Quo Warranto.

The quo warranto case, involving the Governorship, came up Friday in New Haven before Judge Thayer and went over to next Friday on Judge Stoddard's statement that there was a probability that the counsel would shortly come to an agreement on the case. If they do agree, the case will go at once to the supreme court. The real point of the contention is as to whether the General Assembly has the right to go back of the returns when there is manifest error in them. All beside this one point is incidental. If the moderators are to rule Connecticut and voters are to be subject to them, it is well to know it. On the other hand, if six senators, some of whom in private admit, says the Court, that they are only posing for party effect, can be induced to quit posing and do something, the whole state will be thankful.

Lottery Tickets.

The lottery people of Louisiana promise to pay the state a million and a quarter dollars for the privilege of having full swing under protection of the law.

That is the bribe publicly offered for the legal right to conduct a business which is so infamous, says the New York Herald, that nearly every other section of the civilized world interdicts it by heavy penalties.

This million and a quarter will be expended in the support of schools and charitable institutions. That is to say, a great State in a great Republic is asked to base its school system and its various charities on a lottery ticket as their chief corner-stone.

This anomaly would be startling enough to be incredible were it not for the fact that the movement is being pushed with vigor and is more than likely to succeed. The question will soon be decided at the polls, and pressure is being brought to bear on all classes to induce them to give their assent.

Connecticut's Vote on License.

Returns, nearly all official, in the office of the Connecticut Temperance Union, show that eighty-three towns stand for and eighty-five against license. Of those in favor thirty-two did not vote. Of the fifty-one voting, ten changed from against to for. Of those opposed sixty-eight did not vote. Of the seven voting, nine changed from for to against. A special train on the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad took a party of leading Connecticut journalists from New Haven to the races at Morris Park Saturday. The train was drawn by a new locomotive built by the master mechanic of the road from a plan of his own. The run from Port Chester to New Rochelle was made at the rate of 73 miles an hour, and was the fastest time ever made over that road. The distance of ten miles and a half was covered in eight minutes and three-quarters.

The P. O. boys had a big time at Col. Huse's "love feast" at Mt. Vernon, Saturday night. There were nine Postal officials from Norwalk and South Norwalk present, the Mt. Vernon valiant Col. and P. M., having arranged to walk to let the boys off. Speeches were made by Gen. Noble, Major Doty and lots of other patriots. The "collation" was in Col. Huse's best, Grand Central Restaurant style. Our boys came home full of enthusiasm and salads.

Our hypercritical and ex-pedagogical neighbor, the Hour, takes exceptions to our use of the word "causality" in referring to its chronic disingenuous methods of "arguing a case." We used the word advisedly and in its true descriptive sense given it in "Roget's Thesaurus of English Words," which is in part, as follows: "sophistry," "false and vicious reasoning," "equivocation," "fallacy," "perversion," "chicanery," "quibble," etc., and its verb "to reason falsely," "equivocate," "mystify," "pervert," etc. We guess there is no doubt about the GAZETTE's proper application of the word, or that "the punishment fits the crime."

The Derby fall races will open tomorrow and close Friday.

The Yale college loss by fire has been adjusted by appraisers at $10,182.

Michael Batchford is negotiating for the purchase of the Hancock property at Winnipauk.

The leading boy choirs of Connecticut will hold a convention in Hartford, November 3.

The faculty of the Yale Theological school has contributed $100 to the firemen's benefit fund.

The fair of the Railway Conductors will open at Union Army, New Haven, this evening.

The United States steamer Despatch has been wrecked off the coast of the Delaware. All hands were saved.

Despondent on account of illness, Dr. E. A. Town, of Waterbury, aged 52 years, put a bullet in his heart Saturday evening and ended his suffering.

A gang of men were at work yesterday, setting a new telephone pole in place of the one blown down on the New Canaan road, by Thursday night's gale.

Norwalk's midget baby died Saturday evening. When it was born it weighed nine ounces, and on Saturday, the day of its death, it weighed less than a pound.

Fun! New! New! Come, see and play the interesting Wild West Gun Game. A game of pool played with guns, at H. J. & G. S. Grumman's 43 Main street, Norwalk. 202-44.

Conrad Miller fell from an apple tree at Silver Mine, yesterday, and received a severe wound on the top of his head. It was dressed by Dr. S. H. Huntington.

A fight occurred in a saloon on Main street, about 11 o'clock Saturday afternoon, but by the time Officer Adams arrived the combatants had shaken hands and peace was restored.

There will be a grand temperance meeting in Concord Division rooms to-night. Secretary James of the State Temperance Association will deliver an address. All friends of temperance are cordially invited.

Goldie May Hurlbut, aged 16, was assaulted by two masked men at Middletown, while on her way to dancing school Saturday night. The assault occurred on a lonely road, and her housewife was alone and attempted to assault her. For half an hour the woman struggled with the fiend, all the time screaming for help. She was terribly exhausted and about to give up in despair when a special constable arrived.

The county commissioners of Fairfield county have very properly re-appointed Attorney James A. Wilson game warden. He has earned this because of his active and effective crusade against illegal sportsmen, and especially the Sunday hunter. The example set by President Collins, of Hartford, in bearing fruit and we may expect in a year or two to see pot hunters thoroughly suppressed.—Ansonia Sentinel.

Dr. Noble read an appeal yesterday from the Rev. MR. PARNELL'S FUNERAL.

No Disturbance Marred the Laying to Rest of the Irish Leader.

DUBLIN, Oct. 12.—The funeral of Charles Stewart Parnell took place from the city hall Sunday. The building had been draped throughout. A black catafalque had been placed in the center of the building, covered with a black pall and surrounded by an hexagonal barrier.

There was no speech making at the grave. Owing to the excellent police precautions against any disorder there was no disturbance. Soldiers were kept at the barracks in readiness to suppress any outbreak that might occur.

Mrs. Dickinson, a sister of Mr. Parnell, states that no will has been found, and she does not believe that Mr. Parnell made one. He once told her that he did not intend to make one.

NEARING DEATH'S DOOR

Jimmie Stroebe Slowly Dying of Hydrophobia.

CAN LIVE BUT A SHORT TIME

Visited by Two New York Physicians Who Refused to Give an Opinion on the Case—Kept Alive by Artificial Means—A Sad Situation.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Oct. 12.—With wide open and glassy eyes the little eight-year old hydrophobia patient, James Stroebe, lies on his cot in the city hospital here awaiting death.

Two New York physicians visited the Elizabeth hospital and were shown to the patient's bedside. Who the physicians were Dr. Montfort refused to tell, but admitted that they were professors in New York colleges, one of whom had made a close study of hydrophobia cases.

The little fellow is unable to swallow either liquids or solids, and nutriment is administered to him by injection. The injection is a mixture of iron, whisky and milk, and has thus far sustained the boy, who shows no signs of emaciation.

Up to Saturday morning Jimmie was able to articulate, and plainly, too, but that function has now ceased, for when the boy tried to talk, he said what was unintelligible to the attendants.

A new development, too, was the lad's extreme nervousness, and much of the day the boy tossed from side to side. It may well be understood how sensitive the patient's nerves have become when the air created by the gentle waving of a paper in front of the boy's face would throw him into spasms.

Joseph Stroebe, the father of the boy, a poor German laborer, called at the hospital twice during the day, once in the morning and later in the afternoon, the second time accompanied by another son, George, who is a trifle older than Jimmie.

At neither of the visitations did conversation pass between the father and son or between the two brothers. Jimmie was under the effects of narcotics in the morning, and in the afternoon his big, brown glassy eyes stared, but that was all. There was no trace of recognition.

Both Men and Horse Drowned. AMSTERDAM, N. Y., Oct. 12.—A special fit The Morning Sentinel from Little Falls says: Herman Kilts and W. A. Goodale, farmers, living near this village, came into town and made a tour of the drinking places.

Must Go to Prison. WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—The president in the cases of Pick Mills, Henry Mills, D. B. Mills, Horace Davis, W. S. Davis and J. L. Cranmer, of Mississippi, convicted of illicit distilling and sentenced each to pay a fine of $100 and cost and be imprisoned in the county jail for thirty days, has remitted the sentence of each as to the paying the fine and costs, but has refused to remit the imprisonment.

The British warship Tourmaline, from Quebec, arrived at Halifax, N. S. The British yacht St. George arrived from Yokohama at San Francisco. The St. George belongs to the Royal Yacht squadron and is making a trip around the world.

Russia's Pamir expedition has evoked threats in England. Peter Flammen, a laborer, was run over and killed by an accommodation train near Summit, N. J.

Many people attended the laying of the cornerstone of the new Dutch Reformed church at Flushing, L. I. Republicans of New Brunswick, N. J. have nominated ex-Assemblyman James H. Goodwin, of Cranberry, for senator.

John Gaffney, a brakeman, fell between two cars near Sing Sing, and both legs were cut off. He died on his way to the hospital. A train of 120 empty cars on the New York and Long Branch railroad jumped the track at Red Bank, and delayed traffic for some time.

Employees of Newman & Co., Hoboken, took a band to their picnic on Friday. Coming home the band played, and they were arrested for parading without license. George Tappan, of South Plainfield, N. J., applied for a warrant for the arrest of the Rev. George Comer on the charge that when the minister had Tappan arrested for assault recently he swore falsely.

IN THE POLITICAL FIELD.

The Candidates Named for Mayor of Brooklyn.

D. A. BOODY AND H. A. MEYER. Roger Q. Mills and Ex-Governor Foraker Discuss the Tariff in Ohio—Jerry Simpson Dwell on Free Coinage of Silver and Other Topics.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 12.—David A. Boody, congressman-elect for the Second district, was unanimously nominated for mayor by the Brooklyn Democracy late Saturday night.

The Platform. The platform endorsed the state Democratic ticket; demanded home rule for Brooklyn; declared for honest civil service; denounced the Republican party for neglect of public duties; demanded that the rights of capital and labor be preserved; that the statutes regulating hours of municipal labor must be obeyed; praised the present Democratic city administration; recounted its public improvements, and pledged the candidates about to be nominated to a government which should afford better and cleaner streets, plenty of water, more sewers, a public market, school accommodations for every child, a new bridge over the East river and better police and fire protection.

Sketch of the Nominee. David A. Boody was born in Maine about fifty years ago. He was admitted to the bar after studying law at home at the age of twenty-three, and very soon after removed to New York, taking a place in the banking house of his uncle.

The Republican Candidate. Henry A. Meyer, of the Fourteenth ward, was nominated as the Republican candidate for mayor, after William Ziegler had been unanimously chosen and declined the honor.

The Democrats Arraigned. The speeches were an arraignment of the municipal government of Brooklyn by Stewart L. Woodford as treasurer of the Republican committee.

He spoke of the filthy streets, the secret conduct of local affairs and expenditure of money, and above all the attempt to squander a million dollars on almost worthless water works, an attempt frustrated by the ability of a private citizen.

Mr. Mills on the Tariff. CLEVELAND, Oct. 12.—Hon. Roger Q. Mills, of Texas, arrived here and was met at the train by Congressman Tom L. Johnson. At the city armory he addressed an audience of about 2,500 people.

Mr. Foraker on the Same Subject. There were about 4,000 at the Foraker meeting. The ex-governor confined himself principally to the tariff, going into figures to show how much better the American workmen are under protection than the wage earners of Europe under free trade.

Sarcastic Simpson. Jerry Simpson's audience numbered about 300. He made a plea for free coinage of silver and governmental control of railroads and all the other things for which the People's party stands.

DANVILLE, N. Y., Oct. 12.—Few more enthusiastic receptions have been tendered Hon. J. Sloan Fessett during the present campaign than that given him here, this being the candidate's only appearance in Livingstone county. The Republicans of Danville and the surrounding country made his visit the occasion for a rousing demonstration. Nearly every Republican of any prominence in the county was present to greet the nominee.

BUT TEN HOURS A BRIDE

Miss Norcross Married and Died the Same Day.

HER MIDNIGHT WEDDING. Fixing the Fatal Hour Fast Approaching—She Summoned a Clergyman to Perform the Ceremony—The Property Left to Her Husband.

BOSTON, Oct. 12.—Married at 3 o'clock Tuesday morning and dead at 1:30 o'clock the same afternoon is the story of the woman who passed away as Mrs. Lewis P. Rollins, of Somerville. Her maiden name was Kate E. Norcross, and her wedding to Mr. Rollins, of Brooklyn, N. Y., a commercial traveler for a New York hardware firm, had been planned for a date later in the autumn.

The couple met four or five summers ago in the Maine town of Charleston, and the acquaintance formed there ripened into an engagement later. A week before the day she died Miss Norcross was taken with a severe cold, which rapidly developed into pneumonia, which increased with terrible swiftness until Monday night. When the physician broke the news to her that she could not live, her husband that was to be was at the bedside, and in accordance with her wish Rev. A. F. Winslip was hastily summoned.

A Midnight Summons. "Miss Norcross and Mr. Rollins wish to be married at once; she is dying. Will you come?" was the startling message taken not very long after midnight to Mr. Winslip at his Perkins street residence. The bearer was the physician in attendance on Miss Norcross, and the clergyman, surprised though he might be, hastened to answer the summons. An hour later, having with him the marriage license, the clergyman stood by the bedside to which he had been summoned, and there, as the deep toned church bells tolled the hour of 3, united in the holy bonds of matrimony those whom death was so soon to separate. sorrow had fast hold upon the hearts of the few witnesses, but the bride was cheerful through it all, believing that everything was for the best.

She Makes Her Will. Then her will was drawn, and though she was growing weaker and her pulse was only a feeble flutter she signed it with a mind perfectly clear and a hand which seemed to gain strength and steadiness for that special purpose. The will was witnessed by the clergymen, the physician and an attendant. It gives the bulk of the property, reputed to be worth not far from $100,000, to Mr. Rollins. The balance goes to the Charles (Mae) academy. Then she gradually sank, and passed away just ten hours after the weird ceremony was performed.

The End of a Romance. Her father was a well known resident of Somerville. About twenty years ago he retired from a successful lumber business, and up to the time of his death was interested in literary pursuits. He is reported to have said, while in business, that he would retire when he made $50,000. If that was the sum on which he retired, no one doubts that he has grown by careful handling. In his will Mr. Norcross left the bulk of his property to his daughter. His estate is still unsettled, and one of Miss Norcross' motives in marrying was, undoubtedly, that everything might be properly looked after. She leaves no nearer relatives than cousins. Saturday she was laid away in the little Maine town in which she lived.

Indians Make Good Soldiers. WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Reports received at the war department indicate that the enlistment of Indians into the United States army has proved to be a marked success. So far there are seven troops composed entirely of Indians and two troops are in the course of formation. These enlisted Indians can all read and speak English. They obey orders readily, are intelligent and quick, and in fact, it is stated, make model soldiers.

Could Hardly Offer Less. BOSTON, Oct. 12.—Theodore C. Weeks, a broker and speculator of Stoneham, has gone into insolvency. His liabilities are about $300,000. There are no assets. Mr. Weeks offers his creditors a mill on the dollar. It is thought that this small offer has seldom, if ever, been equaled.

Several Reported Injured. INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 12.—A special from La Grange, Ind., says a collision between a passenger and a freight train occurred at the junction of the Lake Shore and Grand Rapids railroad, near Kendaanville. Several persons are reported injured.

Leased by Bostonians. PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 12.—The Walnut Street theater and the New Park theater, belonging to the estate of the late I. Fleisiman, have been leased to Rich & Harris, the Boston managers.

Pueblo, Colo., Oct. 12.—Burglars entered the residence of George W. Cook, manager of the Colorado Coal and Iron company, Thursday night, and stole $4,000 worth of diamonds.

Boston's League Team Complete. BOSTON, Oct. 12.—Lowe and Brodie attached their signatures to Boston league contracts. All of the team as constituted the past season have now been signed for next year.

Princeton Defeats the Crescents. BROOKLYN, Oct. 12.—The Princeton football team tackled the Crescents, of this city, at Elysian park and easily defeated them by a score of 23 to 0.

The Rush Will Sail for Alaska. WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—The revenue cutter Rush will sail from San Francisco for the Seal Islands on the 16th inst. The Rush will take mail for western Alaska.

Foundry Building Burned. BOSTON, Oct. 12.—The Highland Foundry company's building in Roxbury was burned, together with its contents. Loss, $50,000; partially insured.

SHOE NEWS.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., October 12, 1891. The weather to-day: Clear. Recently a man bought a pair of $3 shoes and left his old ones to be re-soled. He had worn them every day for a year without new soles.

I like such trade as that, and so does he. Not everybody can wear a pair of stout shoes every day for a year; not everybody wants to. Some are harder on shoes; some prefer finer and lighter shoes; and both sorts of people must pay more for their shoes by the year.

I mean to say, though, that whatever you want is here; and I want all Bridgeporters to know it.
