WSGC Sponsoring Coffee For All Social Chairmen

Next Monday night for the first time at Uconn the social committee of WSGC has arranged a coffee for all social chairmen on campus.

The coffee will take place at Delta Pi from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. All social chairmen have received personal invitations asking that they attend and reminding them that if this is impossible they should send another representative.

THE FUNCTION of this new innovation on campus is two-fold. First and foremost this coffee will enable the social chairmen from all living units to meet and socialize on an informal basis. The social committee feels that this will facilitate easier planning of social events in the future since the chairmen will be better able to correspond on a personal basis.

Secondly, the committee has planned a general discussion period during which various problems that have caused difficulty between the students, residence counselors and administration may be debated and solved if possible.

MISS THYRA CORBITT, senior social chairman WSGC will serve as moderator for this discussion. She will present several provocative topics which have been selected by the committee as having caused the most difficulty and misunderstanding in the past. Members of the group assembled will also have the opportunity to put forth questions and will be expected to contribute to the discussion.

Miss Grace Schwartz, coordinator of women's residences, and Mr. David Bain, coordinator of student activities, will also attend this coffee and take part in the debate.

Members of the committee planning this event are Sayra Babcock, Sylvia Maniatakis and Judy Bolles, all of whom are social chairmen of their living units.

The WSGC social committee is looking forward to excellent results and hopes that all social chairmen will attend in order that this first all-campus social chairmen coffee will be as fruitful as possible.

A 30 year old mother of three children has been designated a University Scholar here at the University of Connecticut.

Mrs. Lisl Dinolt, wife of Dr. Robert Dinolt, is one of the 21 undergraduates to receive this honor, annually accorded to the top juniors and seniors at Uconn.

A SENIOR majoring in history, Mrs. Dinolt and her husband are natives of Vienna and have lived in America more than 20 years. Mrs. Dinolt, who plans to go on to graduate school, minored in bacteriology. ## Pledge Period Begins Time Of Training New Initiates

After two weeks of rushing, pledging took place Tuesday at each of the nine sororities on campus.

Rushing included a series of parties starting with the round robins and open houses, followed by the breakfasts, formal parties, afternoon gatherings, and concluded with the final coffee, Monday, the girls signed their preferentials and on Tuesday they accepted their bids.

Tuesday, at 5 p.m., the girls accepted their bids by going to the sorority that bid them. The girls will now serve a pledge period which varies in length according to the sorority. The average length is about ten weeks. This is a period of training for the pledge. During this period she becomes acquainted with the history and meaning of the sorority.

Pledge meetings are usually held once a week. One function of these meetings is to introduce the pledges to the officers of the sorority. Each officer gives a short discussion of what her office entails. The pledges elect their own officers and function under the direction of the pledge supervisor.

At some time during their pledge period pledges are given a sponsor. This sponsor or "big sister," as she is often called, is someone special that the pledge can go to for advice. Pledges make paddles for their "big sisters." These are the paddles that the girls saw on display at the Panhelene Reception previous to rush.

The pledge class as a whole usually plans a pledge project in which they do something constructive for the sorority. An example of a pledge project might be making curtains for the hall windows or retouching the sorority shield.

A pledge supervisor once said, "To every man a Fraternity is a measure of himself." Pledging is your opportunity to come to know and understand your sorority better, and to see your place in it, what you can do for it and what it can do for you.

Nat. Education Society Hears Dr. Bemis Speak

Earnest thought and humor was expressed at the first session of the Uconn Campus Chapter of Phi Delta Kappa Tuesday night in the United Nations Room of the Student Union.

Dr. Maynard Bemis, national executive secretary of Phi Delta Kappa, was the guest speaker. He emphasized the value of service in public education programs and stated that "we are not the ones to make decisions" however, the fraternity would miss the point of its existence "in not assuming leadership in our communities".

HUMOR WAS brought out when Dr. Bemis informed the members that they almost had a Chapter in Cuba before the Revolution, but quickly stated

Patrick Debates Today On WHUS

Joseph Patrick, controversial Daily Campus columnist, will take to the airways tonight on the WHUS program, "The Editor Speaks," at 6:45.

Ken Gold, editor-in-chief, will act as moderator of the debate between Patrick, Dave Mullere, SAE, who will question Patrick's column on fraternity life and independent living, Bob Neary, commuter, who will debate the validity of beards and who decides who can wear them, and two Uconn co-eds who wish to remain anonymous until showtime.

Gold said "We have had so many letters concerning Patrick's column, and so many requests by various persons to debate with him, that we feel this debate, if successful, can be continued throughout the school year."

"In my four years on the Campus, I have never seen such a response to a column," concluded Gold.

Patrick's four columns to date have attacked student leaders, beard weavers, fraternity life, and the commuter organization plan. In turn, Patrick has been counter-attacked by letters to the editor, fellow columnists, and has created some cross-arguments between letter writers.

Missing Norwegian Prints Debated At BOG Meeting

Uconn's Board of Governors, which is composed of leaders in the Student Union activities program, met Tuesday to discuss many of the HUB sponsored events slated to occur this year.

Before bringing up any new issues, however, President Richard Dempsey referred to an unfortunate incident which occurred earlier in the semester. He stated that a display of Norwegian prints on exhibition in the HUB had to be removed because most of the students on the campus could not enjoy them, because two had been removed from the collection by persons unknown soon after the display had been set up by the BOG.

IN COMMENTING on the issue, Mr. Ahearn, manager of the HUB and faculty member of the BOG, stated that the prints in question are still missing. Thus the Fine Arts insurance policy maintained at the HUB must pay for them. He went on to say that in the future, however, no such exhibits will be provided until a safer place may be found.

First on the agenda of activities was the all campus Billiards Tournament to be held during November. This early date was selected in order to avoid confusion with the busy HUB activity program slated for December. The winner of the Uconn Billiards Tournament will have the opportunity to go to the National Billiards Tournament in February. This program is an annual one sponsored by the Recreation Committee of the BOG.

The next order of business was a motion from the Cultural Committee to invite Mr. Peter Seeger, the famous folk singer to appear in the HUB Ballroom on January 7. The BOG felt that this would be in keeping with the rising interest in folk music of late. Mr. Ahearn reported that there hasn't been such a program at Uconn in several years. The BOG passed this motion unanimously. Another such folk music program will also be included in the Fine Arts Festival held next month.

THE CULTURAL COMMITTEE also presented a motion that the BOG sponsor a watercolor painting exhibit featuring the work of Mrs. Snow of the Uconn faculty. This was also passed by the Board.

Following this the Social Committee reported that the Halloween Hop and Collegiate Sing featuring the Yale Alleycats, 12 singers from Yale who will perform during the intermission of the dance, has been moved from the Snack Bar to the Ballroom. Joan Kapps, chairman of this committee, stated that this was done in order to provide sufficient room for the event which, since it will occur on the evening of the New Hampshire home football game, is expected to draw a large crowd.

The BOG also voted to sponsor a coffee in the HUB Gallery on November 2 after a lecture by a Princeton professor who will be speaking on the topic "The Middle East." The Board felt that such a coffee would provide an opportunity for those attending the lecture to meet with the guest speaker on an informal basis and ask him any questions they might have regarding the topic.

MR. AHEARN then read the letter from the Lawrence Welk television program requesting that the universities

Throughout the past few weeks, the area in front of the Student Union has been the scene of a very special kind of activity. The students of the Civil Engineering Classes have been surveying the terrain as part of their course training. Many people have wondered just what they have been doing there. In order to gain proficiency in the use of the transit and the plumb-line, these students have conducted many experiments in the HUB area. They have certainly become the topic of interest to the many students passing them by. (Campus Photo)

Summer Seminar Groups Plan European Activity

The American Student Information Service has planned five seminar groups for the summer of 1960 for students who want to work or study in Europe. The ASIS is a non-profit organization aiming to foster better understanding among the peoples of the world. Their main function is the location of gainful summer positions for American college students who want to be placed in Europe.

The plan is not a money-making one, but rather one which gives the student who is interested in learning about other people and their customs a chance to work or study abroad. Positions are available in such countries as Great Britain, Austria, Switzerland, Spain, Germany, France, and the Scandinavian countries. Most of the available summer jobs are in farm work, camp counselling and child care, forestry work, resort work and some sales and factory work. The wages usually consist of board and room and between $30 and $50 per month. The hours range from 45 to 55 per week. Each seminar group includes a one-week orientation program in Amsterdam, and a specially planned tour of Europe. The length of the work period and the cost of the trip vary according to the seminar group chosen.

Seminar group No. 1 includes round-trip air fare (New York-Amsterdam, Frankfurt-New York), a 10 day tour of 7 European countries, summer placement for 7 weeks, and a final week of free time at a cost of $399.

Seminar group No. 2 consists of round-trip air fare, a 21 day tour of 9 European countries, summer placement for 6 weeks, and final week of free time for $499.

Seminar group No. 3 includes round-trip air fare, a 32 day tour of 11 European countries, summer placement for 4 weeks, and a final week of free time at a cost of $599.

Seminar group No. 4 includes round-trip air fare, a 55 day tour of 16 European countries, a 5-day Mediterranean cruise, and stopover in Africa for $849.

Seminar group No. 5 includes round-trip air fare, a 10 day tour of 7 European countries, free time for study and independent travel at a cost of $399.

Detroit Symphony To Play In Auditorium Thursday

One of the nation's leading musical aggregations, the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, is slated to launch the University of Connecticut's Fifth Concert Series in the Auditorium at 8:15 p.m., next Thursday.

Under the baton of Paul Paray, the Detroit Symphony has emerged into a period of new strength and stature after several great eras. Founded in 1914, its first golden age occurred from 1913 to 1935, when the great Ossip Gabrilowitsch led the Motor City Symphony.

A second successful phase, highlighted by the leadership of Karl Krueger, lasted from 1943 to 1949.

Reorganized in 1951 under the conductorship of Mr. Paray, the Detroit Orchestra has come back stronger than ever, boasting such world-famous figures as Mischa Mischakoff, concert master; Gordon Staples, violinist; Paul Olefsky, cellist, and many other superb musicians. Now the orchestra presents more than 110 concerts each year before audiences in excess of 700,000 persons.

For his concert at the University, Mr. Paray has chosen the following selections: Overture to "Don Giovanni," by Mozart; "Symphony in D," by Franck; Prelude to Act I of "Lohengrin," by Wagner; "A Night on Bald Mountain" by Moussorgsky; "Fantasia on Greensleeves," by Vaughan Williams; "Spanish Caprice," by Rimsky-Korsakov.

There are still a few tickets left for the performance of the Detroit Symphony. They may be purchased at the Auditorium ticket office.

Scholarship Gifts Total Over $52000

Scholarships worth about $52,000 have been awarded to almost 300 University of Connecticut students this year, John Powers, University Scholarship Officer announced.

In this annual report, Mr. Powers observed that the 1959-60 figure represented a jump of $2,000, or four per cent, over last year's total. While expressing pleasure with the continued support offered the Scholarship program, Mr. Powers noted that aid of this type was available to only one out of every five qualified applicants. He indicated that the average Uconn undergraduate faces tuition fees and living costs bills of about $1,400 each year and the majority of scholarships fail to cover one half of this figure.

"Since the great majority of Uconn graduates enter Connecticut firms following graduation," Mr. Powers said, "the university scholarship program offers state business, industry, agriculture and labor an excellent opportunity to invest in their own futures as well as those of the students."

He also pointed out that support of the scholarship program can be an effective means of promoting citizenship by foundations and philanthropic organizations dedicated to this objective.

Tolland, Litchfield Top Independent Flagball

The independent flag football race looks like a tight affair this year with only two outstanding teams in the whole independent division. Litchfield Hall, last year's independent champions, and the Tolland Tigers No. 2 comprise the two powers. Litchfield Hall will be seeking a second consecutive championship but the Tigers are favored to grab the title. The Tigers are just too powerful for their division.

HERE ARE A few flagball

scores recorded this week; on Monday the Turks of T. K. E. rolled over the Dopplers 34-0. The Esquires edged Gamma Rho Gold 14-6, while the Pyramids blasted the Phi Sigs 30-12. The Phi Chi Green blanked the Townsies 20-0. Lambda Chi rolled over Phi Epsilon 38-0 and Delta Chi won by forfeit over Chi Phi/Blue 2-0.

ON TUESDAY the independents took the field with these results; the kingly Tolland Tigers No. 2 crushed New London Hall 42-0; Colt House edged Tolland No. 1 14-6; Litchfield subdued Trumbull House 14-0, and Baldwin outlasted Hicks 16-12.

Uconn Harriers Seek Initial Win Against HC Today

Coach Lloyd Duff's cross country squad seeks its first win of the season this afternoon when they face a tough Holy Cross team at Worcester.

CONNECTICUT'S hope for victory lies with the performances of its number three, four and five men. The Huskies are assured of two good performances, those of Al Cross and Bruce Roberts, but the status of the rest of the squad is not promising.

In addition to the varsity, the Uconn freshmen will also be after win number one as they meet the Holy Cross Frosh.

UC Frosh Soccer Team Seeks Third Straight Win

The Connecticut freshman soccer team will be putting its unblemished record on the line here today, when it faces a strong Bridgeport squad at 3:00 p.m. The Purple Knights from downstate will be trying to complete a clean sweep over Husky booters this season. The Bridgeport varsity topped Connecticut 6-1 earlier in the campaign.

THIS GAME will mark the midway point in the season for Coach Brown's frosh team. In previous contests they defeated the Yale freshman in the opening match, and then came from behind to gain a well deserved victory over Springfield. Both games were decided by identical 3-2 margins.

Although Bridgeport is a comparatively small school, they compete in soccer on a
