

Adult Education Program Commences September 28

The 1970-71 Adult Education Program will begin Sept. 28 to Dec. 3 and from Jan. 4 to May 27.

The program provides a unique opportunity for adults to complete their high school education in their spare time without cost.

Enfield is one of only 13 cities in Connecticut offering this adult High School Completion Program. Open to all Enfield adult residents, the program permits rapid completion of requirements for a well-rounded high school education. Those who complete the program successfully receive the Enfield Adult High School Diploma. Many who have completed the program have gone on to do successful work in technical school.

In commenting on the program, Joseph Scherr, Director of Adult Education, noted "We will be offering courses in many interesting areas, including English, mathematics, science, social studies, business, art, home economics and industrial arts."

"In addition to the opportunity for advanced education, we

Education Board Recognizes Union

The Enfield Assn. of Educational Secretaries will be the official bargaining agent for office staffs in the Enfield School system, according to the favorable vote of the Board of Education at its Tuesday night meeting.

Other action by the board is a new policy in regard to pre-school vaccination. Effective immediately children must be inoculated for measles, polio, and smallpox before entering school.

The board established another new policy, that of allowing a teacher, principal or school nurse to administer oral medication.

These awards are given for excellence in reporting municipal activities, and take into account general attractiveness, readability by the average citizen, and contribution to citizen understanding of local government.

Request For Downtown Walking Patrol Denied

Town Manager C. Samuel Kissinger has informed Mrs. Joan Pinkham, executive director of the Enfield Chamber of Commerce, that he is "regretfully" denying her request for a walking patrolman in the downtown Thompsonville area.

The request was made via a petition signed by several Main St. businessmen. Kissinger stated a comprehensive analysis and study was made by Police Chief Walter Skover and a review of all the overall factors involved was considered but because of the 34 square miles of town, and the size of the current workload, it is not possible to implement the request at this time.

A walking patrolman is an extremely costly method of police patrol, said Kissinger, adding it would require eight hours for the foot patrolman to cover his beat. He said he knows of no other town which utilizes this form of police protection. He also said the man in the cruiser car could cover the same

Teachers On Picket Line

Teachers are shown picketing outside the Somers High School Tuesday morning. It is reported 52 of the town's 92 teachers went on strike at the town's four schools. The Federation of Teachers voted "a no contract, no work" policy early last week.

Morin To Be Sentenced For Good Friday Multiple Murders Sept. 25

Joseph D. Morin of Enfield, pleaded guilty to four counts of second degree murder last Friday in Hartford County Superior Court.

Morin, 25, was charged with the Good Friday shooting deaths of four young residents of Enfield in an apartment on Lincoln Street.

The four victims, all shot in the head with a .22 cal. rifle, were Peter Donovan, 19, Linda Edmonds, 21, Paul Vasseur, 17, and Daniel Guertin, 18. All the victims were asleep in the apartment at the time of the shootings, which, according to Morin's alleged confession, occurred at about 4 a.m., March 27.

who had just sold his motorcycle. Following the slayings, Morin fled the apartment, hitch-hiked to Hartford and took a train to New York City. There, two days later, he surrendered himself to military authorities as being AWOL from the Navy. At the time of his surrender, he stated he had "just come off a bad LSD trip."

"Compassionate Man"

Democratic Senator Visits A Registered Republican

by E. A. MOKUS

Compassion is a word not frequently used in reference to political candidates. However, one local woman used the word several times during an interview last week in describing Senator Thomas Dodd.

Last Thursday, Dodd, an independent Democratic candidate for re-election to the U.S. Senate, was making a film clip for television at the Sound Art Studio in Newington. As all principal pals of movie films require the services of a make-up artist, Sen. Dodd needed one to cover his few, minor facial distractions. Assigned to attend to Dodd for the purpose was Mrs. Yolanda Tina of 5 Mitchell Dr., Enfield, a facial make-up specialist.

During the course of the movie making, Dodd and Mrs. Tina became involved in much conversation covering various subjects. She told him, among other things, that although she was a registered Republican, that she, nevertheless, always admired the senator and his activities in the U.S. Senate. She also told him about her father, 74-year-old Pat Verdiglio of 33 (Continued on Page 3)

ERA Meeting

The Enfield Redevelopment Agency will hold a meeting today at 4 p.m. in the conference room at Town Hall.

Teen Center Asks Sum From Town

The request for a $2,500 appropriation for the Teen Center, Tuesday of the Town Council at Tuesday night's meeting by the Advisory Board of the Teen Center, will be on the agenda of the Sept. 14 regular meeting of the Council.

Although the center had made money for three years, Michael Blaney, committee chairman, told the Council, during which it had donated $3400 for charitable purposes, it more recently ran into financial difficulties. Blaney ascribed its financial problems to the establishment of the coffee house requested by older teen agers, and established for them. The coffee house remained open but a few months and was finally closed by the advisory board because of lack of patronage. The coffee house was located in the Old Town Building at the junction of North Main and Pearl Sts.

Blaney said the center owes $1907 in outstanding bills. The $2500 appropriation would take of them, and the balance would be used as operating capital to keep the center going.

An offer by an unidentified Enfield woman appeared in last week's Press, to donate $112, representing one week of her salary, if other persons, businesses and the town, would contribute the balance of $3,000, which she thought necessary to keep the Teen Center operating.

Somers Education Board Will Not Negotiate Until Teacher Strike Ends

It is reported that the Somers town teachers went on strike Tuesday, despite a court injunction.

The general background leading to the strike was that, on March 2, the teachers, who then were members of the Somers Education Assn., held an election and voted to join the Somers Federation of Teachers as its bargaining agent.

The Somers Board of Education asked the new teacher's union to submit a list of its desires and on June 3, such a list was submitted. Henry M. Richardson, chairman of the Somers Board of Education said the submitted document consisted of 28 pages containing 70-odd items. He said that the document, being so voluminous, took the Board of Education until the end of August just to go through once.

He board asked the Federation of Teachers for more time to study the document, but without success. It then asked the state Board of Education for assistance to move negotiations along to reach an agreement.

In the meantime, as soon as the strike vote was taken, the Somers school board sought, and was granted, an injunction which was served on the teachers Tuesday night for disobeying the court order.

Richardson said the teacher's contract with the Somers Education Assn. is still binding. Although, he said the contract expired June 30, it contained a holdover clause with a maximum of six months. The Federation of Teachers disclaims the old SEA contract.

Richardson said the board voted Tuesday night to ask the State Board of Education to postpone its mediation attempt until the teachers end the strike and return to work. He also said a shorter counter proposal but containing all the essentials sought is being withheld. The state mediation meeting was to be held tomorrow.

Richardson said the injunction issued by the Superior Court in Hartford makes striking teachers liable to contempt of court. Somers Federation of Teachers may be liable to fines of $1,000 (Continued on Page 3)

Adams Claims Enfield Is In Middle Of Financial Crisis

John D. Adams, endorsed Democratic candidate for the 44th District legislative seat stated today, "Enfield today is in the middle of a financial crisis and it's going to get worse unless the 1971 General Assembly provides more money to help pay for our education."

"We have had two large property tax increases in the last two years and the taxpayers just can't keep going in that direction. The state of Connecticut must help us."

Adams stated, "A recent study by the Connecticut conference of mayors revealed the appalling fact that only one other state out of the 50 states taxes their local property owners more than we do in Connecticut. In other words, we get less aid from the state than practically every other state in the union."

"The study also reveals that the high property tax hits towns like Enfield the hardest," Adams continued. "For instance, the family with a $12,000 annual income pays in property taxes a percentage of income three times greater than that of a family with a $100,000 income. Also, a family with $5,000 annual income pays in property taxes a percentage of income 3 times greater than that of a family with $50,000 income and almost six times greater than that paid by a family with $100,000 income.

"As a bedroom town without a large industrial tax base, Enfield is coming up real short," said Adams. "Enfield is about the hardest hit in a state which hits its taxpayers at the local level harder than practically every other state in the union."

"Without representatives who fully understand this problem, and its implications, the next session of the legislature will probably do little to improve our plight. We must have more money to pay for our ever increasing school population. With my experience in government, I know I can help Enfield in this vital area," Adams concluded.

Schmid, Nigro Oppose Adams

W. William Schmid of 75 Heron Road and Sabath M. Nigro of 202 Hazard Avenue, have filed primary petitions for the Democratic nomination for the 44th Assembly District representative seat.

Schmid, a guidance counselor in the East Hartford public school system, has been vocally active in many town government affairs and has been an organizer of several civic groups.

Nigro, a teacher at Enfield High School and a member of the town Board of Education, lost the endorsement of the Democratic Town Committee to Town Atty. John Adams.

The law requires the petitioners to obtain the signatures of five per cent of the party's voters in the district or about 250 signatures. Schmid has obtained 400 signatures, while Nigro has about 500.

The primary will be held on Sept. 24 with the winner opposing Rosario T. Vella of Post Office Road in the November election. Vella is employed by the Connecticut Light & Power Co.

It was rumored that several came from school systems from outside Somers. However, Richardson said he did not recognize any pickets as strangers when he observed the lines.

on the four charges of first degree murder for which he was indicted, Morin's defense would have been under the influence of LSD and alcoholic beverages, when he fired the fatal shots.

The confessed killer will be sentenced on Sept. 25 by Judge Alva P. Loiselle following the completion of a pre-sentence report on the case. Under the law, second degree murder calls for mandatory life sentences. He will be eligible for parole in 20 years.

Lt. Frank Rzaasa and Detective Stephen Kleszewski of the Enfield Police Dept. comprised the joint murder investigation team. Through their work, Police Chief Walter Skower announced the day after the shootings that Morin was wanted for questioning in connection with the murders.

★ Visits Republican

Pleasant St., Enfield had also always been a Dodd admirer. She told the senator her father a World War II veteran, was presently in the Veteran's Administration Hospital in Newington, not so far from the Sound Art Studio, having suffered a serious stroke several months ago.

Because her father was an admirer of Sen Dodd, although he, too, was a registered Republican, Mrs. Tina asked the white-haired senator if he could possibly find time in his busy schedule to visit him in the VA hospital. She explained it would be good for his morale and it would be the realization of a long-standing ambition.

Dodd consulted his aide to ascertain if his schedule timetable would allow such a visit. When informed that it was a tight schedule and practically impossible to deviate from, Dodd told the aide to make the time.

Upon the conclusion of the movie making, the senator, his aide and Mrs. Tina departed from the movie studio in Dodd's limousine for the hospital.

Cemetery. The bearers were Robert Merriman Jr., Anthony Sylvia, Anthony Gurreiro, Frank Swol, Joseph Conlon and Samuel Albano.

On arriving there, the party went directly to Pat Verdiglio's room without fanfare. There, bedridden Pat Verdiglio was introduced to Sen. Dodd and the pair shook hands.

A few words were spoken and the senator was there only a few moments but those few moments meant a great deal to Mrs. Tina and a lifetime to Pat Verdiglio. The party left as unobstructively as it had arrived and misty eyes could be detected in everyone's faces, including the senator's.

Pat Verdiglio, who has since been transferred to the Mountview Convalescent Home in Windsor, served in the Army Transportation Corps during World War I, having seen action in France. He is a member of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He is also a member of the Marine Corps League by virtue of his son, Gunnery Sgt. Pat Verdiglio, Jr., being a member of the U.S. Marine Corps for the past 19 years.

Mrs. Tina, who is the associate director of Fashion 220 at 657 Enfield Street, is a former member of the Enfield Republican Town Committee, a past president of the local Women's Republican Club and is listed in the Community Leaders of America.

Mrs. Tina concluded, "Senator Dodd is a most compassionate man and I will remember his thoughtfulness forever."

Kissinger concluded "The five new officers that recently have been appointed and are now undergoing police training and schooling will commence their regular assignments on Sept. 13. These assignments are as follows: two are replacing vacancies now in existence; one is replacing the vacancy of a sergeant being made; and two are to be added to the night force for reinforcement of the patrol strength. Because of the increase in manpower, Chief Skower is reviewing the current beats and, hopefully, we shall be able to increase the police protection in the downtown Thompsonville area, as well as throughout our entire town. By revising the beats, several areas including the downtown Thompsonville area referred to in your petition, will receive twice the coverage it is presently receiving."

The nomination of Enfield for the New England contest came about as a result of the selection for an award in the judging within the state conducted by the University Institute for Public Service. One the winners have been selected from each state, they become eligible for the New England awards, held under the auspices of the New England Council in cooperation with the New England States and Municipal Finance Officers Association.

Award certificates will be presented this year during the annual conference of the New England States and Municipal Finance Officers Association at the Banner Lodge, Moodus, on Sept. 18.

cation when students present notes signed by a physician and a parent asking for the service. No action was taken on the matter of using part of the surplus returned to the Board by the Council, for bus transportation of students between secondary schools to encourage greater use of pool and science facilities. This use of part of the surplus was suggested by Maurice Smith, superintendent of schools.

No action was taken on the request of Our Lady of the Angels Academy to transport academy students living in Enfield. Such transportation would cost the town an additional $9,000, unless the OLA hours coincided with the public high school. The academy could not change its hours at this point, but will consider making such a change next year.

Local radio stations committed a booboo by announcing that Enfield schools would start on Wednesday, instead of Tuesday. The error in opening date caused some confusion according to Supt. Smith, otherwise opening day on Tuesday went smoothly.

Also, the Enfield Press will print the complete program in next week's issue.

TODAY'S CHUCKLE

A patient was brought to a psychiatrist by friends, who informed the doctor that the man was suffering from delusions that a huge fortune was awaiting him. He was expecting two letters which would give him details involving deeds to a rubber plantation in Sumatra and titles to some mines in South America.

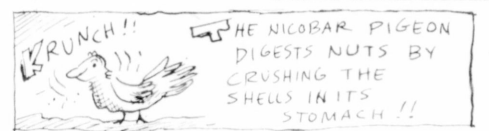

"It was a difficult case, and I worked hard on it," the psychiatrist told some colleagues. "And just when I had the man cured — the two letters arrived."

Ramblers To Open Season Against Windsor Sunday

The Enfield Ramblers will open their 1970 football season this Sunday against the Windsor Colts at Windsor with game time at 1:00 p. m.

Head Coach Fred Semanie commented that he "expects a tough game" from the Windsor eleven, and that if past performance is any indication the Windsor club will be a well drilled and highly disciplined team. He also added: "I expect we will have to give away a few pounds per man as this Rambler team, with the exception of a few boys, is small in size and short in experience in comparison with previous Rambler teams I've handled."

Assistant coaches Dom Zaccaro, Ray Flaherty, Lou Wilby, Tom Puleri and Carm Renna had a lot of praise this week for Mike Tarnowicz, Carmen Conte, Mike Rumore and Bob Dwyer on the A-team and Ernie Douville, Henry Marshall, Tom Semanie, Doug Saley and Bob Hughes for the B-team.

Head Coach Semanie commented that the boys were in top shape physically, have been hitting hard all week and added that "Win or lose we'll make Enfield proud of us Sunday."

When asked what type of offense he plans to use, Semanie stated he'll go with basic hard-nosed football — nothing fancy.

The Jaycee sponsored Ramblers play their home opener on Sunday, Sept. 20 at 1:00 p. m. at Powder Hollow Bowl in Hazardville against the Ellington Roadrunners. This game will be part of a double-header, with the Enfield Lancers meeting the Glastonbury Warriors.

The Enfield Jayces have announced that the midget football bumper stickers are now on sale and townspeople are urged to support this worthy cause.

Practices will continue to be held every night except Tuesday at 6:00 p. m. behind Enfield High School. Saturday practices will be announced by the coaching staff.

Feature Program At Speedway This Saturday

The drive toward the NAS-CAR National Modified Championship enters the stretch drive with the coming of autumn, and the Stafford Springs Motor Speedway management team of Bill Slater and Jack Arute are offering the "Yankee" contenders plenty of opportunity for collecting those important points.

Stafford enters the stretch drive Saturday night with a twin 25-lap feature program, complemented by the growing six-cylinder sportsman division. Action starts at 8:15.

The two hottest modified machines in the country will be on hand in the Garuti Brothers No. 14 driven by Ed Flemke of Southington, and the Sonny Kozela No. 15, wheeled by the current national pace-setter Fred DeSarro, of Hope Valley, R. I. Also on hand will be the 1970 version of "Mr. Consistency," Bernie Miller of Canastota, N. Y., currently chasing DeSarro in national point-making.

The track title will also be a hotly contested item in the following weeks as eastern Connecticut neighbors Moose Hewitt of Uncasville and Ed Yerrington of Ledyard do battle with the fast charging Flemke.

They'll all be after the lucrative $500 that goes with winning each of the 25-lap features, making Stafford the highest paying Saturday night NASCAR oval in the northeast.

According to Stafford General Manager Bill Slater, the half-mile oval will run throughout the month of September and possibly into October.

MOM IS HAPPY AGAIN

The moms of Enfield were very happy last Monday as they completed plans to send their little loved ones back to their teachers.

Dresses were ironed, pants were pressed, shoes were shined and, I'll bet, the water company noticed a surge of power as the little ones were all bathed well before being put to bed.

What does this have to do with sports? Not much we admit but we do have to deviate once in a while don't we? After all I am a happy father. I won't have to fix bikes as much, vacuum the swimming pool as much, or try to find things for the kids to do.

I really do believe that most of the children are just as happy to get back to school as we parents are to see them go. They have reached the point where they have done everything they can think of at least three times and are bored with life.

School is their life. They have many friends and activities at school as well as homework. The homework they may not like too well but it is needed. How else can I brush up on what I learned when I was a child. It seems that they start teaching kids things a lot earlier than they did in my day. By the time a kid finishes high school these days he could have qualified for a college degree back then. And that wasn't too long ago.

Some of the older kids won't like returning to school and of course they will probably miss most of it anyhow so it really doesn't matter. The boy or girl who skips school now may wonder some day why they can't get ahead in life later on and by the time they realize what the problem is, it will be too late. There are not too many of those anyhow so why worry, they don't.

Of course, some of you sportsmen will have to figure out which route to take to get to work as the school buses proceed to tie up the roadways. Try to pick a route where you won't run into any buses on the way to work. Of course it will take a while before you know what time the buses use certain routes. You can't go by last year's schedule either. The double sessions at the high school will cause some buses to run earlier or later as the case may be. We can only suggest that you try different routes until you come up with a winner. If you find a way to avoid them altogether let me in on the secret will you?

CAN PIRATES DO IT ????

It would seem to be the year of the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Cubs and Mets come up to challenge the league leaders, but always seem to fall back down again as they fail to maintain momentum.

The Cubs actually came up to tie the Pirates for the league lead. Then they met the Mets and were set back again. Monday night the Pirates still had their familiar two game lead over the Cubs and two and a half over the Mets.

The Yankees have gained ground on the Orioles in the last two or three weeks. Where they were eleven games behind a few weeks ago they are now only ten games behind. Detroit has moved up to where they are only 16 off the pace while the Red Sox are only 17 1/2 games out.

Baltimore is still the hottest club in either league or any division as they have a won lost percentage of .640. The Reds are 13 games ahead of their nearest rival but they only have a .638 percentage. The Twins are leading the American League West with a .596 mark and the Pirates are leading the National League East with a low .536. The Pirates are only 10 games ahead of the .500 mark. At one time that would place them about fourth in an eight team match. As it is, they are running third in the overall National League as the Reds are .638 and the Dodgers are .547. In the 24 teams in major league play the Pirates actually rank in eighth place at this stage of the game. Yet they have a chance to win all of the money. We shall see.

St. John At Enfield Lanes On Sept. 24

Jim St. John, twice World's Invitational Champion, who will appear at Enfield Lanes at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. on Sept. 24, is one of the 10 champions currently on a cross-country tour to promote the nation's most popular participant sport.

St. John, who captured back-to-back the World Invitational Championships in 1963 and 1964, will explain how proper techniques and properly fitted equipment can increase an amateur bowler's average.

The bowling star is a member of the nationwide "Cavalcade of Stars" program which features in-person appearances by 10 outstanding bowling champions at stores and bowling centers throughout the nation.

"We believe that the vast bowling public - which today numbers some 40 million men, women and youngsters - deserves the chance to meet the top pros of the sport and learn the fine points of the game from them," said Jack Reichert, vice president marketing for Brunswick's Bowling Division, which

Meskill Co-Sponsors "National Family Week"

Congressman Thomas J. Meskill has co-sponsored a Joint Resolution designating the week of Thanksgiving as "National Family Week."

Meskill commented, "The current unrest and dissatisfaction among the younger generation and the media's insistent emphasis on 'the generation gap' and 'alienated youth' accentuate the problems facing the family. I do not believe that our youth, however rebellious, honestly wish to witness the disintegration of the family unit."

"What can possibly replace this vital element of society? With the dissolution of the family goes the dissolution of society. We need to focus attention on the attributes of family life and work to promote a closer relationship between parents and children. Observing a week each year as 'National Family Week' would serve to concentrate attention on the importance of family loyalty and ties," the Connecticut legislator said.

The resolution states that "the family is the basic strength of any free and orderly society" and that "it is appropriate to honor the family as a unit essential to the well-being of the United States."

The President is authorized to issue a proclamation designating the week beginning on the Sunday preceding the fourth Thursday in November of each year as "National Family Week."

Ron Vogel of 34 Broadleaf Lane, Enfield, an SNET installer-repairman in the Windsor Locks-Enfield area, shows a copy of the new directory he will deliver when he installs new telephones. SNET starts distribution of the new directory this week.

New Telephone Books Now Being Delivered

Some 40,800 new telephones are now being delivered to residents and businesses in the Windsor Locks-Enfield area, according to Realtus E. McCuin, local Southern New England Telephone manager.

McCuin said the new telephone directory has a brand new cover that illustrates the Apollo II moon walk with the Saturn V rocket and the landing module in the background. The cover also shows the earth as seen from the moon. Many fascinating space facts are scattered through the white pages of the directory.

SNET reminds telephone users that the fastest way to find a number is to look it up in the directory. It's also a good idea to list frequently called numbers in the insert just inside the new directory's front cover.

A directory assistance operator by dialing 411. SNET has renamed information operators directory assistants to better describe their role in helping telephone customers use the directory.

McCuin said that calls for information about telephone numbers have shot up 71 per cent since 1960 to nearly 84 million in 1969. And about 70 per cent of the numbers requested are listed in current phone directories. He said that the rapid growth of unnecessary calls for directory assistance has contributed to increased operating costs and places a heavy burden on SNET's operators and equipment.

Great-grandparents are Mrs. Everett Carlton of Warehouse Point; Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Seavey of Storrs, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Nicodemus of Altoona, Pa. If grandparental indulgence means anything, young Kristina should have a wonderful childhood with nine grand and great-grandparents to spoil her. She has the largest number so far recorded in this column.

The Enfield Grange — presently occupying a renovated years ago — was the recipient of the All-Electric Building Award from the Connecticut Light and Power Co. It was announced by G. W. Russell, CL&P Northern Division Manager.

The award is the electric industry's highest honor and was presented to Joseph P. Smith Sr., Enfield Grange Master, by R. B. Russell, CL&P Division Sales Engineer, during a recent ceremony.

The two-story, 3,200-square-foot wooden structure uses electricity as the sole energy source for heating, cooking, and water heating.

Constructed in 1854 at the intersection of Routes 190 and 191 in Enfield, the original building housed the Scitico School where 19th century area youngsters in grades one through six learned their Three R's. The building was in continuous use as an elementary school for 100 years. In 1954, its students were transferred to a newer school facility in another part of town. Before becoming the headquarters for Enfield Grange No. 151 in 1966, the building was used intermittently as a meeting place by local religious, youth and community groups. One of the oldest Connecticut granges in continuous use, its charter dates back to 1899. The present membership totals 135 persons, including elderly, out-of-state members residing as far south as Florida, who still retain an active interest in this fraternal organization that remains dedicated to the betterment of America's farmers.

Craftmanship May Count Again

Guest Editorial
No law can protect consumers against what U.S. Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson calls a "crisis in craftsmanship." The declining quality of workmanship in today's products is, in a large part, a direct result of a disappearing breed of people — people who prided themselves on their skills and the decline in the quality of their ability to do a job well. As Secretary Hodgson puts it, the decline in the quality of

A Killing Handicap

Guest Editorial
Welfare, as everyone knows, is bankrupting communities all over the nation — and no one seems to be able to do anything about it. Some figures from a state welfare office in Massachusetts explain, at least in part, why the problem of welfare is getting out of control. According to the figures, a family of four on the Aid for Dependent Children program in Massachusetts enjoys a standard of living $1,275 a year higher than a family of the same size supported by an average wage earner. Including fringe benefits — free medical and dental care, tax relief, subsidized rent and mortgage payments, special insurance breaks — the family of four on welfare receives the equivalent of $7,671.55 a year. The average wage earner's family gets $6,396.00 a year. These figures from Massachusetts are very likely similar to figures for other states. No nation can live in

Cressotti Named Adams Manager

John D. Adams, Democratic endorsed candidate for the 44th District legislative seat, announced yesterday the appointment of Richard D. Cressotti of 18 Guild St. as his campaign manager.

Cressotti is chairman of the District One Democratic Town Committee and has long been active in community affairs. Recently he served as campaign manager for Mayor Frank Mancuso in his successful bid for re-election in District One.

In accepting the appointment, Cressotti said, "It's good to have a candidate of John's calibre endorsed by the Democratic Town Committee. Under our political system anyone can gather a few petitions, run in a primary and make statements to the press. But the people want a candidate like John Adams who will understand their problems, organize, fight and stay with them.

Cressotti further stressed that because of John Adams' experience as an assistant U.S. attorney and as town attorney for Enfield, he has worked with the police, the juvenile review board, the school administration, and in the area of redevelopment and industrial development. "I have found Adams to be exceptionally progressive and enthusiastic and have seen him put in many extra hours in helping Enfield to become one of the more progressive towns of Connecticut."

Cressotti concluded by saying that Adams is not the type to sit back and wait for the voters to ask him questions. "He is already carrying his campaign door-to-door and has already met many of the people in his

The state of Connecticut honored 33 Connecticut Air National Guardsmen for long service while the Air Force pinned the Air Force Commendation medals on three guardsmen at ceremonies at Otis Air Force Base Thursday, where the Air Guard is completing 15 days of training.

Maj. Gen. George V. Williams, commander of the 21st Division of the Aerospace Defense Command, presented the Air Force Commendation medals to Maj. Eugene F. Sullivan Jr., of 76 Brookview Rd., Windsor, for his outstanding performance as security police officer. CMSgt. Thomas G. Sivo Jr., of 150 Manchester St., Hartford, was awarded the medal for his outstanding achievement as Fire and Crash Chief.

The third Air Force Commendation medal was awarded to TSgt. Michael J. Ragazzo, of Woodhaven Dr., Avon. He was cited for distinguishing himself as non-commissioned officer in charge of fuel management at the Royal Air Force Alconbury base in England, where he was stationed with the U.S. Air Force earlier this year.

Maj. Gen. E. Donald Walsh, adjutant general of Connecticut, pinned state long service medals on the Connecticut Air Guardsmen who represented 575 years of service in the military.

The 750 man 103rd Fighter Group paraded to the music of an Air Force band in tribute to the honored airmen while F-102 Delta Daggers flew overhead.

Value Of State Produced Goods

The value of goods and services produced in Connecticut during the first quarter of 1970 was $350 million more than the goods and services produced in the preceding quarter, according to the State Development Commission.

The commission reports this gain in the gross state product (GSP) in the current issue of its business newsletter, "Development News."

Connecticut's GSP — the market value of all goods and services produced — was estimated at a record seasonally adjusted annual rate of $17,860,000,000. The figure for the previous three-month period (Oct. Dec., 1969) was $17,510,000,000.

Since inflation reduced the relative value by 1.4 per cent, the real increase was $100 million. This was derived from seasonal gains in industrial production, and expansion in non-manufacturing activities — especially in the service and finance areas.

The newsletter predicted there will be less extensive gains in GSP during the second and third quarters of 1970 when the figures become available for these periods, judging from the downward trends in specific areas of the economy. The first quarter figure, however, appears to have been unaffected by these trends.

The newsletter also focused on the following developments:

Residential construction in Connecticut decreased sharply in the January-May period of 1970, compared to the same period of 1969. The value of new housing contract awards amounted to $123,465,000. This is a 33.9 per cent decline from the figure recorded in the corresponding period of 1969.

The amount of installment credit outstanding in Connecticut at the end of May, 1970, was estimated at $563 million, an increase of 4.5 per cent over last year's figure for the same date. However, it is expected that because of the current slowdown in the state's economy the amount of new installment debt will decline in the coming months.

At the same time, the protection value of ordinary life insurance policies sold to Connecticut residents during the Jan. May period of 1970 exceeded $802 million — a new high for the period. This is an increase of 5.7 per cent over the $759 million recorded in the comparable period last year.

Harassing Phone Calls Are Illegal

SNET is informing its more than 90,000 business customers of a Federal Communications Commission notice which deals with abusive or harassing telephone calls made to collect debts.

The FCC notice indicates interstate telephone calling for the purpose of collecting claimed debts is on the rise and that the manner in which these calls are conducted may be violating phone company tariffs and criminal statutes.

According to the FCC some of the alleged practices include calling at odd hours of the day or night, repeated calls, calls asserting falsely that credit ratings will be hurt, calls to places of employment.

Although many of these calls are placed on a local basis, there is increasing indication that such improper practices also involve use of interstate tolls and Wide Area Telephone Service (WATS).

Tariffs of the telephone companies forbid use of the telephone "... for a call or calls, anonymous or otherwise, in a manner reasonably to be expected to frighten, abuse, torment, or harass another;" or for calls that "... interfere unreasonably with the use of service by one or more other customers;" or calls for "... unlawful purpose." Upon violation of any of these conditions the telephone company can, by written notice, discontinue service "forthwith."

PAGE 8B THE ENFIELD PRESS — THURSDAY, SEPT. 10, 1970

The FCC has asked all phone companies to notify users of the telephone service of the requirements of law and the penalties for failure to abide by the law. The FCC has also asked the telephone company to enforce the tariff which applies to this situation. SNET will include the notice in each business user's September phone bill.
