No progress has been made relative No progress has been made relative to the state prison investigation. Senator Holcomb wanted a special committee, but the regular committee appointed for that purpose said they could take care of the work. Subsequently the Senate chairman of that committee resigned, and Senator Jones was appointed to succeed him. When was appointed to succeed him. When the matter was presented to the House, Judge Wood moved that it be laid on the table, because the newly organized committee had not taken any action on it. Mr. Gunn called for a yea and nay vote and the matter was tabled by a vote of 110 to 44.

The amendment to the charter of the city of Bridgeport, providing for the appointment of a permanent committee of appraisal on municipal improvements, was reported upon favorably by the Judiciary and ordered printed in the calendar

Before the military committee this afternoon will be heard the petition of persons in Bridgeport for the formation of a third company of the Governor's Horse Guards.

A petition was received from Norwalk to amend the statutes so as to compel the study in public schools of physiology and hygiene. The petition was signed py the Rev. Archibald Wheaton, a Baptist clergyman, and 335 others. Governor Morris signed the Bridge port biennial election bill, and it will consequently be operative by the time of the election in Bridgeport next

A bill ordering the display of the American flag on public school buildings was submitted to the House. The measure ordered selectmen to procure the national emblem, and cause it to wave in the breeze in suitable weather every school day in the year. Mr. Butler of Oxford ventured to remind his colleagues of the expense, but he was jumped on uncremoniously, and the bill went through with a rush.

The labor committee reported adversely on a bill prohibiting the employment of women and children after 9 p. m. and it was rejected.

There was disagreeing action between the House and Senate over the railroad bill for the transportation of members, and Senator Jones of Greenwich was appointed to confer with the House in relation to the trouble.

The following nominations were presented to the Senate by Governor Morris: State board of health, P. H. McKenie of Southington, to serve until July, 1895; W. H. Brewer of New Haven and Dr. Ralph Goodwin for terms of four years; Dr. N. E. Wordin of Bridgeport and George P. Ingersoll of New Haven, to serve until July, 1899.

Dr. G. H. Wilson holds over.

The committee on the Senate contest. ed election case Pinney (dem.) against Keeney (rep.) for the seat from the Twenty-fourth district presented two reports, one signed by Senators Pierce (dem.) and Holcomb (rep.) and the other by Senator Holden (dem.) The majority report favored Senator Keeney's retaining his seat.

The committee did not feel at liberty to disregard the decisions of the supreme court that the judgment of the board of registration is final on the admission of voters. The matter was made the special order of the day for Wednesday, April, 5th.

The hearing on the Bridgeport Street railroad matters was postponed till

April 11.

The petition of citizens for the aboli tion of grade crossings in Bridgeport, was heard before the railroad committee and an adjournment was agreed upon to Thursday, April 20.

The committee on humane institutions gave a hearing on the bill to re-organize the state board of charities. The bill calls for an increase of the beard from five to eight; one being appointed from each county.

Captured.

Two men who gave their names as George Howard and Henry Clark, were discovered yesterday afternoon, trying to effect an entrance into a house in New Britain. An alarm was given which after a lively chase resulted in the capture of the men both of whom state that they came from New Jersey. It is believed that they belong to a gang who have been committing burglaries in various parts of the state.

The Good Friday conclave of Washington Commandery, No. 1 Knights Templar, of Hartford, and appendant orders of the Mediterranean Pass and Knights of Malta, will be held at the Asylum, Cheney building, next Friday. Visiting Sir Knights will be present from Danbury, Springfield, Middletown, Norwalk and other sections. The exercises will be followed by a bangue at which creaches will be a second of the banquet, at which speaches will be made by distinguished Sir Knights.

A Runaway.

Yesterday afternoon as Mrs. Reed Haviland accompanied by a lady friend, were driving on Wall street in a phæton carriage, the horse became frighetned at some paper on the bridge and ran. Mrs. Haviland held on the lines but did not succeed in getting control of the horse. When the runaway arrived in front of Glover's store Chester Lamar ran into the street and grabbing the bridle stopped the horse, but as he did so the carriage lurched and one of the hind wheels collapsed, but fortunately did not throw the occupants out.
The damage done was confined to the wrecked wheel. TERSE TALES OF THE TIMES

Sudden Death. Henry H. Belden died suddenly at his home in Westport, yesterday morning. Mr. Belden was one of Westport's prominent citizens, having been a dry goods merchant of that place for a good many years. He was at his place of business as usual until last Friday, when he complained of feeling ill and went to his bed, which he never left again alive. He was a large man, of heavy frame, and has been troubled at times with a shortness of breath which, although it was not regarded as serious, is now believed to have been due to a fatty degeneration of the heart, death being hastened by an attack of pneumonia with which he was taken down last Friday. The deceased was a strong temperance advo-cate and has taken a prominent part in the temperance movement in the state. He was connected with the Congrega-

"Uncle Nate" Turrull Killed.

Nathan Turrull, aged 85 years, was struck and instantly killed by passenger train on the New England road at the Main street crossing Dan-bury, yesterday noon. The arm of the gate extending over the walk was broken off and Mr. Turrull walked by it and unconsciously stepped in front of the approaching train.

The deceased was born in New Fairfield eighty-five years ago. He learned the shoemsking trade. When thirty years old he went to Brookfield and purchased and conducted the American hotel in that place. In 1855 he went to Jersey City and purchased the Philadelphia hotel. He afterwards bought out the Madison avenue hotel in New York, which he successfully conducted for four years. In December, 1859 he went to Danbury and purchased the Wooster House. He was proprietor of that hotel until 1866 when he leased it for six years to Charles Simons, but two years later bought Mr. Simons out and conducted it until it was raffled off in 1872. The lottery of the hotel was a matter of considerable interest and

HORRIBLY MANGLED.

Another Victim of the Railroad Juggernaut.

The Body Not Yet Identified.

Last evening the baggage masters at the Souh Norwalk depot were informed by a tramp that he had seen a man by a tramp that he had seen a man struck by the cars near the second bridge at Five Mile River and instant-ly killed. The tramp said that he was going down the track when he noticed the other man coming up. The next he saw was the train coming along at a high rate of speed and strike the man who did not seem to hear the approaching train or did not care. The tramp came back to the South Norwalk depot and informed the men here and James Corson, Henry Jennings and Nelson Tuttle armed with a stretcher and ac-companied by Dr. Burke boarded the 7.56 train for Five Mile River.

Arriving at the scene of the accident a horrible sight met their gaze. For a distance of nearly two hundred feet, pieces of human flesh were strewn along the tracks. An arm was found in one place and a leg in another and pieces of bone, bits of clothing and leader the street of flesh were picked up and placed on the stretcher. The man had evidently been run over by other trains after the 7.15 which was the first one to strike him. The shapeless bundle of humanity was put aboard a freight train and brought to the South Norwalk depot. The head was severed from the body and was about the only large part of the body remaining. No one recognized the dead man, but it is supposed that he was some tramp or perhaps a foreign la-borer going to his home in one of the small towns below. Dr. Burke or-dered the remains removed and Undertaker Gregory took care of them.

The Earth Keeps It from Flying Far ther Away.

We have read how the coffin of Mahomet was poised without support in the mosque of the faithful, from which all unbelievers were so rigidly excluded; no material support was necessary to sustain the remains of the prophet, the body itself seemed ever on the point of following the departed spirit to the realms of bliss. A perennial miracle was indeed necessary to sustain the revered sarcophagus in space.

The infidel, no doubt, is somewhat sceptical about this marvelous phenomenon, and now, as ever, the truth is stranger than fiction. Far over our heads there is a vast globe, larger and heavier than millions of sarcophagi; no material support is rendered to that globe, yet there it is sustained from day to day, from year to year, from century to century.

What is it that prevents the moon falling? That is the question which now lies before us. It is assuredly the case that the earth continually attracts the moon. The effect of the attraction is not, however, shown in actually drawing the moon closer to the earth, for this, as we have seen, does not happen, but the attraction of the earth keeps the moon from going further away from the earth than it would otherwise do.

Suppose, for instance, that the attraction of the earth were suspended, the moon would no longer follow its orbit, but would start off in a straight line in continuation of the direction in which it was moving at the moment when the earth's action was interrupted. What Newton did was to show, from the circumstances of the moon's distance and movement, that it was attracted by the earth with a force of the same description as that by which the same globe attracted the apple, the difference being that the intensity of the force becomes weaker the greater the distance of the attracted body from the earth.

In fact, the attraction of the earth on BANKS.

RAYMOND, G. H., 46-48 Main st.,; telephone Women under twenty years of age, however, usually take unto themselves husbands six or seven years older than themselves. The cases in which the man was a year younger than the woman were almost as numerous as those in which he was six or seven years older. The first condition was true of 6.7 per cent. of all married couples and the latter condition of 6.4 per cent. The cases where the husband was six or seven years younger than the wife were also just as numerous as those where he was thirteen or fourteen years older. Only two cases were discovered where the husband was thirty-five years the senior; one case where he was forty-seven years older, and one case where he was older by forty-six years. One case was discovered where the wife was thirty-four years older than the husband. Twelve and threetenths per cent. of all men who marry women under twenty years of age, according to the statistician, are between twenty-six and twenty-seven years old.—Boston Courier.

Man, during the "Stone Age" lived in caves dressed in skins and made weapons from flints with which he fought the animals existing at that time. He was, perhaps, a cannibal, yet he made fires, instruments of offense and defense adorned himself with rudely carved beads to show his political or religious views, and buried his dead in caves with religious ceremonies.

During the "Metal Age" tools were made of a better character. Villages were built on piles driven deep in the lake bottoms, and cloth was woven and made into garments. Several kinds of animals were domesticated, and numerous articles of ornament were manufactured. Wheat, barley and oats were cultivated. The baker's art was discovered. Glass was found, and some fruits stored for winter use. And after iron had been added to the list of metals already known, civilization advanced rapidly.—Detroit Free Press.

A Gold Mine in a Hen's Crop. J. A. McConville killed one of his chickens for dinner, and on cleaning it was surprised to find a quantity of gold nuggets in the crop and gizzard. Having about thirty more chickens on hand, he began killing and examining them. In each of them he found a pro rata of nuggets, the total amount gathered from the thirty-one hens being $387.50, an average of $12.50 a head. The gold was sent to the State National Bank, and pronounced 18 karat fine. Mr. Mc-Conville immediately bought fifty more chickens and turned them out on the gold fields in the vicinity of the hencoop. As an experiment one of them was killed and $2.80 in gold taken from its inside works, the result of a four day run.-Butte Mining Journal.

The Congressional Mace.

The mace of the House of Representa-tives consists of a bundle of thirteen ebony rods entwined and bound to-gether with silver bands. The thirteen ebony sticks represent the thirteen original States of the Union. They are surmounted by a globe of silver, upon which the hemispheres are traced, while a silver eagle, with outstreted wings, is perched upon the summit of the globe. It was made in 1884 and weighs twenty pounds.

The high-tide of the year has come at last; Them their mysterious deeps the waves of And pink and green are breaking on on sight; The airy cloud-ships, slowly sailing pas , Light shadows on the shimmering orenards cast; The fragrant biesze seems to repel their flight, And on the outspread trees the son surs light, Yet with the wings of music travel fast.

Then comes the full, delicious rise and fail Of night and morn; and dreamy twilights The soul like sweet responses to a call; Where once were roses there are roses still; — The earth must pattern after her old ways As long as there are Junes and summer days.

—Mary A. Mason, in Youth's Companion.

Volcanoes at Sea.

Last year there was a strange occur-rence near the Island of Pantellaria, between Sicily and Tunis, which would have filled the imagination of a Homer or a Virgil with pictures of the supernatural monsters, and poetical fancies about the extravagant doings of the deities of the sea

A submarine volcanic eruption or curred there, and the inhabitants of the island saw what seemed like some great fish disporting himself in the tron sel water, while columns of smoke arose around him.

Those who ventured near to the scene in boats saw hot volcanic bombs, composed of black scoriaceous material, r s ing to the top of the w ter, and treat running and darting about in the the st singular fashion, under the impulse of the steam which they discharged. Some bounded more than sixty feet up into the air as the steam exploded.

Such outbursts of heated matter from the bed of the sea furnish, perhaps, an even more impressive indication than ordinary volcanic eruptions do of the strange conditions prevailing at no great depth beneath the surface of the earth.

An Iron Mountain in Australia. Forty miles from Port Augusta, Spencer's Gulf, South Australia, is an immense deposit of iron, reaching a height of some 800 feet above the level of the plain, which promises in point of extent and quality to eclipse any of the wonderful "mountains of iron" which from time to time are discovered in the United States. The Colonial ferriferous elevation, which has been appropriately christened the Iron Monarch, was, it seems, acquired two or three years ago by a syndicate, not for the iron which it might produce, but for the silver which, experts believed, must lie under the ferric surface. The sanguine ex-ever, never destined to be realized. The Iron Monarch soon showed that it was not going to belie its name, and that its superficial show was an accurate reflex of its interior-in short, that it was never intended by nature, as its anxious explorers have fondly imagined, to prove a rival to the famous Broken Hill.-Iron.

Sheridan's Historic Ride. "I once had a talk with Gen. Phil

Sheridan about his famous Winchester ride," said Judge O. S. Stoddard. "It was immediately after the appearance of the poem celebrating that thrilling event. I read it through to him, and he stood for a few minutes switching his boot with a sprig of hazel bush, then said slowly: 'I think if the versifier had seen that steed "as black as the steeds of night," and knew how I had to spur and whip the old crowbait to get it to go over the road he would not have had the attack of hysteria of which that poem is the offspring. Once my famous charger stumbled, and I came near going over his head into a mud-puddle. Instead of his plunging with me into the thickest of the fray he played out completely, and I had to take the mount of an orderly. The rhymsters are blessed with very vivid imaginations.'.'-St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

"Sick" Pearls Under Treatment. At the foot of a cliff under the windows of the Castle of Miramar, formerly the residence of the Mexican Emperor Maximillian, at a depth of eighty feet below the surface of the clear waters of the Adriatic, is a kind of cage fashioned by divers in the face of the rock. In that cage are some of the most magnificent pearls in existence. They belong to the Archduchess Rainer. Having been left unworn for a long time the gems lost their color and became "sick," and the experts were unanimous in declaring that the only means by which they could be restored to their original brilliancy was by submitting them to a prolonged immersion in the depths of the sea. They have been lying there for a number of years, and are gradually but very slowly regaining their former unrivaled orient.—Public Opinion.

Where Men Grow Old.

A place called Bellavista, in the close neighborhood of Portici, is remarkable for the longevity of its inhabitants. At the present time there is a farmer there 105 years old, who still works in his fields. Then he has above twenty neighbors who have already passed their ninetieth year and are all in good health. All are natives of the place, and some of longlived ancestors. They live, and have lived, very frugally, rarely eating meat, and drinking only water, and that taken from not very well constructed rainwater cisterns. They are for the most part poor and ignorant peasants.-Lon-

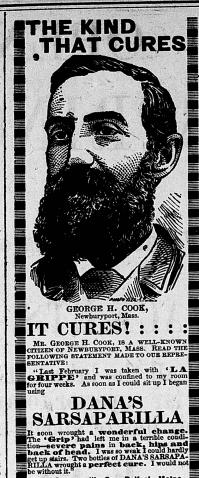

He Wasn't Polite to the Major. Maj. Stofah is a fat and frolicsome bachelor, who still loves to linger in the dangerous light of youth and beauty. Not long ago he was lingering about half past 11 o'clock when the young

woman's father returned from down

"Ah, Mr. Wilkins," observed the major effusively, "you get in late."
"Well," said Wilkins ungraciously,

'I don't get in quite as late as you get out," and he went on up stairs leaving the major with a bad taste in his mouth.

Canine Fish Catchers.

Two dogs, male and female, were by the policemen at the foot of Third street about dark one night recently. looking attentively over the edge of the dock, says the Cleveland Press. Suddenly one was seen to plunge into the river, while the other stood on the dock a few moments, showing every sign of delight, and then it, too, was seen to plunge into the water.

The policeman, thinking that perhaps the dog-owners had fallen overboard and that the dogs had plunged in to rescue them, hastened to the scene.

No man was there, but in the mouth of each dog a large water rat was struggling for liberty, while the dogs fiercely tried to shake the life out of them.

The policeman carried the dogs after getting them from the water to the central station, where their owner, who lives at Grosse Point, called for them. They were of species known as fish hounds, and had been brought from the south. They resembled the Mexican in color, and in having no hair save a tuft on the forehead, but in size they were as large as foxhounds. Their owner, a fisherman, living at Grosse Point, catches his fish with a seine and the fish are afterward placed in a staked inclosure. When fish are wanted the dogs are so trained that they plunge in and bring the desired one to their master. They are held at a good stiff price, as the owner finds them a source of great profit.

A Favorite Japanese Poison.

One of the most famous and fatal poisons used in Japan and Java is obtained from the bamboo. The young shoots of the cane when they first push through the ground are covered with fine, brownish hairs, which, under the microscope, appear to be bayonet-like spikes of crystals of silex, infinitely sharp and hollow. Small quantities of these hairs administered daily in the food bring on ulceration of the whole alimentary canal, stimulating malignant dysentery. The action must be of a mechanical rather than chemical nature, just as the spores of the common puff ball act upon the eves. The bamboo crystal is greatly dreaded by all European residents of Java. A Dutch official report says that scores of deaths among European planters are due to the bamboo hairs and to the jealousy of native women, who, whenever they take a fancy to a white man, will either have him or poison him on bamboo hairs, if it takes months to do the job. The infinitesimal hollow through these hairy crystals is the most remarkable thing in connection with them, they being the only known hollow vegetable or mineral thorns or crystals. -Chicago News.

How the Franco-Prussian War Ended. Among the stories of Herr Forckenbeck, the late chief burgemaster of Berlin, which are being revived, is this:

"As President of the North German

Reichstag he was sent in 1871, with Von Stauffenberg, to Versailles, to congratulate the Prussian King upon his election as Emperor. Bismarck, who had just concluded the terms of peace with France, invited them to supper, and at that repast the Kaiser's chief counsellor said:

"'This night, at 12 o'clock, the last shots will be exchanged between our troops and the French, and I have conceded to the French the honor of the last shots.

"Forckenbeck and his colleagues left their host before midnight, drew out their watches, stood underneath a lantern of the Hotel du Reservoir, and waited. First there was a cannon shot from the German troops; then a solemn stillness. Then followed the last reply from Mount Valerian. The tower clock at Versailles struck twelve; the French war had ended."

Electricity in Plant Forcing.

There can be no doubt that electricity will eventually become a prime factor in the production of forced fruits, vegetables and flowers, and that this time is not far distant may be gleaned from the fact that a market gardener has introduced the light into a gigantic glass house devoted to the production of winter and spring salads. He uses three 2,000 candle-power arc lights all night throughout the winter for the sole purpose of hastening the growth of salads. He has proved by actual experiment that the maturity of lettuce is hastened by 10 per cent., and that the actual gain upon one crop pays for running the lamps through the entire winter. With an actual gain of five days for each crop he secures a gain equal to fifteen days during the winter. It is also claimed by the Horticultural Times that the growth is more robust and the quality more perfect in every respect.

Widows and Widows.

Dressed in her gayest attire the East Indian widow walks forward triumphantly to the sound of music to place herself on the flaming pile which consumes the dead body of her husband. Dressed in like manner, the Caucasian widow walks triumphantly from headstone to headstone surmounting the graves of her departed husbands, and goes flaming to the wedding altar like to a maiden to her first appearance in society. Or, if a grass widow, she goes with equal grace and triumph to new fields of honorable warfare, preserving her beauty for the next succeeding lover and her temper for the one about whom she throws the gossamer of the law and the cordage of her firm trust. There is a slight difference between East Indian and European or American widows; but each of them is altogether charming and lovely to her age and civilization.-Inland Ocean.

Birds, as a rule, cannot focus their save, perhaps, at a very long distance and directly in front.

The truth of this statement may readily be demonstrated by anyone who has observed ordinary fowls turning their head on one side when desirous of more closely examining some object which has attracted their attention. When excited by the presence of a strange object, chickens will often be noticed examining it, first with one eye, and then with the other, turning their heads for that purpose, thus showing that they cannot bring both eyes to bear upon it at once. The only exception to the general rule is found in the case of the owl, whose eyes are placed in front of the head, and are capable of being brought to a focus on an object at a very short distance in

A War Vessel to be Proud Of.

The builders' trial trip of the armored cruiser New York shows the new vessel to be the swiftest of its kind afloat, and better still that its powerful machinery is so perfectly adjusted as to require no service to render the bearings smooth. In a trip consuming nearly five days, says the Philadelphia Times, the engines did not need to be stopped or slowed down for any cause, and in the supreme trial, during which a speed of nearly twenty and a half knots was maintained, the conditions usually allowed for such a trial, including picked coal and the extreme limit of forced draft, were not present. In other words, the builders' trial with new and untried machinery and under ordinary conditions showed the vessel capable of exceeding its contract speed.

That the conditions will be better and the speed attained still greater when the official trial trip is made is scarcely to be doubted. A vessel that shows such perfect working qualities with the machinery new and untried will be an exception to all other vessels of its class if its highest rate of speed is reached on its first trial. But if it never does better than it did on Saturday outside the capes of the Delaware it will still be the fastest vessel of its kind afloat and a source of pride and admiration to all who take an interest in the new American navy.

Philadelphia is especially to be congratulated on this the crowning achievement of its leading ship-builders. When the policy of political shipbuilding was abandoned by the United States Government the beginning of a neal American navy was possible. In building warships that could either run or fight with the best the world has yet produced the Cramps have led the way. each succeeding ship doing better, than the contract specifications required, and each outdoing its immediate predecessor. The total result is an overwhelming demonstration of the superiority of the busines method of building a navy over the political method.

"Tell us about it," said the court.

A Dog's Sense of Shame.

That dogs possess the sense of shame is proven by the following fact: Mr. Raymond, of the Brandenburg Manufacturing Company, is the owner of a valuable Newfoundland, who giories in the proud name of Dude. A short time ago, on account of the heat, Mr. Raymond determined to have him sheared. After the operation the dog slunk away under the porch and hung his head in shame. Nothing could induce him to raise his eyes, and no coaxing could bring him forth until hunger compelled him. He knew he was endeshabille. It was a clear case of shame.—Cincinnati Commercial.

A Great Phenomenon.

At the head of the Gulf of Bothnia there is a mountain on the summit of which the sun shines perpetually during the five days of June 19, 20, 21, 22 and 23. Every six hours during this season of continual sunshine a steamer leaves Stockholm crowded with visitors anxious to witness the phenomenon. At the same place during winter the sun disappears and is not seen for weeks; then it comes in sight again for 10, 15 or 20 minutes, gradually lengthening its stay, until finally it stays insight continuously for upward of 120 hours.—St. Louis Re-

The age of chivalry passed away with the fifteenth century, but among the many acts of courtesy which can be traced back to its influence none are more direct in its origin than that of lifting the hat to acknowledge the presence of a friend.—Free Press.

attendance listened to the oration of Chauncey M. Depew on the life and public services of the late Gen. James W. Husted. In the audience were prominent State officials, Senators, members of the Assembly and many ladies. The General's old friend, ex-Senator William H. Robertson, Mrs. Husted and her children, were notable among those

Mr. Depew told how he first met, in the Fall of 1852, upon the campus at Yale College, the man who was destined to be his lifelong friend, James W. #### SAT ON THE ASSEMBLY.

The New York Senate Will Not Agree as to Adjournment.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 29.-There is a serious difference in the Democratic ranks as to when adjournment should take place. Speaker Sulzer, after consultation with Croker in New York and Gov. Flower here, sent forth the decree that adjournment must be had not later than

April 14.

It is known that some members are exceedingly restive under the restraints put upon them, and should the session drag on there is no telling to what guer-rilla tactics they might be tempted. This, at any rate, is the fear of the leaders, and so yesterday morning Mr. Quigley introduced and had passed a concurrent lution fixing adjournment for April 14.

When the resolution reached the Senate Mr. McCarren was in the chair. Lieut.-Gov. Sheehan at once began a personal canvass of the members against it. When he had concluded he took the chair and McCarren made a vigorous attack on the resolution, saying its passage by the Assembly was an act of dis-courtesy. Then the grave Senators, jealous of their dignity, slapped the House in the face by unanimously rejecting the resolution.

THE NEW AMBASSADORS. It is Not Believed Their Increased Privileges Will Affect Their Status Much. WASHINGTON, March 29 .- To what extent Sir Julian Pauncefote and M. Patenotre, the English and French Ambassadors respectively, will avail themselves of the privileges to which their recent promotion entitles them, according to diplomatic usage, is a question that has been discussed in the circles particularly interested in the past few days. It is not believed that the change in rank will alter the existing condition of things in Washington, although it will undoubtedly be to the advantage of our diplomatic representatives in Europe. It is extremely doubtful that Sir Julian Pauncefote or M. Patenotre will care to exercise any of his privileges, or whether, when he goes to the State Department, he will be given precedence over Envoys. That is a mat-

There is No Change in the Political Situation.

JAPAN HAD A SCHEME WHICH WAS FORESTALLED.

The Deposed Queen is Living in Seclusion.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—The United States steamship Alliance arrived from Honolulu yesterday, after a passage of 11 days, bringing news that all is quiet in the islands and the political situation unchanged.

A movement is on foot for political organization among all the friends of annexation for the purpose of supporting the Government and to assist in securing the annexation of the islands to the United States.

The Provisional Government is administering public affairs in a conservative manner, and is strengthening its lines in every way. This is being done in order to maintain the situation until such time as the United States shall complete measures for taking the islands into the fold. The sentiment in favor of annexation, notwithstanding the representations to the contrary, has been gaining ground, and many of those who originally opposed it are now among its ardent supporters. Ex-Queen Liliuokalani remains se cluded, and refuses to see any one, with the exception of certain persons who stand nearest to her. To those whom she does consent to give audience she declines to talk over the revolution further than to say that her entire interests are in the hands of Paul Newman. The news of the visit of Princess Kiulani to America and her written appeal to the people of the United States provoked only amuse-ment at Honolulu. A story is current that the Princess is engaged to marry the son of Davies, her guardian.

It is believed that Japan had designs upon the islands, owing to the employment of a large number of her subjects on the sugar plantations. Chief Justice Judd, in speaking about the matter, instanced first that the captain of the Jap-anese cruiser Naniwa had called upon the Provisional Government and said that if the United States abandoned its protecorate the Japanese would consider that no government existed on the island and would raise their flag.

The Japanese Government officials are said to be profiting through the remunerative labors of their subjects, and another thousand of them have left Japan for Hawaii. British Minister Wode-house is on friendly terms with the Japanese Commissioner, and it has even been charged that Wodehouse has advised the Commissioner as to his policy.

Col. Volney Ashford, who was obliged to leave for the States for advocating what the Provisional Government is now eeking to bring about, namely, annexaseid that Japin was a power not to be despised, and he was satisfied that the Naniwa would have made an effort to annex or establish a protectorate on the islands had she not been forestalled by Minister Stevens.

P. R. Jones, the Minister of Finance of the Provisional Government, has resigned on account of ill health, and T. R. Porter has been appointed to succeed

It is rumored that Mr. Smith offered him the place of Assistant Secretary. He has been a warm friend of President Cleveland, and was a delegate to the last two National Conventions. He is close to National Chairman Harrity, who is said to have presented his name at Washington.

was reported last summer, when Nihilist rumors were rife and documents of a threatening nature found their way to the very table of the czar's private cabinet, that the autocrat of all the Russias permitted the hound to sleep in the hall adjoining his bedroom. For some unexplained reason the dog became very suspicious of one of the guardsmen, and growled continuously when this man was put on duty as sentinel in the palace. Nothing could be shown and nothing was suspected against the man, but to satisfy the dog he was withdrawn from sentry duty.—Chicago Herald.

Marriage in Turkey.

The girls are not allowed to see their husbands until they are married to them. The girl must seem to be entirely ignorant of the meaning of her betrothal, she must cry when the ring is put on her finger, but must not admit that she understands what it means until the contract is settled, when for the first time she is allowed to recognize the fate that has been prepared for her, and then it is her duty to fall back in a dead faint.

Even after that she must not ask any questions about the name, family or character of her betrothed, nor must she ever try to see him from afar. Notwithstanding this arrangement, which seems to have been malevolently contrived to make marriage a failure, Adalet does not think that Turkish marriages turn out so badly on the whole.

"I have seen girls brought up in every kind of indulgence, and who have never been thwarted in their whole lives, bow down before their husbands and obey without a murmur the orders of a man who a few months before was entirely unknown to them, and I cannot help admiring a system which, while asking for so much devotion and sacrifice on one side, so rarely degenerates into tyranny on the other."—Nineteenth Century.

He Was Taught to Eat It.

"Speaking about corn and cholera," said W. H. Carr, formerly chief clerk at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, "I remember an amusing incident that came under my observation. A titled foreigner, who evidently had never studied agriculture, was a guest of the house. One day I happened to sit at the same table with him. The waiter served a lot of side dishes, including corn. The titled guest inspected an ear and then laid it back on the plate. Taking his knife and fork he began to dissect it, cutting it into slices and strips. He jabbed his fork into the center of the cob and left it there. The other guests at the table tried to conceal their emotions with napkins. A gentleman sitting near me ordered some extra ears to show the foreigner how to get away with the corn. There was a profound silence all around the table, especially near the would-be corn eater. The following day the titled visitor ordered a double portion of this succulent vegetable."—N. Y. World.

The railroad and water facilities are unsurpassed, having the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, which furnishes hourly transit to and from New York city, and the Housatonic Railroad, under the management of the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R., with its western and northwestern connections. Besides Every time the queen leaves one of a passenger steamer running daily er residences, even for an afternoon to and from New York city during the summer, and a daily freight boat service the entire year. Thus affording easy communications with all parts of the country, and making Norwalk especially adapted for manufacturing purposes of all kinds. When considering the importance of cheap transportation, the odds favor the location of the manufacturer in this city.

There are many other things in Norwalk and its surroundings which was struck by lightning and rendered render it most suitable for manufacturing; it offers a desirable location for a home. The climate is healthful and delightful, the death rate not exceeding ten to the thou-

The streets are well taken care of, and have miles of concrete and flagthis. We find by an English paper that stone sidewaiks.

It has eight postoffices and free delivery system, excellent telegraph and telephone service, four miles of horse railroad, which is in contemplation of being made into an electric railroad in the near future, three well organized and first-class equipped fire departments and fire alarm system, gas and electric lights, fine waterworks which are self sustaining, excellent sewerage, two daily and five weekly newspapers, four hotels, two public libraries, twelve public and place for a home.

five private schools, fifteen churches of all denominations, five National banks with a capital of nearly one million dollars, three savings banks with over one thousand depositors and about three million five hundred thousand dollars assets, two military companies and a beautiful State armory, a flourishing Young Men's Christian Association, a fine club building, three opera houses, and many large and commodious business blocks adorn its prominent business streets.

There are a number of mercantile and manufacturing establishments, both wholesale and retail, representiug most every business industry.

The churches are elegant in de sign and finish, some being built of stone and brick, others frame.

The public school buildings are large and airy and constructed with a view to health and comfort of the pupils. They are under the supervision of Principals Wigham, Tucker and Foote, who are eminent schol ars and educators. They maintain a high standard; no better can be found in the state. The graduates re sent forth fully equipped for any calling.

Norwalk's industries are diversified and extensive. Perhaps the largest one line of manufactures is of fur hats, in which there are some twelve to fifteen firms, who employ about twelve hundred people. Next is the cultivation of oysters, for which Norwalk is noted the world over. Besides these industries there are the following factories: 2 lock, 1 corset, 3 machine shops, 3 paper boxes and packing cases, 1 steam engines and air compressors,2 furnaces and stoves, 2 straw hats, 3 cassimeres, worsted and felts, 1 hatters' supplies, 3 shoe, 2 hardware novelties, 5 carriage, 5 doors, sash and blinds, 7 cigars, 5 saw mills, 1 pattern, 4 planing, 2 iron fence, 1 gas stove and appliances, 2 cement pipe.

This brief enumeration is sufficient to show Norwalk, as a whole, to be among the commercial cities of this part of the state. Its prosperity comes not less from the natural advantages, here found, than from the spirit of the enterprise that prevails with its people. Norwalk society is excellent in character, its professional and business men are of a high order, while its people are social and neighborly. With its social, educational and moral features, the healthfulness of climate and location, should of themselves make Norwalk a most desirable place for manufacturers, as well as a beautiful Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

WELL KNOWN NAMES.

J. H. Buckley & Son, manufacturers of elastic web, established 1879, and employs 65 skilled mechanics. This firm cannot fill their orders at present, as their goods are in such demand.

Arnold & Co., iron founders, have a complete establishment employing 60 to 70 people, manufacturing light and heavy castings, hardware specialties and difficult cored

The Union Manufacturing Co., which concern employs about 175 people all the year, turning out fine grades of cassimeres and all wool felting. W. F. Bishop, Prest, Geo. R. Cowles, Treas. and C. A. Quintard

Arthur C. Wheeler, straw hat manufac turer, employs about 200 hands, manufacturing all kinds of straw hats, and is running on full time.

There are a large number of diversified manufacturing establishments in Norwalk and South Norwalk, which are running the entire year and are worthy of special mention, but space fails us. This representation of manufacturers and merchants are sufficient to show the enterprise of the business people.

John A. Riggs, one of the leading drug gists of the town, is a graduate of the National College of Pharmacy, of Washington D. C. Besides carrying a fine line of drngs chemicals, toilet articles, and cigars He makes a specialty of physicians prescriptions, having had ten years practical experience in this town and in Washington, D. C. His soda water is of extra fine qual. ity, and is dispensed from the most elaborate fountain in town.

Another concern deserving mention is that f the Norwalk Pattern Works, Chas. Assthorpe, proprietor. This firm makes specialty of Wooden and Metal Patterns of all kinds, and manufactures iron work for buildings, and vauit light for sidewalks. Besides being agent for Thatcher's furnaces and ranges and Page & Mas on's steam and hot water heaters. Mr. Aisthorpe is a gentleman who has had ma ny years experience in this vocation, and we may state that there are none who can excel him in his lines.

Hutchinson, Cole & Co. Shirt and Waist manufacturers, with offices at 836 and 838 Broadway, New York, and a large plant at Bridgeport, Conn., where they make nothing but shirts and underwear, employing some 300 hands. This firm was established in 1852 at Norwalk, and have 300 skilled employees, making fine boy's and ladie's waists. 'The company comprises the heirs of G. Hutchinson, deceased, H. B. Pierce, the New York end, T. S. Morison, at Bridgeport and Mr. Ira Cole, Norwalk

Perhaps there is no line of business in Norwalk that is so completely handled and managed as that of W. H. Smith & Co's hardware, builder's supplies, doors, sash and blinds, paints, oils, window glass, iron and steel concern. This firm has the largest establishment of this ki nd in the state and are capable of filling orders and giving estimates for any style or design of buildings, either in this locality or away. The firm consists of Wm. H, Smith and G. Willis. White, who are affable gentlemen and straitforward in all their dealings.

M. D. Randall started business eight years ago, Cor. VanZandt Avenue and Hoyt street, in a small shop, occupying 600 square feet; of ground. One year later occupied 900 ft; the year following, doubled capacity 1800 feet; three years a go bought Riverside mills water power, with 4200 square feet floor surface, and has added to this plant until the square feet of floor space now used is 10,770, besides a large yard for storing lumber. Among the buildings lately erected by this firm, are Fairfield County Home, Norwalk; Muncipal Electric Plant, South Norwalk; Methodist Church, East Norwalk; Stone Church, Meriden; Opera House, South Norwalk, and many residences.

H. R. Hale, the old reliable wholesale and retail druggist and manufacturer of Hale's specialties, for the drug trade, is perhaps deserving of special mention in this edition. This firm is one of Norwalk's most en terprising, and is becoming thoroughly known throughout the New England states for its valuable remedies and specialties, of which we will mention a few. To start with is Hale's compound quinine for the hair, Hale's egg foam, Hale's rose cream, Hale's skin beautifier. He is also wholesale agent for the Hale & Heath Manufacturing Co's specialties, which are Hale's famous corn popper, which is becoming world-famed; also lustrine which is now very popular among housekeepers for general housecleaning, and especially for cleaning and polishing mirrors and windows. These articles should be tried in order to con ceive there value.

Chas. T. Leonard, having been a manufacturer of cement pipe for twenty-five years, and laid more or less during that time, feels justified in saying that no better pipe can be furinshed, for drains or sewers than first quality cement pipe, such as he makes. Several reasons may be assigned :

First, it is smoother than any vitrified pipe, therefore less liable to obstructions. Second it is perfectly true in shape, not being warped by fire. Third, being perfectly true the joints fit more closely together, requiring less cement to make them tight. Fourth, it grows stronger with age and bocomes like stone. Fifth it can be cut and added to with safety. Sixth, cement having an alkali in it, greasy matter will not adhere to it so quickly. Seventh, for purposes requiring a pipe over ten inches in diameter. a flat bottom pipe is made, adding greatly to its strength, and above a twelve inch, in addition to the flat bottom, the pipe is made nearly oval, horse collar shape, adding to its strength, and from its peculiar shape it will keep itself clean, making it superior to all others. Eighth, it can be furnished cheaper than vitrified. The Holmes, Keeler & Selleck Co., wholesale Grocers, was originated by George M. Holmes, who commenced busines swith his uncle, G. Holmes, on Main street, in April. 1852, and directly and indirectly continued until April 1870, at which time he associated himself with Geo. Keeler & Bro. under the firm name of Keeler, Holmes & Co., then located in the Lockwood building, 9 and 11 Wall street, and continueing by the above name until the spring of 1874, at which time Mr. Geo. Keeler withdrew from the firm leaving his brother, Edwin O. Keeler. and Mr. Holmes to continue in the name of Holmes & Keeler, and which they did with no further change until the spring of 1891, when the firm of Selleck Bros., who were wholesale grocers of twenty-two years standing, and Holmes & Keeler thought it advisable to follow the fashion of the times and join interests by organizing the stock company known by the above name. This firm is rated as one of the strongest in the state. The company, consisting of Mr. Geo. M. Holmes, a member of the New York Produce Exchange, President of the Central National Bank and of the Norwalk Savings Society, Mr. E. O. Keeler, President of the Fairfield County Bank, and Representative from Norwalk in the Legislature, and Geo. W., Isaac Jr., and Henry S. Selleck, business men of the highest integrity. Hanlon Bros. manufacturers of baking powder. This firm has been established some ten years in this business, and is the largest establishment of its kind in the New England states. Their method of giving elegant presents with each pound can of baking powder has become very popular with every household. Being unlike other baking powder concerns who advertise by circulars and posters, have come in contact with the housewife direct by giving them' an opportunity to get useful household articles which they could not afford to purchase otherwise. To show the popularity of their baking powder, it is almost impossible to enter any house without being able to notice some article which has been given away with Hanlon Bros'. one pound can of baking powder. Lately they have added a crockery department. Being able to supply the demands of this community in these goods at extremely low prices, as they buy in car load lots, direct from the western factories, which enables them to compete with all competitors. But their special business is the manufacture of baking powder. They make large inducements to the trade, and take this opportunity of thanking their patrous for their generous considerations, hoping to maintain its continuance in the future.

ESTABLISHED 26 YEARS.

Comstock Bres., manufacturing wholesale and retail clothiers, are making, at their great hive of human industry, all goods of thoroughly honest material, a d of the best workmanship. No other clothing house wherever located has greater facilities for offering goods of equal superiority at so low prices. Every garment is warranted and if in any way unsatisfactory, can always be returned. Their clothing at this present day is being shipped all through the New England states and the northwest, as far south as Richmond, Va. H. B. Rogers, and Stephen Comstock are associated together under the name of Comstock Bros., in carrying on the retail business here in Norwalk, while Mr. Wm. A. Benedict is manager of the South Norwalk store. Both of these stores are as fine as any in the state, and are connected by telephone with their large factory at New Canaan. So for anything not on their shelves, they have but to telephone the factory, and it is immediately dispatched them. It is no wonder then that both Norwalk retail clothing emporiums enjoy such an exceptional popularity and trade prosperity. It was all founded on honest, solid, well earned and well deserved merit. Mr. H. W. Kemp and Howard W. Doty at the Borough , are bright and enterprising in the right place. they are important factors in the popularity enjoyed by this firm. In the wholesale trade equal care has been taken to secure especially capable and agreeable gentlemen Their New York office is 685 Broadway, Without reserve and unhesitating earnest. ness we commend this concern to the confidence of the public.

KILLED IN A FIGHT.

The Choctaw Feud Ends in a Sharp Struggle.

LOCK, THE NATIONAL LEADER, IS ATTACKED BY MILITIA.

Some of His Assailants Arrested by Marshals.

PARIS, Tex., March 29.—The Choctaw fend has resulted in bloodshed. A desperate encounter took place at Antlers, Indian Territory, at 230 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and for 30 minutes a storm of leaden hail fell about the town.

There were a large number of men on each side. Ten men were killed and 15 were wounded.

One side represented the Choctaw Government and were termed the National Militia. The other was composed of followers of V. M. Lock, who resisted arrest, fearing that he would be killed in-stead of being given a trial by law. United States officers arrested 19 of the leaders of the militia at 6 p. m. and brought them here.

In the Choctaw elections last Summer there were charges of fraud. Four men were assassinated. This led to a factional war, which was suppressed by United States troops. The present trouble is the outgrowth of the late election, when Jones defeated Jackson.

The militiamen began the attack. They numbered 78, and formed in the woods on the outskirts of the town. The charge was made on the residence -of Lock, the leader of the National Party, and the militiamen began firing as soon as they came within sight of the house. Lock saw them coming and ran within the house. With five other men he returned the fire from the upper story.

Fully 1,500 shots were fired, and every window was shot out, and the walls of the house were riddled with bullets. Stray bullets flew far and wide and caused consternation among the inhabitants of the little town.

Lock's wife and little children were locked up in one of the rooms of the house which was besieged by the com-pany of Indian militiamen. The villagers sympathized with these helpless ones, and as soon as the firing ceased anxious men and women removed them to a safer

It has been impossible to secure the names of the killed and wounded up to this time, because their friends carried the bodies away and secreted them for fear of more trouble.

Capt. Durant only commanded the militia in the absence of Capt. Thompson. The latter came up during the melee at the Lock House. Mr. Gibbons called out to Capt. Thompson that nobody for whom there was a warrant was concealed whom there was a warrant was concealed in Lock's house. Capt. Thompson then ordered the militia to cease firing. As soon as the order was given the militia retired to the camp and physicians were sent for to care for the wounded.

In the meantime the story of the row was sent to the Covernment officials and was sent to the Government officials, and a telegram was sent in reply, stating that warrants had been prepared for the arrest of the militiamen, and that a force strong enough to arrest them would be sent. The arrest of the militiamen was made at 8 o'clock. When the physicians arrived they found three wounded men in Lock's house. Mack Hill was shot through the shoulder. John Worcester and Solomon Homer were shot through the head. There were probably other townspeople wounded.

Among the multiamen Solomon Battiste was shot in the arm and side, and will die. Three others are known to have received flesh wounds.

A bullet burned the hair of one of Lock's little children, who was carrying the baby up stairs during the fight. An-other bullet passed through Lock's hat.

"GIANTS" AT PRACTICE.

Eight Members of the Team Get in an Afternoon's Work.

New York, March 29.—Manager Ward and eight of the members of the New York Base Ball Club met at the Polo Grounds yesterday afternoon and indulged in a few hours' practice with the ball and bat.

Johnny Ward and big Roger Connor were in great favor with the crowd, and the way they knocked out three-baggers and home runs showed that they had lost none of their strength during the Winter. Today Doyle, Rusie, Crane and McQuaid will report.

The first game of the season, which will formally open the grounds, will be played with the Jaspers of Manhattan College tomorrow, who always claim the honor of playing the first game. Friday the Princetons will try issues with the home team. The men weighed yesterday as follows:

BUCHANAN ON TRIAL.

Another Alleged Wife Poisoner and Muc

Evidence Against Him. NEW YORK, March 29 .- The case of Dr. Robert W. Buchanan, charged with murdering his wife in a manner almost identical with that of Carlyle W. Harris, opened in the Court of General Sessions yesterday. The Government case was outlined by Assistant District Attorney Osborne.

He reviewed closely the history of the boyish-looking prisoner. He told bow he had attended the College of Physicians and Surgeons in Chicago, and Lad gone later to Edinburgh to complete his medical civil in Land and the had cal studies. In his trip abroad he had taken a pretty young auburn-haired wife with him across the ocean.

Later, he had settled down in this city to the practice of his profession. In 1890 he had trouble with his young wife and secured a divorce. Shortly after this, wife No. 2 comes into the case. She was Mrs. Annie B. Sutherland, the keeper of a disorderly house on Halsey street, Newark. Buchanan married her 17 days after obtaining the divorce decree.

This is the woman he is charged with murdering. He had often said he had married her for her money, and spoke of her in terms the reverse of compliment-ary. He openly rejoiced over her death, and said she had left him her money. Then he went to Nova Scotia and remarried the young wife from whom he had been divorced.

Several witnesses were examined, but the most important testimony was that of Restaurant Keeper Richard W. Macomber, who told of the will made by Mrs. Buchanan in her husband's favor. The doctor represented to witness that the woman was his patient and wanted to marry him. Macomber said that Bu-chanan told him he was getting tired of his wife and was going to get rid of her at any cost. He said after his wife's death that she was a morphine eater and that if the body were disinterred it would be found to be full of morphine.

Maconber then told of Buchanan's troubled mind when the newspapers picked up the matter and of his terrible fright when he learned that the body had the Federal Court at Treu the Edison Patenta.

TRENTON, N. J., March 29. - Judge Greene of the Federal Court filed a very important opinion yesterday in the case of the Edison Electric Company against Westinghouse, Church, Kerr & Co., in which he upholds the Edison patents.

The suit was brought to decide the question whether the device used by the Trenton Electric Light Company for the distribution of the electric current is an infringement of the Edison patents, and the court virtually declares that it is.

As a result, companies all over the United States which are using the system illegally will have to stop.

Millions of dollars are involved in these rights and will accrue to the Edison companies. The patent in question is that covering the consumption and feed-ing wire method of distribution. Edison obtained it 10 years ago.
