

Redevelopment Agency Head Urges Yes Vote Next Tuesday

Next Tuesday, when Enfield electors enter the voting booths, they are going to find at the top of the machine two questions facing them requiring a yes or no answer. The second question will read "Shall the Town of Enfield appropriate $1,799,844 for the purpose of contributing the same, or such lesser amount as may be necessary, as the town's share of the Freshwater Pond Urban Renewal Project and authorize the issue of bonds and notes in the same amount?"

Robert G. Mitchell, chairman of the Enfield Redevelopment Agency, has amplified the full meaning of this question and gave reasons why the agency favors a "yes" vote on this question.

The approximately $1.8 million being requested represents a quarter of the total cost of the project and is commonly called by the federal government the local share of the project. In all urban renewal projects carried out in Connecticut, the State government has borne one-half of this local share. Therefore, Enfield may never have to contribute more than $900,000 towards this project. The federal government requires that a referendum approve the total local share. This means, then, that for $900,000 the Town of Enfield will be able to undertake a $7.2 million urban renewal project.

The Freshwater Pond Renewal Project is the first redevelopment project ever undertaken in Enfield and calls for the rejuvenation of the old Thompsonville business district. The project encompasses the purchase and demolition of most of the properties located between Enfield St. on the east and Pleasant St. on the west and between No. Main St. on the north and High St. on the south. There is one area between High St. and

Alfano Proposes A Reorganization

State Senate President Pro Tempore Charles T. Alfano has proposed reorganization of the State Department of Consumer Protection.

According to the Senator, he is proposing the reorganization to make the department "more responsive so that it may more effectively represent the public."

"Since its establishment several years ago, the Department of Consumer Protection has served principally as an agency with which consumers could file complaints about packaging, quality and other shortcomings of products and services."

The Democratic candidate for re-election to the State Senate in the Seventh District said he would like to see the department's sphere of activity broadened so that it can give greater representation to consumer interests in a wider area.

"I believe the agency should

Sixth Grade Students At Higgins School Present Election Program

The sixth grade class at A. D. Higgins School, with Joel Sitsky as classroom teacher, has been studying the presidential campaign.

The class obtained posters, printed material and other items from both the Democratic and Republican Headquarters in town. Also, some material was obtained from the American Party.

The students read over the printed matter and came up with their own summarization of the platforms of the three parties.

A program was presented to grades 4 and 5 in the school auditorium. Here, two students represented the presidential candidates. Irene Hughes and Lucy Correa spoke for President Nixon. Vincent Grady and Cella Rizzo spoke for George McGovern and Roberta Gebro and Francine Fabrice spoke for John Schmitz. After listening to the program, the other pupils were given the opportunity to cast their "ballot" in the national election.

10 DE Students To Attend Conference

The Dennis Hotel Complex will host the Tenth Annual North Atlantic Regional Conference of the Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA) in Atlantic City, N. J. on Nov. 5 to 7.

Among the ten Enfield High School representatives enrolled in the DE Program attending the leadership activities are James Anderson, Wendy Arena, Mitch Caouette, Colleen Conley, Ann Ivanish, Patricia Marcotte, Nancy Meskill, Darlene Wages, Denise Wages, and William Wallace. Accompanying the group will be William Silk, DE teacher - coordinator.

The purpose of the conference is to acquaint DE high school students with their future roles as leaders in Marketing and Distribution. The hopeful outcome of this conference is to help the students determine their goals and objectives for a career in Marketing and Distribution.

Chamber Of Commerce Favors Urban Redevelopment Project

With the national election only days away and including an Enfield referendum on the downtown renewal program known as Freshwater Pond Urban Renewal, the Greater Enfield Chamber of Commerce today reiterated its earlier stand favoring the project.

The Chamber Board of Directors feel that the renewal pro gram is a progressive step toward attaining a goal of total community development. It had taken a similar stand at the public hearing on renewal held in August.

At the same time, while favoring the renewal concept, the Directors have again cautioned the Redevelopment Agency to guard against "cruel and im personal treatment of the more than 40 businesses in the renewal area which will be relocated if they plan to continue in business in the same relative area."

While favoring the program, the Chamber will remain sensitive to the plight of business men who will be forced to relocate.

Should the referendum pass next Tuesday, the Chamber will immediately appoint a committee to work with these people to insure the merchant, as promised by the town, will get preference in matters of relocation and cost.

Vesce Invents A "No-Mobile"

"It makes me sick," said Albert Vesce, "when I read in various newspapers, accounts of our high town officials trying to convince the electors to vote in favor of the urban renewal referendum because if it is passed, $7 or $8 million in taxable property will be destroyed."

Vesce, a strong opponent of the existing urban renewal plan, has launched a campaign against it and has offered his own plan which he is convinced is better than the Brown, Donald and Donald engineering firm plan.

Vesce said from what he

Leaf Collections To Start Monday

Enfield's leaf collection program will be conducted this year in a similar manner to the last two years. The mild fall weather has delayed the start of this program until next Monday.

The program will be concentrated on the areas of dense tree growth where leaf accumulation presents a definite hazard as to both fire damage and vehicular traffic. The first area to receive leaf collection will be in Hazardville which encompasses Southwood Rd., Middle Rd., Hazard Ave. and Wilstar Cir. People are requested to have their leaves raked out the preceding week-end. The tentative schedule is for this area to take approximately one week and the second area to receive collection will be the area off

March Of Dimes Walk Is Nov. 12

At a luncheon at the Mountain Laurel recently the Big K Student Council offered to take on the responsibility of helping out with the March of Dimes Walk. A special council meeting was held and two committees formed — one is making posters and spreading the word and the other showed a movie and answered questions. Nearly 750 of K's population is pre-registered for the walk. Kathy Kelly's and Beth Gagne's report continues to say Big K aims for 1,000 Walkers.

Jeanne McGowan reports JFK has over 200 walkers so far. Walkers are busy getting sponsors. "We hope to get more people to walk and we are encouraging them to use their legs and fight birth defects," says Ettore Johnson, Student Council president.

Janet Cannone at Enrico Fermi reports the walk film was shown to a very enthusiastic sophomore, junior, and senior class group. Each class president gave a resume of the luncheon meeting and a complete explanation of the walk.

Group Says Bigos Ups His Mileage

State Rep. Stanley Bigos, who collected more legislative expense money than 175 of the 177 members of the House in 1971-72, charged the state $380 for travel that actually cost him less than $19, a volunteer research group charged.

The volunteer team, working at the State Capitol and the headquarters of State Rep. Rosario T. Vella, said that on 95 separate occasions when Bigos billed the state for a 40-mile round trip from Enfield to the Capitol, he actually traveled less than two miles back and forth.

The researchers said all of the legislative committee sessions for which Bigos claimed mileage as well as a $25-per-meeting payment were held on business days when the Enfield lawmaker was working at his office at the Travelers Insurance Co. in downtown Hartford.

Noting that the Travelers is "within walking distance of the Capitol," the researchers said "Bigos represented that he made a special trip from En

Central St. west of the post office that had to be deleted from this project to stay within the limit of funds appropriated by the federal government.

The redevelopment of this area will provide enough housing units to take care of all people displaced by the project. It will also provide an area for elderly housing units. Several tracts will be set aside as commercial areas to accommodate small retail businesses. Preference is to be given in the sale of these tracts to local businessmen who will be displaced by the project. Other remaining areas will be available for residential and commercial development, some of which may be developed as semi-high rise units.

The federal regulations covering payments to homeowners, tenants, businesses, and others who will be affected by this project must be strictly adhered to by the redevelopment agency. These regulations are designed to keep to a minimum any hardships on existing owners and tenants. They provide for purchase of the property at fair market value; they provide for moving costs; they provide for home-owners and tenants a guarantee that they will be moved to comparable housing that is safe, sanitary and decent. If a homeowner now has an existing mortgage and the interest rate on a new mortgage for the replacement housing is higher, then the agency must make a payment to the owner to compensate him for this difference.

The properties in this section of Enfield have been steadily declining in value at a time when property values in all other sections of town have been increasing in value at a very marked rate. Deterioration of many structures has been slowly taking place over the years and economic conditions in this area do not warrant large expenditures by property owners to try to check this deterioration. Therefore, unless there are some drastic steps taken such as urban renewal, this deterioration of structures will continue.

Studies indicate that 93 percent of all buildings in this area have some deficiencies. 47 percent of the buildings are structurally sub-standard to a degree, requiring immediate clearance. This degree of deterioration was the result of field surveys made over a year ago. Today conditions have not improved, but worsened.

The Redevelopment Agency feels the only way to correct this condition and rejuvenate the area is for voters to vote "yes" on the urban renewal question next Tuesday.

huge demand on the time of a Legislator. He said, "This does not take into consideration the time spent in introducing new legislation. I was elected to the Legislature five days prior to the opening of the last Legislative session and unfortunately the only bills to be submitted were those raised in committee, ones of emergency nature and those affecting the state budget because of it being an odd year session."

Rep. Marinone continued, "I look forward to the coming session where I can submit various bills I am presently researching. Some, in fact, are holdover bills from the past session which could not be submitted at that time. It has been a tremendously interesting and challenging position and one in which so much can be done for the people of the district. I feel that in order for a State Representative to properly represent his District requires a full-time, year round commitment."

Marinone concluded, "As in the past I intend to be present at all Legislative sessions and fulfill all obligations to my constituency to provide the kind of representation the people of the 60th Assembly District deserve and want. As an independent businessman I have made the necessary business and personal arrangements to fulfill this full-time, year round commitment to the people of Enfield and Windsor Locks."

reads, the taxable land in the Freshwater Pond Urban Renewal area brings the town $126,000 in annual revenue but that after renewal is completed in 8 or 10 years, the tax revenue will be $300,000. However, he asked, what about the tax loss during the waiting period?

"Another thing I am disturbed about," continued Vesce, "concerns sewers. I would like them (Town Hall officials) to show me the streets in old Thompsonville that have only one sewer line to take care of both drainage and sewerage." Vesce maintains there are two lines, one for sewerage and one for drainage — not one line.

He also mentioned the floods in the Town Hall boiler room following heavy downpours. He maintains that this is the result of poor engineering on the part of Town Hall officials when the building was constructed. He said the building should have been built higher ground — at least three feet higher.

Vesce, a resident of town since 1909, owns four buildings in the Freshwater Pond Urban Renewal area on which he pays $4,500 in property taxes a year and thinks, in view of this, he has a right to be heard.

"The truth is that he merely sauntered down the street from the Travelers to the Capitol and back again, or took a three-minute automobile ride."

The researchers called Bigos' practice "gross abuse of the orderly and decent processes of government."

Their report listed the following numbers of days on which Bigos charged the state for a 40-mile, Enfield - Hartford round trip "when he was actually only traveling in downtown Hartford":

July, 1971 — one claimed round trip, Enfield - Hartford

August, 1971 — three round trips charged.

September, 1971 — 10 trips.

October, 1971 — 14 trips.

November, 1971 — 11 trips.

December, 1971 — 14 trips.

The research report showed the following 40 - mile round trips entered in Bigos vouchers for the current year:

January 10, February 5, May 4, June 8, July 6, August 5, September 4.

The report noted that the mileage and $25 - per - session payments were "in addition to mileage payments received by Rep. Bigos during the regular legislative sessions."

Next day pre-registration cards were distributed to every home room student and over 450 cards were returned to their teachers. "750 Fermi Walkers is the goal" says Debbie Schwangel.

Enfield High students have given an overwhelming response to the walk, says Patty McGowan. The Student Council, in cooperation with Jan Mathews, has put up posters and shown movies on the walk — over 100 cards were collected on one study hall. "The contest between Enfield Hi and Fermi is running close but let's show those Fermiites who's going to win," says Patty.

Our Lady of the Angels Academy's Laura McGuff reports the majority of the girls at OLA saw the movie on previous walks — a number signed up. OLA is in charge of the 200 directional signs being made by the art class. Laura and Marybeth Caronna and several other girls are putting up signs along the route every one-tenth mile on the morning of the Walk.

Walk co-chairmen Jim & Terry Ranta report that Mayor Frank Mancuso is all set to lead the walk. Trophies will be awarded to the Senior High, Junior High and Elementary School with the highest percentage of walkers (based on student population).

A trophy will be awarded to the walker with the most sponsors of 10 cents or more per mile. Each walker should aim for at least 20 sponsors at 20 cents per mile to make the 20-mile hike.

Jaycees Endorse Renewal Project

At a special business meeting, the Enfield Jaycees noted unanimously to endorse the Freshwater Pond Renewal Project.

According to Jim Ranta, Enfield chapter president, the project was discussed at length and a resolution was passed stating that it would be to the town's advantage to approve the HUD sponsored project.

"The sewers in that area have to be redeveloped, with or without the project," ... said Ranta, "and for the same cost Enfield can redevelop the whole area. It's a bargain."

Mrs. Grasso Hates Noise Pollution

Calling noise pollution "one of the most underrated threats to our environment," U.S. Representative Ella Grasso (D-6th Dist.) said she will continue to vigorously support local citizen efforts "to ease the disturbing, incessant noise levels caused by the arrival and departure of aircraft at Bradley International Airport."

Mrs. Grasso has been a strong supporter of the Noise Pollution Control Act of 1972, which has passed the Congress and is designed to promote federal programs and activities to control noise. The Environmental Protection Agency administrator is directed to coordinate federal agency programs on noise research and control, including working with the Federal Aviation Administration to establish tolerable noise standards at airports such as Bradley.

In addition, Mrs. Grasso has firmly backed proposed regulations of the FAA which would have the effect of greatly reducing noise levels of heavy aircraft constructed on or after July 1, 1973 and of all planes constructed on or after July 1, 1974. In a letter to Mrs. Grasso, the FAA expressed its "appreciation" for her suggestions and participation in the regulation formulation process.

Mrs. Grasso has also co-sponsored legislation to prohibit the use of Federal funds to construct or alter airports or runways until the Secretary of Transportation certifies that public hearings have been held to determine the potential effects on the environment of such development.

"The noise levels of many aircraft now in use have placed an uncomfortable burden on the lives of residents who live in the vicinity of Bradley airport. There is no reason whatsoever for the people of these communities to endure unnecessarily the great intrusion in their lives of present aircraft noise levels.

"Besides being a source of annoyance, excessive noise is known to be a definite health hazard. Pollution caused by noise is certainly one of the most underrated threats to our environment. I pledge to continue to work for more stringent noise regulations generally, as well as to vigorously support local citizen efforts to ease the disturbing, incessant noise levels caused by the arrival and departure of aircraft at Bradley International Airport," Mrs. Grasso said.

The Exploring Division which administers the young adult program in Long Rivers Council, B.S.A. plans to carry out locally, in Connecticut, a national agreement to organize posts specializing in civil emergency preparedness. The new agreement with the federal Civil Defense Preparedness Agency calls for local civil defense directors, their key staff members, or other persons or groups concerned with emergency preparedness to help organize and operate Explorer Posts that will train in such functions as first aid, medical care, search and rescue, fire prevention and law enforcement.

Edward Chapman, Director of Exploring for Long Rivers Council, explained that some of the present Explorer post in this area will also become active in Emergency Preparedness projects as part of their ongoing post program.

Explorers are young men and women of high school age and to age 21. There are now a total of 113 posts with 1599 young adults as members in this area.

Encouraging voters to vote is the practical citizenship project for Cub Scout Packs and Scout troops during the month of October. Only about 6 out of every 10 adult citizens turn out to vote, so pack committees and troop leaders will develop and operate their own get-out-to-vote campaigns.

Among the types of projects being selected by units are poster contests, slogan contests, window displays, pack ceremonies and distribution of home-made flyers to homes in the pack or troop neighborhood. Some Scout troops will be manning shopping center exhibits, holding or participating in parades and offering babysitting services. The B.S.A. does not promote a particular candidate or issue but we do think it is important that young people learn from this kind of project that the right to vote is a responsibility for every citizen.

Cub Scout Pack 818 sponsored by the Henry Barnard P.T.A. held its first meeting of the new season. Hi-lite of the evening was the appearance of Malcolm The Mysterious a well known local magician. The Cubs took part in many of the acts and enjoyed themselves thoroughly. Any parents interested in having their boy join Cubbing at 818 are asked to call Brian Griffin at 745-4922 or attend the next Pack meeting. Meetings are held the last Monday of the month at 7 p.m.

Den One and Den four of Pack 818 visited the Ranger Station T.V. program last week with their leaders, Mrs. Griffin and Mrs. Repoli.

From Council: September is over and our Touchdown Roundup is under way. The following realistic goals have been set for all units. At least 10 new boys per pack, at least 8 new boys per troop and at least 5 new members per post. There will be recruiting stripes for all boys recruiting a new member; a roundup patch may be purchased for 25 cents for each member when the unit reaches its goal; for the unit, a distinctive Honor Unit Ribbon and a miniature football for the unit leader who goes over the top; an attractive framed certificate to Explorer Posts. Awards to the winners will be made at your District Roundtable immediately after victory.

Fee Changes: The adult fee for registration went to $2.50 as of Sept. 1.

The fee for Explorer registration will be $2.50 which includes $1.50 for Exploring Magazine issued six times a year. Boys Life membership subscription rates will be increased to $2.50

Highland District Membership as of Sept. 26, 1972: Cubs, 1562; Scouts, 1067; Explorers, 166; Total units, 75; Trained Leaders, 57; Boys Life, 1137.

Cub Scout Pack 93 started the new season with a meeting held at the Shaker Pines Fire House. Four Bob Cats were accepted into the unit: James Pfeifer, Glenn Pelletier, James Sullivan and John Monroe. Douglas Girard received an aquanaut award and Joe Wysocki his sportsman. Michael Raymond graduated into Webelos and Joe Wysocki into Boy Scout Troop 182.

Cub Pack 227 held its first meeting recently with Cub Master Greg DeSantis welcoming new Cubs and parents. Bob Cats inducted were Peter Murray, Robert Welch, Dennis O'Konis, James Jubrey, Richard Landry, Tony DelPrincipe, Mike Graci, Robert Mercik and Scott Bittner. Den 6 had the opening and Den 2 presented closing.

Awards were as follows: Paul Stethens, gold and silver arrows on wolf and ass't. denner; Steven Lucia, denner; Walter Amos, one year pin; Tony Fontana, gold and silver arrows on wolf and one year pin; Tom MaGauran, denner; Richard Vasseur, ass't. denner; Timothy Locke, naturalist; William Shields, athlete; Paul Vella, athlete; Emmett Estey, athlete; Kurt Fowler, athlete; James Sperazza, naturalist. Brian McMullen received the Arrow of Light and graduated into Boy Scouting. He was welcomed into Troop 93 by Scoutmaster Henry Lanouette and Ass't. Scoutmaster Dick Stewart.

"Skits-A-Frantic" Tomorrow And Sat

A tribute to "Mr. Democrat", Cornelius Sullivan, will be a main event when the Democratic Town Committee produces Skits - a - Frantic, a political variety show.

Sullivan has been active in local Democratic circles for more than 35 years and was elected by the first Town Council to act as interim town manager during the search for the town's first manager. In addition, Sullivan also served as first selectman in 1940 - 41.

He is also remembered by some for his activity with the Bigelow Athletic Club when he managed the plant's basketball and baseball teams.

Patricia Lombardo, general director of the variety show, explained, "We are really pleased to have Corry Sullivan in a starring role, not only because he's worked so hard for the Democratic party all these years, but also he's a real pro on the stage. He seems to be having as much fun doing the part as we are watching him."

Helen Rathbun will provide a vocal selection in this scene dedicated to "Mr. Democrat."

Skits - a - Frantic is to be presented tomorrow and Saturday at 8 p.m. at Enfield High School.

Morrison Issues Reply To Koseian

John Morrison, Democratic candidate for state representative for the 58th Assembly District, issued the following statement in reply to Koseian's criticism. The statement reads: "I am delighted to be the object of criticism by Mr. Koseian. It is Mr. Koseian's job as Republican Town Chairman to criticize and attack any Democratic candidate running for any office.

"In the past year, Mr. Koseian has strongly criticized and even viciously and irresponsibly attacked people like Mayor Frank Mancuso, Representative Stanley Bigos and even a highly respected member of his own party - Councilman Realus McQuin, because Mr. McQuin would not listen to his dictates. I am extremely pleased to be placed in this distinguished company.

"I am also delighted that Mr. Koseian has attacked my endorsement by major labor unions. I know very well that the Republican Party does not want the support and endorsement of Labor because the Republican Party has never and will never do anything for the members of organized labor. I am extremely proud of my labor endorsements because it is an endorsement from working people, and something that Mr. Koseian will never understand. Mr. Koseian stated that the labor endorsement given to me were from out of town interests. Doesn't the Republican Town Chairman realize that in effect these are really town interests? Doesn't the Republican Town Chairman realize that we have Union Members living in the Town of Enfield? Or doesn't he even care? We not only have union members living in Enfield, but we have many of these union members standing in unemployment lines because of the policies of the Nixon Administration. I welcome and I am proud of my labor endorsements.

"Is this the same Republican Chairman who was so fearful of my appointment to the Enfield Housing Authority that he screamed that the appointment was illegal and even went to the Attorney General to stop my appointment only to find that he

O'Leary Answers Questionnaire

Cornelius O'Leary, Democratic candidate for the General Assembly from the 60th legislative district, responded to the questionnaire supplied by the League of Women Voters. The question read: "What do you consider to be the three top state priorities and how would you suggest they be financed?"

O'Leary stated: "I believe the three top state priorities are a study and reform of the tax system used in Connecticut, a state government which can be fiscally responsible without ignoring the individual citizen, and the upgrading and expansion of state educational institutions."

Walsh Says Opponent Causes Unemployment

Jack Walsh, Republican candidate for Congress in the 6th District, has accused his Democratic opponent of "stimulating and fertilizing unemployment" in Windsor Locks, East Windsor, Suffield, Granby and East Granby.

Speaking to reporters during a campaign stop in Windsor Locks Walsh said that on March 18, 1971 a bill came before the Congress of the United States involving the appropriation of funds for the research and development of two prototypes of Supersonic Transport (SST). The appropriations measure was defeated in the House.

Walsh said this meant a loss of over $15 million in contracts for the State of Connecticut and more especially, he said, to the area in and around the 6th District.

"In terms of jobs", the Republican candidate charged, "it meant the loss of between 1200 and 1500 jobs. Mrs. Grasso voted against the appropriation for the prototypes of the SST", Walsh continued, "thereby stimulating and fertilizing unemployment in the 6th District, which she is supposed to represent."

Bigos Would Lower State Property Tax

State Representative Stanley Bigos said that reduction of the property tax will be his prime legislative goal if he is re-elected from the 58th Assembly District. Bigos, a six term veteran of the General Assembly, feels that unless the trend is stabilized or reversed, the property tax will destroy home ownership.

"Revenue sharing", says Bigos, "may be the answer. Under the federal law, two-thirds of the monies is granted directly to the municipalities and one-third is granted to the state of Connecticut. I would support legislation that would reduce the property tax by use of the one-third grant to the state. For example, the Assembly could require the towns and cities to use the grant to reduce the property tax. There is some question whether this can be done under the federal revenue sharing bill, but if it is a permissive use of these monies, I would support this approach."

"The two-thirds," continued Bigos "which would go directly to the towns would be used for municipal services and projects."

"The elderly particularly suffer from the property tax. While their source of income stabilizes, the property tax rises. In 1971 I helped to eliminate the annual tax filings for our senior citizens. I will support legislation that will increase the amount of the property tax exemption for our senior citizens. I have the Yale research group working on this problem. "There has to be relief", concluded Bigos, "for the property owner. There are homes in Enfield that have a relatively low market value but a very substantial tax. We can do better, and if re-elected I pledge whole hearted support in dealing with this problem."

Your Vote Is The BIG One Tuesday

It shouldn't be necessary to remind everyone who is entitled to vote to go to the polls in Tuesday's presidential election and cast their ballots for the candidate of their choice.

Every vote is important, because the outcome on Tuesday will decide not only who will be our president for the next four years, but who will serve in Congress, and in the State Senate and the State House of Representatives.

Furthermore, in some areas there will be questions on the voting machines, and they are important, too. Don't pass them by. Most of all, make a judgement on the candidate you would like to see in office on all levels. The presidential campaign this year should be decided on who is best suited to occupy the White House, not because he is a Republican, or a Democrat, but because he has the confidence of the majority.

The remaining days of the campaign are going to be vital ones for those who even now, haven't decided how they are going to vote on some particular candidates. Don't let your judgement be clouded by rhetoric which has little or nothing to do with the main issues. And, on the main issues, be sure in your own mind that the candidate can make good on what he promises, because this isn't always possible. Candidates can have important objectives, but they alone cannot determine that they will be realized.

There are restrictions on the powers of the president. In most cases he can recommend, but without the support of the Congress there is little he can do about it. So, while it is important who will be president, the makeup of the Congress is of equal importance, because that is where the legislation that affects all of us is proposed, debated, adopted or rejected.

Consequently, in voting for president — and if you are certain he is the best man for the job — give him a Congress that will back him up. Make it a team, and leave the voting booth with confidence that you made up your own mind and were not influenced by political ballyhoo which usually is tuned in to what you would like to hear, but actually has little substance.

So, come Tuesday, cast your ballot. Don't stay away with the attitude your vote won't count. In this democracy every vote counts, and in this democracy if you don't like what's going on, you are the only one who can change it.

NO "KNIGHT IN SHINING ARMOR"

Let. Ed. No "Knight in Shining Armor" To The Editor:

Recently one of the evening newspapers ran a letter to the editor which suggested that Richard Nixon was the "Knight in Shining Armor", who rode into the country's senior citizen community and solved all their problems. I would like to set the record straight as regards Mr. Nixon's record on Senior Citizens. The elderly people of this country have seen, heard and experienced more than any other group and they cannot be talked down to with half truths and be expected to automatically believe.

Let me make Mr. Nixon's record on Senior Citizens "perfectly clear".

1. In 1969, Mr. Nixon wanted to limit the increase in Social Security to 7 percent. The Democratic Congress forced him to accept a 15 percent increase. In 1972, Mr. Nixon wanted only a 5 percent increase in Social Security. The Democratic Congress won a 20 percent increase for America's senior citizens.

2. Under the Nixon Administration, senior citizens pay as much for medical care as they did before the Medicare program was passed. The Nixon Administration has been against extending Medicare coverage to out-of-hospital prescription drugs; against Medicare coverage for eyes, teeth, feet and home care; against broadened coverage for out-patient care.

3. The Nixon Administration wrecked the successful Section 202 program which provided loans to help non-profit groups build low-cost housing for the elderly.

4. Property taxes have risen 32 percent since Nixon took office. Older homeowners often must pay 20 percent to 40 percent of their annual income for property taxes. But, Mr. Nixon opposed a bill to provide income tax credits for low-income homeowners 65 and over.

In sharp contrast to Mr. Nixon's record, George McGovern believes that senior citizens have worked, saved, built and invested to keep the nation rich and strong, and thus deserve to be honored and utilized for their experience and wisdom. Senator McGovern would move to provide senior citizens with adequate income (a $150.00 minimum monthly income for social security recipients and the removal of restrictions on outside earnings), an effective health care program and further opportunity for fulfilling lives. A complete overhaul of the Social Security system would include a 20 percent increase in benefits, a minimum payment tied to the cost of living index and full benefits optionally at age 62, while a Health Security program would cover all medical costs of older citizens and would ensure efficient delivery of health care to them.

The author of the letter which provoked me to reply concluded her statements by calling for applause of the President's efforts to rectify the deplorable situation of senior citizens. I feel that any applause should be reserved for a President who earns it. Senator McGovern has said, "The test of any society is the way in which it treats its older members. We have the resources to pass this test, if we will set our minds to the task."

I urge all senior citizens to examine the record and to respond by voting for themselves and George McGovern Nov. 7.

QUESTIONS MCGOVERN'S FINANCIAL BACKING

To The Editor:

In the past months there have been numerous declarations by Senator McGovern that he opposes the use of tax loopholes by wealthy individuals and corporations, because it is a hardship on the average taxpayer.

It would seem that either the Senator is naively ignorant of some of his own financial backing or the sincerity of his opposition is in question.

Not only individuals, but labor unions and even the National Bank of Washington, have granted "loans" to the McGovern campaign, and in view of the yet unpaid debts from 1968 and the present financial condition of the Democratic Party, prospects of repayment of the present loans are pretty remote.

Included in the list are 11 loans ranging from $100,000 to $200,000, 8 loans from $35,000 to $80,000, and 13 loans from $2,000 to $20,000. The Communications Workers Union also loaned $100,000 to the Senator.

Obviously, those who can loan $100,000 - $200,000 are persons of great wealth, and can, under the "bad debt" loophole, take a tax write-off, when the loan is not repaid.

The making of bank loans for political purposes is legal, according to the Supreme Court, but to quote True Davis, President of the National Bank of Washington, what happens to the money is nobody's business.

This is an absolute falsehood! It is EVERY TAXPAYER'S BUSINESS! It is the taxpayer who will have to pay the tax loss on these loans. Backed by the Federal Treasury, this department will have to turn to the Internal Revenue Service to make up the loss or the Federal deficit increases.

Isn't this the very thing Senator McGovern says he abhors? The Senator SAYS he is against this sort of thing, but he seems to conveniently overlook mention of his own questionable financial backing, while repeatedly accusing the opposition of all sorts of evil doings.

I feel this smacks strongly of hypocrisy and that Senator McGovern owes an explanation to his supporters.

AGAIN ENDORSES JOE VELLA

To The Editor:

A year and a half ago, I came out publicly to endorse Rosario Vella, our present Representative, for re-election from the 59th District. I do so most heartily now.

"Joe", has proven beyond a shadow of a doubt not only that I made the right judgment in endorsing him for the position of representative, but he has proven it over and over again to his constituency, you the people that elected him. As I stated back in April, 1971, that Joe is not a one-termer. I know that all of the voters in the 59th District will vote to keep Joe right there in Hartford doing all the things for all of the people he represents, and then some.

It makes one feel rather proud to know that when you work hard for someone, it shows in that person's accomplishments. As a junior legislator, Joe Vella has the older ones in the House singing his praises, which should make you the people that sent him to Hartford mighty happy and proud too. Joe has shown that he is not a part-time law maker, but rather a full-time one. His is an outstanding record on attendance and voting that is envied by quite a few law makers at the Capitol.

Joe feels the importance of this elected office should be placed above everything else, because he has the trust of every citizen from Enfield in his heart. The young, the middle age, our beloved senior citizens, he cherishes all of their feelings, their thoughts, their desires. He wants to do everything he can for them, as you who have talked to him and have seen him in action know. I am proud to reendorse Joe for another term and I know that every man, woman and person 18 years and over regardless of party affiliation, will vote to come out Nov. 7 and find Joe's slot on the top line and is going to pull that lever because when they do, they will be putting Joe back in the Legislature for two more years in which he will give of himself unselfishly the devoted effort he is capable of putting in.

Let's show Joe on Nov. 7 that his first win was not a fluke. Let us now show our appreciation by re-electing him overwhelmingly.

PUT AMERICA BACK TO WORK

To The Editor:

"Working men and women in this country have had enough inflation and unemployment, freezing wages and boiling prices. We must move to provide for the income, the security and the dignity of the American worker. I intend to see that America goes back to work. Whatever it takes, our goal will be a full employment economy in which every man and woman who wants to work can find a decent and rewarding job."

I do not know whether George McGovern can achieve this goal, but he has certainly shown by his tough minded fight against overwhelming odds during the recent primaries that he is not just another politician who owes his soul to the powerful special interest groups.

Full employment is not just a matter of dignity for the working man — it is just plain common sense. When you have a Republican economic policy which finds a 5 percent unemployment rate to be acceptable, why should anyone be surprised to find we have 4 million more on the welfare rolls in the past four years, or a 35 percent increase in hard drug use. When you figure it takes $125 in stolen goods to support a $20 a day habit, why shouldn't crime be up by one-third since the Republicans occupied the White House. Talk is cheap to the 15 percent of Vietnam veterans in the major cities who cannot find a job.

Whether you are concerned about dignity, about welfare, crime or drugs, doesn't it make sense "to see that America goes back to work?"

And for those that are working shouldn't there be a guarantee of pension rights and pension fund safety as proposed by Senator McGovern? Does it make sense for those in Enfield that worked all their adult lives at Bigelow - Sanford to be left high and dry while this huge corporation picks up stakes to exploit cheap labor down south? All this while profits were moving to record highs.

RESENTS CAMPAIGN SIGNS

To The Editor:

To all those seeking public office in Enfield —

This letter is to register my complaint with you concerning your political campaign signs on public property — namely the trees in Brainerd Park and the trees on the tree belts all over town.

Campaign signs are eye pollutants, just as much as gasoline engine exhaust is an air pollutant, sewage is a water pollutant or noisy jet air planes are ear pollutants. The fact that you take the liberty to nail them to trees which are every bit my property as much as they are any one else's is inexcusable.

Not only are they offensive to look at, but they are also endangering the lives of trees. Every nail driven into the trunk of a tree leaves it susceptible to infection and disease — just as an untended cut or puncture would be to a person.

If you wish to advertise your running for elective office, you have every right to advertise on private property with the owner's permission, but you never asked the public's permission to deface its property and I for one resent the fact.

MCGOVERN'S WAR RECORD

To The Editor:

George McGovern had a commendable record as a pilot in World War II. Nevertheless, his position on abortion seems to ignore German history between 1900 and 1930. During this time, many Germans step by step were convinced that the horrors of Nazi Germany were acceptable.

A brief review of this history reveals that: (1) German intellectuals claimed the world was over-populated and that population control was necessary (1900); (2) "Abortion mills" were established in Germany's largest cities (1920); (3) advocates of euthanasia (killing of the old and infirm) were successful in having small gas chambers installed in German hospitals and mental institutions (late 1920's); (4) Subsequent to the German disrespect for life, Hitler premised his racism on a disrespect for Jews and perfected the use of gas chambers.

George McGovern should be attentive to the lesson learned from German history and say: "Enough. No more. Doctors and hospital boards should immediately stop abortions."

Richard Nixon has not shown a firm commitment to the unborn who are our hope for a better tomorrow.

Nixon has been and is permitting innumerable abortions in military hospitals. As Commander-in-Chief of our military and its facilities, he could prohibit abortions. If Nixon would issue a presidential directive to all military medical facilities, he would be supplying national leadership against a mentality and practice that is ruining America's future.

STATES THE FACTS

Recently, the issue of voluntary school prayers has become somewhat clouded by other than accurate statements.

As state coordinator for the restoration of voluntary school prayers, I would like to state the facts.

(1) Our Constitution guarantees the freedom of religion from politics, we believe that only the people should decide this issue.

(2) The members of Congress that have voted for the Bill, and others that have pledged to support it, desire to have this issue of the right to pray decided by the people. This is true Democracy.

(3) Mrs. Grasso voted against the Bill that would have allowed people to decide for themselves.

(4) Jack Walsh, fortunately, has pledged his support of this right as guaranteed by the Constitution and with a tradition that dates back to our founding fathers.

(5) Gallup, Harris and ABC-TV polls all prove that 91% of Americans desire to have voluntary, non-denominational school prayers.

(6) When prayers were taken out of schools in 1962 (to 1969) the rate of juvenile arrests jumped 68%.

(7) The Daughters of Isabella, Catholic Bishops of Massachusetts, Billy Graham, Bishop Fulton J. Sheen, VFW, American Legion, Grange, Rotary and many other organizations on the national level support school prayers.

(8) Do not be misled by the forces that seek to explain their actions against the right to pray, they are the same forces that defend pornography.

McGovern Takes Strident Tone

Last May Sen. George McGovern said that he was redoubling his efforts to avoid inflammatory rhetoric. "I've tried to be very restrained in what I say to have a calming, reassuring effect, rather than to incite a crowd," he added.

The political and rhetorical distance between May and October was painfully audible when Senator McGovern addressed some 400 editors of news media served by United Press International.

It was a prime forum for the Democrat seeking the presidency to get his message to American citizens. After all, he does insist that people do not know the real George McGovern. Instead, the senator chose the editors' conference to engage in some of his most strident speechmaking to date.

He called the Nixon Administration the most corrupt in history and accused it of trying to "make the press a cheering section." He declared that the President is a man with "no constant principle except opportunism and political manipulation," and for good measure called him a liar. He offered only innuendo, not proof, to back his strong indictments.

Unfortunately, there is substantial evidence that the senator's campaign of vilification is a deliberate, purposeful campaign strategy, not merely a lapse of manners and reason as the result of campaign stress.

In recent weeks he has suggested that psychiatrists should study the President to determine why he is "afraid" of this or that. He has compared Mr. Nixon to a "reformed drunk" for visiting Moscow and Peking. On at least five occasions Senator McGovern has put the President into the same mold as Hitler, insisting that he was "power mad" and that his attitude toward youth is "like an animal that feeds on its young."

Nor are his attacks limited to his opponent. Senator McGovern has called poll takers "nutty" men who conspire in back rooms to influence elections. He describes Cabinet members as "lackeys" or worse. He casts aspersions on many of his own colleagues in the Senate, labels some columnists who oppose him as "paranoid propagandists." Responsible labor leaders who cannot support McGovern are to him persons who "should have their heads examined." He has said that young persons who will vote for the President are "too confused to know which side is up."

These are sensationalist attacks which do not outline the senator's programs or shed light on the issues, although they may tell us something about his character. They are words of confusion and desperation.

In a keynote address to the Democratic National Convention last July Larry O'Brien, then chairman of his party, said that Democrats would "cool the excessive political rhetoric . . . lighten the purple prose." He should remind Senator McGovern of this high political road.

REP. BIGOS, A "PHANTOM LEGISLATOR"

To The Editor:

When I hear comments such as "I hate politics" or "Politics is dirty", it's disturbing, but I can understand why, when I read articles such as Mr. Bigos releases.

These newspaper releases, issued by Mr. Kealey, Mr. Bigos' publicity chairman, have said absolutely nothing about the positive things accomplished by Mr. Bigos, only smears against Rep. Vella. Why resort to this type of campaign if Mr. Bigos is such a great legislator? Can't he run on his own record instead of trying to smear that of Rep. Vella?

I'll tell you why! Mr. Bigos — although a state representative for 10 years — has been a phantom legislator. Until Mr. Vella was elected and started working for the people of Enfield, no one heard of Mr. Bigos. People who live in the "old 45th District" didn't even know he was their representative.

I have a brochure put out by Mr. Bigos in which he lists his accomplishments. No where is there listed a bill sponsored by Mr. Bigos — only that he co-sponsored six bills. In ten years time! Really now.

For 12 years Democrats controlled the legislature with a Democratic Governor, but yet money did not come into Enfield until we had a Republican Governor and Mr. Vella as our Representative.

The Generic Drug Bill came out of committee from all the committee, and not from Mr. Bigos.

"Politics is dirty" and I repeat a Representative that he can only list six bills that he co-sponsored after 10 years — well I guess he has to resort to smears.

Thank goodness for men like Rosario T. Vella who can list their accomplishments and do not have to run that type of campaign.

QUITTING DEMOCRAT PARTY

I dissociate myself from the Enfield Democratic Party, and I resign from any appointments made by them.

I further resolve to work for any other party, that will work for me, as well as I will work for it.

On Tuesday, the same day as the State and National Election is held, between the hours of 6 a.m. to 8 p.m., the voters of Enfield shall have opportunity to vote on the Freshwater Pond Urban Renewal Project. The renewal project is bounded to the east by Enfield St., south by High and Central Sts., west by Pearl, Main and North Main Sts., north by North Main Sts.,

The Town's share of this $7,199,375 Urban Renewal Project shall be $899,922. The majority of the monies to finance this project shall be received from the State and Federal governments. In fact, 87½ percent or $6,299,453 shall come from other levels of government. The Town's share shall be paid for by increased revenues resulting from the project developments. The Urban Renewal Project shall not require a tax increase over the life of the project.

In the event the major public improvements such as the construction and reconstruction of existing streets, new curbs and sidewalks, separation of existing storm and sanitary sewers, installation of new and rehabilitated sewers, and the installation of new storm sewers are not carried out by the Urban Renewal Plan, the Town will be forced to make these improvements at some future time without state and federal grants.

In other words, the question facing you, the voter, is shall the Town spend $899,922 and have a $7,199,375 project or shall it defeat the Urban Renewal Project and spend an excess of $1,356,250. If the Urban Renewal Project is defeated a tax increase will be required to finance these necessary and needed improvements for this area. The question is up to you — the voter.

This general area has been recommended in our own Master Plan. It has been reviewed by the Capitol Region Planning Agency and found to be consistent with the regional plan. The plan has been reviewed by the following state agencies: Departments of Transportation, Community Affairs, Finance and Control, and Environmental Protection Commission has endorsed the urban renewal plan.

Locally the project has been supported and approved by the Enfield Planning and Zoning Commission, Citizens Advisory Committee, the Enfield Jaycees and the Enfield Housing Authority.

In conclusion, the decision facing the voter is should the Town proceed with the Urban Renewal Plan with no tax increase over the life of the project or shall the Town make the necessary improvements without any state and federal funds and require a tax increase to carry out the needed improvements.

Located in the educational Dieters Donate Halloween Goodies

The feast of Halloween presented a challenge to the members of the Diet Workshop classes of Western Mass. and of dieting and losing weight, they were confronted with candied apples, chocolate bars, popcorn balls, candy corn and peanut brittle. Trick or treat to a dieter means exactly that — if they eat the treat, the trick is on them. A gain instead of a loss, will be the trick.

With this in mind, each member brought to class a treat that tempted them and put these treats together to be distributed to Monson State Hospital, Belchertown State Hospital and the Berkshire Nursing Home in Pittsfield, all in Mass. By sacrificing and sharing with others, members felt a great "fulfillment" and sense of accomplishment. Many members baked cookies and brownies to be distributed along with the candy. As any dieter knows — baking and not taking one bite is the "supreme sacrifice."

To celebrate Halloween some groups held a "before and after" fashion show and dunked for apples. Refreshments included oatmeal cookies, gingerbread pears, pumpkin pie, chocolate cupcakes and apple cooler. The Diet Workshop of Western Mass. and Northern Conn. offices are in West Springfield, Mass.

wing of the Hazardville United Methodist Church on Hazard Ave., the Center's hours are 7 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Operating twelve months of the year, children enjoy a full nursery school and kindergarten experience based on an aim to promote the development of children socially, emotionally, physically and intellectually. There is a health program, including daily check ups by a nurse from the V.N.A. The nutritional program consists of a breakfast, a hot lunch and a mid morning and mid-afternoon snack. An additional program is social services for parents who request aid. The staff, along with a psychiatric social worker and a psychologist as consultants, cooperate with families towards the goal of strengthening family life.

To qualify for the Day Care Center, children must be at least 3 year of age and toilet trained. They must be from low and moderate income families. The need for day care must be established as opposed to nursery school experience. The center is financed by the state and is funded "to provide care to children who have to be away from their parents for the greater portion of the day."

For the future, the Day Care Center is actively planning to use volunteers to assist the teachers, do carpentry work, and assist the cook and custodian. It is hoped that this will enhance community recognition of the program and assist the center's staff in their efforts.

Cheerleaders In Clean Sweep Of Charter Oak Finals

The Enfield Americans mid-gate football cheerleaders walked away with first place in the Charter Oak Cheerleading Jam-boree held Saturday, Oct. 28 at Sage Park Junior High School in Windsor, Conn.

This is an annual affair and included 18 other cheerleading squads.

Enfield made a clean sweep of the competition as the Enfield Lancers' cheerleaders came in second and the Enfield Rambler came in third.

The Enfield Americans cheerleaders scored a perfect five on all phases of the judging.

The Americans are coached by Terrie Gaines and the cheerleaders include: Valerie Gaines, captain; Linda Baltuskous, Donna Dube, Frannie Froment, Jane Godbois, Ann Kweder, Ann Michaels, Lori Magora, Lori Packard and Shauna Saley.

The sponsors for the teams are the Enfield Parents Sports Association for the Americans and the Enfield Jaycees for the Lancers and Ramblers.

All three squads are to be congratulated for this fine showing of Enfield cheerleading.

Hood Ornament

This is not really a new hood ornament. It is really a woman (on the right) and a man (on the left) trying to beat each other in a contest to see who can keep his hands on the car for the longest period of time. Another man was resting on the back of the car as the picture was taken. The winner will win the car. The contest was 188 hours old when the picture was taken.

Enfield Raiders Defeat Falcons

The Fitch Falcons of Groton, Conn. became the second victim in a row for the Enfield High School Raiders. The first period was highlighted by a series of punts and turnovers on both sides. Falcon quarterback Mike Woska received a shoulder injury and was taken to the hospital for x rays.

Enfield had a good scoring opportunity when they punted to the five yard line of Fitch and recovered a fumble on Fitch's first play from scrimmage. Steve Binette tried a Raider field goal after Enfield failed to score but it was blocked and Fitch took over. The Falcons started a long drive of their own but were stopped by a fumble which was recovered by Enfield's Jim Humphries. The first period ended scoreless.

The Raiders struck early in the second period as Fitch's Bailey fumbled a punt and Enfield's Dan Donnelly recovered on the Fitch 31. Quarterback Pat Riley hit Bennett for 18 yards and a first down. Riley then handed off to Krekorian, who bulled down to the 10. Binette then took a Riley pitchout and went in standing up for the score. Binette kicked the point after and Enfield led 7-0.

The Raiders front four put a big rush on the Fitch punter on the next series and blocked the kick, recovering at the Falcon 36. An offside penalty and a Binette carry took Enfield to the 24 and Riley then drilled a strike to Binette for the touchdown. Binette's kick was good and the Raiders went off at the half with a 14-0 lead.

Enfield scored a safety to start the third period as Don Roy caught Bailey in the end zone, making it Enfield 16 Fitch

0. Fitch free kicked at the point to their 45 and Enfield started another drive but an errant pass by Greg Dumas was picked off by the Falcon's Mike Gardner. Hard running halfback Joe Seeley got in the scoring act next as he broke off tackle to score from 21 yards out. Binette again added the conversion and Enfield led 23-0.

Falcon running back Mike Lowe then put the visitors on the scoreboard as he rambled 91 yards on a kickoff return. The conversion attempt failed.

After an exchange of punts Fitch's Ray Rensi kicked from deep in his own territory to the Enfield 49 where Binette did it again as he side-stepped two tacklers and raced 51 yards for the final touchdown. Enfield lined up for a kick try but Riley faked the kick and threw a bullseye to Ray Mancuso who was all alone in the end zone. Final score: Enfield 31, Fitch 6.

Enfield is now 2-4 on the season. The Raiders had 10 first downs to seven for Fitch and ran 60 offensive plays to Fitch's 53 offensive plays.

The Enfield Raiders will travel to Hartford this Saturday to take on the strong Weaver High eleven. Game time is 1:30 p.m.

Enfield JV Team Beats Fermi, 29-0

The Enfield High junior varsity football team shut out a hard hitting Fermi team 29-0 in the first game played between the two schools. This brought Enfield's record to 4-1 for the season.

Sophomore quarterback Joe Dippel led the Raiders attack as he threw long and short and utilized his running backs nicely to take an 8-0 half time lead.

Ron Chevalier, Joe Coutois and Carm Conte did the bulk of the running while ends Rich Morris and Don Bureau pulled in most of the Dippel aeriels. Brian Hallet did an outstanding kicking job for the Enfield Raiders.

Enfield's sophomore defensive unit, which Coaches Arnold and LaPlante feel is one of the best in recent years, turned in a super effort against a tough Fermi offense. Standouts in the Raiders 43 pro-type defense were Dave Flower, Jim Santacrocce, Tony Brown, Dennis LePage, Bill Olschafskie, Rick Olschafskie, Bruce Soderlund, Bruce Humphries and Bill DeMur.

The Enfield coaching staff were proud of their entire squad and had praise for the hard-nosed play and sportsmanship of the Falcon team. Singled out for their fine play were Mark Cunningham, Bob Desjardin, Pete Lamagna, Carl Scavotto and Steve Angelica.

The varsity squads meet on Thanksgiving morning at 10:30 at Enfield High for the final game of the 1972 season.

Ramblers Defeat E. Hartford Vikings

The Enfield Ramblers mid-gate football team beat the East Hartford Vikings by a 28-0 score despite a light rainfall throughout the game. The Ramblers set a fine pace and kept the ball moving in their first series which was climaxed by P. J. Moschetti's 23 yard run, that put the Ramblers ahead 6-0. The conversion failed.

The Vikings came right back and picked up two first downs before being forced to punt. The Rambler A-team could not move the ball and when the B-teams took the field the Ramblers were forced to punt from their own 12. Green kicked the local boys out of the hole and the B squad moved 50 yards in 10 plays for another score. Green ran it in from 10 yards out for the touchdown. Jensen scored the points after and Enfield led at the half 14-0.

The third period featured the running of B-teamers Green, Jim Spence, Vin Hogan and John Mochetti as they set up the Rambler's third score. Mark Palomba passed five yards to Dave Thibodeau for the score. Pete Moschetti went over for the conversion putting Enfield ahead 22-0.

After an exchange of punts, Palomba found Moschetti alone at the 30 and Pistol Pete ran the remaining yards for the final Rambler score. The conversion failed and the score remained Enfield 28, East Hartford 0.

Coach Bill Cooper praised the A-line of Thibodeau, Rooney, Leard, Butenas, Bennett, Pliszka, LaRoche and Tryzna and the A-backfield of Palomba, Pete Moschetti, Levesque, Ouellette and Russell.

The Rambler B-squad standouts were Stuart King, Sean McGuire, Randy Wylott, Tim Girard, John Zukowski, Tom Rhoades, Mike Maciolek and Ernest Philbrick in the line and Brian Green, John Moschetti.

Enfield Americans Upended By Vernon Shamrocks, 12-8

Last Sunday the Enfield Americans midget football team took on the tough Vernon Shamrocks at the Enfield Street School Field before a large, noisy, rain-soaked crowd. The Americans lost 12-8.

The game was one of the best played midget football games to be seen here in recent seasons and both coaching staffs can be very proud of the way their boys performed.

Enfield's Jim Cwikla opened the game by booming one out of the end zone. The Shamrocks took over at the 15 yard line and were held in the first series by the fired up Enfield defense.

Enfield's first opportunity to score came after an exchange of punts as tackle Wesley Reaves blocked a punt deep in Shamrock territory. The Vernon defense stiffened, however, and stifled Enfield's scoring drive.

The game was very even up to the second quarter mark when Vernon punched in for a well earned score. The conversion failed and at the half it was Vernon 6, Enfield 0.

The second half opened with both teams really popping each other and Enfield picked up some good yardage only to be stopped cold once they got into Vernon territory.

The score remained 6-0 well into the third period as they A-teams took the field with Enfield taking over on their own nine yard line. Quarterback Fran Duggan then pitched out to Pete Handley on a halfback option and Handley threw a perfect strike to Joe Scavotto, who side-stepped two Vernon line-backers and outran the secondary for Enfield's only score. Duggan then went to his bread-and-butter fullback Steve Ziter, who barreled in for the two-point conversion, making the score Enfield 8, Vernon 6.

Late in the fourth period, with time running out, Vernon got the ball and picked up two first downs and with the ball on Enfield's 30 yard line, the Vernon halfback scored on an end sweep behind some nice downfield blocking. The conversion attempt failed and the final score was Vernon 12, Enfield 8. Both the Enfield A and B teams played superbly in this final regular season game.

Players of the week were Wes Reaves on the A-team and Bill Gaines on the B-team.

Next week the Enfield Americans will take on the Enfield Ramblers at the Enfield Street School Field. Game time will be 1:30 p.m. This series is the highlight of the year for the three local midget teams and all past records can be forgotten when these teams meet for the Enfield Midget Football Championship and the much sought after Bruce Gagnon Memorial Trophy. (Young Gagnon was a former midget player who is killed in an auto accident two years ago).

The winner of the American Rambler game will meet the undefeated Enfield Lancers for the championship.

All Enfield football fans are invited to attend this game. Admission is free and refreshments will be available.

C-Team Mauls Shamrocks, 46-6
The Enfield American's C-teams met the undefeated Vernon Shamrock C-team in the preliminary game last Sunday and really put on a show for the local fans.

Scoring for the C-team were Narcisse, Gumkowski, Liquori and Michael. Narcisse led the parade with four touchdowns.

C-team coach Tom Puleri praised the entire team, and especially the offensive and defensive line. Next Saturday the C-team will play the Windsor Locks Eagles at the Enfield Street School Field.

Chargers Swamp Willow Glen Team

The Nelson Electric Chargers of Enfield won their eighth game in 10 starts last Sunday as they downed the undermanned Willow Glen Dolphins 28-0 at Fermi High School field.

A heavy rain fell throughout the first period to dampen the scoring efforts of both teams in the Suburban Touch Football League game. Al Nash boomed a 50 yard punt to put the Dolphins in a big hole but the Chargers couldn't capitalize on it.

Coach Dick Prayzner inserted his scrambling quarterback, Mike Angelica, into the game in the second period and it paid off. Angelica found Chuck Ravosa on a delayed pass for a 30 yard touchdown play. He then passed to Russotto for a two-point conversion.

Tom Arietti intercepted a Dolphin pass to get the ball back for the offense but they failed to gain a first down on three plays. Nash dropped back into punt formation and caught the Dolphins by surprise as he lobbed a pass to Angelica for a first down. Angelica then found Roger Frangiamore on a 25 yard pass play for another touch-down. The pass for a two pointer failed and the half ended with the Chargers ahead 14-0.

Steve Binette intercepted an other Dolphin pass in the third period but the Chargers were unable to take advantage of it. Dave Petursson returned a punt 30 yards in the period but the Chargers again could do nothing with it.

Frangiamore took over as quarterback in the final stanza and completed a 25 yard pass to Chuck Ravosa for the touchdown. The conversion again failed. The Dolphins put on a nice drive to take them to the Charger 10 before Angelica grabbed another interception and ran 90 yards for a Charger score. A two-point pass to Carlander was good. The final score was Chargers 28, Dolphins 0.

Angelica completed seven of 10 passes while Frangiamore made good on four of eleven. Angelica rushed for 75 yards in the game.

The Chargers will enter the playoffs this Sunday against the Cardinals at Phelps Field in Agawam. The time has not yet been announced.

'Accent On Youth'

By JUDY WHITE

November 1972 sees many more Americans eligible to vote in a presidential election than ever before, partly because there ARE more Americans, but mainly because eighteen-, nineteen-, and twenty-year-olds throughout the fifty states now have the vote.

Until a century ago nearly all American voters were white males, twenty-one and older. The Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments (1868 and 1870) gave the Negro male (over twenty-one) the right to vote although for many black people these amendments have had practical meaning only in recent years. In 1920 the Nineteenth Amendment conferred the vote on American women (over twenty-one).

The Twenty-sixth Amendment ratified last year provides: "The right of citizens of the United States, who are eighteen years of age or older, to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state government on account of age."

Each of us, through no personal choice, is a member of a race (or mixture of races), of the male or female sex, of an age group. When people were excluded from voting because of one of these categories, such exclusion was valid cause for banding together to win the franchise. But with how much wisdom do we continue — as many do — to accent differences of race, sex, and age in the decisions we make about candidates and issues?

Several years ago on a cross country flight a young black man named Carl was my seat mate; in years I, a white woman, was old enough to be his mother. Conversation ranged over many subjects — civil rights, U.S. foreign policy, population control, the environment, drug addiction. Naturally we did not agree on every issue.

But our viewpoints were amazingly close — closer than my views are with those of many other whites, with those of many other women, with those of many other fifty-year olds. Carl, too, based his opinions on considerations other than his race, his sex, and his age.

Carl told me a story which has bothered me ever since. On a previous New York - San Francisco flight he had met a black doctor and his wife, flying west to "rescue" their daughter, a freshman at a liberal arts university in the San Francisco area. She had grown up in an integrated upper-middle class community, where she chose as her friends people, black or white, who enjoyed the recreation she enjoyed, laughed at the things that she found funny, and shared her serious interests. She went off to college, assuming she would find friends on the same basis.

But the black militants on campus had other ideas. Blacks should associate exclusively with blacks. They made the girl's life so miserable, because her identity was with the human race rather than with a segment of it, that after two months of her freshman year her parents, fearing a nervous breakdown, flew west to take her home.

In the past the interests of the country have suffered when congressmen put their constituents' special interests above the needs of the nation. The same can be true if voters vote, legislators legislate, and governors (including presidents) govern, on the basis of special interests of race, sex, and age.

To the extent people of one race, sex, or age group have known injustice as a group, correction of that injustice is a valid aim. But the majority of government's legitimate concerns need a broader vision, with a minimum of attention to differences which, hopefully, will become increasingly irrelevant.

If you who read this chance to be a black woman, over eighteen but not yet twenty-one, you have a right and a responsibility which a century ago might have been denied you on three counts. What you have today is in itself a denial of the charge sometimes heard that repression is on the rise. The several liberating amendments to the U.S. Constitution can be justified many times over if you vote, not as black, not as woman, not as young, but as American, thoughtful and concerned — and if millions of others, ignoring THEIR race, sex, and age, do the same.

Rep. Hanzalek Announces Results Of Questionnaire Sent To Citizens

Mrs. Astrid T. Hanzalek, incumbent State Representative from the 61st District (Suffield, Granby and East Granby) — and now running for re-election from the new 61st District (Suffield, East Granby and the northern half of Windsor) — announced that preliminary results were available from the questionnaire recently sent out with her 1972 legislative report. Mrs. Hanzalek emphasized that the results were highlights from the responses received to date and that a full report would be issued later. Approximately 8,500 newsletters (with questionnaires) were sent out. Results released today are based on a preliminary 2 per cent return, she said.

54 per cent of those responding opposed a state income tax. Of those who favored such a tax, all but 3 individual voters considered a state income tax acceptable only if accompanied by reductions of the state's other taxes: property, sales, gasoline, cigarette, inheritance, etc. Sentiment was about evenly divided between a graduated income tax and one based on a flat percentage of all income.

On governmental expenses and taxes — at all levels — considerable concern was expressed that both were increasing at an alarming rate. Most of those answering the questionnaire felt we should find ways to spend less rather than more.

Taxes specifically singled out as UNFAIR included the property tax, sales taxes (particularly those on children's clothing), capital gains and dividend taxes, and inheritance taxes.

Over 50 percent of those responding specifically mentioned excess state personnel and inefficient bureaucracy as areas where severe cuts should be made. 17 percent wanted to eliminate "useless programs" and called for better management. 16 percent felt the cost of education needed to be reduced. 27 percent wanted to cut welfare costs at all levels. Only 6 individuals did NOT want to see any further cuts in state spending.

In the general area of Federal spending, 21 percent felt that spending on the military and defense should be drastically cut. Others wanted to see cuts in foreign aid, farm subsidies and space exploration.

In answer to where the state should be doing more and spending more, 46 percent said "NO WHERE" — including 13 percent who felt the state should be looking for ways to reduce costs and even provide fewer services. The other responders felt the state could be making a greater effort in at least one of a number of specific areas which pretty well covered the spectrum of human needs. Those included education, mass transit, protecting the environment, law enforcement, court reform, state economic development, job-retraining, health, mental health, assistance for the elderly, etc.

On the question of an Equal Rights Amendment to the federal constitution, 61 percent do not feel that action should be postponed until citizens have had a chance to vote on the matter by referendum. In a related question, 68 percent felt that the state legislature should ratify the Equal Rights Amendment to the U. S. Constitution.

59 percent of the responders are opposed to Connecticut having a presidential primary. 76 percent are opposed to legalizing sale and use of marijuana. 53 percent are opposed to having tighter gun control.

Mandatory Standard Requires Children's Wear To Be Sold Bearing Label 'Flammable'

Mrs. Barbara Dunn, Commissioner of Consumer Protection, stated today that her office has received numerous inquiries from mothers throughout the State as to why children's pajamas, nightgowns and robes were sold bearing the label "flammable."

"A mandatory standard, issued by the Commerce Department, requires that all children's pajamas, nightgowns and robes in sizes 0 through 6X either pass a strict flame test or be permanently and conspicuously labeled 'flammable.' This regulation went into effect July 29, 1972.

"The Department of Commerce's National Bureau of Standards did the technical work on which the standard is based. It was found that 1 out of 9 clothing fire accidents involves preschool children in sleepwear. The new standard is intended to protect younger children and to reduce the toll of deaths and injuries.

"All sleepwear, sizes 0 through 6X, manufactured after July 29, 1972, must pass the specified flame test or be labeled. One year from July 29, the labeling provision will expire and all sleepwear will have to pass the test or be removed from the market. However, sleepwear manufactured before July 29, 1972, may still be in the stores and, therefore, probably has not been tested nor labeled. Some stores are voluntarily putting labels on sleepwear manufactured prior to the July 29th regulation so that consumers will know that this is flammable. Consumers should look for the voluntary 'nonflammable' label or the required 'flammable' label."

She further stated, "One of the best parts of the law is that it requires the fiber manufacturer to test the flammability of the product before it can be sold. There wasn't any previous requirement for testing.

"Certain fiber manufacturers are now complying with the nonflammability standard rather than waiting for August 1, 1973. They sell to children's sleepwear manufacturers and such garments are safe within the federal rule and require no marking such as 'flammable.'"

She urges parents to check the labels of children's garments and, if marked "flammable," to exercise caution before purchasing.

The U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare reported 4,000 deaths and about 200,000 injuries in 1971 for all age groups due to burning clothing. For pre-school children, many of the deaths were caused by robes and pajamas that ignited and fatally burned the child before the flames could be extinguished.

Guild Cookbook Offers Suggestions

For The Would-Be Gourmet

The Holy Family Women's Guild Cookbook is unique and most interesting with regard to the new twist it offers for the "same old ingredients." Appetizers, relishes and jams and jellies are included as well as main course meat and fish and dessert, pies and cookies have a gourmet taste. The method of cooking most items is traditional and easy. The cookbook is definitely designed with today's busy, economy-minded homemaker in mind.

Fay McCafferty of Weymouth Rd., Enfield, is chairman of the fund-raising project. She has been assisted by Ades Benoit, Shirley Bosquet, Mary Jane Bullotta, Eleanor Fontana, Blanche Frank, Annette Leitao, Margaret Nadeau, Sheila Reardon, Cathy Simone, Marilyn Thompson and Pat Whitty as well as Jim Finn and Jack McCafferty. Mary Jane Bullotta drew the cover design and the imaginative illustrations inside the cookbook.

The cookbook is $3.50 and may be obtained by contacting Mrs. McCafferty.

'Women On Wheels' Program

"Women on Wheels" program has been developed by Chrysler Motors Corporation, not only to familiarize women with their car and how it operates, but how to keep it operating properly and safely, and many of the things that they can do to help themselves when the car does not operate, how to drive more safely and how to handle road emergencies.

It familiarizes them with the mechanisms of their car that make it run and stop, and what one can do in case the car does not perform properly.

With the aid of four basic hand tools, a woman will be able to perform many emergency repairs on the vehicle. The basic tools are a 6" adjustable wrench, a blade screwdriver, a Phillips screwdriver and a pair of common pliers.

Enfield Chrysler Plymouth supplies a loose leaf binder and reference material for each woman enrolled in the program and a certificate is presented to each lady at the 4th and final session.

John A. Young, service representative from the Regional Office in Natick, Chrysler Corp. is shown instructing.

These 4 sessions are being put on in conjunction with the YWCA.

Another course is scheduled tentatively for January, 1973. Anyone interested should contact the local YWCA office or Enfield C-P.

Lwv Sends Candidates Scoreboard To Voters

The League of Women Voters of Suffield is mailing non-partisan information on the candidates in the Nov. 7 election to 2788 householders in the town, free of charge.

Included is the "Suffield Voters Scoreboard," compiled and published by the local league, under the leadership of Mrs. Janet Banks, Voters Service Chairman, about the four candidates to the General Assembly; and "Facts For Connecticut Voters," published by the LWV of Connecticut about the candidates for president and vice president of the United States, and the candidates for the six Congressional Districts.

The candidates for the General Assembly — Charles T. Alfano, D and Charles C. Draghi, R. for Senator in the Seventh District; and Stanley J. Malec, D and Astrid T. Hanzalek, R. for Representative in the 61st District, each provided biographical data, and answers to two questions which are published in the Suffield Scoreboard.

The questions are: what do you consider the three top state priorities and how would you suggest they be financed?; and how do you propose meeting the total financial requirements of the state and local governments?

The voters will find their replies make interesting reading. Those who attended the recent Candidates Night program sponsored by the Suffield league had an opportunity to see and hear the four candidates in person. Mrs. Banks was moderator for the program, and the two party chairmen: Dr. Edmund Sullivan, D., and James Whitten, R., introduced the candidates. Main issues discussed by the candidates then were mass transportation, tax reform, the power of the legislature vs. the administration; the 18 - year old vote and the state abortion law.

Copies of the Candidate Information sheets will also be available at Mark's Pharmacy on Mountain Rd. and the Kent Memorial Library Mrs. Banks said.

The cryogenic products are shipped to these industries from the Suffield Plant in especially designed trucks and trailers as well as to Linde Distribution centers in New Haven, Connecticut, South Sudbury, Massachusetts, and Albany, New York. Friends Of Kent Library Fund Drive Attains Goal

Mrs. Owen Hedden, president of the Friends of Kent Memorial Library reported the Friends went over their $75,000 goal for the drive to purchase furnishings for the new library. A total of $75,500 was reached in cash pledges including a $20,000 gift from the Hartford Foundation for giving. There were 602 shareholders — each contributor received a certificate for "A Share in Suffield's Progress" as a shareholder.

Lester Smith, treasurer, reported $44,000 had been received in cash in the drive which has provided present furnishings and furniture in the new building. He also reported $750 realized in the three used book sales conducted during the two - day Octoberfest made almost $400, in spite of rain on the first day.

Mrs. Hedden reported Mrs. John Boyd is the new Calendar service reporter, replacing Mrs. David Patterson.

The officers for 1972 - 73, all re-elected, are Mrs. Hedden, president; Dr. Edmund Sullivan, vice president; Mrs. Donald Butler, secretary; and Lester Smith, treasurer. Directors are Mrs. Bradford Gooch and Mrs. Rudolph Schmidt, re-elected, and James Stewart, new, to replace Mrs. Frank Wyckoff, who has retired after being on the board for three years.

Miss Elinor Burnham, librarian, outlined some plans for future services that could be provided for all ages through the use of the expanded facilities in the new building. They included story hours for pre - school children to start Saturday; special projects and programs for children in the summer, book discussion groups with community leaders for high school students; film programs planned by young adults for themselves; adult discussion groups on books; art exhibits by local artists in the multi - purpose room which will be available to all town organizations for meetings; and outstanding speakers about books and writers for the public.

She said she would like to see the building used for a true "community center" for the town. She stressed the need for volunteers for all these projects and programs. Volunteers are already helping the library staff, but more will be needed, she said, including a "proctor" for the historical room, when it is in use.

Democratic Candidates Rally

Suffield Democrats will hold a rally for Congressional and state Assembly candidates Sunday, Nov. 5, at 3 p.m. at John's Foodtown. The public is invited.

Present will be Congresswoman Ella Grasso, of Windsor Locks, who is seeking re - election from the Sixth District; State Senator Charles T. Alfano of Suffield, who is seeking re-election from the Seventh Senatorial District; and Stanley Malec of Suffield, candidate for the 61st Assembly District seat held by Rep. Astrid Hanzalek of Suffield.

Secretary of State Gloria Shaeffer is expected. Dr. Edmund Sullivan, Democratic Town Chairman, will be present. Robert Mero, town committee member and local campaign chairman, is chairman of the rally.

Each candidate will say a few words and there will be an opportunity for the public to meet and talk with the candidates.

Historical Society Sets Annual Dinner Meeting

Robert Gunshanan, program chairman of the Suffield Historical Society has announced that Ralph Hodgkinson, Director of Craft Demonstrations at Old Sturbridge Village, will be the guest speaker at the annual dinner meeting on Nov. 9 at Suffield Inn on Mountain Rd. Hodgkinson will speak on "A Century of Farm Life".

A native of Worcester, Mass., and a graduate of Worcester Polytechnic Institute and Harvard Graduate School of Education, the speaker has taught at Williston and Montclair Academies, and was producer of slide sound films. He has also been in industrial advertising. Since 1958 he has been associated with Old Sturbridge Village. He is the author of numerous articles on tools and crafts.

Mrs. Mary Ann Zak, society president, has arranged for the meeting to be held at the Suffield Inn with a social hour at 6 p.m. and a buffet supper at 7 p.m. The cost is $4.75 per person. It is requested that reservations be made with Miss Jessie Marnick, P. O. Box 354, Suffield by Saturday.

The public is welcome to attend.

Board Of Finance Approves Carten Property Purchase

Mott Garlock, Board of Finance chairman, has announced that the finance board members have visited the Carten property on Mountain Rd., Suffield, on the sites proposed for a new town garage, and have approved the purchase of 2 1/4 acres of the property at a price "just under $20,000."

The property adjoins the 1 1/2 acres now occupied by the present town garage.

The original offer of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Carter of $39,500 for 4.5 acres was turned down by the finance board earlier as being too high. Since then Carter has sold two acres to Pacific Triangle Company. Garlock said the finance board feels that 2 1/4 acres is enough for the proposed new garage.

Second Selectman Henry Zavisza, head of the town garage building committee is expected to attend the board's Nov. 13 meeting to present estimated cost figures of the garage construction.

The appropriation for the purchase price of the Carter property will have to go to the voters at a future special town meeting.
