The Senate in Session on a National Holiday,

The First Time in a Good Mang Years.

GAZETTE BUREAU, 1235 NEW YORK AVENUE, WASHINGTON July 5.

The Senate was in session to-day when everybody else seemingly were off "celebrating" according to each one's sweet will.

It has been a good many years since the Senate was in session on the national holiday. In the war times, of course, Fourth of July came and went with Congress in session, unnoticed amid the more important demands of those thrilling days. Since then, three holidays have been unobserved, once in the early seventies, and, lastly, in 1884. On each of these occasions the date of final adjournment had been fixed and the Senate was anxious to complete its business. In 1884 the Declaration of Independence was read by the Secretary of the Senate, so that the glorious Fourth was not entirely unforgotten.

When Gen. Woodford left Washington for New York last week, he took with him a mass of documents to study. He may not return to Washington until the middle of the month, when the Spanish minister will give him a grand dinner.

The reason assigned for the postponement of the general's departure to a later date than was at first announced is that he wishes to confer with Consul General Lee, who is expected to return from Havana about the middle of the month.

Second Assistant Postmaster General Shallenberger has returned from New York, where he witnessed the inauguration of the quarantine postal packet service, which brings the mail from the incoming steamers at quarantine to the Battery and Jersey City piers, connecting with the Grand Central depot.

He expressed great satisfaction with the results, which, he says, support the confident predictions of official promoters of the scheme that the dispatch of the mails to all points will be expedited from two to twenty-four hours,

The leading applicant for this place is Mrs. Virginia Campbell Thompson, who was appointed postmistress of Louisville, Ky., by President Hayes and continued in office by Presidents Garfield and Arthur. Mrs. Thompson is a daughter of Alexander Campbell, founder of the Christian church, and she has the earnest backing of Senators Deboe, Elkins and Hanna.

Nearly a Fire.

Between 8:30 and 9 o'clock Saturday night a balloon passing over the river dropped a piece of lighted cotton saturated with alcohol upon the wooden roof of Ghiotto's store next to George Gregory's meat market. Officer More. house saw it fall and gave the alarm and it was extinguished. Hope Hose heard the cry of fire which was raised and quickly laid a line of hose from the hydrant at the corner of Wall and Water streets, but their services were not required.

A Narrow Escape.

Willie, the 5 year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Northrop, of East avenue, had a narrow escape from being run over by a trolley car yesterday afternoon. Willie was crossing the street and failed to see a fast approach. ing car, and it was only by the quickness of the motorman in stopping his car that prevented the youngster from being ground under the wheels.

Fell on a Bicycle.

While at Compo Beach yesterday, Willie Rider of Westport avenue met with a severe but peculiar accident.

Prior to taking a swim Willie mount ed the stone wall and grasping an overhead limb of a tree indulged in a swing. Suddenly the limb gave way and Willie was precipitated upon his bicycle, which was resting against the fence, cutting a deep gash in one of his legs.

Fred Hoyt Wins the One Mile Professional Event.

Titus Makes an Exhibition Mile in 1:53 2-5 and Breaks the Record.

The State circuit races of the Bridgeport Wheel Club attracted fully 10,000 persons to the Pleasure Beach track yesterday afternoon. In the three professional races such riders as Titus, Gately, Jenny, Fred Hoyt, Newton, "Major" Taylor and other fast men took part, and in the amateur events some of the fastest riders in their class were entered. The result was that each of the seven events was an excellent exhibition of racing. The onemile professional was won by Fred C. Hoyt, Jenny was second and Titus third, with "Major" Taylor fourth. They were all in a bunch when they finished.

Titus and "Major" Taylor protested, claiming that Hoyt, Gately, and Newton of the Warwick team were doing team work all through the race. Jenny made the same claim, and also claimed that he won the race, but the decision of the judges was that Hoyt won by two inches.

In the one-mile professional handicap Titus, who was scratch, made the mile in 2:04. On the last quarter H. D. Elkes of Glens Falls, N. Y., fell, carrying four riders with him. Elkes was severely bruised and his shoulder dislocated. The other riders escaped without serious injuries.

An exhibition mile by Titus, paced by a triplet, was covered in 1:53 2-5, which is the track and State record. During the last quarter Titus passed the triplet and led them all the way home. If he had been properly paced he would have lowered the mile 1:50 or less. A. G. Relyea of the Kings County Wheelmen, paced by the famous Kings County "quad," covered twothirds of a mile exhibiting in 1:14 flat, which is the State record. The summary:

One Mile, 2:45 Class. Amateur-Won by W. J. Ehrich, New York; Thomas Clark, Bridgeport, second; E. S. Collett, New Haven, third. Time, 2:15.

One-Third of a Mile Open, Professional—Won by F. A. Gately, Boston; F. J. Jenny, Utica, second; C. R. Newton, Stafford Springs, third. Time, 40 2-5 seconds.

Two-Thirds of a Mile Amateur-Won by E. C. Hausman, New Haven; Irwin in the day's festivities. A. Powell, New York, second; William Ottman, New York, third. Time, 1:26. One-Mile Professional-Won by F.

Broke His Arm.

Early yesterday morning the boys at Hope Hose attached a short line of hose to the hydrant in front of the quarters on Water street, for the purpose of wetting down the street. The full pressure of water was turned on and the men at the nozzle were unable to hold it. William Saunders, a hatter, ran to their assistance but was struck by the stream and knocked down breaking a small bone in his arm. Edward Duffy also had his left arm injured and hip cut. Dr. Huntington set the bone in Saunders' arm and he will soon be all right again.

Threw His Shoulder Out.

While in bathing at Dorlon Point yesterday afternoon, D. Fenton Pomeroy dove from the dock and threw his shoulder out of joint. He was brought up to the hospital where Drs. Tracey and Gregory put it back in place.

NO FATAL ACCIDENTS RECORDED THIS YEAR.

South Norwalk Has the Only Fire, but it was Soon Extinguished With Little Damage.

Young America should indeed feel chin and turning his face the color of grateful to the "boss" of the weather bureau, for a finer day than Monday in which to celebrate Independence Day

AT THE SHORE RESORTS.

During the day, crowds visited the shore resorts and enjoyed the sea breezes. At Roton Point, thousands enjoyed the bathing and beauties of the Point, and it was late at night before the Tramway company had returned with the last passenger. At Dorlon Point another crowd assembled and spent the day sailing, bathing, and inhaling the cool breeze that can always be found there. Over at Calf Pasture Charley Hebbard entertained his visitors with his celebrated shore dinners, which are worth going miles to partake.

At Pine Ledge and the Yacht club the members enjoyed themselves in sailing, bathing and seeking shady

A large number of Norwalkers took the trolley to Westport from where they rode to Compo Beach and spent the day upon the sands. Others visited the new resort Cedar Island, a quiet, shady resort where the day was passed in peace and comfort. Here can be found Grumman's "Old Time" beer presided over by Ben Allen, while in the restaurant "Joe" Hubbard of Knob fame is the chef who can prepare Fred Austin on River street. a shore dinner that cannot be beaten anywhere.

While there was no public celebrabration the citizens vied with each other in decorating their houses, and everywhere "Old Glory" was swung to the breeze. One of the largest and handsomest flags seen about town floated from the residence of ex-Selectman Oscar W. Raymond on East avenue. .It was a beautiful flag and received many complimentary remarks from passers by.

The trolley cars were kept busy from early morn until late at night carrying passengers over their several lines, and it was the general verdict that the service was the best ever accorded.

This accident came very near being a serious one.

While Asa Fancher was setting off rockets on Wilton avenue last night, a ball of fire dropped on the lap of a lady visiting Mrs. Edward Shannon, but beyond scorching her dress no injury was done.

George Carr, of Chestnut street, had his face filled with powder, which was removed by Dr. DexterHitchcock.

The only fire of the day occurred at South Norwalk shortly after 2 o'clock in the afternoon when flames were discovered issuing from the roof of Gus Fieldes' saloon on Day street. The department responded promptly to the alarm and extinguished the blaze with a fire extinguisher before any great amount of damage was done. It is thought the fire was caused by a fire cracker being thrown upon the roof.

AT ST. JOSEPH'S.

Ceremonies Attending the Dedication of the Basement.

Bishop Tierney and Many Priests Attend the Exercises.

The ceremonies attending the dedication of the basement of St. Joseph's church were held Sunday morning and were of a very impressive nature. At 10:30 Bishop Tierney accompanied by the neighboring clergy started from the rectory and proceeded to the Altar vestibule of the church where the service began. The bishop and assisting clergy preceded by the cross-bearer made an exterior circuit of the church chanting the psalms and blessing the walls. Entering the church by the main entrance they wended their way to the Altar where the litany of the Saints was chanted, and another circuit of the church on the interior was made, the inside walls blessed and the dedication part of the service was over.

Solemn High Mass celebrated, the the celebrant being Rev. Walter J. Shanley, rector of the cathedral at Hartford, the deacon was R. M. Rigney of Seymour, the sub-deacon Rev. Thomas Cronan of Wallingford, and the Master of ceremonies Rev. M. Barry of St. Mary's church. The bishop was seated on an improvised throne draped in purple and yellow during the service, and on either side as chaplains were Rev. J. J. Furlong of St. Mary's and Rev. Allen MacDonald of Keyser Island.

The clergy present were: Rev. W. H. Rogers of Stamford, Rev. T. O'Brien of Noroton, Rev. W. J. Slocum, and H. Trainor of Waterbury, Rev. John D. Kennedy of Danbury, Rev. Father Fitzsimmons of Bridgeport, and about sixteen of the Jesuit order and professors from St. Francis Xavier's college New York who have been spend ing a vacation on Keyser Island.

The sermon was delivered by Rev. Alexander Doyle of the Paulist Order New York, a very forcible and eloquent preacher. He took his text from Revelations or Apocalypse concerning "The New Jeruselem or the Church Upon Earth." At the close of the service Bishop Tierney congratulated the congregation and the pastor on the extraordinary work which had been accomplished in the parish during the past two years. He hoped it would not be long before he would be called to dedicate the auditorium of the church.

Before the congregation dispersed the pastor Rev. J. T. Winters spoke a few words. He said in part, that he wished to voice the gratitude of St. Joseph's people for the joy and consolation of the day. He thanked the Rt. Rev. Bishop and the attending clergy for their presence and also the friends and well wishers of the congregation who were present heart and purse to testify their good-will.

The musical program was under the direction of Mrs. C. A. Freeman and was worthy of special mention. Farmers Mass was sung by the choir, and solos by Messrs. Wehle, Schultze, and Mrs. C. A. Freeman, Miss Elizabeth Murphy and Miss Anna Harford were rendered with pleasing effect.

In the evening Vespers were sung and benediction of the blessed Sacrament was given. The celebrant was Rev. M. Rigney, assisted by Rev. Joseph Synott of Ansonia. Rev. Thomas Kelley of New Canaan preached on "God's love for us." The music was Rosewig's Vespers and was admirably sung by the choir.

HIS HOUSE BURNED.

William James Receives a Telegram Announcing His Loss.

In Norwalk with a Sick Wife When the News Came.

William James of New Haven started from New York on Saturday to take his sick wife to her home. When the train, a through express, reached South Norwalk it was feared that Mrs. James was dying and the conductor kindly stopped the train and Mrs. James was brought to the home of her brother, William Petrie on North avenue this city.

Mrs. James rallied and was better during Sunday and Monday and was to have returned home this morning.

Last evening Mr. James was in receipt of a telegram from New Haven, stating that his two-story frame dwelling located on Derby avenue near the Yale field, was burned to the ground.

The building was of recent construction and rather pretentious in appear ance. It caught fire at 4:30 p. m., the blaze originating in the attic from some unknown cause.

The nearest fire apparatus was in Westville and the department was summoned by a man who drove to Westville in a carriage. Meanwhile the neighbors attempted to hold the flames in check by the use of garden hose; but could not accomplish it. The department arrived too late to be of any use. The furniture was saved.

The loss to Mr. James is about $2,200; insurance $1,500. FRED AMBLER'S FUN.

Fred Ambler, he of bicycle fame, had a desire to explode something new in fireworks early yesterday morning. He tried the experiment, which, while expensive, thoroughly amused the Fred and J. M. Benedict had opened a fireworks store in the Lockwood building, where the Taft Brothers formerly kept a clothing store. Their business during the week had been rushing and Fred was happy and decided to celebrate.

Going into the store he secured a box and placed it in the street. He next appeared with a piece of fireworks resembling a cross between a sky-rocket and a "devil-chaser." Leaning it against the box Fred applied a match. With a roar the firey monster started, but it only went a short distance when it twisted and came back boomerang fashion. Fred dodged it all right, but there was a sudden crash of glass as the thing went through the store win-

The next was a report like a battery of artillery as the huge fire crackers, roman candles, rockets and torpedoes in the window began to explode. Fred quickly recovered himself and dashed into the store with assistance at hand extinguished what promised to be a large sized blaze.

As there was another one of these mysterious pieces left, the crowd soon prevailed upon Fred to try it again. He did, but the result was different. Instead of returning through the window it shot upon Ghiotto's roof where it threatened destruction to the building until extinguished.

Milkman VanTassel's wagon caught in the trolley track on East Wall street yesterday morning and one wheel collapsed.

A young son of Otto Emerich, of Main street, was christened Sunday.

The eldest of the three Armenians, wishing to become sole possessor of the diamond, poisoned his two brothers, and came to Europe to sell his treasure, disposing of it ultimately to Catharine II, of Russia for £100,000. Shajas, for that was the Armenian's name, did not live long to enjoy his ill-gotten gains, for a few years afterwards he himself was poisoned by his son-in-law. A WOMAN'S-RIGHTS BIRD.

The Female Leaves the Male at Home to Take All the Care of the Family.

That graceful little bird, the red phalarope, has one very remarkable peculiarity. When in full breeding plumage it is the female and not the male that is the brighter and more conspicuous bird. The red of the breast and under parts is deeper, and the mottled markings of the back and head are brighter and more clearly defined. The first day they appeared in the spring of 1882 I shot several for the collection, and I never shall forget my surprise when dissection showed budding eggs in all of my supposed males, for this unusual sexual difference in the breeding plumage is not generally mentioned in the ordinary handbooks of ornithology.

Now this peculiar difference means something. The phalarope is a "woman's rights" bird, and doesn't trouble herself with the cares of a family. While it is quite common among the waders for the male to take his share of the work of incubation. Among the phalaropes it is the male alone that hatches the eggs and takes care of the young-in fact does everything except lay the eggs. When they have laid their eggs the females go off in flocks, playing and feeding by themselves, while the males must stay at home and take the whole care of the family. The eggs were always laid in low marshy ground, generally on a narrow isthmus between two little ponds.-John Murdock in Chautau-

RULES OF THE HOTEL.

They Were Concise and Right to the Point and Easily Understood.

"I've had to stand for some queer rules and regulations in my time, said the Arkansas drummer, but the most unique code of rules governing a hotel I ever had sprung on me was at the Tallewanda Hotel, in College Corner, Ohio. I remember each and every one of them distinctly to this day. They were posted in this order:-

supper at seven. "3. Guests are requested not to speak

Effect of Color on Dew.

It is said that dew is a great respecter of colors. To prove this take pieces of glass or board and coat them heavily with red, yellow, green and black paint. Expose them at night, and you will find that the yellow will be covered with moisture, and the green will be damp, but that the red will be perfectly dry. This experiment has been tried many times and always with the same result.

WHOSE FAULT IS IT?

A Local Occurrence That Will Interest Many Readers.

If when a foghorn warns the mariner to shear off the coast, he still hugs the shore and wrecks upon it, whose fault is it? If the red switch light is up and the engine driver deliberately pulls ahead and pitches into another train, blame the driver. HOTELS IN CHINA.

Not the Most Comfortable Places in which , to Sleep.

The hotels are usually grouped within a square or two of one another. Each one seeks to attract guests by high-sounding titles. For instance, in Canton are hotels which flaunt the signs of "The Fortunate Star," "The Golden Profits," (an unusually frank confession for a landlord to make,) "The Rank-Conferring," and "The Happiness." The food is not so bad, but the traveler who goes to one of these houses to sleep will wish that he had gone to another. The bedrooms are small, thin-walled boxes in which you may hear the breathing of your next neighbor or be kept awake half the night by the conversation of people at the other end of the hall, or worse still, be almost stifled by the smoke from an opium pipe which is being indulged in by the man across the assageway.

One house of entertainment peculiar to China is the dog-and-cat-meat restaurant. This does not mean that household pets are brought there to be fed, but that Tabby and Fido are served up in stews. According to prices charged for other food, these stews are rather expensive—especally if the cat or dog chanced to be black, and therefore more nutritious, according to popular notion.-Lippincott's Magazine.

Coining Jokes.

This is a common and very legiti mate figure of speech as applied to the labors of burlesque writers and con tributors to comic periodicals; but there is an instance in which a joke was actually coined, struck from a graven die, and issued from a legal mint. The fact is historical, and is as follows:

In the year 1679 the Danes advanced with a large force upon Hamburg, but after a siege of considerable duration seeing little hope of ultimate success, they finally withdrew and marched

Thereupon the Hamburgers caused a medal to be struck in commemoration of the event. In one side of this numismatic curiosity was this inscrip-

Bundle of Blood Stained Clothing Picked Up In East River.

CLEW IN NACK MURDER CASE

Strengthens the Theory That the Crim Was Committed at Woodside, on Long Island-Lawver Friend Objects to Methods of the Police.

New York, July 6.—The Long Island police have in their possession a bundle which was found in the East river near Ravenswood.

The police believe that this bundle has something to do with the Guldensuppe mystery. It is composed of rags, which are believed to have originally formed part of a man's or a woman's undergarments. These were wrapped up in newspaper and bound with tape. One of the papers was in German of the date of June 20. The rags appeared to be stained with blood, and when tested gave the reaction for blood. In the bundle also was a portion of what appears to have been a corset cover, made of cheap cotton. There was a towel, well soaked with blood, and a piece of a sleeve of a woman's garment. The sleeve, apparently, had been cut from the garment near the elbow, a jagged edge being left. The piece of the German newspaper was also found among the rags, and what appears to be a portion of a red curtain of cheap make.

The distance from where the bundle of clothes was found to the Woodside house is about three miles, and the Astoria ferry is about half a mile from the place where the bundle was picked Lawver Friend Protests.

Counsel for Mrs. Augusta Nack, the alleged murderer of William Guldensuppe. has made a complaint to Magistrate Flammer in the Jefferson market police court about Coroner Tuttle entering the prison about midnight Saturday with two women to try to identify Mrs. Nack as the woman who was seen to enter the house in Woodside, L. I. where the police now believe Guldensuppe was murdered

Mr. Friend said it was against the rules unless her counsel was present on such occasions, as such action by the police and coroner was for the purpose of extracting a confession from the prisoner.

While the magistrate was inclined to agree with Mr. Friend he preferred not to make any order in accordance with the lawyer's idea, as he thought the police might have good reasons for so acting in the absence of Mr. Friend, especially if they could not promptly communicate with him.

Chief of Detectives O'Brien is satisfied that Guldensuppe was butchered in the lonely cottage on Second street, Woodside, L. I. He sent two of his men today to overhaul the plumbing in the place in the hope of getting further evi-dence of the crime. One of the detectives selected for this work was formerly a plumber.

STILL ANOTHER MYSTERY.

Body of an Unknown Man Found With Wounds Suggesting Murder.

New York, July 6.—The waters of the lower bay have given up the evidence of another tragedy—probably a mur-der. A party of yachtsmen in Commodore Charles Morgan's yacht Acorn, sailing off the Staten Island coast, came upon the dead body of a man fully clothed, floating face upward, about two miles out in the bay from Giffords Station, S. I. Wounds on the body indicated that the man had been murdered. The body was that of a large man, 5 feet 9 inches tall and of about 160 pounds weight. The dead man had dark hair and a yellow mustache.

Coroner John T. Oakes of Stapleton found a cut under the left ear. The cut, an inch in length, extended from the apex of the cheek bone nearly to the nostril line. It was as clean as the slit of a razor and went clear to the bone. On the forehead was a bruise. body was fully clothed, and the clothes were of good quality. The coat and waistcoat, of black diagonal cloth, were well cut and but little worn. The trousers were of dark striped material. In the pockets were two keys of peculiar pattern and $2.42 in American money. There were no papers, cards or other articles in the pockets which might lead to identification. On the silk necktie was found the name of the makers, W. Baines & Son, Leicester, England. The body is believed to be that of a vessel captain or mate. Pending an autopsy, it is impossible to say whether the wounds were sufficient to have caused

Shot and Killed by a Policeman. Norristown, Pa., July 6.—Patrick Gallagher was fighting on the streets of Conshohocken, and when a policeman attempted to arrest him he fled. The policeman fired three shots at him, one of which took effect. Gallagher was taken to the Charity hospital, where he died. The policeman, John Greer, was committed to prison to answer for the shooting.

ENGLAND ADMONISHED.

Secretary Shorman Sends Some Sharp Criticisms to Embassador Hay.

London, July 6.—The Chronicle's Washington correspondent cables: "Coming swift upon the neels of the jubilee expressions of amity on the part of the United States to Great Britain it will be an unpleasant surprise to the British public to know that the present administration, in its diplomatic intercourse with England, is adopting a tone as sharp as that which characterized the conduct of international affairs under President Cleveland.

"Within a few days, possibly on Wednesday, the president will transmit to congress the correspondence relating to the seal fisheries. It contains a most important dispatch, dated May 10, from Secretary Sherman to Embassa-dor Hay, a copy of which Colonel Hay was directed to hand to Lord Salisbury.

"The dispatch covers six or eight large printed pages. It reviews the efforts of the United States and Great Britain to carry out the terms of the Paris award and asserts that the United States has loyally adhered to the findings of the tribunals, while it insinuates that Engdoes not charge Great Britain with evasion, duplicity and bad faith in set terms, but that is the tenor of the dis-

"Its publication will undoubtedly cause irritation and resentment in Eng-

"The dispatch is nominally signed by Mr. Sherman, but it is really the joint work of Messrs Foster and Hamlin. The administration is proud of the dispatch and believes that it will be re-ceived with as much popular approval as Mr. Olnev's Venezuelan dispatch.

"The foreign office has not answered the dispatch beyond making a formal acknowledgement of its receipt.

"One of the latest dispatches calls Great Britain's attention to the fact that the United States maintains five vessels in Bering sea to prevent illegal sealing, while Great Britain maintains only two, one of which is a yacht."

OUTLOOK FOR THE TARIFF.

Senate Likely to Take All This Week or the Measure. Washington, July 6.—The outlook for the week in the senate is quite uncertain. There is every probability that the tariff bill will be passed, but whether early or late in the week is by no means certain. The various provisions for a stamp tax, for a beet sugar bounty and for the suppression of trusts threaten to develop considerable debate, and there is a prospect of general speeches by Senators Bate, Mills, Chilton, Allen and others. The present indications are that there will be a determined effort to force the committee on finance to restore the sugar bounty provision, and upon the success or fature of this effort probably will largely depend the length of time yet to be consumed in the senate.

When the tariff bill comes over to the house this week, the programme is to send it immediately to conference. The minority will make no opposition to this if the Republicans will assure them 'reasonable" time for debate when the bill is reported back by the conferees To this the Republican leaders express their assent, though no determination has yet been made of how long a "reasonable" time is. Mr. Bailey thinks three or four days will be sufficient. In view of the fact that the bill may return to the house any day the order for sessions on Mondays and Thursdays will be taken from day to day until the bill passes the senate.

FIREWORKS DID IT.

A Combination of Pyrotechnics and Gaso

Chicago, July 6.-Fireworks and gasoline were combined in an explosion which blew out the front of the building at 5613 Jefferson avenue. The following persons were injured: C. H. Frank, severely burned about the face and hands, may die; Alice Anschutz, seriously cut about the face by flying glass; T. W. Coombs, cut and overcome by smoke, and Harry Hardman, fireman, overcome by smoke, may die.

The mass of blazing oil and explosives shot out into the street, narrowly missing a passing cable car. Immediately the three-story building burst into flames, and it was with difficulty that the unconscious Coombs was rescued from the second floor. The fire was of short duration and the loss not heavy.

Their Bodies Ground to Atoms.

Buffalo, July 6.—A special train on the Western New York and Pennsyl-vania railroad, carrying the members of the Paul Boyton Specialty com-pany from Buffalo to Lime Lake, struck a carriage containing Robert Doster of South Wales and George Laney of Bennington, Wyoming county, at a level crossing near South Wales. The train was traveling at a high rate of speed and the men were ground to pieces, por-tions of their bodies being strewn along the track for a mile.

Brakemen Killed In a Wreck.

Pensacola, Fla., July 6.—A train of empty flat cars on the Muscogee branch railroad, while being backed down to the mill, struck a handcar and was thrown from the track and badly wrecked. The people on the handcar saved themselves by jumping. The two colored brakemen on the train, Joe Jones and Henry Davis. were killed, both being horribly mangled. Conductor Martin Grey was severely bruised.

New Yorker Commits Suicide.

Saratoga, July 6.-Hardin Parrish of New York city has committed suicide at his boarding house here. The body, a revolver in the hand, was found on the floor in his room. He came here on Thursday. Insomnia is believed to have affected his mind. His son, Hamilton Parrish of Brooklyn, has been telegraphed to by Coroner Varney.

Solace to Delinquent Tax-payers.

Delinquent tax-payers may possibly find solace in the fact that cases against George Washington appear here and there in the civil docket, recently unearthed in the courthouse, at Greensburg, Pa. No less than three claims were entered against him during the year 1787 to compel him to pay taxes. The humorous clerk, commenting on these actions, remarked: "George Washington, Esq., appeareth not to like taxes."

Two Points in Good Roads.

At a good roads convention held in Minnesota a few days ago two facts of interest were brought out prominently. The first was the necessity of thorough surface drainage by ditching. The roadbed must be rounded so that the water will run off readily. If the road surface can be kept dry, any locality may have good roads at comparatively small cost all the year around, even with present available means. The second point was that of the width of tires. A practical road builder stated that if he were to purchase a new wagon he would not take a narrowtired vehicle if he could get it at half price, as he could haul double the load with the same expenditure of power, on a wide tire. Where the roads are dry and hard there can be no doubt of the superior economy of a wide tire, not only in the matter of hauling the load, but in preserving the roadway. As both suggestions are easily carried out, the hints should prove of value.

Wiser than Norwalk.

Mr. Robert McNichol of Glasglow, Scotland is at present a visitor in Washington. In discussing the different methods of municipal government in "The city of Glasgow, has undertaken the ownership and control of all public utilities which I find are usually monopolies in this country. Glasgow has nearly 1,000,000 population and the plan of municipal ownership has proved an unqualified success. We have an abundant supply of pure and soft water from Loch Katrine, the present aqueduct delivering a daily supply of 45,-000,000 gallons, soon to be increased by a new aqueduct to 80,000,000. The price of water is only 6 pence on the pound of rental value.

"Since the city took charge of the gas works the price to consumers has been reduced from $1.17 per 1,000 cubic feet to 54 cents, and a further reduction is recommended for next year. The gross revenue from the gas works is in round figures £605,000, and the total expenditures £47,500 "

"Our street cars are still propelled by horse power, but the horses will soon give way to the overhead electric system. The fares are graded by ength of distance, a half penny being the charge, say, for half a mile on an average, and 3 pence for five miles. Under the present system the city not only gets enough revenue from the street cars to cancel all expenses, interest, sinking fund, depreciation, etc., but has a surplus of $45,000 annually, which goes to the general funds. All the city officers are elected from the City Council, which is composed of seventy-seven members, who serve without pay. From these are taken the Lord Provost, fourteen magistrates, a City Treasurer, and Master of Works. Though hard work is involved and no remuneration it is considered in Glasgow a great honor to belong to the Council, and the places are keenly sought."

DYING IN POVERTY.

Miserable Fate of Maria Moncrieffe King

Relative of English Peeresses. Chicagó, July 6.-On a soiled, grease stained pallet in a sweltering room scarcely 10 feet square in the basement enue lies Maria Louisa Moncrieffe King in a dying condition. Poverty is stamped everywhere—on the untidy bed, the dilapidated chairs, the pitiful attempts at decoration and the ragged carpet. At her side watches a patient, sorrow bent woman, her only daughter, while from the room beyond come the cacklings and boastful utterances of an old man, half quack doctor, half shyster lawyer, the husband of Maria King, now Mrs. Cummings.

First cousins to this woman dying in miserable poverty are half a dozen wives of prominent peers of the United Kingdom, the famous Moncrieffe sisters, who were enabled through money loaned them by Maria King's father to make a series of the most brilliant matches in England. Among these cousins are the Duchesses of Athol, Lady Forbes, Lady Dudley and Lady Mordaunt.

ARE THEY AFRAID OF US?

Europe Disturbed Because This Country Is Growing So Great.

Berlin, July 6.—Bismarck's Hamburg organ contains an article on America and Europe, the writer of which considers that the leaders of European opinion view the growth of the giant states of the American union with pardonable alarm. Those states, he says, are still behind the European states in strength for war and in culture, but there are three important factors which promise them supremacy in the futuretheir unity, enormous size and the adzones. The article continues as fol-

"In comparison with this uniform Colossus, Europe, with her high cultivation and many political divisions, re-minds us of ancient Greece when it split and fell before the growth of Macedonia

TRUST IN THEIR CHILDREN.

An Unusal Financial Arrangement Man for Two Young Persons.

There is a very charming family i New York where the subject of an it come for the son and daughter is a ranged most satisfactorily for all co cerned.

The two are now abroad togeti completing their education and cuit vating their respective talents. As fa as finances are concerned, they are absolutely independent, and this is how it is managed. At the beginning of their financial year the father in New York goes to his banker and deposits to the credit of his son and daughter each a certain amount o money, which is to last them the entire year. It is a comfortable sum, but not extravagant, when it is considered that they must pay their tuition, board, and for their clothes from it during that time. It is possible that they might be called upon to economize with it. At all events, whichever way it may be, it is all the money they will have for the entire twelve months.

"Do you mean to say that this money is to be subject to the order of your son and daughter?" asked the astonished cashier at the bank when the first deposit was made. "Why, I know young people who would have a grand time and spend all that money in three

"Well," returned pater familias complacently, "if my children do that, they know what they will have to expect; they will support themselves the remainder of the year."

But notwithstanding his apparent complaisance, if the money should be used unwisely, the hearts of these exceptionable parents would be sadly wrung. An incident emphasizing this fact occurred during the college days of the young people, when a similar arrangement was made. The money for the son was placed in a bank, in a town to which the college was adjacent, subject to his order. In the bank was a relative of the family, who for some reason, perhaps from suggestions of the green-eved monster, was not ami cably inclined to the young man.

At any rate, the mother at home was filled with horror and dismay one day at receiving a note from the relative which read curtly: "Blank has overdrawn his account. I have made it good this time, but do not let it occur

In great haste she telegraphed money on to the bank, and then waited in agony to hear from her son. What had he done? What was the cause of it? He was only human, like other boys, and there were so many temptations that might beset him; but her boy! It seemed ages before a letter came. Then there was an explanation.

It was not a temptation which had led him astray; it was bad arithmetic. He had miscalculated. He had overdrawn his account to the amount of-

The Tramway company covered themselves with glory yesterday in the excellent manner in which they handled the vast crowds over their several lines. Mr. K. W. Mansfield gave his personal attention to the running of cars and two cars followed each other in quick succession to Roton during the entire day, and there was no overcrowding. It was the best service ever given the public, and the company received many flattering compliments for their efficient work. It is estimated that 25,000 passengers were carried over the several lines without a serious accident or tedious delays. It was a great day for the Tramway and Mr. Mansfield.

Fireworks and Wheeler & Wilson Band Entertain the Guests in Evening.

The Knob club entertained yesterday in a royal manner, and the beautiful grounds of the club contained a crowd of members and guests during he entire day and evening.

In the afternoon the Wheeler & Wilson band of Bridgeport was stationed under the trees and discoursed the sweetest of music. A lunch was served to over 500 people and the bathing houses were largely patronized.

The fireworks in the evening were watched by hundreds of people, the grounds and club house being crowded with club members and guests.

After the exhibition which was unusually fine, the band entertained the guests on the lawn until 10 o'clock, while the younger folks took possession of the club house and passed the hours away in dancing.

It was a great day for the Knob and its officers who managed the affair.

CLOCK MADE OF BICYCLES.

A Curious Mechanism that will Adorn a Public Building in Paris.

What is probably the oddest clock ever manufactured has been made by a Frenchman. It should appeal to every wheelman, for it is constructed solely of bicycles and parts thereof. It stands eleven and a half feet high, and is the queerest combination in appearance at which any cyclist ever gazed. Withal, it keeps correct time, and the man whose duty it is to keep it in order has a very easy time of it, for so delicately is it constructed that the gain or loss is almost infinitesimal. It bears the appearance at first glance of a circlet of bicycle wheels. intertwined, in the center being an immense rim, while within this rim the hands that point the hour and the minute.

The name of the inventor and the maker is Alphonse Duhamel. He is a Parisian clockmaker. The clock will be placed in one of the public buildings of Paris.

His Hammock Under Cars.

A queer character, "Jack, the hammock rider, who lives by his wits," is attracting the attention of the people throughout the State of Michigan.

"Jack's" hammock is of his own construction and bears the mark of considerable ingenuity. It is designed to fasten ander a sleeping car to aid "Jack" in "beating" the railroad. The hammock is made of heavy canvass, quilted on the inside and fastened to a stout stick at each end. Two large iron hooks project from the wooden rods and by these he attaches his novel resting place to the two iron bars which run the length of each side of the car. A cover is sewed to one side and almost covers the ends, the sewed edge being placed toward the engine, so that the wind pressure will keep out the dust as the car speeds along .-Chicago Tribune.

Tennyson Hard to P case.

Tennyson, who was very fond of delicacies of the table, was wont to say that the only advantage he derived from being Poet Laureate was that he was usually served with the liver-wing of a chicken. Professor Max Muller gives an amusing account of a sudden visit which Tennyson paid to his house at Oxford. It was during the long vacation and no provision had been made for unexpected guests. Hos-Perley Godfrey severely cut one of pitality, however, could scarcely do less than ask the poet to remain to dinner, and the invitation was extended to breakfast the following morning. Dinner passed off tolerably well, the only grudge on Tennyson's part being against the fish sauce, which was not to his liking. At breakfast the professor and his young wife prided themselves on being able to offer a dish of very tempting cutiets. Tennyson hastily removed the cover, and to his host and hostess' horror exclaimed in neverto-be-forgotten accents, "Mutton chops! the staple of every bad inn in EngLa les Norfolk Jacket.

for this practical basque so admirably adopted for traveling, shopping, cycling or general utility wear. It is of fashionable and becoming length and trimly adjusted to the figure by a curving centre back seam, side seam back that are carried to the shoulder, and under-arm gores. The fronts have single breasted darts which close in double breasted fashion with button-holes and handsome smoked buttons. Above the closing the upper portions are reversed and form coat lapels that meet the rolling collar in the regular tailor make. Box plaits are applied on each side of the front and back which extend below the belt and are neatly finished | measure 3 yards.

Blue serge was the material selected | with machine stitching in harmony with the general finish of the garment. The sleeves are as wide as fashion dictates and are gathered at the top while the wrists are plainly finished. A white linen chemisetta and four-inhand tie gives the correct tone to basques of this description.

Serge, tweed, cheviot, broadcloth and canvas are among the accepted materials for making.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY.

The "Orient" and "Saracen ' Are THE wheels of to-day.
At Saunders,' No. 12 North Main
Is where they hold full sway.

He carries every part in stock And treats you all alike, No trouble if of him you buy Your Ninety-Seven Bike.

At coasting or at racing
They've always stood the peer,
The reason is, they're fitted with
The famous "Pitch line gear."

The crack-a-jacks all ride them, You know the reason why, They're just the class of riders Who know what wheel to buy. Prize winners are these wheels:

And ahead they'll always be, Just watch them in the races, And for yourself you'll see. And when the victory's over,

When time prize has been won, They'll quietly speak for themselves And simply say, well done.

Stock and Mutual Managem nt Compared.

HE comparative merits of the so-called "purely mutual" system of management for life insurance companies and of stock management are clearly shown by the following comparisons. We have selected the largest proxy-mutual company in the New England States (the Connec ticut Mutual, and compare it, with the ÆTNA LIFE, the largest comticut Mutual, and compare it, with the ÆTNA LIFE, the largest company with stock management.

The Connecticut Mutual, by its annual statement filed with the Insurance Commissioner of this State, January 1, 1897, shows that it has $525,093.79 more than its entire surplus, invested in real estate. (It increased its holdings of real estate in 1896, $1,108,702.75). Its taxes repairs and expenses on real estate in 1896 amounted to $298,675.90, or $42.91I.31 more than its entire income from that source, hence it appears from the sworn statement of that company that no income was realized from its surplus, nor from the $525,093.79 (the excess of real estate over surplus), but, on the contrary it was behind from that source, as shown above, $42,91I.31.

Of the ÆTNA LIFE'S surplus ($6,711,502.25), it had on the first of January

Of the ÆTNA LIFE'S surplus ($6,711,502.25), it had on the first of January last, as shown by its statement filed with the Commissioner, real estate amounting to $486,348.25, leaving of its surplus to be otherwise invested $6,225,154.00. Its net income from real estate amounted to $8,150.82. Its surplus not invested in real estate earned in 1896 5 1-10 per cent, or $317,482.85, to which add its income from real estate as above, makes $325,633.67 earned upon its surplus alone. The Connecticut Mutual, on the other hand, instead of earning anything on this passets, shows a loss, as above stated of $42.911.31. part of its assets, shows a loss, as above stated, of $42.911.31.

These unfavorable investments affect the dividends of that company. (Had the Connecticut Mutual obtained as favorable results, in the above particular, as the ÆTNA LIFE, it would have gained in the year 1896, over its present ex-

RED CROSS APPEAL FOR HELP

Miss Wilberforce Says Money Is Badly Needed For Hospital Facilities-Sick and Wounded Soldiers Return to Spain - Children Imprisoned.

Havana, July 6.-A caustic editorial in La Vose de Cuba, complaining of Weyler's illiberal application of the political amnesty decree in commemoration of the king's birthday, has brought to the newspaper prompt suppression. The publisher has been fined, and the editor is under arrest. The Madrid pictorial paper, Blanco y Negro, has been excluded from circulation in Cuba on account of its reproduction of American centration policy. Miss Wilberforce, the British Red Cross delegate, who recently arrived in Havana, has sent a strong appeal to England for money contributions to enable the Spanish Red Cross association to increase the hospital facilities in the cities and towns and to extend the work to the government outposts in the interior.

caricatures ridiculing Weyler's recon-

Seven hundred and seventy ill and wounded Spanish troops were embarked for home yesterday at General Weyler's request, to make room in the hospitals for the new fever and smallpox victims who are stricken down from day to day.

Miss Wilberforce still hopes to persuade General Weyler to permit the reception at the hospitals and impartial treatment of wounded Cubans who are captured and held as prisoners of war, awaiting court martial, sentences of death or deportation in chains.

A Jucaro Moron dispatch to El Diaro de la Marina reports the defeat of a party of rebel amazons near the central trocha and announced the capture of Senorita Florentina, their captain. The moment the news reached General Weyler at Manzanillo he telegraphed ordering her release.

Cuban Women Disappear.

Havana, via Jacksonville, Fla., July 6.— Senors Borelles, Marandios, Natrones and Diaz, wealthy residents of Guanabacoa, were arrested at night Wednesday and hustled off to jail. The next night their homes were invaded by troops and police, and their wives and daughters were forced to go with the men, hardly having a chance to dress. Indeed, two of them, handsome girls of 16 and 18, were taken away in their night garments, the soldiers indulging in the coarsest jests regarding them and their appearance.

These women have disappeared, and to complaints made in Guanabacoa and Havana no attention is paid, save if the complainants get too importunate a significant hint is given that they had better for their own sake be more com-

La Lucha reports that 14 children from 6 to 15 years old have been put in prison as "abetters of the rebellion."

La Lucha, El Comercio and Diario de la Marina taunt the "Yankees" with being "fiery on paper, but inactive in work," and they say Calhoun's report is "slumbering in a pigeonhole from which McKinley will never dare to withdraw it." The American colony is insulted daily in the papers, and many sarcastic remarks are made regarding the "Americans' sudden change of front when Spain stood on her dignity."

Smallnox In Montreal.

Montreal, July 6.-Two cases of smallpox have developed in Montreal. few days ago J. A. Goddard, a well known insurance agent, was removed o Strong's private hospital, where he underwent treatment for typhoid fever, but it has since been ascertained that it was smallpox. Since then another case has been discovered on St. Andre street in the east end, where the epidemic was so bad in 1885.

Iron and Steel Works Burned.

Akron, O., July 6.—The shafting department of the Akron Iron and Steel company's works has been completely destroyed by fire. The loss is $100,000; fully covered by insurance. The building was 300 feet long and two stories high. It was equipped with much valuable machinery, which, together with a large amount of finished steel and iron, was destroyed. The fire was caused by the intense heat.

No Strike In Kansas.

Weir City, Kan., July 6.—No strike has been ordered among the miners of this district. Should the men be or-dered out, many would refuse to strike, t is said, although most of them are union men. They have no serious grievance, except scarcity of work. hey were out on a long and disastrous strike, and since then they have renained at ... rk regardless of eastern disturbance. - 4 - A Desperate Fighting In Brazil. London, July 6.-The correspondent of The Times at Rio Janeiro says: "It is reported here that the government roops are attacking Antonio Conselthe leader of the fanatics at Canudos, Bahia, but have been thrice repulsed, losing over 1,000 men. Conelheiro's losses are still greater. Fighting has been continuous since June 27.

Philippine Islands "Pacified" Again. Madrid, July 6 .- Special dispatches to he government announce the complete pacification of the Philippine islands, and on the strength of these Marshal Primo Rivera, the captain general at Manilla, confiscating the property of rebels.

Star Pointer and Joe Patchen to Meet. Chicago, July 6.-The following entries have been received for the $5.000 ree for all all pacing race to take place t Washington Park club Saturday, Juy 24: Star Pointer, 2:021/2; Joe Patchen, 2:03, and Frank Agan, 2:0334.

Trolley Car Men Strike.

Houston, July 6.-Not a trolley car is running in the city, the men having struck to compel recognition of their union. Five hundred men are affected.

A HERMIT'S LOVE FOR JENNY LIND. His Life Ruined by the Practical Joke of the Young Lawyers.

Jenny Lind is dead, but in a filthy hovel on the road from Glasco, Ulster County, to the Hudson River, at Ulster Landing, lives a lasting remembrance of her in a poor mad hermit who lost his mind through a practical joke, which aroused in him a violent love for the great singer.

Early in the fifties, when Jenny Lind was creating a mad furor here by her wonderful singing, there lived in Kingston, N. Y., a young carpenter named Tobias Van Steenberg. He never had a very strong mind, but was a good and steady workman, thrifty and prosperous. He had accumulated several hundred dollars in the savings bank, and had built himself a good house. He was not the sort of a man to make an enemy, but he was as good a mark for a practical joke as a jester could hope to find. Several young lawyers in Kingston had noted Van-Steenber's peculiarities.

One day he was seen looking earnestly at a cheap cut of Jenny Lind in one of the shop windows, and the young lawyers saw an opportunity for another practical joke, so they began to talk to him about Jenny Lind, and soon made him think she was in love with him. They afterward managed to have letters sent to him from New York inviting him to visit the great singer in the city. He at once drew his money from the bank and disposing of his property, started for New York

As soon as he reached the city poor Boot, as he was nicknamed, began to haunt the hall where the famous singer was appearing, and to follow her carriage in the street. At one of her public receptions at the Revere House he declared his love before the crowd present, and said he had come to New York to marry her, and ended by grovelling on the floor at her feet. She had never seen the man before, and, of course, had him ejected from her apartments.

He then began to haunt the hotel lobby and attempt to speak to her as she passed out of the hotel, until the proprietors of the house had him put into the street. His next move was to place himself where he could watch the singer's windows, and he would not move from his post for hours at a time. Later on he seems to have got an idea that Miss Lind would love him better if he was a musician, and then he appeared in front of the hotel with a hand-organ, which he would grind for hours at a time. He soon became a public nuisance, and was arrested and taken to the Tombs. His friends in Kingston were notified to come and Boot was brought back to Kingston, but his mind was destroyed, and he would do nothing but wander about towa grinding his hand-organ. He soon became such a plague to his native town and to his own family that one of his brothers smashed the machine.

On the first night that he saw her he bought one hundred tickets to the concert and took that number of people whom he picked up from the sidewalk in to hear the great singer. This is said to be a fact, and when it was brought to the attention of Miss Lind she is said to have sent a substantial check to his parents.

The young lawyers whose practical joke upset this man's reason all lived to become distinguished men. They are all dead now, however, while the victim of their pleasantries still lives. -New York Journal.

Bad dreams dis tress the man whose digestion is out of order Constination creates more dreams than are in the infer nal regions. People who are troubled with constipation sleep badly and restlessly Sometimes they can not sleep at all, and when they do sleep, the dreams come. It doesn't take so very long to wear a man out with that sort of thing. He gets up in the morning feel-ing worse than he did when he went to bed. He is listless and without energy The chances are he is dizzy, has "heart burn," palpitation, sees black spots be-fore his eyes, has headache and is bilious. What nonsense it is to let a condition of that sort continue. Nine-tenths of all the sickness in the world comes from constipation and neglect of it. It is a simple thing to cure if you go about it right. It's a bad thing and a serious thing if you don't take the right medicine. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are designed for the cure of constipation. The "Pellets" are tiny, sugar-coated granules. One is a laxative, two a mild cathartic. Everybody who has ever used them has a good body who has ever used them has a good word for them. They have prevented more serious illness than any other remedy ever sold. Druggists sell them, and an honest druggist will not try to sell you something else.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is the greatest family doctor book ever published. It explains human physiology and the laws of life and health in plain yet scientific language. It has had a tremendous sale; 680,000 copies at $1.50 each, bound in cloth. The present free edition is the same in all respects except that it is bound in strong manilla paper covers. A copy will be absolutely given away to anyone who sends 21 one-cent stamps to pay cost of mailing only, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

A gallant captain was called up by his colonel to explain his assaulting the sentry on his return to barracks after dinner on the previous night. The captain had forgotten the incident entirely. The sentry declared that the officer was evidently drunk. The captain's Irish soldier servant, however, emphatically protested that his master was sober. "How is it that you are so sure that he was sober?" asked the colonel. "Did he speak to you?" "He did, sorr." "What did he say?" "He tould me to be sure and call him early in the morning, sorr." "That seems all right," said the colonel; "and did-ah -did the captain say why he wished to be called early?" "He did, sorr. He said that he was going to be Queen of May."-The Wave.

A Wonderful Scale.

The grand balance, or scale, used in the Bank of England is probably the most wonderful piece of mechanism in the world. It stands about seven feet high and weighs probably two tons. The whole is under a huge glass case, access to it being gained by a sliding panel. This scale is so perfectly adjusted that it can be made to weigh a grain of dust or four hundred pounds of gold. A postage stamp placed on one of the two weighing ledgers will move the index six inches. If the weight placed upon the scales is beyond its capacity, an electric bell is set to ringing, the machine, almost with human voice, declining to execute a task of which it is incapable.

You are thirsty—the heat and dust parches your throat—makes you weary-ordinary drinks don't touch the spot-your stomach demands a pure and healthful drink in summer, something to counteract the heat effect. Williams' Root Beer combines healthful qualities with a peculiar, rich, delicious flavor, giving solid enjoyment with every thirst quenching. It costs but a trifle to buy the extract and make Weakened One Man's Constitution Until It Brought Him to Death's Door.

Mr. James S. Harrison, a well-known and highly respected citizen of Cleve-land, O., was for years a sufferer from dyspepsia and general debility, and in his weakened condition, resulting from the above causes, he had the additional ill-luck to fall a victim to malaria from this complication of disorders. Mr. Harrison's condition was becoming very serious, when he commenced to take P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy. Its effects were marked and immediate. Read his letter to us. Its earnestness is apparent:

GENTLEMEN: For the benefit of all unfering from dyspepsia and general debility I beg to submit my testimonial as to the efficacy of your P.P.P., Lipp-man's Great Romedy, as a positive cure for all the distressing complaints from which I suffered.

My system was also full of Malaria and my condition was growing very serious; I had no appetite, was losing strength and was completely broken down in health, but now my health is completely restored, and I can eat like a field laborer, without the slightest fear of any serious results.

I take great pleasure in telling the world that P. P. P. did the grand work restoring me to my accustomed

HOW KENNAN LEARNED.

By Perseverance He Lost the Fear that Had Possessed Him.

"When I was 17 or 18 years of age," said Mr. Kennan, "I went as a telagraph operator to Cincinnati. I had become so morbid and miserable by that time that I said to myself one day, 'I'm going to put an end to this state of affairs here and now. If I'm afraid of anything, I'll conquer my fear of it or die. If I'm a coward I might as well be dead, because I can never feel any self-respect or have any happiness in life; and I'd rather get silled trying to do something that I'm afraid to do than to live in this way. I was at that time working at night, and had to go home from the office between midnight and 4 o'clock A. M. It was during the Civil War, and Cincinnati was a more lawless city than it ever has been since. Street robberies and murders were of daily occurrence, and all of the 'night men' in our office carred weapons as a matter of course. I bought a revolver, and commenced a course of experiments upon myself. When I seished my night work at the office, instead of going directly home through well-lighted and police-patrolled streets, I directed my steps to the slums, and explored the worst haunts of vice and crime in the city. If there was a dark, narrow, cut-throat alley down by the river that I felt afraid to go through at that hour of the night, I clenched my teeth, cocked my revolver and went through it-sometimes twice in succession. If I read in the morning papers that a man had been robbed or murdered on a certain street, I went to that street the next night. I explored the dark river banks, hung around low drinking dives and the resorts of thieves and other criminals, and made it an invariable rule to do at all hazards the thing that I thought I might be afraid to do. Of course I had all sorts of experiences and adventures. One night I saw a man attacked by highwaymen and knocked down with a slungshot, just across the street. I ran to his assistance, frightened away the robbers and picked him up from the gutter in a state of unconsciousness. Another night, after 2 o'clock, I saw a man's throat cut, down by the river, and a ghastly sight it was, but although somewhat shaken I did not become faint nor sick. Every time that I went through a street that I believed to be dangerous, or had any startling experience, I felt an accession of self-respect.

"In less than three months I had satisfied myself that while I did fear, I was not so much daunted by any undertaking but I could do it, and then I began to feel better.

"Soon after this time I went on my first expedition to Siberia, and there in almost daily struggles wth difficulties, dangers, and sufferings of all sorts, I finally lost the fear of being afraid which had poisoned the happiness of my boyhood.-From the At-

HER HANDS ARE MAGNETS.

Wonderful Power Demonstrated by a Georgia Girl.

A strange exhibition of a wonderful power was recently given in the presence of Governor W. G. Atkinson, of Georgia. The demonstration occurred in the Governor's reception room in the Capitol at Atlanta, and the possessor of the marvelous power was Miss Fannie Hester, of Greene County, Georgia.

The first experiment tried with the young lady before Governor Atkinson and his party was with a silver dollar. This was placed near the palm of her hand, and the muscles immediately began to twitch and jump. Several of those present felt her hand, and noticed the strange pulsation. A large, round stick was then placed in her hand, and as long as it touched the palm it kept continually in motion, whirling around with great rapidity. Several tried to push against her, but she could not be moved from her tracks. The Governor's private secretary, a strong, powerful young man, used all his strength to push the girl back, but could not move her.

Experiments were then tried with a chair, and although four men caught hold of it and attempted to keep it still, Miss Hester moved it easily in all directions with one hand. She seemed to use no exertion whatever, yet the four men opposing her were powerless in resisting her. It was the greatest difficulty to lift her from the floor, and when she stood on wood it was an impossibility to lift her feet more than an inch from the floor.

In this respect Miss Hester's abilities are very similar to the celebrated Lulu Hurst, but the magnetic palms are a distinctive feature.-New York

Toys of Ancient Egypt.

It seems very odd to have unearthed the playthings as well as the tablets and weapons of antiquity, and yet tmong the objects found recently in the Assiob necropolis, in Egypt, was a whole company of wooden soldiers, lifteen inches in height. The soldiers carry lances, and give a good idea of the style of military equipment prerailing in the time of the Pharaohs.

EDMUNDS ON LABOR TRUSTS.

At a dinner in Philadelphia given in honor of the former Ambassador to Italy, Wayne MacVeigh, ex-Senator George F. Edmunds touched a responsive chord when he spoke on the hostility that is now prevalent to trusts. He declared that the hostility was all one-sided, inasmuch as it ignored the great labor trusts. This is what he

"Somebody has said something in the course of this evening on the subject of our economy, of the intensities of the concentration of various trusts, sugar, oil, tobacco and rope trusts. We find, in the newspapers which print everything and anything anybody wants to say many things we don't say, lots of things about these trusts. But have they got them all? Where is your plumbers' trust? Where is your plasterers' trust? Where is your carpenters' trust? Where is your every trust of labor and organization in every human industry that exists in the United States?

"There came under my observation in your city of Washington a touching illustration a few years ago. I had occasion to employ a plumber to do a small piece of work for me, and, during the progress of the work, he asked me if I could not find a place for his son in one of the departments. I asked him why he did not take his son into his own establishment, and there teach him his trade. He said-I can hardly state it without emotion

" 'Senator, I cannot do it.' "I said, 'Why?'

"'Why,' he said, 'the Plumbers' Union only allows two apprentices in the State from a certain district, and my son cannot get in.'

"I said, 'Why don't you teach him your own trade in your own shop?" and gentlemen, the reply he made was

"'Why, Senator, if I did, I could not get a job in this whole city,' "Is not that a trust which is wrong? Well, that runs through every trade-sugar, rope, tobacco, railroads that are bad, and all that, and so they may talkabout our honest men with wives and families to support who are willing to work for one and two dollars a day, but they can't get it. Why? Because their union or their trust won't allow them. The standard is set for them, and if they don't wait and starve their families until they can reach that standard they can't get work anywhere. Everywhere they go they are met by the same condition of affairs all over our United States-a workingman can't work for what he wants to-he must work for what somebody else says he must work for."

A RAPHAEL STORY.

How He Settled with a Clamorous Land-

Raphael, the great Italian painter, whose celebrated Biblical pictures are worth fabulous sums of money, was not a rich man when young, and encountered some of the vicissitudes of life like many another genius. Once when travelling he put up at an inn and remained there, unable to get away through lack of funds to settle his bill. The landlord grew suspicious that such was the case and his requests for a settlement grew more and more pressing. Finally young Raphael, in desperation, resorted to the following device:

He carefully painted upon a table-top pigs' feet."

in his room a number of gold coins, "You were, indeed," said the Cheerin his room a number of gold coins, and, placing the table in a certain light that gave a startling effect, he packed his few belongings and summoned his host.

"There," he exclaimed, with a lordly wave of his hand toward the table, "is enough to settle my bill and more." Now kindly show the way to the door."

The innkeeper, with many smiles and bows, ushered his guest out and then hastened back to gather up his gold. His rage and consternation when he discovered the fraud knew no bounds, until a wealthy English traveller, recognizing the value of the art put in the work, gladly paid him £50 for the table.-Harper's Round Table.

17 His Lucky Number.

Mr. Alma-Tadema, the well-known artist, is one of those who believe in the luckiness of numbers. Mr. Tadema's lucky number is seventeen. His wife, he will tell you, was seventeen when he first met her; the number of the house to which he took her when they were married was seventeen; his present house bears the same number; and the first spade was put to the work of rebuilding it on August 17. This was in 1886. It was on November 17th that he and his family first took up their residence there. He laughts at himself for this supersition, but it is evident that his holding to it is not wholly a joke.

A CAT GUARDA THE BIRDS.

Most Powerful of All, Least Often Con- Even to the Extent of Sacrificing Her Three Elittens.

It is said that a bird store in New York has a big Maltese cat that guards the birds. By the door of this bird store there is one big cage containing a hundred canaries. They sing, and their music is carried far up the street when the store door is opened. As might be expected, this attracts all the stray cats in the neighborhood, and before Miss Maltese was obtained there were frequent losses from the bird cage through the cats that stole in. One day a big black cat was caught in the very act of hauling a canary between the wires with her

There was but one thing to do. A customer mentioned that he had a cat that liked canary birds for their song. The cat was purchased by the birdstore keeper, and now there is no cat or dog bold enough to approach the shop when the cat is on guard.

She knows her duties, too, and when the door is opened awakens from her nap and creeps to the door. She softly crouches by the side of the big bird cage, and awaits visitors. Woe to the unhappy puppy that pokes his nose in that door or the inquisitive cat that enters to find out what the noise is all

The proudest feat of this cat was the killing of three kittens that could not be kept from away from the cage. They were deposited in the back yard of the shop in some mysterious way, and managed to creep in, unknown to the proprietor. All night Miss Maltese and the kittens were alone in the shop together, and when the proprietor opened up the shutters next morning his eyes rested upon a shuddering sight. There in the middle of the floor lay the bodies of the three kittens, killed after desperate conflict, and in the corner, under the big birdcage, huddled the Maltese cat with a sorrowful look in her eye, as though she would say: "I'm awfully sorry, but I had to do it. I didn't dare go to sleep and leave them together."

COULD TALK ABOUT FLIES.

Dull Pupil Who Proved He was not a Foot When it Came to His Specialty.

One of the speakers at a banquet given here recently, says the Washington Post, dwelt at some length upon a man's natural aptitude to the vocation in life he pursued. He-told an interesting story illustrating his meaning from one of his schoolboy recollections, as follows:

"At my first school there was a boy to whom the teacher could not succeed in imparting the simplest rules of elementary knowledge. Try as she might, her efforts were failures. Her patience, after exhausting trials, turned to despair. One day, when he seemed duller than usual, she sent him from the recitation bench to his seat with a severe reprimand, promising to recommend his dismissal to the trustees.

"Shortly afterward she observed him bending over some pursuit at his desk. His eyes were lighted with an expression that seemed inspiration. Anxious to know the cause of this almost miraculous transformation from sloth that was sluggish to activity that was life, she passed down the aisle by his desk on some pretext that would not disturb him, and found the cause of his glowing study to be the examination of a fly, which he had caught and was examining, having dissected it into parts. The truth dawned upon the teacher. The boy's mind ran to entomology. He was a born natural-

"The teacher said nothing, but that afternoon called up the entire class for general recitation. The boy's appearance was as dull as ever. 'Boys,' said the teacher addressing the entire school, 'I want to see how far your general powers of observation on trivial subjects go. For instance, you have all seen thousands of flies. Now, I want each of you to tell me his impressions of a fly.' Beyond the fact that a fly was a fly and had two wings not one of the school could say anything further. At the first mention of the subject the dull boy was all aglow. He held up his hand and snapped his fingers. He realized his superiority. It was his day. He told of the fly from a general and analytical standpoint, its interior and exterior construction, its habits, its food, its generation and its propensities. The rest of the school sat astonished. The boy went on and launched into a general description of bugs and insects he had caught in the woods.

"From that day the teacher encouraged his peculiar aptitude, and cisco Post. troubled him no more with the rules of grammar and arithmetic. She went into the woods with him and helped in his studies of nature. She brought the attention of the school trustees to his case, and, to make a long story short, he was sent to Europe for study. In Leipsic he was made moderator of the Natural Conservatory of Science. He held for a time an important position in the Smithsonian, at Washington, D. C., and he is now in Paris. one of the leading entomologists of the world.

Outside the Tent.

"Well, Mariar," said the old man, as he got down from the wagon seat where he had been patiently waiting, 'did you see all the animals?"

"All but two," she said with a sigh. 'I hunted the longest time, but I couldn't seem to find the carnivora and the egress. I expect they was the best part of the show, too."-Washington Times.

It was in the elevator of the Hotel Continental in Paris-one of those slow-going machines in which this noted hotel delights. Four or five persons were in the car besides the operator, who had waxed fat in his laborious occupation of pulling on the rope. One of the company was fresh from the Ecole des Beaux-Arts, where, indeed, his whole time was employed when not engaged in the necessary relaxation at Versailles, in the Bois, at the cafe, or in other restful places of the world's capital. His companion was not of this description. Among the others were a lady and a gentleman, to the former of whom the two Americans had removed their hats. But the gentleman with her made no motion to remove his, but regarded the company with a studied indifference. "Oh," said one of the Americans, "it does not appear to be necessary to remove one's hat here," and thereupon clapped his on his head. The lady and gentleman getting out at the next floor, the elevator guard politely informed the remainder of the company that they were the Grand Duke and Grand Duchess of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, the latter being own sister to the then Imperial Autocrat of All the Russias, as I believe it was stated .- Ar chitecture and Building.

There was a farmer who used to have his occasional spree. Every one knew his failing, and neither of the druggists in town would sell him a drop. One day he brought a quart bottle into one of the apothecary shops, with two or three big lumps of gum camphor in the bottom. He told the druggist that his wife wanted her camphor bottle filled with alcohol. The druggist filled it without suspecting anything. In a week the old man came again, and in a little while the third time. Finally the druggist discovered that the "gum camphor" was milky quartz, picked up in the fields, and that the farmer had poured camphor over the outside of the bottle until enough had crystalized there to look natural and smell right. The quartz didn't hurt the alcohol for drinking purposes.

RATCHFORD SANGUINE

Views of President of Mine Workers' Union on the Strike.

A GREAT ARMY OF MEN IDLE

The Orders For a Discontinuance of Work Generally Complied With Throughout the Coal Regions—The Fight For Higher Wages Now On.

Columbus, O., July 6.-Telegrams re ceived by President Ratchford of the United Mine Workers indicate that the order for a general strike of the miners has been complied with generally throughout the mining districts of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and western Pennsylvania and in sections of West Virginia and Kentucky. It will take several days, however, to determine with any degree of accuracy the number of men involved. President Ratchford roughly estimates the number at 200,000, but this is regarded as very liberal. He is pleased with the unanimity shown by the miners and says that he has the greatest confidence in the successful outcome of the strike. He thinks the prospects are better than in 1894, when a general strike was inaugurated. At that time the scale of prices was being paid in many mining localities, notably West Virginia, where a majority of the miners continued at work and thereby greatly weakened the strike. He has hopes that the West Virginia miners may now be brought into line, inasmuch as they are receiving wages far below the scale, and their condition is not any better than that of the miners in other states. The coal production of West Virginia has increased so rapidly in the last few years that the output of that state now exceeds the output of Ohio. During the strike of 1894 trouble was caused by the shipment of West Virginia coal through Ohio, the Ohio miners endeavoring to stop this traffic. The railroad companies promptly appealed to the state for protection, and almost the entire Ohio national guard was placed in the field. President Ratchford does not believe there will be any repetition of these troubles in the present strike. Special efforts are to be made to enlist the sympathy of the West Virginia miners. President Ratch-ford is encouraged to believe that this may be accomplished by the fact that the miners have signified their intention to strike in many places where efforts to enlist their co-operation have failed on previous occasions.

As to the probable duration of the strike, President Ratchford says that will be governed entirely by circum-It will last several weeks at stances. least. The miners are in a better position to withstand a long strike at this time, as a great many of them have garden produce on which to subsist, and there will be no great hardship entailed such as would follow a strike in the winter. The fact that there is a fair supply of coal in stock and the demand for domestic consumption is small will have a tendency to prolong

The contracts for coal for lake shipment will cause the greatest trouble. The bulk of these contracts are held by Pittsburg operators, but the Ohio operators also have a fair share. The Ohio operators have not yet held a conference to consider the matter, but are considerably worried.

While they say the strike is ill timed and likely to fizzle out they will close down their mines for a short time at least until they can determine how general the suspension is. A partial suspension only in the Pittsburg district would be ruinous to their business should the Ohio miners refuse to work.

The Situation In the Pittsburg District.

Pittsburg, July 6.-The coal miners' strike is now on. The success of the depends on the miners in the Pittsburg district. If they fail to refrain from working, the movement will be a fail-

A strong effort is being made to get the co-operation of the river miners in the fight. If they work, they can cut quite a figure in supplying coal, as fuel for local points can all be supplied by water routes.

The operators are making no effort to conciliate the miners. Not an operator can be found who will not say that the miners are entitled to what they demand, 69 cents a ton. No effort will be made to operate the mines, unless it should be the river miners; hence, no trouble is anticipated.

Great apprehension is felt as to what course the vast number of foreigners will take in the strike. They do not conform to the customs of the American speaking miner, and the latter has very little influence over him.

One of the points made by the operators is that more mining companies have gone into the hands of the sheriff this year than during any year in the history of the trade. "There are too many mines," said Patrick Dolan, "not too many miners. It is the surplus of operators that causes such sufferings and low wages."

The question of securing sustenance for the vast army of idle men is the most serious question confronting the official who are managing the strike.

President Knight's Statement.

Terre Haute, Ind., July 6.-President Knight of the United Mine Workers of Indiana says he is convinced that practically all of the miners in the state will join in the strike. He thinks the block men will strike for the fact that those at the meeting Saturday were representative men from every part of the country.

President Knight says the present strike is little else than a fight against starvation. "One miner in the northern part of our field told me," said Mr. Knight, "that he had drawn $8.50 for the past two months' work. He had had four pay days in that time. His highest was $2.50 for two weeks, and lowest $1.60. With this amount he was forced to try to keep himself and his family from hunger. Does anybody think he could do it?"

Mr. Knight says the Columbus report to the effect that 375,000 men will be involved in the strike is a gross exaggeration. He estimates that the total number of miners who will be idle will be between 110,000 and 125,000. His figures are as follows: In Pennsylvania, 22,000; Ohio, 25,000; Indiana, 8,000; West Virginia, 20,000, and Illinois, 35,000. This makes a total ALLIGATORS AT A BAPTIZING

Saurians Viciously Attack a Party of No gro Baptists.

Sanford, Fla., July 6.—A funny story was related here by a party of fishermen from up the river, relating to the attack made upon a party of negro baptizers by an alligator while the minister was immersing his converts.

According to their account, a colored Baptist preacher and his flock had gone to the St. John river some miles above here and had arranged for a baptism of many converts. Suddenly, while in the middle of the ceremonies, several big alligators came dashing into their midst. The minister was seized and dragged down, as were also several of the converts.

The negro converts shrieked and yelled, while the people on the banks shouted in reply. The converts were all clothed in flimsy white gowns, which gave way readily, and as the alligators had seized these instead of their arms or legs they soon got away. As they escaped they rushed frantically toward the shore, the alligators cavorting in among them and causing a great amount of excitement and fear. The minister was seized a second time and dragged under, when some of his breth-ren, armed with clubs, went to his aid.

They pummeled the big gator until finally one of them was seized. Things began to look squally for the preacher and his converts, when the fishermen's opportune arrival turned the tide. They fired at the alligators, killing two, and enabling the frightened negroes to escape to the shore. There were in a pitiful plight, their gowns torn to pieces, while some were badly bitten by the vicious reptiles. The minister and one old deacon fared the worst, being hurt quite badly. The fishermen state that the trouble was caused by a lot of dogs that were with the party barking and fighting, which caused the saurians to come out. They also state that they think the alligators were breeding and that they were in a dangerous state. It has caused much excitement here as being some-

Captain Ward at once ordered three patrolmen stationed at either end of the bridge, while an officer in citizen's clothes was sent to watch at 196 Christie street, New York, where it was learned that Keeble lived. The officer remained there until 9 o'clock yesterday morning, when he returned to the bridge office.

Two hours later, Keeble, with three companions, left the Christie street address in a coach and drove to the Catherine street ferry, where they crossed over to Brooklyn, and from there went to the bridge entrance, paid their fare and proceeded slowly to the center of the span in the north roadway, when the coach stopped and the party alighted. Officer Thomas Grady, who was some distance away, saw Keeble climb to the top of the rail and, running to-ward him, shouted to him to stop. Before he could reach him, the man had taken the fatal leap, feet foremost. His body made two complete revolutions before it reached the surface. 140 feet below, where it struck with a splash, disappeared and was not seen afterward. The police arrested the driver of the coach, Antonio Montored, Dunbar Mc-Donald, Michael Kern and Walter Weed, the three others, also Lawrence Sprock of 81 East Fourth street, New York, and George Schuroth of 138 East Third street, New York, who had been stationed as lookouts to watch for the police. They were all taken up to the Bridge police station and locked up.

Keeble, it was learned, was formerly sergeant in Coxey's army four weeks ago a waiter in Dennett's Fourteenth street restaurant, when he left there to make preparations for the jump which he hoped would make him famous as a museum freak.

After the steer had succeeded in driving many persons to places of refuge it jumped into the canal at Hamilton avenue and swam to the rear entrance of the Trenton Iron company's works and entered the machine shop, where it made a bolt at several of the men, among whom was Foster. All the others got out of the way, but Foster was not quick enough. A young woman named Lottie Burchall, who saw Foster tossed, thought he was her father, and she fainted. The animal was finally lassoed and killed.

To Mr. King is due much of the credit for the excellent mail arrangements between this city and the United States.
