Object-Lesson in Patriotism.

The silent old Liberty Bell in its journey to Chicago has served a most useful purpose as an object-lesson in patriotism to the children. By way of preparation the school children in every town through which it was to pass were taught the story of the bell. The day of its arrival was a school holiday, and the children marched in procession, carrying flags and singing patriotic songs, to the scene of the day's ceremonies, to hear speeches calculated to cultivate patriotic sentiments. The old bell itself with its inscription suggestive of its mission was a silent but most eloquent teacher of reverence for American institutions, and it can be safely assumed that never in its whole career has it served a more useful purpose than in the inspirations it has awakened in the minds of the American school children that have greeted its triumphal journey to Chicago.

Our Experience.

We received a communication from the executive offices of the Southern New England Telephone company yesterday, stating that the company had made extensive improvements in their trunk line services between exchanges in the state, and enclosing a complimentary stamp, requesting a trial of the service. Having occasion to call Stamford on important business to-day we approached the 'phone with fear and trembling and stated our desire to talk with Stamford. The response from Stamford was received and our wants made known by the Norwalk office. After waiting some time the Stamford operator inquired of this end of the line if an answer had been received. We heard a negative answer from the local office, but there we died. Our connection was cut off and no word imparted to us of a failure to communicate with the parties desired. Nerving ourselves we called up the Central office and asked if we had been cut off. We received a quick reply stating that we had. Deigning to question the cause of our not receiving a reply we were informed that the parties called for had gone away. Knowing that an error had been made in stating that a daily newspaper office was closed we asked for another call, but were shut off with the information that we mus wait. In view of the outcome of our first trial over the "extensive improvements" of the telephone company we shall not try again, but will retain the stamp as a memento of those "extensive improvements".

Thus Saith.

"The Saturday Contributor" to the Waterbury American is a very observant person and his column always possesses an interest for every reader.

Last Saturday he called attention to the fact that the present diabolical dressmaker's device of balloon shoulders was denounced as long ago as the time of Ezekiel, that prophet having time of EZERIEI, blass property in the solemn warning: "Thus saith the Lord God: Woe to the women saith the Lord God: Woe to the women the saith and the sai who sew pillows to all armholes!" The doubting can verify this curse by turning to Ezekiel xii:18. We don't know which occasions the greater surprise, the fact that Ezekiel could see so far ahead or that a newspaper man found time to read his Bible.—Ansonia Sentinel.

The river this morning was the high-The river this morning was the highest it has been this year. An immense volume of water is flowing down over the rocks under the bridge, and the sight is a very pretty one. A large telegraph pole which lodged near the railroad bridge floated down during the night and is now caught in the rocks under the bridge. Some idea of the rapidity with which the water is running can be gained from the fact that a young man attached a brick to a long piece of twine and throwing it into the water it refused to sink but floated as if it were a shingle. ed as if it were a shingle.

An Awful Crime.

A tragedy as shocking as any in the arnals of Connecticut, was brought to light in Middletown last night. Richard Mead, aged 30, was found dead. Mead lived with his step-father Patrick Conroy, aged 70.

Conroy, aged 70.

Mead had been dead since Tuesday night. He was killed with an axe, his body being horribly hacked. There were numerous ugly cuts about the head. One exceptionally bad one over the right eye undoubtedly caused death. On different parts of the body were cuts showing that they had been done after death as if the murderer took fiendish delight in mutilating it.

The crime was undoubtedly committed by Corroy. The two men lived alone. They were not on the best of terms and frequently quarreled. It is said that some time ago Mead tried to murder his step father.

It is thought they quarreled and Conroy killed Mead. The bloody axe was found in the house.

The men did not have any employment and were not held very highly by their neighbors. Conroy was arrested. When questioned he said that they quarreled but he only hit Mead with a citish.

Someone had closed and locked the door, and in order to escape, the members of the band were forced to drop out of the windows to the sidewalk. It was raining quite hard at the time and but few persons witnessed the daring feat of the young men. All escaped injury, but they left the windows in the building open all night.

A Great Reunion of Veterans.

The growth of the Grand Army of the Republic, since its organization in 1866, has been rapid and widespread beyond the wildest hopes of its originators. Ten States were represented in the meeting at which it was founded. To-day, twenty-seven years later, it comprises forty-five departments, seventy-five hundred posts, and nearly half a million members. Within the last few years, certainly within ten or twelve, its Annual Encampments have grown to enormous proportions. At the encampment held in Washington last year, it was estimated that not less than three hundred thousand people were in attendance. The veterans seem to realize that there will not be many years left them in which to fight their battles over again, and so they come together once each year in greater numbers than when the organization was younger.

This year the encampment is to be held in the west and Indianapolis has been chosen as the city. From a sen-timental as well as a utilitarian point of view the choice was a fitting one. Phousands of veterans remember the Hoosier capital as a pleasant camping point going to and returning from the ront. Indianapolis is the birthplace of the organization as well as a convenient railroad center, with large hotel ient railroad center, with large notes and boarding accommodations, wide streets, and in all respects well adapted as a meeting place. It is within thirty-five miles of the center of population of the United States and about the center of the United States and about the Content of the United States and about the Content of ter of membership of the G. A. R. It is near Chicago and fully three-fourths of the visitors to the World's Fair can pass through it without going out of their way. With the exceptionally fav-orable rates that will be allowed by all railways having Indianapolis connections, the coming encampment can be attended by World's Fair visitors at a minimum cost. Seven lines of railway connect Indianapolis . Chicago and the running time between the two cities is six hours.

The arrangements for the entertainment and amusement of the veterans will be the most liberal that have ever been made. A fund of $150,000 has been raised by the citizens of Indianapolis for expenses, and the plans are of a character that assure the old vet-

Borrows $5 of a Butcher.

Forepaugh's circus will be in Stamford Saturday, June 3. The advance car, with a force of bill-posters, is expected to arrive here by next Monday. An agent for the circus was in town this morning and completed contracts with several firms to furnish supplies to the circus on the day of its arrival. One local butcher has an order for 1,000 pounds of meat. A feed-store has another order for 500 bags of feed. Bakers and grocerymen have all received large orders.

The above is published in last night's Stamford Advocate. It is not at all

Stamford Advocate. It is not at all likely that the show will appear there. A man came to Norwalk yesterday and gave it out that he was agent for the Forepaugh circus. He went to the Norwalk hotel and wanted to engage room for sixty people, and then went to Dann's livery stable and hired a team and drove to the Norwalk park and made arrangements to lease it for the circus which he alleged would appear here on the 3d of June.

A GAZETTE reporter became suspice ious that all was not right and proceeded to investigate, at the same time giv-ing Chief Dann a cue as to the fellows doings.

Usually when a circus agent comes to town one of the first things that he does is to secure a license. This the reporter learned he had not done. Further inquiry elicited the fact that he had made a contract with Keeler the Water street butcher for $166 worth of meat to be delivered at the circus grounds. He gave Keeler an order which read as follows:

CIRCUS, MENAGERIE AND WORLD'S FAIR. CIRCUS, MENAGERIE AND WORLD'S FAIR.

Treasurer pay L. D. Keeler $166, on account of meat to be delivered to Forepagh show, at 6 a. m. and 6 p. m. at Ground, Sat, June $d. Meat contract:

Round at Roast at Animal meat at Duplicate on Sunday.

M. C. Coyle, Agent.

He asked a loan of $5 of Mr. Keeler which was granted, and Keeler is probably out just that amount.

The fellow then visited Avison's market and made a similar contract and asked for the loan of five dollars, but Mr. Avison refused to let him have it and he walked off and left the order. When at the hotel he failed to regis ister but inquired for and was given the names of several grocers and butchers. Mr. Dann says that he pail for the team hired at his stables.

It was learned that he visited several saloons about town but that he succeeded in borrowing any money the report er could not learn.

There seems to be no doubt that he is a fraud. He is not in town to-day. He is described as being about 5 ft. 10 tall, rather stout, smooth face and dark complexion. It is an old game and it has been worked through this section before.

At Hartford.

The House yesterday took up the fac-torizing bill which caused an adjournment Tuesday on account of its opponents vacating and leaving no quorum. Wood withdrew his motion for the previous question to allow further discussion. Healey repeated his objections to the bill. He said he knew of one Hartford lawyer, who before the present bill exempting from attachment to the amount of $50 went into effect, made between $4,000 and $5,000 a year out of factorizing cases. The proposed bill was all in favor of one class, and would bear oppressively on the laboring class. Gunn made a powerful speech against the bill. He said it would do more to degrade and debase the legal profesdegrade and debase the legal profession than any other one thing and would therefore injure the profession as a whole. Crowley, of Meriden, and Pettingil, of Rockvile, also spoke against the bill. Gunn's motion that the vote be by yeas and nays was carried. The vote on the substitute bill reported by the committee stood 127 yeas 66 nors

The bill relative to electric street railways had been made the special order for 11 0'clock, but half an hour before that time the corridors were crowded with those interested in the measure including promoters of electric roads and officials and attorneys of steam railroads. The talk indicated a belief that the House would send the bill passed by the Senate back to that body with several important amendments.

Gunn made a short speech in favor of the bill. He said all the amendments by the Railroad committee had with a view to liberalizing the bill and in the main were in favor of electric roads. Many amendments offered by parties unfriendly to these roads had been re-

The two sections of the bill he particularly opposed were those forbidding electric lines to carry freight or to parallel steam railroads. There was no language in the charters of the steam railroads of this state pledged the Legislature to save them from fair and honest competition. If railroads were to receive such protection why not extend it to other kinds of business?

Williams of Glastonbury strongly urged the exclusion of the two sections referred to by the previous speaker. Hale of the same town said that in adopting these sections it seemed to him as if the committee were trying to There were as many abandoned factories as abandoned farms. The reason why so many manufacturers sought a change of location was that they might secure better freighting facilities. The committee had reported against a majority of the most desirable features of the bill submitted to them.

Rockwell, House chairman of the Railroad committee, made a plea against the two provisions which the preceding speakers had denounced and hoped they would be stricken out. Gunn replied in a characteristic speech advocating the bill.

The Senate passed the following matters on the calendar: Incorporating ters on the calendar: Incorporating Connecticut division, L. A. When Chocsing a Wife.

If I were asked by a young man or a young woman how to be guided in the choice of a life mate, I should, in the exercise of a judgment based on wide and studious observation, say: Choose that person who, after a reasonable period of association, proves to be most companionable. This broad law comprehends nearly all others that can be suggested. It were infinitely better to be single through life than marry one who would not answer to this condition. Speaking somewhat narrowly and selfishly, contentment is the most that can be got out of life, and when a contented couple is found it will also be discovered that they exhibit manifestly opposite characteristics of temperament, habit, taste and physique. It is upon this fixed foundation that happy affinities are formed. It is an important doctrine in medical jurisprudence that "like cures like"—which is only another way for saying that like kills like-and it is equally true in the social realm that companionship is not felt between young men and young women who are closely similar in general appearances or disposition. On the contrary, it arises and leads to happy unions between persons who are often widely dissimilar.-J. L. Payne in Ladies' Home Journal.

Using the Hand In Counting.

The natives of Erroob and some of the Cape Yorkers of Australia have words for "one," "two" and "three," but for "four" they say "the whole." In western Australia they have words for "one," "two," "three" and "four," while the word for "five" means "the fingers being on one hand," and "ten" being on two hands."

One author gives a word for "fifteen" - "mehr-in-belli-belli-gudgir-jura - banga," the exact meaning of which is "the fingers on the hand on either side and half the feet." The Lower Murray nations have words for "one" and "two" only; for "five" they say "one hand;" for "ten" two hands." Very few Australian tribes can count beyond "four," their terms for "five" merely implying

WAR SHIPS DEPARTING. Foreign Officers Will Start Tonight for the World's Fair.

NEW YORK, May 4.—The admirals and senior officers of the visiting squadrons will start for Chicago at 9 o'clock tonight. The party will number about eighty. There will be very few of our naval offi-cers, as the trip is intended for the fer-eigners. A stop of three or four hours will be made at Niagara Falls tomorrow, and the train will arrive in Chicago Saturday morning. Admiral Gherardi will not go on account of his many duties in conne tion with the fleet here. Vice Admiral Kozenooff, of the Russian squadron, will also remain here, as he has invited a num-ber of American and French officers to a dinner on his flagship tomorrow evening. Sir John O. "Papa, it's dark, where are you? I can't see you, ceme to me."

"The captain's heart was touched, and with tears in his eyes he said:

"Charley, you go and get a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and give it to her, and if it don't help her I will pay for it."

"That very afternoon I got Hood's Sarsaparilla and commenced giving it to her according to directions. The first beneficial result was a brightening of the eyes, which continued steadily improving until, under the treatment of Hood's Sarsaparilla, on the ninth day she could see to pick up a pin on the floor without its being pointed out to her, and before the first bottle was all used

Uncle Sam thus made the first considerable break in the two columns of war ships in the Hudson. Afterwards the Reina Regenta, the only remaining Spaniard, pulled up anchor and went to the Brooklyn navy yard to have her hull cleaned. These departures left one big gap in the column on the New York side between the Frenchmen and the Brazilians, and several gaps in the line of our own white squadron. The caravels are still anchored off Ninty-fourth street, ond the business of boatmen in that vicinity is quite lucrative.

There will be a quiet time on the ships during the absence of the commanders and admirals. The ships will give a search light exhibition tonight and on Saturday there will be boat races between the crews. The Russian cruiser General Admiral has received orders to sail for home in about ten days. The British squadron will sail May 10, and while several of the foreigners will remain for several weeks, there will be a general disbandment of the inter-national fleet next week.

FORLD'S FAIR—PENNSYLVANIA BUILDING, viding for Sunday opening. The committee, quoting the rule adopted on the subject, reports unanimously against the adoption of the resolution, concluding as "It will be seen, therefore, that the standing rule provides that the exposition and the gates thereof shall be closed on Sunday during the time the exposition is to cun, so that the question may be consid-ared as settled unless the commission may hereafter lawfully make an order modify-

The Pennsylvania State building, one of the great attractions in the northern end of the exposition grounds, was thrown open to the public yesterday. Since the Liberty Bell was put in place in the ro-tunda only that large room has been open to visitors. The superintendent desired to put on the finishing touches in the other cooms, and clean up after the crowd that nyaded the building on Monday. For that reason the doors were closed until yesterday. The Philadelphia policemen are on duty night and day, guarding the Independence Bell and answering a thousand questions put by the multitude of sightseers that would consider their exposition excursion a failure if they had not looked upon the national relic.

Apart from the crushing and fainting in the crowd at the opening ceremonies the first exciting incident and the first fire at ORIENTALS ON THE MIDWAY PLAISANCE. the exposition occurred yesterday after-noon. The blaze was an insignificant one sufficient to afford a few thousand people the opportunity which may never come again of witnessing the exposition's fire extinguishing system in operation. When the alarm of fire was given the hose reels and engines dashed out of the stations towards the Casino, from which volumes of smoke were seen to issue and roll towards the lake. The fire tugs lying in the ad-joining lagoons at once steamed at full speed to the scene of the smoke, and the crew got ready to throw water from the lake and lagoon into the place. All the lake and lagoon into the place. All the available guards were summoned to the Casino and acted in the capacity of police as well as firemen for a brief time. The fire started in a pile of shavings, but was extinguished before the firemen arrived. The damage was triffing, but the fire showed that the fire fighting forces of the fair are well organized and trained for their work.

Among the scenes that first attract the attention of all visitors are the foreign streets reproduced in Midway Plaisance and the little pleasure boats that go fliting through the lagoons. On the former people of all nationalities jostle each other as they pass along, while the bridges crossing the lagoons seem to have already become favorite resorts for lovers.

For five years past I have been tortured with a blood and skin disease known in medical parlance as "Herpes." It manifested itself in bright red, swollen patches under the skin. The fiery burning sensation was intolerable. My face was disfigured, my hands, arms, feet and body felt as if they had been poisoned! Proximity te my kitchen stove and all exercise aggraved the malady. It was a relief to thrust my feet out of bed in the coldest nights. I lost flesh for lack of necessary sleep and rest. Physicians who treated me gave me only temporary relief. I used the Cuticura remedies, Ayer's and Hood's sarsaparillas and other blood purifiers, none of which hit my case. I was discouraged and not inclined to try anything more. For two years I have been importuned to try Sawyer's Dandelion Compounct, but I declined. I had no faith that anything or anybody could cure me, but finally I yielded to entreaties and began to use the medicine. To my great joy, before I had used the first bottle I was encouraged. The red blotches gradually disappeared, the burning sensation ceased, my appetite returned and my complexion improved. I have taken three bottles of the Compound and call myself well. I have used nothing besides to secure this result. I commend the Compound to all persons who need such a remedy. You may use my testimony to inspire confidence in those who doubt the efficacy of Sawyer's Dandelion Compound. MRS. F. W. STORRS, 364 Kossuth St., Bridgeport, Conn,

A MINIATURE JOHNSTOWN FLOOD.

Minnesota, Ohio and Arkansas Visited by Destructive Floods-At St. Paul Many Families Lost All Their Effects-Portsmouth Reports $200,000 Loss

URBANA, O., May 4.—The greatest calam-Ity that ever came to the people in Logan and Hardin counties was that when the Lewiston reservoir broke and turned an immense flood of water upon the residents along its course. The break was in the northeast corner of the reservoir, where a wasteway 620 feet in length is located. A break 200 feet wide occurred, and the water came rushing down in a flood ten feet deep and three miles wide completely submerging the country around and carrying everything in its way. The big covered bridge, 150 feet in length, was swung completely round and then torn loose and swept away. In the course of the flood stood the houses of Jack Smith and William Devault and a large number and will am Devante and a large limiter of tenement houses and squatters and bachelors' homes. All of these are submerged, though fortunately everybody managed to escape. People fled in terror from their homes, while the swift and rushing flood came on down the valley, taking accounting before it. The first taking everything before it. The first town along the course of the flood is Port Jefferson, which was badly flooded. Quincy, Logansville Degraff, Piqua, Troy and Dayton are also in the course of the flood. The Lewiston reservoir contained 12,000 acres in water. So far no loss of life has been reported, but when the floods subside it will likely be revealed that more than one unfortunate perished. The damage to property in Logan county alone is estimated at $50,000. Many farmers will be ruined. PORTSMOUTH, O., May 4.—The Scioto still continues to put out strongly into the swollen Ohio, but its rise has fallen from two inches to one inch per hour. The river at some points is over two miles wide. In this, Scioto county, the main damage is the flooding of the bottom farms that have just been planted in corn, necessitating replanting. This loss will run up into the thousands. A large amount of fencing has also been swept away. The heaviest damage will be sustained by the railroads. Near Higbys the largest iron bridge in Pike county was swept away. A number of small bridges across Bear creek and other small streams have been either destroyed or badly damaged. The loss between this city and Waverly will aggregate $200,000.

SPRINGFIELD, O., May 4.—The damage in this city and vicinity from the flood will run up into the thousands. Two hundred s were flooded on the first floor, and the furniture ruined. The greatest sufferer is the Ohio Southern railroad in its extension to Lima which is now building. The total loss in this vicinity will foot up

ST. PAUL, May 4.—The Mississippi continues to rise, and has passed above the danger line. There seems to be no indication of its having reached the limit of the rise, and more or less damage to property has resulted. The West St. Panl electric plant has been compelled to suspend operations, their building being now fleoded. Hundreds of homes in West Side and on the lowlands above the city are under water, and many families have lost all their household effects. Should the rise continue at the present rate for another twenty-four hours serious results will follow. It is not expected, however, that it will reach a point that will endanger large property interests.

LITTLE ROCK, May 4.—The river at this place still continues to rise. Several large barns and outhouses went down the stream yesterday. Reports received from Salin county say that all farms in Perkins township are overflowed and crops ruined.
All of the Perkins Place but 100 acres is under water. The Waring Place is covered with water, and the damage will be considerable. Back water is fact coming up in the vicinity of Robson. Parts of the Adams and Johnson plantations are inundated. The water is within a foot of the top of the bank at the Brisson Place, and is pouring into fields along the river as far west as Conway, doing much damage to Royalists Get a Ducking.

Moscow, May 4.—There is a report current that the czar and czarina and the Grand Duchess Xenia met with a serious accident during their stay in the Crimea. While crossing a bridge over the river, it is said, their carriage was upset and all were thrown into the water. The czar and czarina and other members of the imperial family are also said to have been attacked with influenza.

'The Monarchy Is Dead Beyond Resurrection."

NEWMANN INFORMS LILIUOKALANI

The Ex-Queen Resigned to the Inevitable. Some Talk of a Republic and an Annual Pension for the Deposed Monarch. Minister Stevens to Return This Month.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3.—The steamer Australia arrived from Honolulu yesterday bringing advices to April 26. Paul Neuman, who was among the passengers says that he came over merely on private business. The British cruiser Hyacinthe has arrived at Honolulu from Esquimault. The United States steamer Adams, which is expected at Honolulu to relieve the Mohican, had not arrived up to the time the Australia sailed. A reception and ball was held on board the Boston on the evening of April 24. Among the large number of invited guests were naval officers from Japanese and English war ships in

Claus Spreckels was interviewed shortly after his arrival in Honolulu on April 18. He said among other things: "The monarchy cannot be restored. If I could find a man of ability whom I could trust, I would favor a republic. Annexation would involve another point—that of Japanese suffrage. I tell the people that it is absurd to think that the United States constitution can be changed to permit Asiatic suffrage."

Mr. Spreckels' influence in one respect has begun to operate, for, it is stated on good authority that Parker and Neuman, in addition to Spreckels himself, have in-formed the ex-queen that the monarchy is dead beyond resurrection. She is quoted as having said: "Whatever the result may vised my people to remain quiet."

A proposition is said to have been made to the provisional government to give the ex-queen an annual pension of $25,000. The project is being kept very secret. Commissioner Blount is supposed to have some cognizance of the matter, as he had held several close conferences with the government and the ex-queen.

The Women's Branch of the Hawaiian Patriotic league has adopted a memorial to Commissioner Blount, requesting the restoration of Liliuokalani

All the fashionable shapes in shoes for ladies' wear comprehends much, but that's about the size and character of our exhibit for the Fair, not of Chicago, but of Norwalk. It's the biggest exhibit to be seen, too, and it's drawing the largest lumber of admirers and buyers. Fair shoes for fair wearers at fair prices tempt purchasers. When it comes to raiment, the feet are as important as the head; indifferent footwear mars the whole costume. So many pretty and new styles make a choice easy.
