The Wyoming Legislature Appoints Com-

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Feb. 8.—Wyoming's

Reform Legislature is developing some scandals of ominous proportions. Three resolutions calling for investigations of serious rumors and charges were presented in the Senate vesterday. Two came from Republicans and one from a Democrat. The first relates to the mysterious disappearance of a Republican Senator who has not been seen since last Friday night. It is alleged that he was sent away by A. L. New and the Union Pacific

mittees to Investigate.

The Courant's Opinion.

"J. S. Clarkson of Iowa, one of the most active of the mistaken crowd who tried to down President Harrison at Minneapolis, is out now in a long letter attacking the nomination of Howell Jackson for the supreme court. In this, as in his move last June, Mr. Clarkson is utterly out of touch with the majority and the best part of the Republican party. At least, so says the Hartford Courant. There are more intense Republicans than even the Courant, who can't see, by the light of the November election, any lack of sagacity on Mr. Clarkson's part, in opposing the nomination of a candidate whom the Republicans could not elect. But then there is good sense enough in these concluding words of the Courant to make amends for its mistaken devotion to a candidate the most active workers and voters of his party did not want, when it says-"That sort of statesmanship has had its day that could see no good on the other sile, and that preached the old-fashioned doctrine that "the worst Republican is better than the best Democrat," or "the worst Democrat better than the best Republican." An intelligent and patriotic Nation is sick of such twad-

We welcome the Courant to the ranks of honest, independent journalism in company with the GAZETTE.

A Scandalous Practice.

At two recent funerals remarks the World, there have been most shocking and indecent exhibitions of a selfishness positively brutal in its disregard of the rights and feelings of the bereaved.

It was necessary to guard Mr. Blaine's grave for days to prevent the carrying away of the flowers strewn upon it by loving hands. At Mrs. Whitney's funeral yesterday, as soon as the services were over, there was a charge of flower grabbers upon the very altar-a rush so determined and violent that it required a force of six policemen to restrain it.

The relic-hunting instinct of small minds, which was probably the motive in both cases, is always easily tempted to vandalism, but rarely has it manifested a quality so coarse as this. Relic-hunters have chipped many monuments to bits, but never before we believe, have they charged upon newmade graves or stripped the altar as the funeral left the church.

If this is to be their temper we shall need a statute making such vandalism a felony.

It is a notorious, as it is a painful fact, that vases, flowers and flower receptacles, that loving hands have placed on the graves of their dear ones, are frequently despoiled or stolen outright in our Norwalk Cemeteries. This is particularly so in Union Cemetery and some stringent law ought to be enacted by the Connecticut Legislature to suppress this brutal outrage.

The Leading Citizen.

Perhaps the greatest nuisance with which every community has to contend is the professional "leading citizen," says the Washington Post, The individual who makes a business of posing as the head and front of every movement is an interesting study. As a rule he comes from a family with giltedged ancestors and an elongated history, and his sole mission on earth is to impress his fellow beings with his own superiority and to sympathize with them on account of their mental and physical defects.

There is not a community on the face of the earth that doesn't possess a professional "leading citizen." Villages and towns have been started with all residents on an equal footing, but in a very short time the "leading citizen" proceeds to develop and take on an importance that causes him to be looked up to and consulted on every improvement contemplated. An enterprise that doesn't carry the indorsement of the "leading citizen" is sure to be regarded with suspicion, and its failure is but a question of time. Such is the power of the "leading citizen" who thrives at the business.

ants. The day is coming, however, when the people will tire of the 'leading citizen" business. Every movement of a public nature will be considered upon its merits, and public men will live and be measured on their present ability, and not on the virtues of their ancestry. Then the persons who find the "leading citizen" business profitable will be out of employ-

There are several startling stories afloat in reference to the visit in New York of Messrs. William E. Dann and York of Messrs, William E. Dann and and Thomas Gregory, in none of which a GAZETTE reporter could find sufficient foundation of truth to publish. Certain it is though that both got left, and Mr. Dann's voice is as hoarse as a foghorn. From the DeWitt Estate. The state of Connecticut will realize about $10,000 from the estate of the late Anna T. B. DeWitt of Stratford, through the collateral inheritance law.
The law provides that when an estate goes to other than lineal descendants 5-per cent. of it goes to the state of Connecticut. In the matter of the disposi-tion of Mrs. DeWitt's property it goes to Dr. Poor, who is her half brother.

Are the Crinolines Coming. Since the cholera scare nothing has so agitated the public mind as the crinoline question. Are the crinoline coming? If so, when? If not, why not? Ward McAllister says we are sure to have the dreadful epidemic, as it were, and that no amount of talk and anti-crinoline societies can stem the tide. He also upholds them and declares that they are modest and graceful, whereas the present prevailing fashion of tight skirts has shocked him. The men as a rule seem to look upon the crinoline with distrust and aversion. But after this final dictum of the great McAllister every one of the mas-culine persuasion might as well make up his mind to accept the awful visitation as an assured fact.

During the stay of the company here the Coupling freight cars is one of the most dangerous duties that fall to the lot of our railroad employees, and is made more dangerous still by the variety in coupling arrangements adopted on different railroads of late. A. H. Schumaker, chief consul of the longecticut Division of the League of merican Wheelmen, has appointed a miniature house inside an ordinary four consultation. The building was made up of forty pieces of wood, neatly fitted and glued together. As wonderful as this may seem, it is only a part of the wonders of this sight-less lad. After completing the house and giving it "finishing touches" to his heart's content, he set about fastening the cork in the bottle, but how he accomplished the startling feat is a mystery to this day. Inside the bottle, below the neck, a small wooden peg is driven through the cork, the ends of the peg extending on either side to prevent the cork being removed from the bottle without its lower end being torn off. FLOODS AND ZERO.

Vagaries of the Weather in Different Parts of the Country.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Feb. 8.—High water carried away the trestle work of the Fitchburg Railroad bridge over Hoosick river, about one mile west of Vermont Junction. A new iron bridge is building, and would have been completed in two or three days. All freight traffic is suspended and passengers are transferred over the river.

HELENA, Mont.—The worst cold is reported in the Judith cattle country, where the thermometer dropped to 63 below zero and did not get higher than 30 below for four days. There is about three feet of snow on the level in the valleys. All trains are delayed and the Great Northern has not had a through train in on time for over a week.

WINNIPEG, Man. - Patrick Warde, a Canadian Pacific brakeman, was frozen to death in the blizzard. The express was snowed up at Sidewood, 60 miles west of Swift Current, and a relief train became stalled, and Warde started for Swift Current with the information. The thermometer registered over 40 degrees below zero. Warde had covered eight miles of the distance, and was within one mile of the station when he perished. JOLIET, Ill.-The blizzard struck this town just in time to save it from the flood. The thermometer dropped 20 degrees in six hours. The electric street cars were compelled to suspend. The cold wave that struck Carlyle, Ill., sent the mercury from 30 degrees above to several degrees below zero.

SEATTLE, Wn .- The extreme cold still continues. There was a very heavy snow-fall last evening. If the cold continues there is likely to be a coal famine, with much suffering. Several warehouses and sheds collapsed with the weight of the

PITTSBURG, Pa.—Dispatches from many towns in Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio report high water in the creeks and rivers, and serious damage is feared at several places. At Dubois the water in the Shinnemahoning river is at flood height, and Renovo and other towns along the stream are preparing for BANGOR, Me.-The Boston boats abandoned all efforts to reach Bucksport. This is the first time in many years that ice has closed the river at that port.

ROCHESTER, N. Y .- Miss Mary Ann Boody, 71, who had lived a hermit's life in a log hut near Medina for several years, was frozen to death.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y .- The ice in the Schoharie creek near Burtonville broke and came down stream into the Mohawk river, about a mile west of Fort Hunter, and has lodged there. The ice in the Mohawk at that point is still intact. The river has overflowed its banks at many places. There is a great fear of a freshet which will flood the valley.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—A big flood in South Buffalo, caused by the overflow of the creeks. Water covers the lands and streets to the depth of two and three feet. The Seneca street cars were forced to stop. All the region between Buffalo and Cazenovia creeks is more or less

A BROOKS MEMORIAL.

A Proposal to Erect a Building at Harvard as a Home of Its Religious Life.

Poston, Feb. 8.-The question of erecting a building at Harvard in memory of Phillips Brooks is receiving serious attention. It is proposed to have this memorial a centre of the religious life of the university, the home of the religious societies, to serve the same purpose as the Y. M. C. A. buildings in other colleges.

The matter has been taken in hand by Edwin H. Abbot of the class of 1855, to which Phillips Brooks belonged. He has in behalf of his class subscribed $10,000 to start the undertaking, and has sent out circular letters to all the living Harvard People graduates, stating the need and appropriateness of such a building.

Both Said "Not Guilty."

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.-George M. Nesbitt, who forged a check for $80,000 purporting to be drawn upon the Merchants National Bank by the proper officers of the Royal Fire Insurance Company, and Dawes E. Sturgis, who attempted to get the check cashed at Albany, were arraigned in the General Sessions before Judge Cowing upon indictments charging them respectively with forgery and grand larceny. Pleas of not guilty were entered, with leave to withdraw them.

This has been one of the features of the the Commissioners. It was very gratifying to them, therefore, that the Secretary of State indicated the willingness of the President to favor such a provision. preparing an argument for submission to the State Department, and Mr. Thurston, the Chairman of the commission, went over to New York after the conference yesterday to see the editor of the North American Review and secure an article which Mr. Thurston wrote for that periodical some months ago and which is said to contain some valuable data which will be used in the first written statement, to be presented by the Commissioners later in the week.

The conference included a discussion of the Kanakas of Hawaii, that portion of the population which stands in much the same relation to the Government at Honlulu as the American Indians do to the Government at Washington. There is a question presented in the relations which the Kanakas must bear to the better and more intelligent class in Hawaii when that country is annexed to the United States. The Commissioners have recommended against a suffrage which would include in the ruling power the Kanaka element, and in the event of annexation it now occurs to the gentlemen of the State Department engaged on the plan that some provision must be made for the care of the Kanakas. They are self-supporting, but according to the reports from Hawaii are incapable of self-government. As they are in the majority, any scheme which would allow them a voice in the Government would en-

It was brought out more clearly at the conference that Secretary of State Foster favored annexation, and the Commissioners feel more confident that their trip across the Pacific and over the continent has not been in vain. With them he is credited with reflecting the opinion of the President on this matter. They are not impatient to meet the President, an incident which Mr. Foster has not yet suggested to them or they to him. Four Panama Suspects Have Been Freed From Blame. THREE OTHERS COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

A Lively Debate in the Chamber

PARIS, Feb. 8 .- Ex-Minister and Deputy Rouvier, ex-Minister and Senator Paul Deves, Senator Albert Grevy, brother of the late President, and Senator Leon Rebault have been discharged from the accusation against them in connection with the Panama preceedings on the ground that the evidence does not warrant putting them on trial.

Senator Beral, ex-Minister and Deputy Antonin Proust and Deputy Dugue de la Fauconnerie were committed for trial at the Assizes, where the directors of the Panama Canal Company are also to be tried on the charge of corrupting the delendants named.

Late yesterday afternoon it was announced that ex-Deputy Gobron also had been committed for trial.

After hearing that the charge against him had been dismissed by the Chamber of Indictments, Senator Grevy sent to M. Monchicourt, Judicial Liquidator of the Panama Canal Company, a check for 20,-000 francs, the amount credited to Grevy on the Thier counterfolis as having been

Deputy Gauthier insisted that the Government must accept the responsibility which M. Ribot declined. The canal would not be finished, he said, unless the Government took direct and energetic steps to save the enterprise. If the stockholders lost the hundreds of

ITALY'S BANK SCANDAL.

Minister Grimaldi Offers to Resign in View of the Reports About Him,

ROME, Feb. 8.-Signor Grimaldi, Min-DENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD ster of Finance, has offered to resign in view of the reports circulated concerning his connection with the bank scandals, While denying any complicity in the frauds, Signor Grimaldi feels that the stability of the Cabinet is endangered by his remaining in office. He prefers, he says, that his offer be not accepted until after the debate on his Pension Reform bill, which provides for a saving of 30,-000,000 lire annually. The bill, however, is not likely to pass.

The examining magistrate has learned that in 1889 the Bank of Rome, despite the fact that it was one of the smaller of the six banks of issue, distributed 1,020,-000 lire among Deputies and politicians to secure the passage of the Bank bill, and that under similar circumstances in 1891 the same institution paid 1,300,000 lire for the support of men of the same been seriously ill for the past week with what is believed to be typhus fever.

Since Father Spielmanwent to help Father Eidelbrock, 18 months ago, he has made has two and three trips a week to North Brother Island to hold services in a smal chapel prepared for him. He visited all of the hospitals and talked with the pa-tients. He rowed over from Port Morris until the ice blockaded the river, after which the island steamboat called for him. His visit usually occupied all day, and, as he had to observe every precaution posssible against catching or spreading any of the contagious disceases, his work was very hard.

The Health Board sent an inspector to the priest's house, and an hour later he telephoned that it was an unmistakable case of typhus. Father Spielman was removed to the Reception Hospital.

THE INTERESTING CEREMONY IN CONGRESS.

The Electoral Votes Counted and Announced.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The electoral votes are being counted by the two Houses of Congress today. The ceremony is both interesting and impressive and attracted to the Capitol a throng that tested the capacity of the limited space in the ancient building. The tellers on the part of the Senate were Senators Hale of Maine and Blackburn of Kentucky, and on the part of the House Representatives Chipman of Michigan and Lodge of

Ma-sachusetts. The first step in the proceedings was the opining of the safe in the office of the Vice President at the Capitol, which was done this morning. The packages containing the certificates of the electoral of the 44 States, which have been brought by mail and messengers from all the State capitals, were taken out by the Vice-President with their seals still intact and handed to Capt. Bassett, the veteran assistant-doorkeeper of the

Capt. Bassett has officiated at the inaugurations of Presidents Van Buren, William Henry Harrison, Polk, Taylor, Pierce, Buchanan, Lincoln, Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Cleveland and Benjamin Harrison. Capt. Bassett has been in the Senate in one capacity and another for 61 years, and remembers the time when the present Senator Gorman was but a page in that body.

Today Capt. Bassett headed the procession of the Senators to the House, carrying under his arm the two wooden boxes in which the electoral votes have been sacredly kept. These boxes were made by the carpenter of the Senate to take the place of the receptacles which did duty in the ceremonies of 1885 and 1889 and which were carried away as personal souvenirs by Senator Ingalls, who, as presiding officer of the joint assembly in the latter year, felt that they were a part of his political career. The boxes are made of handsomely polished cherry wood and are fitted with strong locks.
As Capt. Bassett carried them over to the House today he was surrounded by a condon of Capitol police. This guard was more for show than use, as nobody ran away with the electoral treasure. A few minutes before 1 o'clock the Senate proceeded in a body to the House, where it was received with due ceremony. The Vice-President ascended the Speaker's platform and took a seat at the right hand of that officer. Capt. Bassett un-locked the boxes and placed them upon the Speaker's desk.

The galleries were crowded. The first electoral certificate, that of Alabama, was read in full by the clerk. It was in proper form and 10 votes were placed to the credit of Cleveland and 10 were placed in Mr. Stevenson's column. From that time on, however, the tellers satisfied themselves that the certificates were in proper form and only the net result was announced. The States were called out alphabetically down to Wyoming, the tellers added up their columns of figures, and the Vice-President publicly announced that Grover Cleveland and Adlai E. Stevenson, having received the majority of the electoral votes, were duly elected President and Vice-President.

SILVER IN THE HOUSE.

Members Pledged to Cloture and Methods

for a Straight Vote. WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Chairman Bacon of the Committee on Banking and Currency yesterday called a meeting of the advocates of the repeal of the Sherman Silver bill in the House to determine what course they will pursue in view of the Senate's action on the Silver question. There was a large attendance and the members who were designated to circulate petitions to get signatures of members in favor of a cloture, made their report. The situation was fully discussed and the lists compared, and it was shown that there are enough votes already pledged to vote down the previous question and advocate the adoption of a rule by which a direct vote on the bill may be reached.

Has No Cabinet Aspirations, WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.-Ex-Gov. Campbell was at the Capitol yesterday and spent some time in consultation with several Democratic Senators. He said very emphatically that he has no Cabinet aspirations, notwithstanding the frequent use of his name in that connection.

Of Course It Was Defeated. WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Representative Wheeler of Alabama created considerable amusement in the House by proposing to reduce the salarles of Congressmen from $5,000 to $4,000 per annum. Of course the amendment was not received.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

Sixteen House pension bills were passed by the Senate. The Treasury estimate for sugar bounties is now $8,000,000.

The Senate refused to consider the New York and New Jersey Bridge bill. The report of Mr. Oates on the Pinkerton system has been ordered to be presented to the House. The Senate has ratified the Russian Extradition treaty with amendments, making all attempts to assassinate the Czar or member of the royal family an extraditable offense, regardless of motive.

The Senate has confirmed the nomination of U. Rice Winchell to be Collector of Customs for the District of New Haven, and that of A. A. Birnley to be United States Attorney for the District of Columbia.

A bill for the admission, free of duty, of works of art produced by American artists residing abroad was considered in the Ways and Means Committee. Of the 11 members present six were in favor of the bill and five against it.

The Senate bill for the relief of the assignees or legal representatives of John Roach, deceased, to pay balance due on the United States ship Dolphin ($8,165) was, after some opposition by Mr. Mc-Pherson of New Jersey, passed by the
