Lancashire. Such is the order of the

What does it mean? Now it is Warden Keeler who is negotiating for a bicycle! Is he going to throw up his high office and take a run for Canada?

Druggist Riggs is going to try and suppress this year's abundant crop of flies, by putting in wire screen doors in front of his Main street pharmacy.

To accommodate the summer travel the New Haven Steamboat Company has placed an extra steamer on the line, leaving New York Sunday's at midnight.

There is a wealth of early fruits and vegetables this year, at all our village groceries, not equalled in any past season within the memory of "ye oldest inhabitant."

The movement in New York to erect a memorial to Frederick Brokaw who was drowned at Long Branch in an heroic effort to save two lives, is a most worthy one.

walk opera house on Wednesday, July an advertising programme for the season of 91-92.

In our notice on Saturday of the 4th of July excursion to Coney Island and return by the City of Albany, we omitted to state that the fare for the entire round trip would be but 60 cents.

There is but little demand for yachts in England just now, and an unprecedented large number are in the market. A boat which costs 4,500 pounds to build was sold lately for 640 pounds.

A Topeka girl refuses to marry a man who had paid for a license because her father was too old to support a son-in-law, and the girl herself had too much sense to obligate herself to support a husband.

Says the Louisville Courier-Journal:
"The Connecticut man who has invented an electric method of protecting chicken roosts, should hasten to the South and show his Southern brethren how it works."

Prof. James Baker, of Bridgeport, who has the Grace church choir boys

Arrangements are being made by Supt. Avery, to put all electric lights that are on meters on one line by themselves.

Work was commenced this morning on the new boiler house and chimney for the Electric Light company. The plans were made by Supt. Avery, and it is expected that the chimney will be one hundred feet in height.

Yesterday's tempestuous breezes not only filled the eyes of churchgoers with dust, but made the accustomed Sunday sailing of the ngodly a thing not of beauty and a joy, but a recreation of great peril.

"Doc." Coolidge filled Burgess Bowe's eyes so full of dust Saturday that he hasn't been able to see straight since. Somehow, the effusive "Doc." seems to have hoodooed the next democratic candidate for Warden.

Mr. Anton Stommell has done a neat and successful job in putting in the five by ten feet plates of glass in the Central Bank and Street's dry goods store. The pane that came broken and which he had to duplicate, he has sold to Mr. Ira Cole.

At the last meeting of Co. F, held at the Armory, some enthusiastic friend of the acting captain moved that he pay himself five dollars out of the company funds in his hands, for "the faithful performance of his duty." The money was voted and accepted.

Officers Halpin, Otis, Brennan and Glennon, the Bridgeport policemen, who refused to do duty under Chief Ry-lands, after being ordered to do so by the Mayor, were tried for disobedience of orders Saturday, found guilty and fined $15 and costs. An appeal was taken.

On Wednesday the summer trotting meeting at the Elm City park, New Haven, will open with two good races, and an equally good programme will be provided on each of the three succeeding days. The purses are liberal and a large number of entries have been made for each race.

Grover O. E. Wilson, is full of enthusiasm over real estate conditions and prospects in the Tallaoposa region of Georgia. He attended a genuine hard-shell Baptist church there Sunday week with President Hyatt, and says he had the hottest time he ever experienced at a cold water, or any other church.

The 4th will be a gala day for the Hibernians of Norwalk. They will hold their first annual picnic on the Amphitheatre grounds on that day and will have music and dancing and sports of all kinds. A handsome silver service worth $100 will be presented to the person holding the lucky ticket. You should be "in it."

Work was re-commenced this morning, cutting into the bank in front of the Van Zandt place on East avenue.
But on Mr. Hunter protesting that it was in violation of an understanding, the men were called off and to-night Mr. Hunter's attorney and the Borough Highway Committee will try and fix up a compromise.

News reached here Saturday of the death at Noroton Friday night, of Charles Englehart, a veteran of the late war, who had been an inmate of the Soldiers' home for some time. At one time he kept a confectionery store on State street, Bridgeport, but advanced age and failing health forced him to give it up. During the war he fought with valor for the flag of his adopted country. While in the service he contracted the disease, which caused his death. He leaves a family.

Miss Susan Cooney is to be married to-morrow at St. Rose's church, Meriden, to a young attorney of that city, at 10.30. At 10.30 they take the express to Albany, via Springfield, and thence to Niagara. After a tour of two weeks the happy pair are to return to Meriden where they are to permanently reside. Mr. Thomas Cooney, wife, single daughter and two married daughters and their husbands, will go over from Norwalk to attend the wedding.

The neighbors of James Striebel, of Brownstown, Ind., are incited to believe that he is an object, even in his grave, of the divine vengeance. Strie-bel was killed by lightning last summer just after he had shouted out a blasphemous curse at the element. His friends buried him and erected a stone monument nine feet high to his memory. A few nights ago this monument was struck by a thunderbolt and shivered into pieces, and the superstitious people are much exercised over the circumstance. They have an exalted idea of the power that rules the universe.

H. M. Van Hoosear of Wilton, has left a bunch of wheat heads from 3 to 4 inches in length and of remarkable plumpness. Land ought to be worth more than $50 an acre that will grow such wheat as this.

hundred dollars.

The heavy wooden fence that for years has stood on the East avenue front of the Mary Hoyt estate, opposite St. Paul's church, has been removed rails to protect the beautiful lawn.

Mr. Frederick Edward Birch, son of the late Dr. Birch, was married to Miss Grace Isabelle Merritt, of East Norwalk, on Saturday. Mr. Birch is a member of Pioneer Hook and Ladder Co. and is the second one of that organization who has been captured by Cupid within the past three weeks. Pioneer is a good company for single men, wanting wives to join.

ately after his marriage to Miss Stanley next Monday, will join the Y. P. S. C. E. National Convention Excursion

Falls and Chicago en route. On the return trip the Doctor proposes to sail down the Mississippi to Southern Illinois, and present his bonnie bride at the old paternal Illinois home, thence home again and to the drudgery of Nor-walk's hum-drum life.

Captain James H. Ward, agent of the New Haven Steamboat company, died at New Haven yesterday afternoon, aged fifty-nine years. He had been agent of that company for twenty-two years and was well known in marine and railroad circles throughout New England. He had been very ill for the past three weeks of heart disease, and his death had been daily expected. He leaves a wife and two sons.

—10. The best present ever offered.

Anthony's Photographic Bulletin calls attention to the common fraud of a set of portrait swindlers who use the mails extensively to defraud the public.
They offer to copy one's photograph, enlarge and frame it gratuitously, etc., if the party will only kindly use his or her influence in getting orders for the generous photographer. If the bait takes, a cheap picture is made and sent "C. O. D." under pretence that it is to cover only the cost of the frame, the picture being free, whereas several times the value of the frame is exacted. The Bulletin says the Chicago P. O. refuses to deliver all such firm's circulars or letters.

Says General Armstrong, of Hampton Institute: "One third of our 7,000, 000 negroes are progressive; one third are good for nothing; the other third are subject to their conditions. We deal with the progressive element, with those imbued with earnest purpose and who will work their own way. It is not a question of brains. Any speculation about the negro's capacity is idle. The race has the capacity for character building, the power for moral growth, the elements for womanly and manly developments. We strive to give the negroes mental, moral and physical training, to inculcate a right personality."

WHAT MISS SPINSTER SAYS:

That the revived rumor that there will be a class for horse back exercise, has had the effect of infusing new life into the young people. Miss Betts and Miss Pinneo are enthusiastic supporters of horse back riding and sit their saddles with great skill and grace.

That some of us reserve our best smile for occasion, as if wearing it upon all occasions would not improve it.

That last week will be memorable for two things, the enormous consumption of ice cream soda. There is a fallacy to the effect that ice cream in soda water is only consumed by lovely women and girls of tender years, but I am going to upset that idea and prove the fondness of the masculine palate for the delectable beverage. To begin with, there are sodas and sodas. The real article is healthful and delicious, while the ordinary sort, fearfully and wonderfully concocted, would ruin the digestive organs of an elephant if he persisted in taking it for long. The other morning when the mercury was on its high ropes I dropped into a favorite place in New York, and noted the extraordinary number of ice cream sodas that passed down the New York throat. All along the counter sat exhausted females of various ages.
Girls in fetching silk blouses and sailor hats, girls in stunning gingham and silk girdles, warranted only eighteen inches round, and other girls with hand bags and bundles and an anxious look which gradually changed to one of rapture as the soda disappeared from the glass. Presently a young man came in among this flock of women and presented his ten cent check, then another and another of the same sex and calibre put down his piece of pasteboard, and truth compels me to add these men appeared to enjoy what they received in return. One man making the remark after drinking three ice cream sodas in rapid succession, that he was going to the mountains and could not get strawberry sodas of that particularly delicious brand.

That Mr. and Mrs. Robert Way and family of Hartford are in town and contemplate locating here for the summer.

That Mr. William G. Thomas Jr. is at Interlaken for health and recreation.

That Mr. Joseph Moody of Syracuse is enjoying his vacation at the parental mansion on East avenue.

That Miss Ada Golding, daughter of ex-Postmaster Golding, is home, having passed a very successful year at college.

All Hail!

Mr. Ira Cole has men at work relaying the uneven flagstones in front of the postoffice and Finney and Benedict's store. This good work should go on in spots all over the borough.

Next Meeting of the Court of Burgesses.

The next meeting of the court of burgesses will be held one week from to-night. It is expected that in addition to the auditing of regular bills, etc., the police question is to be again brought up and possibly more vicarious sacrifices offered. Uneasy rests the head of a borough policeman.

Won't Touch It.

E. M. Blake won't have it.—John Lockwood won't have it; both sensibly preferring to drive the horse cars to serving as borough policeman, and last, when the offer is jokingly made to poor Robert Bonner Bones, he is said to have replied with an air of injured innocence.—"I know I am a poor degraded critter, but I haven't yet got so low down as to want to be a borough policeman."

Who is to Blame?

Rev. Dr. Noble in his discourse last evening on the theme of "The Bible as related to American Independence," parenthetically asked, "When things go wrong in the town and the state and the nation; when weak and unworthy men are clothed with authority who is to blame?" That business man is to blame," said he, "who thought more of his business than of his duty as a citizen, and so failed to vote for good men for office. That dilettante man, who will not vote because politics is too low for him to take part in the selection and election of good men. That minister of the gospel is to blame, who for fear he may offend some partisan parishioner, fails to do his duty as a citizen, in the selection and election of upright, Godly men to be our rulers. It is the individual citizen who is to blame, when weak and unworthy men are put into places of authority, in our town and our nation."

Landlord McPherson and wife started for Niagara Falls this morning.

A WOMAN ASSAULTED.

Mrs. John Britto Waylaid on the Winnipauk Road.

No Arrests as Yet.

Mrs. John Britto, of Winnipauk, in company with another woman, was returning home from the Bridge Saturday night and when in the hollow just above the residence of Michael Sheedy at 11.30, both women were seized from behind by two ruffianly men, one of whom jammed his handkerchief down Mrs. Britto's throat and then furiously tried to throw her upon the ground.
Meanwhile her companion was struggling with the other villain and screaming for help.

Both women fought their assailants desperately and screaming for help at the top of their voices soon brought Mr. Sheedy to their assistance. The villains seeing a man approaching ran off, and up to our going to press no clue to them has been obtained, other than that Mrs. Britto recognized one as a man she had once known in Stamford.

The Flag Will Float.

The Lawn Tennis club, patriotically and with prompt and vigorous enterprise, have acted on the DAILY GAZETTE'S suggestion to erect a pole on their grounds and unfurl "Old Glory" on the glorious Fourth with all of her forty-four stars adorning her azure blue.

Burglars Again at Work.

An attempt was made to enter the Allen house late Friday night, by pulling out a window screen. Mr. Joseph Naegle who lives in the house was awakened by the noise and getting up opened a window, which scared the burglars off.

Another Veteran Gone.

Harvey Seward, who was a member of Company A of the old 10th C. V., died yesterday in West Haven, aged seventy-four years. Deceased was an esteemed citizen, and many old comrades will regret to hear of his death.
The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon from the residence of his son, H. R. Seward, 192 Main street, West Haven.

Democratic Senatorial Caucus.

The Democratic Senators at their caucus to-day will consider the plan of continuing the quo warranto suits against the Republican hold-over Lieutenant-Governor, terminated by the sudden death of Dr. F. W. Alsop. It is proposed that the President of the Senate, the Hon. D. M. Read, petition the courts to be made a party to the suits.
It will be claimed that, if Dr. Alsop was the rightful Lieutenant-Governor, Senator Read, by reason of his position as President of the senate, is the rightful successor. Arrangements will be made to have a memorial service of the Senate in memory of Dr. Alsop.

The New Haven Yacht Club.

The New Haven Yacht club will hold its first open regatta on July 8. There will be races in six classes, with cash prizes for the winners in each class.
The New York Yacht Racing Association, through its Admiral, has notified the regatta committee that its fleet will arrive at New Haven harbor on the evening before the regatta, and that it will furnish several entries for each class in the races. The Pavonia Yacht Club of Jersey City will enter eight boats in the regatta, and it is also expected that the Larchmont, New Rochelle and other yacht clubs along the lower end of the Sound will send representatives.

OBITUARY.

A large company from Stamford, New Canaan, and Westchester County yesterday gathered at the funeral of Mrs. A. N. Raymond of the latter mentioned section. The procession formed at Smith's Ridge, and proceeded to St.
Paul's chapel Lewisborough, where after the reading of the pre-burial office an address from a text selected by the departed was made. The musical portion of the service was rendered by a few special voices from New Canaan.
The procession then re-formed and reached in about one and one-half hours time the South Salem cemetery, in which, and beside the remains of her partner, who died thirty-two years ago, the good woman was laid to rest as the June Lord's day sun was lowering behind the Waccabuc Hills. Among the mourners present were several direct descendants of Norwalk's first Rev.
Thomas Hanford.

DRUNKEST MAN IN OMAHA.

He Must Have Been, but Miss Yates Decided to Forgive Him.

(From the Omaha World-Herald.)

Miss May Yates is about 20 years old, and is employed in an up-town dry goods house. She and her brother board at the Occidental hotel. Miss Yates, as a rule, occupies her room alone. She was the only occupant when she went to sleep Monday night. Yesterday morning, however, she was very much amazed and was badly frightened when she awoke and found that she was not the only person who was in her bed. The other person had his head covered. At first Miss Yates could not believe her senses, but after her fright had passed she very carefully turned back the cover.

"It's a man," she screamed, and then then she fainted. Her brother, who occupies the next room, heard his sister scream, and he was quickly on the scene.

The man was sleeping very soundly in a drunken stupor, and it was with difficulty that he was awakened. When he did awake he also was very much surprised at the surroundings. The brother yanked him out of bed and turned him over to Officer Bloom, who sent him to the police station. A few minutes later the brother and his sister went to the station to appear against the man.

He was brought out from behind the bars and the brother had an interview with him. The man said he arrived from Chicago Monday and immediately after his arrival he registered at the Occidental. After supper he went out and met an old friend, who took him around town and showed him the sights.
About midnight he turned up at the hotel in a very bad state of intoxication.
He said he remembered going to the desk and getting his key, then he remembered trying to unlock his door.
Finally he succeeded, and after pulling off his clothes he jumped into bed. He did not know how he got into Miss Yates' bed, and did not know he was there till he woke up and was handed to an officer.

Investigation showed that the keys to his room and that of Miss Yates were exactly the same, and that he had got into Miss Yates' room and bed by mistake.

A similar event occurred here in Norwalk, several years ago, at what was then known as the "old Mott House," standing on the lawn tennis grounds.
The front door had been left unlocked to admit a brother who was out late, when a gallant young employee of the Union Mfg. Co., who had been tampering with Norwalk's peculiar brand of "tangle-foot," in a befuddled state, walked into the house, up the stairs into the bed room where two young ladies were soundly sleeping, disrobed and rolled into their couch, without either being aware that there was any other than her mate "crowding so," until the dawn of coming day revealed the horrid man in their nest. Of course screams aroused the house and the poor inebriated and still confused and stupid intruder was hurled from the bed by a big brother, who kicked him out of the room, down the stairs and out into the street, "all accoutred as he was," then went back and hurled the bewildered inebriate's clothing out after him. He was not forgiven, as was the Omaha blunderer, but suffered from his severe bruises for nearly a month and probably has never, if yet alive, recovered from his own terrible fright which, if possible, was greater than that of the horrified and screeching maidens, upon whose somnolent societies he had thus forced himself for the last half of the night.

An Understanding Reached.

The Westport church muddle will not longer occupy the attention of Judge Thayer of the civil superior court. The warring factions have reached an understanding whereby it will be withdrawn from that court and settled by the ecclesiastical court.
Thursday afternoon an effort was made to settle the case, as Judge Thayer said it was not a proper one for him to decide. Now the proper tribunals can settle it. The trouble is over the present rector, Rev. Mr. Hyde, who a portion of the parish are bitterly opposed to and desire him to retire, but he will not heed their wishes.

Bell Island Hotel.

Foster Brothers are to give a complimentary dinner at their charming Bell Island hotel on Wednesday at 2 p. m. in honor of their hotel manager and their friends. This is a sensible way to call attention to their romantic shore house, and after eating one of Landlord Fryer's shore dinners the guests will all be in great danger of feeling as did the old time Pharisee who thanked God he was not as other men.

A DOCTOR'S STRANGE TALE.

Says He Was Followed and Assaulted by Troughs.

BOSTON, June 29.—A special from Montreal says that Dr. J. R. Robinson, a well known physician of Boston, attempted suicide in a cell at the police station by opening a vein in his arm. At 12 o'clock p. m. Dr. Robinson entered police headquarters and stated that he had been attacked by three men and desired protection. As the doctor had a large amount of money in his possession the officer on duty, thinking he was intoxicated, locked him up for safe keeping. On visiting the doctor's cell in the morning a bad gas had lying semi-conscious with a bad gas in his forehead, which it is supposed he inflicted with a pocket knife. A surgeon was summoned and the wounded man quickly recovered.

In the recorder's court Dr. Robinson stated that he had not attempted suicide, but that the wound in his arm had been made by one of the men who had assaulted him, and had simply reopened during the night. He said that he was engaged in Philadelphia, but resided in Boston, where he had a medical practice. While making a purchase in a store he showed some money and was followed by three men and assaulted. The court evidently believed the doctor, but held him until communication could be had with Boston. Search in this city fails to reveal the stranger's identity.

A Lively Scrimmage.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Policeman Knott in attempting to arrest Thomas Golding, Jr., was attacked by the latter's father with a cutlass. Officer Knott was re-enforced by three other officers and Golding, Sr., by his wife and son. A number of shots were fired, and during the melee Golding, Sr., received a fatal wound in the back, Officer Brown was shot in the thigh, Officer Magee's right cheek was cut open with the cutlass. Officer Knott received a wound across the forehead made by a bullet and Thomas Golding, Jr., had several severe cuts on the scalp. The Goldings claim that they thought the policemen were burglars. B. C. Mann, who also took this view of the matter, was knocked senseless by one of the police officers whom he was trying to arrest. Golding, Jr., who is an employee of the hydrographic office, refused to return a horse for which he had traded a watch, and a warrant had been issued for his arrest on a charge of horse stealing. The Goldings were each held in $1,500 bail for trial on Friday next. Golding, Sr., is an old Pacific Mail steamship captain.

Injunction Dissolved.

PHILADELPHIA, June 29.—President Judge Finletter, of the court of common pleas, No. 3, has handed down the decision of the court dissolving the preliminary injunction which had been granted upon the application of the city restraining the sale of the Bradford mills' property under the judgment for $173,081, confessed by John Bardsley's Bradford mills to City Treasurer John Bardsley's sureties, John and James Dobson. The court also refused the city's prayer for a receiver. "The bill," said Judge Gordon, "is not dismissed, but will pass through the court and be heard according to the usual routine of such causes. The full court may make another decision when the case comes up for final hearing."

To Clear Gibson.

CHICAGO, June 29.—Arguments on a motion to quash the indictments against George J. Gibson, ex-secretary of the whisky trust, was made before Judge Collins in the criminal court. The main issue with which it is charged Mr. Gibson wanted DeWitt, the government official to blow up the Schufeldt distillery was brought into court and shown to the judge. Three of the four indictments were quashed. The remaining indictment was taken under advisement until next Tuesday.

His Orders Disregarded.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Acting Superintendent of Police Byrnes summoned the police captains of the various precincts to headquarters and gave stringent orders that every pool room in the city should be closed up. He said he would prefer charges against any captain found neglecting his duty in this respect. All of the pool rooms were open, however, and the proprietors evinced the utmost indifference to the latest orders of the inspector.

A Big Family of Counterfeiters.

ST. LOUIS, June 29.—John C. Walker his three sons, Jacob R., Alfred and George, Walker's son-in-law, John C. Limbough, and Alfred C. Green, who have been running a counterfeit mill near Batesville, Mo., have been arrested and brought here. On Walker's premises were found molds for making silver coins, the necessary metal, plaster of paris chemicals, etc.

These lines were established by the engineer corps, but do not meet the approval of the New Jersey officials, and according to Assistant Secretary Grant decided to hear the case on July 8.

Getting Ready for the Battle.

ENVELOPED IN FLAME.

With Her Clothing on Fire Mrs. Haslett Leaps from a Window.

A COACHMAN SAW HER FALL.

She Was Alone in a Room on the Fourth Floor When the Accident Happened. Assistance Arrived Too Late to Be of Any Help.

BROOKLYN, June 29.—Mrs. Elizabeth M. Haslett, wife of a retired merchant living at 138 Remsen street, this city, was burned to death. She was cleaning the servants' rooms, on the fourth floor of the house and was using a patent insect destroying fluid. In some mysterious manner her clothing caught fire, and both windows of the room being open the blaze was fanned by the draught, and in a moment she was enveloped in flames from head to foot.

Fell Twenty Feet.

Agonized by the pain Mrs. Haslett screamed loudly for help and ran to the window. Some of the girls in the basement heard Mrs. Haslett's cries, but gave them no attention, thinking they came from outside the house. The windows on the fourth floor are only half the ordinary size. The lower sash when pushed up only leaves an open space of about eighteen inches square.

Through this opening Mrs. Haslett, with nearly all her clothing burned from her body, squeezed herself. She fell upon the roof of an extension which juts out from the third floor. The distance to the window from this roof is about twenty feet. Mrs. Haslett struck on her side and head.

The Coachman to the Rescue.

In the rear of the houses on Remsen street a short alley runs from Henry street almost to Clinton street. On one side is a row of stables. James Steiner, a coachman employed by General John B. Woodward, was standing at the door of the stable, which is opposite the rear of the house occupied by Mr. Haslett, when Mrs. Haslett appeared at the window with her clothing ablaze.

Horrified at the sight he stood completely paralyzed until the woman dropped upon the extension roof. Then the terrible spell was broken and he dashed down the alley and around into Remsen street. Meanwhile Annie Dillon, one of the Haslett servants, had started up stairs to see if the screams came from the house. She had just reached the room in which Mrs. Haslett had been working, finding it, to her surprise, unoccupied and filled with smoke, when there was a violent ringing of the front bell. One of the other girls went to the door and admitted Steiner, who pushed her aside and dashed upstairs to the third floor and out upon the extension.

All Her Clothing Burned Off.

Mrs. Haslett was lying face down upon the roof. Every bit of clothing was burned from her body except her shoes. Steiner carried her into the house and placed her on a bed. The three girls were sent for physicians. Drs. Spier, Briggs and Parish hastened to the scene. One of the girls met Patrolman Michael Leahy, of the First precinct, and he returned to the house with her.

Her Injuries Fatal.

As soon as the doctors saw Mrs. Haslett they were convinced that her injuries would prove fatal. Her entire body was badly burned and on her head was a cut caused by the fall. Even her face was burned and the blood was running down over it. The doctors dressed the awful wounds as best they could. Mrs. Haslett was unconscious when Steiner reached her and she died while the doctors were still working over her. Just before she breathed her last her husband, Samuel E. Haslett, reached the house. He was completely overcome when he learned of the accident. Mrs. Haslett died shortly before 5 o'clock. Dr. Spier said that although she might have received internal injuries from her fall, in his opinion the immediate cause of death was the burns.

The Fatal Fluid.

Policeman Leahy went to the room where Mrs. Haslett had been at work. He found on the floor a bottle partly filled with a liquid insect exterminator. The stuff smelled strongly of benzine.

All the bed clothing had been removed from the bed and piled on chairs. The bed was scorched, as was the side and end of the bureau, which stood near the head of the bed. Leahy could find no trace of a match on the floor. There was a small heap of ashes under the bed. There seemed to be no explanation of the fire.

The room is very low studded and dark. Mrs. Haslett may have lighted a match and a sudden draught may have blown her skirts into the blaze. The small pile of ashes beneath the bed suggests that she might have lighted a piece of paper from which her clothing took fire.

The servant girls, Maria Gough, Annie Dillon and Bridget Reynolds, think that the fire was caused by the use of the insect fluid. They think Mrs. Haslett wet some parts of the bedstead with the fluid and then lighted a match to examine the bed, the fluid igniting from the match. This theory is borne out by the scorching of the bed and bureau.

Mrs. Haslett was forty-seven years old and was one of the most prominent residents of the Heights. Her husband is wealthy. He is a brother of Dr. Audley Haslett.

Mrs. Haslett was the daughter of Dr. Sullivan Thorne, at one time president of the Brooklyn board of education.

SHAKESPEARE was not in the clothing business and he did not know anything about modern methods, but some of the things he said three hundred years ago couldn't have been any truer if he had had a Nineteenth Century experience. You never can tell just what sort of an impression you are creating, but you can make up your mind that favorable impressions and tasteful attire usually go together. It isn't the amount of money you spend for your clothes that counts; it is the way you spend it. An unbecoming suit is dear at any price—it isn't worth accepting even as a gift. Marie Eugenie Josephine Arigais Is Her Name—Herdling Gives No Account of His Whereabouts on the Night the Woman Was Drowned.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., June 29.—Two women drove up to Undertaker Charles Vanderbilt's rooms in Tarrytown at 8 o'clock

"Eugenie, Eugenie, ma chere seur. Ma pauvre seur."

It was the younger of the two women who spoke as she gazed at the face of the dead woman who was drowned at Croton Identified at Last.

"That is a positive identification," said Coroner George D. Sutton, who was conducting the inquest into the mystery when "My name is Claire Eugenie Josephine," she said, "and I reside at 135 West Thirty-fifth street.

"When I saw her last she said she was going to New Rochelle for a little while in hopes of regaining her strength.

"At this point the young woman's companion interrupted and told the coroner that she knew probably as much as any one about the young woman's disappearance.

"My name is Mrs. Louise Orelli," said she, "and I lived in the same house with the dead Eugenie.

My dear Louise—I wish I could say good-bye to you, but I have so much to do,

As a further evidence of identification a photograph of the dead girl was exhibited, Still another chapter was added to the mystery when a reporter called at 135 West Thirty-fifth street.

"The dead girl's real name," said the landlady, "is Marie Eugenie Josephine Arigais.

"How do you account for her sister and Marie Orelli's saying that her name was Marie Eugenie Josephine?"

"I suppose because they did not want her real last name to be known, owing to her family. I never knew that she was acquainted with Herdling, as the man under arrest at Tarrytown is called. In fact, I knew nothing about her domestic affairs."

Will Not Attempt an Alibi.

When Victor George Herdling was questioned as to his whereabouts a week ago last Friday night he said he could not tell where he was.

His wife, Mrs. Mamie Herdling, told the coroner's jury that her husband had not been home during the time between a week ago last Tuesday and Saturday.

Willing hands picked him up, but it was five minutes before they could revive him, and it was feared that he had received fatal injuries. A cut on the lip and a few teeth loosened seemed to be the extent, however, of the harm done him, as he walked away a little dazed.

A colored individual named Charles Sherman became noisy and abusive on a late train on the Consolidated road Saturday night, and in bringing him under subjection a car window was smashed out. He had a ticket for Fairfield but on the arrival of the train in this city he was unceremoniously landed here. Later he fell into the hands of Officers Gladstone, Ireland and Colegrove who landed him in the station house. Sherman refused to walk and had to be lifted up bodily and carried there, he at the same time making it lively for those who took part in transporting him. He was decidedly drunk, and as remarked another son of color, "He am a bad niggah when he's full. He used to live here and if the judge don't put on a too hobby fine us other coons will settle up like gentlemen."

There's a hint of them in every hot breath summer sends. Airy folds to tangle the cooling zephyrs in. Let the sun shine. Let the mercury simmer. In the shade of a Breezy Mull Hat you can smile and smile—and be comfortable. Shapes by the dozen.

Alligator Grips, FANS! FANS!

Have you been waiting for the Grip. They're headed your way with a vengeance.

The surging tide of low prices has swept into the Cotton Dress Goods section. Seasonable stuffs are the ones that have dropped into the quickest current. The light-weight airy woven goods are going at mid-winter figures or below. Figured Organdies at 21c., Scotch Gingham at 19c., Challies at 5c. and upward, Barred White Nainsook at 12c., 15c., 19c. Almost every need in this life can be met, but the quick coming is important if you want a special selection.

NEW LACES!

PHENOMENAL is the only word that expresses the state of trade in this department. In order to meet the requirements of this brisk trade we have made during the past week large accessions to the stock. It is now the largest, choicest and best general stock of laces ever displayed in Connecticut. Of course the prices must be right or we could not do the large business. We believe it to be a fact that our prices are always a little lower than the prices asked for equal qualities and styles in New England. Our specialties are full lines of 45-inch Black Chantilly Lace, Drapery Nets and Flouncings, Wash Laces in an endless variety, newest effects in Orientals, Valenciennes, English Thread, Torchon, Mechlins, Irish Point, Chiffons, etc., at POPULAR PRICES.

Many other popular Corsets at Popular Prices can be found in this department.

WRINKLES ON THE GOWN ARE LIKE WRINKLES ON THE FACE—FATAL TO BEAUTY.

The corset must be a good shape if the gown is to be well cut. No tailor's cut can avail when it is handicapped by an unshapely corset. Then, too, however finely the dress may be made, it will not long preserve its symmetry, unless this fruitful source of wrinkles be corrected. In our Cotton Underwear department you will always find a large assortment of the best goods and most popular makes in Ladies' and Misses' Corsets. If you want to know what solid comfort, combined with a beautiful form, means, try one of our imported French Corsets at $1.75, acknowledged by all to be the very best Corset that can be produced.
