change the style of American politics, Yale University President Kingman Brewster contended here Wednesday.

"I think it will have an explosive power far in excess of the numbers of those recently brought into the franchise", Brewster said in a text prepared for the annual Well Lecture at the University of North Carolina.

"The voters between the ages of 18 and 25 are a large enough group so that few politicians in the future will be able to afford the luxury of ignoring them" he said. "After 10 years in the central administration of a major university, I can assure you that it is an understatement to call this effort to appeal to the students a challenge...

"When the scope of appeal is political, however - especially on a national scale - the challenge, to put it mildly, is compounded.

"The accepted prowess and style of politics may have to give a little," Brewster said.

The Yale president said "the most fundamental challenge to the political process posed by the new student-age voter, however, is not in the area of the technique of the politician's appeal.

"It lies, rather, in the fact that the young voter in general, the student voter in particular, cannot be appealed to primarily in terms of short-term self interest."

He said, "this difficulty of appealing to the student-age vote on any basis narrower than a comprehensive view of the public interest seems to me the most exciting, and perhaps to the politician, the most terrifying potential of the lowered voting age.

"This is not because I have any romantic notion that students have a truer vision of the public interest than their elders do. It's just that they are not old enough, they are not vested enough in their career choices to be as likely as we are to confuse the public interest with their private interest."

Empty Cradles in the Old Corral

Unemployment stalks the campus. Students search frantically for any kind of part-time work, but there is no work. In fact, if things don't get better soon, many students may be forced into baby-sitting. I hear you cry, "No! No!" But alas, my friends, desperate times require desperate remedies. So if baby-sit we must, let us at least do it scientifically.

To begin with, be sure you have the right equipment for the job. You will need three things: an ordinary kitchen chair, a whip, and a pistol loaded with blank cartridges.

It is essential to dominate the baby from the very start. Never show fear; they can smell it. Walk into the nursery boldly with your head thrown back, singing a lusty song—La Marseillaise, perhaps, or A Boy Named Sue. Stomp around the room several times. Crack your whip. Fire your pistol. Keep it up till the baby knows you mean business.

But terror, though necessary, is not enough. To get the best results out of a baby, you must also make it love and trust you. This, however, cannot be accomplished by firing your pistol, not even close to the baby's ear. A new tactic is required: you must give it some food.

The baby's habitual diet is a viscous white fluid called "formula." This should be served at the temperature of your wrist. In the event you can't find the baby's formula, let it suck your wrist. It will never know the difference, for the baby is basically an organism of dim intelligence, though not without a certain peasant cunning.

After the baby has ingested the formula or sucked your wrist for thirty minutes or so it grows stuporous and is ready to go to sleep—the very thing you've been waiting for. You can hasten this desirable condition by singing a lullaby. If you don't know any lullabies, make one up. This is really quite simple. In a lullaby the words are unimportant since the baby, basically an organism of dim intelligence as we have seen, does not understand them anyhow. It is the sound which matters in a lullaby, so use any old thing that comes into your head, just so it rhymes. For example, I have always had excellent luck with this one:

Go to sleep, my little infant,
Googoo, moomoo, poopoo, binfant.

Next, arrange the baby in the position for slumber. A baby sleeps best on its stomach but, owing to its dim intelligence, it will keep turning itself over if not prevented. Therefore, to insure that it remains prone, it is wise to place a soft, heavy object on its back—another baby, if possible.

Once the baby is asleep, remove your wrist from its mouth and tiptoe softly from the room, closing the door tightly behind you so you will not be disturbed by its crying. Then turn on the television, go to the refrigerator and reward yourself for a job well done. Reward yourself how? Surely you know... with Miller High Life Beer, of course!

That is how honest workers like you have been rewarding themselves for over 115 years. And no wonder! What better reward than Miller's amber liveliness? What higher bounty than Miller's lively amberness? What pleasanter premium than Miller's breath-taking, joy-making, soul-waking flavor? What welcome bonus than that this Miller, this best of all possible beers, this jewel of the brewmaster's art, should be available both in beautiful bottles of clear glass and in cans which are equally winsome, though opaque?

So sit back and enjoy the Miller you have so richly earned. And remember this when it comes to baby-sitting: a good big man can always lick a good little one.

We, the brewers of Miller High Life Beer, who bring you this column through the school year, frankly take a dim view of Max Shulman's advice on baby-sitting. We do, however, find him extraordinarily sound in the matter of beer.

With the aid of diagrams and cue cards, John Barth gave an amusing reading of his novella, "Perseid" to about 350 students and faculty in Jorgensen auditorium last night. Barth is the author of such well-known books as "The Floating Opera", "End of the Road", and "The Sot Weed Factor".

What you should know about diamonds when you know it's for keeps

You've dreamed about your diamond engagement ring a thousand times. But now that you know it's for keeps, it's time to stop dreaming and start learning about diamonds and their value.

Because no two diamonds are exactly alike, jewelers have adopted exacting standards to determine the relative value of each and every diamond in the world. These standards include a diamond's size (carat weight), color, cut and clarity.

COLOR: Fine white diamonds are quite rare and valued accordingly. Other shades in relative order of their worth are: blue, yellow, brown and black.

CUT: The cut of a diamond—the facets placed on it by a trained cutter—brings out the gem's fire and brilliance. Anything less than correct cut reduces beauty, brilliance and value.

CLARITY: Determined by the absence of small impurities. A perfect diamond has no impurities when examined under ten power magnification by a trained eye.

CARAT: A diamond's size is measured in carats. As a diamond increases in size, its price will increase even more if the quality remains constant. But larger diamonds of inferior quality may actually be worth less than smaller, perfect diamonds.

Although it's important to know the facts about diamonds, you certainly don't have to be an expert to choose a Keepsake Diamond Ring . . . because Keepsake guarantees a diamond of fine white color, correct cut and perfect clarity or replacement assured. The famous Keepsake certificate provides permanent registration, trade-in value and protection against loss of diamonds from the setting.

devine urges new policies

'business better than usual'

By MARK FISHER

The 37th session of the UConn Student Senate voted some $1,800 in appropriations to student groups last night during a three-hour meeting in the Student Union United Nations room.

Newly elected ASG President Paul Devine presented his "State of the Government" address as the first order of business at the meeting.

"The student government has, in the past, demonstrated a fascination with its own government and procedures which has bordered on the auto-erotic," Devine charged.

Devine explained that his speech was an attempt to cover in a "brief fashion" the state of the ASG, and promised not to "suggest more than could reasonably be achieved."

Among the points which he discussed were a proposal to initiate an ASG Constitutional Convention and a finalization of the Senate's finance committee policy. Devine also suggested the establishment of a "cabinet system" and called for the creation of "better channels of communication between the ASG, the students and the Connecticut Daily Campus."

In conclusion, Devine urged the Senate to adopt a "business better than usual" approach to student self-government. The

"folly of last spring," he said, "is not to be repeated."

Following the president's address, appointments to several ASG committees were announced and approved by the Senate. Moving into the finance committee report, The Senate allocated $1,200 to the University of Connecticut Concert Choir to help cover expenses for its scheduled trip to Europe this summer.

Earlier, the Finance Committee had killed a request from prioration of $2000. The Choir's request, however, was brought out onto the floor of the Senate, and the $1200 allotment was made after over an hour of legislative conflict.

Later in the meeting, the Senate also approved a measure which appropriated up to $600 to assist in paying for two Charter buses to be used by UConn students travelling to the Mayday Demonstrations in Washington, D.C., this weekend. The cost of an individual's round trip ticket will now be only $13, and sign up sheets are currently available in the Student Senate Office in the Student Union.

Bills and resolutions proposed but not considered before adjournment included a resolution to be introduced by Senator Eileen Pons which would extend the Pass-Fail System to the tenth semester. The resolution also directed the Senate Academics Committee to find ways for the Pass-Fail option to be extended to all students upon entrance to the University.

Another bill, which was to be introduced by Senator Jeanne Eriksen, would have provided a budget of twenty dollars a day for those serving on the student conduct committee during the summer. The bill was designed to correct the alleged miscarriages of justice which occur when students who commit offenses in the Spring Semester are tried before administrators rather than the combined student-faculty conduct committee.

ASG President Paul Devine

In other proposed actions, the Senate was to have considered bills giving funds to the Experimental College for its "The Garden" festival.

santhouse wins poetry award

A persevering English major at the University of Connecticut is the 1971 winner of the Wallace Stevens Poetry Prize.

Daniel Santhouse of Ridgefield, who was runner-up for the prize in 1970 and 1969, is to receive the top award this year for his long narrative poem which focuses on the assassination of President McKinley.

Santhouse, and the other winners, will be cited at the annual Wallace Stevens program here Thursday (April 29). The winner is the son of Valdemir D. Santhouse of Glastonbury.

Today the Lobby will focus on its opposition to the Nixon Administration's "family assistance" plan which would guarantee a minimum income of $1,600 a year to a family of four. A demonstration is planned at the offices of the Health, Education, and Welfare Department. At this time they will be lobbying for support of its proposals to guarantee a minimum annual income of $6,500 for a family of four, full medical care for all Americans, and a low-cost housing program.

This Friday, the "People's Lobby" will concentrate on the Justice Department Offices, opposing what it calls "Attorney General Mitchell's massive campaign of repression."

The fourth phase of the spring offensive will start this Saturday, as the Mayday Collective sponsors a series of non-violent demonstrations which are planned to incorporate civil disobedience in a drive to "stop the government."

On May 5, a nationwide "strike against the war" has been called as the final action in this spring's antiwar campaign.

the state rests in seale trial

NEW HAVEN - UPI - The state rested its case Wednesday in the trial of Black Panthers Bobby G. Seale and Mrs. Ericka Huggins of murder conspiracy charges in the death of alleged police informer Alex Rackley.

State's Attorney Arnold Marple told the court "the state rests" at 12:03 p.m., after the 13th witness for the prosecution, New Haven County Detective Nicholas Pastore, ended testimony under cross examination by Seale's attorney, Charles Garry. The policeman backed up earlier testimony placing Seale in the building when Rackley was tortured.

Judge Harold M. Mulvey recessed the court until 10 a.m. Tuesday when the defense was expected to offer motions to strike certain testimony and dismiss all charges.

The jury of seven whites and five blacks, was excused by Mulvey until 10 a.m. Wednesday to allow for arguments on the motions.

Garry has indicated Seale, 34, will testify in his own behalf. The Panther party co-founder and Huggins, 23, the party's Connecticut leader, are charged with capital crimes that include conspiracy to murder and kidnapping resulting in death.

Seale has denied the state's charge that he gave the order to kill Rackley, 24, in a New Haven apartment while he was in town for a speech at Yale University.

The state's star witness, George Sams, Jr., 25, said in three days of testimony that Seale personally gave the order to kill Rackley. He said Huggins participated in the torture and interrogation.

Pastore said he was in a car across the street when he saw Seale enter the building between 11:22 p.m. and 11:25 p.m. on May 19, 1969 and again at 5:20 a.m. the next morning.

Seale, who denied he ever met Rackley, said he did not enter the building the first time but was tired and just sat outside. He said he went into the building the next morning to make a brief phone call.

Sams said after the torture that included pouring of hot water on Rackley, Seale asked if he were a "pig" and Rackley replied negatively. The witness said Seale stated, "What do you do with a pig. Do away with him. Off the mother fucker."

The defense contends that Sams had sadistic tendencies with a history of anti-social behavior who planned Rackley's death on his own.

Sams, who has pleaded guilty to second degree murder in the slaying, maintained over strenuous cross-examination that he was following Seale's orders. Another Panther, Warren Kimbro also has pleaded guilty to second degree murder. Both are awaiting sentencing.

Panther Lonni McLucas, 25, was convicted last summer of conspiracy charges in the slaying and sentenced to 12-to-15 years in prison.

McLucas and Kimbro both admitted each fired a bullet into Rackley's body after an automobile ride from the New Haven Panthers headquarters.

duffey to refuse another term as chairman of ada

HARTFORD - UPI - The Rev. Joseph D. Duffey confirmed Wednesday that he would not seek a third one year term as national chairman of Americans for Democratic Action (ADA).

Duffey told United Press International that he has already notified the organization's nominating committee of his decision.

The liberal group will elect a new slate of officers during its annual convention in Washington this weekend.

When asked why he would not be a candidate, despite a recommendation from the nominating committee, Duffey said, "That's the custom. That's been the tradition."

Duffey, who ran unsuccessfully last fall as the Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate, said he expects the committee to nominate "two or three candidates" for the ADA position. He declined to speculate, however, on who the candidates might be.

Duffey also said his decision did not mean he was withdrawing from active participation in politics.

"This will give me more time to work in Connecticut," Duffey said. "I also hope to begin working nationally with other people within the Democratic Party on the platform for 1972."

Duffey, who holds a seat on the Democratic National Policy Council, said he expected the group to be "very active" in the coming year with work on the platform.

cultural week set by shalom group may 2 to may 8

Seeking to "spur removed Jewish identity," The UConn Shalom group will sponsor a Jewish Cultural Week from May 2-8. (see letter pg. 2)

The program will include the following:

Monday, May 3: Yehuda Ben-Moshe, speaking on "Israeli Society: Its Factions" at 8 p.m., SU 208.

Tuesday, May 4: Israeli feature film, "The Dreamer" at 8 p.m. SU 101-102.

Wed., May 5: Meir Yaffe, speaking on "The Israeli Commune: The Kibbutz" at 8:30 Commons 310.

Thurs. May 6: A table in the Student Union with complete information on travel programs to Israel, from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. A Coffee House, featuring Israeli folksinger Gadé Elon, 8 and 9:30 p.m. SUB.

Friday, May 7: Sabbath Services at Hillel open to the university community with folk dancing following. Hillel, 7:30 p.m.

A picture exhibition of Jewish life will also be presented at the Wilbur Cross Library during the week.

One of the two new collection boxes which the University's Wilbur Cross Library is using as part of an experimental program designed to speed collection of borrowed materials.

"Very often", Associate Library Director Norman Stevens explained, "people say they are delinquent in returning their materials because they are too busy to walk over here. We hope this program will help alleviate this problem."

Stevens also said he welcomed suggestions regarding other possible locations for the collection boxes. These suggestions should be sent to U-5.

suspect seized

break in bombing of capitol

WASHINGTON - UPI - The first break in the bombing of the U.S. Capitol two months ago came Wednesday with the disclosure that a blonde, 19 year old antiwar protest organizer had been arrested as a material witness and possible suspect.

In a series of fast-moving legal actions following the disclosure of the arrest of Leslie Bacon, she was ordered to appear Thursday before a federal grand jury in Seattle, but then appealed and won a stay pending the outcome of that action.

Bacon, one of eight children from a middle-class family in Atherton, Calif., was charged only with being a material witness to the March 1 blast when FBI agents chased her to the roof of a house in the northwest part of the city and arrested her Monday night.

But in a hearing before U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica, FBI agent Daniel Mahan said Bacon also was wanted on suspicion of having participated in the bombing.

Bacon's mother, Mrs. John W. Bacon, said in California that ## dean to advise on u.s. policy at conference

Dr. Thomas F. Malone, dean of the University of Connecticut's Graduate School, has been appointed to an advisory committee to the U.S. Secretary of State to help map plans for a United Nations Conference on the Human Environment at Stockholm in June, 1972.

Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., of Tennessee, is serving as chairman of the Committee which will hold its first meeting May 19 in the nation's capitol to develop recommendations on the American position at the Conference.

According to Baker, the international conclave is in response to a 1968 General Assembly resolution and will be the "first environmental conference of world-wide significance".

Meantime, Malone, who is recognized as one of the nation's leading authorities on the environment, has been invited by the Congress to address a joint House-Senate Colloquium on International Environmental Science, May 25-26 at Washington, DC.

In the words of George P. Miller and Warren G. Magnuson, who invited Dean Malone to participate in the colloquium:

"Our objective is to apprise members of Congress and other leaders about the status of scientific information as the basis for important environmental decisions that have international and global impact.

"The diversity of international information needs range from those of technologically advanced countries to those of less technologically advanced nations. The needs grow in a complex international political context, and create problems that defy simple solution..."

Shalom Group Meeting

Thursday, April 29
7:30 p.m. SU Check for room at Information Desk her daughter denied in a phone call that she had any association with the Capitol bombers and she "has never told me a lie."

After hearing the government's Sirica refused to lower Bacon's bail and her motion that the warrant for her arrest as a material witness be dropped.

But within minutes of his decision, Miss Bacon's lawyer Phillip Hirschkop, appealed his ruling and the U.S. Court of Appeals agreed to hold a hearing at 11 a.m. EDT Thursday. This automatically halted Bacon's transfer to Seattle until the appeals court rules.

Both Mahan and Assistant US Attorney Harold Sullivan referred to an informer, who provided the information for the unidentified investigating agency, "S-1" to protect his identity.

They said the informer was a man and had talked to Bacon on two occasions and was "personally acquainted" with her associates.

Bacon's attorney said she had been staying in Washington for at least the past four weeks, was a high school graduate with a few college credits and no prior arrest record.

A police source said Bacon traveled with the "May Day Collective" for some time, and that she was with Chicago Seven defendant Jerry Rubin at the April 24 peace rally on Capitol Hill which drew 200,000 demonstrators.

Until the action Wednesday, there was no indication that the government had called a grand jury to look into the bombing of the Capitol that took place during the U.S. backed South Vietnamese operation inside Laos.

husky tennis team stumbles to its third straight loss

By LEONARD AUSTER

After starting off on the right foot, being 4-1 at one point, the UConn tennis team has lost three in a row, losing Tuesday to the University of Massachusetts 6-3, and being trounced by the University of Rhode Island 8-1 Wednesday afternoon. The Huskies are now 4-4 on the season.

Against UMass, Bruce Bagwell and Frank McDonald won singles matches and the doubles team of John Peck and Garry Levitsky won the lone doubles match for UConn.

The URI tennis team dominated the match against UConn, only Frank McDonald being able to come out with a victory over his opponent. URI is now 5-0 on the season, not having lost a dual meet over the last three years, winning 22 in a row.

The UConn tennis team now travels to Orono, Maine the weekend of May 1 for the Yankee Conference Tournament. The team to beat is URI, the title-holder from last year.

golfers defeat umass, aic; prepare for yancon meet

By DOOLEY

The UConn golf team improved their record to 9-4 Tuesday in Springfield as they outscored UMass 4-3 and A.I.C. 6-1. UMass, undefeated until then, is now 6-1 on the season.

Ed Byman defeated Puzas of Massachusetts 5 and 4 and Ballet of A.I.C. 6 and 4. Steve Young lost both of his matches 1 down after 20 holes to Cicconi

(M) and Chipman(AIC). Bob Day lost to Towle (MA) 1 down but outshot Fitzgerald (AIC) 7 and 6. Jim Burns won both of his matches, defeating Minkos (M) 3 and 1 and Marge (AIC) 7 and 6. Don Heaton outscored King (M) last year's Yankee Conference medalist, 4 and 3 and Baird (AIC) 8 and 6. Joe Strancofski, 2 down with 4 holes to play, came back to win the remaining four holes and defeat Minkos (M) 2 up. This was the crucial match of the day, according to Coach Dave Sykes. Strancofski also defeated Reiley (AIC) 3 and 2. Tom Conine lost to Langevine (M) 5 and 4 but outshot Brennan (AIC) 4 and 3. Ed Byman took medalist honors for the day with an even par 71.

The Husky linksmen travel to Sutton, Mass. Friday to take part in the Yankee Conference Championships at the Pleasant Valley Country Club. Coach Sykes expects tough competition from UMass and URI while Maine and New Hampshire are possible dark horses. Rhody handed the Huskies their only loss in conference competition this year. Team totals for the tournament will consist of each team's six best individual medal scores.

uconn upsets wesleyan, 7-5

By JOHN ATKIN

The UConn lacrosse team upped its winning streak to four games with an easy 21-1 victory over Holy Cross on Tuesday, and a hard fought 7-5 upset of Wesleyan Wednesday in the rain and cold.

On Tuesday, at Worcester, the Huskies had no problem with a weak Holy Cross squad. Jeff Morris and Ned Siegel who were among the 11 scorers for UConn led the attack with four goals each, and a tight defense held the Crusaders to one goal and 13 shots.

UConn was never in trouble as Morris scored two of his goals in the opening minute of play, followed by Siegel's first before Holy Cross scored their lone goal. The defense then remained tight for the rest of the game for goalies John Santucci and Dennis Ocampo. Co-captain Ron Feldberg, and the remaining defensemen Kevin Wagner, Jim Kirch, and Jon Meiers were responsible for 14 successful clears from the defensive zone and kept the hapless Crusader squad from formulating any offense.

Other scorers for UConn in the game were John Denunzio, Doug Dale, Bob Rasamay, and Dave Shrum with two each, and Dave Sloan, Joe Pantorno, Bill Harper, Steve Turula, and Steve Kiel with one apiece.

Yesterday the Huskies upset Wesleyan, who is ranked seventh in New England, behind a strong defense and brilliant goalkeeping by Santucci.

Pete Siegle opened the scoring for the Cardinals with two minutes gone by in the game, before UConn's Ned Siegel put one by the Wesleyan goalie to even the score at 1-1. After another Wesleyan goal, Bill Harper tied the score for the Huskies with 13 seconds remaining in the quarter for a 2-2 score.

Jeff Morris opened the scoring the second quarter and the Huskies never lost the lead. Sie-gel scored his second goal of the game with 3:42 remaining in the half before a final Wesleyan to give UConn a 4-3 halftime edge.

Harper and Morris each scored their second goals of the game, before a Wesleyan goal for a 6-4 three period edge. The final period was played evenly, with the Cardinals scoring with 3:26 remaining in the game. The Huskies then slowed down the action causing an anxious Wesleyan player to commit a slashing penalty, giving the Huskies a man advantage.

Co-captain Les Stacy immediately cashed in on the opportunity on a feed by Siegel to put the game on ice for UConn.

Connecticut is now 4-1 on the season, and an elated Coach Csuri is looking forward to "the big one" against UMass, third in New England at Amherst Saturday. The Huskies return home Wednesday to face Brown, the top team in New England.

uconn wins first game, 4-0 2nd game with uri cancelled

By JUDY WALDEN

Behind the exceptional one hit pitching of Brian Herosian, UConn blanked the University of Rhode Island 4-0 Wednesday. The undefeated Huskies post a 14-0 record while handing Rhode its sixth loss, with no wins. Brian Sheekey, one of URI's top hurlers had great difficulty finding the plate as the righty walked ten in four and one-third innings. A combination of four errors, and the base on balls tells the story of UConn's four runs, as no hits were involved in any of the runs.

After walking number ten, Sheekey was relieved by Bruce Clarke, who in four and two-third innings of relief gave up only two hits. John Ihlenburg and Tom Safir were the recipients, in the sixth and seventh innings respectively.

Herosian pitched seven and one third innings of hitless baseball before he gave up a line drive broken bat single in the eighth frame. The sophomore pitching ace kept his ERA perfect while he added fourteen strike outs to his list, making a total of fifty-seven. Herosian walked only two.

Sheekey took the loss, his second, with one win.

The second game of yesterday's double header was cancelled in the third inning due to rain.

UConn will host UNH on Saturday for a double header. Game time is 12:30.

soccer club is formed in willimantic

Paul Ingram, an assistant soccer coach at UConn, is presently developing a complete program of instructions and competition in soccer at the newly formed Willimantic Soccer Club. Ingram, a 1967 UConn graduate, achieved All-America recognition as a right wing here in 1966.

Don Minton, player-coach for the new club and head coach at E.O. Smith high school, is also a former UConn star. Other outstanding members include; former head soccer coach at UConn, Dr. John Squires, head coach, Mr. Tom Nevers, Eastern Connecticut State College, and Mr. John McMillan, head soccer coach at Windham High School.

The program is designed to generate interest in soccer for youth in the Willimantic area. Soccer is the fastest growing sport in the United States.

"I personally would like to see the development of some fine local talent," said Ingram. "Our main goal is to provide Willimantic with a soccer program which may give the youth the opportunity to play soccer, which is relatively inexpensive."

Ingram intends to enter a team in the Hartford Amateur League, a member of the National Soccer League of Connecticut. The league is sanctioned by the United States Soccer and Football Association. Ingram's team will compete in the class B division, a must for first year entrants.

An exhibition game against the UConn spring soccer team will highlight the club's activities this spring. UConn is coached by Joe Morrone, and the Huskies' spring record stands at 3-4. The contest will be played on May 8 here. Anyone interested in soccer and in joining the Willimantic Soccer Club is urged to contact Ingram at 429-6094.
