EDITORIAL NOTES.

Start a Fire.

If our Borough Fathers want the tax-payers to enjoy themselves at the Borough meeting this afternoon, let not the mistake be made of having no fire at the century Town House, as was the case at the last Town Meeting where all had to sit with hats and mittens on, throughout the proceedings.

The Baby Dead.

The tenderest sympathies of all, and especially all bereaved ones, will go lovingly out to Postmaster Hubbell in the death of his little one, whose young life succumbed to the agonies of ery

"The air is full of farewells to the dying, And mourning for the dead; Rachel for her children crying— Will not be comforted."

The Greatest of all is Charity.

What dire element can it be in our fallen natures that give some men gratification and delight, when they can tear open some painful wound and make innocent and helpless hearts bleed? And when this is done in the than this to inscribe upon his memorial hope of catching a few, sordid pennies, how much baser and more abhorrent does it become in the estimation of all noble minds.

Gives One Chilis.

It is difficult to tell which sends the coldest chill down one's spinal cord, to see Rev. Mr. Ellwood about this zero weather wearing his straw hat. or "Billy" Finney darting about our streets with his long, white linen duster on! It is far more conducive to a dumb ague than seeing "Doc." Baldwin out and all about town, in his b(e)ar(e) skin! But then eccentricity always gives individuality to a person.

Good Sleighing.

There were more pairs of sledge runners upon our Borough streets on Saturday than were ever seen in Norwalk before. If the weather be intensely cold, and money temporarily tight, the masses seem to be enjoying the unusually good sleighing. The past week has given us the coldest weather experienced in Connecticut in six years, and no such continuous spell of cold has been experienced in ten years or more.

Means Business.

Unless the Gazette is wrong, The Hour is rapidly losing in circulation and in advertising patronage.—Last Week.

Oh, no. it isn't the GAZETTE, it is the Last Week's own figures that the GAZETTE quotes. In its "circulation statement' published in April 1891 it gives 4532 as the total number of pawhile the statement published on Sat- afternoon.

urday gives 4,069 as the total number printed last month. The falling off of its advertisements is also apparent to every one. Even the patent medicine advertisement to "make hens lay," for which the Last Week "took what it could get," has disappeared from its columns owing propably to the news being a week old before it reached the hens.

Murder and the Law.

Is this a law abiding country, as we sometimes boast? Statistics gathered by a western paper show that there were 6,792 murders committed in the United States during 1892. There were just 107 executions of murderers by lawful process, and 236 lynchings during the same year.

This seems to indicate that of every hundred murderers only five were adequately punished and that, of these five, only two were punished by the law, the other three being murdered by mobs whose crime was identical with that of their criminal victims. For it must not be forgotten that every lynching is a murder and that every person taking part in one is a murderer, unjustified by law or anything else but his own sense of justice or revenge or hatred

It seems to be true that "murder will out," for all these murders were discoved. But how much good did that do when ninety-five out of every hundred murderers escaped unhung?

The Late Gen. Butler.

Gen. Benjamin E. Butler was a lawyer, soldier, and politician; a greater lawyer than he was a soldier, and a greater soldier than he was a politician, measuring greatness by success, says the Washington Post, but in force of character and intellectual power, in all the elements by which distinction is achieved, one of the truly great men of the country.

In his knowledge of law, in his forensic abilities, in his comprehensive grasp of critical emergencies as shown by his administrative career at New Orleans, in the intensity of his hatred to slavery and treason, in the uncompromising directness of his opinions, in his antagonism to whatever he conceived to be false or fallacious in public policy, in the fervor of his patriot ism, in the depth of his sympathies with humanity, albeit of somewhat rugged and uncouth characteristics, he was always a striking and forceful personality, for whom the American people had great admiration, and whom but for the peculiar and heterodox drift of his political beliefs, they would est honors in their gift. Unique and original in manner and methods, independent of will beyond most men, incapable of pandering to popular clamor, he was nevertheless a his country, one of its bravest defenders, and a citizen whose record will always occupy an honcrable place in his-

have delighted to honor with the high-

He may have had faults, but he was not a man of pretenses. He may have made mistakes, but the sincerity of his motives was unimpeachable. He was true to his principles, true to his government, true to his obligations, true to his friends. What better epitaph tablet? Probably there was no General in the army of whom and with whom President Lincoln was socially more fond and free.

A Most Pitiful Sight.

Late Saturday night was seen on one of our most public avenues a sight to make angels and men to weep. It was a child desperately struggling to lead a besotted, staggering and constantly falling father home from the Bridge. The man would go reeling along a few rods and then pitch headlong in the snow. The child would lift him and help get him on his feet again to go a few rods or steps further when he would dash down in the snow again. This was repeated three times in the view of our informant and in a space of less than two hundred feet. Could the party who aided this man to get so helplessly drunk and then sent him reeling home on such a night have seen the sufferings of that child, it would have made a Prohibitionist of him; or if it didn't it ought to.

Columbian Postage Stamps. While the new Columbian postage stamps present interesting and appro-priate historical pictures, they are not given in that sequence which would greatly increase their educational value. As a correspondent of the New York Sun points out, by beginning with Columbus' first idea on the one-cent stamp and following up the story of his discovery in regular sequence to the five-dollar stamp, early American history could be read on the backs of envelopes, and the denomination of the stamp would suggest as it were the chapter in the story. This would be of service to schools and kindergartens, children in their way being indefatigable stamp collectors. The suggestion is made that a second edition be issued of these Columbian stamps with the order of issue revised in accordance with this sequence idea.

The interest in these Columbian stamps has exceeded expectations. For forty years the highest stamp issued by this government was a ninety-cent denomination. Foreign governments have issued stamps of high denominations in the interest of collectors, but this is the first issue on the part of this country. The price, which is some-thing over $16 for the entire Columbian set, is regarded as rather exorbitant. But, on the part of the government, it has been a lucky enterprise. Before a stamp had left the press there were orders amounting to $200,000 from stamp collectors abroad to be filled. It costs the government but seventeen cents per thousand to print stamps.

To Elevate the Tracks.

President Clark of the Consolidated railroad, speaking of the grade crossings at Bridgeport says: "We shall ings at Bridgeport says: "We shall probably elevate the tracks in Bridgeport and have a depot similar to the one in Hartford. I know there is an objection to climbing stairs, but I be-lieve that to be the only way to get around the difficulty and there would be little complaint from that source when people recognized the peril they had escaped through having grade crossings."

To-morrow evening there is to be a gathering of the lovers of music at the parlors of the Y. M. C. A. for the promotion of that divine art. Bridge, (organ-ist and director of the Westminster Abbey Choir, London, examiner of music at the University at Oxford,) and who is now musical director of our St. Paul's choir. This is a most worthy effort to improve the uncultivated musical talent in our midst and should recieve an earnest seconding. Miss Jennie K. Nash is to be accompanist. Messrs. P. N. Knapp, Frank Comstock, J. P. Treadwell, Henry P. Price and James E. Hall are Committee and James E. Hubbell, secretary.

Will Take Three Years.

Says President Clark of the Consolidated road: "The work that we contemplate of four-tracking the Consolidated the Consolidat dated road from New Haven to New York will probably take three years. The section from Bridgeport to New Haven can be done in a year. The portions of the route that are not now four-tracked are from New Haven to Bridgeport, eighteen miles, from Nor-walk to Portchester, fifteen miles, and from New Rochelle to Woodlawn June-tion, the work of four-tracking has already been started. There are also four tracks from Norwalk to Black Rock. "The chief difficulty that the railroad company encounters is in gaining concessions from local authorities. provements, such as changing switches at Bridgeport, the manufacturers and town government protest, alleging that we are trying to monopolize the city. We have no thought in that direction, but propose to give the best service possible."

Another Newspaper?

The rumor is afloat that reporters Wade and Thomas are to start another Daily here between now and the time when the robbins nest in the spring. This with Mr. Maples' contemplated daily, which he is to issue when he gets his thirty thousand dollars subscription all paid in, will tend to wake up old Norwalk from centre to circumference If there is anything Norwalk is suffer ing for, beyond five more meat mark ets and seven more grocery stores, it is another daily newspaper. It would file a long felt want—somewhere.

A Runaway.

Henry Poyvez, while driving to his home on Jarvis avenue, Saturday even-ing, met with an accident. As he was turning the corner near Adams avenue he gave the horse a clip with the whip causing it to suddenly jump ahead. Mr. Peyvez lost his hold on one of the lines and was thrown out. Being bundled up in robes he escaped injury other than a severe sprain to his right leg. The horse continued on around to Betts' sawmill where he was stopped and returned to Mr. Poyvez none the worse for the run. Neither was the wagon injured.

They 'Vere Mad.

Several passengers were left at the railroad station yesterday morning, who intended taking the train to Danbury. On the arrival of the train the platform was densely covered with smoke and steam. One man jumped aboard after the train started and at the risk of his life. It is stated that Conductor Smith did not even call out "All aboard." Two of the passengers who were left and forced to wait until an evening train were very indignant, and they severely criticise the action of the conductor. Would it not be well when the platform and surroundings are enveloped in a cloud of smoke and steam, as is often the case, for conduc-tors to take a little trouble and see if all are aboard before giving the signal to the engineer to start?

Gov. Morris' Appointments.

Gov. Morris has decided to reappoint Railroad Commissioners George M. Woodruff of Litchfield and Wil-liam O. Seymour of Ridgefield. Alexander C. Robertson of Montville i named as Railroad Commissioner to succeed W. H. Hayward of Colchester. Robert J. Vance of the New Britain Herald is put down for the office of Labor Commissioner. Alling, New Haven; Washington F. Wilcox, Had-dam; W. M. Hammersley, Hartford.

Town Hall and Post Office Burned. CARMEL, N. Y., Jan. 16 .- A fire broke out shortly after 7 o'clock yesterday morning in the Town Hall in the village of Brewster, and before it could be checked it communicated to the adjoining business block, which was almost entirely destroyed. The post office and the Standard newspaper office was destroyed. The fire started in the lock-up in the Town Hall. Two negroes were in the lock-up at the time. One is missing, and it is believed by some that he was burned to death.

KILLED IN A SALOON.

Revengeful Hungarians at Elizabeth, N. J.. Make a Fatal Mistake.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Jan. 16.-A man named Devlin was shot dead in the village of Woodbridge at 10 o'clock Saturday night after leaving McGowan's saloon on Main street, where he had been drinking with several Hungarians. Two New York sharpers were also in the place and they had been bleeding the Hungarians out of some money. A quarrel arose between the New Yorkers, who came to the village monthly, and the Hungarians and the former left the place a couple of minutes after Devlin. Five pistol shots were heard by those inside, who on rushing out found Devlin lying dead in the road with a bullet hole over his heart.

Two Hungarians have been arrested and one of them named Pettic had a re-volver. A box of cartridges was found at his boarding house. It is believed the revengeful Hungarians killed Devlin in mistake for one of the New York sharps, who made their escape in the excitement. Judge Newton committed the prisoners to the Middlesex county jail. They stoutly deny the shooting.

TWO GIRLS INJURED.

A Sleighing Party With Four Horses All Pitched Down an Embankment.

ORANGE, N. J., Jan. 16 .- A sleighing party from East Orange went to Paterson Saturday night. It was composed of 22 young people from the Watsessing Methodist Church. They were closely seated in an open sleigh drawn by four horses. The horses became frightened and ran. The sleigh and both horses were thrown down the high bank into the surface of the Morris canal. The ice held up the heavy load and help was soon

Of the four horses one was killed by the fall. The occupants of the sleigh were extricated from the wreck, and, with the exception of bruises and slight cuts, all were found to be uninjured, except Miss Amy Clement, a daughter of the Rev. E bert Clement, the pastor of the Watsessing Church, and Miss Sarah Dillsberry. Miss Dillsberry's left arm was broken in two places, and she received several serious bruises on her body. Miss Clement's bruises were all about the head, and it is feared she is dangerously hurt.

The Coming Week Promises to be an Eventful One.

THE SENATE INTENDS TO DO A LITTLE WORK,

A Big Programme Marked Out for the House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16. - The coming week promises to be eventful in the Senate. Save the passage of the Quarantine bill, the Senate has accomplished very little as yet. Not one of the annual appropriation bills has been passed. The Committee on Order of Business has determined that something must be done to advance the public business. It was at the suggestion of Mr. Sherman, Chairman of that committee, that Mr. Washburn gave notice that he would ask the Senate to sit next Wednesday until the Anti-Option bill is disposed of. That this can be done without a bitter struggle is not expected. What will follow the Anti-Option bill will be decided by the Committee on Order of Business before Wednesday. At present the indications are that priority will lie between some of the Inter-State Commerce bills (if Senator Cullom is able to resume his duties). the Nicaragua Canal bill, and perhaps a resolution to repeal the Silver purchase

The majority have mapped out a big programme for the House. Today is suspension day. Efforts will be made to pass the Pension Office investigation report and the bill for the election of Senters. ators by the people. The majority of the Rules Committee has decided to allot Tuesday to bills coming from the Judiciary Committee, Wednesday to the Immigration bill and Thursday and Saturday to bills originating with the Committee on Foreign and Inter-State Commerce. Friday, under the regular rules, is private bill day. There is some opposition to the Immigration bill, and it is hardly likely that one day will suffice for its passage.

The Commerce Committee has a formidable list of me sures it hopes to pass headed by the Omnibus Lighthouse bill and the bill for the building of two additional revenue cutters. The committee is also anxious to pass two bills amenda-tory of the Inter-State Commerce act, which will be reported to the House dur-ing the week by Chairman Wise of Virginia, to meet the Counselmen case and the Gresham decision, and to allow rai road pooling under the control of the Inter-State Commerce Commission.

TOPEKA, Kas, Jan. 16. — Dispatches frm Lawrence, Hiawatha and McPherson, this State, say the Republicans and Democrats of thos places held mass meetings and protested against the action of the Populists in the lower House, at the same time urging the Republican majority to maintain their position and assuring them of the indorsement of public sentiment.

Mr. Blaine Retains His Strength. WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The return of Sunday is looked for with some apprehension in connection with the illness of Mr. Blaine, for the severe relapses which he has recently experienced have occured on that day. There was no development yesterday, however, other than favorable, and when Dr. Johnston left the house he said that his patient had passed a qulet, restful and uneventful day. There has been no appreciable change in his condition during his last three days and none was expected during the night. In answer to an inquiry Dr. Johnston said that to all appearance Mr. Blaine had not lost any strength since his attack last Thursday, and, on the whole, he regarded his condition as favorable as could be ex-

The Minnesota Senatorship. St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 16.-There now seems little doubt that C. K. Davis will be re-elected to the United States Senate this week. But the canvass has left no end of soreness among a large section of the Republ can party in the State. Davis' managers have treated the Republican legislators like children, and had not nearly all of them been elected on a Davis platform and pledged to their constituents to vote for the Senator's return he would undoubtedly be badly defeated.

We cannot tell how that poor boy suffered in all those years. Physicians did not effect a cure. At last I decided to give him Hood's Sarsaparilla, as my druggist recommended it. In about two weeks the Sarsaparilla began to have effect.. The sores commenced to heal up; the flesh began to look more natural and healthy. Then the scales came off and all over his body new and healthy flesh and skin formed. When he had taken two bottles he was entirely free from sores, having only the scars to show where they had been. ## WAR ON CORRESPONDENTS.

The French Government Begins a Campaign Against Them.

ONE ARRESTED AND ANOTHER TOLD TO GET OUT.

The Trouble is Over Their Panama Reports.

PARIS, Jan. 16.-The Government has begun a campaign against foreign newspaper correspondents in this city.

The Ministers have been seriously annoyed from the first by the attacks of English and German newspapers upon the men besmirched by the Panama scandal. Eeveral Paris dailies have suggested that both England and Germany had sufficient dishonesty at home to prevent them from casting stones, were they not so self-righteous.

Dispatches from Berlin, Budapest and London yesterday announced that the insinuations of the Cocarde had been transformed by Paris correspondents of newspapers in those cities into open sugges-tions that either Baron Mohrenheim, Russian Ambassador, or Count Menabrea, formerly Italian Ambassador, had been i fluenced in favor of the Panama Canal company by a bribe of 500,000 francs. Herr Wedel, correspondent for the German dailies, was one of the guilty men, and he was notified that he must leave the country.

M. Seiche, correspondent of the Pesti-Hirlap, has been arrested for telegraphing the report in question to Budapest. Several other correspondents have been notified that they will be expelled from France for the same offense.

M. Ri ot called yesterday on Baron Mohrenheim and Sig. Hessmann, successor to Count Menabrea, and apologized to each for the reflections cast upon the honor of the representatives of their sovereignns.

It is reported that papers recently seized show conclusively that M. Sans-Leroy, the ex-Deputy now in prison, received repeatedly bribes from Panama lobbyists.

SAAR STRIKE ENDED.

German Anarchists and Social Democrate are Greatly Disappointed. BERLIN, Jan. 16 .- The Saar strike ended practically Saturday, to the great disappointment of Anarchists and Independent Social Democrats. In Westphalia, where some 7,000 miners struck in sympathy with the Saar men, the men are thoroughly disgusted with the speediness of the collapse in the Saar basin after the agitators had talked so loudly of dying in the last ditch. In the whole Westphalian coal district hardly more than 3,500 miners stood out against the decision to return to work.

BY THE "GHOST" TRAIN.

FRIDGEPCET, Conn., Jan. 16 .- The Rev Siturday evening and almost instantly as he was being placed in an ambulance. Saturday night this train broke all previous accident records by killing two persons on the trip from New Haven to New York. At the Union street crossing in West Haven, the locomotive of the "ghost" struck George Elkins, Jr., the 11-year-old son of George R. Elkins, a well-known resident of West Haven. His body was hurled high into the air and against a telegraph pole, death being instantaneous. He was walking on one of the tracks, and seeing a freight train approaching stepped across to another. The express was rushing into the city on that track, but he did not see it or hear the whistle, and a moment later the engine struck him. The body was mangled almost beyond recognition.

They were making the journey in a light conveyance and were within a few miles of their destination when a band of ten outlaws attacked them. Malevo was murdered, robbed and his wife outraged by the bandits. The wife escaped to Flangoistengo where she related her story, and the com-mander of the military garrison there immediately ordered out a detachment of 25 troopers to go in pursuit of the per-petrators of the crime. The troops had no difficulty in following the trail and in a few hours came upon them in their rendezvous. The outlaws made a desperate res stance and kept up a fight until eight of them were killed. The other two were captured and have been shot. None of the so diers were killed.

Bridgeport, Conn., People See a Three Masted Schooner Burn.
BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Jan. 16.—About

7.30 last night a vessel was seen on fire off the harbor. Hundreds of people gathered on the shore and watched the blaze. The vessel was evidently a three-masted schooner. The fire lasted two hours. Light-house keeper McNeil put off in a boat, but before he reached the burning vessel the flames had died down and nothing could be seen. Several miles out empty oil barrels were found floating about. No trace of the crew was found. The strong wind would make it probable that if any of the crew escaped that they would land on Long Island shore.
