THURSDAY, APRIL 22, 1897.

New Military Company.

There is to be another meeting at the Armory to-night, of those interested in the formation of a first-class military company in Norwalk, and it is hoped that there will be a full attendance of young men interested in military affairs.

As General Frost aptly remarked at the meeting Monday night, a military training is the best thing in the world for a young man, and never fails to make him a better man afterwards.

Norwalk is sadly in need of a good military company, and one composed of the best young men of the town would, we are sure, be supported by the citizens and business men generally.

Turn out to-night boys and make this meeting a memorable one.

The Peach Crop.

The peach crop is ruined several times annually in the newspapers and yet peaches are usually to be had for the eating. It is feared, however, that the peach crop for this year is ruined for good and all in many sections. The drop of the thermometer to 24 degrees on Monday night was more than the opening peach buds could stand, and the reports from the peach sections of the Cumberland Valley and the mountain sections of Maryland are to the effect that the great majority of the orchards are frozen beyond help for this year. It is not unlikely that the peach orchards of Delaware and New Jersey have shared the same fate and that we may be compelled to eat California peaches this year or go without. If this shall prove to be the case, it will be a great misfortune to the peach growers and a great triya to everybody.

Good Roads.

Now is the time for bicyclers and every man who is alive to the importance of good roads to exercise their influence to have good roads law continued on our statute books. An absolute repeal of the law would be a public calamity. A step backwards. The state of Connecticut should never consent to any other course than a progressive one.—New Haven Leader.

The Leader is quite right, and so strong an influence as the bicycle guild of the state, ought to be able to make itself felt to much purpose. The law should be retained and the good already accomplished should be preserved and forwarded along the same lines in the future, but to do this will require some manifest demand on the part of the public, a demand which ought to be sufficiently obvious, one would think, as it is, but about which no chances should be taken. Make it strong and universal and then it will be respected, and the wheelmen can do that more effectually than can any other combination in the state.

AMUSEMENTS.

Carmen.

In Boston, where Rosabel Morrison's version of "Carmen" had its initial production, the press teemed with praises. The sturdy staid old Herald said: "The performance was the very reincarnation of the gipsy of Merimee's story. It is well worth seeing, well worth studying and well worth remembering, and will probably grow into a memorable characterization. The play is not only interesting; it is absorbing. It is an admirable parry of the attractive, moving power of the characters. The play was admirably staged, one or two sets being notably good. There was a big house which was most enthusiastic, calling Miss Morrison after every act." This is the play which is to appear at Hoyt's Theatre to-morrow night.

The New 8 Bells.

"Eight Bells," the pantomimic comedy which has had such wonderful success everywhere will be seen at Hoyt's Theatre next Monday night. The Brothers Byrne are a rarely progressive firm of clever artists, and in this season's production will give their many admirers a rare treat, for they have perfected a number of new and startling tricks besides several scenic effects that are a marvel of stage art. An outlay of a large sum of money by these inimitable pantomimists results in one of the most realistic stage productions before the public.

THE Aetna Life INSURANCE COMPANY.

Made the Following Gains in the Year 1896:

- Increase in Income, $1,057,816.28.
- Increase in Assets, $1,997,234.42.
- Increase in Surplus, $198,816.81.
- Increase in New Life Business, $1,598,668.00.
- Increase in Life Insurance in Force, $5,608,680.00.
- Increase in Accident Insurance in Force, $21,736,500.00
- Increase in Accident Premiums, $175,086.72—or 62 per cent.
- Increase in New Life Insurance Written in Connecticut, $310,642.00.
- Increase in total Life Insurance in Connecticut, $472,569.00.

From the increased Surplus the usual increase of dividends to policy-holders will be paid in 1897, making the Twenty-Fifth Regular Annual Increase of Dividends to the insured, and a record unparalleled in the history of life insurance.

Notwithstanding the material increase of new business on which the expense in Life Insurance is chiefly incurred, the ratio of expense to income on the Life business of this company, excluding the Accident business, is somewhat lower than last year, and is 23 per cent. less than the average expense of the ten leading "purely mutual" companies for the Year 1895.

Their figures for 1896 have not been published.

NEURALGIA BOUND HIM WITH BANDS OF PAIN

He is now cured, and he thanks God and P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, for it.

Mr. George Briggs, of Moore, Okla., suffered almost indescribable torment for three long years. Neuralgia held him captive. The right side of his face was so badly affected that the slightest touch would cause the unfortunate man intense agony.

NEURALGIA, CATARRH AND RHEUMATISM COMPLETELY CURED.

George Briggs, of Moore, Oklahoma, writes that P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, cured him of catarrh, facial neuralgia and rheumatism, after three years of intense suffering.

Catarrh and rheumatism were also causing him much trouble, until he tried P. P. P. He says he is well and will swear that there are no cases of neuralgia, catarrh and rheumatism, no matter how chronic or how old the cases are, that P. P. P. will not make a total cure of.

Mr. Briggs winds up his testimony by saying he thanks God and our medicine, P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, for the great cure.

Kidney troubles, if neglected, bring about serious and painful and very often fatal results. P. P. P. removes the irregularities, and cures the diseased parts.

Without thinking of how much suffering it meant to his poor aching limbs, Tim started down the rugged hillside on his perilous journey of heroism.

He hurried into the house and informed the old and thoroughly frightened people of their danger. It only took him a few minutes to hitch the horse to the sled, and the old man was helped on to this. The four drove on to shelter at the nearest neighbor's, leaving the fire to do its worst.

The modest-looking lad has never recovered from the injuries he sustained in making the awful trip, but he is very proud of the deed. The old people will never cease to love and contribute to the boy's support out of their limited means.

Capt. Heard's Exploit With a Privateer. The speed of the Baltimore clipper in days gone by made history redound with their exploits.

The United States army does not recognize in its vocabulary the word "fortress," yet many of us continue to call Fort Monroe "Fortress" Monroe.

A professional burglar in Berlin found a new and original way of adding to the ordinary profits of his profession, says Pearson's Weekly.

The late C. Jerome Cary, of Milwaukee, directed that his body should be burned, that the ashes should be used to nourish a certain rosebush, and that the blossoms should be distributed among his friends.

One of the severest penalties to which criminals in Holland were in ancient times condemned was to be deprived of the use of salt.

FOR BOYS AND GIRLS.

THE DOLLS' WEDDING.

There's a wedding to-day in the garden below. Where the pinks and marigolds stand in a row.

The bride is a doll that is nearly as tall. As the robin that leans to look over the wall.

The groom is a sailor boy gallant and bold. In a cap and a jacket all braided with gold.

There are roses above, there are roses around. And the petals of roses lie thick on the ground.

And the robin is there with his silvery flute. And the oriole clad in his flame-colored suit.

Little Tiny, the terrier, married the pair. Sitting on a bench with a serious air.

With grandmother's spectacles over his nose. And grandmother's spectacles over his nose.

A BOY HERO.

His Legs Wooden Ones, but He Traveled Far and Fast to Save Lives.

Not far from the Virginia line lives a two-thirds youth, for, unfortunately, both of his lower limbs are artificial, who has to his credit an act of heroism which should make him a loved lad as long as the memory of those who know him lasts.

This bit of a boy about three weeks ago heard that forest fires were sweeping everything that would burn before them along the Virginia side of the mountains.

The latest fad of fashionable ladies in search of beautiful complexions is mud—plain, dirty, sticky mud.

The fancy work of the day is in two distinct varieties, with the line sharply drawn between the truly artistic and the reverse, which is anything but expensive, requiring no special skill, and simply a means of passing away the time without much thought of the result.

A free state of perspiration is absolutely essential to health, but, on the other hand, excessive perspiration is not only very weakening, but often the sign of impaired vitality, as well.

THE WOMAN'S WORLD

Another Schemo for Women.

Do you know the latest scheme of a bright woman for earning a living? asks a correspondent of Boston Home Journal. She is keeping a boarding house where she caters only to people who are "dieting."

Elizabeth, Queen of Roumania, who was a Princess of Pied, one of the small Rhine provinces, is far better known to Americans as Carmen Sylva.

BRID AN IMPORTANT FEATURE.

Applique Lace and Jewelled Effects Unsurpassed in Beauty.

(By special Arrangement with the N.Y. Sun.) Black and white materials in both checks and stripes are decidedly popular this season, and the open meshed fabrics necessitate contrasts of color in the lining to bring out the effect.

Some of the prettiest combinations in these are the black canvas gowns made over, the new purple red, or China blue, and trimmed with black satin ribbon and red canvas over black.

EFFECT OF A POEM.

FROM IT A COWBOY WAS IMPELLED TO MOUNT FORTUNE'S LADDER.

Left His Old Life and in Time Became a Prosperous Man and Secretary of One of the Largest Manufacturing Concerns in the South.

Jack Mason was born and brought up on a Texas ranch. He had no mother and not very much of a father, so he just roved over the great prairies, knocked about with men and cattle, and "groomed." To such as he there was only one vocation open—that of a cowboy.

When about sixteen Jack started out one day with a comrade or two to round up a herd of cattle. An unwritten code which obtains all over these immense tracts of land is that when rounding up cowboys are at perfect liberty to enter any house en route and help themselves to anything in the way of food that they find, the only acknowledgement required from them being that they shall pour water over the fire before going away.

An atmosphere of well-bred content and cheer dominated the little room, when suddenly Jack started up, attracted by something which he thought he spied on a shelf in the corner.

At 4 o'clock the next morning, Jack Mason closed the volume, and with it a chapter of his life, for a fixed resolution had taken possession of him, body and soul.

They stood silently in the moonlight. He had told her goodbye sixteen times, and yet was he loath to go.

CURING BAD HABITS.

A Chicago Svengali Performs Wonderful Deeds With His Power.

Chicago has brought to light the most marvelous hypnotist of recent times, if the powers his admirers claim are his really exist.

Charles D. Brouyette is his name, and he is a product of the Western metropolis. He works on the basis that a vicious habit is the result of an idea in the possessor's head that he wants to do the thing that the habit calls for.

At a recent demonstration one of the patients was a young man who was an inveterate smoker. So firm a hold did the habit have on him that he consumed 150 cigarettes a day.

Another patient was a man whose red nose and bleared face spoke very plainly of his love for liquor.

A very similar case was that of a man whose especial vice was chewing plug tobacco. The same formula of telling him how bad a habit the one of chewing was gone through.

They stood silently in the moonlight. He had told her goodbye sixteen times, and yet was he loath to go.

FUSILLADE IN STREETS

Exciting Daylight Episode With Burglars In Brooklyn.

ONE OF THEM WAS CAPTURED

Two Unsuccessful Attempts to Blow Up Safes Had Been Made, and the Fellow Only Surrendered at the Point of a Loaded Revolver.

Brooklyn, April 22.—An exciting chase covering five blocks in the business center of this city and a fusillade of half a dozen pistol shots were the features today in the arrest of a man the police believed to be a professional burglar. The prisoner says he is James Lynch, 27 years old, and lives at New Haven. He is a dapper little fellow, stylishly dressed and looks more like a bank clerk than a burglar.

The Chase Begins.

Day was just beginning to dawn when the two men, angry and disgusted at the unsuccessful night's work, quit the place, slamming the door behind them, and went out on Hoyt street from the side door of the shoe store. Policeman Carroll was standing on the corner at the time. His attention was attracted to the men by hearing the door slam.

Details of the Conquest of the Island and Exile of the Native Queen.

San Francisco, April 22.—The barkentine City of Papeeta, just arrived from Tahiti, brought news confirming the report that the queen of the island of Raiaeta, one of the Society islands, was captured by the French and sent into exile with her husband and the principal chiefs.

The war which resulted in the queen's exile was brought to a close by a severe bayonet charge of the French against the natives, whose ammunition had become exhausted. The natives were crowded behind a breastwork and nearly every one was killed.

His Strange Doings to Be Urged in Extenuation of His Crime.
