Well Done, Mr. Cleveland.

President Cleveland's remarks upon the opening of the great Columbian Exposition at Chicago were brief, but eloquent and appropriate, befitting the dignity and significance of the occasion. | morning.

There is an American ring to the speech which will find enthusiastic responce throughout the length and breadth of the land. It was a tribute to American eeterprise, to American intelligence, to American liberality, to American popular government, and couched in such terms that it could not fail to make a profound impression even upon those who are least familiar with American institutions and to whom the Exposition is in the nature of a New World revelation.

A Noble Evangelist.

Another titled Englishman has landed at New York. He is known as Lord Bennett, and is the eldest son of the Earl of Tanckerville. When the old man dies he will be the Earl of Tanckerville himself. For the present he is only Lord Bennett.

He is in New York, however; he is a distinguished personage, and we are in constant expectation, says the Washington Post, of an announcement to the effect, that metropolitan society is basking in the sunshine of British nobility. New York has never yet missed an opportunity to bask, even in cases where the nobility was doubtful. That is a characteristic of the higher civilization. Only rude, inferior, and coarseminded persons remain insensible in the presence of the titled aristocracy.

Lord Bennett is peculiar in his appearance. He is thus described by a New York paper:

"In appearance the future earl might be mistaken for a young American lawyer. He is of medium height and slender. His rather pale, regular features are set off by a coal-black mustache and hair. The latter he rolls back from the forehead. He wore a black suit and a trim-fitting black overcoat with a silk facing. His shirt bosom was hid by a black four-in-hand tie with a small pearl in it. His shoes were not stylish, and he hadn't the slightest suggestion of a crease in his trousers.'

Whether a British nobleman, continues the Post, who does not wear stylish shoes and whose trousers have no crease in them, can escape the entertainment cemmittee's ponderous attention and the importunities of individual toadies, acting as privateers, is a question. Personally, we doubt whether a real chappie would dare to be seen in such company, even if the future earl were willing to be seen with a real chappie. Of course, however, nothing but fate and evolution can settle so vast an uncertainty.

Meanwhile, Lord Bennett is there. and, what is more, he has come with the avowed purpose of converting the Chicago sinner. He has in his company two or three singers of world-wide note, a couple of exhorters of tremendous energy, and a young lady-a Miss Whittle-who can extort music from almost any instrument on earth. His mission, he says, is inspired by gratitude. He was converted in this country by a gentleman of great lung power and two young ladies with poke bonnets and tambourines. He has never forgotten it. He has always been thankful. And now, when Chicago seems to need spiritual help, and when he sees a chance to discharge his debt to America, together with accumulated interest, | week. he has come into our midst intent on doing us a kindly turn.

We hope Lord Bennett will not pass wicked Bridgeport by "on the other side." He might spend an indefinite period there to the great benefit of that unregenerate city and thus place the Nutmeg state under everlasting obligations.

Is Frightfully Hurt.

At 8:40 last night a man was discovered lying beside the tracks near the foot of State street, Bridgeport. The man had evidently been struck by a train, for he was unconscious and was bleeding heavily from a wound in his right leg. The wounded man was transferred to the Emergency Hospi-tal. There is was found that his right leg was broken below the knee. over the knee joint on the inside of the leg was a horrible diagonal cut nearly nine inches in length. The skin was laid over and the muscles laid bare. The injuries were dressed and he was placed in a cot. A pawn ticket foundin his pocket bore the name 'Landon."

however, he is believed to be Thomas the petition for the elimination of the Mead's Lane crossing, situated between Greenwich and Cos Cob.

Shook Down the Scaffold. Four men were badly injured by the falling of a scaffold on the new office building of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Road at New Haven yesterday. A hod-carrier threw down some bricks with such force that the entire scaffold fell, bringing with it the ma-sons. The injured are, Joseph Collins, mason, bruised about the head; Frank McBride, mason, head bruised; Andrew Rich, hod-carrier, both legs broken and internally injured; Hiram Staitun, mason, left arm broken and body bruised.

Vocal Music.

In Grace church Guild room last evening, Professor Horace Hills, Jr., brought his winter course of studies to a close with a most interesting lecture on Vocal Music. It was a review, in entertaining style, of the life-history and labors of the composers of the great operas and oratorios. To many resent it was an introduction to world famed men. Mr. Hills began with the home of Handel, and told of his fail-ures and his triumphs. Then turning to Handel's contemporaries and suc-cessors, the lecturer showed the development of the German and Italian schools, and closed with a masterful estimate of the works of Richard Wagner. Like the first lecture on mental Music" this second was much appreciated by the class and their friends, who feel deeply indebted to Mr. Hills for his painstaking efforts on their behalf.

City Charter at Hartford. The hearing upon the proposed city charter drew quite a number of Boroughites to Hartford yesterday. Those present at the hearing were Warden Sloan, and Burgesses Chinery and Sloan, and Burgesses Chinery and Sutherland, Hon. E. J. Hill, John J Walsh, Gen. Chas. Olmstead, Borough Attorney Warner, Patent Commissioner J. S. Seymour, Hon, E. O. Keeler and Editor B. W. Maples. Borough Clerk Hubbell presented the matter to the committee. The only objectors to the charter were the tramway people and Hon, J. S. Seymour. Mr. Sey-mour did not object to the charter so much as he did to the effect of granting it which he thought would indefinitely postpone consolidation. The tramway people objected to the section giving the common council control of street railway, claiming it was too drastic in its scope. W. H. Perry of South-port, gave his experience in attempting to compile the existing charter. There is a division of opinion among the dele gation as to the passage of the bill by the committee, although it is conceded that the case and witnesses were strong ones. Jeremiah Donovan was too much for John H. Light in the matter of a new charter for South Norwalk, and chances are that the committee will report adversely. The application of the Norwalk Horse Railway company for additional privilege was taken up but no substantial advance was made, as the Tramway asked for compulsory legislation to compel joint use of track.

Ralph Kellogg's Horse Stolen.

A barn belonging to Ralph Kellogg who lives on the New Canaan road near the bridge, was broken into last night and a valuable horse stolen. The horse was a clipped dapple gray, weighing about 1,200 pounds, and had a large wart on left forward leg, also clipped mane. The thieves then proceeded to barn a short distance away and on the same road, where they stole a black mare belonging to Charles Kellogg, and a carriage, two blankets and two sets of harness belonging to William Simpson.

The discovery of the robbery was first made by Edward Kellogg who came down, as was his custom, to take care of the horses, about 5 o'clock in the morning. He made the loss known to Ralph Kellogg, who immediately notified Chief Dann and telegraphed a lescription of the stolen property to the surrounding towns.

Martin Troy who lives near by, found this morning that an ineffectual attempt had been made to enter his barn. As soon as he learned of the loss of the Messrs. Kellogg he hitched up his norse and drove over what was believed to be the route taken by the thieves, i. e. towards Ridgefield, but returned without getting any track of

In the meantime the black mare belonging to Mr. Charles Kellogg had been found loose on the street. It is believed that the thieves found trouble in leading her, behind the team and let her loose.

George Knapp who lives on Com-stock Hill says that he heard a horse and carriage pass his house at a rapid pace about 2 o'clock this morning. No further trace of the missing team has been gained, save a telephone message from Bridgeport that a team answering the description of the stolen one was seen to pass through that city about 12.15 last night.

CARTER HARRISON'S BAD FRENCH.

He Wanted Mushrooms, but the Waiter Brought Him an Umbrella. Some other Americans and myself had been in the habit of dropping into the Cafe Francais after leaving the Grand Opera House. None of our party spoke French, and the head waiter was the only one in the cafe who spoke English. He had long, flowing, red mutten chop whiskers. As soon as we would take our seats we would be approached by a waiter, whereupon we would begin pulling our own phantom mutton chops to make him understand that we wanted the head waiter. "Oui, oui," he would say, and in a few moments our bewhiskered friend, of whom Major Handy is a prototype, would be bowing and smiling and working graciously for a tip. We met Carter Harrison. He went to the theater with our party, and afterward we took him to the Cafe Francais Carter Harrison was then, and may be now, very fond of mushrooms. Before going into the restaurant he inquired the French name for them. He was told that they were called "champignons."

We soon were seated at our usual table and one of the waiters came to us. We worked our imaginary mutton chops, but were given to understand that the head waiter was absent. Harrison tried to pronounce "champignon," but could not. He thought he had it perfectly, but his pronunciation was no more like the French of it than my English is like the Hindostanee. He couldn't make the waiter understand, until an inspiration came to him. He seized his pencil and drew the picture of a mushroom.

Carter pronounced the word again and pointed at the picture. There it was, plain as day to us who knew what he wanted—the stem and canopylike top of the vegetable. The waiter gazed at it in profound study for a moment, then the light of comprehension spread over his features.

"Oui, oui," he said, and trotted off. In a few moments he returned, and bowing politely to Mr. Harrison, handed him an umbrella. We looked at the picture of the mushroom, the waiter looked at it, and then Carter, umbrella in hand, looked at it. Then he rose and said some thing that every American could understand, but which, luckily for him, the waiter did not. Carter ate no mushrooms that night.—Chicago Inter Ocean

Rules For Judging Rubber.

An investigation has been conducted by Lieutenant L. Vladimiroff at the St. Petersburg Technical institute with a view to establishing rules or tests where by the quality of vulcanized india rubber may be efficiently judged. It is a notorious fact that no method of chemical analysis gives a reliable result for this substance. Hence the tests applied were chiefly of a physical nature. From a lengthy series of experiments the following conclusions were deduced:

India rubber should not give the leas sign of superficial cracking when bent to an angle of 180 degrees after five hours of exposure in a closed air bath to a temperature of 125 degrees centigrade. The test pieces should be six centimeters thick.

Rubber that does not contain more than half its weight of metallic oxides should stretch to five times its height without breaking. Caoutchouc, free from all foreign matter except the sulphur used in vulcanizing it, should stretch at least seven times its length before rupture. The extension measured immediately after rupture has taken place should not exceed 12 per cent of the original length of the test piece of rubber. The test piece should be from 3 to 12 millimeters long, 3 centimeters wide and not more than 6 millimeters thick. Softness may be determined by measuring the percentage of ash formed on incineration. It may form the basis for deciding between different grades of rubber for certain purposes. The vulcanized rubber should not hard-

The longest debate of the session was that in the House yesterday on the bill repealing the law exempting $50 of wages from attachments. The Judicommittee reported a substitute providing that in all suits for claims bove $10 the debtor in case of adverse judgment should pay only half the costs. When the claim was under $10 the creditor should pay all the costs. Attachments against wages were only allowed when the debt was for board, rent, clothing, medical service, or the care of the debtor or his family.

Healey's motion to indefinitely postone was defeated, 107 nays to 18 yeas. When the vote on the bill itself was about to be taken it was discovered that enough of those opposed to it had left the House to leave no quorum.

The House then adjourned. Previously the Judiciary committee reported unfavorably the amendment to the statutes providing that in all existing charters for street transportation lines, for the words "horse railroad" there might be substituted "street railway." The presumed object of this bill was to allow the substitution of electricity for horse power without fur-ther legislation. Wood said the tendency of the bill was mischievous, and it was rejected.

The bill increasing the salary of the Governor's chief clerk to $1,800 from $1,400 was rejected. The bill incorporating the Norwalk club company was passed.

The House passed the new military law after a brief discussion. The bill provides power to increase the present force, at such ratio as requirements shall render proper, until eight com-panies have been added; places officers on regular army pay, thus giving each member on the Governor's staff $160 for the eight days' encampment. The latter is merely a nominal increase of about $2 for the time in camp, and not a great addition to each man's pay. The force, when the eight new companies are added (a process which may take years to bring to an end) will consist of about 4,400 men, a force in about the same proportion to population as in other states in the Union. The law goes into effect immediately if the Sen-

It transpires that some ten years ago the Selectmen of Stamford, with the good of the town and the safety of human life at heart, offered a bounty of a dollar each for every vicious and worthless dog found on the streets. This resulted in the wholesale catching and drowning of the hundreds of brutes that infected the place as they do now. This good and sensible action that gave such relief and satisfaction to the decent portion of our peo-ple was taken when Luther Scotield was First Selectman, and he should have been presented with a diamond-studded golden diadem for a crown, for having favored such a much needed movement to rid the town of a horde of nuisances. There was a regular warfare waged against the beasts, and our imformant says that every stray cur would have a dozen boys after it with ropes, and the dogs were hunted to the bitter end; they were placed in a big box or crate and sunk in the old canal until permanently indifferent to mundane affairs, when they were hauled in wagon-load lots up into Newfield and buried in cornfields, where they would do the most good. The present administration should by all means adopt the same measures at once to relieve the public of the curse of dogs, but a bounty of twenty-five cents is suggested, lest the borough be made bankrupt, as there are unnumbered hundreds of ownerless dogs only awaiting the drowning crate and the wagon to Newfield—Stamford Advocate.

NEW PENSION RULES. Machine Affidavits Will be Returned to the Sender.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The acting commissioner of pensions has made a number of important changes in the practice of that bureau. Among them is the rescinding of the order of Dec. 22, 1890, which authorized claimants or attorneys to file affidavits wholly in print. Hereafter all of the allegations of a witness as to the issue involved will be required to be in writing. "Machine made affidavits," said Mr. Mur phy, "will hereafter be returned to the senders for compliance with the new rule."

Another important change in the adudication of claims under the act of June 27, 1890, is an order just issued which requires more than the simple statement of the claimant that his disabilities are not the result of vicious habits. Hitherto this has been deemed sufficient, but under the new order the testimony of two credible witnesses is required on this point. Their means of knowledge and the basis of their belief must also be stated. Examining surgeons are also instructed to pay special attention to this matter. English Officers Visit Philadelphia.

THE POPULISTS WIN. The Kansas Supreme Court Removes a Railway Commissioner.

TOPEKA, Kan., May 3.—The supreme court decided the case of the state in the proceedings of ouster against Railway Commissioner Mitchell, and they removed that official from office.

When the Populists took possession of the state government, the secutive coun-ill decided that they had the power to rehave the members of the railway commis sion arbitrarily before the expiration of the latters' term, and did remove Commissioners Mitchell and Anthony, appoint-ing in their places a Populist and Fusion Democrat.

Anthony and Mitchell declined to relin quish their offices, and the attorney general began ouster proceedings in the supreme court in the case of Mitchell. The court yesterday sustained the Populist contention and entered a judgment of ouster Commissioner Anthony will submit to the precedent thus established, leaving the opposition in Populist control.

Another Homestead Strike.

PITTSBURG, May 3.—Fifty skilled work-men in the 33-inch beam mill of the Carnegie Steel works have quit work. They refused to accept the reduction stipulated in the new scale, and as a result struck for higher wages. The reduction is from 37 cents to 26 cents per ton. The superintendent of the mill says the vacancies can easily be filled. The former union men look upon the trouble as a victory for them. It is said they intend returning to work to get even with the present strikers, who accepted their positions last summer. It is reported that all other workmen in different departments of the mill are dissatisfied with the scale, and will follow the example of the 33-inch mill workers.

NEW YORK, May 3.—The Evening World says that the Russian Consul General Olarovsky, declined to place his signature upon a passport issued by the state department and presented by Mrs. Sadie Schwartz, of this city, the wife of a citizen of the United States, on the ground that she was a Hebrew and that the laws of his country forbid him signing such passports. The World claims to have sent reporter to the office of the consul general with a passport to be signed and states that the consul refused to put his signature to it when, in reply to a question, the re-porter said he was a Hebrew.

The Chinese Not to Be Arrested. WASHINGTON, May 3.—Orders have been issued to treasury officers, special agents, internal revenue agents and others, not to arrest unregistered Chinamen after May 5. On that date the Geary Chinese law provides that all unregistered Chinese in the United States may be arrested. As the constitutionality of the Geary act will be tested before the supreme court on May 10, it has been decided to await a decision before ordering wholesale arrests.

Berofula-Impure Vaccination-Beyond Hope

But Hood's Sarsaparilla Effected & Perfect Cure.

Joseph Harper

"We are as sure that Hood's Sarsaparilla saved our son Joseph's life as that the sun shines. Five years ago on board ship our three boys were vaccinated. Joseph had a very sore arm, so bad at one time that we were afraid it would have to be taken off. At length it seemed to get well, but about two months after, he began to complain of soreness and pain in the vaccinated arm. He had occasionally shown some signs of scrofula, but nothing serious. His arm, however, grew worse and worse and became swollen and covered with sores. The inflammation and sores also spread all ever his bedy, and he was a mass of corruption,

"The eruption was especially severe back of his ears and over his head and the lower part of his face. We had to cut off all his hair we could, as it was impossible to comb through the mass of hard crust and matter. Physicians did him no good, and three specialists at the Eye. and Ear Hospital said

They said it was a blood disease caused by impure vaccination. One night I happened to be reading in a paper about Hood's Sarsapa-rilla, and decided to try it.

"While taking the first bottle, Joseph did not grow any worse; on the second, we noticed that he was improving, and, slowly but surely, the medicine drove away the disease and wen complete victory. The scales and scabs began to fall off; the sores gradually healed up, and

THE GERMAN ARMY BILL

A Compromise Between the Chancellor and the Clerical Leader.

EMPCROR WILLIAM IS SATISFIED.

The Peace Force to be Increased $50,000 Immediately-Sixty New Batteries of Four Guns Each—The Government Has Not Yet a Majority.

BERLIN, May 3 -The army bill com-Promise arranged between Chancellor Von Caprivi and Freiherr Von Huene, the Clerical leader contains these details: The peace effective shall be increased by 56,000 men at once and in the course of the next three years shall be raised gradually until 70,000 men, or, practically, the full number demanded recently by the chancellor, shall have been added to the present standing army. The sixty new batteries of field artillery shall have four instead of six guns each. By the concessions thus indicated the expenditures contemplated by the army bill will be reduced some 9,000,- Caprivi's supposed ultimatum some three weeks ago called for the addition at once of 59,000 men to the peace effective; while now aPating this demand partially, he obtains eventually more than he was believed to have the slightest chance of obtaining. Just what the esult of the arrangement between him and Freiherr von Huene will be is still in doubt. The government has not yet secured a majority.

The eventual success of its efforts to do so depends upon the following, which reiherr Von Huene can obtain among the clericals and upon the number of Radicals willing to cut loose from Euegen Richter and support the Haenel-Rickert-Bamberger group in voting for the bill. Both are still uncertain quantities. The emperor's arrival is awaited with anxiety, as all, is believed to depend upon the influence which he can exert upon the party leaders.

Emperor William has telegraphed his approval of the campromise. The telegram will be laid on the table in the reichstag today. The clerical members of the reichstag met last evening to decide upon their attitude toward Freiherr Von Huene's arrangement with the chancellor. It is reported that the Conservatives, Imperialists, many National Liberals, twenty Radicals, the sixteen Poles and several Independents will vote for the amended bill. If Freiherr von Huene can carry with him a fairly large number of clericals the compromise will get a major-

The radicals are in a hot domestic quarrel over the bill and the proposed changes. They held a caucus which from beginning to end was exceedingly stormy. Eugen Richter spoke vehemently against the bill, either as it is or as it will be under the Caprivi-Huene arrangement, and advised inited opposition to the government.

A most popular feature of the compre nise is that the reduction of the money demand by 9,000,000 marks will allow of the abandonment of the proposed duties on beer and spirits.

For five years past I have been tortured with a blood and skin disease known in medical parlance as "Herpes." It manifested itself in bright red, swollen patches under the skin, The fiery burning sensation was intolerable. My face was disfigured, my hands, arms, feet and body felt as if they had been poisoned! Proximity te my kitchen stove and all exercise aggravted the malady. It was a relief to thrust my feet out of bed in the coldest nights. I lost flesh for lack of necessary sleep and rest. Physicians who treated me gave me only temporary relief. I used the Cuticura remedies, Ayer's and Hood's sarsaparillas and other blood purifiers, none of which hit my case. I was discouraged and not inclined to try anything more. For two years I have been importuned to try Sawyer's Dandelion Compound, but I declined. I had no faith that anything or anybody could cure me, but finally I yielded to entreaties and began to use the medicine. To my great joy, before I had used the first bottle I was encouraged. The red blotches gradually disappeared, the burning sensation ceased, my appetite returned and my complexion improved. I have taken three bottles of the Compound and call myself well. I have used nothing besides to secure this result. I commend the Compound to all persons who need such a remedy. You may use my testimony to inspire confidence in those who doubt the efficacy of Sawyer's Dandelion Compound. MRS. F. W. STORRS.

The piano controversy occupied the attention of the national commission for a considerable time yesterday, the piano manufacturers refusing to make any exhibit if the instrument used at the concerts was not the make of one of the hibitors. Flowers, fair women and men in civilian dress or military uniform made a brilliant scene in the prettty colonial home of New Jersey at the exposition. The State building, which is almost a counterpart of General Washington's headquarters at Morristown, N. J., was formally dedicated, and Governor Werts was tendered a reception by the World's fair commissioners and lady managers of the state. The main hall was a floral bower of beauty and every room was profusely decorated with cut flowers and green products of the censerva-

The Pennsylvanians did not dedicate their magnificent building yesterday as was intended. The event will take place probably in July on a day set apart by joint action of the state board and exposition officials as Pennsylvania day. The Liberty bell was half hidden by floral offerings, and it was surrounded all the time by vigitors for the state building.

time by visitors to the state building.

There was considerable falling off in hotel arrivals and the names of nabobs were not as conspicuous on the registers as on the day previous. Notwithstanding this the leading down town hotels are full.

No quorum being present the judiciary committee of the National World's fair commission adjourned until today. Con-sequently the Sunday closing issue was not passed upon. Yesterday the Duke Veragua and his brother, the Marquis de Barboies, accompanied by the ubiquitous Commander Dickens in undress naval uniform enterel a carriage and were driven to the Cit hall, where they paid their formal visit of respect to Mayor Harrison. The visit was short, and there was no particular cere mony. After leaving City hall the duke was taken in hand by Collector of the Port Clark, and was driven through the principal south side avenues. He paid an omicial visit to President Higinbotham and Director General Davis, of the World's fair. Later, in company with his famil, he attended a tea party given by Madain de Puy de Lome at the Metropole, and at 7:30 he and his brother attended the banquet given in his honor by Senator Pai mer at the same hotel. Ticket sellers and takers had an easy time of it yesterday. The paid admissions to the grounds were 15,000. In the grounds there were about 100,000 people, TO PROTECT THE SEALS. The United States Would Fight Half the World to Do So.

PARIS, May 3.—In his peroration before the arbitration committee, Mr. Carrer described the slaughter of female seals, heavy with their unborn young, and other horrors of pelagic sealing. To prevent these horrors and to protect the herds the United States had taken the position which he had explained to the best of his ability. The United States had taken this position at the risk of war with Great Britain, and they had been ready to maintain this position and thus discharge the duties to humanity, even if they had been obliged to face half the world in arms. History would recognize their rights and the instince of their range. the justice of their cause.

If the tribunal should decline to assume this duty it would only leave for posterity a new source of contention.

THE CUBAN TROUBLE.

No Encounter Has Taken Place on the Island.

THE INSURGENTS MAY SURRENDER

The Leader of the Insurrection Compelled to Show His Hand Too Soon-One of the Spanish War Vessels Sails for Cuba The Administration Has No News.

MADRID, May 3.—A deputation of Cuban senators and deputies, including several autonomists, waited upon Senor Maura, minister of the colonies, to protest against the Cuban revolt. The minister, replying, assured them that the government would not hesitate to make any sacrifice to maintain Spanish rule in Cuba, but that unless the situation became worse, he considered the colonial army strong enough to conquer the rebels. Reinforcements, however, were in readiness to depart on the first intimation from the captain general of Cuba that their assistance was required.

The latest official dispatches dwell on the fact that the insurgents have so far failed to find recruits among the population, but are still confined to their original numbers. The dispatches, however, also contain the unfavorable news that the rebels are advancing into Sabanillas, a territory which is full of plantations, and financial resources by demanding large sums as a price of sparing them. Replying to a Cuban senator in the sen-ate, the minister of war declared that no extension of the revoit was feared, but he admitted that before it is crushed the rebels will probably do considerable mischief.

it is feared that these will either be destroyed or be used as a lever to obtain

According to private advices Spanish re-inforcements must be dispatched, as, even if the present rising is repressed, the col-onial troops will be insufficient to insure tranquility in the future and to prepare for contingencies.

HAVANA, May 3.—The latest news in regard to the insurrection is that the rebels are now between Puerto Del Padre, a har bor on the northeast coast of Cuba and Manati. Seven columns of troops are in pursuit, the troops being supported by two Spanish ships of war off the coast. Up to date not a single encounter has taken place between the government troops and the rebels. It is rumored that the rebels propose to surrender if they are guaranteed that their lives will be spared. NEW YORK, May 3.—Benjamin Guerra, the secretary of the United Cuban socie ties of this city, said that he supposed Sartorus, the present leader of the Cuban insurrection, according to the cable mes-sages received here, who was expected to surrender the command to a well known Cuban general, had been compelled to show his hand sooner than he anticipated, by reason of his plans becoming known to the Spanish authorities. Mr. Guerra thought that he had a large and well

The departure of the Spanish men-of-war from this port indicated, he felt sure, that they had been ordered to Cuba on account of the revolution. Spain maintains a standing army of about 25,000 men in Cuba, according to Mr. Guerra's figures, while the present force opposed to them is said to be no larger than 4,000. The secretary thinks that with 10,000 men well acquainted with the island the Spanish forces would be hard pressed. He declared that the revolution sentiment is spreading in Cuba.

Washington, May 3.—The state department is ignorant officially of the reported insurrectionary movement in Cuba. Nothing bearing on the subject has been received by the department from the Span-ish legation in Washington for several months, and no recent communications concerning the matter have come from the United Strtes diplomatic or consular of-

ZANESVILLE, O., May 3.—The Muskingum is over its banks and is rising two inches an hour. In the Seventh and Eighth wards there are over 200 houses under water, and in many of them it has reached the second floor. No casualities have been reported. At Gaysport, twenty miles south of here, the entire village is submerged and great distress is reported. All wheat, corn and grass lands are ruined in this valley.

Races for the Jack Tars. NEW YORK, May 3.—A series of boat races are to be indulged in by crews of the foreign war ships next Saturday on the North river. The regatta is open to all sailors on the visiting ships, but American tars will not be permitted to enter, another regatta for them exclusively having been arranged for the same day.

Some Interesting Talks with People We Know, and Sound Advice Given.

(Fulton, N. Y., Patriot.)

At intervals during the past year the Patriot and Gazette has been publishing newspaper reports of miraculous ures occurring in various parts of the United States, which have been to many of us exceedingly interesting reading.

We had no reason to doubt the accuracy of these various statements from the fact that they were vouched for by the newspapers who published the same, and bore upon their face the endorsement of the best men and women in the places from which they were written. We had no idea, however, that right in our very village, among people we all know, equally as interesting cases were to be found as those published. The medicine that has been working these wonders is rehas been working these wonders is re-ceiving everywhere the endorsement of

Perhaps there is no case more worthy of mention than that of our fellow townsman, C. H. Craver. According to Mr. Craver's own statement, he surferred for feften years with an algorite to Mr. Craver's own statement, he surferred for fifteen years with an ulcerated leg. Different physicians were consulted, they prescribed, but it did not grow better, "I thought," said Mr. Craver, "that it could never be healed; finally Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy was mentioned to me, and from the first bottle it began to improve, and after using, I can't say just how much, it made a perfect cure."

Inquiry among Mr. Craver's friends shows that he states nothing but the facts in regard to his case. Many other instances of the kind are widely talked of here in Fulton where Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has effected cures after physicians had given up hope.

What is wanted of oap for the skin is to wash it clean and not hurt it. Pure soap does that. This is why we want pure soap; and, when we say pure, we mean without alkali.

Pears' is pure; no alkali in it; no free alkali. There are a thousand virtues of soap; this one is enough. You can truct a soap that has no biting alkali in it.

All sorts of stores sell it, especially druggists; all sorts of people use it.

MRS. SMITH AND MRS, BROWN.

MRS. BROWN.—"Why, good afternoon, Mrs. Smith, I'm so glad you've come; take off your things and stay to tea, it seems an age since you were here—the children all well?" MRS. SMITH .- "Oh yes, quite well, thank you, but I don't think I ought to stay to tes though, I'd like to ever so much, you always have everything so nice, how do you manage it? MRS. BROWN.—"Oh I don't manage it at all; you know Mr. Brown does'nt earn but ten dollars a week, and we used to trade at Charge & Dun's, and we used to buy the cheapest kind of meat they had, and went behind every week at that, but now we have the best cuts or rib roast

(just think, only 12% cents a pound) for dinner three times a week, and then what is left is nice for supper. We think roast beef is just as good cold as it is hot."

MRS. SMITH.—"So do I, but where in the world can you buy it for 12% cents a pound, we have to pay 18, and our butcher says beef has gone up, and next week it will be 20."

MRS. BROWN.—"Why at the People's Market, don't you trade there! I thought everybod did. You can get lovely strawberries for 18c a quart, and, and, Oh I don't know what you can't get, and the prices, I never saw anything like it. My husband says its just like Washington Market. E J. WADHAMS,
