Bercome made this statement in announcing plans and programs for the fourth annual observance to be coordinated statewide by volunteers of the Connecticut Division, American Society.

"Checkups for Life" is the 1971 theme. Cancer Education Week has received the endorsement of Connecticut Governor Thomas J. Meskill and area municipal authorities.

GOP Committee Endorses Seeley For District One Seat

Joseph J. Seeley of 18 Clear St. has been endorsed by the GOP Town Committee as the candidate for the office of Councilman from District 1. Accepting the nomination, Seeley said he felt, "We had reached a time for improvement and that we must treat old problems as new and challenging opportunities."

"I am not happy," said Seeley, "with the trend of our tax rate or of its probable increase in the near future." Seeley went on to say, "The Council and sewer authority should be separate functions in order to allow each to do the best possible job in fulfilling their responsibilities. In a town of 46,000, I am sure there are many people capable of serving in the capacity of sewer commissioners."

"I also feel there must be improved communications between the Council and the Board of Education to assure continued development of our educational programs."

In finalizing his position, Seeley pointed out that Enfield has reached that point in its growth where greater interest, activities and facilities for younger and older citizens must be given more serious consideration.

Seeley, 40, a native of New London, attended schools in New Haven. He received a B.S. Degree in Psychology and Sociology from Denison University, Granville, Ohio. A veteran of the U.S. Marine Corp., he has been employed by the Covenant Group Ins. Co. (formerly Mutual of Hartford) since 1961 and is presently Assistant Secretary, responsible for special product planning and development.

A resident of Enfield for 10 years, he has been active in many church and civic activities. In 1965, he was named "Outstanding Young Man in Enfield" by the Jaycees.

Seeley has 3 children. Joseph, Jr., a sophomore at Enfield High; Dorene, a 9th grade student at JFK School and Mrs. Joseph Silver of Enfield.

Hearing Held On Unit Pricing Law

Connecticut's new unit pricing law for consumers was debated for four hours last week at an open hearing, chaired by Commissioner Barbara Dunn of the Department of Consumer Protection, in the Hall of the House of the State Capitol.

The meeting, called to give industry spokesmen and consumers the chance to suggest ways in which to administer the new law provoking lengthy discussions on the problems faced in implementing the law.

A special advisory group, consisting of Rep. Rosario T. Vella of Enfield, 44th District; Attorney Allan Neiger, president of the Consumer Protection Association; Neil Courtney, executive director of Connecticut Food Stores; and Mrs. Delia Martines, instructor, Hartford Skill Center, assisted Commissioner Dunn with discussion from the floor.

Industry spokesmen pleaded for uniformity in the proliferating unit pricing laws. Representatives from chain stores and from food store wholesalers who are presently complying with unit pricing laws passed in New York City and Massachusetts asked to be allowed to use their present systems.

Sewer Referendum Vetoed By Voters

Four thousand, thirty-three voters out of nineteen thousand, two hundred, forty-nine electors on the registry list voted in Tuesday's $30 million sanitary sewer referendum and of the 4,033 to vote, 2,014 voted against it while 1,926 voted in favor of it.

The vote, by districts, is as follows:

District 1A, 231 yes, 219 no; District 1B, 572 yes, 373 no; District 2A, 62 yes, 116 no; Dis-

A survey yesterday of opinions of various town officials was unsuccessful, many of them saying it was too soon for comment — that the situation had to be evaluated before a statement could be issued. Of those interviewed, all had no comment to make and most appeared stunned at the defeat of the referendum.

Others interviewed did speak "off the record" asking that their names not be mentioned. They gave various personal reasons why the referendum was defeated. Some blamed the weather, others blamed the apathy of voters. One said it was defeated because of the lack of enough publicity while another felt the reason was because of an inconsistency of given fig-

Johnson Named Chairman Of 1971 Area Arthritic Appeal

Dr. Gideon K. deForest, president of the Connecticut Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation, today announced the appointment of David H. Johnson of N. Main St., Suffield as chairman of the Chapter's 1971 Enfield - Suffield Annual Appeal.

Tolland, Windsor Locks and Vernon during the October drive to combat arthritis.

Stressing the need for support of the annual Arthritis Appeal, Johnson said, "More than 12,500 people in this area suffer from arthritis — 4,200 live in Enfield alone. Last year the Enfield - Suffield people contributed $6,000 toward public and professional education, research and clinical care programs for arthritis victims. We are extremely grateful for this support. Yet, when this is aver-

Local school officials have adopted the following family size and income scale to assist them in determining eligibility. If the number in the family is 2, the maximum gross yearly income is $3200 or a monthly income of $267; if the family size is 3, the income is $3800 or a monthly sum of $317; this scale continues upward adding $600 to the gross yearly income for each additional member of the family and $50 to the monthly income.

Families falling within these scales or those suffering from unusual circumstances or hardships are urged to apply for free lunches for their children. They may do so by filling in the application forms sent home in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office. WAVES Offer 2 New Programs

The U. S. Navy announces the inauguration of two new programs open to qualified applicants for the WAVES.

The first, the Junior College Graduate Training Program, provides for the enlistment of college trained women with advanced pay grades and guarantees them training at a technical school selected from one of three categories; general medical and aviation.

The second, the Vocational School Graduate Training Program, guarantees a young woman with vocational training after high school assignment to a particular career field determined by her vocational specialty. Some of the fields include Electronics, Administration, Personnel, Data Processing, and Photography. General qualifications for enlistment in the Navy require that a young woman be 18 to 26 years of age, a high school graduate or equivalent, single without dependents, of good character, and able to pass a mental and physical examination.

Young ladies who would like to learn more about these and the many other opportunities available in today's modern Navy WAVES are asked to call or visit their local Navy recruiter, Owen P. Clewes, IC1 (SS), USN at the Enfield Post Office, Telephone No. 745-0294.

ures. Still another said it was because of the difference in the cost-per-foot frontage.

Previously the cost was $13.50 per foot while at this time the cost had risen to $17 per foot. Another major factor given by several persons interviewed was the fear that the present high tax rate of 17.5 mills would rise even though Town Manager C. Samuel Kissinger had reported the tax rate would not rise on a yearly basis but would rise only 4 mills over a twenty-year period — the life of the $30 million bond issue. The 4 mills quoted refers only to the sanitary sewer program — other factors not included.

Moderator of the referendum was Esther R. Hannum.

The theaters will be situated on the westerly end of the shopping center and will provide ample, illuminated parking for all theater patrons, as well as other shopping center patrons.

The twin auditoriums will permit flexibility of presenting two completely different film programs at all times, an innovation which has proven tremendously popular with movie goers throughout the country.

SBC Management Corporation operates some 40 indoor and drive-in theaters throughout New England and currently operates the Cinerama Theater, Hartford; Cine Webb, Wethersfield; and East Hartford and East Windsor Drive-In Theaters.

JMH Begins Phase II Of Fund Drive

Phase II of the Johnson Memorial Hospital Building Fund drive will begin Sept. 20, it was announced by Robert C. Boardman, administrator. At the start of summer, the $1.5 million drive had topped the one million dollar mark and presently stands at $1,030,327.

"The second phase of the campaign is aimed at seeing the drive reach the $1.5 million goal, following the slackening of the campaign activity during the summer months. It is hoped that the workers for the first phase will make themselves again available for the successful completion of the campaign. Various division chairmen and workers will be contacted shortly with the new drive plans," Boardman said.

According to the administrator, preliminary plans for the new hospital have been approved by the building committee and the architects will have working plans available within 60 days. The State Health and Planning Commission now is reviewing the project and approval is expected at any time.

Total cost of the new building is approximately $6 million. It will be located on Route 190 at the Somers-Stafford line.

The strict labeling requirements of the Massachusetts unit pricing law came under fire, however, Rep. Rosario T. Vella of Enfield agreed with industry spokesmen that Massachusetts' labels are hard to read. Representative Vella, the only legislative member of Commissioner Dunn's advisory group, spoke strongly for the education of the consumer in the use of unit pricing: "One standard sticker would be better to educate the consumer than many different stickers describing price per unit."

"We have an advantage," Representative Vella said. "We can learn by the mistakes of others." Representative Vella was a member of the General Law Committee where the unit pricing bill originated. The bill was signed into law by Governor Thomas J. Meskill July 15. It takes effect on Oct. 1, although implementation — price per unit labeling on each item — will not take place until the necessary regulations are adopted.

Gilbert Lebovitz of Hartford, Weicker's area field representative; Mrs. Andrea Uleiny, secretary in the Senator's Greenwich office; and Harold Yudain, his Connecticut press aide.

3 Week Daytime Schedule Begins Sunday At Stafford

Stafford Springs Motor Speedway will be the last New York State - New England area battleground in the struggle for the 1971 NASCAR national modified championship.

An overflow field is expected Sunday afternoon when the half-mile oval switches to a three week long daytime schedule. Stafford will host its second double pointer of the season on Sept. 26 and bring down the curtain on the 1971 campaign on Oct. 3.

The mini-midgets and the All-American Sportsman division will also be racing Sunday, action getting under way at 2 p.m. Racing Director Bill Slater has announced that every event will pay points for both the track and the national titles.

The national NASCAR point race has developed into a three-way affair as both Bugs Stevens and Bernie Miller are well within reach of current pace setter Jerry Cook. All three will be on hand at Stafford.

Stevens will be out to protect his track point leads as well, Leo Cleary and Hop Harrington both challenging the Rehoboth, Mass. veteran.

Others expected in hopes of improving their national point positions are defending champion Fred DeSarro, Dick Fowler, Dave Lape, Ray Sitterly, Ed Flemke, Billy Harman, Lou Austin and Cleary.

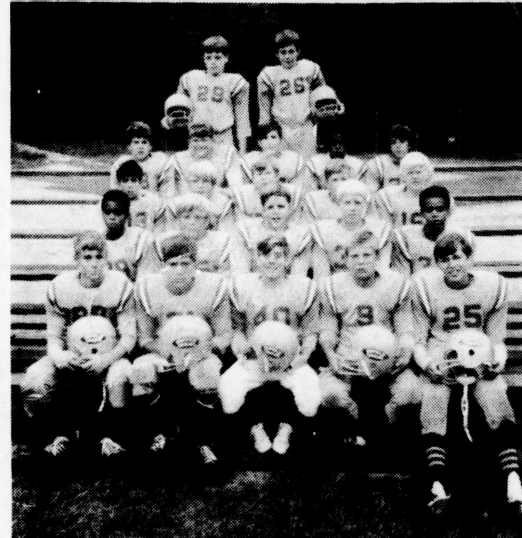

Gene Bergin, who won Labor Day's 200 in convincing style in the Bob Judkin's Pinto will be on hand and several Long Island drivers have also expressed interest.

The Sportsmen will be concerned with points as well, both Frank Walmsley and Gary Ryan still chasing the consistent Frankie Edwards in the point race.

EHS Raiders Open Season At East Hartford Saturday

The Enfield High School Raiders start their 1971 season by traveling to East Hartford Saturday to play a strong East Hartford High School team. Game time is 1:30 p.m. The field is located behind the school on Burnside Ave. Enfield will be led this year by co-captains Rich Fenton and Gary Racine.

With little time between the start of practices and the first game, head coach Joe Lamana scheduled three controlled scrimmages in seven days against Holyoke Catholic, West Side and Classical. Enfield won the first two easily but appeared flat in their win over Classical last Saturday. Coach Lamana attributes this to the exceptionally hard seven day grind and stated that had Classical been first, the margin of victory would have been greater.

In projection of the new season, Lamana stated he has eleven boys who will surprise some of the experts around the state but the replacements who could fill in and do the job are very few this year. Most of the starting eleven will have to go both ways and the percentages start to go adversely as the season progresses. Teams that field both offensive and defensive units run half the risk of injury per man. "We need a little luck in the health department", said Lamana, "but if we can stay away from the kind of injuries we had last year, I can promise an exciting and successful season. Rich Fenton is the kind of boy who can put it all together. With a quarterback who has his kind of talent, you are always in the ball game."

"Although we have only about twenty-five boys on our varsity squad", Coach Lamana remarked, "I have never had a better team spirit. These boys really want to play football to win and I mean everyone of them. I'm going to play as many kids as I can, as often as I can, because of this fine attitude."

"The problem in this C.D.C. Conference, which is the rough-est in Connecticut," continued

Lamana, "is that there are no breathers on the schedule — they are all tough games. Today we are the smallest high school in the league due to the opening of Fermi High School and these other schools just keep getting bigger."

East Hartford promises to be a good game and they are quoted by their coaching staff as having a "tough offensive line with good players in every position."

The Raiders coaching staff also consists of Jim Murphy, who is currently the starting center for our local professionals — the Hartford Knights, Joel Arnold, who also serves as Junior Varsity Coach, and Bernie La Plante.

Bike Touring Club Schedule

The August meeting of the Connecticut Valley Touring Club was held recently at the studios of WTIC-TV in Hartford where a private screening of a recently aired "Perception" T.V. program dealing with bicycling was held.

During the business portion of the meeting, the executive committee reported the results of their research on the club becoming incorporated. By popular vote the membership decided to start the legal action of incorporating after the Sept. meeting.

In other action the club has accepted an invitation to take part in the Manchester Ecology Fair being held in Manchester on Sept. 23. A booth showing how the bicycle fits in the ecology plan will be set up and manned by members.

Communication has been received from the newly formed Torrington Bicycle Club and hope was expressed by both memberships that a joint ride may be organized in the near future.

The L.A.W. (League of American Wheelman) sanctioned Century Ride is again scheduled in this month. Due to the majority of participating members being unable to be available on any one date, two one hundred mile rides have been scheduled, each to be completed within 12 hours of its start. The first will be held Sept. 25, and the second the following day Sept. 26. Starting times and leaders are being determined now.

The September Bicycle ride schedule has been set up as follows:

Sept. 18 at 8:15 a.m. — Green Manor Shopping Center, Enfield. (70 mile, Century Ride Warm Up); Sept. 19 at 8 a.m. — Green Manor Shopping Center, Enfield. (27 mile breakfast ride); Sept. 25 and 26 at 7 a.m. — T.B.A. — L.A.W. Century Rides (100 miles completed within 12 hours); Oct. 2 at 8 a.m. — Green Manor Shopping Center, Enfield. (Ladies only, breakfast ride — 37 miles); Oct. 3 at 2 p.m. — Pettibone Tavern, Route 10, Simsbury. (Traditional Cider Ride).

The September business meeting will be the most important meeting of this year and possibly quite a few years. Not only will it be the annual election of officers, as well as a vote taken on changing a few sections of the by-laws, but the club will also vote on changing the clubs name from the Connecticut Valley Touring Club to the Connecticut Valley Bicycle Club. Also at this meeting, Walter Ward will be guest speaker. Ward has toured Gaspé in Canada as well as travelling cross-country by bike. Due to the unusual amount of business to be acted upon at the meeting, its starting time has been moved up from its time of 8 p.m., to 7:30 p.m. Therefore the Sept. club meeting will be Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Boettger, 377 Reed Ave., Windsor Locks at 7:30 p.m.

Americans, Ramblers Open 1971 Football Season

The Enfield midget football program will get off to a fast start next Sunday as the Enfield Americans play host to the Enfield Ramblers at 1:30 at the Enfield St. School Field.

The Americans are Enfield's newest entry in the Charter Oak Midget Football League, while the Ramblers are last year's Northern Division champions.

The Americans are sponsored by the Enfield Parents Sports Association and the Ramblers are fielded by the Enfield Jaycees. It should be quite a football game.

Both teams have been working extra hard for this season opener and Head Coach Fred Semanie of the Americans and Head Coach Ray Flaherty of the Ramblers are pointing for that first win.

All townspeople are welcome to attend the game with no admission to be charged. Both the Parents' Association and the Enfield Jaycees urge the people of Enfield to come out and support their midget teams.

Morris Is Knight's Offensive Captain

Hartford Knights running back Tom Morris has been appointed permanent offensive captain of the team. Head Coach Fred Wallner announced Morris, 6'1" 220 lbs., is a graduate of University of Idaho. Last year he gained 432 yards averaging 3.8 yards per run.

Knight's coach Fred Wallner in announcing the appointment, said Morris has proven over the years that he possesses a natural leadership ability. He is the type of man who leads by his performance both on and off the field.

Morris, four year veteran of the Knights, holds a managerial position with Hartford Hospital.

Fermi-Plainfield Tomorrow Night

The Falcons of Fermi High School kick off its football season tomorrow at 8 p.m. in a game against Plainfield High School in Plainfield.

Although last year the team won only one game, it feels that this year the team will finish in one of the top positions.

While talking with Scott Pierz, one of the team's tri-captains, he said that he thinks Fermi will take Plainfield at tomorrow's game.

H'ville Softball Game Is Sunday

The Hazardville Baseball Association announces that the softball game that had been scheduled for last Sunday will be played this Sunday at Mark Twain School at 1 p.m. The game is for managers, coaches, umpires and men in the association.

SCHAEFER STADIUM IS FOR REAL

My wife and I traveled to Schaefer Stadium to watch the Patriots play the Atlanta Falcons. We started our day with a rare experience. My sister-in-law had sandwiches waiting for us when we got there and we ended up eating them in the Paddy Wagon. You may not think that this was an ideal place to have lunch but it did keep us out of the hot sun. No, we hadn't been arrested, it was just a convenient spot to eat.

The stadium was very impressive with its 61,000 odd seats and artificial turf. Over 48,600 of those seats were taken by game time with nary a person late because of traffic problems. The traffic flowed quite smoothly both into the stadium and away again after the game.

We are happy to report that the plumbing problem has been solved to the point that every one managed to survive a trip to the toilets. The players still have to take their after game showers at other facilities but it had a touch of schoolboy football where the players board the bus right after the game and travel back to their schools. Or don't they do that any more?

You might wonder why I am talking so much about the facilities at Schaefer Stadium but it seems to be the thing to do today. You hardly find the game scores anymore in the dailies. All you seem to hear about is the problem of traffic, and lately the problem with the plumbing.

The real reason I am trying to stay away from the score is the fact that it was 38-7 in favor of the Falcons at half-time. The Patriots had the grand total of one first down in the first half. The Enfield Lancers could probably have played them even in the first half they looked so bad.

The Falcons scored their first touchdown on the first play from scrimmage from about their 20 yard line. Then the Patriots held them for at least three minutes before they let the Falcons score their second touchdown. Oh yes, the Patriots did have the ball for a short time between Falcon scores. Berger, a defensive man, scored the only touchdown for the Patriots during the long first half when he picked up a Falcon fumble and ran it in. This made the offense feel very good also. It wasn't Jim Plunkett's fault as he put the ball practically in their vest pockets on nearly every throw despite the pressure.

There was pressure on him since the boy selling peanuts got more protection from his apron than Plunkett got from his offensive linemen. Coach Mazur found the answer in the second half as he sent rookies and questionmarks into the game. They gave Plunkett time to throw and he hit everyone's hands with his passes. The rookies scored 28 points to only seven for the Falcons in the second half. Chances are that some of the rookies will outlast some of the vets in the Patriot lineup this season.

The Enfield Referendum

The voters in Enfield spoke Tuesday, but not very loudly, when they turned down the $30 million proposal to sewer most of the town over the next seven to eight years.

Again we have seen apathy with the electorate. Scarcely 20 percent of those eligible cast a vote in the much heralded referendum as those against turned out a small majority over those who favored the project.

As for the outcome of the vote, we feel the measure lost, not so much for reason of proving the need for the sewer program, but the continued worries thrust upon the already heavily burdened taxpayer, that he again would have to reach down deep to come up with money many people don't have these days in this economy. An abnormally high unemployment in this area did not help either.

And despite efforts of the administration to show need for the sewers, some areas of fact were more gray than black and white as to the ultimate cost per foot.

The negative vote does not mean there will not be a continuing sewer program in Enfield. If, for example, the state could order sections seweraged at any time.

Most likely this will happen for Town Sanitation Charles Agro has pointed out acute areas such as Green Manor and Shaker Pines where many homes are not on public water lines, but use wells as a source of water supply, many located too close to septic fields.

But these are all continuing problems in a growing town and will have to be met headon in the days ahead.

Meanwhile, to shame with the voters of Enfield for that pitiful turnout at the polls Tuesday.

An old friend of mine who served as mayor of a nearby town for many years used to say that people get better government than they deserve for the little interest shown in matters of extreme importance like the sewer issue.

We tend to agree.

Coming Up Next, The Protestants!

When Governor Thomas Meskill revoked his own early promise to approve such a measure, and vetoed the bill which would have made the birthday of the late Rev. Martin Luther King a legal holiday for Connecticut, he displayed a toughness and courage of a rare order.

There were many members of the General Assembly who voted for the bill not because they really believed in it, but because they were unwilling to put themselves into a voting position which could be accused of showing race prejudice.

In the normal course of such events, the new legal holiday would have been created, even though very few people were really certain they felt it logical and appropriate.

But Governor Meskill dared challenge the special advocacy and interest of the state's black community, and his courage liberated enough votes in the General Assembly to sustain his veto, and the establishment of such a first precedent of its kind may increase the state's future capacity to resist high emotional pressure from special groups.

Governor Meskill's spectacular defiance of one such instance of pressure left one question dangling.

Would the Governor show equal courage and firmness in dealing with some other special interest which might have a highly particular segment of the state's population?

The Governor was not long in providing at least one spectacular answer to that question.

Hartford's House of the Good Shepherd was a Catholic institution, run by the Sisters of the Good Shepherd, and famous for more than half a century for its good work with young girls in trouble. In order to survive under today's economic conditions, it needed a higher scale of support in cases it was handling for the state, and a bill authorizing this was passed by the regular session of the General Assembly and vetoed by Governor Meskill.

It was passed again during the recent special session, and the Governor vetoed it again. In the course of such prolonged attention for the issue, some of the most sincerely emotional pressure in the world sought to reach this Catholic Governor to dissuade him from being thus unkind to a Catholic institution.

It did not work, and the Governor did his part toward ending the existence of this famous and valued Catholic institution with as much cool resolution as he had displayed when he prevented the establishment of a new black holiday.

In order fully to answer that question, about how he would behave toward other special interests, Governor Meskill will have to find some way of killing some kind of project identified with a couple of other religious and few other racial groupings.

His most difficult search can be identified: to find something that still seems to belong to the Yankee Protestant.

'HEY! THAT'S OUR FOOTBALL!'

Our Schools

Education:

Garbage Or Horse Manure?

Beginning in today's issue, the Enfield Press will bring its readers a series of articles entitled, "Our Schools", written by Armand A. Fusco of 1236 Enfield St., Enfield.

The author originated the column 10 years ago and continued it for three years. He is resuming it now with hope that it will translate education in a meaningful way to the reading public.

He earned a B.S. degree from Central Connecticut State College in education, a Sixth Level certificate in Guidance and Counseling from the University of Connecticut, and he will complete all doctoral requirements in education at the University of Massachusetts next year.

He has been a classroom teacher at the elementary and secondary levels in public and private schools, a guidance director and school psychologist, director and co-founder of a preparatory school, director and founder of a learning disabilities school, director of the Discovery Center and co-founded with his wife, Constance, the Country Day Schools of Enfield.

He has four children in the Enfield public schools. Editor's note.

By ARMAND A. FUSCO
Does this headline suggest that education stinks? Let's examine the current scene and find out.

Charles Silberman, after a 3 1/2 year study of the public schools sponsored by the Carnegie Corporation, wrote a recently released book called

Armand A. Fusco

"Crisis in the Classroom." One of many strong statements sums up his conclusion: "Most of all, however, I am indignant at the failures of the public schools themselves. . . . It is not possible to spend any prolonged period visiting public school classrooms without being appalled by the mutilation visible everywhere. . . . The public schools, those 'killers of the dream' . . . are the kind of institution one cannot really dislike until one gets to know them well."

These are pretty harsh words coming from a scholar and educator who had no "ax to grind" when he started his study. Numerous other articles and books can be cited which would add a tone of despair and disgust to the current educational scene. Certainly the bond issues for new schools which are being turned down by better than 50 per cent of the tax payers, and reduced school budgets which have caused thousands of teachers to be laid off and many educational programs to be curtailed suggest that the public is not convinced that more money is the answer to the pressing needs of education today.

Contracting System

It has now reached a point, believe it or not, where public schools are giving contracts to big business educational corporations to run the schools under what is called "performance contracting." Under this system the corporation not only guarantees the cost per pupil but also guarantees educational achievement levels of students or be penalized financially.

The next step under way is a voucher system which is being sponsored by the U.S. Office of Education. A voucher is like a check made out to parents equal to the per pupil cost in a school system and the parents may use it to pay tuition for any private or public school system of their choice — and you should hear the cries of protest from the educational associations.

If the schools had the support of the public, these accusations and suggested changes could not take place. So the educational scene does "stink" like garbage and horse manure and it will continue until educators cease the opportunities to change the "stink" by turning the garbage into the building blocks of a stronger educational foundation — just as garbage today is being turned into educational foundation

Affairs Of State

by Carlton Hill

There's a symbol of a new law enforcement philosophy on the highways of Connecticut these days. The extent of the change is clearly illustrated in a shift from the old bright red to blue in the color of the light in the middle of a large sign reading "State Police" atop that department's cruisers.

State Police Commissioner Cleveland B. Fuessenich, with a nod of apology for stealing the color usually used by firefighters, says it is easier to see blue than red. What's more, he definitely wants motorists to see and recognize his troopers—and that's only one difference from the ideas of his predecessor.

Leo J. Mulcahy, although he climbed the political ladder to the top spot in the department, was regarded more or less as a policeman's policeman and a tough cop. He shared with his friends and mentor, former Gov. Abraham Ribicoff, a belief that any method of curbing the reckless was worthwhile if only one life was saved thereby.

Ribicoff, now a United States senator and still a crusader for many causes, aroused the wrath of those motorists who believe traffic laws are for somebody else, by ordering license suspension for convicted speeders. It was not until this year that General Assembly lawyers managed to kill that edict.

When Mulcahy decided to use unmarked cruisers, he was assailed for being "sneaky." His reasoning, very simply, was that scofflaws, never knowing when they were being watched, would obey speed limit signs, rather than slowing only when a cop was in sight and going like the devil the rest of the time.

Fuessenich's return to clearly marked vehicles is one of several new ideas for the department which has other people in the law enforcement field a bit dubious. The word "permissive" has been used to describe his basic theory that not all detected violators should be arrested.

A state policeman since 1947, the new commissioner was first stationed at Troop I barracks in Bethany. He became a sergeant in 1958 and a lieutenant in 1961. His nearest approach to top leadership under Mulcahy, obviously with no policy-making role, was as commander of Troop B in Canaan.

Somehow or other, he captured the attention of Gov. Thomas J. Meskill, who moved him up over several heads in the department. In view of the governor's achievement of the nickname of "Tough Tommy," it is a bit difficult to understand the choice of a man with a soft approach, if he was aware of it.

Seen as a move to set the stage for a much more liberal penal code, adopted by the 1971 General Assembly and effective October 1, the new philosophy first emerged in reference to automobile accidents. Troopers, Fuessenich said, should find the cause and try to suggest a cure, rather than fixing the blame.

That was not too difficult to accept, since it relieved the policeman of a "witness" role in the inevitable liability suit that followed. Also, it would help ease the burden for the criminal courts, with their crowded docket of cases involving euphemistic charges like "failure to stay in the proper lane."

It was when the new commissioner went into other matters that court officials reacted with caution to his new philosophy. Family quarrels, for example, should be referred to social agencies or the police domestic division, he said, rather than be cause for arrest on breach of peace charges.

A really sensitive area was touched by his suggestion that policemen take the problem to parents when they catch teenagers in the act of smoking marijuana. There is a very sharp divergence of opinion between those who believe no great harm results from the use of "pot" and those concerned about all drug abuse.

Such a departure from the function of law enforcement was akin to asking the policeman to be judge and jury. Aside from those cases in which the violation is clear beyond a doubt, this concept places upon the officer the responsibility to decide whether or not the law has been broken.

A Circuit Court prosecutor cited a danger in over-permissiveness. It has been proven many times, he said, that the prospect of arrest and trial, plus due penalty, have deterrent value. He doubted the wisdom of excusing even a minor offense in an era of increasing disrespect for the laws and their enforcement.

Mulcahy's attempts to make Ribicoff's crusade stick against speeders were defeated by the same feeling of "sympathy" which finally eliminated the suspension edict. Policemen at all levels learned the futility of charging anybody with speeding since the courts substituted charges that didn't mean loss of license.

Now the decision to take the unmarked police cruisers off the highways will be cheered by the motorists who said it was mean and nasty to make them obey the law for fear of getting caught. All in all, it seems fair to ask whether Fuessenich is putting "sympathy" into the code of police conduct.

building blocks; and, by demonstrating that although there may be a "smell" from time to time, that it may be a necessary first step before a better way is found and this is what we have done with horse manure — replaced it with a better fertilizer.

Not Enough Money

Although opportunity and challenge is now available to educators — as it has always been — they are fumbling the ball and crying "foul" because they claim that they don't have the money to do the job. The inevitable result is that the rules of the game will change, and it's happening right now, and the referee will be Uncle Sam, the players will be paid by Uncle Sam, the game subsidized by Uncle Sam and the result will be a game without competition and one without winners. And as will be seen in future columns, the players will begin at birth rather than age five — it's happening right now — and this scares hell out of me.

The sad part is that you — the public, and I might add many educators as well — aren't even aware of what's happening.

This column, therefore, is devoted to keeping the readers of this paper informed of what's happening, both good and bad, nationally and locally keeping in mind an old Indian prayer, "Oh, great Father, never let me judge another man until I have walked in his moccasins for two weeks."

Chamber Director Cautions Investors

Marcel St. Sauveur, executive director of the Greater Enfield Chamber of Commerce, today cautioned prospective investors against involvement with companies whose marketing plans promise large incomes by making sales and recruiting distributors easily.

He urged would-be investors to get first hand information on multi-level marketing organizations from persons who have been associated with such companies for at least a year.

St. Sauveur cited a recent bulletin from the Council of Better Business Bureaus, which detailed a Federal Trade Commission cease and desist order against Bestline Products Inc., San Jose, Calif., a multi-level marketing program to sell household, commercial and industrial cleaners through franchised distributors — investors.

The complaint alleged that the plan was based on virtually endless recruiting of participants with geometric increases in the number necessary to produce the earnings represented and implied. The FTC maintained that actually the overall number of potential participants remains relatively constant.

As a result, St. Sauveur noted that participants often would not be able to find additional investors because recruiting activities by earlier participants have exhausted the number of prospects.

St. Sauveur emphasized that wise investors are advised in considering such a business venture to weigh the factors ordinarily involved in establishing independent small businesses and any state and local requirements.

To The Editor:
On behalf of the Enfield Board of Education and students in the Enfield Public Schools, I would like to thank you for printing school bus schedules for the school year 1971-1972 in your newspaper

Thursday, Sept. 2. I am certain that the excellent manner in which these schedules were presented in your paper had a lot to do with the rather smooth opening experienced for this school year as far as bus transportation was concerned.

I would like you to know that this service provided by your paper is deeply appreciated by all concerned.

CONFUSED TAXPAYERS

To The Editor:
In a recent article, Mr. Kissinger was quoted as saying that large amounts of money cannot be borrowed from one source and reinvested at a higher interest rate elsewhere.

Now Vincent Santacroce, Town Finance Director, says the town cannot borrow more money than it can use at any one time — and this has been known for the past year or two.

We the average taxpayers are confused. Would Mr. Kissinger please explain?

Well, When I Served In The War —

This has been nostalgia night. Periodically, I go through my file boxes and cabinets, hoping to work up the nerve to throw some of the stuff collected into the garbage. Instead, I wind up with a pile of papers on my desk and spend hours reading and rereading them.

I don't know what kind of honorable discharge certificates the military hands out these days. If it's anything like the one given me on 28 March, 1946, as the Army likes to date things, the GI's from Vietnam probably get a helluva laugh out of them.

Knowing the military mind after two years, 10 months and 12 days of having lived with it, the honorable discharges are undoubtedly WD AGO Form 53-55, updated to 1970 or so. I'll bet it still carries editions of WD AGO Forms 53 and 55 for enlisted persons entitled to an Honorable Discharge, which will not be used after receipt of this revision.

Reason For Serving

If today's discharges read the same as those used during World War II, the difference is in the wars. Let's not kid ourselves, most of the men in Vietnam don't want to be there and most wonder why they are. In my war, which really belonged to about 13 million other Americans in uniform, most of us didn't want to be where we were, but at least we thought we knew why we were. Having a reason for something made it a lot more acceptable.

That honorable discharge dug up tonight is corny, but it's nice to have and read. Like a lot of WW II GI's I can read it without bitterness. Whatever we were doing was supported by almost the entire country. How many heroes are coming out of Vietnam today?

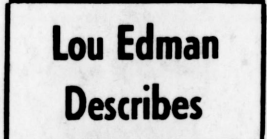

A good example of the difference in "my" war and Vietnam is seen in the uniform syndrome. When was the last time you saw a GI walking around in uniform? I used to get a weekend pass at Camp Campbell, Kentucky, and be in Paducah three hours later — thumbing: it was 96 miles away, but I never missed my date. Everyone gave a soldier a ride then.

A Popular War

No matter what town you happened to be in, there was a Red Cross or Salvation Army Center where you could get food, a bath or assistance. A soldier in uniform was acceptable anywhere. If such a thing is possible, it was a popular war.

Going back to the nostalgia bit, it doesn't seem such a large slice of your life can be summarized on a single page. I never realized that in June,

Lou Edman
Describes

1943, they gave me a smallpox shot — or in February, 1945, I was punctured with typhoid and tetanus injections.

The backside of the discharge contains 57 boxes, each with some vital statistic. No. 31 says I made expert with Rifle M1; Rifle 03; and Carbine. What it doesn't state is that I'm partially deaf as a result of all that shooting.

Box 34 is deflating: wounds received in action — None. You can't be a legitimate hero without a wound. No. 55 reports: Lapel button issued. Do you know what that means? All honorably discharged veterans of World War II were given a gold plated pin for their lapel, in the form of an American eagle — I think. This they were

Board Of Education Meeting Actions

At its meeting September 7, the Board of Education adopted a policy permitting Project Concern pupils from Hartford to remain in the Suffield schools through grade 12.

When Suffield first participated in 1968 in the Project Concern program of busing Hartford children to suburban towns, the 20 Hartford children who came were all in Spaulding School (an elementary school) in grades 3-5. Most of them came back the next two years. Now this year, in the fourth year of the program here, there are 11 of the Hartford children in McAlister Middle School, grades 6-8; and 13 in Spaulding School.

The Suffield Project Concern Mothers, a group of volunteers who serve as "mothers away from home" for the Hartford children, has strongly supported having the Hartford children continue their education here through high school.

The board accepted the resignation of William C. Hayes, assistant high school principal effective October 1. Hayes will become a consultant with Westinghouse Learning Corporation, which applies data processing to schools.

Resignations of Harry Theiss and George Counter, elementary teachers who resigned during the summer, were accepted also. Counter is joining Westfield State College staff. Salaries for cafeteria workers were set to be effective when the federal wage freeze regulations permit.

Board member John Meier was appointed to represent the board at the annual negotiations seminar sponsored by the Connecticut Association of Boards of Education.

Fred Miller and Anthony Kuras, Suffield farmers, were re-appointed by the board to the Vo-Ag Consulting Committee for the Suffield Regional Vocational Agriculture Center at Suffield High School which is attended by pupils from the ten area towns. Miller is now chairman and Kuras is vice chairman of the committee.

The board approved the Edward Connor Agency of West Hartford, as the agent for pupil accident insurance during 1971-72. The agency provided the same service in 1970-71. Premiums are paid by parents who wish to have accident insurance for their children.

School Board States Position On Wage Freeze For Teachers

The Suffield Board of Education has taken a position on the national wage-price freeze as it affects teachers and other employees in the public school system here.

Dr. Malcolm Evans, Schools Supt., said the board has decided to act under the latest ruling of the national Cost of Living Council which states that only those employees who were working under the new pay rates before the freeze date of August 15 will receive raises at this time.

This means, Dr. Evans said, that only the three teachers in the Suffield Regional Vocational Center here, who work on a year-round basis, will receive their raises now. Their contract began July 1, he said.

Likewise the school custodians and secretaries who have been working during the summer will receive their raises, he said.

The rest of the teachers and administrators including the superintendent, assistant superintendent, and principals, will not receive their raises until the freeze ends in November, he said. Although their contracts were signed before August 15, the raises were not scheduled to start until September, he said.

The Board of Education met with representatives of the Suffield Education Association, the teachers group. Dr. Evans said, and discussed the board's position in regard to complying with the national wage-price freeze ruling.

Suffield Academy Opens For 138th Year

Suffield Academy opened this week for its 138th year. The old students returned Wednesday, the new ones arrive today and classes will start Friday.

Geoffrey C. Butler, director of admissions, said the total enrollment is 290, same as last year. There are 230 boarders and 60 day students, including 20 from Suffield, he said.

A total of 19 students are from foreign countries, Butler said. They come from Thailand, Kenya, Gambia, Austria, Venezuela, Hong Kong and Taiwan (Republic of China), and Mexico.

Kurt Mayer, the Austrian student, is the first from that country to come to the academy under the ASSIST program for European students to attend private secondary schools. The previous ASSIST boys at the academy were all from Germany.

Two new members are joining the academy faculty, Butler said. John Fuller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Fuller of Suffield, will be alumni secretary. He is a graduate of the academy in 1962 and Union College in 1966.

Anthony Gaslevich of Jeanette, Pa., a graduate of Yale University in 1970, will teach U. S. History.

Emergency Aid Association Meets And Plans Fund Drive

Mrs. John Whitney was re-elected president of the Emergency Aid Association at the annual meeting held Monday. Re-elected also were Mrs. Frederick Hanzalek, vice president; and Mrs. William Crocker, secretary. Mrs. Howard Orr was elected treasurer to succeed Mrs. Amiel Majewski who has resigned from the board.

Mrs. Henry J. Balch was elected to the board of directors to replace Mrs. Majewski.

Mrs. Balch will serve as director for one year with Mrs. Bingham Day, Mrs. Francis Leahay, Mrs. Edward Martin, Mrs. Howard Caldwell, Sr., and Mrs. Donald McQuillan.

Elected directors for two years were Mrs. William Edmonds, Mrs. Roger Dickinson, Mrs. Willard Bromage, Mrs. Samuel Fuller, Mrs. Edward Dickinson, Jr., and Mrs. Sumner Bissell.

The association, which serves as the town's public health agency, is conducting its annual membership fund drive for support of its health program. The town appropriates the nurse's salary; all else is carried on with association funds.

The association gives general bedside care at home to convalescents, elderly and chronic invalids, maintains a building for varied health clinics, gives health education, pre-natal and post-natal care; equips a loan cabin with sickroom supplies and provides transportation for patients when needed.

Village Signs Approved

Following a public hearing September 7 in the town hall, the Zoning Board of Appeals granted unanimously has requested the appeal from the Suffield Center Corporation to erect two signs in the Suffield Village shopping center.

The free-standing illuminated signs will each be 14 by 2 1/2 feet. One is to be located on the north side of Village Lane, one foot east of the Main Street building line; the other to be located on the east side of Pyncheon Lane, one foot north of the Bridge Street building line. Each sign will have an area of 35 square feet instead of the permitted 10 square feet.

The Historic District Commission approved the same two signs following a public hearing of the commission on Sept. 8. However, in regard to both signs the commission suggested a more decorative design be used to improve the signs in appearance and make them more distinctive.

Ten "well-child conferences" are held each year, as well as a diabetic detection clinic. In addition amblyopia and German measles clinics were held this year.

The association conducts a workshop for handicapped persons, 14 years and older, and awards a scholarship for nurses training and training in the medical fields of physical therapy and inhalation therapy.

All funds raised during the sale will be used to sponsor many of the local Jaycees' projects in the coming year. Some of the community projects sponsored by the chapter, that are paid for by funds from the drive, include Halloween and Christmas parties for retarded children, underprivileged children trips, midget football, and other numerous special children's programs, as well as crime prevention seminars, and an annual town celebration.

Some old things are still worth a lot of money.

Brass beds are bringing a bundle. People are getting filthy rich selling dusty old clocks.

And the same guy who used to collect Mickey Mouse watches for laughs, is now laughing all the way to the bank.

Then there's the Volkswagen. The years have been good to the Bug. In fact, the same Volkswagen Beetle that, three years ago, sold for about $400 less than the average economy car, is now worth about $200 more.

It's not hard to figure out why. After all, when you don't have to spend that much time making a Volkswagen look different every year, you can devote all that extra time making it work better and last longer.

So, if you're wondering whether that old lamp in the attic is really worth something, check it carefully for the initials LCT (Louis Comfort Tiffany).

And if you're wondering whether that old car in the garage is still worth something, check for the initials VW (Volkswagen).

CBA Aids In Vote Registration

John C. Robinson, president of the Connecticut Bankers Association, presented Mrs. Gloria Schaffer, Secretary of the State, a contribution to her campaign to stimulate voter registration among 18 through 20 year olds.

Robinson, who is also president of the Second National Bank of New Haven, said that the CBA, which represents the state's 63 commercial banks, recognizes the importance of nurturing the growing political awareness of young people.

"The older generation has already come to grips with many of the major problems of our society, including poverty, race and ecology," he noted.

"The private sector has committed both people and funds to alleviation of these problems, but is aware that responsible political activity is vital to their solution.

"While we hope to see great progress made in the years ahead, we recognize that the ultimate resolution of these concerns must be achieved by those now just at, or approaching, voting age," he concluded. Mrs. Schaffer said, "I am most grateful to the members of the Connecticut Bankers Association and their president, John Robinson, for contributing so generously to this state-wide effort to stimulate voter registration, particularly among newly enfranchised 18 through 20 year olds.

"The extension of the franchise to ensure maximum citizen participation in the political process holds the promise of a more responsive and responsible democracy and therefore a better government for all Americans.

"The active concern and involvement of prominent organizations like the Connecticut Bankers Association will do much to encourage our nation's young people to assume their new voting rights and responsibilities and dedicate their energies and ideas to meeting the challenge of building a better world."

Enfield And Rockville Civil Air Patrol Units Merge

The Enfield and Rockville Cadet Squadrons recently merged into one large Civil Air Patrol Squadron. Before the local groups united the Rockville Squadron needed a place to meet and more active cadet members and the Enfield Squadron needed a permanent squadron commander and more senior members. Since each group could solve the others problems a plan was drawn up by Major Glynn Robinson, the former squadron commander, and Major Norbert Proulx, the commander of the Rockville group, to unite.

Now that all the problems are solved the active flying and activity programs can continue that include Aerospace education, airplane flights, camping, summer encampments at Air Force Bases and many others.

The united group, which meets every Tuesday night at St. Mary's Church made new staff positions known last week. They include Major Norbert Proulx, squadron commander; Cadet Kevin O'Brien, cadet commander; Cadet Andrew T. Sterchek, adjutant; Cadet Thomas Flanagan, information officer; Cadet Alan Moore, executive officer and Cadet Guy Pelletier, first sergeant.

Information on the active programs of the squadron may be obtained from T. Patrick Flanagan at 745-5369.

AF Recruitment Station Moves

Staff Sergeant Lee Blodgett, USAF, has recently moved his recruiting office to 555 Main St. in Manchester.

SSgt. Blodgett has been the Air Force representative for this area since April of this year. Prior to that he had special training as a career advisor at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

When Sgt. Blodgett was asked how he liked his new office he said "I like it for many reasons but one of the most important is there is never any parking problems and there is no parking meters which makes going to Manchester easier than going to Hartford."

The Manchester telephone number is 646-7440.

English Students Visit Somers School

Donald Hayes, administrative assistant to the superintendent of schools, will host one of two student teachers visiting from England. He was looking forward to a true spirit of cultural exchange with the students.

He said when Miss Christine Salder and Miss Judith Charlton arrived Sept. 13 for a month's stay in town, there would be work shops during which could be exchanged between the students, teachers and community groups.

Miss Salder, who will reside with the Hanlin Wilsons in Millridge Rd., will work with the staff and students at Somersville.

Miss Charlton, guest of the Hayes family, will be engaged in programs at Mabelle Avery School.

Hayes said in addition to opening the lines of communications between the local schools and the exchange program, sponsored by the University of Connecticut, would bring the staff and students into contact with ideas, insights, and people from foreign lands.

In England Hayes said the student-teachers begin on-the-job training during the first year of their studies. As a result, will come to Somers with practical, classroom experience.

Do you know where to look for scholarship money for college?

The Savings Bank of Rockville will help you with a most unusual new service called SCHOLARSHIP SEARCH.

Scholarship Search finds financial aid for high school and college students by means of a computer which contains a comprehensive data bank of scholarship aid sources such as government, industry, foundations, private donors, social, political and religious groups.

In order to help our young people and their families, The Savings Bank of Rockville makes Scholarship Search available so that they can locate the scholarship money which often goes begging because students don't know where to apply for it.

What you do. Come in to either of our offices and pick up an easy-to-fill-in application that outlines all the information needed to determine the type of scholarships you're qualified for. Mail it with a fee of $20 to the address shown on the form.

What you receive. You will be sent a computer print-out listing a minimum of 10 scholarship aid sources (you may actually receive up to 20 such names) for which you are specifically qualified to apply. The print-out tells you the name of the award, what type of aid it is, and where, when and how to apply for it. If the computer produces less than 10 scholarship leads, you will receive a full refund. The individual student, parents and school counselor should decide which grants to apply for and take action immediately.

Scholarship Search is an exclusive service of the Savings Bank of Rockville — no other bank in our area has it. You're welcome to use it whether you're a customer of ours or not, for we see our role in the community as one which encourages everyone to enrich his life through education, homeownership and the building of a sound and constructive future.

THE CONNECTICUT BANK AND TRUST COMPANY

This section summarizes the activity in your personal checking account during the previous month.

In these two sections we record a summary of the transactions during the last month in your savings account(s).

Quarterly interest and total interest earned during the year are shown here.

And here we'll post a complete record of all your transactions for the month — checking and savings — deposits and withdrawals.

Now you can tell at a glance just where you stand financially every month of the year... checking and savings. We've replaced our old personal checking account statement with this new one... The CBT Combined Statement.

All your deposits and checks are recorded as before, but now you can get the added convenience of up-to-date information about your regular and investment passbook savings accounts.

This unique new service can mean a number of things for you: you'll no longer have to come into the bank to find out how much interest you've earned... The CBT Combined Statement shows quarterly interest. And since you'll be getting the latest information about your CBT accounts at one time, in one place, you'll have better control in managing your finances. By the way, you can still keep your savings passbooks; we'll update them whenever you wish.

Of course, to get the full benefit of our Combined Statement you should have both your checking and your savings accounts at CBT. We can arrange everything for you in a matter of minutes at any of our more than 60 offices.

Join the tens of thousands of "today" people who are finding that we are doing more to make banking more convenient... more up-to-date... than any other bank in town.

we're a quality casual fashion store selling junior and misses clothes at money-saving prices — better labels in dresses, sportswear, coats and shoes at factory discount. We guarantee that all our clothes are at least 20%-50% less (and in some cases even further reduced) than the regular selling price of the same fashions in leading department and specialty stores. It's the most comprehensive collection of its kind in the entire area. Some of the styles do not have labels and some may arrive slightly after reaching the 5th Avenue shops; but we promise you that you will save money.

THERE IS NOW MORE HOPE FOR RABIES VICTIMS
Rabies is still a dreaded disease and the prospects for a full recovery by a person bitten by a rabid animal are usually very poor. Treatment, a long, painful series of injections, is in itself a danger for the side effects of these shots can be very serious.
Just recently there has been reported the complete cure of a person infected with rabies. This milestone case is still being documented but it is a ray of hope for the future. Perhaps some day in the near future rabies will no longer be such a feared disease.
