The Case of Carlyle Harris Outside of all sentimental or sympa-

It will be remembered that the expert whose evidence convicted Harris to prove to be a great big warning. was Professor R. A. Witthaus, who testified that he had discovered morphine in the viscera of Helen Potts "by infallible tests." Witthaus swore that he applied fourteen tests to the residue found in the organs which he admitted contained ptomaines—the poisons generated by decomposition. He likewise admitted that these ptomaines do respond to nine out of fourteen tests he employed, with precisely similar results to those that morphine gives. Five of the fourteen, however, gave reactions which could not have been due to ptomaines, and must therefore be considered as infallible evidence of the presence of morphine. 'These five "infallible" tests were all color tests.

In the Buchanan case Professor Witthaus claimed to have unmistakably discovered morphine by six tests, including the five infallible ones employed in the Harris case. If these tests should be proved unreliable and not abreast with the chemical discoveries made in the two years interven-

Henry Smith, Esq.

The funeral of a well-known citizen of western Fairfield County, the late Henry Smith, Esq., was this afternoon attended from St. Stephen's church, Ridgefield, of which church he had long been an influential member. He was a grandson of the eminent Dr. William Smith, rector ninety-seven years ago, of St. Paul's parish Norwalk, and compiler of the only American Office in the Book of Common Prayer. Dr. Smith died in April 1811 and left a son Edward, who married into the Benedict family. Mrs. Edward Smith was a sister to the mothers, among others, of the late Mrs. LeGrand Lockwood, and James A. Hoyt, Esq., and the Hubbell brothers and sister of Main street. To Edward Smith and timated at $500,000. The oyster beds are under from two to six inches of his wife were born several children. The late Henry of Ridgefield was one of these, as is also the only surviving son to-day, William D. of Norwalk. The Benedicts were prominent Congregationalists, but Mrs. Smith became at once an active member of St. Paul's parish and her own and husband's interest in the old Cure is to this day a matter of interesting mention. Their son Henry, the type of a Christian gentleman, lived to a good age and has bequeathed a memory which will long survive him.

A gang of traveling doctors seem to be operating the New England circuit, posing as members of various nationalities. In one city they are English doctors, in another, Spanish-American doctors, etc. The faces of the staff, however, are the same in the various cities, so that it is evident the nationality is changed with a great deal of ease. Sues for a Divorce.

The New York Recorder of yester-day says: "According to the testi-mony adduced in the divorce proceedings of Winfield S. Stinson against his wife, Isabella E. Stinson, the woman was of an extremely frisky disposition, to put it mildly. Prior to her marriage to Mr. Stinson, the respondent, who is an extremely pretty brunette, resided with her parents at Third and Smith streets, Brooklyn. She was then a teacher in Henry Ward Beecher's Sun-day-school at Plymouth Church, and was one of the most enthusiastic devotees of missionery work among the Chinese laundrymen. Mr. Sinson is well known in Brooklyn. He is the father of two children by his union with the woman from which he has just been divorced by Judge Cullen."

The testimony was of a very sensational character. The defense was a general denial of the charges. Mrs. Stinson, it is said, is now living with her relatives in Norwalk.

In connection with the loss the police were in receipt last night of a tel-ephone message from the Stamford police stating that they had under arrest a lad who gave his name as "Gus" Toohill and his home as in Norwalk. He claimed that he knew who stole the horse and said that the name of the guilty party was Cahill. Young Toohill was arrested as a suspicious character. He had a pair of shoes with him which he said he got at the Mahackemo hotel, and then at the City hotel, etc. His stories were so conflicting that he was locked up, and it was after this that he told of the stealing of the horse. His story as to taking the shoes was inves-tigated and it was learned that the shoes were given to him by Dr. W. A.

The millinery store of Miss Agnes Fitch, on Wall street, was burglarized last night. The burglars effected an entrance by cutting away the sash of a window in the rear of the store. They then deliberately dropped the portierre curtains separating the store from the workroom, lighted a lamp and ransacked the secretary and sewing ma chine drawers. The only articles stolen were four pairs of scissors, a gold pen-cil, a gold toothpick and a cake of soap. (Perhaps they hoped to wash their hands clean of the crime with the soap.) There were valuable goods in the store left untouched which causes Miss Fitch to incline to the belief that the burg-lars were not professionals. When Miss Fitch visited her store yesterday after-noon to care for the fires everything was all right, but this morning she found everything in the workroom in confusion, the contents of the secretary, etc., being strewn over the floor. The police think that they can apprehend the critic positive hend the guilty parties. OFF FOR NEW YORK.

The Naval Fleet Takes Its Departure from Hampton Roads.

TARS FEAR INCLEMENT WEATHER.

Tons of Provisions Placed on the Snipe to Feed the Sailors of the Nations. Many Civilians on Board the Vessels and Much Discomfort Predicted. FORTRESS MONROE, Va., April 24. — Twenty-seven ships of war sailed from here at 9 o'clock this morning for New York. At that hour the tide running out to sea had swung the massive hulls and the sharp prows were pointed toward the ccean. This was a matter of no small importance, as an attempt to turn all the ships ground would have been a most dan-ships around would have been a most dangerous experiment. Everybody here is naturally hoping that the weather in New York will be fair, but the seasoned old salts who know all about the weather shake their heads dubiously. The wind yesterday was northeast, and is bleak and cold. It whistled most ominiously through the rigging of the Chicago and stifled the signal flags on the Phila-delphia into a semblance of frozen bunting. The sea ran heavy and great waves breaking against the sides of the vessels threatened with destruction the little launches in which the venturesome excursionists put off from shore.

The forbidding weather was unfortunate for the crowds, who with the earliest morning boats began to swell the already too numerous colony here. The steamers from Washington, Norfolk and Baltimore were loaded down with passengers; the incoming trains bore their quota of sightseers, and every craft in Norfolk harbor seemed to have been utilized to carry people who wanted to get a final look at the men-of-war.

In more ways than one was the fact that yesterday was the last day of the rendez-vous emphasized. One of the most interesting jucidents was the provisioning of the cruisers. Tons and tons of beef were brought from Baltimore. Huge crates of canned goods and mammoth sacks of vegetables stood side by side with food enough to stack a store. One pile of bread contained by actual count 3,876 loaves, and there were several other mountains of baked dough nearly as large.

The scene on the wharf was like a country fair. It was a harvest time for the facirs. Little brass souvenirs, worth a few pennies, have sold like hot cakes at ifteen cents and a quarter apiece, and one man even drove a lively business in selling at ten cents each the large lithographic pictures of the fleet at anchor in the roads which last week did duty as advertise

Invitations had been extended to a number of senators and representatives, but as many did not appear the commanders extended invitations to their friends. Nearly every ship will have a number of civilians and correspondents. It was supposed some weeks ago that no one would sail with the fleet except four representatives of the press association, but this limit, although suggested by Secretary Herbert, has been totally disregarded. The voyage is likely to be made with considerable dis comfort. The correspondents were told that they will have to content themselves with mattresses under the ward room table, although the friends of the com-

Yesterday's visitors were all anxious to see the Columbus caravels, but in this they were disappointed, as the Spanish vessels got under way as soon as possible after sunrise and steered off with their queer looking crafts for New York. It was neces sary for them to do this in order to reach the destination at the same time that the large war ships of the fleet will be there, but it caused great disappointment to the crowds that gathered here for Sunday to

THE MARCH OF LIBERTY

The Venerated Bell That Heralded Freedom to Our Land.

ITS TRIP THROUGH PENNSYLVAIA

To be Taken to the World's Fair on a Specially Designed Car, That All May View It as It Passes By-Itinerary o

PHILADELPUIA, April 24.—This after noon the Liberty Bell was taken from Independence Hall to the Pennsylvania rail road station at Thirty-second and Market streets, escorted by a brilliant parade. The old bell rested on a gaily decorated truck drawn by eight horses, all in plumes and the four stalwart reserves, whose duty it will be to remain by the old bell night and day while it is away from its abiding place in the rotunda of the State House. There were nearly 300 policemen in line some on horses and others on foot. Crowds thronged the streets to see the venerable relic on its triumphilal ride through the city and Mores Street and invited weet. eity, and Mayor Stuart and invited guests reviewed the procession from the balcony of the Union League.

Upon arrival of the bell at the station it was raised to the beautiful car which has been constructed specially to carry the his toric metal to Chicago. It is an open car and the bell will be protected by a canopy which can be removed at every step along the route so that the bell will be open to Around the car is an inclosure which is unique and very interesting. There are thirteen posts, representing the first thirteen states of the union. Each post has the name of the state upon it is raised letters and the date it came into the enion. The Pennsylvania post is at the front end of the car and it is surmounted by a miniature representation of the cid liberty Bell in bronze. On the bell is a keystone plate. Stretching from post to post there are thirty-one rails which represent states which have come into the union since the original thirteen. On each ters and the date of its entry. The rails and posts are of solid metal and nicke plated. They are linked together by loops the idea being to show the unity of the republic, the sisterhood of the various states and the strength or the nation.

The floor of the car is polished oak. The old bell is suspended by a yoke on a truck. The truck has four wheels, so that it can be moved easily into the state's department at Chicago.

On each side of the car is the following in raised letters: "1778 Philadaphia...Chi.

in raised letters: "1776 Philadelphia—Chicago 1893." Between the names of the two citits is a representation of two clasped hands, emblematic of greeting.

At both ends of the car there are hand rails of iron and steps. The car rests on Pullman passenger trucks. It is thirty seven feet long.

Tomorrow morning the car will be run into Broad street station and attached to a special train bearing the special councils committee, Mayor Stuart and few invited guests. At 10 o'clock it will leave for Chicago. Following is the itinerary: Leave Philadelphia Tuesday, April 25, at 10 a. m.; arrive at Harrisburg at 1:15 p. m. and leave at 3 p. m.; passing Sunbury at 4:35 p. m., Williamsport 6:30 p. m., Lock Haven 7:25 p. m., Emporium, 10:10 p. m. Kanc at 12:20 a. m. is will arrive at Indianapolis at 5 a. m. of the 28th and leave at 2 p. m. At the latter place an address will be made by Ex

President Harrison. The bell will reach Chicago at 9 p. m. on Friday.

Another Strike at the Fair.

CHICAGO, April 24.—The carpenters employed at Jackson Park this morning found the gates of the exposition grounds guarded by a cordon of union delegates, who ordered them to refrain from work, which nearly all obeyed. Not only have the union carpenters struck at the World's fuirs grounds, but all over the city. By order of President Cogswell all union carpenters working for contractors who have not signed the agreement quit work. Over 4,000 men are out of employment.

German Government Affairs.

BERLIN, April 24.—The Reichstag has adjourned for want of a quorum. It is feared that a crisis will be reached on the army bill during the emperor's absence and the government will be defeated. It is only a question of the number of votes against it. Ahlwardt has lost all chances of re-election. The negotiations on the Russo-German commercial treaty are at a standstill, and it is probable that the treaty will full through.

Leprosy at Fort Wayne.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., April 24.—A Syrian woman giving the name of Schantschese Onshet applied to Dr. Sturgis for treatment. She bore unmistakable signs of Asiatic leprosy, and upon a consultation of the local physicians the disease was so pronounced. All the fingers of her left hard had rotted off as far as the first joint. She came here from the Hawaiian islands.

"While the law of 1890, forcing the purchase of a fixed amount of silver every month, provides that the secretary of the treasury, in his discretion, may redeem in either gold or silver the treasury notes given in payment of silver purchases, yet the declaration of the policy of the government to maintain the parity between the two motals access a clearly to requi the two metals seems so clearly to regulate this discretion as to dictate their redemption in gold. "Of course perplexities and difficulties have grown out of an unfortunate financial policy which we found in vogue, and embarrassments have arisen from ill advised financial legislation confronting us at every turn; but with cheerful confidence among the people and a patriotic disposition to co-operate, threatened dangers will be averted pending a legislative return to a better and sounder financial plan.

Man Killed by a Runaway.

ATLANTIC CITY, April 24.—While out driving Miss Ella Malatesta, the 22-year-old daughter of Mark Malatesta, the well known hotel proprietor, was thrown from the carriage and killed. She had started to go out driving with Mr. and Mrs. Danneback. The two ladies were already in the vehicle when the horses became fright-ened and started off, knocking Mr. Danneback down and drawing the carriage over him, though not inflicting serious injuries. Mrs. Dannebeck was thrown from the carriage to the pavement, breaking her left limb and causing internal injuries. When opposite Haddon Hall, and just as the carriage struck another conveyance, Miss Malatesta either jumped thrown from her seat and landed on her head on the curb stones causing con-cussion of the brain. Soap

It is a wonderful soap that takes hold quick and does no harm.

No harm! It leaves the skin soft like a baby's; no alkali in it, nothing but soap.

The harm is done by alkali. Still more harm is done by not washing. So, bad soap is better than none..

What is bad soap? Imperectly made; the fat and alcali not well balanced or not combined.

What is good soap? Pears'.

All sorts of stores sell it, especially druggists; all sorts of people use it.

DO YOU know that the wheel is the connecting link between barbarism and civilization, poverty and wealth; that by it the world moves, and upon it all great work depends?

Take the wheel from the locomotive and one-half the world's industry would die. Remove it from the car, carriage and factory and the wealth of the world would dwindle nine-tenths. Are you making the most of power—of rolling motion?

Do you ride a BICYCLE?—"which is the noblest of 'em all." That it is the steed of the immediate future, and the one to bestow upon you what medicine cannot, viz:—good health. Then the question arises, which bicycle is best? There's always a best in everything, always one object that shines more brightly than the rest. So it is with bicycles. The one which will run easiest, and wear longer than others is the one for you. It is called VICTOR, a synonym of the word "best;" best because it is a wheel, that with all its other qualities, in has and inner tube tire, and with each wheel we give an extra inner tube, in case of that peeks property and the road, withdraw inner tube, and replace it with nas and inner tube tire, and with each wheel we give an extra inner tube, in case of that pesky puncture on the road; withdraw inner tube, and replace it with tube in bag, blow it up, go on and enjoy yourself, as this makes it a new tire again. If you don't want the bother of mending your punctured inner tube, bring it to us and we will give you a perfecs one for it; then all will be new again. That is simplicity.
