

Leader Blaney Asserts His Slate Truly Representative

Michael Blaney, the leader of the "Blaney Slate" in today's primary, issued the following statement concerning the recent attacks made by several members of the opposing slate.

"As the date of this primary election draws near, the members of the Mancuso slate have resorted to the same gutter politics that have been rejected by people all across this nation. They have attacked not only our candidate, George McGovern, but also the members of our slate and the manner in which they were chosen.

"They have suggested that we should not be running because we are not presently in public office. Presumably this means we shouldn't run if we are not old - style 'politicians'. This is patently and utterly absurd. Perhaps what this country needs is fewer 'politicians' and more ordinary citizens running the government. They have suggested that we are unrepresentative, while they are a perfectly balanced slate. Let's look at the facts. We have 8 women and twelve men. They have 3 women and 17 men. We have at least nine persons under the age of 30. They have two. We have two persons under the age of 21, to represent the newly enfranchised voters. They have none. It is obvious that their claim that we are unrepresentative is so utterly without merit that it deserves no further comment. Perhaps if they familiarized themselves with the new state party rules they would realize that it is their slate which does not comply with the mandate for reform.

"It is this kind of fear-mongering tactic and personal attack which typifies the old politics. It is this kind of 'politics-as-usual' that voters from Massachusetts to Oregon have overwhelmingly tossed aside in favor of a fresh, new approach to government.

"The reason that the Mancuso slate has found it necessary

Alfano Chosen As Democratic State Convention Chief

Senate President Pro Tem Charles T. Alfano of Suffield has been picked by Democratic State Chairman John M. Bailey to be chairman of the Democratic State Convention to be held in Hartford when it opens June 16 and 17.

In announcing his choice of temporary chairman of the convention to the Democratic State Central Committee, Bailey said it has been the custom to rotate the chairmanship assignment and House Speaker William R. Ratchford of Danbury has been temporary chairman of previous state conventions.

Bailey said Ratchford will make the report to the convention on platform recommendations. He and Alfano are co-chairmen of the platform committee.

Alfano is a Suffield delegate to the state conventions. He and Walter Szczapa and Stanley Malec were named delegates by the local Democrats.

The Suffield Democrats also named Mrs. Daisy Wilkins and John Potter as delegates to the Congressional convention.

Size Vs. Quality In Enfield Schools

By LUCIEN R. JOLY

Enfield's secondary schools are among the largest anywhere. Interscholastically we compete with the cities of Hartford, New Britain, and Norwich whose population equals, doubles or even triples our own. Our physical plants compete with magnificent new buildings in West Hartford and Greenwich. Only two towns have more administrators. No one has bigger junior highs.

The size of Enfield's schools has been dictated by economy. At a time when one school was being built every year, and even that rate was barely keeping pace with the burgeoning school population, it was either two small schools or one huge one — and one school is cheaper than two. The secondary schools we now possess, then, are a result of frugality rather than educational planning.

The advantages of big schools are easily apparent from the outside: more facilities are justified for each building, such as industrial arts programs, auditoriums, large gymnasiums,

T.V. studios, since these facilities serve upwards of 1,500 students, whereas the more traditional school has under 1,000 students. And purchases in a large quantity — whether it is paper or desks, does save money. In size there is economic efficiency. We have gone the way of the Ford Assembly Line.

The disadvantages of gargantuanism are only apparent from inside the schools — where too few parents tread.

Mayor Mancuso Issues Call For Support To His Slate

Mayor Frank Mancuso said last Friday that he was reassured that the uncommitted slate to the State Democratic Convention which he heads, represents the best way to allow all Democrats to have a voice at the Hartford and Miami conventions.

Mancuso said, "I noted with interest the most recent national poll that showed both Senator Humphrey and Senator McGovern as comparable opponents of President Nixon. Both candidates enjoyed an increase in support with reference to prior survey results which placed them against President Nixon. Unquestionably, the Humphrey Democrats are less vocal than McGovern supporters, but I seem to remember something about still waters running deep." the mayor continued.

"Many of the Humphrey supporters that I have spoken with are especially influenced by the proven ability of Humphrey to garner independent votes; supporters of Senator Humphrey also have reminded me that in 1968, he carried the state by 65,000 votes thereby assuring a Democratic General Assembly. A fact that must be a consideration for every Democrat, if he

ETA President Calls For Emergency Inquiry Team

Lucien R. Joly, president of the Enfield Teacher's Association, has called for an educational assessment team to be organized to investigate the local Board of Education concerning teacher's salaries. Joly's statement follows:

"On behalf of the more than five hundred members of the teaching profession in Enfield who belong to the Connecticut Education Association, I hereby request that an educational assessment team be organized and launched into Enfield in the immediate future. It is only after careful consideration that we seek this action.

"To us in Enfield, the situation clearly warrants an investigation. We base our opinion upon the following emergency circumstances:

1. The Enfield Board of Education has remarked intransigently in its refusal to submit any salary offer beyond that which is already guaranteed in our existing group contract.

2. An arbitration award, calling for an increase in the salary schedule of 3.5% in addition to increment, has been totally rejected by the School Board to this date.

3. Because of a cut in the school budget of over $1,200,000, the Town Council has failed to provide and support sound educational policies. The budget which has been granted to the Enfield Board of Education is insufficient to cover contractual agreements already in existence with teachers and other salaried personnel, and certainly will dictate drastic reductions in programs and the people who staff them.

"In keeping with this program in the face of the above circumstances, we now request that an Emergency Inquiry Team be appointed by the CEA to investigate the existing situation and to determine whether or not the imposition of state sanctions might be warranted at any time in the near future. I trust that the CEA Executive Committee will see fit to act favorably upon this request."

JOHN TASHJIAN

Tashjian Speaks At Seminar Today

"Any employer who employs one or more persons must meet the standards set forth in the Occupational Safety and Health Act or subject himself to stiff penalties for failure to comply." With these words, Chamber Executive Director, Marcel St. Sauveur, set the stage for the upcoming OSHA Seminar. "For example," continued St. Sauveur, "failure to post the official OSHA poster will cost the employer $50 — automatically."

The seminar is open to any employer who wishes to attend and is not restricted to Chamber members. It is intended to acquaint employers with the basic elements of the law: inspection procedures; and recordkeeping requirements.

The main speaker for the evening will be John Tashjian, corporate safety coordinator for the United States Envelope Co., a graduate of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. Tashjian is a recognized expert on OSHA standards. Following his presentation, questions from the audience will be fielded by a knowledgeable panel consisting of: Herbert Davidson, Sales Engineer for the Abery Safety Equipment Co.; Charles Fowler of Brainard-Ahrens Insurance Co.; Bernard Hines, technical consultant on loss control for the Hartford Insurance Group; Richard Laffargue, plant superintendent of United States Envelope Co. and Mr. Tashjian, Arthur Slanetz, Chairman of the Safety Council will act as moderator.

OSHA posters and other related materials will be available at the seminar for those in attendance. In order to have enough materials on hand, persons planning to attend are requested to call the Chamber office 745-3363.

"We hope that all employers will avail themselves of the opportunity to become better informed. It could cost them money if they don't," concluded St. Sauveur.

Co-sponsors of the OSHA seminar are the Greater Enfield Chamber of Commerce and the Safety Council of Enfield. It will be held today at 7 p.m. at the C L & P auditorium on King St.

LaPere Heads Town Chest Fund Drive

Joseph L. LaPere, Jr. has been appointed chairman of the fourth annual fund drive for the Enfield Community Chest. It was announced by R. E. McCuin, president. McCuin stated that "the chest was very fortunate to have Joe serve as campaign chairman for the drive which will be conducted in October of this year. He has been active in the chest here since its inception, serving as residential chairman in 1969.

LaPere is now formulating plans for the drive and will be announcing chairmen for the various divisions being formed. LaPere stated that "definitely a door to door residential campaign will be conducted this year. I feel it is essential that every home be given the opportunity to participate in this community fund drive".

LaPere resides at 76 Cornell Dr. with his wife and daughter. He is employed by Pension Associates in Hartford.

The Enfield Community Chest now has nine participating agencies—Boy Scouts of America, American Red Cross, Big Brothers of Enfield, Enfield Association for Retarded Children, Connecticut Valley Girl Scout Council, Salvation Army, Enfield Social Services, U.S.O. and the Y.W.C.A.

Hanzalek Against Compensation Act

Rep. Astrid T. Hanzalek of the 40th Assembly District has issued the following statement concerning the "Compensation Act." It reads:

"As one of the few legislators who voted against the so-called compensation act I'd like to offer a few words on the subject. Many people have asked me about it. It seems to be a subject of some interest — and I think it should be.

"It's incomprehensible to me that legislators would vote for $1.3 million worth of pensions and salary increases this year. Why?

"As legislators we should be concerned with economy in government. Our constituents expect this of us. Though the present administration has tried to hold down expenses, the cost of government continues to rise.

"A recent CPEC (Connecticut Public Expenditure Council) study shows that expenditures from state sources grew 270 per cent between 1960 and 1971, while the economy of the state grew only 109 per cent.

"Both 1969 and 1971 sessions

Big schools lack identity. Among adolescents, who are just discovering who they are, it is important to know that the school environment is friendly and within control. Teenagers mirror the values they see; friendliness elicits friendship; indifference breeds alienation. Students often complain that they feel they are "part of the school", but it is very difficult to be part of a school where over one-half the teachers and 80 per cent of the students are strangers.

In huge industries the problems of absenteeism and low productivity have plagued management, and prompted programs to boost morale and a sense of belonging, whether it is annual outings or "The Hot One" slogan. But in the schools in Enfield, budget cuts are destroying the very programs that build morale.

The residents of Enfield have made a choice for efficiency, coldness, and quantity. Now we are faced with the prospect of a bigger assembly line in our junior and senior high schools, with a greater potential to grind up children before stamping them out to compete in the world.

When numbers of adolescents approaching 2,000 congregate in one building, while schools elsewhere house under 1,000 students, discipline problems multiply geometrically. If secondary schools here are twice as large as elsewhere, discipline problems are not twice as serious, but three or four times as serious, since there are more places where incidents might occur, and a larger element of chronic troublemakers with more opportunities to influence others.

Big schools are impersonal. With extra effort, programs can be adapted to fit individuals, and kids can discover whom to see and where to go if they have problems. But more often students are adjusted to the system. There are required courses, the single textbook for the kid who reads Hemingway or the kid who reads comic books, the rules without deviation, which all must obey to "make the school run smoothly". In such a system, it is lit-

EHS Pops Concert Next Wednesday

The Enfield High Band will present a Pops Concert next Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the school's cafeteria. Joining with the EHS band members for the performance will be the current 9th grade J. F. Kennedy Junior High Band members, most of whom expect to be regular members of the EHS band next year. The program is planned partly as a preview of next year's band with its new size and sound, as well as a final appearance for what has been a very busy year for the band's members.

The evening's festivities will also include the conclusion of a raffle being held by the EHS Band - Parent Assn. under the sponsorship of the Enfield Elks Lodge 2222. Band members have been selling fifty cent chances on a color TV, a home movie outfit, and a stereo record player for the past 7 weeks in order to raise money for the uniform fund drive started in March. A total of $3000 has been raised so far through the raffle, a tag sale, bake sale, and other activities. The total amount needed in the drive is $13,000 for 100 new band uniforms.

The concern on Wednesday will feature selections from current football halftime show tunes to light concert band selections. The color guard is also planning a flag routine to one of the band's numbers.

In addition to the raffle prizes, door prizes will be given away, including a car vacuum cleaner, electric hedge clipper, picnic table, and two gift certificates.

Tickets for the concert ($1 for adults, 50 cents for students) are available from any band member or at the door the night of the concert. Ticket proceeds will be added into the uniform fund savings. Raffle tickets will also be available at the door.

Considering the actual vote on the pay - bill, that's obviously a naive thought. It may be that no time is the right time to raise legislative salaries. Still, I feel quite strongly that this was most definitely the wrong time," concluded Rep. Hanzalek.

Friendship House Expected To Be Occupied By September

The forty-seventh meeting of the Steering Committee on Human Needs and Resources was held recently in the Multipurpose Room of the Central Library. The meeting was called to order by Chairman Ralph Cerrato.

Cerrato introduced members of the Sabers Drum Corp and their supervisors to the committee. The Sabers were responsible for selling $234 worth of Delicious Dollars for the Friendship House Fund.

Cerrato informed the committee that because of the absence of Mr. Kiner there would be no Youth Study Report. He did inform those present, however, that there would be a meeting about establishing a "Y" in Enfield. The Forum for Youth will be held in the Fall.

Ed Butcher, of Citizens for North Central Community College, reported on the progress of locating a college in the Enfield area. He said that he couldn't see any hang-ups to prevent a community college being located here by September. He also stated that the petitions sent out by local organizations and individuals did help, and were received by the Governor at a very appropriate time when the bill had been passed by both houses.

Cerrato introduced the new house parents for Friendship House, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hyson, of Holden, Mass. It was reported that physically the house is not ready for occupancy. The Friendship House committee is waiting for the contractors to finish the site work. The heating system will cost about $1,800 to install. Griffin Plumbing has started to install the plumbing. The concrete floor in the cellar has to be poured. Troiano's have donated a 1,000 gallon oil tank and will hook it up. Hawthorne has agreed to donate seed, fertilizer and lime. All of the work at the site has been co-ordinated by Anthony Spazzarini. Cerrato reported that he went before the graduation Sunday.

★ Leader Blaney

"I do not believe that the voters of Enfield will be taken in by this type of campaigning. I think they want something different — something better. George McGovern offers the voters a real choice. I welcome the opportunity to give the voters of Enfield their first real choice between the new politics of honesty and sincerity and the old politics represented by the Mancuso slate. George McGovern is the man Robert Kennedy called "the most decent man in the Senate". He stands for an end to an immoral and illegal war. He stands for an open and forthright administration. He stands for equal opportunity for all people. He stands for a fair and equal tax structure instead of one that puts the burden on the middle income wage earner. It is this kind of man our country needs.

"I ask all Democrats in Enfield to vote for the Blaney slate today because this country desperately needs to return to honest and decent government. This country desperately needs George McGovern."

Sabers Have Some Open Weekends

The Enfield Sabers report it has some open weekends in its schedule. If you or someone you know would like to sponsor either corps for a parade or special function and are willing to make a donation to cover the cost of transportation, call Mr. or Mrs. Lawrence Girard of 17 Foxcroft Rd. in Enfield at 745-8788.

Melechinsky Recipient Of Art Scholarship

The Art Department of Austin Peay State University, Clarksville, Tenn., has chosen ten senior high school art students as winners of their annual Trahern Competitive Art Scholarships. The scholarships, awarded on the basis of quality work submitted, may be applied to university expenses during the fall quarter of their freshman year as art majors.

A recipient of one of the scholarships is Gary Melechinsky, a senior at Enfield High School, who is planning on attending the university this fall.

During his senior year at Enfield High, Gary served as chairman of the Joint Arts and Crafts Festival held at Fermi High School, and had two entries accepted for exhibition at the Connecticut Scholastic Art Exhibition held at Trinity College.

Gary is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Melechinsky of Fairfield Rd., Enfield.

All to the Good

by U. S. Senator Abe Ribicoff

The shooting of Governor George Wallace was senseless, savage and cruel. We pray for his complete recovery, particularly that he will be able to walk again.

We should also pray for the survival of our political institutions as we know them. They are seriously threatened by the potential for violence and murder that exists in the hearts of a certain number of our people.

The deranged person who gunned down Governor Wallace is not typical of the American people. Nor is he proof that our society is a sick one.

But he is an indication that there are twisted men and women about in the land who, for reasons as insane as they are bizarre, feel a compulsion to try to kill national figures.

We saw it with Lee Harvey Oswald, Sirhan Sirhan and James Earl Ray and now we witness it again.

No matter how reluctant we are to face reality, we must recognize that there are unbalanced individuals on the loose in America who, like Oswald and the rest, are determined that they can distinguish themselves — that they can win the recognition they think they deserve — by killing leaders.

How, then, can we protect political figures from being shot at?

First, we should make it more difficult, if not impossible, for would-be assassins to buy firearms. In a recent development, prompted perhaps by the attempt on Governor Wallace's life, the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee charged with responsibility for gun control legislation voted last week to forbid public sale of cheap, short-barreled handguns. These firearms — many of which are nicknamed "Saturday night specials" — are useless except for shooting at close range.

Senator Birch Bayh of Indiana, Chairman of the Subcommittee, said the ban would apply to the kind of short-barreled .38 caliber handgun used to shoot Governor Wallace.

I will certainly vote for that measure when and if it reaches the Senate floor. While opposition to gun control measures has been posed by sportsmen who fear their opportunities to hunt for live game will be diminished by such legislation, this bill would not affect them at all, since it applies to weapons with very short range, usually of only a few feet.

It is too soon to predict the gun control bill's chances for success. Support for such legislation usually runs high after an assassination attempt but memories are short and as time goes by that support fades. I am hopeful the outcome will be better this year.

Beyond gun control, though, we should try to improve the nation's ability to treat mental health problems. It is one of American history's saddest ironies that as a teenager Lee Harvey Oswald came to the attention of psychiatrists who foresaw trouble ahead for that young man. Who knows but that with the proper treatment Oswald might have turned out a different adult — and the decade of the Sixties might have turned out differently too.

Finally, we must begin to assess political campaigning itself and try to evolve vote-seeking techniques that enable candidates to mix with the people yet remain reasonably secure at the same time.

Some newspaper editorial writers and other commentators have suggested that Presidential candidates spend more time on television — and less time in face-to-face appearances with the voters.

There may be some merit to that position. But, to my way of thinking, it is essential that we maintain campaigning methods that bring candidates into personal contact with the voters.

Too many of our nation's leaders are isolated from the real world as it is. Too many voters are deciding which candidate to vote for on the basis of TV commercials or smoothly staged announcements. Public officials need more contact with the people — not less.

YMCA Fund Campaign Supports Youth Program

The first telephone campaign for participating members conducted the Suffield YMCA, as part of the annual membership drive, was successful, Robert Stanley, membership chairman, reported at the Y Board of Managers last week.

The Y also conducted a campaign for sustaining members under the chairmanship of William H. Connelly, former Y board chairman; and Thomas Landers, present Y chairman, contacted local businesses for the first time as part of the whole membership drive. Total campaign dollars to date, including pledges and receipts, are $3,214. Total campaign goal was $3,000.

Among youth programs provided by the Suffield Y, through funds from the membership drives, are the Indian Guides, Boys Baseball League for 56 13-15 year olds; Learn to Swim class at the Academy pool for 115 children and the Swim-Gym Club program for boys and girls held during the winter.

The YMCA held an appreciation banquet for 14 youths who served as volunteer leaders for the Swim-Gym Club program, on last Wednesday at Valle's Steak House in Springfield. Also recognized at the banquet was Craig Miller, a youth-minded professional photographer in Suffield. The youth volunteers recognized were: Suzanne Burton, Dianne Schneidt, Kris Cobb, Barbara Bellevieau, Diane Hibbard, Sue Wadsworth, Ken Barnes, Sherry Mandirola, Janis Rink, Rich Romeo, Chris Hanrahan, Jamie McAdam, Dave Billings and Jeff Parent. Peter Gigone, the Y executive director, arranged the banquet.

Machado Meade, vice-chairman of board expressed the YMCA's appreciation to the youth volunteers for their helpful role in improving youth programming in Suffield.

Town Garage Site Turned Down

The Zoning and Planning Commission turned down the site proposed for the new town garage and gave approval of a "conceptual plan" for a proposed skating rink after a public hearing on the two May.

Location of the new garage on the Wever estate property on South Grand St. met with strong opposition from residents at the hearing. Reasons given included poor seepage for the sewerage system required, noise from town trucks at all hours of the day and night; pollution from fumes from the highway equipment and possible property devaluation in the residential zone involved.

Some thought the cost for the property was too high and the proposed 22 acres were not needed. Blair Childs, acting chairman for the commission, said "the request was turned down because it is the opinion of the commission members that the proposed use was not conducive to proper development of the area."

The skating rink proposal received a much more favorable opinion from townspeople at the hearing, many of whom are involved in the Suffield Flyers Hockey team and have to transport their children now to other towns for practice time on the ice, as well as for the games.

Increased revenue to the town from a tax point of view was also cited by Stanley Malec, former selectman, in favor of the rink.

Members of the Sewer Commission present said consideration should be given to the fact that the line on which the proposed rink would be built is already overburdened.

Childs who replaced chairman George Stewart who disqualified himself because of possible conflict of interest, said "The conceptual plan for use of the property owned by James Fleming on Thompsonville Rd., was approved subject to completion and submission of final site, architectural and engineering plans to the Zoning and Planning Commission and that review by all appropriate town commissions should precede submission."

Alligators threatened by influx of poachers

Government investigators have disclosed that poachers are killing alligators by the thousands in southern swamps for their skins, which are sold abroad.

At least 127,000 alligators are believed to have been killed in the last three years, threatening their extinction.

Council Of Churches Receives Gift

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Ahrens, left, chairmen of the Crafts Fair conducted in March by the Second Baptist Church, presented the Rev. William Dorn, right, president of the Suffield Council of Churches, with a check for $1,250 to be used for the council's ecumenical youth activities. The Executive Committee of the church voted to contribute the money from the proceeds of the very successful fair, which featured 35 craftsmen from all over the state and drew an attendance of 300 persons. The church committee also voted to give $720 to the Kent Memorial Library for religious books, from the fair proceeds.

Suffield Village Scene Of State Lottery Drawing

The regular weekly drawing of the Connecticut State Lottery and a Super 75 were held at Suffield Village last Thursday. Twelve $5000 claimants in the May 18 weekly lottery had a chance to increase their winnings in the Super 75 drawing. Two people came away with extra money. They were Mrs. Dorothy M. Lebel of Waterbury who won $20,000 and Katherine E. Whiting of Goshen who won the $75,000. A special prize offering was made to encourage people to be at the drawing. L. W. St. John won a $100 gift

Bickford Program Director Speaks To Council Of Churches

Mrs. Linda Wilusz, program director for the patients at Bickford Convalescent Hospital in Windsor Locks the past eight months, described her work to the Suffield Council of Churches at the Council meeting last Thursday. She asked for volunteers to help her and information in regard to other sources of entertainment available.

The attractive young director of recreation and entertainment for the patients work Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the home.

The patients vary in their ailments and disabilities, she said, but most are elderly. Some are very alert and others are more confused, but all respond to visits and entertainments which break up the hospital routine.

A speech therapist is helping those who have suffered strokes and are unable to talk, she said. Talking books and recording machines are available for those who have difficulty seeing, and the Windsor Locks public library nearby sends books to the hospital, many of them with large print and pictures, she said.

Through the weekly arts and crafts projects, often offered on an individual basis, patients have found a new interest in living. The women have done knitting and are working on patchwork quilt pieces. The men, some of whom needed encouragement to use tools again, have made wooden bird feeders.

Films are shown once a month and outside entertainment is always enjoyed. Recently a five-piece band from the Suffield Middle School came to play, she said.

A Windsor Locks woman is conducting Bible Classes and a group of Windsor Locks women provide Bingo games once a week which are popular with the patients.

Ministers in the area conduct religious services on a weekday. A birthday party is given once a month.

Some volunteers whose services are much appreciated, visit those who are unable to leave their beds and join in group activities. They read and write letters for those patients and help them with small projects.

Mrs. Wilusz said she will offer a training program for those interested in becoming volunteers. She said she would like teen-age volunteers as well as adults. They may contact her at the hospital.

Bickford is unusual in that most of the patients came from the local area, with a large number from Suffield. Mrs. Wilusz said. This should make the hospital a special concern of Suffield churches and individuals, she said.

EARTH DAY

On April 22, 1970, Earth Day rallies were held in several cities to draw attention to the globe's environmental problems.

State Highway Department Responds To Request

The State Highway Department has responded to the request made by Suffield Rep. Astrid T. Hanzalek, on behalf of a local pedestrian to remove a cable at Suffield end of the Suffield-Enfield Bridge which prevented pedestrians from getting onto the bridge walk by removing the cable. Mrs. Hanzalek said.

This action shows the state highway is not as unresponsive to requests made by the public as some people might think, she commented.

According to Stella Maiuri, President of Tiffany's, "this year's state final promises to be the largest state beauty pageant ever produced in Conn."

"Fifty contestants from throughout the state will be competing for the title of Miss Connecticut - World Beauty at the Horace Bushnell Memorial," said Mrs. Maiuri. The contestants arrived at the Hotel Sonesta on Constitution Plaza where they stayed free of charge for the three days. "Following room registration," said Mrs. Maiuri, "the contestants posed for a Panorama Photography session in swimsuits at the Sonesta pool.

"At 2 p.m. they attended a Press Party at the Podunk Mill Restaurant in South Windsor. "Regarding the press party," injected Lorrie Uecker, Senior Director of Tiffany's, "the President of 'Scratch Women's Lib' Mrs. Sondra Gormley formally addressed the girls during the party."

A formal pre-coronation ball will be held Friday evening at the Sonesta with various state and city officials on hand. "It promises to be a most exciting and beautiful three days," concluded Mrs. Maiuri.

YWCA Suburban Women Conclude Active Program At State Receiving Home

The Enfield YWCA Suburban Women's Club has been sponsoring a program with the ten to fourteen-year-old girls at the Connecticut State Receiving Home. The sessions were begun in February with club members travelling to the home each Tuesday evening to participate in the scheduled programs.

The first meeting was a Rap Session designed to get to know each other and to discover the interests of the girls. Other programs have included making paper flowers demonstrated by club member Karen Orifice; a talk on natural foods conducted by Mark McDougal of Nature's Own Food Store and a sampling of some of his products; a film and discussion about drugs led by Jeanette Young of the Enfield Police Department; individual hairstyles for each girl done by hairstylists Ellen Higgins, Judith Tomilonie and Angela Falotti; individual horoscopes worked out by and explained by club member Rory Beaudet; and make-up and skin care discussion and demonstration by Ardell Hamilton of Lady Finelle.

One major program has been a sewing project with each girl picking out the article of clothing she wanted to make and club members guiding her in its completion. Patterns were donated by Mall Fashion Fabrics and material was donated by area retailers including G. Fox & Co., Woolco, Big 3, Grants, New England Fabric and club members.

The girls have also been taken swimming at J. F. Kennedy pool and have had two of their meetings jointly with the Enfield Y-teens.

An End-of-the-Year picnic is being planned which will involve all of the girls, and all club members participating. It will be held at the home of one of the club members and will include a cookout and various lawn games.

ENFIELD HIGH BEATS FERMI 4-2

We finally saw a competition between our two high schools last Monday. The Enrico Fermi High School Falcons entertained the Enfield High School Raiders baseball team.

The score tells only part of the story. The details can be read elsewhere in this issue under the by-line of Enfield High's sports reporter, Larry Avery. A large crowd was assembled for the first athletic contest between the two schools. It was a close fought contest with Fermi drawing first blood in the last half of the third inning on a single, a hit batsman and a sacrifice fly.

The Raiders were scoreless until the top of the sixth when they scored three runs on a walk, a single, a triple, an error, and another triple. Enfield added another run in the top of the eighth and Fermi managed only one more run in the bottom of the eighth after loading the bases. Final score was 4-2 in Enfield's favor. But more importantly it started a natural competition between the two schools which should last for years.

Our two high schools should compete against each other in all sports if it is possible to get them together that much. The crowd told the story this time. There is interest in activities between the two schools. If they will turn out in these numbers for baseball, they should really turn out in force for football and basketball.

Not that we have anything against baseball. It is just a fact that more people turn out for football and basketball and especially football. Football has always been considered a glory sport because of the physical contact. It does bring the spectators out in number and they actually do pay to see the games.

The boys on both teams made a very good showing and we hope this is just the start of a long and friendly rivalry.

OVER 1,500 CHILDREN IN LITTLE LEAGUE

There are over 1,500 children playing baseball in the Hazardville and the Thompsonville Little Leagues this year. Is it any wonder that we can't give you a play-by-play description of every game, or even the box scores of every game played?

Believe it or not we do get queries such as: "Why didn't you print a story about the way my little Jimmy won the ball game last week with a home run?" Or: "How come you didn't print a story about the six-hitter my son pitched against a tough team last week?" Or, how about: "My son made three terrific fielding plays last week and didn't get a write-up on it."

You can see the problems a writer has when he is dealing with so many children. Vern Sawtelle, publicity agent for the Thompsonville Little League came by with the scores and standings of some 34 teams this week. Joe Cannella, publicity agent for the Hazardville Baseball Association came by with the results and standings of 53 more teams. And the Senior League in the Hazardville Association hasn't started play yet.

That is a total of 87 teams so far. We would have to double the size of the Enfield Press just to print the box scores of the games. The boys who excel in the various leagues end up on the All-Star squads at the end of the season and we can give them some recognition then. It would be impossible to mention all of them every week.

UMPIRES NEEDED

Both the Hazardville Baseball Association and the Thompsonville Little League are still desperately looking for competent umpires for their league games. Of all the active participants in Little League baseball the most abused is the umpire.

To be an umpire you must have unflinching eyesight, must see every play just as every individual on the field sees it, and each individual will differ depending on which team his son is on, and must have the courage of his convictions and the guts to stick to his convictions.

You must be able to take this abuse for what it is worth. If the managers would show more respect and the fans stopped blaming the umpire every time Jimmy whiffed, umpires might be a lot easier to come by.

There must be some men of courage who are willing to help the Little League program by becoming umpires. We urge you to take on the job. We also urge the team personnel and spectators to give them the respect they deserve. They may make a bad call once in a while but don't you make mistakes once in a while, too?

Raiders Outscore Falcons, 4 to 2

Enfield High School's Green Raiders baseball team traveled across town on Memorial Day to play the Falcons of Enrico Fermi High School. Not many towns are fortunate enough to have two high schools, thus creating a natural rivalry. Both teams gave a good account of themselves with the Raiders ending up on top by a 4-2 score. A large crowd was well pleased with the exciting ball game.

Both coaches started their best pitchers. Jack Taylor started the game for Enfield and junior Ken Bourque took the mound for Fermi. Taylor gave up the first run of the game in the last half of the third when Burnelle reached on an error by third baseman Rich Fenton. Figella was hit by a pitch. Both runners advanced on an error by Taylor as he overthrew first base in a pick-off attempt. Hallenbeck grounded out for the first Fermi out. Tkacz then lifted a ball deep to center to score Burnelle on a sacrifice fly. Score 1-0, Fermi.

Bourque went only three scoreless innings before being lifted in favor of Pryor as his coach was no doubt saving him for the upcoming tourney. Taylor and Pryor were in complete charge through the fourth and fifth inning as neither pitcher gave up a run.

The sixth inning started well for the Falcons with Taylor striking out and Paul Uricchio thrown out stealing after earning a walk. John Blomstrann then singled to start a Raider rally. Fenton followed with a booming triple to score Blomstrann. Catcher Walt Kukulka reached on an error by Falcon shortstop Hallenbeck which also scored Fenton. Paul DaSilva followed this with another booming triple to score Kukulka. Lefty Nelson Coro took over the Fermi pitching duties at this point and started his activities by walking Bob King. Coro then got Gary Provencher to bounce to short ending the first half of the sixth. Score: Enfield 3, Fermi 1.

The seventh inning was scoreless. Blomstrann started the eighth with a single and Fenton grounded out to move Blomstrann to second. Kukulka then singled to score Blomstrann. 4-1 Enfield.

Tkacz and Bourque started the last half of the eighth with back-to-back singles putting men on first and second with no outs. McKeown sacrificed the runners along with a well placed bunt. Coro then singled to score Tkacz. Quail reached on an error by Taylor to load the bases for the Falcons.

Jack Taylor bore down at this point and struck out both Arsenault and Burnelle to end the inning and the threat. Coro retired the side in order in the top half of the ninth. Taylor threw nothing but smoke in the last half to strike out Figella. Hallenbeck and Tkacz in order to win the game for the Raiders.

Taylor gave up nine hits and two runs while striking out 11 batters in earning the win. Bourque allowed only one hit in three innings and walked one while striking out three. Pryor took the loss as he went 2 2/3 innings, giving up three hits, three runs, walking one and striking out three. Coro pitched 3 1/3 innings, giving up two hits and one run, walking two and striking out two.

Final score: Enfield High 4, Fermi 2.

30-Lap Modified Feature Saturday

The battle for the extra-lucrative point fund continues this Saturday night at Stafford Speedway. Both drivers and car owners will be chasing coveted points in the 30-lap NASCAR modified feature that highlights the program.

The All-American sportsman and the mini-midget division will also be on hand, the green flag dropping at 8 p.m.

Gene Bergin, in the Dick Armstrong No. 1 Pinto, Bob Santos in Art Berry's No. 09 coupe, Ray Miller in the Myers-Sweetland Mustang No. 401 and NASCAR newcomer Ron Bouchard in Bob Johnson's No. 17 Pinto can all take over the lead.

The point fund pays twice at Stafford. Bolstered by $500 from Gene White's new outlet in Warehouse Point and a $100 weekly allotment from the Speedway, the fund is divided between the top owner and driver this season.

Competition has been a key word as the "Coupe Group" continues to battle the Pinto Brigade. The powerful Pintos have taken the early momentum on the speedy half-mile with Pinto drivers Ed Flemke, Bergin, Bouchard and Cleary battling DeSarro, Bugsy Stevens, Ernie Gahan, Bobby Turner, Moose Hewitt and Bernie Miller in the conventional coupes.

Social Security Office Unlikely

The Social Security Administration has notified U. S. Representative Ella T. Grasso (D-Conn.) that after studying the social security needs of the area, regional officials conclude "present circumstances do not warrant establishing a full-time office in Enfield." Social Security Commissioner Robert M. Ball wrote Mrs. Grasso that "possibility of toll-free telephone service... is under study. Further, the entire situation in the area will be watched closely. If additional service becomes necessary, whatever action is needed will be taken within the limits of our resources." As a result of Commissioner Ball's letter, Mrs. Grasso again wrote to the Commissioner stating that while toll-free telephone service to Springfield would be welcome, "establishment of a social security office in the town of Enfield is the goal for which I now renew my efforts and request your careful consideration." Mrs. Grasso, at the request of a number of Enfield residents, had written to Commissioner Ball in March requesting establishment of a social security office in Enfield. The social security regional office report upon which Commissioner Ball's decision was based stated that "the service presently being provided the Enfield area compares favorably with that being provided similar areas throughout the United States... Every Thursday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., representatives from the Springfield office visit Thompsonville (Enfield) to assist residents in transacting social security business." In her letter to Commissioner Ball, Mrs. Grasso said the "residents of the Enfield area, including the towns of Suffield, East Granby, Windsor Locks, East Windsor and Somers, will only be adequately served by an office that is easily accessible to them. Heavy traffic and costly parking charges for people going in person to either the Springfield or Hartford office are major concerns for those who need the services of a social-security office."
