Here's a hearty shake of the "bright little DAILY GAZETTE'S Tover that sentiment, Neighbor Golden, and now "let us have peace."

Rev. Mr. Butler in his sermon here Sunday, told of a good Methodist preacher, who, years ago, came on to New York, where the more cultivated ears of his hearers would not let him use the harsher expressions in use in Indiana in denouncing sin and sinners, and who said he longed to get back to Indiana, where he could preach "hell and damnation" again. A good many politicians felt the same way yesterday.

The Portchester Journal speaks of E. L. Colwell, who recites at the Norwalk M. In all dialectic parts Mr. Colwell is unsurpass-

ELECTION RETURNS.

The Town and Borough Go Republican and the City Democratic.

Vote of Other Towns.

Voters of all parties may be said to have put in their best work yesterday. The republicans had exceptionally strong town and borough tickets, which captured many independent democratc voters and won. At the City things were reversed and the democrats swept the deck with their city ticket.

Mr. Craw, who has been an honest and faithful selectman, is superceded by Hon. Tallmadge Baker. Selectman Raymond changes places with Mr. Daskam, (who is also elected) and becomes our First Selectman.

The Borough ticket gives five repub lican burgesses and one democrat, Squires. Young Dr. Acton, who was defeated, has no occasion to feel humiliated, as his defeat was caused from no personal dislike or disqualification, for he is a most estimable young man and exceedingly popular with all who know him. But he was scarcely known to the party war-horses and in the trading and scratching, he being the least known, inevitably suffered most. Mr. George B. St. John, our old and popular town collector, was beaten by a close vote, by Collector Kemp, and Morehouse was defeated for bailiff by Policeman

Charles E. Adams. In Westport, owing to a split in the democratic ranks and the running of an independent ticket, two republican selectmen were elected. In New Canaan the democrats carried the day, and the town voted license by fifty majority. In Wilton, the democrats were successful, electing their entire ticket. Danbury and Stamford elected republican selectmen, the democrats carrying the remainder of the ticket. Trumbull went democratic and against license. In Waterbury, Webster, republican, was elected over Baldwin, de mocrat, the present incumbent, by 92 majority. In Stratford the republicans elected their ticket, and in Fairfield the democrats were successful. In Darien the republicans elected their entire ticket and voted license by 66 majority. Huntington went republican and no li-

Hartford and Wallingford have gone democratic. Republicans captured Winsted by a good maority. New London elected a demoeratic mayor by 384 majority. All the towns in the vicinity went democratic. Democracy captured Meriden by 700 majority. Democrats have a majority in New Britain of 400 to 600.

COURT OF BURGESSES.

But one solitary spectator was in the room last evening at 8 o'clock when Warden Keeler called the Court of Burgesses to order.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved, after which a long list of bills were ordered paid.

The bill of C. W. Burritt was referred to the Water Commissioners, and the bill of F. E. Lockwood, for rent of the voting house, used yesterday, was referred to the Warden to be paid when the house was removed.

The report of the Chief of Police was received and ordered placed on file.

A letter from Chief Prowitt was read urging the court to appropriate enough money to purchase 16 uniforms for the members of Pioneer Hook and Ladder Company, and also one additional communication from Meigs & Co., of Bridgeport, agreeing to furnish the 16 uniforms now, and the additional 14 at some future time, for $16 per suit.

Chairman Burr of the Fire Committation of the Fire Committation of the Fire Committation.

tee stated that the company needed assistance, and thought that the best way to do was to uniform the 14 members, now on the rolls, and the new members would look out for themselves.

Burgess Bowe made a motion that the sum of $256 be appropriated by the Borough to procure 16 uniforms for the company.

Burgess O'Reilly made an amendment to that motion, making the amount $300, as he thought more assistance should be given the company, but as this amendment was likely to cause some discussion, he withdrew it, and Burgess Bowe's motion was carried A communication from James W. Hyatt and others asking the Borough to lay a four inch water pipe through the property of Ira Cole, on Elmcrest Avenue, was read and the Water Com-missioners were instructed to comply with the request of the petitioners. This work will cost perhaps $250, and the Borough will receive at least $60 a year from the water rents.

Burgess Bowe wanted the court to instruct him as to what was best to do with upper Main street. This street is in a horrible condition and needs repairing, and he thought that the street should be lowered from Lawyer Hurlbutt's house to Scofield's store. There seemed to be a general opinion that the horse railway company would lower their tracks if the Borough would al-low them to cut down the hill near Union Avenue. After some discussion the matter was left with the Highway Committee to make arrangements with President Hyatt and fix the road, as is best in their judgment.

Burgess Buxton brought up the Belden Avenue sidewalk cases, and said that it was now over a month since the Clarence Marshall is the happy father court had ordered the residents of this avenue to lay sidewalks, and they had not, and he introduced a resolution di-recting the sidewalks to be laid by the Borough and liens placed ou the prop-Here is to you Warden Kimmey 'May you live long and prosper." erty. Two overcoats were ordered purchased by the chairman of the Police Committee.

An old note of $2500 having been replaced by a new one, the chairman of the Finance Committee burned the old note in the presence of the court.

The Warden stated to the court that

Burgess Vanderhoef stated that some South Norwalk men had jokingly complained to him on the train, of the Borough buying water from South Norwalk at so much per day, and filling our reservoir during the night, and then notifying the South Norwalk au-thorities that we would not want their water for a day or two, and asked Engineer Wood if the complaints were

We never have seen fewer intoxicated persons on election day in Norwalk, than yesterday. The day was superb, and the general sobriety remarked, al-though considerable quantities of liquid refreshments are said to have been slipped out several rear saloon doors in baskets of vegetables.

Election day was very sultry and hot till it transpired that the republicans had been whipped out of their boots in the city election and the democrats in the borough, when the weather turned very cool and then growing decidedly cold before morning. Mr. George Smith and Miss Lena

Beers were somewhat surprised to learn through the Sentinel, that they were to be married to-morrow. They are, however, to be married ere many days.

WASHINGTON WHISPERS.

The French Minister Presents His Order of Recall to the President. WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—M. Roustan, the French minister to the United States, who was recently recalled by his government appeared at the executive mansion and officially presented his letters of recall to President Harrison. The president made a short speech, in which he expressed his regret at the loss of the minister. M. Roustan was accompanied by Chancellor Baufulo, of the French legation. The ex-minister is expected to leave for France in a few days.

Latter Day Saints Meet.

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 6.—The semiannua, conference of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints opened in the Tabernacle. About 10,000 of the Mormon faith ful were in attendance. All the leading men of the church were present. Joseph F. Smith, one of the presidents, nephew of the prophet of that name, was present for the first time in seven years, having been pardoned by President Harrison. He has been an exile on account of an indict

Wilford Woodruff, Joseph F. Smith and
George Q. Cannon, the three presidents of the church, delivered addresses. They thanked President Harrison for pardon ing President Smith, and invoked the blessing of the saints upon him. The be lief was expressed that the church was soon to triumph over its enemies, and renewed allegiance to the only true religion was declared. The meeting lasts three

The indictment presented by the committee bases the charges against Professor Briggs solely on the inaugural address because it is the most deliberate and emphatic expression

ENGLAND GOOLS DOWN

Not So Rabid to Revenge Chinese Outrages as She Recently Was.

A TORY RAP AT GLADSTONE.

Accused of Being as Anxious for Dis union in England as He Was for the Disruption of This Republic-A Timely Bomb Discovery.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—There is a noticeable falling off of public interest in recent events in China, although the reported outrages on Christian missions and missionaries in that country seemed in a fair way, a short time since, to cause serious trouble. It seems to be felt that possibly there is a Chinese side to the matter, and that if the authorities of China have not shown themselves as acting in the matter with all the promptitude and vigor desirable, there is room for a suspicion that the missionaries have not been careful to avoid wounding the susceptibilities of a race tenacious of old forms and ancient be-

The evident purpose of Russia to hold aloof from any concerted naval demonstration in Chinese waters, which may find England at its head, operates too cool the ardor of all save the missionary enthusiasts and those who are anxious to see English commerce pushed at whatever cost. The fact that France, one of the most aggressive of European powers in the east, is likely to be governed rather by what Russia does then by what England desires, forms a subject for serious consideration in diplomatic circles here. A Tory Rap at Gladstone. The Tory speakers and newspapers con tinue their rabid comments on Mr. Glad-stone's Newcastle speech, and still make as their most salient point the fact that he once advocated the cause of the Southern Confederacy.

Mr. Russell, the well known Irish Unionist, is quoted as saying: "Mr. Gladstone is no doubt as sincere now in advocating the disunion for Great Britain and Ireland as he was advocating disunion for America, and he is just as incapable of seeing the consequences now of what he advo-cates as he was in the case of the American north and south.

"He is perfectly willing to place at the mercy of the Irish disunion majority the loyal minority that have always been faithful to great Britain. What he means by saying that it is now a question of dealing with the Irish people nobody can understand but himself. It has never been anything else, and the Irish people today would be content and prosperous but for the utterances of men like Mr Gladstone." Mr. Russell said that Mr. Gladstone had now taken disunion for his personal policy, and wished to cram it down the throats both of Liberals and Tories

The Vatican Greatly Disturbed. ROME, Oct. 6.—The outburst of patriotic excitement in this country, arising from the incident of French pilgrims showing disrespect for the memory of Vittorio Em manuele and the secular government of Italy, has greatly disturbed the Vatican, and is the cause of continued and deep un easiness to the pope and his advisers. The popular enthusiasm, thought to hint at something like a men-ace to ecclesiasticism in Italy, is largely due, it is asserted, to Signor Crispi's continued cultivation of the belief among the people that France desires to restore the temporal power of the pope.

The decision of the French cabinet to recommend to the French bishops to ab stain from leading any pilgrimages for the present will arm Signor Rudini with a useful weapon against Signor Crispi's alleged attempt to foment a quarrel be tween Italy and France, and will serve, probably, to secure a better feeling be tween the two governments than has existed for some time.

on the insecurity of his position. The streets of this city were filled Sun The streets of this city were lined sunday by people shouting for the king, min gled with cries against the people and the pope. The day passed off, however, with out any violence. In Naples similar scenes were enacted.

In Milan the people threatened violence to some foreigners who refused to join in the expressions of loyalty, and in Florence the French residents thought it prudent to remain indoors. Everywhere the great est devotion was expressed to the royal family and the cause of Italian unity. The incident in the Pantheon raised a flame that shot like wildfire from one end of the peninsula to the other.

TRIESTE, Oct. 6.—The discovery of an at tempt to blow up the Episcopal palace has caused much commotion here. The gen erally admitted facts in the case are that a porter at the Episcopal palace found s large petard, or bomb, with a burning fuse attached, in one of the hallways. The porter immediately pulled the fuse from the bomb and extinguished it.

Some people claim that this was a seri ous attempt to damage the Episcopal palace; others held that it was simply a "demonstration" on a smaller scale, simi lar to the one at Rosenthal last week at the railroad bridge over which the Em peror Francis Joseph was to pass. Still others believe that the petard affair was a silly hoax, or else an attempt to gain no toriety. The matter is being investigated by the local authorities.

SO SHE MARRIED MR. WILDE

nalistic Circles, is a Strapping Six Footer and Is a Brother of the Æsthetic Oscar Wilde.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.-Mrs. Frank Leslie was married to William C. Kingsbury Wilde, of London. The ceremony was private. The marringe service, which was that of the Episcopalian church, was performed by Dr.

Decms in the Church of the Strangers, on Mercer street. The only witnesses were Marshall Wilder, the humorist, and Mr.

Cramer, a publisher, and his wife. Mr. Wilde, who is on the staff of the London Daily Telegraph, is the eldest son of the late Sir William Wilde, M. D., of Dublin, and a brother of Oscar Wilde, the well known æsthete. He has known

Mrs. Leslie for some years. The Bride's Career.

The woman who is now Mrs. Wilde has had a most interesting career. Since the death of her former husband, Frank Les lie, she has been beset with suitors, and on several occasions it was reported that she was to be married. Her age is not really known. Perhaps the most faithful of her former suitors was the Marquis de Leuville. It was in the summer of 1890 that the report got out that Mrs. Leslie was to marry him. It was even said that on July 10 of that year a license had been taken out in London for the marriage on that day, and that the couple were to sail for this country immediately. That report was not true. At that time the age of Mrs. Leslie was given as thirty-eight William Rene Oliver de Lorn court. Marquis de Leuville, was an odd personage, but he was greatly admired by Mrs. Leslie, although she didn't marry

Mrs. Leslie's business career, which it is stated has been very successful, has given her great notoriety. She, at the death of Leslie, took charge of his affairs, which were in a very tangled state, and reduced them to order. She was, in fact, the director of the various publications which Leslie had owned, and she uniformly gave personal attention to them. Leslie died in January, 1880. Mrs. Wilde was born in New Orleans. She was married before her marriage to Leslie, but was divorced. She is of Huguenot descent. Wilde came here

Oct. 1 from England.
"I did not know that you all cared so much for me," were the words with which Mrs. Frank Leslie Wilde greeted a reporter who was permitted to see her at the Gerlach. "Yes, Mr. Wilde and I were married last night. Mr. Wilde and I have been dear friends for a long time, and he has been asking me to marry him for two or three years. When he came over last week, though, for the express purpose of pleading with me again I could not with hold my consent any longer. "Willie Pleaded So Hard."

"Although Mr. Wilde has not been corresponding with me recently he evidently had not entirely forgotten me, for he took the first opportunity of leaving his duties in London and following me to this country. Since his arrival here on Wednesday last he has been most assiduous in his attentions, and not a day has passed without his begging me to reconsider my efusal of his offer of marriage.

"I was naturally much moved by his devotion. Willie pleaded so hard, that I decided that it would be cruelty to us both to further delay complying with ich were as much mine as his So we were married. After the ceremony we drove to Delmonico's and had a quiet little supper and then came home. Late this afternoon we will start for West Point, and after spending a day or two there will go on to Niagara Falls.

"We shall return to the city about the niddle of next week. We shall remain in this country for the winter and have no intention of visiting Europe before spring at any rate. Mr. Wilde is a writer of great ability, and he will undoubtedly be able to infuse a new and more vigorous spirit into my various publications, in the management of which he is going to assist me. I could never give up my work, and if necessary I believe I would work as a printer's devil. I have been engaged in such work so long that I could not give it up any more than I could my name. In accordance to my wishes Mr. Wilde has consented that in all my business transactions I shall still be known as Mrs. Frank Leslie.'

Mr. Wilde.

Mr. Willie Wilde is a big, swarthy fellow, at least six feet in height, and broad in propertion. He has at least as much genius as his brother, Oscar Wilde, though heretofore he has not been credited with much of that æsthetic gentleman's business shrewdness. Mr. Willie Wilde has dwelt in the cultured end of London Bohemia for twenty years past, a source of perennial enjoyment to his friends and an elusive problem to his tradesmen.

He is a famous pen and ink sketcher and caricaturist, and might have rivaled Harry Furniss in this direction if his industry had equaled aptitude. He has been on the staff of several of the London society journals, such as The World and Vanity Fair, and has furnished many paragraphs—bright, humorous and bitter—about men and things to their pages. He is best appreciated toward the conclusion of a bachelor's dinner, where, if allowed sufficient time to roll and smoke Turkish cigarettes, he will sing his own songs, tell good stories and indulge in voluminous repartee.

Correspondent White Heard From. WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 6.—Mr. White, a correspondent of Outing, who undertook to make a trip by canoe, with his wife, through the wilderness from Lake Superior, by Rainy river, to Lake of the Woods, and who had been given up for lost, has been heard from. The couple have reached the settlements this side of the wilderness and will soon arrive here.

Ostrander and His Colleague in Crim Held to Await the Action of the Grand Jury-Both Were Very Nervous-A Receiver Appointed.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 6 .- Many people came into town by rail and wagon Monday from all directions to see about their leposits in the three savings banks. Those naving money in the Ulster County Savners institution, which has been plundered by its managers, have little hope of rocovering their money. Those having deposits in the Kingston Savings bank and the Rondont Savings bank will have to wait sixty days to find out whether they can draw their money or not, as both those concerns have posted notices taking advantage of the law in that respect.

Crowds of depositors were in line at each bank, with passbooks in hand, waiting their turn to give notice of withdrawal. The managers hope, however, to be able to restore confidence by showing the sound condition of the institutions. They have received remittances from Albany and elsewhere, which they rely on to carry hem through.

It is reported from New Paltz and Saugerties that runs are threatened on the ivings banks at those places. The sixty notice will be demanded if runs oc-

Defaulting Treasurer Ostrander and his accomplice, Trumpbour, were then brought from the jail into court. The former leaned nervously on the arm of the chief of police, and looked even more like a physical wreck than he did on Saturday morning. Trumpbour walked behind in custody of the sheriff. He was trembling and nervous, but walked with a steady gait. Both took seats within the railing by the side of their counsel, A. H. Van-

TROY, Oct. 6.-Nicholas E. Broadhead, of Kingston, was appointed temporary re-ceiver of the Ulster County Savings institution by Justice Fursman. The receiver's bond was fixed at $250,000. The Union Trust company of New York and the Manufacturers' bank of Trov were named as depositories for funds that come into the hands of the receiver. GHOSTLY VISITANTS.

SOME STRANGE AND UNACCOUNTABLE OCCURRENCES.

Stories Which Tax the Credulity of Skeptics-Extraordinary Phenomena. Unseen Hands Perform Mysterious Tricks Both Day and Night,

One of the most remarkable modern instances of supposed ghostly disturbance occurred in the home of Rev. Dr. Phelps of Stratford, Conn. Upon returning from church one day he found that all the doors of his house, which he had carefully locked on his departure, were wide open and the contents of the rooms on the first floor in the wildest confusion. Nothing had been stolen. In a room on the upper story, however, eight forms were found, each one with an open Bible held close to its face. On examination these were found to be bundles of clothes, cunningly and very skillfully arranged to represent living beings. Everything was cleared away and the room locked, but within five minutes the same scene was repeated, although the clothing had been carefully put away.

For seven months the house was disturbed by extraordinary phenomena. The most unearthly noises were heard day and night. Furniture and kitchen utensils were mysteriously moved. Glassware and window panes were broken by unseen hands before the startled inmates, and once the eleven-year-old son of the doctor was lifted bodily and carried some distance. The most diligent research discovered nothing, and not until he applied to some spiritualists in Boston did the disturbance cease.

One of the best authenticated instances of ghostly visitation is connected with Dr. Kerner's so called Secress of Provost. Dr. Kerner for many years conducted an asylum for the insane at Weinsburg, in Southern Germany. There came to him for treatment a Mrs. Hauffe, a lady in delicate health, of great nervous irritability and with a mind which was, to say the least, not too well balanced. Wherever this afflicted woman went, and Dr. Justinus Kerner is authority, the was pursued by a variety of strange oises. Chinaware and glassware, ta ides and chairs, were mysteriously moved in the presence of witnesses. A medicine phial rose slowly into the air and had to be brought back by one of the bystanders.

On several occasions an easy chair was lifted up to the ceiling by unseen power and then returned slowly to the floor. On one occasion the great skep-tic, Dr. Strausz, was one of her visitors, and during his stay Mrs. Hauffe fell asleep on her sofa when there immediately arose long, fearful groan-ings close by the doctor's side and in the vicinity of his amiable but remarkable hostess. The strange suffering woman was the only one who knew the cause of these phenomena. She ascribed them all to a dark spirit who appeared to her as a black column of smoke with a hideous head, whose unseen approach oppressed even the bystanders.

Dr. Kerner relates countless mysterious phenomena which occurred in this patient's bedroom. He beheld Mrs. Hauffe's shoes pulled off by invisible hands while she was lying almost inanimate in a trance on her bed. She revealed secrets which, upon writing to utterly unknown persons at a great distance, Dr. Kerner proved to be correctly stated. There lived in Allegheny city at the breaking out of the Rebellion a widow by the name of MacDowell. She had one son, John by name, who lived with his mother in a two story frame house on Robinson street. The widow and her son were devotedly attached to each other, and when he came home one night and told her that he had enlisted at one of the recuiting booths on Federal street she was inconsolable. On the afternoon of April 6, 1862,

Mrs. MacDowell sat in an easy chair at the second story window of her home. It was the first day she had felt strong enough enough to leave her bed. It was warm and the sun shining brightly. As she sat alone with her wan cheek resting against against the pillows she heard a heavy step on the narrow stairway. She described the succeeding events to the first neighbor woman who reached her side as follows: "The instant I heard the step I knew it was John. As he reached the head of the stairs I turned toward the door and tried to rise and meet him, but I was too faint, and besides there was something in his face that drove all the blood from my heart. He was dressed in his uniform and was carrying a big sword in his hand. He stopped in the middle of the room and I saw under his cap, which was pushed back, a broad bandage stained with blood around his forehead. Suddenly he waved his sword and I saw an awful look, such as I had never seen before, come into my boy's eyes; he waved his sword three times and looking backward over his shoulders as he did so. I saw the sword fall from his grasp, but it made no noise on the floor; he reached both hands to me and the fierce expression died out of his eyes as he cried out, 'Oh mother,' and then before I could say

A week from that day the widow McDowell was buried in the Hilldale Cemetery. On the afternoon of April 6, the day when the apparition of her boy appeared to her in the sick room, Dr. Sayres, in disgust.
"We call 'em Baptists, sir," the Jerhe was killed while repulsing a Confederate charge at Pittsburg Landing. He was struck by a spent ball upon the forehead early in the day, but tying a handkerchief around his fore head he remained in the fight. All the officers in his company had been killed or wounded, and he was leading his company with a sword of a dead Confederate in his hand when he was hit and instantly killed by a second bullet. His last utterance as he fell was the pathetic cry: "Oh, mother!"

EART TO CHITER A VALT DEPOSIT OF PRECIOUS METAL. Speculations of Scientists-A

Scheme to Bore Into the Earth Several Miles-Pessibility of Striking

A scientific scheme of much importance has been agitated in Washingten recently, so a Star reporter learned. During the last two Congresses there have been a number of representatives and two or three senators who have used their influence in favor of an appropriation for boring a hole in the earth several miles in depth. It has long been recognized that an inconceivable amount of value in the shape of precious metals and other mineral substances is locked up out of reach beneath the crust of this planet. All the riches dug out of it represent merely the most superficial and ineffective scratching of the surface. Once render accessible the internal recesses of the sphere and it is plain that every human being might be a thousand times a Monte Cristo. Surely the problem presents no insuperable obstacle to that most ingenious of animals, man, who may be said already to have all but reduced nature herself to subjection.

Geologists are agreed that the inte rior of the earth is largely composed of metals. Whereas the surface matter of the planet weighs only about two and one-half times as much as water, it is known as a fact that toward the centre the average weight of things is eleven times that of water. This is due to the circumstance that while this sublunary orb was cooling and condensing the heavier particles sought the middle. Therefore, it is pr bable that the great mass of the sphere is iron. But there are other metals more heavy than iron, and these would naturally form an accumulation immediately about the centre of the globe. Among them may be mentioned most impertantly gold. Geologist Gilbert, of the Geological Survey, said the other y tat he would rather expect to find a vast accumulation of gold at that point than anywhere else, his notion being that such of the yellow metal as is found on the surface of the earth is only an accidental detritus. However, there are two or three substances known even more weighty than gold, and one of them is platinum, which has doubled in market value within the last year or two, owing to the increased cost of production. So it is not unreasonable that certain members of Congress and other persons of keen judgment should consider the advisability of boring a hole in the earth for the purpose of extracting some of its metallic contents. For scientific purposes a pit has recently been sunk at Speling, in Germany, to the depth of a mile. Unfortunately, water has been struck, and no results which add very materially to human knowledge have thus far been obtained. Another well has been driven at Wheeling, W. Va., as far lown as three-quarters of a mile. It is dry and the boring process is proceeding at the rate of ten feet a day. The management will be disgusted if oil or something is not struck before the hole comes out at the antipodes, and somebody tumbles into it at the other end. All that has been learned from those works up to date is that the heat of the globe increases one degree every eighty feet in depth. No really scientific person has been so foolish as to imagine that possible results, commercially speaking, could be secured without digging much further than this. Estimate is made that at twenty miles from the surface of the earth every known substancemetals, rocks and all-becomes fused and liquid. Once let this point be reached, and naturally whatever is below must spout up of its own accord, without expense of mining. Immediately the price of metals in the market would be reduced to little or nothing, and a new age would dawn upon civilization. It has been suggested that such an artificial conduit would be, to all intents and purposes a volcano; but any dangers which it would otherwise threaten might be obviated easily by establishing the works on an open prairie. The cost of boring for twenty miles would certainly be very small, compared with the results to be anticipated, and Congress could easily afford the money necessary, which might appropriately be placed in the hands of the Department of the Interior.

Hard on the Baptists. The most ludicrous debating society I ever attended, says Ernest Ingersoll in the Christian Union, was in a fore cabin of a little river steamer in Florida ten years ago, when a crowd of old time darkies were discussing which was the better (or worse), Methodists or Baptists. The conclusion was a compromise upon the basis that while the "Mefodis's would steal the most, the "Baptis's" were the readier

Indications That He Was Assisted Inside the Prison to Escape.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Oct. 6.—Henry F. Hardy, the convict who escaped from Clinton prison last Thursday, was recaptured here while attempting to board a train for New York. On Officer Wood approaching him, Hardy opened fire with a revolver. Wood returned the shots and brought him down, shooting him in the leg and laming him for life. leg and laming him for life.

Hardy was fairly well dressed and was well supplied with money. He had a five hundred dollar bill, a twenty dollar bill and nine dollars in small bills. He had two 32-caliber revolvers and a map of Clinton county, all of which would indicate that he had assistance not only out side but inside the prison as well. Hardy says when he left the prison he went into the woods and came around by Codyville,

After a consultation by several doctors in attendance upon Hardy, it was decided to amputate his right leg above the knee in spite of the protests by Hardy and his friends. Hardy told the prison doctor this morning that he would rather die than

A Dying Miser Conceals His Wealth. St. Joseph, Mo., Oct. 6.—Daniel McCormick, a miser, is dying in a dilapidated tenement house on North Second street. He cannot live twelve hours. Friends and two relatives are vainly endeavoring to ersuade the old man to tell where he has hidden $7,000 that he is known to possess McCormick is seventy years of age. For nearly two months he has eaten nothing, and his body is so wasted that the bones almost stick through the skin. He served through the war in the Fourth regiment, Missouri state militia, and several years ago received a pension with the back pay amounting to $8,000. Since that time he has spent nothing and he has kept the money buried. When he was taken sick $1,000 was found sewed inside of his underclothing.

To Form Democratic Clubs.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.-Ex-Lieutenant Governor Chauncey F. Black, of Pennsylvania; Lawrence Gardner, of Washington Representative W. D. Bynum, of Indiana, and Senator Charles J. Faulkner, of West Virginia, have arrived here. They were met at Sacramento by a delegation of the Iroquois club, of this state. The party is here to assist in the formation of Demo-cratic clubs as proposed to the Democratic national committee. A public meeting will be held, at which Faulkner and Bynum will speak, and on Tuesday a conference with leading Democrats will be held

Rain Spoiling Wheat.

St. Paul, Oct. 6.—Last night's reports indicate that it is raining all over the Red river valley wheat belt. J. D. Smith returned from that region yesterday. His business brought him in direct contact with the farmers, and he told a discouraging story. He said: "There will be a good deal of wheat spoiled this season. The farmers can't take care of it. On almost every farm in the Red river country you will see many acres of wheat still standing in the fields exposed to storms."

The Lady Dead and Her Escort Dying. Boston, Oct. 6.—At the Oakland street crossing, Mattapan, a railroad train ran down a buggy occupied by John Sherry aged forty-three, and Miss Gertrude Kelly aged twenty-one, both well known and wealthy society people of Mattapan. The buggy was entirely demolished, and its occupants were thrown more than thirty feet. Miss Kelly was picked up dead and Mr. Sherry in an unconscious condition, he having sustained fatal injuries, including a broken spine.

Senecal Brazens It Out.

OTTAWA, Oct. 6.—Andrea Senecal, the superintendent of the government printing bureau, who fled some weeks ago to escape testifying before the investigating committee, returned here yesterday and is making preparations to transfer his residence to Montreal. In an interview he said he could see no harm in accepting commissions and that the government could not touch him for having taken gifts from those to whom he gave orders.

The Entombed Miners.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 6.—The six miners who were entombed by the "running" of a pillar of coal at Richardson on Saturday night have not yet been rescued, and there is no hope of reaching them for many hours. The rush of coal has cut off the air supply to the farther end of the slope and it is feared the men have been suffocated, if they escaped being burned. Double shifts of men are at work removing the coal which blocks the gangway.

Lost Through Fouling.

CLINTON, Ia., Oct. 6.—The fight to a finish between Turpin and Ingalls, both claiming the championship of Iowa, took place here. Jack Pitts, referee, decided the fight in favor of Turpin in the third round, because of the persistent fouling of Ingalls. Baker, an unknown sport, offer ed to wager $100 that he could knock either of the pugilists out in six rounds Turpin accepted. The fight will be pri-

It will be ten days before the damage can be repaired.

The Chinese and Pork

The principal article of meat diet with the Chinese is pork. It is to them what beef is to the true son of Albion's isle. The Chinese butcher, having only the one species of animal on which to exercise his skill, has become by practice a hog anatomist in the full sense of the word. A fat porker as soon as it is placed on the block in a retail Chinese butcher shop is scietifically rid of all its bones. The carcass is expertly cut into strips, so that every customer gets an equal quantity of fat and lean with his purchase. It is sold salted, smoked, or roasted ready for eating.

It is almost smeared with nut oil and disposed of in a semi-dried state. The hungry celestial is frequently to be seen investing a five-cent piece in a large strip of roasted pork, which le eats with every evidence of satisactory relish as he strolls along the

A Clergyman's Public House.

A clergyman of the Church of Eng-land, a resident of Warwickshire, England, the Rev. O. Mordaunt has kept a public house for fourteen years, He rays the managers and allows them profits on what food they sell. They are not permitted to press the sale of drinks, and he gives them no profits on what they do sell. The only drink sold is ale, wine and spirits being eschewed, but the ale is unadulterated. The result is said to be a profit to the clergyman, which he spends in sinking wells in the village, and an almost entire disappearance of drunkenness from the village. Some will think that there is a suggestion in this experience for temperance workers elsewhere. We hardly think that any clergyman in our own country would care to make the experiment.—N. Y. Observer.

He "Forgot Somethin'." A man who lives near Randolph came to town the other day with his wife, left her to do the trading at the stores, and went around visiting friends and neighbors whom he happened to meet. After spending three or four hours in town, he unhitched his team, went to the mill and loaded on his grist and went home. As he drove up to his house his little girl met him with: "Why, pa, where's ma?" "By jinks, I've forgot her. I knowed I had forgot somethin'," was the reply. The man drove back to town in a hurry, and found his wife waiting in a very impatient mood. Our informant says that the argument which ensued was about seven miles long, and the summing up was not completed until after 10 o'clock at night.—Cannon Falls Beacon.
