A WICKED ADVENT PARSON.

He Creates Division in His Old Flock at New Haven.

New Haven, July 13.—In spite of the fact that Lieutenant Totton says this is the last year we may obtain forgiveness, and that there are but eight years more of the world, there is a determined fight in the Beers Street Advent Church.

The Beers Street Church was horrified. A committee was appointed to go to Worcester and investigate.

The committee came back determined to make short work of the pastor. Mr. Withington was overcome and promised the committee to resign at once if the members would let up on him.

Mr. Withington had a large faction of the church which did not want him to go, and has been ever since determined to have him back.

MANY DROWNING ACCIDENTS.

Supt. P. W. Barney Drowned while Trying to Save His Son—Two Children Drowned off Sing Sing—A Whole Family Finds a Watery Grave.

NEW YORK, July 13.—William Voth and M. Heehan took a yachting party out from Thirtieth street, Brooklyn, yesterday morning for Long Beach.

The small boat was stove against the yacht. They got the second boat away, got over to the bell buoy and took the man off.

He was Capt. James Witte of East Rockaway. He told them that he had come out in a naphtha launch which had been chartered by a retired diamond merchant living in Brooklyn, whose name he had forgotten.

His rescuers took him ashore in the small boat and accompanied him to East Rockaway. Capt. Witte was unable to go ashore. He says he overheard one of his passengers, a young man, say on the launch:

"To-morrow will be the happiest day of my life."

The young man was to marry the diamond merchant's daughter to-day.

Superintendent P. W. Barney Killed on Lake George.

LAKE GEORGE, N. Y., July 13.—P. W. Barney, Superintendent of the Lake George and Lake Champlain Transportation Company, lost his life near the Kenosaw fourteen-mile island, on Lake George, yesterday.

This afternoon, while Mr. Barney and his boy were on the lake shore, the little fellow lost his footing, and with the cry of "Father, save me!" on his lips, pitched into the water.

A glance sufficed to tell the story. The torches of the superintendent had been crushed in by a projection of rock which he must have struck under water.

Flags are half mast all along Lake George and from Fort Ticonderoga to Burlington, Vt.

Saw His Little One Drowned.

NEW YORK, July 13.—Mamie Van Risto, aged six, and her four-year-old brother, George, were drowned in the Hudson at Sing Sing yesterday afternoon.

The accident happened opposite the Sing Sing Yacht Club House. The father, Geo. Van Risto, had rowed the little ones from Croton Point.

Out beyond the shelter of the land a big wave struck the boat and swept over it. Mamie became frightened. She gave a quick jump to one side of the frail craft.

The boat was capsized and all three were thrown into the water. The girl sank at once and did not reappear. The father caught the boy as he was about sinking and placed him on the overturned boat.

Who Were the Unlucky Three? NEW YORK, July 13.—George Neidhardt, of No. 313 Boker street, reported at the Charles street station last evening that as he was rowing near the Hoboken Ferry, on the Jersey side of the North River, two hours before, he was hailed by men on a sailboat.

A lady mounted on a runaway horse came dashing through this city Saturday afternoon at a breakneck pace and the rider could not stop the animal until she reined it up into the Consolidated freight depot. On her way and when near Hoyt's drug store her horse knocked down an elderly gentleman but did him no injury. We hear that the horse started near the Methodist church, borough. The lady's hat had blown off and with her hair flying reminded one of Mrs. Southworth's Capitola Black. They returned Sunday evening with two mealy little eels, which they presented to Messrs. Hoyt & Beers for the use of the boat. They propose going again some day, but next time either Mr. H. or Mr. B. will go with them to collect toll if they sail in the Florence B.

The Sentinel's Turn at the Bat. * * * To go back a little further, the article which the Hour says appeared in its columns on August 17, 1890, was a rehash of an article printed in the Sentinel June 19, of that year, in showing the formal opening of the day home, indicating beyond a doubt that our back-number neighbor did not discover until two months later that the Home had been opened. But that is nothing new. We read news items in the Hour every week that are 'strangely familiar.' The most sublime impartiality, adopts the unique sentiment and language of the wild westerner whose wife was in a death struggle with the bear: 'Go it old woman; give it to her, bear, durned if I care which licks.'

FRIGHTENED BY A MINE CAVE-IN. The Village of Larksville, Near Wilkes-Barre, in Danger by a Night-Crash. WILKESBARRE, July 13.-A disastrous cave-in occurred yesterday morning at 1 o'clock at the old slope of the Kingston Coal Company near Larksville, five miles from this city, and the inhabitants of that village, which is directly over the mine, were in great fear of their lives and their property. The cave-in was caused by the snapping of the old timbers in the slope directly under the fan house. The surface sank so suddenly that the upward rush of air lifted the roof of the fan house. For hundreds of feet in all directions the surface is covered with large seams and cracks, some of them a foot wide and extending down into the workings. A number of houses in the vicinity are damaged. A dozen men were at work in the mines at the time, but they escaped through a second opening. This company has been particularly unfortunate. On May 6 their two large breakers were destroyed by fire. The company at once began to rebuild, but Mine Inspector G. M. Williams secured an injunction against the company on the ground that the new breaker would be within 200 feet of the ventilating shaft, which is contrary to the mine-ventilating law. Judge Rice in an elaborate opinion on Saturday sustained the injunction. The company owns no land on which they can build outside of the 200-foot limit, and they will be compelled to purchase improved property at a great expense or abandon the colliery.

Broke Up the Wedding Party. NEW HAVEN, July 13.-Mrs. Rebecca Cohn, of New York, who used to live in this city, was at the wedding reception of her sister on Oak street last night. Joy went under way in a melodious waltz when in walked Constable Enscoe and called for Mrs. Cohn after he had waived the orchestra into submission. Mrs. Cohn rushed from the room and fled down the cellar stairs. The constable followed, striking matches to guide him in the darkness. He finally spied her in a barrel, and read the ominous words to her, which attached her to her body. If she had any, and in lieu thereof, her body. As the constable could not find any assets, he took the woman away. The wedding party was completely broken up. Mrs. Cohn is charged with appropriating $50, which her stepbrother, aged 16, had saved to pay his father's passage from Europe.

NOTHING SUCCEEDS LIKE SUCCESS. The big spring business here marks a new era in tailoring. As the knowledge that it is best and cheapest in the end to have your clothes made to measure become more widely disseminated the demand increases. A couple of years ago the amount of business I am now doing appeared almost unobtainable and so large as it is it has had the effect of whetting my appetite for more, which accounts for the extra efforts now being made and the unrivalled inducements in price, quality of material, style and workmanship.
