THE LIVE NEWS OF TO-DAY.

Miss Sadie Lewis is visiting on Long Island.

Mr. Charles Hubbs is seriously ill at his home on Harbor avenue.

A son was born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barrett of Main street.

Rev. Mr. Watkins has two sisters visiting him at Grace Church Rectory.

Don't forget the borough meeting tomorrow afternoon at 8 o'clock.

"Every man of sense has some favorite recreation," what is yours?

Pioneer Castle No. 1, A. O. K. of the M. C. will work the second degree to-night.

T. B. Morton is very feeble at his home in East Norwalk. He is a war veteran.

The Southington Game and Fishing club lost 2,000 trout by the giving away of a dam, Saturday.

The Connecticut Masonic Veteran association will meet at Bristol, Thursday June 25th, at 11 a. m.

Postmaster Fitch of Wilton is out again, recovered from his severe attack of scarlet fever.

The many friends of Mrs. Stephen Comstock will rejoice to know that she is again able to be about.

Frank Allen's fourteen year old son is dangerously sick with typhoid fever at his home in East Norwalk.

The annual spring meeting at the Charter Oak park, Hartford, begins to-day and continues four days.

William, the four years old son of William and Ellen Niler of this place, died yesterday after a short illness.

Mr. J. S. Gilmore, superintendent at the Union Mills, left for a business trip to Massachusetts yesterday. He stopped over at Hartford last night.

Mrs. Vernon and daughter of New Superior, are guests at Mrs. Fred T. Betts. Mrs. V. is a daughter of the late Joseph Hubbard.

Gus Heinz received a first-class hair cut this morning with a pair of horse clippers in the hands of "Buck," Harry Dann's right hand man.

Douglas Fowler Post, G. A. R., will picnic July 4th on Losee Island, Noroton harbor, and will be taken there on the steamer Irene D. Connor.

The last meeting of Grace Church Guild, before the summer vacation, is to be held at the house of Mrs. Harvey Fitch, 17 Park street, tomorrow afternoon.

Warden Keeler hopes that every citizen of Norwalk who is interested in the Rice-Hanlon case or who can throw any light on the matter, will be present at the adjourned hearing Thursday evening.

A New York and New Haven train ran over and killed a man named Honner in the tunnel at Seventy-second street yesterday morning. The accident caused a blockade of trains which lasted for some time.

On the Bargain table to-morrow at the Norwalk Boston Store, will be found remnants of wool dress goods at half price. This is a rare opportunity to buy fine dress goods for the price of ordinary qualities. Call and see these bargains.

The official investigation of the conduct of the Soldiers' Home, Noroton, has been held, and the charges of maladministration, etc., against the superintendent, Dr. Munson, were sustained, resulting in the formulation by the court of a recommendation for his dismissal.

The spring meeting of the Danbury Gentlemen's Driving association begins to-day.

The Winnipauk Sunday school will hold their annual strawberry festival on Thursday and Friday evenings of this week.

Albert Hamm, the well-known sculler, died at his home in Sombra yesterday morning of hemorrhage of the lungs. He was 31 years old.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pickering this morning. Connor Bros., the contractors, for whom Harry drives the steam roller, have presented Mrs. Pickering with a twenty dollar gold piece.

As to the eternal fitness of things this strikes us as being eternally fitful.—"Eight children stood up with a couple recently married at Charlottesville, Va. Four of them belonged to the bride and four to the groom."

Rev. Mr. Watkins now takes his outings on his safety bicycle, which he enjoys very much. He finds the roads of Norwalk quite different however from the concrete paved streets of Washington, the paradise of wheelmen.

Mrs. A. R. Richardson, who for several months past has been a valued assistant in Miss Fitch's millinery establishment, and who has made many friends at the Norwalk hotel, returns to New York this afternoon for permanent residence.

Dr. Ellery C. Clark came to Norwalk Saturday p. m. to see his little son. He received the congratulations of his friends for about two hours and then returned to New York where he left his bride and daughter Grace. To-day Dr. and Mrs. Clark expect to visit Boston, returning thence to Washington.

Miss Susie Sutcliffe, for the past six years the efficient and popular forelady in A. Solman's hat trimming department, will resign her position, July 1, on account of failing health, and return to her old home in Brooklyn. She will be succeeded in the factory by Miss Mary Hopson.

Capt. Oliver S. Clark of the yacht "Three Brothers" has a cherry tree of the White Spanish variety in his backyard on Merwin street, from which there have been picked lacking three quarts of nine bushels of cherries, and he says that he has left at least two bushels on the tree for the robins.

F. W. Goodale, of Danbury, is probably the oldest son of a veteran in the state. He is 66 years old, and enlisted in Co. C, 17th Conn. Vols., in 1862, and served three years. Friday night he was mustered into the Nelson L. White camp, Sons of Veterans, of that city, as his father was also a soldier in the late war.

Sim Keith has received notice from the snivel service board that recently examined him for the position of railway mail clerk that he had successfully passed, which is far better for this giddy young man than wearing a paste diamond as big as the moon. We now hope that our genial friend Simeon will not die of old age before a paternal government calls him into its service.

The following members of Concord Division, S. of T., went by carrroll to New Canaan on Saturday evening to pay a friendly visit to Friendship Division, where they had a very pleasant time, returning home about midnight. It was a close shave, getting back before Sunday, but they did it. Brothers Ellis, Kellogg, Hubbard, Ambler, Reed, June, Carpenter, Buckley and Loomis, and Sisters June, Reed, Coleman, Maud and Mabel Rogers comprised the delegation.

Charles Payne an aged carpenter, while at work shingling Jno. Watkins' new house, Taylor ave., yesterday, accidentally fell from the second scaffold to the ground, a distance of over twenty feet. His descent was partly checked by his coming in contact with the lower scaffold, otherwise it is believed he would have been killed. As it was, he sustained a bruised arm and internal injuries. It is not a long time since that Mr. Payne fell from a building at Bell Island, receiving injuries that laid him up for several months. Charles T. Payne of the borough is his son.

Abiathar Blanchard, of the South Norwalk hatting firm of Dennis & Blanchard, and George Honnecker, who went to New Haven to be examined before the state board for admission to the Bar, were put through an unusually severe test as to their legal attainments. No such exhaustive examinations have ever before been made in this state and it is stated by old attorneys of high standing at the Bar, that probably not half of the practicing lawyers of the state could pass such an examination.

Float the Flag.

Mr. J. Arthur Pinneo and Dr. William Aeton are engaged in the patriotic and praiseworthy task of trying to secure contributors enough to give a creditable fire-works display from the Lawn Tennis grounds on the night of the Fourth of July, and they will succeed too. But won't these public spirited young gens, while their hands and hearts are "in it," also endeavor to secure funds sufficient to erect on their grounds a neat flag-staff, and purchase a flag and let "Old Glory" float from masthead all of that National Holiday? Let to the Lawn Tennis Club be ascribed the honor of unfurling the first American flag in Norwalk with its full complement of forty-four stars.

Governor Bulkeley said yesterday that he had received no charges against Dr. B. W. Munson, the superintendent and resident physician of the soldiers' home at Noroton. It had simply been decided, he said, that it would be better to separate the management of the home and hospital. Dr. Munson will continue in charge of the home, and a physician has been appointed to take charge of the hospital.

Said a bright clergyman to a DAILY GAZETTE scribe, "what an admirable article that of Mr. Seymour would have been, which you published, had he taken the time to condense it down just one half." It is now the Senator's turn to get back at the parson and tell him that there are a few things that our Heavenly Father already knows, a fact the average minister seems to forget, especially in his long Sunday prayers. Said the inimitable Beecher, ancient this subject: "Had Peter attempted to address modern orthodox prayer to his Lord, he would have sunk to the bottom of the sea before the Saviour's hand could have reached him."

Frank M. Smith of Minnesota, who will be remembered by our older citizens as having been during several years of his minority a clerk in the dry goods store of E. B. Bennett & Son, came east about a week ago and is now visiting at his sister's, Mrs. D. M. Platt, on Union Park. As Frank has matured he has come to wear a most perfect facial resemblance to his honored father, Capt. Henry Smith, for many years a resident on the Newtown road. Frank, like most Norwalk boys who took Mr. Greeley's advice and went west has developed into a solid and successful business man and is a prominent citizen of Minnesota.

Turned on the Gas and Died.

Some time between 8 p. m. on Sunday and 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon Henry C. Rover committed suicide at his residence, 257 West 128th street, New York. He had been cashier and accountant for C. T. Dillingham, the publisher, of 718 Broadway, for many years, and had worked particularly hard this summer. About June 10th he told his wife to prepare at once to visit friends in New Canaan, as he felt that he must have rest. She made ready to go, and on June 18th Mr. Rover sent her money for the trip and a letter in which he said he would follow in a day or two. Mrs. Rover started at once. Last Wednesday having heard nothing from her husband, she returned to the city to ascertain the cause. She called at the publishing house and learned that her husband had obtained a vacation beginning the first of the week, and had not been seen since. Diligent inquiry failed to discover Mr. Rover's whereabouts, and Mrs. Rover appealed to the police, and then returned to her friends in New Canaan.

She returned again yesterday afternoon and found the house locked and apparently empty. Neighbors told her they had seen her husband in the neighborhood the previous evening about 8 o'clock. The family occupy the third flat. There was a strong odor of gas in the apartments, which was traced to a little hall bedroom adjoining the parlor. Mr. Rover lay in the room dead, with the gas turned full on. It is believed that he committed suicide in a fit of melancholy brought on by overwork.

Rover was a German about 46 years old, and at one time lived with his father, who owned a farm about one mile above New Canaan village. His sister is the wife of Charles Fairly of New Canaan, with whom his wife has been staying, his mother also making her home there. He has a brother employed in Fairly's market. His wife left New Canaan this morning on a telegraphic summons to come to New York to claim his body.

THE RICE ASSAULT.

Thoroughly Ventilated Last Night in the Court of Burgesses.

The Warden and Burgesses met in adjourned session last evening. Present Warden Keeler and Burgesses Bowe, Burr, Buxton, Kent, O'Reilly and Vanderhoef.

Nearly every inch of space inside of the railing as well as outside, was occupied before 8 o'clock by interested citizens, each on the tip-toe of expectation. In fact so great a crush was a decidedly unusual event. Two or three times the crowd in the lobby became so demonstrative that Warden Keeler was compelled to call upon them to preserve order.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

On motion of Burgess Bowe the Borough Clerk was authorized to pay the interest on bonds and borough notes, the sum being $3,909.16.

On motion of Burgess Bowe the Water Commissioners were authorized to pay the interest on Water bonds, outstanding notes, etc.

The bill of the Gamewell Fire Alarm Company for a signal box, amounting to $125, was presented, and, on motion referred to the fire committee.

At this point Warden Keeler read a communication to the Court of Burgesses from himself referring to the charge of police and other official dereliction during the past week, and while he was reading the same Chief DeForest and the entire police force appeared within the railing.

Burgess O'Reilly moved that Chief DeForest be requested to present a statement to the Burgesses and considered this the most favorable time for an investigation.

Burgess Burr favored this method of proceeding thereupon Chief DeForest presented an oral statement of the Rice-Hanlon trouble Thursday evening, which agreed substantially with what has heretofore appeared in the DAILY GAZETTE. He said that he released Rice, when he arrested him early in the evening, because John Malone told him that Rice was not at fault in the premises. He was told that Officer Morehouse had released Hanlon, and that an effort was being made to find a bondsman for him, etc.

In answer to Burgess Buxton Chief DeForest said that quite often after a brawl and the separation of the parties they were requested to go home and if they refused they were usually locked up. He supposed that the Rice-Hanlon quarrel was over.

In answer to Burgess O'Reilly Chief DeForest said that he knew but little of the Friday night row. He was notified of it by Officer Adams and pursued the course which has been detailed in the GAZETTE.

He also said that on Friday morning, he had determined to institute proceedings for the punishment of the parties at fault the previous night, but at the request of their friends he desisted.

At 2 o'clock Saturday he obtained the first reliable information respecting the identity of Rice's assailants, and immediately swore out a warrant for the arrest of William Hanlon, but before he could serve it he heard that Hanlon had left town.

To Burgess Bowe: "The complaint against William Hanlon was ready for service about 2 p. m. Saturday.

To Burgess Kent: "I got the complaint from the Warden between noon and 2 p. m."

To Burgess O'Reilly: "I heard that William Hanlon had gone away before I went to the fair ground."

Burgess Bowe: "That man went to New York on the 2:54 train."

Warden Keeler: "Was a threat made that the Chief dare not arrest certain parties?"

Chief DeForest: "No sir."

Burgess O'Reilly said there were citizens present who knew of this threat and that they ought to be heard.

Officer Adams made a statement respecting the Thursday night brawl, which did not differ materially from that of the Chief. If the fracas hadn't occurred on Friday night that of the previous night would have been forgotten. Dan. Honnecker told him that on Friday night he saw Rice and William Hanlon go up Mill hill together, but that he would not swear that Hanlon committed the assault.

To Borough Attorney Warner: "I do not remember who the others were who told me substantially the same thing that Honnecker did."

ance before Justice Coolidge, Officer Adams having suggested that this course should be pursued. He went in this roundabout way over the hill in order to avoid an excited and noisy crowd, which was every minute becoming more numerous and noisy, which had congregated at the foot of the hill. Soon after starting, however, Officer Adams suggested that as the fracas was over it might be better to start all of the parties home, and on Hanlon's promise to go home at once, Officer Morehouse released him.

To Burgess Buxton: "I was on duty Thursday night in Officer McCarthy's place."

Chief DeForest said he called on Officer Morehouse to do duty because he had received a note from Officer McCarthy saying that he was unfit for duty.

This led to a general ventilation of the charge of intoxication in the course of which it appeared that it was partly correct but that there had been more or less romancing concerning it.

Officer McCarthy told at length of the Friday night row, and said that when he found Rice he was unconscious. He assisted him into the wagon and he did not regain consciousness before Chief DeForest started with him for his home. It subsequently appeared that Rice gave the name of his assailant at 4 o'clock Saturday morning.

Officer Gormley said he wasn't on duty on either Thursday or Friday nights. He had a conversation with William Hanlon Saturday morning in which he admitted having a quarrel with Rice the night before, having its origin over the possession of a bottle of whisky, and gave the particulars of the assault, claiming however, that he only used his knuckles on Rice.

Officer Gormley then told Warden Keeler and Chief DeForest what he had heard, but at that time he did not know that Rice had been badly injured as he was. Had he known it he would have taken the responsibility of arresting Hanlon.

Attorney Lockwood said that when Chief DeForest asked him to draw up the papers of arrest it was about dinner time Saturday.

Burgess Kent thought Chief DeForest ought to have looked for Hanlon immediately after receiving the warrant.

Burgess Bowe informed Mr. Lockwood that he did not see William Hanlon leave on the 2:54 train, but he had reliable information that he had done so.

To Burgess O'Reilly Chief DeForest said that he had determined, after the Thursday night trouble, to swear out warrants for John and James Hanlon and Rice, but that he, (Burgess O'Reilly), had suggested that he drop the matter.

Burgess O'Reilly explained that he told Chief DeForest if Hanlon made any threats respecting what he would or could do with an alleged "pull" in the event of his arrest, to do his duty in the premises, and he, (O'Reilly), would sustain him by his vote if the matter was to come before the Court of Burgesses.

Attorney Lockwood made a manly and dignified explanation in defense of Chief DeForest's alleged inaction on Saturday in the matter of William Hanlon's arrest. He, (Mr. Lockwood), understood from Dr. Tracy that at no time had Rice been in immediate danger. He had an understanding with Dr. Tracy that if the necessity for an ante-mortem statement from Rice should arise he should be notified at once.

Burgess O'Reilly thought the responsibility for the failure to take steps to arrest William Hanlon on Saturday rested upon the shoulders of Messrs. Coolidge, Lockwood, Munson Hoyt and the chief of police.

Attorney Lockwood informed Burgess O'Reilly that if he knew of the commission of the crime and who the perpetrator was, it was as much his business to have brought about the arrest as it was that of any other citizen or official of the borough.

When he advised Chief DeForest respecting the proper steps to be taken for Hanlon's apprehension, after the papers were duly executed he felt that it was the wisest course to pursue and should do the same thing again under similar circumstances. He, (Mr. Lockwood), did not believe in hunting for a possible murderer with a brass band nor with a policeman's uniform. In his absence from town, Hanlon was kept fully advised respecting Rice's condition and the movements of the authorities and it would not have been possible for Chief DeForest to have captured him anywhere in broad daylight.

James Hanlon made a statement in corroboration of what Officers Adams and Morehouse had said and done on Thursday night. He took it for granted that the officials simply wanted to start him toward home, and that he was not under arrest.

Daniel Hanlon's statement was along the same line as that of his cousin James. He heard nothing said about bonds on the night in question.

Daniel Honnecker wanted to correct an alleged misstatement made by Officer Adams, in effect that he told the officer that he thought William Hanlon might have committed the assault. He entered upon a lengthy explanation of the events of Friday night which was interesting but not materially different from the statements previously made by others.

On motion of Burgess O'Reilly endorsed by Warden Keeler and seconded by Burgess Bowe, it was resolved to adjourn the hearing until Thursday night at 8 o'clock.

"And They Began to Make Excuse."

The meeting of the Court of Burgesses held last night was fully attended and the unusual public interest in it was made manifest by the crowds in the building and the greater crowds in the street, unable to gain admittance, and all eager to learn what was to be done with and about the murderous assault upon Jack Rice. A full, fair and impartial report of the meeting is published in this number of the DAILY GAZETTE and from it the reader will learn that some effort was made and discussed, feeble though it was, looking to the arrest of Rice's assailant. With the question whether Officer McCarthy was or was not drunk on duty, the evidence was not clear, but that he had been under the influence of drink on several occasions, since coming on the police force seemed to be the inner conviction of all the Board. But that was a question of minor moment to the public. The universal feeling is, that a great and terrible outrage on the peace and good name of this borough has been committed, and that its public officers who should be the guardians of both, have shown no proper or adequate appreciation of their responsibility in the matter and made no sincere effort to bring the offender to justice. Had the chief officer been arrested and bailed, or had last night's meeting peremptorily ordered Chief DeForest to secure his arrest at all hazards, [it was well known that he returned to Norwalk last evening,] and then adjourned, the feeling in this community would be far different from what it is to-day. Had inoffensive John Runk, or "Auntie Miller," or "Mag" Brophy, even staggered on the streets the public know they would have been promptly arrested. Our Warden's fault and the fault of our Chief of Police, in the eyes of their friends and best constituents, is that they did not more energetically rise to the duty of the occasion. Practically nothing was done at last night's borough meeting to allay the public anxiety, indignation and alarm. So far as the expression of any desire, or plan, or determination to arrest the violator of the public peace is concerned, this meeting turned out as big a farce and fizzle as Pat's boiled watermelon—"a dombd big nothing."

McCarthy Suspended.

In the light of last week's occurrences, and the developments at last evening's meeting, Warden Keeler this morning issued an order suspending Officer McCarthy until such time as a thorough investigation can be had, the direct charge being that of intoxication when on duty.

Now let some officer be found who dares to, can and will, put William Hanlon under arrest. That is what the people demand and will have, or know the reason why. No vicarious sacrifice of poor Tim McCarthy, can be made to divert the public from this stern purpose, either.

All Moonshine.

An interesting and quite peculiar natural phenomenon caused no little excitement about the Bridge last evening, a little after 8 o'clock. When first seen, it was thought that another large fire was raging in East Norwalk. Owing to the peculiar conditions of the humid atmosphere, a lurid red light shone brilliantly from behind the heavy green foliage of the tall elm trees, while the clouds were of that vapory form and substance resembling rising and floating smoke. It proved to be the great full moon rising and breaking its way through the fleecy folds of mist. So the few moments of excitement in anticipation of a conflagration, all ended in moonshine.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

All members of the association desiring to take excursion tickets to sell can procure them at the association rooms.

There will be a meeting of all interested in the formation of a tennis club at the rooms on Thursday evening at 9 o'clock. Any member of the association wishing to join the club should attend this meeting.

A MANLY ACT.

William Hanlon Voluntarily Surrenders Himself.

Bonds of $1,500 Accepted.

No one attempting to arrest him (and apparently not desiring to do so.) William Hanlon at about half past ten this morning voluntarily surrendered himself to Officer Adams. The two then repaired to Justice Coolidge's office, where Michael Sheedy appeared and gave bonds in $1,500 for him and he was released. So a truce for the present at least, of this miserable travesty of justice.

As such is Hanlon's crime to be abhorred, he thus comes out of it and stands before the community in a far more manly and creditable light than do our borough officers of justice, charged with the protection of life and the preservation of the public peace.

The examination of both James and William Hanlon will be held at the borough courtroom on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.

Call a Halt.

The murderous assault upon poor John Rice, Friday night, would go to show that very little heed has been taken of the terrible warning given by the Scheele execution and the ending of a vicious career, marked by persistent violations of every law human and divine. How many are there here in Norwalk who, like Scheele, delight to defy the laws until their vicious careers are ended by violent death. Jacob Scheele, wild, excitable and ungovernable, is no more. Evil associates led him from bad to worse, until finally the end was reached—executed on the gallows. His terrible example should prove a warning to all those on the downward road who recklessly violate the law of God and man.

Strawberry Festival.

Sherman Commandery, No. 470 United Order of the Golden Cross will hold an open meeting and strawberry festival this evening in Y. M. C. A. hall at 8 o'clock.

An elaborate programme has been prepared including readings, recitations, instrumental and vocal solos and banjo duets. At the close of the entertainment strawberries, ice cream and cake will be served. Admission free but by ticket and all who have not received one will be supplied with them at the door.

Lawn Fete To-night.

Don't forget the ladies' lawn fete at the Congregational church grounds to-night. If you miss it you will miss a good thing as well as a rare array of the other kind of Misses.

A Timely Note.

In view of the deplorable transactions of the past week, here in our borough, we think the following brief extract of Rev. Dr. Newman Smyth's address will bear republication:

Our politics to-day he thought centered on local affairs. Making good local self-government in all communities is the unsolved problem of American politics. There are two classes, the evil and the indifferent on the wrong side of the question, especially do the latter, though good men, who take no interest in local politics, count on the wrong side. There are many in Connecticut who will never do anything good in a hurry unless they die suddenly some day. To him it seemed that things had come to an era of deadlocks and deals. An invitation to corruption. It was time to look facts in the face. He deprecated the admission of the kind of men who nowadays got into the city councils and matters of public interest were settled on purely personal grounds. Politics stood in the way of everything and hampered good works of every kind. It is the duty of good men almost to stand out of politics, and he had come to think every good man ought to vote at elections against the party that had won at the previous election. Public opinion seemed to be like a great sleepy giant. Occasionally it arouses and with its club sweeps everything away. Then it goes to sleep again and is harder to awake next time.

The Indicted Directors on Trial.

New York, June 23.—The trial of the New Haven railroad directors on indictments for misdemeanor, charging them with allowing the use of stoves in passenger trains contrary to the statute, was begun before Judge Van Brunt, in the court of over and terminer this morning. Only three of the twelve indicted directors appeared in court. The directors did not have to face the bar as ordinary persons charged with crime must, nor were the bonds of those who were absent declared forfeited, as is the custom with bonds of ordinary persons. Most of the day was taken up with getting a jury.

Liverpool Cotton Firms Shaky.

LONDON, June 23.—Disquieting rumors are afloat in Liverpool in connection with cotton matters. It is hoped, however, that nothing more serious than a heavy pressure on firms weak financially will ensue. The excellent clearing house system, compelling weak operators to close unwisely bargains before becoming too deeply involved, tends to assure this result. Manchester lacks a similar system, but a cautious policy has been pursued there.

NORWALK GAZETTE

Absolutely Independent. TUESDAY, JUNE 23, 1901. HIPPOLYTE MUST APOLOGIZE.

President Diaz Demands It for the Violation of the Mexican Consulate. City of Mexico, via El Paso, Tex., June 23.—The assertion of President Hipolyte that he received authority from President Diaz to take the three men he had shot from the Mexican consulate at Port au Prince is false.

It is now believed they have gone direct to Hayti, where they have been ordered to demand reparation of Hipolyte for the violation of the Mexican consulate at Port au Prince. The telegram from the United States giving details of the act has caused just indignation.

Dolly Davis Is Not Dead. New York, June 23.—Dolly Davis, the well known variety actress, who, it was reported, had committed suicide Saturday at Croton Landing, N. Y., and who was decided a suicide by a coroner's jury at Sing Sing yesterday, is alive and well.

This Fellow's a Born Murderer. PARKERSBURG, W. Va., June 23.—Clarence Neal, a boy eighteen years of age, who killed his father when only fourteen years old, has killed Charles Skidmore, a boy of fifteen, at Riverside. Neal had had a quarrel with a boy named Dotson and after they had been separated a short time Neal started out to find Dotson with the intention of killing him.

And Yet He Lives. WARSAW, N. Y., June 23.—James Shreely of Wyoming was struck by a freight train on the B. R. and P. railroad near Miller's salt works. His scalp was torn from his forehead back nearly to the spine and a hole was cut entirely through his cheek so large that the tongue could protrude. He was intoxicated and probably lying with his head near the rail as there were no other injuries.

Killed by a Freight Train. BUFFALO, June 23.—George O. Crooker, aged forty-six years, a farmer of Eden and brother of Superintendent of Education Crooker, of this city, was killed Monday morning by a freight train on the Nickel Plate crossing at Athol Springs. He was driving to market and was run down by the train.

More Deaths from Diphtheria. HARTFORD, June 23.—There have been three more deaths in East Hartford from diphtheria, making a total of twelve. It is now thought that the epidemic is abating.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL. New York, June 22.—Money loaned at easy rates at 2 1/2% per cent. Exchange steady; posted rates, $4.87 for silver and $4.89 for demand; actual rates, $4.86 1/2 for silver and $4.88 1/2 for demand. Government securities quiet; currency 6 1/2, 100 bid; 4 1/2, coupon, 100 bid, 4 1/2 do, 100 bid.

Death of General Blanchard. NEW ORLEANS, June 23.—Brigadier General (Blanchard), aged eighty-one, died. He was born in Charlestown, Mass., in 1810, and was graduated from West Point in 1829 in the class with Robert E. Lee and Joseph E. Johnston.

Scared the Lass but Killed Himself. WATERBURY, Conn., June 23.—Joseph Laundry, a French Canadian, fired a revolver twice at his sweetheart, Annie Corrigan, and then, thinking he had killed her, shot and killed himself. The bullets aimed at Miss Corrigan, however, went wide of the mark and the young lady was unhurt, though terribly frightened.

To Build in the Adirondacks. ALBANY, June 23.—The Lake Placid Hotel company, with a capital of $500,000, was incorporated Monday for the avowed purpose of building hotels in Essex and Franklin counties in the Adirondacks. The stockholders are Gardner S. Blodgett and George Holden, of Burlington, Vt.; Charles E. Martin, of Plattsburg; Appolas Smith and Phelps Smith, of Brighton, N. Y.

General Markets. NEW YORK, June 23.—FLOUR—Dull, with prices barely steady; city mill extras, $5.65; for West Indies; Minnesota extra, $3.90; 25c; fine, $3.35; 40c; superfine, $3.75; 45c. WHEAT—Opened firm at 54c advance, declined 1/2c in first hour, and then rallied 1/2c. At noon the market was steady; receipts, 438,800 bushels; shipments, 224,782 bushels; No. 2 red winter, $1.09 1/2; cash, do, July, $1.09 1/2; do, August, $1.09 1/2; do, September, $0.94.

THE DEADLY TORPEDO.

The Frightful Result of the One Which Struck the Encalada.

175 OF HER CREW DROWNED.

Captain Nesmith, Who Was an Eyewitness of the Terrible Chilean Naval Battle, Gives a Vivid Description of the Engagement.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23.—Captain F. B. Nesmith has arrived in this city after a stay of eight months in Chile. He was an eyewitness of the naval battle between the insurgent cruiser Blanco Encalada and the government torpedo boats Almirante Condell and Almirante Lynch from on board the English schooner Sophie May, anchored 500 yards from the Encalada.

The government vessels entered the harbor of Caldero, where the Encalada was at anchor, early on the morning of April 23. When within 300 yards of the insurgent ship the Condell fired two torpedoes, but both missed. The Lynch then fired two torpedoes at a distance of 100 yards, which also went wide of the mark.

A Hundred and Seventy-one Drowned. During the time the insurgent transport Aconagua entered the harbor and joined in the fight. It looked as though the two torpedo boats would be defeated, when finally the Lynch made a rush for the Encalada. When forty yards distant she fired a torpedo, which struck the insurgent ship amidships.

A terrible explosion followed, and the Encalada immediately began to sink, but her guns kept on firing, and one of the last shots demolished the Lynch's smokestack. At least five or six shots were fired from the vessel after the torpedo struck her. The officers attempted to get out the boats, but in five minutes the ship sank, and 175 of the crew were drowned.

The Condell and Lynch next attacked the Aconagua, when the Imperiale, which was stationed outside, signaled the approach of another warship, and the torpedo boats immediately steamed out of the harbor and made preparations to attack the new arrival. She proved to be H. M. S. Warspite, but the Condell did not discover it, and fired a gun to call the stranger to account.

The official report of the fight made to President Balmaceda states that the Condell received a charge of canister which killed two men and wounded five others. Fifty-two tubes in a carriage burst, and the stokers were nearly asphyxiated. The Lynch was struck fourteen times by solid shot, one striking below the water line. Commodore Mont, commander of the Encalada, was on shore during the fight.

Captain Lambton, of the Warspite, in conversation with Captain Nesmith, said the destruction of the Encalada did not develop any new feature in naval warfare, as it was only a surprise, pure and simple.

It Wrecked Things Generally. CHARLESTON, Mo., June 23.—A terrible wind storm passed over this city. It blew down many trees, almost demolished the Baptist church and unroofed the opera house and the store of A. McElmurry. The residence of H. E. Sherman was unroofed and one of the walls blown down.

Scared the Lass but Killed Himself. WATERBURY, Conn., June 23.—Joseph Laundry, a French Canadian, fired a revolver twice at his sweetheart, Annie Corrigan, and then, thinking he had killed her, shot and killed himself. The bullets aimed at Miss Corrigan, however, went wide of the mark and the young lady was unhurt, though terribly frightened.

Old "Hutch's" Movements. NEW YORK, June 23.—R. P. Hutchinson, of Chicago, the "Old Hutch" whose proclivities for what speculation are well known, left the Astor House at 6:30 Monday morning for what destination could not be learned. He arrived at the hotel Sunday morning and spent the day in sitting around the hotelery office, and several friends who called to see him found him in a pleasant mood.

JOE McDONALD IS DEAD.

Indiana's Ex-Senator Passed Away Without a Struggle.

HIS CAREER A NOTABLE ONE

"Old Saddlebags," as He Was Familiarly Called, Was a Self Made Man and Could Have Had a Presidential Nomination.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 23.—Ex-Senator Joseph E. McDonald died Sunday night at 11:35 o'clock. He passed away very peacefully, without a struggle, surrounded by his family, who were all in attendance at the bedside. Mrs. McDonald is greatly prostrated over her loss. The funeral has been fixed for 3 o'clock, Wednesday, but beyond this no arrangements have been perfected.

"Old Saddlebags." "Old Saddlebags" was the endearing sobriquet which the Democrats of the west loved to apply to Joseph Ewing McDonald. He was, years ago, one of the popular idols whom they revered, and whom they were willing to fight for and for whom, had he ever received the nomination for the presidency, they would have enthusiastically voted. He was one of the plain people, and the plain people were in their way a hero of him. His ancestry was Scotch-Irish, with a dash of Huguenot blood that came from his mother, Eleanor Pratt, who was by birth a Pennsylvanian. The father of Mr. McDonald, a Pennsylvanian also, died when his son, the future senator, was a mere child. That bereavement might have been disastrous in many ways had she not been a woman of strong character.

With practical sagacity she set her son, when he was only twelve years old, to learning the best trade that presented itself to her judgment. It was that of a harness maker. He even then wanted to be a lawyer, but his wishes were overruled by the mother and the good husband whom she had found. It was to be the trade first and then the profession. In case he failed in the latter he was to have something to fall back on.

His Advent in Politics. He was eighteen years old when the period for which he had been apprenticed expired. Entering Wabash college he supported himself by working at his trade. From Wabash he went to the University of Asbury. After leaving that institution he taught school for a time, and next, at the age of twenty-three, began in earnest the study of law in the office of Zebulon Baird, who had the reputation of being the most eminent lawyer in Indiana.

McDonald made such rapid progress in his studies that, in the words of one who has written about him, "he was, when admitted to the bar, not a mere law student, but an educated lawyer, thoroughly imbued with both the theory and practice of the law." This was in 1844 and he was then twenty-five years old, having been born in Butler county, O., Aug. 29, 1819. In 1845 he settled down in Crawfordsville. The Democrats there made him prosecuting attorney, and in 1849 they sent him to congress. Two years later the new office of attorney general was created by the state, and after a close fight he captured the position. He was elected in 1858, served a second term and declined the offer of a third nomination in 1890.

His Great Campaign. Then came the war era. Oliver P. Morton became on the Republican side the great political leader in the state. An idea of the position Joe McDonald then held in his own party may be formed from the fact that in 1864 he was selected to run against Morton for the chief magistracy of the state. That campaign attracted the attention of the whole country. It was brilliantly aggressive from every point of view. McDonald was beaten, but he polled so large a vote against such tremendous odds that he became from that time forward one of the national leaders of the Democracy.

The Democrats of Indiana made him in 1872 the chairman of her state central committee. He reorganized the party, and in 1875 succeeded in electing a Democratic legislature, which sent him the same year to the United States senate. He at once took a front place in the body.

Senator McDonald was urged very strongly by his Indiana friends as an available and powerful candidate for the presidency in 1884, and at Cincinnati, in 1890, it was the loyalty of Senator McDonald to Mr. Hendricks which alone prevented him, McDonald, from being the first choice of the convention.

He Was Loyal to Hendricks. Mr. Hendricks' name was presented and pressed with united vigor by the Indiana delegation, but it was feared from the very start that it would be "love's labor lost." Notwithstanding this, Mr. McDonald urged the delegation to remain steadfast in its candidate, and if it were compelled to go down it would do so with colors flying. Before many hours had elapsed, however, it was apparent that Mr. McDonald himself was looming up in the convention as the most available candidate, and delegation after delegation approached the Indianians, urging that if they would present his name in place of Mr. Hendricks' he could be nominated on the next ballot. It is only necessary to state that a majority of the Indiana delegation was ready to comply, but when Mr. McDonald was approached on the subject—as he was by the most distinguished and influential men in the convention—he emphatically put his foot down on the proposition.

His position, briefly, was to the effect that he was there as a pronounced advocate and firm friend of Mr. Hendricks, and he was for him, and he would never place himself in any position that bore the slightest semblance of betrayal. The nomination of Hancock followed, but every delegate at Cincinnati knew that the nomination was in the hands of Mr. McDonald if he had but chosen to accept it.

As a lawyer Senator McDonald attained a very distinguished position. He was engaged in many famous cases, among which the most noted, perhaps, was that of the United States against Bowles, Milligan and Horses, who were concerned in an alleged conspiracy against the government.

A BALLOON BURSTS IN MIDAIR. Four Workmen Who Had Been Carried Up in It Dashed to Death.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 23.—While a large balloon belonging to Count Apraxine was being inflated with gas it escaped from the attendants who were holding it to the ground and carried upward four workmen who were in the car when the balloon broke away.

After it had ascended to a great height the onlookers were horrified to see the balloon burst and the bodies of the unfortunate workmen dashed to the earth where they were smashed almost beyond recognition.

A Balloon in a Gale. PARIS, June 23.—A thrilling scene was witnessed yesterday by an enormous throng gathered in the Bois de Colombes to witness a balloon ascension. A strong wind was blowing, and the balloon had just risen to a level with the tops of the surrounding houses, when a sudden squall seized it and dashed it against a chimney. The balloon was torn open and M. Gauthier, a professional aeronaut, and an amateur fortunately hit were seriously injured. Accompanying the balloon had lost so much gas that it sank slowly toward the ground and was pulled down by the spectators.

Conductor Brown Held. BOSTON, June 23.—United States Commissioner Hall this morning heard the case of Conductor Brown of Malden, Mass., charged with smuggling goods from Canada to this country. Several witnesses were examined who testified to receiving goods from Brown, which had been brought over the border, addressed to parties in the States. Among them was a package addressed to "C. H. Herbert, Lynn, Mass." On this testimony the commissioner decided to hold Brown in the sum of $5,000 for trial on June 28. Mr. Brown's lawyer made no defense, saying that he did not wish to introduce any evidence at this time.

An Inane Man's Suicide. GENEVA, N. Y., June 23.—John B. Gaylord, a well known carpenter and joiner, terminated his existence by drowning in Seneca lake. He was seen to get into a boat, row out a few rods from the shore and jump into the water. The authorities were notified and the body was recovered. About three years ago deceased began to show violent symptoms of insanity, induced, it is believed, by excessive smoking. He was sent to Willard asylum, but after several months he was discharged. During the last few days he has shown signs of the return of his mental disorder.

Savage and Fatal Labor Riot. VIENNA, June 23.—A savage riot occurred yesterday at Batonya, Hungary. A mob of field laborers, incited by socialist agitators, attacked the town hall and would probably have wrecked the building had it not been for the desperate resistance made by a small force of gendarmes who had stationed themselves behind its walls. The gendarmes fired upon the mob, killed four of the rioters upon the spot and severely wounded seven others. This checked the ardor of the socialist element, and the authorities soon after restored order.

Sam Small's Accuser Indicted. PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—The grand jury in this city returned a true bill for criminal libel against Rev. J. Wesley Hill, of Ogdon, U. T. The offense is writing and publishing a defamatory letter charging criminal conduct upon Rev. Sam Small in connection with the funds of the Utah university. Hill having failed to make good any charge against Dr. Small in the recent Methodist conference investigations of Small's official career, the latter now seeks to bring his accuser before the criminal courts.

Gibson's Case Delayed. CHICAGO, June 23.—The case of George J. Gibson, who was to have been tried before Judge Kettle on the charge of attempting to blow up the Shufeldt distillery, was not taken up Monday as expected, owing to the absence of Judge Kettle from the city. State Attorney Longenecker and Attorney Rannels, Gibson's counsel, visited several judges today, and it is probable that the matter will be taken up tomorrow before some other judge, as both sides are anxious to have a hearing.

Laid to Jack the Ripper. LONDON, June 23.—A horrible murder was discovered Monday in Whitefield street, Tottenham road. A foreign woman named Mme. Ashton was found dead and her head shockingly disfigured. The last visitor observed by the neighbors was evidently a Frenchman, and he is suspected of being the murderer. Enormous crowds blocked the streets in the vicinity and tremendous excitement prevails, as the crime is laid by many at the door of "Jack the Ripper."

The Anaconda Not Sold. BALTIMORE, June 23.—The statement of Mr. Haggin, published in the New York papers, to the effect that the Anaconda mine has not been sold is fully believed by the junior members of the Baltimore Copper Smelting company of this city. Mr. Haggin, they say, is the owner and ought to know for a certainty whether the mine is sold or not. The Baltimore Smelting company is the Baltimore agent of the Anaconda copper mine.

A Somewhat Unique Verdict This. INDIANAPOLIS, June 23.—Harry Carpenter, a wealthy farmer in this county, committed suicide by shooting. The coroner's jury returned a verdict saying, "The deceased killed himself in a fit of despondency caused by brooding over the increase in taxes under the new Democratic appraisal law of the state."

Explosion in a Theater. MUNICH, June 23.—An explosion of gas in the Munich theater resulted in the serious wounding of five persons, one of whom will die. Fire followed the explosion, and before the flames could be controlled serious damage was inflicted to the building.

He Gets Nine Years. NEW YORK, June 23.—William Mauser, who was tried and convicted of assaulting the Rev. Clark Wright with a pistol on June 6, was sentenced to nine years' imprisonment.

SEARCHING FOR MARSH.

The Fugitive Bank President Hiding in the Jersey Swamps.

CERTAIN TO BE CAPTURED.

It Is Believed That His Apprehension Is Only a Question of Time—The Injured Detective Turns Out to Be Labor Agitator Garside.

PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—District Attorney Graham returned from Spring Lake Monday morning. He brings encouraging reports of "Freeman's" condition, and says that "Freeman's" physician now believes that he will recover from the effects of the terrible blow given him by his assailant.

"Max Freeman," as one of the brightest and ablest of Philadelphia newspaper men. His right name is Thomas Garside, and previous to his coming to this city and entering upon newspaper work he was known as Professor Garside, and had a reputation extending over two continents as a labor agitator.

Sure He Is in the Swamps. District Attorney Graham had as long an interview with Garside as his condition would allow, and the injured man told him all he knew. Mr. Graham learned enough to at once send to this city for detectives, and that of Chief Wood's men are now at Spring Lake searching for the men who were at the lonely cottage at Como, and from one of whom Garside received his injuries. One of these men the authorities are convinced is Marsh.

United States Marshal Leeds says that "Freeman's" doctor is confident that Marsh has been seen at Spring Lake within the last ten days. It is now believed that Marsh has taken to the Jersey swamps, and that his capture will be but a question of time.

Wright's Sureties Approved. PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—The matter of the approval of the sureties of City Treasurer Wright, which was argued on Friday last before Judge Breyer and held under advisement, came up again Monday morning in the old court house. After argument on the case the attorney general said that he was satisfied with the sureties presented amounting to $50,000, and Judge Breyer approved the bond in that amount.

Cotton and Cloth in Flames. FALL RIVER, Mass., June 23.—Fire Monday at the Border City mills, Bowdoinville, damaged a storehouse and contents to the extent of $100,000. The storehouse contained about 2,000 bales of cotton and a quantity of fancy cloth, owned principally by commission houses and stored awaiting shipment. Three firemen were slightly injured by falling walls and a number of firemen were partially overcome by smoke.

Five Families Poisoned. PERU, Ind., June 23.—The families of A. B. Kissiman, Daniel Whitehead, J. Summers, J. Weist and B. Smith were dangerously poisoned by eating imported dried beef purchased at a grocery store. Prompt medical attendance saved them, although four out of the twelve poisoned are still seriously ill.

Shoe Men to Shut Down. HOLBROOK, Mass., June 23.—On account of the unsettled state of business throughout the country Whitcomb & Paine's factory will shut down indefinitely. They have been turning out 100 cases of boots per day.

William Was Grateful. BERLIN, June 23.—The kaiser has promoted Count Schulerburg to be colonel for seconding Chancellor Caprivi in his defense of the government against Hohenthal's attack in behalf of Bismarck.

An Illinois Town Cycloned. CAIRO, Ills., June 23.—Much damage was done here by a cyclone. Many houses were unroofed, trees uprooted and telegraph wires generally demoralized. No loss of life is reported.

The Earl of Clonmel Dead. LONDON, June 23.—John Henry Reginald Scott, fourth earl of Clonmel, died Monday. The Earl of Clonmel was born in 1839 and was elected a representative peer for Ireland in 1874.

BRIEF MENTION. Reports from the American consuls in different parts of the globe indicate that great interest is manifested in the coming World's fair at Chicago. The South American republics will send large displays. Germany intends to furnish a fine exhibit, as does Turkey also. Portugal will not be officially represented.

The queen has allowed to be published a letter written by her to the archbishop of Canterbury some years ago, in which she urges that the house of lords pass the Irish church disestablishment bill. It is supposed the letter is published for a definite purpose.

Bowling college, at Brunswick, Me., will send an Arctic expedition to the northern shore of British America during the summer months. The exploring party will leave next Saturday fully equipped for a thorough scientific investigation.

An enterprising constable at Eads, Kiowa county, Colo., levied on the engine of an express train to satisfy a judgment for $17.50, detaining the train load of passengers and the mails over three hours.

The report as to the crop conditions of the two Dakotas show that the yield for all products will be much larger than for the last five years. Wheat and corn are in especially good condition.

Superintendent of Census Porter denies emphatically the truth of the published report that the census bureau work is blocked and swamped, and that he intends to resign.

William Myers, of McKeesport, Pa., after trying to kill Mrs. William Harding, a neighbor, because of her refusal to clothe his son, committed suicide.

Mrs. Kehoe, an elderly lady of Elverson, Pa., was mysteriously robbed of $3,000 in gold, which was hidden in an old satchel.

Over 300 molders of Chicago will go out on a strike, owing to the troubles of the architectural iron workers.

A rowboat containing ten colored people capsized in Curtis creek, Md., and seven of them were drowned.

An excursion train on the Nickel Plate road was wrecked near Cleveland, and one man was instantly killed and forty-eight persons injured, some of whom will die.

PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—A portrait of Joseph E. McDonald, the late Indiana senator, is shown in the accompanying illustration.

whom, had he ever received the nomination for the presidency, they would have enthusiastically voted. He was one of the plain people, and the plain people were in their way a hero of him. His ancestry was Scotch-Irish, with a dash of Huguenot blood that came from his mother, Eleanor Pratt, who was by birth a Pennsylvanian. The father of Mr. McDonald, a Pennsylvanian also, died when his son, the future senator, was a mere child. That bereavement might have been disastrous in many ways had she not been a woman of strong character.

With practical sagacity she set her son, when he was only twelve years old, to learning the best trade that presented itself to her judgment. It was that of a harness maker. He even then wanted to be a lawyer, but his wishes were overruled by the mother and the good husband whom she had found. It was to be the trade first and then the profession. In case he failed in the latter he was to have something to fall back on.

His Advent in Politics. He was eighteen years old when the period for which he had been apprenticed expired. Entering Wabash college he supported himself by working at his trade. From Wabash he went to the University of Asbury. After leaving that institution he taught school for a time, and next, at the age of twenty-three, began in earnest the study of law in the office of Zebulon Baird, who had the reputation of being the most eminent lawyer in Indiana.

McDonald made such rapid progress in his studies that, in the words of one who has written about him, "he was, when admitted to the bar, not a mere law student, but an educated lawyer, thoroughly imbued with both the theory and practice of the law." This was in 1844 and he was then twenty-five years old, having been born in Butler county, O., Aug. 29, 1819. In 1845 he settled down in Crawfordsville. The Democrats there made him prosecuting attorney, and in 1849 they sent him to congress. Two years later the new office of attorney general was created by the state, and after a close fight he captured the position. He was elected in 1858, served a second term and declined the offer of a third nomination in 1890.

His Great Campaign. Then came the war era. Oliver P. Morton became on the Republican side the great political leader in the state. An idea of the position Joe McDonald then held in his own party may be formed from the fact that in 1864 he was selected to run against Morton for the chief magistracy of the state. That campaign attracted the attention of the whole country. It was brilliantly aggressive from every point of view. McDonald was beaten, but he polled so large a vote against such tremendous odds that he became from that time forward one of the national leaders of the Democracy.

The Democrats of Indiana made him in 1872 the chairman of her state central committee. He reorganized the party, and in 1875 succeeded in electing a Democratic legislature, which sent him the same year to the United States senate. He at once took a front place in the body.

Senator McDonald was urged very strongly by his Indiana friends as an available and powerful candidate for the presidency in 1884, and at Cincinnati, in 1890, it was the loyalty of Senator McDonald to Mr. Hendricks which alone prevented him, McDonald, from being the first choice of the convention.

He Was Loyal to Hendricks. Mr. Hendricks' name was presented and pressed with united vigor by the Indiana delegation, but it was feared from the very start that it would be "love's labor lost." Notwithstanding this, Mr. McDonald urged the delegation to remain steadfast in its candidate, and if it were compelled to go down it would do so with colors flying. Before many hours had elapsed, however, it was apparent that Mr. McDonald himself was looming up in the convention as the most available candidate, and delegation after delegation approached the Indianians, urging that if they would present his name in place of Mr. Hendricks' he could be nominated on the next ballot. It is only necessary to state that a majority of the Indiana delegation was ready to comply, but when Mr. McDonald was approached on the subject—as he was by the most distinguished and influential men in the convention—he emphatically put his foot down on the proposition.

His position, briefly, was to the effect that he was there as a pronounced advocate and firm friend of Mr. Hendricks, and he was for him, and he would never place himself in any position that bore the slightest semblance of betrayal. The nomination of Hancock followed, but every delegate at Cincinnati knew that the nomination was in the hands of Mr. McDonald if he had but chosen to accept it.

As a lawyer Senator McDonald attained a very distinguished position. He was engaged in many famous cases, among which the most noted, perhaps, was that of the United States against Bowles, Milligan and Horses, who were concerned in an alleged conspiracy against the government.

A BALLOON BURSTS IN MIDAIR. Four Workmen Who Had Been Carried Up in It Dashed to Death.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 23.—While a large balloon belonging to Count Apraxine was being inflated with gas it escaped from the attendants who were holding it to the ground and carried upward four workmen who were in the car when the balloon broke away.

THE WEATHER. The weather to-day promises to be generally clear, with less sultriness, slightly higher temperature.

Almanac for To-morrow. High water Bridgeport 12:36. High water Norwalk Islands 12:41. Low water Norwalk Islands 6:25. Sun rises 4:20, sun sets 7:30.

SOUTH NORWALK.

The GAZETTE is on sale at the news offices of Fred Coleman, H. Thell, W. L. Atherton, and H. E. Bodwell. Orders for all kinds of JOB PRINTING received at our branch office on Railroad Square.

The cherry crop in this section is something immense. A meeting of the hospital committee was held last evening.

The Eva L. Ferris is at Wilson Point with 1,700 tons of coal. Will Smith, a Seymour jeweler, is visiting friends in this city.

The thermometer at the postoffice registered 85° at 11.30 this morning. Mr. Harry Nash is to wed Miss M. W. Brown, of Baltimore, to-morrow.

George Bromfield, the oil man, is down the harbor to-day fishing for whales. A train of twenty-five empty cars passed through here going east at 11.30 this morning.

Miss Iola Swords returned home from a two weeks' visit with her brother in Boston, yesterday. A young man named Seofield succeeds Frank Littlefair as a driver for the Adams Express company.

After a severe illness of over two months Miss Della Sanford has gone to old Canaan in search of health. Mr. J. R. Finch, of East Norwalk, and Miss Lucy Walker, of Brooklyn, are to be married to-morrow evening.

The case of Frank Godson, who is charged with selling intoxicants without a license, will be tried next Saturday. The Boston store, this city, this morning sold over $200 worth of crockery to Landlord Frye, of the hotel at Bell Island.

Mike Sullivan, who was looking for fight yesterday afternoon, was accommodated by George Myers who knocked him out. A barge with 210 tons of coal is unloading at the steamboat wharf. The City of Albany will burn up from 15 to 18 tons of it a day until it is gone.

The half-yearly meeting of Court Mahackemo, A. O. F., will be held at their rooms to-night for the election of officers. All members should be present. Did you ever notice how gracefully George Van Alstyne, of the Boston store, sits on a horse? No matter what be the gait of the horse, George hugs the saddle like a porcupine.

Mr. J. C. Hawkins' schooner leaves port to-day for Northport, L. I., where she will be loaded with gravel, and after discharging which she will proceed to Bangor, Me., for a cargo of lumber. Mrs. Wm. Smedly and Miss Alice F. Hallock, daughter of Charles F. Hallock, went to New York on the City of Albany this morning. They sail on the City of Paris for Europe to-day. They expect to return sometime in October.

Nathan Clark has been granted a pension of $8 per month. Wm. Zimmerman, a cigarmaker at the Old Well Cigar Co., has also been granted a pension of $12 per month. They were secured through the agency of D. P. Morrell. The case of Phillip Marranno, who was arrested for the reputation of selling intoxicating liquors without a license, was settled yesterday by the payment of a fine and costs. The liquor seized was destroyed. Hurlbutt for defendant.

A little girl living on South Main street turned a bottle of perfume into a glass of water this morning that she was about to drink. Upon being taken to task for so doing she replied, "Mamma, the water stinked so I could not drink it."

It is expected that Tom Lovett, the $1,500 pitcher of the Brooklyn base ball club, will be in this city next Sunday, the guest of Newsman Flynn. Yesterday, in the Brooklyn-New York game, Lovett shut the New Yorkers out without a strike.

Messrs. W. H. Hoyt & Son's new oyster steamer "W. H. Hoyt" will be launched at Hunt's yard, in East Bridgeport, to-day, and then she will be towed to Bristol and her machinery placed. This will doubtless be as fine an oyster steamer as ever came into this or any other harbor.

Rev. Henry Cole, who for the past ten years has been doing missionary work in Africa, will deliver a free lecture in the Y. M. C. A. rooms Friday evening. The lecture will be of interest and there ought to be a large attendance. He preached an able sermon in Trinity church last Sunday evening. Mr. Cole is a cousin of Officer Ireland of this city.

The Foresters will meet to-night in Grand Army hall.

Dr. Emily Pardee is expected home to-morrow, to the great liking of her many patients. Capt. Verity is putting in a new $700 Puffer soda fountain at his store on the Washington street bridge.

Mr. Samuel Hull, the blacksmith moved his family to Ridgefield to-day. He will work at his trade in that place. The Women's Relief Corps fair netted over $50. A good showing considering the stormy weather at the time it was held.

Mr. Fred Crofut was taken with a fit at the home of his sister on Taylor avenue, this morning, and falling on a stove out a painful gash in the back of his head. That portion of West Washington street facing on Railroad square is being ploughed up by Contractor Finch preparatory to receiving a dressing of crushed stone.

A careless driver in the employ of Expressman Cavanaugh, ran into the corset factory truck this morning at the steamboat wharf, and broke a shaft of the latter truck. Fred. Shears was here this morning distributing posters announcing excursion rates to the Danbury races. The fare from South Norwalk and return including admission to the grounds is $1.50.

Manson Pardee of this city, passed the highest civil service examination for the railway mail service, of any one in this section. His run will be on the Consolidated road between Boston and New York.

Plumber T. S. Donaldson received a telegram last night announcing the death of his mother at Springfield, Mass. She had been an invalid for the past five years. The funeral will take place to-morrow.

A day like this to-morrow will probably draw a large crowd to witness the ball game at the Baxter grounds, between the "Belles of the Bat" and the Resolutes. Don't fail to see the queens of the Emerald diamond.

The young man who for the past three or four days has been lying on the floor in Comstock Bros. window, got up this morning, brushed his outfit suit and climbed into a hammock, where he now lies the envy of a perspiring people.

Mrs. Berne A. Vickers sails for London to-day, on the steamship City of New York. She will be accompanied by her sister. Mr. Vickers says that the next time she goes across the big pond he proposes going too, as he never was so lonesome before in his life as during her absence.

John Chambers, a resident of Graniteville, attempted suicide last night by stabbing himself in the throat with a pair of scissors. The scissors were wrested from him before he had done himself serious injury. Chambers has been ill for some time and it is believed that it caused him to be temporarily insane at the time of the attempt.

Officer Ireland arrested Henry Van Name this morning for stealing two and one-half bushels of round clams from Capt. Hiram Bell. He at first denied his guilt, but afterwards confessed to the theft. Justice Townsend fined him $5 and costs and sent him to jail for thirty days. Clams are high nowadays, but this is the highest notch yet chronicled. Van Name is a sort of a ne'er do well who has received attention from the police before.

Last evening Constable Hall arrested a tramp in East Norwalk and brought him to the station house in this city. He placed him in No. 3 of the cage, pulled the lever and went home. This morning he came over to present his prisoner for trial but found the tramp had escaped. He also found that in locking the fellow up he had pulled the lever on No. 1 cage instead of No. 3 as he supposed. He seems much chagrined over the affair.

Poet William Morehouse, of Weston axe fame, and a man of flax-like hair and many friends was in this city yesterday, looking after his property on the hill and the "lassies who do him adore." "Honest John" is now a resident of Mt. Vernon and wears "purple and fine linen" in strong contrast as he remarked to your reporter this morning "with the clothes I wore when a boy and went to meeting in Decatur barefooted." Mr. Morehouse has as large a clientele of friends as any person who ever made Norwalk his home.

LIKELY TO STAY IN PRISON. A Murderer Whom Keeper Patterson Thinks Not Entitled to Parole. TRENTON, June 23.—Daniel O'Connell, the murderer, who was paroled last Tuesday by the New Jersey court of pardons, is still in the state prison and is likely to stay there, because the head keeper, Mr. Patterson, will not sign the necessary paper which certifies that the man is a fit person to be paroled.

In Morris county, where O'Connell committed his crime, there is general indignation over the action of the court of pardons. The prosecutor claims that he was not notified by the court of their proposed action, and if he had been, he would have opposed the paroling of this man. His petition for pardon has been pending for several years. Senator Werts was his counsel.

O'Connell murdered John Smith in a cowardly manner. The victim was passing through some ground, on his way to the Dickerson mine where he worked, which was used as a public path for many years. O'Connell claimed it as his own and fenced it. The ground did not belong to him, but to the mining company. He brutally stabbed Smith with a corn knife. A delegation is to visit Mr. Patterson to prevail on him to sign the papers so that the murderer can be released.

Healy Hit at Mahon's Funeral. DUBLIN, June 23.—Among those who attended the funeral of Colonel O'Gorman Mahon (the O'Gorman Mahon), late member of parliament for Carlow, were Messrs. Parnell and Healy. After the funeral a disturbance took place, in which Mr. Healy received a violent blow in the face. His assailant was promptly arrested.

Threw His Son Overboard. NEW YORK, June 23.—Joseph Fourriere, the steamer passenger of the French line steamer La Bretagne, who threw his five-year-old son Felix overboard on June 15 when the steamer was two days out from Havre, was committed to the pavilion for the insane at Bellevue hospital for examination as to his sanity.

Old McConnel on Bail. NEW YORK, June 23.—Dr. Henry G. McConnel, who has been at the Tombs since July last, pending an appeal of his conviction of causing the death of Annie Goodwin, the cigarette girl, was released on $5,000 bail Monday.
