

Library Union Agent Claims Town Hall Is "Anti-Labor"

The current salary dispute between the Town of Enfield and local library employees grows more bitter with charges and counter-charges promising to make an amicable settlement difficult if not impossible.

Final Registration For Adults Will Be Held Tonight

Registration for Enfield Adult Education program will be held tonight from 7 to 9 at Enfield High School. Open to all adults above the age of 18, the program will offer a wide range of interesting courses.

Donald Powers, of Bogden & Powers, represents the town. Dominic J. Badolato, agent for Local 1029, American Federation of Municipal, County and State Employees, AFL-CIO, is representing the library workers.

Court Rules Against Town

Two local property owners who felt the Town of Enfield does not reimburse enough for sewer easements have won their cases in court. The Superior Court in Hartford awarded Herbert Carson, of 1152 Enfield St. $13,200 for an easement through his property from Route 5 to Bradlee's shopping center.

Mrs. Ella T. Grasso of Windsor Locks, Connecticut, Secretary of State officially opened her campaign for U. S. Representative for the 6th Congressional District, here Monday night.

Coates Against Jail In This Area

Thomas Coates, 7th Senatorial District candidate on the Republican ticket said Tuesday Northern Connecticut towns house enough non-taxpaying complexes without adding a county jail to the area.

dent Pro Tempore of the State Senate, Francis Pilch, chairman of the Democratic Town Committee and Mayor Frank Mancuso, attended the campaign kick off at the Suburban Enfield Mall.

"This official opening of my campaign for the 6th Congressional District seat is a particularly happy occasion because Enfield has always been my second home.

As the people of this community well know, I come to town every week, to shop, to visit old friends and to participate in the activities which make up Enfield's busy and lively calendar.

"I am always grateful to the people of Enfield for the help they have given during my campaigns for Secretary of the State, The Enfield Democratic Party and Chairman Frank Pilch were pillars of strength and encouragement as I sought the Democratic nomination for Congress. And tonight I have the pleasure of meeting with the co-ordinators who have volunteered their help as I seek the opportunity to represent the people of Enfield and the 6th Congressional District in the United States Congress.

"I am grateful for the appointment of Mayor Mancuso as chairman of co-ordinators. His hard work and dedication that transcends party lines have brought him immense respect from the people of this town.

"I anticipate a vigorous and positive local campaign in keeping with the programs which I have set forth and intend to support as the U.S. Representative from the 6th Congressional District."

Mrs. Grasso was born in Windsor Locks on May 10, 1919, the daughter of James and Marie Tambussi. She is a graduate of St. Mary's School in Windsor Locks and the Chaffee School in Windsor. She received

MacDougall Claims

New Somers Prison Building To Save Taxpayers $3 Million

State Commissioner of Correction Ellis C. MacDougall stated late Tuesday afternoon that relocation of the correctional institution from Syms St., in Hartford to Somers would save the state taxpayers over $3 million.

MacDougall said construction of the much needed facility on existing state property immediately north of the perimeter security fence of the maximum security prison in Somers would not only save the cost of purchasing land elsewhere, but would save duplicating services such as medical, food, psychological, vocational and educational programs.

In explaining the proposed plan, MacDougall and a member of the Press staff toured the proposed building site which is an extensive area of cleared, level land. MacDougall explained that the proposed plan would be to extend the main corridor from the present prison to the new facility outside the security fence. Upon completion of the building, the north fence would be torn down and extended to encompass the new building. MacDougall emphasized that there has not been a single escape from within the security fence since the prison was made operational in 1963. He also said the new building, wherever it is built, will be designed for inmates awaiting trial only. Sentenced prisoners would be housed elsewhere.

The commissioner, who has been in Connecticut two years, said for each month that new construction is delayed, the taxpayers face an increased building cost of 1 1/2 per cent above the $6.4 million allocation.

MacDougall also emphasized that released prisoners would not be "dumped" in Somers or Enfield. A bus service, which is now essentially in service, would carry the released man to the point of origin, which in the majority of cases would be Hartford. He said the service could be expanded to satisfy the needs of prisoners to visit with their attorneys and in order to meet the needs for family visits, a bus service could be introduced if public transportation doesn't become available.

Finally, MacDougall said the planning and study efforts face many problems, but he feels these problems will be solved by rational thinking and he plans to meet with local officials toward that end. He is asking the townspeople of both Somers and Enfield not to become emotional and jump to conclusions — to wait until the facts become available.

Schmid Is Strong Advocate Of Lowering Town's Taxes

W. William Schmid, candidate for the Democratic nomination for State representative from Enfield's 4th District, urged all registered Democrats to vote for the candidate of their choice at the Democratic primary today. The polls will be open from 12 noon until 8 p.m. at the Nathan Hale, Hazardville Memorial, the Enfield Street and the Parkman Schools.

"The right to vote and the privilege of the citizens to express their wishes is a vital part of our proud American heritage and it's the keystone of a free society," Schmid said. "The people at this primary have the opportunity to select the person they feel will best represent Enfield and the important consideration is that they go to the polls and express their belief regardless of whom they vote for."

"I have always felt," he continued, "that if the people have the facts they will make the right choice for the community and from my side I have tried to present my position during the campaign for their consideration and good judgment."

"One of the main planks in my platform," Schmid explained, "is that I believe and have confidence in the idea that taxes can be lowered in Enfield because as a working man I won't be able to afford a 100 mill tax rate which is most possible in the near future. I would bring about lowering taxes by having the state law permit a redistribution of state money for education without increased state taxes. Wealthy towns like East Hartford with a broad industrial base would receive less money than Enfield with little industry."

McCuin Announces Support Of Vella

Realtor McCuin, veteran Republican councilman, who has always been a top vote getter on the Republican side of the aisle, today wholeheartedly endorsed Rosario Vella, candidate for State Representative in the 4th District.

"I am most happy to support Rosario Vella for State Representative from the 4th District. 'Rosario understands Enfield's problems and will work diligently towards the solutions of these problems.'

"Enfield cannot and will not be taken for granted any longer. This may sound like the same old refrain, but I believe it is time for a change, and Rosario is the man who can make things happen," concluded McCuin.

"Also, taxing the prison land would be an excellent means of lowering local taxes. State taxes could be lowered by stopping the poor practice of borrowing. A more liberal investment of state money would also help in decreasing state taxes."

"Other parts of my platform include an operating community college in Enfield by 1971, opposition to a state jail in Enfield, more effective police protection, new approaches to the drug problem, work for specifically the pollution of the Connecticut River, a more realistic sewer and school construction policy and a study of traffic conditions in town and rest areas along Route 191," he said.

"It is my firm belief that with the proper leadership the local problems can be corrected," Schmid concluded, "and that the confidence of the community in itself can be reestablished."

Annual LWV Finance Drive Begins Sept. 28

A coffee hour on Sept. 28 at 9:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Clarence Cooper will kick off the Annual Finance Drive of the League of Women Voters of Enfield. The drive will be held during the week of Sept. 28 through Oct. 2. Members, working in teams, will be contacting prospective contributors.

The League is a national non-profit and nonpartisan organization dedicated to promoting informed and active participation of citizens in government. With elections near at hand, the League is busy preparing a nonpartisan summary sheet of the candidates and issues involved in the current campaign. A voter information table has been established in the main corridor of the Enfield Town Hall for the use of the public.

While members of the League pay dues, make contributions, and donate time in preparing materials, there are some expenses which the League cannot meet by itself. Therefore, public spirited citizens are asked for help. There are many in our community who recognize the essential service the Enfield League performs and are willing to contribute so that the work can continue.

She is real. She entered the news room of The Press last Wednesday afternoon just after the front page had been locked up for last Thursday's issue. She had a few hastily penciled notes in her hand, and a check, her weekly salary which she wished to donate to the town center here, formerly the In Spot, now renamed the Stone Balloon.

District Governor To Visit Rotary

District Governor Norman F. Savers of West Simsbury will visit the Enfield Rotary Club next Wednesday at its regular meeting at the Mountain Laurel.

Mystery Lady Repeats Challenge

Attractive and charming as she was, she was unsmilingly serious. She was the mystery lady who, two weeks earlier had issued a challenge to Enfield residents and business men to match her contribution of her weekly salary of $112 to the teen center. She was disappointed that little reaction had been noted.

She was told that Washington Irving Council, K of C, had voted to make the Stone Balloon its project, and was pleased. She frowned at the $2,500 appropriation made by the Town Council.

"My idea in making the challenge," she said, "was to involve 30 residents or business men in this effort to give their teen center back to our teenagers." Her challenge, as published in The Press, suggested that 30 persons make donations to equal hers, which would total slightly more than the $3,000 she thinks is needed for the teen center to be restored to healthy operating condition.

She passed her endorsed check to The Press publisher E. Payson Smith, with the request that this story be on the front page to attract the widest readership; and that "you do not reveal my identity at this time." She promised, however, when or if the

Harry Hietala
Retired Machinist

Harry Hietala of Broad Brook Rd., died here Saturday. Born in Hazardville on Feb. 26, 1910, he was the son of the late John E. and Hilda (Congas) Hietala. Mr. Hietala was retired from his employment as a machinist at Bauch Machine Tool Co. The survivors are a daughter, Mrs. James Celularo of Worcester; eight grandchildren; two sons, H. Jerome of Norfolk, Va., and Dwight J. Hietala of Sturbridge, Mass.; two sisters, Mrs. James Reardon of South Windsor, and Mrs. Anna Gudaszewski of Enfield; and four brothers: John Hietala of Newark, N.J., Anthony of Union, N.J., Franklin of Enfield, and Frederick Hietala of Hollywood, Calif. Services were conducted on Tuesday at the Somers Funeral Home by the Rev. Edward W. Johnson. Burial was in Hazardville Cemetery.

Dr. Leon M. Hilditch
Suffield's First Dentist

Dr. Leon M. Hilditch, 72 of Suffield and Point O' Woods Beach, South Lyme, died Saturday in Lawrence Memorial Hospital, New London. Dr. Hilditch was born in Enfield, but had lived in Suffield for most of his life. He was Suffield's first dentist, and a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania. He practiced from 1920 to 1957, when he retired. He is credited with having started the first dental clinic in Suffield. A member of the Second Baptist Church of Suffield, Dr. Hilditch was a past president of the Windsor Locks Rotary Club, and a charter member of Suffield Rotary. He was also a member of Doric Lodge AF & AB & in Enfield; Washington Chapter No. 1 of Hartford, the Sphinx Temple also in Hartford, and was an Army veteran of World War I. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Marian (Poust) Hilditch; a daughter, Mrs. Shirley Steitz of Manlius, N.Y.; a sister, Mrs. Clarence Sayles of Bradenton, Fla., and five grandchildren. The funeral was held Tuesday from the Nicholson Funeral Home with services in the Second Baptist Church. Burial was in Woodlawn Cemetery. Memorial donations may be made to the Suffield Emergency Aid Association.

Clement V. Dowd
Retired Colorist

Clement V. Dowd of 25 Church St., died Sunday in Mercy Hospital, Springfield. Born in Boston on June 26, 1893, he was the son of the late Dr. Michael J. and Margaret (Sullivan) Dowd. Mr. Dowd was a retired employee of Bigelow Sanford where he had been a colorist. He is survived by several cousins.

The funeral was held from the Leete Funeral Home yesterday morning with a Requiem High Mass in St. Patrick Church. Burial was in St. Patrick's King Street Cemetery.

Mrs. Valirus Kibbe Sr.
Former Sunday School Supt.

Mrs. Blanche Kibbe of Battle St., Somers, died Saturday in Alliance Medical Inns in Enfield. The widow of Valirus Kibbe Sr., she was born in Somers on March 12, 1884, daughter of the late Erwin D. and Bertha J. (Francis) Avery. For many years, Mrs. Kibbe had served as the superintendent of the Sunday School at the Somers Congregational Church. She leaves two daughters, Mrs. George Fraize of Hartford, and Mrs. Thomas Gordon of Somers; two sons, Valirus Kibbe of Somers and Gerald B. Kibbe of Oakville; a sister, Miss Mabelle Avery also of Somers; three grandchildren and nine great grandchildren. Services were conducted at the Somers Funeral Home on Tuesday by the Rev. John B. Knight. Burial was in the West Cemetery, Somers.

Mrs. John E. Tamashaitis
Born in Enfield

Mrs. Katherine E. (Petra) Tamashaitis of 8 John St., died Friday in Hartford Hospital. She was born in Enfield, on Jan. 30, 1916, and was the wife of Mr. John Tamashaitis, who survives. She leaves, in addition to her husband, a daughter, Lana, at home; a son, John E. Tamashaitis also at home; and a brother, Peter Petraakis of Suffield. The funeral was held Monday afternoon from the Browne Funeral Home with services at St. Nicholas Greek Orthodox Church, conducted by the Rev. Athanasios E. Chamberas. Burial was in the Thompsonville Cemetery, the following bearers serving: James McLaren, Peter Paulopoulos, George Pavlakis, Atty. Thomas Arventely, John Baccus and Alex Papafil.

(Continued from Page 1) "The fight against crime requires immediate measures including more police on the beat, expanded training facilities and higher pay. We must have vastly expanded centers for the treatment of drug addiction in addition to having programs of prevention built into our educational system," said the candidate. She added that "we must increase our efforts in the fight to eliminate poverty." Mrs. Grasso concluded saying "Only when such action has been taken will every citizen be afforded safety and protection. But such action must begin here with the individual citizen and here with the legislator. Working together, with maximum cooperation, we can get action we so desperately need." The hold-up in which Mullis was struck on the head by one of two masked bandits occurred Sept. 26.

At about 9:30 that evening, the two bandits approached a car in the parking lot of Mr. Food, occupied by Mrs. Roland Biathrow, the wife of the supermarket manager, and their two-year-old. The bandits at gunpoint ordered Mrs. Biathrow to get the store door opened. Mrs. Biathrow was forced to leave the car with the baby unattended. Her knock on the store door was answered by William Albert, the assistant manager, who expected only Mrs. Biathrow.

The bandits entered the store with Mrs. Biathrow and, at gunpoint, demanded the store's receipts from Mullis. When Mullis said he did not know where the money was, he was struck on the head with the butt of a pistol by one of the bandits. Biathrow appeared on the scene and relinquished $1,170. Mr. and Mrs. Biathrow, Mullis, Albert, and Chris Martin were then herded to the rear of the store and ordered into a walk in milk cooler where they were told to remain for five minutes, one gunman firing a shot into the ceiling for emphasis.

The bandits demanded the keys to Biathrow's car but Albert offered them the keys to his 1966 Dodge Dart GT because the Biathrow baby was in the manager's car. Biathrow said they remained in the unlocked cooler from three to five minutes before emerging to call police.

The Albert car was soon recovered by police near Smyth's Dairy Bar, a half mile west on Hazard Ave.

Police believe the two men who are responsible for the Mr. Food robbery are the same two who several weeks ago used the same method of entry and disguise to obtain several thousand dollars from Smyth's Dairy Bar. Lieut. Frank Rzasa, who is heading the investigation, said it is continuing and police have several suspects in mind.

★ Union Agent

(Continued from Page 1) dolato, "that the attitude toward labor in Enfield has changed since the present town manager came to town. It is my opinion that Mr. Kissinger and the majority of the Town Council are anti-labor." Town Manager Kissinger did not attend the meeting. He was on vacation and absent from town. He had rejected earlier, the recommendations made by the fact finder, Prof. Mark Leiserson, after the latter's study of the library salary situation.

Badolato, who is executive director of Connecticut Municipal Council No. 4, AFL-CIO, said he had received notice Friday that the union's charge of unfair labor practice will be heard at 1:30 p.m., Oct. 7, by the State Board of Labor Relations in Wethersfield.

"It appeared to us," said Badolato, "the town wasn't interested in resolving our differences and I charge the town with this fact. Powers was really trying to save dimes at the expense of the employees..."

Badolato and the workers' committee were critical also of Atty. John Adams, Enfield town counsel. A call was placed to Adams to discuss with him "our intention to amend the unfair labor practice charge with additional charges as the result of today's hearing," said Badolato. He continued: "He was not interested in talking with us at all. He is a candidate for the General Assembly and refused to discuss his position as a candidate."

"He had not informed the mayor and council that they would be included in the unfair labor practice charge, and for repeal of the pay plan which covered the library and town hall employees. He should have informed the town manager and council they would be in violation of the charter when they repealed the pay plan."

The town charter provides, explained the union agent, that it is the responsibility of the town manager to provide employees with a pay plan and orderly procedure to progress in their jobs. He pointed out that the offers made Friday by the town negotiators were less than the one originally offered. "We are amending our unfair labor charge to include all members of the council and the town attorney, and we are also charging them with not acting in good faith. They have reneged on a number of proposals that were agreed upon prior to our meeting today."

The town, at Friday's meeting, offered an increase of $400 for each employee. Badolato said "This was lower than was offered at our meeting on Sept. 8."

A member of the library workers' negotiating committee commented: "Just think. This all started a year ago." She was asked whether she agreed with their agent that the town was anti-labor. The answer was chorused, "We certainly do," by the several members present.

★ Mystery Lady

donations are received, she will make herself known.

She explained her great interest: "It was a brief note on the Press editorial page written by a teenager asking parents for help that prompted me to offer my pay check along with the challenge to others in town. I don't know what made me think that others, especially the businessmen, would rush to accept my challenge." She paused, then added very seriously: "I do know that now I find myself disenchanted with the people in Enfield who don't seem to give a damn!"

The Press is holding her check for later presentation to the Youth Advisory Board for the teens.

The letter that so affected her, appeared in Letters to the Editor, Aug. 6, issue of The Press. It follows:

"Dear Editor: If the parents of this town care about their children they will do something about getting the Enfield Teen Center back on its feet and get Mr. McKenna back. The Teen Center is needed to help the kids keep out of trouble and to keep them off the streets. This town is going to have trouble if they close down the Teen Center. We, the kids, need it and want it.

"I would like to thank Mr. McKenna for believing in us and for all the things he has done for us." The letter was signed: "A Patron of the In Spot."

The In Spot was paying its way even to acquiring a surplus until, in answer to demands by older teenagers, the Coffee House was established. The latter was closed very shortly because of lack of patronage. Then the In Spot found itself with liabilities of about $2,000 in unpaid bills. The $2,500 town appropriation will take care of those bills with a balance left for rehabilitation and running expenses of the Stone Balloon of less than $500.

Our mystery lady thinks that is not enough, and that the $3,000 she is advocating will be of great help in getting the teen center back on its feet with ready cash for future running expenses and perhaps improvements and programs.

The residents of Enfield have responded so generously in helping burned out families recently, it is hard to believe they will not support such a worthy project for their own sons and daughters.

Instead of 30 contributions of $112 each, The Press believes that 300 families, businessmen or individuals might more easily donate $10 each thus establishing a fund of $3,112, or 289 $10 donations amounting to $2,890 plus the mystery lady's $112, making a working capital for the center of $3,002.

Mrs. Stanley Knebel, chairman of the 15 member Youth Advisory Board which oversees the affairs of the teen center, said that the young folks had sadly missed their center when it was closed this summer. Mrs. Knebel said one youngster commented: "What a long summer. We had no place to go." The Stone Balloon reopened three weeks ago and since then has been well patronized by Enfield's teenagers.

When told about our unidentified caller, Mrs. Knebel exclaimed: "I didn't know there was such a person in Enfield!" Nor did we until her first challenge was submitted to The Press.

It would seem that the town's teenagers who are faced with temptations their parents never had to face, should be highly important to this community. All they ask is a place of their own under proper supervision, where they can meet, dance and have other programs. They established the In Spot themselves and it was well publicized throughout the State as an excellent example of what a well run teen center should be. The kids have shown that, with adult support, they can make a good teen center.

It seems they should be enthusiastically supported by every family in town with a teenager, or with children who some day will be teenagers, and by others who are interested in helping Enfield's youth to avoid the pitfalls that have trapped so many others of their generation. Or, as the mystery challenger said: don't the people of Enfield "give a damn"?

Home Safe Program Starts Second Year At Parkman School

The Home Safe program, instituted last year by the Edgar H. Parkman PTA, started operating again on the opening day of school, Sept. 8.

The Mark Twain PTA started a similar program last year. Noah Webster and Eli Whitney PTAs have asked for further information, following talks by Mrs. Edna Piscatello, Home Safe chairman.

All parents of children attending the Parkman School have received letters signed by this year's Home Safe chairman, who explains the program.

"This program is solely for the protection of our children between home and school," she wrote, adding, "Many times a youngster finds himself in a frightening situation resulting from an undesirable adult, bullies, a strange animal, or an accident. Our program provides homes along the way where a child may find refuge.

"The homes are marked by a small (5" x 5") red fluorescent card placed on the front storm door of the 'safe' homes."

Mrs. Piscatello went on to suggest that, "If you wish your child to receive aid from this program, please instruct him to go to the marked homes in an emergency."

Volunteers try to be home during the hours when children are going to and from school. Although the volunteers do not have specified duties, the committee relies on them to use their common sense for all are parents of one or more children.

"They will open their doors to children needing assistance, allow them to remain under their protection until the threat has passed and, if necessary, will contact the area captain who is familiar with the area and many of the people, and may be able to offer advice. If the problem is serious, as in the case of a child molester or accident, the volunteer will immediately call the police.

"If there is a persistent problem, such as bullying, the area captain will bring it to the attention of the Home Safe committee, and it will be presented by the chairman to the proper school authorities. As a last resort, the police will be called to assist."

Mrs. Piscatello writes further: "We are grateful for the co-operation of Mrs. Boscardin (school principal) and Chief Skower of the Enfield Police in this area. Thankfully, their services haven't been needed thus far."

The first year of the program ran smoothly, the few emergencies all minor. While most of last year's volunteers are manning their posts this year, still more help is needed. Mrs. Piscatello appeals to those mothers living in the Parkman School area, especially near the school itself and near intersections, to volunteer their services to the area captain or the chairman.

"With your cooperation, our children will travel to and from school safely again this year," is the final paragraph in her letter.

Miss Eileen Wojton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wojton of Enfield, became the bride of Mr. Basil Iwashyna of Easton, Pa., at a 1 p.m., ceremony performed Saturday in St. Adalbert Church by the Rev. Boleslaw Rarus, cousin of the bride.

Miss Joan Iwanicki was the maid of honor with Mrs. Nicholas Kurilko as the bridesmaid. Serving as best man was Thomas Wojton. Ushering duties were performed by Nicholas Kurilko, James Janrich and Ralph Noyce.

The reception was held at Chez Josef in Agawam, after which the bridal pair left for a wedding trip to Bermuda. Upon their return they will establish residence in Marlton, N.J.

The bride is employed in the Personnel Dept. of RCA in Cherry Hill, N.J. She was graduated from Cathedral High School in Springfield.

Mr. Iwashyna, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Iwashyna of Easton, Pa., is also with RCA in Cherry Hill as a production manager. He holds degrees, a BSEE from Lafayette College in Easton, and an MBA from Santa Clara University in Santa Clara, Calif.

Mrs. John Paul Nelson

Brooks-Nelson

Miss Kathleen Dianne Brooks and Mr. John Paul Nelson, both of Enfield, were united in marriage at a Low Wedding Mass, Saturday in St. Bernard Church by the Rev. Andrew Ventresca. The church was decorated with arrangements of white gladioli and pumpkins, and traditional wedding music was provided by Organist Helen Jamrogowicz.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Brooks of 167 Maple St., was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white silk organza with high-rise bodice and neckline, sheer bishop sleeves, a line skirt and detachable cathedral train. Bands of Venice lace accented bodice, cuffs, hemline, and edges of train. Her tiered veil of illusion was arranged to a half hat of matching lace, and she carried a bouquet of mini carnations and stephanotis with purple velvet, rose and orchid streamers.

Miss Lynne Brooks, her sister, was the maid of honor. An other sister, Mrs. Richard Collins, and Mrs. Thomas Downes were the bridesmaids.

The bridesmaids wore gowns of purple crepe identical in style to that of the honor attendant whose gown was orchid. The latter's bouquet was of purple carnations, purple roses and stephanotis. The bridesmaids were of orchid carnations and purple roses.

John L. Nelson, cousin of the bridegroom, served as the best man. The ushers were Joseph Wolodko and Richard Gorman.

The wedding reception was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Somers where 160 guests signed the guest register. The couple left from there for a honeymoon at Pompano Beach, Fla. The bride wearing a forest green knit pantsuit with white trim and belted tunic. The bride is a statistical clerk

Teachers Plan Social For Parents

A "Get Acquainted Social" will be held at the Enfield Street School for all parents of Kindergarten and First Grade children on Tuesday, Sept. 29, from 7 to 9 p.m.

School principal Carmen Scavotto will welcome the parents in the auditorium and will show slides of kindergarten classroom activities. Parents will then go to their child's classroom where the teacher will discuss the curriculum and the school activities with parents.

Refreshments will be served by the executive board of the PTA. Board members are: President, Mrs. Thomas Wutka; vice president, Mrs. Gerald Adams; secretary, Mrs. Robert Haven; treasurer, Mrs. Fred Bajak; hospitality, Mrs. Allen Currie and Mrs. Robert E. Cummings.

ings; library, Mrs. William E. Mullen; membership, Mrs. Michael Tracey; program, Mrs. John C. Moran and Mrs. Robert C. Walters; publicity, Mrs. Charles Dougan; ways and means, Mrs. William Olschafskie.

At the PTA meeting on Sept. 17, the parents voted to begin the Block Mothers Safety Program. The parents also voted to approve the goals for the new year presented to them by the executive board. These goals are to contribute once again to the Enfield Scholarship Fund; to purchase additional record players for classrooms; to purchase drug educational material and work closely with the Drug Council, and to purchase indoor games for the children.

Library Programs Announced

Registration for Enfield Central Library pre-school story hours and book clubs will take place in the children's department at the library on Monday, Sept. 28 from 9 a.m. until 8 p.m.; Tuesday, Sept. 29 from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. Thereafter, registrations coming in will be placed on a waiting list.

Storyhour programs will commence on Oct. 6, 7 and 8. Pre-school classes are planned on Tuesday and Thursday for four-year-olds and Wednesday for three-year-olds. Only children who do not attend nursery school elsewhere are eligible at this time. However, any mother may put her child's name on a waiting list and when openings occur later they will be called.

The main purpose for pre-school storyhours is an introduction to group activities; developing listening habits, presenting new stories as well as old; playing games, and enjoying filmstrips on some of the very best of children's books.

Parents who wish to register for Book Clubs at the Pearl St. Branch Library, or Hazardville Branch, must do so at those libraries only.

There will be no book club at Central Library until November. However, registrations will be accepted and students will be called.

Winter activities will include Christmas workshops. Another series of movies will commence in January.

They Too, Gave

Another quartet of Enfield youngsters did their bit for the Jimmy Fund last week. Tom and Geri Walton of 28 Webster Rd., and Judy and David Fortune of 41 Webster Rd., held a backyard carnival and gave all the proceeds to the Jimmy Fund.

Instead of carrying their donation to the police station, they modestly slipped it into the Jimmy Fund container on the counter of the Riverview Dairy Bar on Hazard Ave., in Scitico.

Someone tipped The Press. Otherwise, few would have known that they, too, helped some less fortunate youngsters.

Volunteers Needed For Day Care Center

The Day Care Center, located at the United Methodist Church of Hazardville, will open shortly and has a need for volunteers to complete the program.

The volunteers will help in all phases of the program and a rich rewarding experience is promised to anyone with a few hours a week to spare.

High school students are welcome. Those interested may call Mrs. Donald McCord at 749-6889 for more information.

Jaycee Wives Hold First Social Event

The first social event of the season for the Jaycee Wives, was a "Get Acquainted Tea," held on Sunday at the home of Mrs. Richard Pederzani.

This annual event was sponsored by the executive board of the Wives, with Mrs. Joseph Weber, newly-elected president, present to greet the new members and to renew old acquaintances.

A lovely floral centerpiece, which accented the table was donated by Enfield Gardens.

Bible Study Freshman

Miss Kathleen Graham, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graham, 163 Brainard Rd., has enrolled as a freshman at Lancaster School of the Bible, 835 Bluegrass Rd., Lancaster, Pa. Miss Graham is taking the Bible - Christian Education course.

New officers of St. Bernard's Rosary Guild, and spiritual adviser: From left, Mrs. William Egan, vice president; Father Fitzmaurice, adviser; Mrs. William Chickosky, president; Mrs. Marilyn Kriss, treasurer; and Mrs. John Mulhern, secretary.

Rosary Guild Program Announced

The officers and committees of St. Bernard's Rosary Guild are in full swing for the coming year. The annual Silver Membership tea was held on Wednesday, Sept. 16, with Mrs. Thomas O'Connell and Mrs. Thomas Olyncis as pourers.

A surprise announcement by Mrs. William Egan, Ways and Means Chairman, highlighted the evening. On Saturday evening, Oct. 24, a Roaring Twenties Night will be held in the church hall, depicting the life and fun of those days. The public will be invited.

Other plans of the committee consist of: two bake sales—the first scheduled for this Sunday, after all the Masses at the church. The other will be in the early spring. A tag sale will be held in March at St. Bernard's Cheverus Hall. Also, during the coming year, members will be selling personal calendar secretaries and stationery note paper.

Mrs. William Chickosky, president, announced the following coming events: A dinner-dance to be held at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Somers on March 6. A theater party to see "The Man from LaMancha," in New York City on Oct. 31. For further information Mrs. John Shaughnessy, 749-6444, may be called.

Programs for the year are arranged by chairman Mrs. Thomas O'Connell and co-chairman Mrs. Robert Rauschenbach are scheduled for the meetings, as follows:

October: A pot luck supper with Rev. Fr. McGarrity, CSSR as speaker. November: Holly Workshop with demonstrator, Joan Levitan. December brings the annual Christmas party with The Melodie Bells—Golden Agers of Springfield, providing the entertainment. February: A fashion show. March: St. Patrick's Day Party, entertainment provided by the Rosemary Staunton School of Irish Dance. April: Election of officers and speaker, Rev. Fr. A. Ventresca. May 19: annual installation banquet at the Willow Glen in East Longmeadow.

Members are asked to donate baked goods for the Bake Sale, this Sunday at the church.

Socially Yours Bake Sale Sat.

Socially Yours women's club will sponsor a bake sale this Saturday, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the New Stop & Shop.

Featured baked goods will be pies, cakes, brownies and breads.

Chairmen for the bake sale are Mrs. Alexander Greco and Mrs. George Hutcheon.

Speakers Club Starts Season

Enfield Speakers Club began its 33rd season of meetings last night at the Mt. Laurel Restaurant. Dinner preceded the meeting at 6:30 sharp, with the program at 8.

This club is not a professional group but develops speakers on a professional level if they have the need or are interested. The club is seeking a limited number of new members. Interested persons are urged to attend the meetings. Format utilizes a coaching approach instead of critics this year, on an experimental basis.

A series of lessons following the dinner hour was conducted. They covered: How to Approach and Leave the Podium; Effective Speech Style's; Methods of Holding Attention; Evaluation of Speakers by Audience; Voice and Delivery; Principles of Gestures; Development of Poise and Confidence.

Guest coach for the first meeting was the Rev. Andrew Ventresca, past judge of the annual Speakers Assn. contest. Toastmaster was John Zdebski.

Officers for the coming year are: President, Mrs. Edward Volungas; 1st vice president, Mrs. John Zdebski; 2nd vice president, Thomas Moriarty; recording secretary, Miss Margaret Sferazza; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Lennox Lumsden; and assistant corresponding secretary, Mrs. David Shaffer.

Mrs. Louis Huffmire Re-elected President By Grace S. Spence

Mrs. Louis Huffmire of Warehouse Point has been re-elected to another year as president of Xi Phi Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi sorority. Xi Phi celebrated its second birthday this month. It was founded by Mrs. Jack VanKirk of Windsor and claims members from the Windsor and Enfield areas. It is an Exemplar degree chapter which is the third degree in Beta Sigma Phi. Xi Phi is one of 8,000 chapters in the international sorority and places among 67 Connecticut chapters.

Mrs. Huffmire will be assisted by Mrs. Edward Spence, vice president; Mrs. Frank Kahun, treasurer; Mrs. Peter Purrrington, recording secretary; and Mrs. John Vandervanter, corresponding secretary.

The following chairmen were announced at the opening meeting: Mrs. Leo Griffith, ways and means; Mrs. Vandervanter, program; Mrs. Spence, membership; Mrs. Wilfred Rupp, social; Mrs. Joseph Blanchard, service; Mrs. George Naylor, special services; and Mrs. VanKirk, historian.

Mrs. Huffmire, originally of Norfolk, Va., was educated in Albany, N. Y. She was graduated from Vincentian Institute and Albany Business College. She received a secretarial degree from the college and was employed as supervisor of the secretarial department at Employers Mutual Insurance Company in Albany for six years.

She was initially pledged into Beta Sigma Phi sorority in April, 1962, as a member of Xi Gamma chapter in Manchester, Conn. She transferred into Thompsonville Beta Iota and later became a charter member of Xi Phi chapter. She held the offices of secretary and vice president before being elected as president and has served on various committees, chairing the ways and means committee. She received the highest chapter award of "Girl of the Year" last spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Huffmire live in Red Trailer Park and have one son, Jeffrey who is six years old. They also own a traveling trailer and spend all their weekends and vacation time camping throughout the state, New England and the country. They are members of the New England Campers Association and the local Tobacco Valley chapter. When they are not camping, Mrs. Huffmire also enjoys liquid embroidery and knitting.

The next chapter meeting for Xi Phi members will be on Thursday, Oct. 1, at the home of Mrs. Loren Gamache, Arlington Rd., Windsor Locks.

Have you been especially kind to Fido or Jessie or Rover this week? It's National Dog Week all over and the pooches — most of them — never had it so good.

I haven't owned a dog since I came to Springfield, 20 years back, but now I'm sort of looking for one. My first preference would be for a German Shepherd, but I keep remembering how they shed their soft underhair which gets into everything and sticks to rugs and clothing like burdock burs.

I've thought of a Doberman, short haired, excellent guardian and watchdog. They run in two strains, a breeder told me once, a short tempered meanie and a good tempered strain. "And you're lucky if you get the good tempered one."

Then, there's the Airdale, a thoroughly good all around companion, will tackle a lion if he finds one; good watchdog and companion. Only trouble there is when one pats him it's like patting one of those stiff coconut mats. Ditto for a Standard Schnauzer.

I'd like a Bassett for the pure joy of watching him waddle around. Maybe he's good for a lot of things but I can't imagine what — and wait until the Bassett hound fanciers read that. But he's comical with his sad-eyed expression and his deliberate bowlegged movements.

Let's see — in my lifetime I've had a number of dogs. The first, in babyhood, was an ugly mastiff, Max, who allowed no one near him but my Dad and his baby — me. The second was a family pet, Prince, who tried hard to be a fox hound. Prince specialized in running a flea resort and in stealing workmen's lunches.

Then came Snubby, a French bulldog who turned up her snubbed nose at my first cake baked as a bride.

And Pax (for the peace she never gave me) was the grand daughter of an international champion Apollo von Hünenstein. She was one of the first few German shepherds imported into this country and she stopped traffic when we exercised her, she was so like a wolf. She also was the one who never took time to go out a door when she could bang through a screened window.

After Pax, I had a splendid Alsatian sent me from Canada by a cousin who wanted to see how she would stack up with American-bred females in the Boston AKC show. She was jet black with tan eyebrows, exactly like a German shepherd except that her ears were longer and completely rounded at the top. She, too, was a show stopper.

Then, some years later, along came Bo and Buster and Tippy, all at once. Bo and Tippy were crossbred, shepherd and collie. Their mother, Daisy, was a purebred German Shepherd of loose morals. Buster was a gunshy English setter, a lovable pet not much good for anything. Bo was my pal. If you can imagine a big all tan German shepherd with one collie tulip ear, you can see Bo. He was the best dog I ever owned.

When I wrote about rabies recently and said that all dogs that froth at the mouth are not rabid, I was thinking of Bo. He often roamed far afield from our 19 acre farm and he must have done some terrier-work, digging into holes after game. On occasion Bo would streak for home and beg me to help him out of his difficulty. The first time he was really frothing. He had a piece of tree root jammed across the roof of his mouth and couldn't get his jaws closed. He didn't seem to learn for he came home several other times in the same predicament.

The one small dog I ever owned, except for the French bull that is, was a Manchester terrier, Prince Charles (what else for a name?) a pint-sized miniature of a jet black pony except he had paws instead of hooves. He pranced just like a show pony and small as he was, was the biggest pain in the neck I ever had. When folks came in, strangers or friends, he welcomed them vociferously in his high soprano. But when they left, it was a rout. He nipped the ankles of every departing guest without fail. I bought more nylons.

I farmed him out when I came to Springfield, and since then I've been patting other folks' dogs.

So here's to all dogs in this National Dog Week, from one of their best friends.

Fund Started For Fire Victims

A fund has been started by sympathetic residents for the benefit of the Gerard Desrosier family, who were burned out two weeks ago when their home at 14 Southwood Road caught fire.

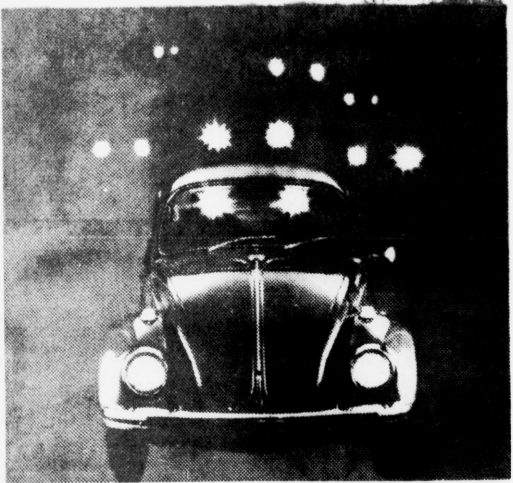

The disaster happened while Mr. Desrosier was a patient in Johnson Memorial Hospital where he had undergone surgery for a complicated removal of his appendix. He was discharged from the hospital on Sept. 16.

Because their home was so damaged by flames and smoke Mr. and Mrs. Desrosier are living temporarily at Dum's Motel. They have three children, a boy about six, a girl about four and an infant.

Mr. Desrosier has been active in community affairs and is a Scoutmaster.

Although the family's clothing was saved, their friends, in starting the fund believe it will help them to meet the unexpected expense of rehabilitation.

Contributions may be made to the fund at the Federal Savings & Loan on Enfield Street.

Sometimes we get the feeling we're being followed.

Everybody's tired of the fact
Everybody's making a small car.
And everybody's making more of them than any kind of car we've ever had. It's just a matter of time before we'll be driving over the hills and through the valleys of the world, and it's the only way to make an economy car as expensive as a Rolls-Royce.

Get the best of the best engineers in the business and the best of the best inspectors to keep them from cheating.

Next time you buy an engine that's not a gas pump, it's a car that'll run on jets of oil instead of gas. Great if you can get it to run on gasoline and water, fantastic.

Now, the only way to buy a car that'll last longer, like a good thing, is to buy a car that'll last longer, and a car that'll last longer, is to buy a car that'll last longer.

Important! Make sure you get service any year you need it. There's nothing worse than having something that's not at all what you need to make the car go any longer as a title.

Finally, spend less time worrying about what your car looks like and more time worrying about how it works.

Perfecting a good economy car is a very time-consuming business. So far it has consumed 25 years of our time.

Banker Heads Arthritis Appeal

Richard C. Pantall, president of the Arthritis Foundation's Connecticut Chapter, today announced the appointment of David H. Johnson of Suffield as chairman of the Chapter's 1970 Suffield Enfield area Arthritis Appeal.

David H. Johnson

Mr. Johnson, executive vice president of the Suffield Savings Bank, is serving his fourth year as campaign chairman. He will lead approximately 1,000 neighborhood volunteers in the towns of Enfield, Suffield, East Windsor, Windsor Locks, Ellington, Tolland and Vernon in the October drive.

Stressing the need for support of the annual Arthritis Appeal, Johnson said, "More than 9,000 people in this area suffer from arthritis - 3,600 in Enfield alone. Last year, people in the Enfield Suffield area contributed about $5,500 toward public education, research and clinical care programs for these victims. We are certainly grateful for this support. Yet this comes to little more than 50 cents per arthritic. If we want to continue these programs, we must equal or top this figure."

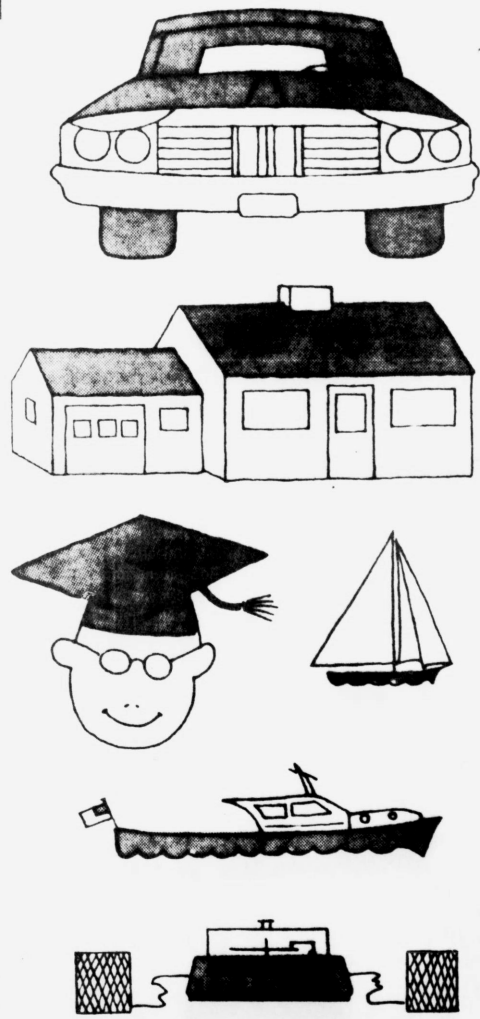

"Our door-to-door neighborhood volunteers will soon be marching, and I'm confident Enfield Suffield people will give as generously as in the past," Johnson continued. He noted returns will be made to John A. Washburn, assistant secretary, and assistant treasurer of the Suffield Savings Bank, who serves his fourth year as campaign treasurer.

"There is still no cure for arthritis," Johnson concluded, "but there is care, education and research that promises one day to find a cure. We in Connecticut must do our part to speed that day."

Church News

St. Patrick Church

Rev. Fr. Salvatore Papandrea, co-pastor of St. Patrick Church, and CCD, CYO Liturgy director, has released a special report to The Press which has also been made available to the parishioners of St. Patrick's as follows:

Special Report

Being responsible for our CYO CCD, and Liturgical programs of our parish, I will make periodic reports to you, our parishioners, to keep you informed about our programs, our needs, and the part all our parishioners may play in the life of our parish. Our tentative programs are as follows:

CCD (Confraternity of Christian Doctrine): Divisions:

Pre-school and first grade: (4, 5, 6 year olds) A special program to introduce our little children in the basic ideas of our religion, the emphasis being placed on the love God the Father had for us by sending Jesus, and the love we should have for each other to find happiness in this life and the next. Supervisor: Mary Gril 745-5979. Classes will be held Saturday mornings, from 9:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. in St. Joseph School. Children must be four years of age on Oct. 1, 1970.

Grade 2: First Communion class: same time, same place. Supervisors: Sister Sheila, Sister Edwina 745-5174.

Grade 3: First Confession class: Sister Karen - 745-5174. Grades 4-6: Supervisor: Mrs. Louis Scavotto. Classes same as above. 745-5275.

Grades 7-8: Special emphasis on Christian Involvement. Supervisor: Michael Reveruzzi 745-7277. Classes Monday evenings, 6:30 to 7:30 - St. Joseph School. Special effort to integrate Public School and Parochial School students in common projects.

CYO: Coordinators: John McInnis 745-6284, Sister Sheila, Sister Alta. Grade 9: Supervisor: Vincie Basile 745-6492; Grade 10: Supervisor: Fran Rago 745-6905; Grade 11: Sister Sheila 745-5174; Grade 12: Special marriage course: Mr. and Mrs. John Heffernan 745-2703.

Young adults: Special programs are in the formative stage for young people out of high school, but not in college.

Adult Education: Lectures, discussion clubs, seminars etc. are in the planning stage. Coordinators: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Knight 745-0949, Rita Mancini 745-4858.

Engaged Couples: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Balinskas 745-6654. Programs are in the planning stage for all married couples in the parish.

Senior citizens: In setting up these programs, the emphasis will be on the service of our young people toward the old, bridging the generation gap, and understanding each other to better serve each other.

Liturgy: Our organist is Walter Donahue. He is anxious to train young people to serve our parish in its liturgical life. If you can play the organ or the piano or know of anyone who fits into this category, please call the rectory and we will relay the message to Walter. Presently there are four young people in training in this very important aspect of our parish life.

Coordinators for Ushers: Will Fred Keller 745-3136 and Joe DiMaso 745-7984. We need more ushers! See Bulletin.

Coordinators for Commentators: Ernie Lagel 745-5262 - Arthur Fitzgibbons - 745-5041. We need more commentators.

We welcome any suggestions from any of our parishioners on any aspect of parish life. We are here to serve you. We will not know your needs unless you make them known to us. If you can be of any help in any of the above programs, please contact any of the above individuals. They are volunteering their talents and services to our parish. Please cooperate with them in any way you can. If you have any positive criticism please, in all charity, contact the person in charge or Father Papandrea. All information will be kept in the strictest confidence, and used to help foster love and affection and better service in our parish.

Congregational Church

The Junior High program of the Enfield Congregational Church will begin today, Thursday, at 6:30 p.m., with a grinder supper.

A get-acquainted evening is planned in which young people will learn of the program for this coming year and share in further planning. The evening will be over at 8:30 p.m. All Junior High young people of the church and their friends are welcome.

The Women's Study Group has made plans for its fall study program. They will meet Thursdays at 9:30 a.m. They will begin their study this session with "Facing Today's Demands - The Bible Speaks to Current Issues" by Joseph D. Ban.

All interested women are welcome. Babysitting is provided for a small fee.

All to the Good

by U. S. Senator Abe Ribicoff

Taxpayers are not getting their money's worth from federal consumer protection efforts.

It's time the product and the service are improved.

To begin with, there should be an independent agency to represent the public interest in major consumer issues affecting all Americans.

In addition, the consumer advocate at the White House - the job now held by Mrs. Virginia Knauer - should be strengthened and expanded.

Finally, the 39 separate federal agencies with consumer protection responsibilities should be better organized and coordinated so that overall policy can be enforced consistently and efficiently.

Nine separate departments administer the "Truth-In-Lending" law, for example, and three agencies handle the Fair Packaging and Labeling Act.

To improve the consumer protection product, I wrote legislation to establish an agency to represent consumers before the courts and public appeals and regulatory offices, to handle complaints, to promote product safety and publicize consumer information.

The measure calls for creation of a Council of Consumer Advisers at the White House.

Patterned after the Council of Economic Advisers, the consumer panel would absorb Mrs. Knauer's duties and coordinate federal consumer policy and resolve bureaucratic conflicts.

My legislation would then establish a consumer fraud division in the Justice Department.

Also provided for is a federal grant program to give aid to states and cities for consumer protection activities at the local level.

The bill won the approval of the Senate Executive Reorganization Subcommittee, which I chair. It is now before the full Senate Government Operations Committee.

In the House of Representatives, consumer affairs legislation similar to mine is in the House Rules Committee.

Differences between the House bill and mine are not significant and could be easily ironed out in a Senate-House Conference Committee.

If the Senate does not act by adjournment - October 15 is the proposed date for ending this Congress - I will reintroduce the bill next year.

I am confident that the Congress will adopt strong consumer legislation by this time next year.

Everybody's talking about consumerism.

"Consumerism". A very fashionable word nowadays. But it's easier said than lived up to. Frankly, we'd rather not spend our time talking about consumerism. We'd rather spend our time doing.

Just for the record, these are some of the things we've been doing, are doing and will do.

The Consumer Board of Directors. Once a month for the past three years, our top executives have met with a cross section of our customers to discuss mutual problems. We currently have four regional Consumer Boards. Sometimes the fur flies. Sometimes we get compliments. We can't always do everything everybody wants, but life isn't. We're listening.

Freshness code book. Nobody else we know of gives you one. This is a booklet you can take home that shows you how to read the codes on meat, mayonnaise, bread, dairy products, potato chips, etc. that tell us when to take them off our shelves. We know they're fresh, and we want you to know it, too.

Stop & Shop Bureau of Standards. Everything we sell under our own Stop & Shop label is constantly tested in our quality control laboratories. And we're tough on ourselves. In fact, outside experts tell us nobody in the country does a better job of quality control than our Bureau of Standards.

Stop Inspectors. We hire people to go around to every Stop & Shop market every week looking for something wrong. And then we hire a lot of other people to make sure they never find anything. Keeping everything spotless costs us a bundle. It's worth every penny.

Meskill States Position On Gun Control Laws

The following is a position paper concerning gun control legislation by Congressman Thomas J. Meskill:

"Some lawmakers seek gun-control laws to diminish the alarming increase in violent crimes. I do not believe this punitive gun-control legislation identifies the basic problems. I see society's crime problems stemming from our lack of enforcement of present laws already on the books.

"I support the current law that imposes a reasonable waiting period between the time of purchase of a hand gun and the time of delivery. It is time to use this waiting period. It is time to identify the criminal, the narcotics addict, the fugitive from justice, the juvenile delinquent and the mentally incompetent before a gun is put into their hands.

"I think severe, mandatory penalties for criminal misuse and theft of firearms would directly curb the number of crimes with guns. Using a firearm to commit a felony should be a federal crime. Mandatory jail sentences have kept Great Britain's firearm offenses to a minimum.

"Why penalize the responsible citizen, whether it be in the form of firearm registration or the licensing of firearm owners, when there is an alternative? I favor the pinpointing of potential criminals and the use of stiff penalties to deter crime.

"The Connecticut Sportsmen's Alliance is fighting the passage of a gun-control measure (the Daddario bill before the House of Representatives) that would greatly limit the individual rights of gun owners without necessarily grasping the criminal's gun. I join in support of this fight."

Masons Meet Tonight

Doric Lodge 94 will meet to night at 7:30 at the Masonic Temple on Pearl Street.

The Fellowcraft Degree will be conferred on apprentices by Senior Warden Everett Johnson. The J.D. Eli Koslovic will deliver the Middle Chamber Lecture.

Refreshments will follow.

St. Patrick's Youth Group Plans Dinner

Plans are underway by the St. Patrick's Parish Junior High Workshop for a spaghetti dinner to be held Monday, October 5, from 6:00 p. m. to 9:00 p. m. at St. Joseph's School Hall.

The planned dinner is another in a series of fund raising projects to raise money for the organization's activities. A bake sale was held recently and other programs will get underway in the near future.

Tickets for the dinner are available now from Michael Reveruzzi (745-7277) or Ellen Olschafskie (745-7830). Tickets are $1.75 per person and will also be sold at the door.

The support of the parishioners and townspeople will be greatly appreciated by this group of hard-working young men and women.

Girl Scouting

Marion Brodman 745-3921

Mrs. Joseph P. McManus, Girl Scout Community Association chairman, announces that there will be a meeting of all registered adults in the Enfield area on Sept. 24 (tonight) at 8, at the Connecticut Light and Power Co. building on Route 5. All are urged to attend so they may have the opportunity of meeting their new Field Director, Mrs. Donald Monro, who has had considerable experience in Girl Scouting and is presently a leader of a Cadette troop. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Each year our need for more adult volunteers goes on, year after year, in an effort to give Scouting to more girls and to keep existing troops alive, we appeal to you, ladies, for your help. Again we ask: "If you are a people person — we need someone like you as a Girl Scout volunteer."

Riverview Service Unit needs Junior level leaders in Parkman School area. In the Enfield St. School area, Junior and Cadette leaders are needed. The person to contact is Mrs. June Arrowsmith at 745-6232.

Brainard Service Unit needs Junior leaders, call Mrs. Howard Hanso at 745-8517.

Enwood Service Unit needs both Brownie and Junior leaders, call Mrs. Louis Densmore at 749-3091.

Shaker Service Unit is looking for Junior leaders in Hazardville center and Brownie leaders in the Redwing, Bobolink, Sandpiper, etc., area — call Mrs. Loyd Tarr at 749-9107.

While most troop activity is not yet off the ground for 1970-71, Cadette Troop 729, Brainard, has had its first camping trip. According to the troop's reporter, Ellen Welch, the girls spent last weekend at Camp Mary Deane Vreeland in East Hartland where they took advantage of the experience to meet requirements on the Campercraft badge. A highlight of the weekend was a race on raising of Round-up tents. This troop is led by Mrs. Michael Ferguson.

Riverview Service Unit announces the opening of a Uniform Exchange. Any Riverview Scout may exchange her outgrown uniform for another or her Brownie for a Junior, etc. It is hoped that uniforms no longer in use will be donated to get the Exchange in operation. Mrs. Irene Duquette, 50 Burnham St., 745-1273, is in charge of the exchange.

Connecticut Valley Girl Scout Council, too, is in the midst of an adult volunteer recruitment campaign. You may have seen our posters around town. Council needs people to fill jobs like: leaders, organizers, consultants, committee members. People with experience in preparing exhibits, people willing to distribute posters, people for short term jobs and MEN — men to help with day camps or to join the Ranger Corps at Timber Trails — so if you are this type of People Person... call 522-0163. Miss Green has a job for you.

Kotfila Registers At Mt. Herman

Among the 656 boys registering for the 89th academic year of Mount Hermon School was David A. Kotfila of 35 Bridge Lane, Enfield. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Kotfila.

Mount Hermon School, an independent secondary school for boys, was founded by evangelist Dwight L. Moody in 1881, and its sister school, Northfield School makes up the largest independent secondary school system under one board of trustees.

Kotfila is a sophomore at Mt. Hermon.

Las Vegas Night

John C. Koseian, Republican Town Chairman, announced that the Enfield Republican Town Committee will sponsor a "Las Vegas Night" Friday at 8 p.m. at the Armvets Hall on 25 High Street.

Donations are $3 per person. There will be free beer, buffet, prizes and games.

All people interested in meeting the candidates or taking part in the coming election are urged to attend.

Big Brothers Bowling Tournament Sunday

Big Brothers of Enfield will hold its annual bowling tournament this Sunday at 1:30 p.m. at the Enfield Plaza Bowling Center.

Big and Little Brothers have invited all officers and board members to bring their sons to join in the competition.

Bowling trophies will be awarded all winners plus a surprise gift to all Big and Little Brothers who attend the tournament.

Unit Pricing. Before there was unit pricing, back in 1967, there was Stop & Shop's famous Mini-Minder, our wallet size calculator that shows how to find the price per pound and per unit. Nowadays, we're working on making all this even easier, by marking the unit price right on the shelf. (By the way, you can still get a Mini-Minder. Ask for one at our Customer Services Window.)

Trash compaction. Not very glamorous, but very necessary, as America keeps producing more and more trash with less and less space to put it. We are committed to a program, wherever possible, to install huge compaction units that squeeze trash into the least possible space. But we are also working on new methods of separating recyclable items from trash.

Supplier support. We're working with our suppliers on ways to make sure outdated items are out of the store. We want everything to be fresh, and our suppliers can help.

Large economy size? Is the large economy size really an economy? At Stop & Shop, yes. At other stores, not always. As unit-pricing becomes more prevalent, you'll be able to spot the difference yourself.

Consumer's Day. On November 29, 1969, Stop & Shop got together prominent members of government, education, and civic authorities in a day-long discussion at a major university with 400 consumer group representatives on product, packaging and price issues relating to shopping. Again, we want our customers to talk. We listened. And so did our experts.

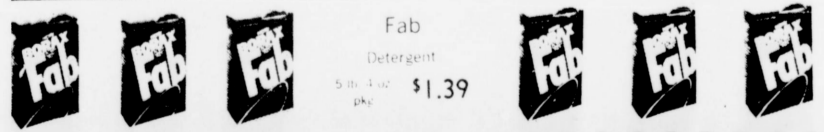

Open dating next? Now that we've revealed the date code, we're trying to get rid of it. We're working with the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture to see if we can't mark our goods with our suppliers to print a simple date on food packages for all to see and understand instead of a secret code.

The Phosphate story. For your guidance, we have signs in our washing department showing the phosphate content of every brand on our shelves.

Se habla espanol. In our stores in Spanish-speaking areas, we not only put signs in both Spanish and English, we make sure there are Spanish-speaking employees in these stores.

Vandals Do Their 'Thing'

The above photos show only a fraction of the damage recently caused by young vandals to a building in Powder Hollow. The three-story, 8-foot-long wooden structure is used as a warehouse by Plasticoid Products. The building contains 44 windows, not

rocks were thrown through the windows. The amount and size of the rocks indicate a group of big boys were involved. Robert Shoham of Plasticoid Products offers a $100 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the vandals.

The Army Green

When a member of the 4th Infantry Division's Medical Battalion "goes bananas," it's usually for a good reason.

Take the case of Pvt. First Class Tom Wisner. When the medics moved into their new quarters at Camp Radcliffe in Vietnam, the men noticed the area was pretty barren. Even the company commander commented that the place could use a little beautifying. Maybe a few banana trees scattered here and there? That was all the encouragement Pfc. Wisner needed. It seemed that his ideas on beautification were the same as his commander's. The word soon went around the battalion that if you wanted Pfc. Wisner, you had to search in the banana groves. His own search has been fruitful. To date he has planted 95 trees from three to ten feet tall.

Why so many bananas? "Well I like them," Pfc. Wisner explained as he looked over his grove of trees. He mopped his search and plant mission. Pfc. Wisner continued with his search and plant mission.

Medical Specialist Corps
One of the least known groups in the Army is the Army Medical Specialist Corps, a dedicated group of 600 men and women who serve as dietitians, occupational therapists and physical therapists at Army hospitals throughout the U.S. and the world. All members of the corps are officers.

If you are qualified in any of the three fields, you can come into the service as a first lieutenant, earning pay and allowances of more than $631 a month. For those of you still in college studying to be dietitians or occupational therapists, the Army has a special program through which you will month during your junior and senior years in college. Upon graduation, you would then go into the Army as a second lieutenant to do your internship or, in the case of occupational therapists, your clinical affiliation.

Facts About the Army
Did you know:
• That men are allowed to join the Army Nurse Corps? Today males make up almost 22 percent of the Corps.

• That American troops have been stationed on the land now occupied by the U.S. Military Academy at West Point since 1778? The Academy has been incorporated only since 1802.

Who Keeps the Guns Booming?
After a few weeks in the Army, the noise from the booming guns becomes just another part of the scene. After all, what would an Army be without its guns and ammunition?

That's a question which may never be answered because of the efforts of the Army's ammunition storage specialists. These soldiers, who receive the training in the most modern methods of ammunition storage and transportation, have one of the most crucial jobs on Uncle Sam's team.

They're the johnnies on the spot who make certain that each individual unit both in the States and overseas, has all the ammunition it needs.

"As Ben Franklin Said . . ." "Waste not, want not," which was one of Franklin's favorite proverbs, has become the watch word of the Army cooks stationed at Quan Loi, Vietnam. And it even applies to the garbage!

Dao Van Nhon, one of the villagers, has been chosen to raise pigs under the new government self-development program. The program included funds to be used for purchasing nine pigs and building the structures needed to house them.

Nhon made arrangements with the Army to pick up trash from two of the base mess halls. The program went fine until an unexpected population explosion raised the family from 9 to 20 and brought on a

Adams Advocates Annual Sessions For Legislature

Atty. John D. Adams, Democratic endorsed candidate for the 4th District legislative seat, said he feels that "like it or not, annual sessions of the legislature are a must."

Pointing to the state's financial difficulties, Adams said, "Any housewife or businessman in this state knows it's almost impossible to budget properly for two years at a time. The state is no exception. Its budget must be planned, adjusted, and where necessary, chartered as economic conditions change. This is impossible without annual sessions."
Adams went on to say that "The state's drug problems were virtually untouched by legislative action for a full year because of the lack of annual sessions."
Adams said he has discussed the need for annual sessions with many of the Democratic leaders in the legislature, and "Those that are most active in the legislature agree to this necessity for annual sessions."

Answering objections from those who contend that annual sessions would eliminate part-time legislature, Adams said, "A check of the voting records and legislative accomplishments of the state's representatives shows clearly that those who do the most are the ones who are the busiest outside the legislature."

Adams, who has already announced he will resign as Enfield Town Attorney if he is elected to the legislature, concluded by saying, "I am fully prepared to give whatever time it takes to get the job done. This has been my approach as Town Attorney, and I don't intend to change it if I'm elected to the legislature."

announced the opening of a new Prestige A&P Supermarket at 202 Suffield Village in Suffield. Suffield Village is situated just off Main St. and is ultra-modern in every respect, yet is extremely colonial in atmosphere.

The Prestige A&P Market is modern and up-to-date in every respect and consists of a very extensive service Meat Dept., a service Delicatessen Dept., which has a full and complete line of fresh salads, parfait gelatin desserts, cold meats such as boiled ham, baked ham, pressed ham, pastrami, roast beef, bologna, and many others, together with an outstanding variety of Chinese foods, egg rolls, chop suey, fried rice, and so forth.

The interior of this ultra prestige supermarket is furnished in barnboard, and offers an extremely interesting colonial atmosphere for the interior. Appropriately identified also in the store is the Produce Dept., the Bakery Dept., candy section, frozen food area, dairy area, and the store office which is designated as the "Courtesy Counter."

The store has a full cellar where products are prepared, and stored and is serviced from the basement to the first floor with an elevator installation. In addition to the deli department, the store also has a barbecue machine and a rotisserie area that keeps products warm while on display after being barbecued.

The store is managed by Edward Grassa of Agawam, former manager of the A&P Supermarket at 503 State Street. Grassa has been with the company for 23 years.

The manager of the Meat Dept. is Albereno Ciaschino, who has been with the company for 9 years as a meat department head in other locations. The manager of the produce department is Theodore Dynia, who has been with the company for 24 years.

This is a very spacious store and enjoys the latest designs in meat counters and has easy to reach produce and deli cases, as well as up-to-date frozen food facilities.

The store also enjoys a good area devoted to Health and Beauty Aids as well as stationery writing supplies and miscellaneous non-food items.

The store will open next Tuesday at 9 a.m. with appropriate ribbon cutting ceremonies.

Cub Scout Pack Plans Parents' Coffee Hour

A coffee hour will be held for parents tomorrow (Friday) of boys who are now in or would like to join Cub Scout Pack 19. It will be at the American Legion Hall on Enfield St., starting at 8 p.m.

The program for the coming year will be explained, including such activities as a field trip, the banquet, swimming program, and others. Registration and insurance fees of $2 for the coming year will be collected at the meeting.

There will also be an opportunity for parents to ask any questions they may have about the program and to make suggestions for improving it.

All parents who would like to learn about Cub Scouting with the possibility of their son joining Pack 19, are welcome at this meeting so please invite your friends and neighbors.
