Moffett Is Opposed To New Railway Plan

Testifying at hearings in Washington on the government's proposed Northeast and Midwest rail reorganization plan, Congressman Toby Moffett (D-Conn.) stated that the "future impact of this preliminary plan would be devastating" in Connecticut's Sixth District.

Other areas too, he said, would face severe economic dislocation if the plan were adopted.

Moffett charged that the U.S. Railway Association (USRA), which designed the Preliminary System Plan, ignored Congressionally mandated goals such as "minimization of job losses" in its recommendations for abandonment of light-density lines.

Moffett was particularly critical of the Association's "very narrow" definition of "profitability", saying that they failed to take into consideration the social and economic impact on communities and users along rail lines that are shut down.

The Connecticut Congressman testified before a panel of Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) and Rail Services Planning Office (RSPO) officials, who are soliciting public response to the preliminary plan. Moffett said that his District this project started by the Public Affairs Committee. They feel with the rise in teenage alcoholism, Officer Foy is reaching a few younger children to educate them on this rising drug.

Cressotti Favors Psychology Bill

State Representative Richard D. Cressotti (D-59th) has come out in full support of House Bill Number 7342 regarding reimbursement of services to licensed psychologists.

Medical insurance policies which presently provide for reimbursement for services rendered by psychiatrists do not include those services rendered by licensed psychologists. This bill would provide that medical benefits in insurance contracts include direct payments for services that can lawfully be performed by licensed psychologists.

If passed, the bill would provide benefits in several areas, perhaps the greatest being a greater access for the people of the state to mental health services. Mental health clinics, which currently rely to a great extent on state and town funding, would be recipients of increased revenues through an increased third party payment. This would allow such centers to hire the additional staff needed to provide adequate and professional mental health services to the community.

Representative Cressotti will be working closely with the sponsors of the bill to insure its passage this session. The General Assembly's Joint Committee on Insurance and Real Estate, of which Representative Cressotti is a member, has drafted the bill for further consideration.

Five Too Many?

There are no less than six similar "Wrong Way" signs up the eastbound exit ramp from I-190 onto Pearl Street. Five are visible here, the sixth being obscured by the car. The point is, this is an excessive use of not only material but of money when one or at the least, two would suffice.

Coordinator, David Russell, testified today at similar RSPD hearings in Wethersfield.

Moffett told the panel that he is prepared to "carry the fight into the Congress" or into the courts, if necessary, to have the plan overturned if the USRA fails to consider fully the consequences of rail abandonment.

"It is not as though jobs are a dime a dozen," said Moffett. "It is not as though our State and local economies are vibrant. What we have is a depressed economy, on top of which this Agency (USRA) is suggesting that we place yet another major burden . . ."

The Sixth District Democrat also stated that the USRA had "treated lightly some of the more important options for the future development of the rails." He referred specifically to the creation of a Consolidated Facilities Corp. (ConFac), which USRA mentions in its plan.

A thorough evaluation of the ConFac plan, which basically calls for government rehabilitation and maintenance of Northeast railbeds, was suppressed by certain USRA board members, according to Moffett.

He additionally criticized the lack of freight lines into Connecticut, claiming that the one major entrance into the State — the Springfield to Hartford to New Haven line — is inadequate.

Moffett insisted that he is "not taking a parochial view" in his opposition to the abandonment of light-density rail lines. "Instead," he stated, "we are saying that we oppose the basic approach that the USRA has taken."

Are women really tougher than men?

Psychiatrists find it hard to say whether men or women are the tougher sex.

More than twice as many men as women commit suicide (103.6 per 100,000 compared to 34.3 per 100,000 in a study of white men and women in 1967 and 1968) but more women than men are treated for depression each year, professionals say. — CNS

Some lucky couple visiting the 9th Annual Home Show will win an all-expense paid trip to Bermuda courtesy of R. J. McKenna & Sons Travel Agency and the Greater Enfield Chamber of Commerce. Shown above are Raymond Peltier, right, chairman of the event which will be held at Enfield High School April 4, 5, and 6 and Robert McKenna, left. The Grand Prize is to be drawn at the close of the show at 5 p.m. on Sunday. Second prize, sponsored by the McKenna Agency is at "Jug End in the Berkshires". Annual Home Show Booths Sold Out

The final countdown toward the opening of the 9th Annual Home Show is under way. Ribbon-cutting ceremonies are scheduled for 6 p.m. April 4, at Enfield High School with the show continuing through Sunday.

According to Chairman Raymond Peltier, every foot of booth space has been reserved for over a week and there is a waiting list of exhibitors. "This is the earliest that we've had to post the 'sold out' sign in recent years," said Peltier. He attributes that fact to the reputation for efficiency and good attendance that the show has built up during the nine years of its existence. It was pointed out that the Enfield Home Show is produced entirely by volunteers from the Greater Enfield Chamber of Commerce membership. "The presentation of continuous entertainment and grand prizes are features not available even in our neighboring larger cities," enthused Peltier.

Diversified exhibits is another key factor in the attractiveness of the Home Show. This year, visitors will see demonstrated new products in home insulation and heating and new ideas in interior and exterior home remodeling. Spring brides can get assistance in planning their wedding day from printers, photographers and caterers. Unusual exhibits will include cake decorating and thumbprint originals.

The Social Studies Office at the John F. Kennedy Jr. H.S. is no place for the faint-hearted these days since it teems with all sorts of prehistoric creatures and features an array of blood-by Gerald Ugone, and is a composite of several pictures of Java man which Gerry saw in various books.

The plaster-of-paris skull representing an early stage

Hospitality Motor Inn

Opened Here On Sunday

The $4-million Hartford-Springfield Hospitality Motor Inn opened in Enfield Sunday featuring resort-style recreation and entertainment facilities and a pioneering concept in luxury services to traveling executives.

The 200-room inn, 13th in a chain of Hospitality inns and first in New England, is located at the intersection of Interstate 91 and U.S. Route 5 (northbound Longmeadow, Mass., exit). It is five miles south of downtown Springfield, 17 miles from Hartford, and 10 miles from Bradley International Airport.

"At the Hartford-Springfield inn we have incorporated some new concepts in recreation and services designed to meet the higher expectations of today's traveler," says Donald B. Campbell, president of the Cleveland-based Hospitality Motor Inns, Inc. "Our inn is designed to serve the guest — whether a business traveler, a tourist or area resident — who want something above the ordinary in accommodations, dining, recreation, and entertainment. The heart of our concept at Hartford-Springfield is to provide luxury facilities and personalized services in a resort-like environment."

Campbell said the new inn is particularly significant to the company because it is the first in New England and one of four, 200-room facilities Hospitality is opening over a three-month span. The others are at Atlanta, St. Louis and Cleveland.

"The new inns will increase our rooms-in-operation total by 43 percent to 2,650," said Campbell. "This will be the largest single-year expansion in our company's 11-year history. But even more satisfying to us is the range and quality of service and facilities we have built into the new inns. We are truly proud of them and especially delighted with the reception we have received in New England."

The Hartford-Springfield inn is the first building to be completed in Brightmeadow Park, a planned 70-acre office park. The inn is distinguished by a unique octagon-shaped building that houses a restaurant-lounge seating 235, a 24-hour coffee house seating 75, and banquet facilities accommodating up to 600 persons and divisible into five smaller meeting rooms.

The adjoining six-story guestroom tower contains eight more meeting rooms and conference parlors in addition to the extra large bedrooms. Each room features remote controlled color television as well as an AM-FM radio, direct-dial telephones, wake-up alarm, and in-room heating and air-conditioning controls.

Replacing Sam Kissinger

The resignation of C. Samuel Kissinger as Enfield's Town Manager leaves a void which the Town Council will find difficult to fill.

Kissinger came to Enfield in May 1968 with superior qualifications to become the third person to hold that position since adoption of the Council-Manager form of government.

It is these same qualifications, together with an eight-year record of distinctive service, that led to an offer by the New York metropolitan area city of New Rochelle in Westchester County to take on the same responsibilities there at an $11,000 a year increase in salary. Enfield currently is paying its Town Manager $25,000, and New Rochelle's offer of $36,000 a year was one which anyone would find difficult to refuse.

It is not the first time that Kissinger has been offered a more lucrative Town Managership. Twice before, and in both instances he had applied for the jobs, he had opportunities to go to Schenectady, N.Y., and to Hallandale, Fla. However, because of internal conflicts in Enfield government into which he was drawn because of unsubstantiated reports of the involvement of his office in alleged misdoings, he chose to remain until the accusations had been proven false.

Kissinger has had an outstanding record in Enfield, and an excellent rapport with the Town Council and heads of town agencies. He has kept his position non-political, as the ethics of the office demanded, and his eight-year tenure has shown a sensitivity to the needs of the community and a proficiency in administration which makes it all the more difficult for the Council to find a replacement of equal capability.

For one thing, the Council is not going to find it easy to find a new Town Manager of Kissinger's calibre and efficiency, at the $25,000 salary the position now pays. The job automatically is worth much more because New Rochelle is convinced that Kissinger is worth the extra $11,000 it will be paying him.

In these times of economic stress — and Enfield is feeling the same crunch as other communities — Enfield must find a new Town Manager who can step in and keep the wheels turning in the same gear that Sam Kissinger has left them.

While we regret that Enfield is losing Sam Kissinger, we wish him good fortune in his new undertaking. His departure to New Rochelle is a big move which will present many new challenges because of the metropolitan atmosphere in which he will operate.

He will be up to them, we are sure.

Food Stamp Waste Escalates

The food stamp program was started in 1964 as part of President Lyndon Johnson's "Great Society" at a time when the United States of America had built a huge food commodity surplus that could be used to help its needy citizens. It has grown into a giant fiscal albatross.

In the 11-year period since the program began, it has become a bureaucratic nightmare costing $3.7 billion annually compared to an original appropriation of $75 million. It is subsidizing the grocery bills of 17 million Americans, many of them with no legitimate claim for such aid. In California, for example, a recent investigation showed that 39.2 per cent of the persons receiving stamps were not fully qualified for the program.

Some families with incomes of more than $1000 a year have been receiving food stamps. Strikers and college students have found ways to make themselves eligible. Recently, a grand jury indicted a Washington, D.C., food stamp certifier in a $300,000 stamp scandal.

Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz, whose department reluctantly administers the program calls the spiraling cost "frightening."

President Ford was on the right track when he tried to put a lid on the program that would have saved the taxpayers $648 million in fiscal 1976. But Congress voted to nullify Mr. Ford's order that would have required food stamp recipients to pay $30 instead of $18 for stamps worth $46 at the grocery.

The government estimates that 62 per cent of the people who might be qualified for food stamps have not applied for them. Thus, with only 38 per cent of the eligible persons enrolled — and an unknown number of ineligible dipping into the pie — the cost has no way to go but up. Estimates place the potential cost of the program in 1977 at $10 billion — with 60 million people using the stamps.

It is clear enough that the food stamp program is duplicative, unfair and rife with inequities. It represents all that is bad about overgenerous, open-ended welfare programs.

Letters To The Editor Thoughts At Easter

To The Editor:

How many times did Jesus Christ send his own mother as an ambassador to warn the people of God to change their evil ways and shape up. At Fatima she said she could no longer hold the arms of her son. What do you think that means? But the people of this world in no way will do the will of God. Never did, and never will. People are glorifying their bodies without glorifying their maker. This will not be the end of the world, but it will be nearly the end of all population.

Pope Pius XII (1950) was to open the letter from one of the witnesses of the Fatima apparition and did not disclose its contents. Why? Because it was bad news.

The evil spirits know that their end is near for them. Ask a possessed person and get the answer. God is not going to start a new people if the evil spirits are on the loose. It will be the same thing.

God will not send his Son again to suffer for people that will not do his will. Once was enough.

Yes, short skirts are cute on some, but the five (5) wounds of Christ are the ones that redeemed you. Now is the acceptable time. God will renew the face of the earth in the year 2000 — 25 years from now.

God is the source of all strength and power that can right all wrong. If you think you don't need God to help us out of this thing, you are out of your mind.

You don't have to believe me, but for your own good you better.

In France last year a court was held to release the Jews from the guilt of the crucifixion of Christ, they did not crucify Christ, the Roman soldiers did.

Pontius Pilate washed his hands saying, "I will have nothing to do with this just man," but the crowd of mixed nationalities said, "crucify him".

Well, do you think it was fun for Christ to be nailed to a cross and dropped in a hole with the weight of his body tearing his flesh? Christ had to die that way because the Father would have it no other way. Only His body and blood, soul and divinity was pleasing to the Father.

O most Holy Trinity, Father, Son and Holy Spirit, I adore you profoundly and offer you the most Precious Body, Blood, Soul and Divinity of our Lord Jesus Christ present in all the tabernacles of the world in reparation for the outrageous sacrilegious and indifference with which he is offended by the infinite merits of His most Sacred Heart and the Immaculate Heart of Mary, I pray for the conversion of sinners and church unity. O, agonizing Heart of Jesus have mercy on all those who are dying during this hour. May the Heart of Jesus in the most Blessed Sacrament be praised, adored and loved with grateful affection every moment in all the tabernacles of the world event to the end of time.

Connecticut Legislature

By Gail Collins

To Ban Or Not To Ban Nonreturnable Bottles?

The "bottle bill" debate may turn out to be one of the hottest legislative issues of this session of the General Assembly.

The bill may not have the long-term impact of the state's budget or spending package, but at this point in the year it is one issue on which the debate crosses party lines.

Rep. Richard Cressotti (D-Enfield), is one of the legislators who says he will support the bottle ban this year.

"I'm for it," he said. "I don't think it would mean a loss of jobs. I think it will have an effect on employment, but I believe the final result will be creation of more jobs, not less.

"Litter is a great problem today," Cressotti added. "That's why right now my tendency is to support the ban on nonreturnables."

Rep. Cornelius O'Leary (D-Windsor Locks), who represents part of Enfield, said that he has not yet made up his mind about the bill.

"I'm waiting to hear the debate," he said. "I think there are excellent arguments on both sides."

O'Leary voted against the ban when the proposal came before the House last year. "But I remain flexible," he said.

He said he doubted the bill would mean a real energy savings. "The energy used in returning bottles is very nearly as great as that used in producing them," he claimed.

"The real answer may be recycling rather than reusing the bottles," he concluded.

The Environment Committee of the General Assembly heard conflicting testimony on the effects of the bottle bill during a marathon six-hour public hearing last week.

There were claims that the ban would cost jobs, or create more employment. Charges that the cost of beer and soft drinks would go up, go down, or stay the same. Predictions that the ban would save energy, or waste more gas, electricity and heating fuel.

The bill at issue would simply require a three cent refund for refillable bottles and a five-cent deposit on non-returnable bottles, coupled with a ban on flip-top cans.

"Beverage containers do not create litter — people create litter," argued Rep. A.U. Fox (R-Greenwich). Fox claimed that the answer to the litter problem was not legislation, but educating state citizens on the need to pick up their trash.

"Cigarettes don't cause cancer — people do," responded Rep. William Collins (D-Danbury). "But we've spent billions trying to educate people and they still smoke. If we provide people with throw away containers, they'll continue to throw away."

Connecticut is one of the most enthusiastic markets for nonreturnable bottles — a fact that some opponents of the bill claim makes the measure impractical.

Oregon, which passed the nation's first bottle ban, was only buying half its beverages in nonreturnable bottles before the law went into effect. In Connecticut, however, only three per cent of all beverages are purchased in returnable bottles.

Opponents of the bill outnumbered supporters at last week's public hearing. Many of them, however, were employees of the Glass Container Corporation plant in Dayville, Conn., which claims it will have to lay off hundreds of workers if the bill passes.

The issue of jobs is a key question. Union representatives claimed the bill will mean lost jobs, particularly at the Dayville plant and at National Can Company in Danbury.

O'Leary Asks Special School Safety Bus Regulations

State Representative Cornelius O'Leary (D-Windsor Locks) appeared before the General Assembly's Transportation Committee last week to ask for safer transportation for children attending special education classes.

O'Leary has sponsored a bill this year to require that vans used to carry special education students be clearly marked and equipped with portable flashing lights.

O'Leary, who represents part of Enfield, introduced the measure last year as an amendment to a bill on school bus safety.

He argued at that time that children who go to school in regular school busses ride in large vehicles that are unmistakably marked and colored.

But children attending special education classes, many of them physically handicapped or retarded, receive no such protection, he claimed.

The amendment died in confusion last year after one Republican leader in the House claimed that federal law prohibited flashing lights on the smaller vans.

O'Leary discovered later that there was no such federal regulation.

"Presently vans are completely unmarked and handle an ever-increasing number of school children as classes for exceptional children proliferate," O'Leary said last week.

He acknowledged that the ideal solution to the problem might be to equip and mark the vans in exactly the same fashion as larger school buses.

But O'Leary pointed out that such a requirement "might be considered too expensive and would jeopardize the chance of getting any bill through the legislature to protect the children riding in vans."

Bill Approved For Acquisition Of Part Of East Bank Of River

The General Assembly's Environment Committee last week voted to approve a bill for state acquisition of land along the east bank of the Connecticut River in Enfield.

The measure, sponsored by Rep. Cornelius O'Leary (D-Windsor Locks) is part of a program aimed at acquiring the Kings-Terrys Island in the Connecticut River and the river bank for recreation.

The bill, which has a $200,000 pricetag, now goes to the Appropriations Committee for further consideration.

At a public hearing on the measure last week, State Rep. Astrid Hanzalek (R-Suffield) was the only speaker to present testimony on the bill.

Rep. Hanzalek noted that the island lies in Suffield and is owned by the Connecticut Light and Power Company.

Since under state law utility companies must offer local governments and the state first option on any land they plan to sell, Mrs. Hanzalek noted, "the land is really far better protected from use than some other pieces of property."

However she added "the state should make it a matter of principle to establish an ongoing program of acquisition" of open space lands.

She pointed out that CL&P has suggested it might be willing to grade the island property for other state-owned acreage.

"Particularly in these times of financial stress this might be a logical approach," she said.

"It is incumbent on us to make sure these lands are not used for reasons other than those for which they are sorely needed — conservation and recreation."

O'Leary, who said he was detained and unable to attend the public hearing, noted that the bank area which would be acquired under the bill "is the best spot for fishing along the Connecticut River."

"Both the island and the land on the bank are very important to recreation and fishing," he said. "The Department of Environmental Protection has indicated they want this to be a high priority item."

Heading the cast in the roles of Ann Miller and Paul Friedman are Elaine Nason and Bruce Albee. Both of these Enfield residents are familiar faces to ESCO audiences, most recently seen in the roles of Connie in "Come Blow Your Horn" and Detective McPherson in "Laura" respectively.

In supporting roles will be Marion Galant as Janet, Charles Jorgensen as Richard, Chuck Torre as the Superintendent, Carol Russell as the Pregnant Lady, John Holt as the Expectant Father, and Terri Hale as the Woman in 4A.

Holy Week Services at Holy Cross

The following is a schedule of services to take place at Holy Cross Polish National Catholic Church located at 723 Enfield Street, Enfield. Yesterday a service of Bitter Lamentations, "Gorzkie Zale" was celebrated in the Polish Language. This Service centralizes on the Bitter Passion of our Lord and is predominantly expressed through the words and mood of the music as produced by the Church Chopin Choir. A rehearsal for Easter Sunday Procession followed the Wednesday Lenten Service.

Maundy Thursday

Holy Thursday, or also known as Maundy Thursday, points to the institution of the Holy Eucharist during the Last Supper. Following the recitation of the Gloria the playing of the Church's 19th Century Pipe Organ will cease along with any further ringing of Church bells. The bells will give way to wooden clappers such as were used in ancient times for all signals at divine service; they seem better adapted to the sadness and seriousness of the liturgy on the last days of this Holy Week. This very day 2,000 years ago Christ was betrayed by Judas.

At the parish of St. Joseph Polish National Catholic, Main St., Westfield, Mass. the Diocesan Bishop, Walter A. Slowakiewicz of Manchester, N.H. will celebrate a High Pontifical Mass of Concelebration to commemorate the day at which time the sacred rite of blessing of Holy Oils to be used in the administration of Sacraments will be performed. The ritualistic Procession to the Repository altar and the reading of special Vespers will take place. This Mass is cordially opened to everyone. The Maundy Service at Holy Cross will be held at 7 p.m.

Good Friday

On Good Friday, the Mass of the Presanctified will be celebrated at 8 a.m. This service centralizes on the lessons from the Prophecies, Gospels, solemn intercessions for the whole Church and the adoration of the cross. This Mass is visually different from other Masses as it contains no consecration. From ancient times this day has been regarded as the day of greatest sadness in the Church. It is truly such, for the Church annually recalls with renewed sorrow the death of her Founder. She kneels in homage before the unveiled crucifix and gives thanks to the Saviour for his sacrificial death. During this day, pious Christians will either in silent devotion or in procession visit the crucifix or the commemorative sepulchre in which lies an image of their crucified Lord and Saviour. Stations of the Cross will be held at 2:30 p.m. and Bitter Lamentation Services will be celebrated at 6 p.m. The language for all Good Friday services will be English.

Holy Saturday

On Holy Saturday, Holy Cross Church attention is already directed to the fruits of the redemption: the blessing of the new fire, the grains of incense and the paschal candle, each in its own way symbolizing the Resurrection of Christ and His victory over death and darkness; the reading of the twelve Prophecies, the blessing of the baptismal water, which describes in a symbolic manner the sanctification of the water by the three Divine Persons; and the Litany to All Saints will be recited. Then will follow the Mass. The traditional Polish blessing of Easter food is upon request only. Those wishing food blessed are asked to call the Holy Cross Rectory, 745-5066, or 745-1121. Baskets of Easter Foods brought to the Holy Saturday Service will be blessed at that time. The Holy Saturday Service will be held at 7 p.m. in the English language.

Easter Sunday

Easter Sunday is properly the triumphal feast of Christendom, the feast of feasts. It commemorates the victory which Christ gained on this day, for "by His death He destroyed death and by His Resurrection He restored life to us. The joy of this festival is expressed by the Resurrection service in the very early hours of the morning, by the copious decoration of the church, by the brilliant lights and especially that of the paschal candle.

The Resurrection Service consists of the procession which begins at the altar of Repose and concludes at the main altar. The service will also feature the Holy Cross Church Chopin Choir with selections from the Handel's famous "Messiah."

The Choir under the direction of Julia Zaleski will perform the Hallelujah Chorus, and Jean E. Censki, soprano soloist and Elaine Sweeney, alto soloist will perform Handel's "I know that my Redeemer Liveth". Every true member of the Church this day will give evidence of his spiritual resurrection by perfecting, as far as possible, his supernatural union with the glorified Saviour, the Head of the Church.

Easter Sunday Resurrection Mass and Procession will begin at 6 a.m. and will be held in the English Language. Polish High Mass and Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament will be held at 9 a.m. A cordial invitation is extended to interested members of the community to attend any or all the services at Holy Cross. A very Happy and Blessed Easter to you all.

Holy Week At Second Baptist

Members of Second Baptist Church in Suffield are observing Holy Week, "the most significant week of the Christian year", according to the pastor, Dr. Odysse W. Kneese, with special services.

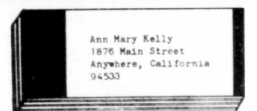

Tonight, the Maundy Thursday traditional union Communion Service with the First Church of Christ, Congregational, will be held at the Second Baptist Church, with deacons from both churches serving. The Rev. J. Gorman Smith, pastor of First Church, will give the meditation.

A special Good Friday Service will be held in the Chapel of Second Baptist Church on Friday at 12:15 p.m.

On Easter Sunday the Church School classes will meet at 10 a.m. in Fellowship Hall for a special program, including the movie "The Very First Easter."

The Easter Sunday worship service at 11 a.m. will feature special music by the Sanctuary, Youth and Chapel Choirs. New members will be received into the church fellowship. A coffee hour will follow the service in Fellowship Hall giving members the opportunity to welcome the new members, as well as to exchange greetings with students and others who may be home for the Easter holidays.

SERVICES

Holy Week at ECC

On Maundy Thursday, Mar. 27, at 8 p.m. a service of Communion and Tenebrae will be observed at the Enfield Congregational Church. This service uses the symbols of communion and lights to recall the events of Jesus' life. The Diaconate of the church shares in the leadership of this service.

Following this service, a Vigil of Prayer and Meditation will be held in the sanctuary from Thursday night through Friday afternoon until 3 p.m., the hour of Jesus' death. In half-hour intervals, members and friends will keep watch in the silent sanctuary. There will be a guide available for meditation.

Easter Sunday there will be two morning Easter Festival services at the church at 9:30 and 11. The brass choir, the Folk group, and the Senior and Junior choirs will all offer special music for these services of celebration. The community is invited to share in these services.

Easter Sunday services include: Church School, 9:45 a.m.; Morning Worship, 11; and Evening Service, 7 p.m.

The film "A Thief in the Night" will be shown. This is a mighty motion picture about Bible prophecy. The public is cordially invited.

Last Sunday evening was special Awana recognition night. Clubbers presented their program and verses learned. Teen Tymers led the worship time. Awana advisors are Mrs. Kathy Davis and Dale Westerbeck.

Teen leaders are Mr. and Mrs. Dean Spencer and Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Fink.

Maundy Thursday, Mar. 27, will be celebrated by the church at 7 p.m. This will include a reenactment of the events preceding Jesus' crucifixion, his last supper, and the relationship he enjoyed with his disciples. Rather than the historical or liturgical perspective, the church will emphasize the relationships involved and their meaning for contemporary life. Maundy Thursday will also be commemorated with services at the Parkway Pavilion Convalescent Home at 10:30 a.m. and at the State Prison at 3 p.m.

The death of Jesus will be remembered at a Good Friday Service to be conducted by the church at the Second Baptist Church in Suffield. This service will include believer's baptism. Special music will be provided by the Children of Love and the Senior Choir.

Easter Sunday will begin with the church's participation with other religious groups in a Sunrise Service at 6:30 a.m. Sponsored by a variety of Protestant and Catholic Churches, the service will include folk singing groups from Calvary Presbyterian and American Baptist Churches. A group from Our Lady of Angels Academy will also sing. The public is invited to attend the service which will be held behind St. Joseph's Residence, located at the corner of Enfield St. and Post Office Rd. Following the service, outreach groups will visit Convalescent Homes and Prisons.

American Baptists will gather for a breakfast celebration at 7:45 a.m. at their meeting house, for which reservations are requested, members and friends may call Robert Gottlieb or Mrs. George Withee.

The church will celebrate in Liturgy and Song at 11 a.m., with special music by several choirs.

Board of Ed Action

At a recent meeting of the Suffield Board of Education the Board: approved the minutes of the Mar. 4 meeting; placed the financial statements, dated Feb. 28, on file; voted to accept Dr. Berger's recommendation on smoking, except the recommendation that it be moved to another site, and requested an updated report within a month. The Board also directed the Administration to explore the possibility that the Vocational Agriculture department landscape the smoking area; requested the Superintendent to change the name of the proposed policy from Family Life Education to Education for Sexuality, make the necessary changes, and report back to the Board at its next meeting; received an oral report from Dr. Evans on the Stream Monitoring Project. Dr. Evans will meet with David Sawyer and will report back to the Board at its next meeting; made recommendations to the Conn. Association of Boards of Education regarding proposed legislation; and voted to approve the Outing Club's request for a trip to the White Mountains from Apr. 23-27 and asked that every effort be made that the selection be equitable.

Also, they approved Bachelor Living as a course at Suffield High School beginning September 1975, deferred action on Spanish V, and was informed that French Gourmet is a part of French IV. Voted that courses with ten or less enrollment not be offered in 1975-76 except that individual study courses may be offered; approved the Recreation Commission's request to install lights at the tennis courts and outdoor basketball court at no expense to the Board of Education; received a report of the Suffield High School Building Program from Robert Sheldon; and adjourned to executive session at 9:55 p.m.

Ethics Committee Head

State Representative Astrid T. Hanzalek, R., of Suffield, has been named chairman of the Ethics Committee of the Connecticut General Assembly. "I am delighted to serve as chairman of this most important committee and am pleased to have been chosen in a year when the overwhelmingly Democrat majority makes a Republican chairman a distinct rarity."

Rep. Hanzalek said that the Ethics Committee is a bipartisan committee composed of members from both houses of the legislature. Because of the nature of the committee, which was formed as a result of legislation passed in 1973, it is considered a 'leadership committee.'

Under the legislation which created the committee, each member of the General Assembly, as well as of the Executive and Judicial branches of the State government, must file a statement of financial and other interests which could create a conflict of interest. Mrs. Hanzalek said the forms for this year will be distributed in a few weeks. These statements are sealed and retained by the Ethics Committee. "Only in the event that a verified complaint alleges facts sufficient to constitute a violation of the provisions of the State's code of ethics will the statement be open," explained Mrs. Hanzalek.

"It is particularly important these days when not only violations of our code but also the appearance of violations must be avoided by those in public life. Each year legislators ask the Committee for advisory opinions and I would encourage all legislators to seek such advice rather than run the risk of embarrassment should a complaint be filed. The code of ethics has worked very well so far, and I am looking forward to my activity in a most worthwhile pursuit by a committee of the legislature."

Anyone who has not registered for the Little League, may do so by contacting Chester McComb, 510 South St., Suffield.

Softball Wants You

An opening in the Suffield Softball Association League for a Suffield-based softball team will be filled on a first-come, first served basis.

The league is also seeking experienced umpires for the 1975 season. All umpires will participate in a refresher clinic.

Information in regard to the team and umpires needed is available from the Suffield Recreation Department 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Suffield Academy Senior Projects

Suffield Academy has announced the final list of senior independent study projects for the spring term.

S. Robert Branson, chairman of the academy's language department and head of the senior projects, said "the main goal of a project is to allow a senior an opportunity to explore a new interest, or improve and develop an old one.

"Although in past years the students' choice of projects was restricted to previously established interests, the program has evolved to a point at which almost any serious pursuit is possible", he added.

Twenty-four students are participating this year in a variety of projects. Teaching assistantships appear to be of greatest interest, with five students involved in the subjects of German, French, English and computer study.

Four films are planned and a student-produced play is scheduled also.

Each student is aided by a faculty member who acts as "overseer" rather than teacher.

Projects will be completed by the end of May.

Chess Tournament

A chess tournament, co-sponsored by the Kent Memorial Library and Suffield Recreation Department, will be held Saturday at the town library. Children aged 10 through 13 will compete, while ages 14 through 17 vie for finalist spots.

Contestants must register at the library. The event is open to Suffield residents only.

Join "Project VOTE"

Secretary of the State Gloria Schaffer reports that as of the week ending March 21, Enfield High School and Enrico Fermi High School are among approximately 30 percent of the state's some 280 high schools participating in the statewide youth voter registration program, Project VOTE.

"A total of 78 schools are now participating," Mrs. Schaffer said. "And a telephone survey conducted by my office with the aid of the United Auto Workers volunteers indicates that increasing numbers of schools will be participating in the program by next week.

"Last week, only 60 schools were participating in the project," she added.

Project VOTE, a voter education program series and contest for high school seniors, is being sponsored by Mrs. Schaffer's office and 17 statewide community groups.

Demos Endorse Butler

Third Selectman George Butler was unanimously endorsed as candidate for the position of First Selectman at the Democratic Caucus held Friday in the town hall. The vote was by voice.

Matt Tynan, chairman of the nominating committee, placed Butler's name in nomination and it was seconded by Joseph Cranmore and John Boyd. The brief caucus was well attended and included some young people.

Brian Fitzgerald was chairman of the caucus and Prof. Edmund Sullivan was secretary.

In his acceptance speech, Butler called for "commitment" on the part of his fellow Democrats, for the good of the town.

Butler told the Enfield Press reporter in an interview Saturday that he will take a "positive" posture towards the coming election in June, even though the Democrats are still the "minority" party here, according to party registrations.

He said he hoped to get independents and some Republicans to support him,

Drug Ed Program

Anthony Kula, Principal of McAlister Middle School, announces that David Coen, Coordinator of Drug Education in Suffield, will make a presentation to interested middle school parents on Tuesday, April 1 at 7:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

Following his presentation, Coen will be available for a question and answer period so that parents may share their concerns with school officials.

Fashion Show

Mrs. Richard Daley, program chairman of the Suffield Woman's Club has announced that the club will hold a fashion show at Sacred Heart Church Hall on Mountain Rd. in Suffield Apr. 22 at 7:30 p.m.

Country Casuals of Somers will do the fashions. Priscilla Wells will be the show's commentator. There will be door prizes.

Mrs. Frank Fehm and Mrs. Leavitt Ahrens will co-chair the show. Mrs. James Reynolds will be in charge of the refreshments which will be assorted finger desserts.

Admission will be $1.50. Reservations should be made with the chairman. A limited number of tickets will be sold at the door.

citing the town's record of many years of ticket splitting on voting for candidates, rather than the party.

He questioned the necessity, raised as an issue by the Republicans, for the job of the First Selectman to be a "full time" job.

Butler said, that if elected First Selectman, he will continue to be available to the townspeople, as he has been as serving as Third Selectman, and especially during the period since the death of the late First Selectman Daniel Sullivan.

Although he is a believer in a two-party system, he believes even more in working for the good of the town, Butler said, adding he has worked well during his two-year term as Democratic Town Third Selectmen with Sullivan and Second Selectman J. Henry Zavisza, both Republicans.

Zavisza resigned as Second Selectman when he accepted appointment as acting First Selectman until the special June election. But Butler can continue as Third Selectman (should he lose the June election) until his term expires in November, he said. A full election of all officers will be held in November.

LWV School Study

Bradford Gooch, the first male member of the Suffield League of Women Voters, was the discussion leader of the League's consensus meeting on the results of the two-year, in-depth study by the league of the local public school system.

The meeting was held Mar. 19 at the home of Mrs. Helen Densem, of Sunnyside Dr.

Various aspects of the study discussed included administration goals; school facilities; curriculum; guidance; "enrichment" courses in art and music; and funding for the schools, with the members of the league's school study committee reporting on these. Gooch proved himself an able leader in controlling the lengthy discussion and keeping it "on the track", both as to the specific topics to be covered and the time limits for each.

Although Gooch is himself an instructor in Suffield Academy, he is interested in the public schools here, both as a parent of children attending the schools and as a taxpayer who helps pay for the schools which take about 75 percent of the town's annual budget.

The league plans to publish an account of its school study at a later date for the public to see.

GOP Student Interns

The Connecticut Intern Program to enable two Suffield students to spend a week in Washington, D.C. as interns under sponsorship of Connecticut Republican Congressman will continue this year, Suffield GOP Town Chairman James Whitten has announced.

There will be five one-week programs, two in June and three in July. Interns attend sessions of both houses of Congress, go to committee hearings and seminars by top level officials, as well as visit the Supreme Court, White House and other points of interest, Whitten said.

Fee for each intern is $175 for a one-week program. Local Republican organizations will contribute a portion of the fee. High school juniors are eligible.

Selection of interns is on a non-partisan basis, Whitten said. Resident students from both the high school and Suffield Academy have participated in the program since its inception five years ago.

GOP Endorses Kuras

Chester Kuras, Suffield Conservation Commission chairman, was endorsed to be the GOP candidate for First Selectman by the Republican party caucus held Mar. 21 in Spaulding School. He won the endorsement by a vote of 191 to 90 over the other contender, J. Henry Zavisza who is now serving as acting First Selectman until the special election for the office is held on June 25.

The election was petitioned by Third Selectman George Butler to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Daniel F. Sullivan on February 10 when Second Selectman Zavisza and Butler could not agree on a choice for a successor to Sullivan because they both wanted the office themselves. Zavisza was appointed acting First Selectman by a special committee of Republican town officials. Kuras' name was placed in nomination by Eugene Sullivan and seconded by Thea Coburn, secretary of the Conservation Commission. It was backed by Thomas Coates, who also praised the good work done by Zavisza. The 46 year old Kuras, now retired as Lt. Col. of the Conn. Air National Guard, is able to be a full time selectman.

Town Clerk Harold Remington nominated Zavisza. His nomination was seconded by former First Selectman Francis Leahey and endorsed by Judge of Probate Samuel J. Orr.

The vote was by secret ballot. Assistant Registrars of Voters Barbara Goodsell and Joanne Sullivan used the party voting list to check the voters. Only registered Republicans could vote.

Frederick Hanzalek was elected permanent chairman of the caucus and Carol Childs secretary of the caucus. The call for the party caucus was read first by GOP Town Chairman James Whitten.

Hanzalek named Samuel Fuller, Thea Coburn, Louis Cannon and Shirley Griffen as tellers to count the ballots. A total of 285 ballots were cast, the tellers reported, but two were blank and two were for Town Counsel Alcorn, leaving 281 cast for the two principal contenders.

SHS College Night

The Suffield High School Guidance Department will conduct its 1975 college night program Wednesday at the high school.

Representatives from the University of Connecticut, Assn. of Colleges and University of Hartford, will talk in small group sessions about admissions policies, financial aid and other questions, individuals may have. Representatives from local banks also will be available with financial information.

Although the program has been designed specifically for juniors who may be seeking a college next year and their parents or guardians, anyone in the community is welcome and invited to attend. Those planning to attend are asked to call the guidance office, 668-7015, to inform them so that ample space and coffee will be provided.

An informal coffee hour is planned from 6 to 7 p.m. in the guidance suite so parents may familiarize themselves with presently available materials.

The formal program will end at 9 p.m. followed by an additional coffee half hour for further questioning of the college representatives.

During the evening the new computerized guidance system available to the local school through a Capitol Regional Educational Council Mini-Grant, with Time Share, Corp., Inc. will be introduced.

The guidance staff also reminds students, parents and guardians of a National College Fair to be held Mar. 31 and Apr. 1 at the new Civic Center in Hartford. For more information on this additional opportunity to get many questions about college applications answered, contact the Suffield High School Guidance Department.

Sunrise Service

The Easter Sunrise Service, sponsored by the Suffield Counsel of Churches, will be Sunday, at 6 a.m. at Sunrise Park. There will be special music by the Suffield High School brass choir, directed by Raymond Tanguay. The Easter message will be given by the Rev. William Dorn of West Suffield Congregational Church. Because the date of Easter is early this year, and daylight saving time started early also, the worshippers may indeed see the "sun rise" this time. All are invited to attend the service which makes a beautiful beginning for the celebration of Easter Sunday.

have run midgets before and we feel their knowledge of the track could give them a decided edge in the early going, should they decide to run.

In addition to the Friday night program, Stafford will continue its regular Modified program on Saturday night.

Open Cockpit Racing Returns To Stafford

Open cockpit racing returns to Connecticut and the Stafford Springs Motor Speedway, June 27 on a regular basis for the first time in almost 15 years.

Promoter Jackie Arute and John McCarthy, president of the Northeastern Midget Association jointly announced the formation of a promotion group that will host the midget automobiles at Stafford's 1/2 mile plant every Friday night in July and August.

A new approach to the sport is also planned for the Stafford fan according to Arute. "We want to make Stafford the place to go on Friday nights for the midget fan." He continues, "We hope to give the customer more midget racing than anywhere else. If you look at the stronghold of midget racing, the midwest fair circuit, you see more than heats and a main. Our goal is to transplant that midwest midget approach."

The midget agenda will call for heats, semifinal races, consolations, and trophy dashes, in addition to the main event.

Efforts are also under way to secure regular midget rides for some of the track's regular modified competitors.

NEMA president, John McCarthy, added, "Gene Bergin and Buggy Stevens

Over 100 confirmed entries have been received for the NASCAR event including Paul Radford, Satch Worley, Ron Bouchard, Bugs Stevens, Richie Evans, Charlie Jarzombek and NASCAR National Modified Champion, Jerry Cook.

Squier's two co-announcers also possess top drawer credentials. Bill Welch, a regular staffer at the Connecticut track, brings to the job over 30 years of knowledge and a rapport with competitors which gives him an inside track on developing stories.

Jackie Arute, a veteran of Motor Racing Network's Daytona Speedweeks and Cardinal 500 broadcasts, is also a regular radio host of a modified racing talk show in addition to five years of experience behind the mike.

The team will also have the best equipment to work with. Bob and Steve Welch of Industrial Components Corporation in Wilbraham, Mass. have outfitted the Speedway with a mock stereo public address system, and a full radio station type production booth from which the team will operate.

JUDO SHOW IN TOWN

Over 200 Judo enthusiasts will compete this Saturday at the Enrico Fermi High School gym. The action will be going on all day and the admission is free. The public is invited.

Competition will take place in all weight classes and trophies will be awarded. The Northern Connecticut School Of Judo of Enfield will host the tournament.

I recommend this event highly for all those who have any interest in Judo and those who have never seen a Judo tournament. Take your children to the affair. They will learn what good sportsmanship is really all about.

My congratulations to Scott Merrill who won the 14 year old Lightweight State Judo Championship. I also congratulate Michael Dobosz who won the State Judo Championship in the 13 year old Lightweight division. Both boys will be competing this Saturday at Fermi before traveling to Boulder, Colorado on July 13 for the National A.A.U. Judo Championships.

WIDE WORLD OF COMMERCIALS

Once in a while I am tempted to watch the Wide World Of Sports on television on a weekend. Every time I do watch it I constantly get aggravated by the large number of commercials on the show.

I don't mean just the regular commercials. They are necessary because they pay for the program. It is all those other commercials that they sneak on the screen between the true commercials. I watched the Atlanta 500 this weekend and while the race was getting exciting the network covered the cars with a bunch of words advertising what will be shown next week, the week after that, next month and next year it seems.

It wouldn't be half so bad if they put the printing at the top or bottom of the picture so that you could still see what was going on.

They don't do it that way though. They must feel that, if they don't blot out the whole picture, you really won't get the message. I've got news for them. I get so mad that I don't even listen to what they are advertising.

I am sure that if they were timed as to program content and advertising it would be found that they have something other than the event on for at least a third of the total air time.

Subliminal advertising has been barred from movies and television because it makes people do, or at least suggests people do, what they ordinarily would not do at the moment. That is, get up and get a drink of beer or something.

Overlays should also be banned since they are flashed on the screen while the action is in progress. I think that all programs should have to give warning before flashing in with a commercial. This would give you a chance to do something else while the commercial is on. Once you have seen the same commercial a hundred times you really aren't crazy about seeing it again anyway.

If they told you which commercial was coming up you could decide for yourself whether or not you wanted to see it. Overlays are the closest thing to subliminal advertising that you will find. They have your mind captured with the action of Looks as though we made it through okay. We don't have much left to this bowling season. Most leagues will end in May. I hate to see people quit bowling for the Summer. If you don't want to quit you may be able to join a Summer league. It won't hurt your average.

Girl Scouts Linda McCarthy, Susan Kadis and Paula Montminy distribute Easter egg coloring kits.

Scout Activities Vary

Junior Girl Scout Troop 794 under the leadership of Mrs. Jean Hartman and her assistant Mrs. Carolyn Montminy, recently celebrated Girl Scout Week with church services on a recent Sunday, at the Enfield American Baptist and Holy Family Churches. On Mar. 13, the troop went to the Bonanza Sirloin Pit for an awards banquet. Over 50 merit badges were awarded to the 25 scouts in the troop along with their membership cards. World Association pins were presented to the newer members of the troop. On Mar. 15, the scouts participated in the Scout-A-Rama at the Enfield Square. Under the leadership of Mrs. Fay McCafferty, the troop worked on their handmade "Friendship Quilt". They also worked on knitted items with Mrs. Joan Grout, crewel with Mrs. Claire Kadis and crochet and needlepoint with Mrs. Carolyn Montminy. A display of all these handmade items, including the quilt will be displayed in April at the Hartford Civic Center. A needlecraft merit badge will be awarded to each scout.

Through the courtesy of Joseph W. Godino, manager of the Bonanza Sirloin Pit in Enfield, the troop distributed over 750 Easter egg coloring kits to groups of young children in the Greater Enfield area in time for Easter. Three groups of retarded children and several nursery schools were the recipients of the kits, along with children of the Enfield Neighborhood Center and story-hour at the Central Library.

As another worthy service project, the scouts are presently saving cancelled U. S. postage stamps which will be sent to an orphanage in West Germany. The troop has collected over 4 pounds to date.

To help the Enfield Heart Fund, the troop is decorating many coffee cans which will be used as vases at the annual Heart Fund Ball in April.

Troop 794 has had a very active year. They worked hard to provide the Enfield prisoners with over 40-dozen cookies at Christmastime. It took the girls 4 days to prepare and bake them — not to mention the price of sugar and other necessary ingredients. They sang carols to the aged at the Woodside Apartments in Southwood Acres. And as a community service, several girls distributed the Enfield bus schedule to residents in the Enwood Service Unit area.

Along with the many services the girls have provided to Enfield, they have had time for troop-fun, too. They will go on their third camping weekend in May and they have had fun at their hobo party and ice skating events. A hike is scheduled for April and a mother-daughter tea will be held in May. Hopefully, a father-daughter event to Bradley Airport will take place in June. On Keep America Beautiful Day, each scout will fill a trash-bag with litter. These are high spirited scouts who are willing to serve the community at any time. These girls truly know the meaning of being a Girl Scout.

Mrs. Jean Hartman, their leader, is the service coordinator for the "Enfield Community Association". All leaders are requested to report their troop service projects to Mrs. Hartman in order that they may be recorded in her 1974-75 and 1975-76 activity book. For further information call 749-6770.

We're Married! Now What?

The Enfield Council of Churches is pleased to announce its second unit of sessions in its series for strengthening family life. This will be a series of four sessions dealing with marriage and fractured marriage relationships. It will begin on Sunday, Apr. 13th at the Enfield United Methodist Church on Brainard Rd.

The series will run for four successive Sunday evenings from 7-9 p.m. followed by a coffee hour. The registration cost will be $3 for the series, (per couple or per single) or $1 per person for a single session. All people from Enfield and its surrounding towns are welcome to come to all or any of the programs. They are as follows:

Apr. 13th, "To Join This Man and Woman": Dr. Frederick G. Humphrey, Associate Professor of Family Relations at the University of Connecticut, will help us look at our expectations for marriage, and current styles of marriage. Dr. Humphrey has a distinguished career in this field. He has a private practice of marriage and family counseling in addition to his academic responsibilities. This opening session will form a solid basis of understanding about marriage for the rest of the series. It is especially suggested for couples looking forward to marriage.

Apr. 20th, "For Better": Rev. and Mrs. David Dickerman will help us look at ways to strengthen, maintain and improve marriages. Mr. Dickerman is Associate Minister at Immanuel Congregational Church in Hartford. Both he and Mrs. Dickerman have special training in this field. They have been effective leaders of workshops at Star Island Conference Center, Isle of Shoals, in addition to their leadership within their own and other churches.

Apr. 27th, "For Worse": Rev. Arthur H. Kuehn, Associate Minister of Central Baptist Church in Hartford will help us consider some of the problems that place strains upon a marriage. He recently was part of a symposium on the impact of divorce sponsored by the Connecticut Family Services of Connecticut. He is an experienced counselor.

May 4, "Til . . . Do Us Part": Ms. Sue Corcoran, Professor of Psychology at Assnuntuck Community College, will deal with fractured marriage relationships, including those ended by separation, divorce, and death. Ms. Corcoran teaches the course in Human Sexuality at Assnuntuck College and is a counselor in Hartford for Planned Parenthood. She is married and the mother of two children.

Buys First Ticket

Enfield's Mayor Armand Roy (center) purchases the first ticket to the Enfield Heart Fund Ball from Ray Stanio (left), Heart Fund Chairman, and Richard Cressotti (right), State Representative, and Vice Chairman of the Heart Fund. Stanio stated that the Heart Association is concerned with all around programs of research, public and professional education, and community programs to conquer heart disease. These programs are only possible by way of generous contributions from townspeople, and the support of special events such as the Heart Fund Ball. If the Heart Fund's volunteer missed your door, contributions may be sent directly to New England Bank & Trust Company. Dot Carona, Chairman of the Heart Fund Ball, announced that tickets are available at New England Bank and the Enfield Chamber of Commerce. The ball will be held April 4 at the new Hospitality Inn. A buffet will be served at 7 p.m. with dancing from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. to the music of Mainstreet.
