Auction '75 Begins 6:30 P.M. Friday

and Dexter Burnham reported today that a sellout crowd of 500 persons will be on hand to bid on thousands of dollars worth of retail value of new merchandise and service when Auctioneer Emmet Gemme pounds the gavel Friday night at the Howard Johnson, Red Coach Conference Center in Windsor Locks.

A portion of the proceeds will be used for Enfield's Bicentennial effort in behalf of the local businessman.

Those attending will be treated to a free 90 minute cocktail party, a sit down roast beef dinner, the auction itself, followed by dancing.

More than 200 items will go on the block, ranging from the top contribution of a 1976 Toyota from Gale Toyota of Enfield, to a $5 gift certificate.

"The generosity of the Enfield businessman is unsurpassed in making contributions of significant merchandise and service for this good cause," the co-chairmen said in reviewing the program book and noting the general public is most interested resulting in a sellout crowd at an event being called the biggest social-fund raising event for Enfield in years.

The following list is in the final update of items, appearing weekly in the Enfield Press, to be published for Auction '75: Change from 60 to 100 amp service, from Electrical Contractors; 8 yards top soil, State Line Sewer Construction; Uniperm for man, Kuttery Unisex Hair Design; $5 gift certificate, Mott's Shop-Rite; $100 gift certificate towards commercial burglar alarm system, Tron-Gard Security Systems; two complete hairstyles, Mr. Alfonso, Barber Styling Studio; cord of 4 foot split wood, delivered, Plaza Trucking Co.; drop light, Conn. Light & Power Co.; Honeywell Smoke Detector, (Continued on Next Page)

Public Transportation Hearing Here Dec. 4

A public transportation hearing is scheduled here Dec. 4 by the Connecticut Public Transportation Authority (CPTA).

The public hearing is planned at 7:30 p.m. in the Council Chamber at Enfield Town Hall.

According to Robert Cairns, who heads CPTA, the hearing will be held here to gather ideas from citizens on how to improve public transportation systems in the region.

This hearing is one of a dozen scheduled across the state for the next month.

Comments from local citizens will be used by CPTA in recommendations to improve transit systems. Ideas will be submitted to the Department of Transportation for evaluation, Cairns explains.

Recommendations CPTA must make to the transportation commissioner include a plan for a restructured system of regional transit districts, determining basic level service in each urban area and listing public transportation projects to be undertaken in each of those areas.

Cairns, from Madison, was named presiding officer of CPTA by Gov. Ella Grasso.

2 More Firms Send Letters Of Intent

Muth Associates Inc. and Jay Lee Food Distributors, both of Springfield, have sent letters of intent to buy land in Enfield's Industrial Park to Industrial Coordinator Phillip Forzley.

Forzley told the Town Council last week that Muth wants three acres to build a corporate headquarters and expects to add to that when their present lease in Springfield expires.

Jay Lee Food wants six acres and will construct an 8,000 square foot facility with plans to expand to about 40,000 square feet by 1980.

Along with hearing of these new developments, the council also authorized the Redevelopment Agency to execute two contracts. The agreements are with United Engineers of Springfield and the Bethel Latex Corp.

United Engineers has indicated that it will execute the contract as P&L Associates. P&L is a research development firm. Construction on the building will begin in May and should be completed by late fall 1976. The Bethel Latex Corp. will construct a 16,000 square foot facility while employing 50-75 persons. Expansion within two years will increase the building to 40,000 square feet along with employing 50 more people.

The complex Enfield Greens situation was also discussed at the meeting.

Town Issues Warning Against Tree Cutting

Due to a substantial increase in woodcutting in the town's Industrial Park the town has issued a tough warning aimed at disuading possible choppers.

"The cutting of trees within the Enfield Memorial Industrial Park is not permitted. Persons cutting trees will be liable for prosecution". The announcement was issued through the town's planning office.

The town is concerned for two reasons about the new problem. The first is that it does not carry enough insurance to protect anyone injured cutting trees in the park, and secondly only certain trees are tagged for landscaping and the remaining trees are designed decoratively.

Much of the cutting has taken place on the proposed site for the 18 hole golf course. A spokesman for the town noted that while many trees will be cut for the course a line of mature trees will stand between each fairway.

Enfield Square will present a photography exhibit in the center court next Tuesday, Nov. 22. More than 50 amateur and professional photographers will have their work on display.

The judging will be held Nov. 19, at 10 a.m. and a $75 cash prize will be awarded to Best in Show, with $50 cash prizes to Best Color Photography by a professional and $50 to an amateur in the same category, $50 cash prizes will also be awarded to both amateur and professional in the Best Black & White Photography category.

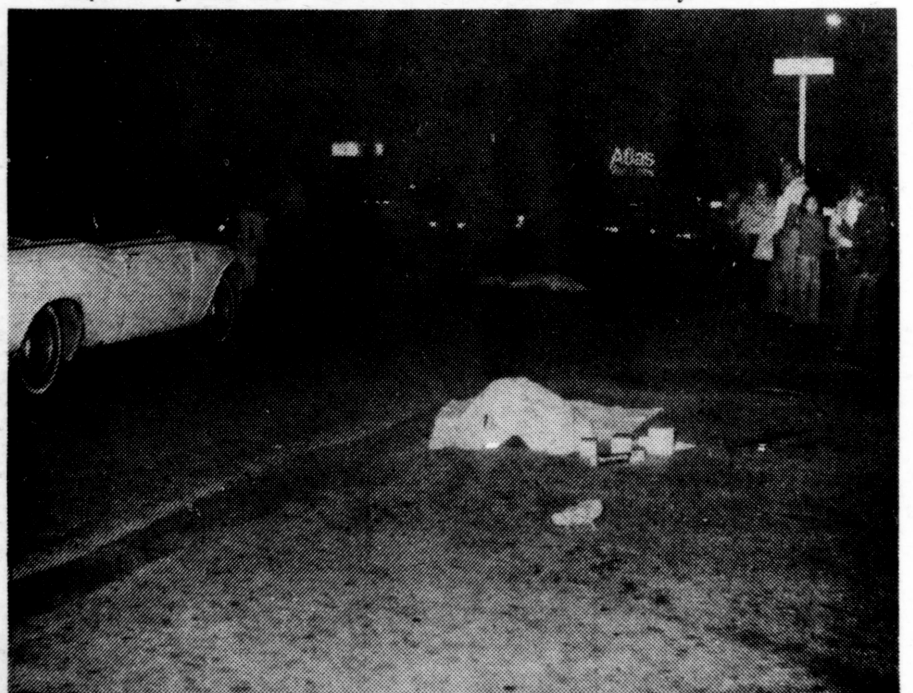

Judges for the show will be Edward Schullery, a graduate of Germaine School of Photography in New York, presently a professor at Central Connecticut State College and a free-lance photographer for over 22 years. Schullery has won several awards in both the World Life Photography and Print of the Year contests. John Long, a resident of Manchester has been staff photographer at the Hartford Courant for the past 4 years. He has received numerous awards in Associated Press and UPI sponsored contests.

Also serving as a judge will be Mary Cordis, photography graduate from Daytona Beach Community College, a freelance photographer and instructor of photography at Asnuntuck Community College.

Preparations for the show began several months ago when photography clubs and professional studios throughout the Connecticut and Massachusetts area were contacted. The purpose of the show is to give recognition and encouragement to photographers, both as a hobby and a profession. Jackie Kahn, Promotion Director at Enfield Square, hopes to make the show an annual event, with larger responses in the following years.

The public is invited to view the exhibit and enjoy the variety of photographs on display.

Enfield Greens Gets Performance Bond

After almost securing a bond from the Peerless Insurance Firm of New Hampshire, Enfield Greens was forced to go to Traveler's Insurance Co. in order to meet a deadline set by Enfield Town Manager William L. McDivitt.

Enfield Greens had assured the town that it would be able to attain the bond. However, negotiations were never finalized and a spokesman for the insurance firm said, "it's a dead issue".

Yet, they were able to get the bond from the Traveler's. The bond names the Town of Enfield as obligee if the developer defaults. This is pursuant to a contractual agreement signed between the town and Enfield Greens.

The bond, which is a performance bond, only accounts for the part of the course which has been approved by the various town agencies. Plans for the clubhouse facility have not yet been approved.

A Boston firm will join with a New York City construction firm to execute the bond.

The Guarantee Mortgage Corp. of Mass. had earlier been mentioned as a possible source for the bond. However, due to the critical illness of its owner the negotiations ground to a halt.

Although Enfield Greens has now secured the bond, there is still widespread concern over its financial solvency. It has endured numerous setbacks since it entered into the agreement.

The golf course is already several months behind schedule.

Presents $500 Enfield Rotary

The Enfield Rotary Club has given the Enfield-Somers Branch YMCA a gift of $500 to help build new programs for the new Enfield-Somers YMCA. President Jack Whiteley presented the check to the YMCA chairman of the board, Donald E. Wild.

This contribution is the final phase of a two-year program by the Rotary Club to help build YMCA programs in Enfield and Somers.

A major thrust of the YMCA programs this year has been the establishment of ten Indian Guide tribes and Indian Princess Tribes, involving over 75 pairs of fathers and sons and fathers and daughters.

"The two parent-child programs of Indian Guides and Indian Princesses have been our main thrust" Chairman Don Wild said. "Strengthening the family unit is one of the goals of our local YMCA", he continued.

Prior to 1972 the Hartford

County YMCA conducted extension activities in the Enfield and Somers area through a local Program Committee.

In 1972 a merger between the Hartford County 'Y' and the Greater Hartford 'Y' took place. By September of that year an Enfield 'Y' Board of Managers was formed. The Enfield-Somers 'Y' is a program unit of the YMCA of Metropolitan Hartford. There are fourteen other program units operating in the Greater Hartford area.

During this past summer a co-ed day camp was conducted in Agawam. Transportation was provided to and from the camp daily. The program included swimming, hiking, nature, crafts and sports.

A variety of special interest and skill courses were offered during the past twelve months including gymnastics, physical fitness, swimming and Indian Guides.

Enjoying The Weather

It was a perfect day Tuesday for taking your favorite pet for a stroll around the neighborhood. Kim Gabeau, left, walks her dog Inky and March Coolen walks Jiggy. Kim and Marcy, both 10, had the day off from school and took their four-footed friends for a walk along Pearl Street.

P & Z Board Denies Pappas Application

By a majority vote, the Enfield Planning and Zoning Commission has rejected the application of Margaret R. Pappas to construct apartments off Enfield Street.

The application requested permission to build 119 equivalencies that would provide 80 units.

At a Sept. 11 hearing, after Mrs. Pappas had explained her reasons for building the apartments, residents from the Bridge Lane area voiced sharp criticism of the plan. The apartments are slated to be built adjacent to Bridge Lane.

Mrs. Pappas and her attorney, Phillip Tatoian, have maintained that the application is in full compliance with town zoning ordinances.

The commission cited failure by Mrs. Pappas to provide adequate fire lanes as the reason for the rejection. The board also said that property values would be effected in the area, along with the entire environment.

The Enfield Traffic Safety

Department explained that the apartments would increase congestion, and a plan to widen the street would affect property values and would destroy existing trees.

Mrs. Pappas has the right to appeal the commission's decision.

Big Brothers Need More Assistance

James Rotatori, executive director of Big Brothers of Enfield, has reported that many mothers in Enfield are calling his office asking for help in aiding their fatherless boys. The mothers call on Big Brothers because they realize it is the greatest organization of its kind for helping a fatherless boy develop into manhood. Rotatori states that he is unable to match all the boys because of an insufficient flow of volunteers in the Enfield community.

Over a nine year period the program boasts of helping over 125 fatherless boys develop into excellent citizens. The program is one of the simplest answers to helping a fatherless boy develop into a man. The one for one relationship simply seeks a mature adult to be matched with a boy with like interests to provide a source of confidence in going from childhood to manhood.

Through the great success over the past nine years many matches do not need the help of social workers, therefore, Big Brothers are in a position to service an additional fifty matches as soon as volunteers come forward.

If you would like to share two hours of your time a week with a boy who needs your friendship and guidance, call 745-7825 or 745-3223.

Almost Half Of Park Land Claimed

Of the 520 acres in the Enfield Memorial Industrial Park, 247 have been cleared in some way. The land has either been leased, sold, or spoken for in letters of intent.

Of the remaining 273 acres, 247 are "buildable". The town has retained 26 acres for drainage and roads.

At the current rate of development the park will be completed by 1980. It was conceived just 17 months ago. A spokesman for the town compared Enfield's progress with that of East Windsor's whose park is almost filled. East Windsor began construction in 1968.

He also discussed the Enfield Greens problem. The town, he said, expects no further trouble with the developers.

Enfield Greens is involved, through its parent company Flag Corp. of Hartford, in several housing projects.

The Meaning of "One Inch of Rain"

An acre of ground contains 43,560 square feet. Consequently, a rainfall of one inch over one acre of ground would mean a total of 6,272,640 cubic inches of water. This is equivalent to 3,630 cubic feet.

As a cubic foot of pure water weighs about 62.4 pounds, the exact amount varying with the density, it follows that the weight of a uniform coating of one inch of rain over one acre of surface would be 226,512 pounds, or 113 1/4 short tons.

The weight of one U. S. gallon of pure water is about 8.345 pounds. Consequently a rainfall of one inch over one acre of ground would mean 27,154 gallons of water.

Fermi High Sports Action

VARSITY FOOTBALL

Head coach Joe Nuccio seems to have his Enrico Fermi High School football Falcons flying high as they continued to pile up scores against their foes.

Last Saturday the Falcons took the measure of the Simsbury Trojans by the score of 49-8. Charlie Pilkington scored three touchdowns and rushed for almost 200 yards. Stuart Sibley also scored a touchdown for the Falcons as he rushed for more than 100 yards. This makes quite a one-two punch for the Falcons.

Pilkington started the scoring with a run from midfield to the end zone with Jim Duffy adding the point after. Pilkington also scored the second touchdown, this time from inside the five. Duffy again kicked the point. Mike Rook scored a touchdown on a 96 yard pass play from quarterback Joe Spence with Duffy again making the kick good. This ended the first period.

In the second quarter Sibley made a 55 yard run to paydirt and this time Duffy's kick was off the mark. Simsbury scored its point in this period on a 20 yard pass play and another pass play for the two point conversion. The half time score was Fermi 27 - Simsbury 8.

Steve Testoni took a pass from Spence in the third period for a touchdown and Joe Spence added two points on a run into the end zone. Pilkington then staged a 90 yard run for another Fermi TD and Duffy kicked the extra point.

Fred Johanns scored the final touchdown of the game on a run from inside the five yard line with Duffy again kicking the point. Jim Duffy also had a good day with five out of six conversions for five points. This is extremely accurate for a high school kicker.

Fermi's next opponent is always tough Conard at West Hartford this Saturday

GIRL FALFINS

The Fermi Falfins Girl's swimming team topped Weaver High in Hartford by the score of 92-53.

Enfield Fataals

Three pedestrians have been killed by automobiles on Enfield St. (Rt. 5) within the past four months, two of them in a single accident last Saturday night.

The double fatality took the lives of two 68-year-old Springfield women who were walking across the street near the intersection of Montano Rd., after attending a bingo game at Circle Hall. Both were struck by the same car and both, according to Assistant Medical Examiner Dr. Carl Johnson, died almost immediately.

The other pedestrian fatality occurred July 12 when a 13-year-old girl was run down by a car on Enfield St., between Alden and Belmont Avenues.

There were six other traffic fatalities in Enfield since the first of the year, but these deaths were at different locations in town, and in four of them the operator of the car lost his life. In one of these four accidents both the driver and a passenger were victims, but died eight days apart. The nine deaths so far this year is four more than occurred the entire year of 1974 and equalled the highway toll of 1973.

Enfield St. is wide and heavily traveled. Approximately 15,000 cars use this busy thoroughfare every 24 hours — except for Saturdays and Sundays — according to an actual count made by police. Most accidents start becoming numerous at High St., and then just about everywhere north of there. Most are fender-benders, and most, according to authorities, are result of lane changes so drivers can get where they want to go.

Changing lanes can be a hairy experience when the traffic flow is heavy and cars are weaving back and forth to keep in the proper lanes. It calls for caution and skill, which some drivers seem to lack.

Sgt. Edmund A. Wosko, who heads up the traffic safety division in Enfield Police Department has some ideas how this lane switching problem can be solved. And he also has suggested that the state install a pedestrian activated traffic light at Rt. 5 and South Rd. Other such lights now operate at Post Office Rd., Brainard Rd., Elm St. and Belmont Ave., along Rt. 5.

There is no such light where last Saturday night's fataals occurred, although the area, at the time of the accident, was well illuminated.

Wosko also proposes a uniform speed be established at 35 miles per hour, that there be a painted median strip, and that special cutoff lanes be designated at intersections so that cars making a right or a left turn could move into these special lanes and there would be no interference with straight-ahead traffic. Such lanes now operate on Hazard Ave., at the entrance to the malls, and at the entrance to Phoenix Ave.

So far as accidents, injuries and fatalities are concerned, police can only keep up heavy patrols on such busy thoroughfares as Enfield Street and enforce the laws. Personal injury and fataals can be kept to a minimum only through safe driving habits — defensive driving — alertness, regard for the rights of others, obeying traffic signals and keeping a light foot on the gas pedal.

Accidents just don't happen. They are caused.

Betty Explains

Brief news reports made it sound as though Betty Ford was approving, on TV, of her daughter having an affair.

At least, many, if not most, people remember and remark about it that way.

Her comment on TV was that she "wouldn't be surprised" if her 18-year-old daughter told her she was having an affair. To those who have written her about it, the White House is sending out the following letter:

"Thank you for writing about my appearance on the '60 Minutes' interview.

"The concerns which inspired you to share your views are appreciated.

"I wish it were possible for us to sit down together and talk one to another. I consider myself a responsible parent. I know I am a loving one. We have raised our four children in a home that believes in and practices the enduring values of morality and personal integrity.

"As every mother and father knows, these are not easy times to be a parent. Our convictions are continually being questioned and tested by the fads and fantasies of the moment. I believe our values to be eternal and I hope I have instilled them in our children.

"We have come to this sharing of outlooks through communication, not coercion. I want my children to know that their concerns — their doubts and their difficulties — whatever they may be, can be discussed with the two people in this world who care the most — their mother and father.

"On '60 Minutes,' the emotion of my words spoke to the need of this communication — rather than the specific issues we discussed.

"My husband and I have lived 26 years of faithfulness in marriage. I do not believe in premarital relationships, but I realize that many in today's generation do not share my views. However, this must never cause us to withdraw the love, the counseling, and the understanding that they may need now more than ever before.

"This is the essence of responsible parenthood. It is difficult to adequately express one's personal convictions in a 15-minute interview. I hope our lives will say more than words about our dedication to honor, to integrity, to humanity, and to God.

You and I, they and I, have no quarrels."

Sincerely,
Betty Ford

Comment: This explanation certainly puts Mrs. Ford's off-the-cuff remarks in a better and less provocative light. It gives us a better understanding of why the President took the whole matter rather calmly.

Letters To The Editor

Devil's Advocate

To The Editor:

Now that the elections are over, I would like to thank all the people who worked so hard on my behalf. It is greatly appreciated. We fought a hard campaign, going door to door and making countless telephone calls, because we believed in what we were doing.

To the people who trusted me enough to give me their vote, I can only say that I am grateful to you and sorry that we were not able to give you the victory you deserved.

However, I do not feel that it is time now to sit still and let the Council go its merry way. It is the duty of the opposing party to act as a watchdog, as the devil's advocate, in order to protect the interests of the citizens. Therefore, I intend to keep watch over Council decisions, and to speak up when the occasion warrants. There are many projects in my area and in other parts of town of concern to me, and I mean to see them accomplished.

Again, my sincere thanks to all of you who supported me.

Refusing To Vote

To The Editor:

I did not vote today. It was not an act of poor citizenship. The record will show that I have voted faithfully in past elections.

Nor did I forget. I did not vote today because of a realization that voting has done me much more harm than good.

I did not vote because my vote does not count.

I did not vote because once again I was offered a choice of candidates who would consistently vote and act against my best interests, when elected.

For decades I have been voting and paying taxes on a false assumption that the people I voted for would protect my life, liberty, and property as provided for in a set of rules called the United States Constitution.

I risked my life in two wars on that false assumption.

I have never signed a contract for any amount of government. The U. S. Constitution is valid as a contract only because of the principle of implied consent and then only if honored by all parties concerned — especially those responsible for carrying out the contract.

Those most responsible, the candidates we were urged to vote for, have broken and flouted the contract over and over again.

Since the contract is not being honored by the "government" I am not bound by it, either, and government authorities have no claim on me or my property.

I will continue to pay some ransom because it is a practical necessity if I want to stay alive and out of prison. The criminals who call themselves politicians have a large gang of uniformed gunmen (paid with my money) who have already demonstrated their ability and eagerness to violate my person and property.

But I will not allow them to perpetrate their evil deeds under the banner of good citizenship. I will no longer sanction their criminal acts by participating in their phony elections.

I can no longer, by my vote, sanction a system which (as presently constituted) is inherently immoral.

I am having my name removed from the voting roster and I will not vote again until I am satisfied that my vote will truly count.

Word From The West

To The Editor:

As a part of our 'Bicentennial Project' we hope to gather picture postcards from around our great country for use in a permanent school exhibit.

This collection, we feel, will be enjoyed by students and citizens of Colorado West for many years to come.

We would certainly be pleased to receive picture postcards from your readers so that we might better appreciate your section of America.

The students of Delta Junior High School extend thanks to your fine newspaper for publishing our letter, and our deep and sincere appreciation to those who would take the time and effort to help us with our project.

Bad Habits

To The Editor:

I have heard it repeatedly in past years that we, as Enfield citizens, should do business with our local merchants and professional people.

In the past month, I have tried to shop locally. However, I recently visited an eye doctor. I thought he would treat me fairly because we had known our respective families for numerous years. This physician overcharged me for services and glasses. Also, personal discussion of local people occurred. Some of the comments were very unprofessional.

I will not state this individual's name; however, it should be a lesson to the local Enfield merchants. We will do business locally if you will not overcharge and leave the gossip buried forever. Banks, town halls, any public places, should bear this in mind.

Enfield will only prosper if these bad habits of the past are eliminated immediately.

Scenes Of December

The chill of winter
Makes me feel alive
Icecycles have formed
Outside my window
The vivid blue sky
Seems un-real to my eyes
It's as if the whole scene
Were only a painting
Precisely sketched
In my imagination

Watching the snow
Beginning to fall
Makes me feel warm
Just to be able
To have a front row seat
To this winter show.

Just 1 Problem, "I Need Money"

By DR. DAN McLAUGHLIN
President, Asnuntuck
Community College

Did you know that the Legislature this last year passed a public act No. 75-100 which redefined the role of community colleges? This act was brought about by comments and the study made by the Legislative Review Committee. As a result, the whole system of community colleges must reorder its priorities and as a result, the legislature and people of Connecticut must see community colleges in a different light.

For example, did you know that the number one priority established by the legislature is, "To provide programs of occupational, vocational and career education designed to provide training for immediate employment, job retraining or upgrading of skills to meet individual, community and state manpower needs?"

Did you know that the second priority is, "To provide programs of general study including education designed to meet individual student goals?"

Did you know that the legislators dropped the number one priority that rests in most people's minds to number three?

When you think of the word college, what is it that you think of? Most people think of young students who are transferring on to other institutions to pursue at least a baccalaureate degree if not a graduate degree. However, the legislators said that this is number three priority now: "To provide programs of study for college study representing the first two years of baccalaureate education."

Did you know that the legislature indicated that number four priority was, "To provide the community service programs as defined in sub-section (B) of this act and (5) to provide student support services including, but not limited to admissions, counseling, testing, placement, individualized instruction and efforts to serve students with special needs?" Sub-section (B) states, "Community services programs means educational, cultural, recreational and community directed services which a community college may provide in addition to its regular academic program. Such community service programs may include, but shall not be limited to,

1. Activities designed to enrich the intellectual, cultural and social life of the community.

2. Educational services designed to promote the development of skills for the effective use of leisure time.

3. Activities and programs designed to assist in the identification and solution of community problems.

4. Utilization of college facilities and services by community groups to the extent such usage does not conflict with the regular schedule of the college."

It is my hope by referring to this bill that both the legislators and citizens of Connecticut will reorient their thinking about community colleges. Community colleges are not just for young students, some of ours celebrated their golden wedding anniversaries! Most of our students at Asnuntuck are part-time, older, married with families, working full-time, trying to improve their skills and abilities on the job. Some students are back for retraining after receiving baccalaureate and master's degrees in various areas where there is no longer employment.

Certainly the merger of the vocational-technical high school and the community college, which has been proposed many times by many people including legislators from this area, would fit within the definition of community colleges as provided by Public Act No. 75-100. The numbers of young people coming along are decreasing, yet, older people are continuing to meet changing job situations and the changing world of work.

Where would you go if you were unemployed right now? If you are in the unemployed, who is helping you acquire a skill? According to Public Act 75-100, the community college should be doing this, yet, Asnuntuck does not even have a sufficient budget to hire the required ratio of full-time faculty to achieve full accreditation. It is easy to make laws, but laws are meant to be implemented.

I truly agree and heartily support the reordering of priorities for community colleges. Yet, I am not a magician and to reorder the priorities of Asnuntuck, I need money. In past articles I have indicated ways which the state could save money by changing some of its organizations.

I will say no more here on this matter but would be happy to talk to anyone on either Public Acts 75-100 or where the money can be found to implement what the legislators have passed into law.

assisted by the rector, the Rev. Roy M. Atwood.

Hockey Auxiliary Will Meet

The Enfield Hockey Association Women's Auxiliary presents "Everything you always wanted to know about hockey but were afraid to ask." Nov. 20 at 8 p.m. at Bonanza's Meeting Room, State Line Plaza, Enfield.

Featured speaker will be Brian Griffin, a professional hockey referee, and head coach for the U. S. Coast Guard Academy. Mr. Griffin will explain the rules of hockey, referee signals, and their meanings for your better understanding of the sport of hockey.

Finally Hoang Thuc Khang and Troung Kim Anh have been united in matrimony. The event took place Friday evening at 6 p.m. at St. Martha's Church.

The Vietnamese couple escaped from their country with only the clothes on their backs and Kim Anh's coveted possessions, her wedding gown and the traditional velvet dress worn after the wedding ceremony.

On Friday, St. Martha's assistant pastor, the Rev. Pham Minh Hua, Kim Anh's uncle, performed the first Catholic refugee marriage in Connecticut.

The couple is living with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Klein of Somers. The Klein's daughter, Terri, a sixth grade student at St. Martha's served as a junior bridesmaid. For the occasion Kim Anh made a Vietnamese wedding dress for Terri without a pattern in just one day. In addition Kim Anh added lace appliques to her own dress and made her veil.

A part of their dream is yet to be realized, however, until they become self-sufficient, an impossibility now due to their refugee status.

In order to secure employment, the couple must have visas and immigration laws require aliens to live in the United States two years prior to becoming eligible to apply for a visa. Under the Comprehensive Manpower Training Program, Kim Anh and Khang may be able to receive training in the computer sciences or hairdressing. However, they must first show proficiency in an English classroom.

Eventually Khang would like to join the Army as an orientation instructor. He says that his ten years experience in the Vietnamese Army, eight in combat, qualifies him for the job. A major in the Vietnamese Army at the time of the Communist takeover, Khang was told to escape any way he could.

His rank made escape more difficult but the couple did manage to get through five Communist checkpoints with Kim Anh posing as his wife. From a tiny fishing boat they were picked up by a U.S. Navy ship.

Kim Anh has had one year of the study of law at the University of Saigon with plans to become an attorney; her husband studied English and law at the same university.

Grateful to the community and especially to the Klein's, the couple is enjoying Connecticut and people throughout the area.

Postal Inspection

A study of consumer complaints shows that mail order problems are a large complaint area. The Consumer Protection Department has initiated investigations over the years against several companies who have used the mails to cheat consumers, but the agency that is chiefly in charge of seeing to it that consumers are not defrauded through the mail is the United States Postal Inspection Service.

The Postal Inspection Service is an agency under the jurisdiction of the Postmaster General and carries out investigations of alleged mail fraud.

According to one inspector, many millions of dollars are lost each year through various mail fraud schemes, such as work-at-home and correspondence school schemes, charity schemes, fake health cures, chain letters, lotteries, phony merchandise offers and "missing heirs."

Consumers who think that they have been caught up in one of these rackets should contact their local postmaster or, if they live close to a large city, the Postal Inspector at the nearby post office.

They should include in their complaint the full details of their transactions plus a copy of the ad to which they responded. Also include information as to which magazine or newspaper the ad appeared in, a copy of all correspondence with the company, and a copy of any canceled checks.

The complaint is ordinarily forwarded to the Postal Inspection in charge where the company is located and there it is checked to see whether it is an isolated complaint or one of a series against the company.

If it is a single complaint, an effort may be made to contact the company to mediate differences between company and consumer. If the complaint is one of many, a postal inspector is assigned to investigate. If he finds strong evidence of fraud, the facts are presented to the United States Attorney's office for possible prosecution.

The Postal Service also has the power to issue "mail-stop orders" when there is evidence a company is defrauding consumers through the mail. This order can be issued even before sufficient evidence has been gathered for a full-scale prosecution in the courts. When a "mail-stop order" is issued, the postmaster at the post office where the mail arrives is directed to return all mail addressed to the company back to the sender. In this way the company is prevented from swindling more consumers.

The Postal Inspection Service depends to a large extent on consumer complaints to inform it of possible mail fraud. Consumers are urged to complain any time they encounter difficulties with companies doing business through the mail.

Republicans Win in Suffield

Like many other of the smaller towns in the state, the Republicans won in the town election here, although the larger towns and cities are Democratic strongholds.

First Selectman Chester Kuras, incumbent Republican, running unopposed, was re-elected by a vote of 1,559.

Second selectman Howard W. Orr (R) received 1,340 votes and Amiel Zak, Democrat had 997 votes, so he will be the town's third selectman.

Suffield Historical Society Anniversary

The Suffield Historical Society will observe its 35th Anniversary Nov. 20 at Suffield Inn, with a dinner at 7 p.m. buffet style, preceded by a social hour at 6 p.m. Reservations may be made with Sally Smith, 668-7256.

In the early days of the society, informal meetings were held sitting around the long table in the reading room of the old Kent Memorial Library. As one of the younger members, I remember enjoying hearing the older ones, like Samuel R. Spencer, Samuel Lathrop and Bert Brown talk about past events, people and places they had known. They have all died now.

Although the Society now has many members who were not born or grown up in Suffield, they are equally keen about knowing about Suffield's history.

Annual Town Meeting

On the agenda for the annual town meeting of Suffield to be held tonight at 8 p.m. in the high school, are a new landfill site and construction of a road into the East Street industrial tract.

The Solid Waste Disposal Committee has considered several alternate sites since the Department of Environmental Protection has ordered closure of the town dump owned by Murray Phelps, Sr. The committee is prepared to propose an 80-acre site on Mountain Rd. north of Phelps Rd., which is leased by William B. Kement of Union, formerly of Suffield.

Residents will also vote on spending $65,000 to build an 800-foot road, including sewer line, 12-inch water main, and storm drainage into the industrial site. The proposed road would terminate at the site of a second warehouse planned for construction by Suffield Associates to be leased to Pierce Business Archives. The firm which stores active business files, has one warehouse facing H. P. Hood, Inc., and the second one would be built behind the first.

Other items on the agenda include a vote to appropriate $14,400 to provide jobs for unemployed under Title II of the Comprehensive Employment Training Act. The money would be 100 per cent reimbursed.

Christmas Shopping Trip Nov. 19

The Recreation Department of Suffield is planning a Christmas shopping trip to Hadley Christmas Barns, Hadley, Mass. Nov. 19 open to non-senior, as well as senior citizens, Tim Hollaran, Recreation Department director said. Cost of the trip is $2 a person. A bus will leave Suffield Village parking lot at 12:30 p.m. and return about 4:30 p.m. Those interested may contact the Recreation Department in Town Hall annex between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. weekdays to make advance reservations.

OSHA Plans Inspection

A recent "surprise" inspection by the Occupational Safety and Health Act administration to Suffield resulted in "only 10 or 12 minor violations and one $35 fine", First Selectman Chester A. Kuras said. He and San Hong of the Department of Labor went to all town departments, Town Hall, the annex and the Highway Department, and the sewer and police department, but not to the fire department or the school department, Kuras said.

Violations included a building minus an exit sign; failure to post an OSHA poster in a building, some improper wiring near a sink and lack of three-pronged grounding plugs for a refrigerating unit, Kuras said. He considered it a "very productive inspection."

Painting And Poetry

On view all this month in Kent Gallery in Suffield's Kent Memorial Library is an unusual exhibit of oil and acrylic paintings by Mrs. Evelyn King of Springfield, Mass., accompanied by poems written by her daughter, Miss Cheryl King of Hartford.

Named To Who's Who

"Who's Who," published by Educational Communications, Inc., Northbrook, Ill., is the largest high school recognition program in the country. WELFARE DISPUTE ENDS

California and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare have resolved their dispute over "red tape" involved in the administration of welfare regulations.

"Central Bank showed me how to save several hundred dollars in taxes every year while saving thousands of dollars to retire on!"

If you're self-employed without a pension plan... or work for a company that has no pension fund... or are a part-time worker... or withdrew your pension benefits when your job was terminated... Central Bank is ready to show you how an Individual Retirement Account can provide big tax savings every year and a big pension fund to live on when you retire. An IRA allows you a tax deduction of 15% a year or $1500 (whichever is less) to set aside in a savings plan until you retire.

Any tax liability, either for deposits or interest earned, is postponed until withdrawals are made from the IRA account. At retirement, IRA payments are treated as regular taxable income, but chances are, you'll be in a lower tax bracket at that time.

Take as an example, a family of four using a standard deduction on a gross income of $15,000 for 1975:

Gross income	Retirement savings	Income tax
$15,000	0	$1,706
$15,000	$1,500	$1,376
TAX SAVINGS WITH IRA		$ 330

That's like having Uncle Sam make a $330 gift toward your $1,500 retirement savings for the year! Now look at how various yearly deposits grow assuming the present maximum allowable rate of 7 3/4 % on 6-year certificates of deposit:

Yearly deposit from age 35	Accumulated retirement fund
	25 years later (age 60)	30 years later (age 65)
$1,500	$110,620	$171,810
1,000	73,746	114,540
500	36,873	57,270

You know you'll need more than Social Security to live on when you retire. The sooner you act, the sooner your tax savings and nest-egg get growing. Let us be Central to your plans for the future. Call or come in to any branch. Or mail this coupon. Or call Corinne Southard, our IRA specialist in Meriden at 238-2300 to receive more information.

Premature withdrawals on certificate of deposit funds can be made only with the consent of the bank. FDIC regulations provide that the rate of interest on the amount withdrawn be reduced to the regular savings rate at the time of withdrawal from the date of deposit and 90 days interest be forfeited. There is also a tax liability and penalty imposed by the IRS if withdrawals are made from the plan before age 59 1/2.

Sale of Suffield Village Complex Finalized

A press conference was held by A. Gilbert Bissell, Jr., new owner of the Suffield Village shopping complex in the Village office Oct. 31. Bissell emphasized that the ownership was a "family" enterprise which includes his wife, Ann and son Kurt.

Atty. Robert Ludgin of Hartford, legal advisor for the Bissells, said closing of the sale of the Village shopping complex was held October 30, when the title was transferred to Bissell from the original owners, the Suffield Center Corporation. Documents for the transfer were filed in the Suffield Town Clerk's office the morning of October 31, he said.

Transfer from the Suffield Center Corporation makes Bissell owner of all the real estate and the assignee for the one acre corner lot at Bridge and North Main Streets. Total acreage involved is about seven acres.

In assigning the corner lot, the Suffield Redevelopment Agency continues the time allowed for new development of the corner lot to September 30, 1977 with Bissell designated as the new developer, Ludgin said.

The sale price including the corner lot was $2.1 million, he said. Bissell has assumed the existing mortgage held by the Enfield Savings and Loan Association. Suffield Center Corporation has paid all the back taxes and taken care of the second mortgage, he added. Bissell was one of the stockholders in the Suffield Center Corporation who voted to dissolve the corporation.

A requirement of the sale of the corner lot was that the proposed office building for the site be built, he said. Bissell added the decision on an architect for the proposed building has not been made yet. The Redevelopment Agency in signing the agreement for assigning the lot to Bissell said the construction plans should conform to the proposed office building plans.

Besides the Bissell family and Ludgin, others at the conference were Patrick Reilly, mall manager, and Henry Racki, tax consultant.

It was announced that Bissell and his son, Kurt, will be operating a new Suffield Village Sports Center in the main building. The Sports Center will feature both sports clothing and equipment. A grand opening of the Sports Center was set for November 8.

Negotiations are in process for a substitute for the Black Dog Tavern with an independent restaurateur who will operate the restaurant with his family, Ludgin said. Negotiations are also underway for a general store and store operator, he said. Another new store in prospect is a shoe store. Space will also be leased to the operator of stained glass (Tiffany type) business.

On a square footage basis, the Village center is 85 percent occupied, Ludgin said. It is expected that the present shops here now will stay, with 18 in all sure, he added.

A native of Suffield and long-time resident, Bissell is a fourth or fifth generation of the Bissells in Suffield. His investment in Suffield Village represents his confidence in the future of the Village. He believes that Suffield Village is worthy of the efforts of his family who would like to see the Suffield Village become an "active life center" for the town, he said.

Emphasis will be on making it a "Town" shopping center to meet the needs of the townspeople, rather than a "Regional" one in competition with larger shopping malls across the river. However, the Bissells would like to expand a market to the northeastern area.

Manager Patrick Reilly views the Suffield shops as having competitive prices with other area stores. Although they are located in a "quality" building and have "quality" wares, they are not "exclusive" shops, he said. People from Longmeadow, Agawam and Westfield, Mass. shop in Suffield Village now, as well as from Suffield and other Connecticut towns, he said.

Movie theater charges in the Village are less than any other theater in the area, he said.

Veterans Day Parade Scenes

Enfield held its traditional Veterans Day parade and ceremony, honoring the military dead of all wars Sunday under ideal weather conditions. Witnessed by about 5,000 townspeople along Enfield Street from Enfield High School to Town Hall, the eight division parade was highlighted by ceremonies in front of the War Memorial at Town Hall with Mayor Armand Roy as the main speaker who cited all Enfield military men who have been killed in battle from the Revolutionary War in 1776 to the recently concluded Vietnam War. Antonio Barbieri, commander of the James Rinaldi-Roy Fede Post 17, Italian-American World War Veterans, was the parade marshal.

Top Candy Man

Henry Blethen was the top seller of candy in the Enfield Lancers Sports Association activity. Henry sold 744 bars of candy for $372.00. Carol Downs, chairman of the candy sale, presents Henry (24) with $50 check as his prize as head coach Dave Tucker (4) looks on. Observing the presentation is Vice President Ann Morgan (1). Henry is a junior at Enfield High.

Winner Of 'Gobbler' Gets $4,000 Prize

"It's like the seventh game in the World Series, there's no tomorrow. You have all winter to get ready for the next race so you run hard and run fast all day." That's the way 1975 NASCAR National Champion Jerry Cook is approaching the first annual "Turkey Gobbler" at the Stafford Springs Motor Speedway Nov. 29.

The Gobbler continues to attract the upper echelon modified drivers hoping to carry home the $4,000 winner's prize that has been posted for the 150 lap event.

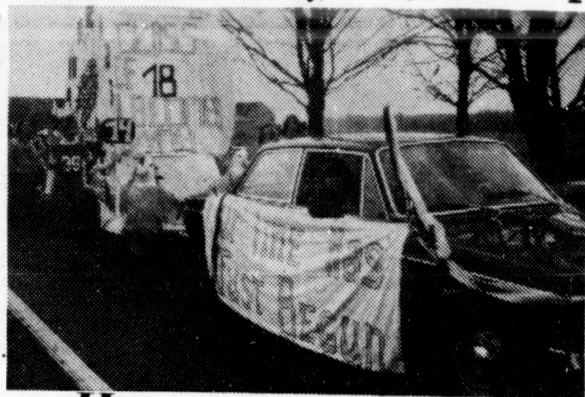

But for Jerry Cook, the money is almost secondary. Points for the Thanksgiving weekend affair will be the first set counting towards the 1976 championship. "That's the title I want, the '76 one." Cook continues, "I've never been able to win three National Championships in a row and the '76 title is all that stands in my way this time." Should Cook take the '76 title, he not only would become the winningest National Champion in NASCAR history (5), but he would equal the consecutive title honor presently held by Bugs Stevens, (67, 68, 69).

Time trials and heats will determine the 30 car starting field for the "Gobbler" with the fastest 10 qualifiers starting in inverted order. The remaining 20 positions will be determined by a series of qualifying heats and a consolation. Action is slated to get underway with time trials at 11:00 a.m.

In addition to the posted awards, lap prizes are being actively solicited by the Speedway for the first time in several years. Should the lap prizes sell out, the winner of the "Gobbler" could very well take home $5,900 for his efforts.

Cook joins Bugs Stevens, Ray Miller, Geoff Bodine, Maynard Troyer, Wayne Anderson, Gene Bergin, Bob Park, Fred Schulz, and Ed Flemke, Jr. for the first annual affair. Wheeling the Pete Hollebrand Pinto, the Rome, N.Y. veteran must be counted as one of the favorites to take the inaugural event. The only Stafford win for Jerry Cook came in a similar race, the Permatex 150 at Stafford in '74, although consistency has been the rule in the National Champion's appearances at the Connecticut Speedplant.

Starrs Lose To Americans

The Enfield Americans C team beat the Starrs II C team Sunday noon at Mount Carmel Field before a large crowd. The Starrs scored first on their first play of the game, going some 40 yards for the score, good defense prevented the conversion. Near the end of the first quarter, halfback Chris Pape ran 45 yards through the line for an American score, the conversion failed. Second quarter action saw Pape again running 25 yards for the second American score, again no conversion. Half time score — Americans 12, Starrs 6.

The second half saw solid defense from both units, with the game being played mostly between the 30 yard lines. Only twice did the ball move beyond. Once when Linebacker Mike Hartley caused and recovered a Starr fumble and on the next play tightened Robert Farrell received a A.J. Coulter pass to go some 35 yards for an Americans touchdown only to be called back because of a penalty. The second time in the 4th quarter when the Starrs threatened inside the ten yard line, but a tough American defense cheered on by their cheerleaders held. Final score Americans 12, Starrs 6.

Americans coaching staff named halfback Chris Pape Player of the Week.

Semi-Pro Hockey League Forming

Presently forming at the Enfield Twin Rinks is a semi-pro hockey league which will be comprised of players from Connecticut and Massachusetts. The league is being sponsored by the Twin Rinks and is open to all hockey players over age 18. Already signed for the league are former Fermi High Hockey stars Mark Angelica, Joe Cannella, and Dix Jones.

From the other side of town former Enfield Hockey stars Carl Brewer and Paul Dubriel have signed. There is a dire need for players and any interested persons are asked to call the Twin Rinks at 741-2022 and from the Springfield area 734-5549. The league will be playing under National Hockey League rules and will offer the Enfield area its first look at big time hard hitting hockey.

There will be no admission charge for the games which will be played Thursday evenings starting at 9:30 the East Hartford Explorers 8-time New England Basketball Association champions for his fourth season.

The 6-3 Tyler was the league's top scorer last season with a 25.6 mark with a single-game high of 45. He will again be teamed up with Don Lewis, ex-Providence College Captain to form what many say, is the best the backcourt semi-pro combination in New England.

The Explorers will open their New England Basketball Association schedule on November 30th in Terryville as part of a league twinbill.

Come share in their ministry and let them be a blessing to you.

Jan Lowry Stars

Jane Lowry, veteran regional theatre actress, will play Lilly Miller, spinster aunt, in Stage-West's first production of the season, Eugene O'Neill's "Ah, Wilderness!"

The variety of roles Miss Lowry has played this past year is an excellent indication of her versatility. In the Stage-West production to open November 15, she plays Lilly Miller, who takes her spinsterhood in stride and refuses to marry her constantly tipsy admirer, the lovable but drunken Uncle Sid. In direct contrast to the peace and tranquility of Lilly Miller is the role she played in New York's Circle in the Square Theatre production of "Hot L Baltimore." She played a mad hooker, frantically prowling the streets in a series of red, yellow and blue wigs, the constant victim of one pimp after another who used her, beat her and then left her.

She feels very comfortable as a repertory type of actress. "When so many people are worried about being type-cast, I'm flattered to be given such a wide variety of roles. That's part of my excitement in the theatre."

Miss Lowry, who is "very excited about coming to a theatre of Stage-West's caliber," has made many regional theatre appearances, including the Baltimore Center Stage production of "Hot L Baltimore," Loretta-Hilton Repertory production of "The Time Of Your Life," Chicago's Ivanhoe Theatre production of "The Glass Menagerie" with Mercedes McCambridge, and the Pittsburgh Playhouse production of "Delicate Balance." On Broadway, Miss Lowry has been seen in "Delicate Balance" and "Poor Bits." She has also appeared with the Barter Theater in Virginia for a repertory season in "Twelfth Night, The Crucible," and "Importance Of Being earnest."

North Central Health District 1 Year Old

The four-town North Central Health District has completed its initial year of operations. According to Director Nicholas Lavinkevich the service has accomplished all of its primary objectives. He stated that he and his staff of four sanitarians and health workers established programs in immunization, public health, and sanitary inspection. Although the district had been formed in July 1974 it was not fully operational until October. The district serves Enfield, East Windsor, Windsor Locks and Ellington.

rubella, polio, hepatitis, diphtheria and four other ailments. He added that the program will be expanded next year.

The district also ran a venereal disease program and treated over 200 people. Lavinkevich stated that within the next year the district will have programs for the prevention of lead poisoning, cervical cancer and high blood pressure.

The district also inspected many health complaints such as garbage, refuse and sewer problems. Routine inspections of sewer installations were common.

The North Central District is one of six state-wide and is the newest. Funding is the split-cost system where each community shares operating expenses along with matching funds from the state.

Melechinsky Continuing To Fight For Rights

By DAVE LYNCH

In a case heard in the Appellate Division of the Superior Court in Hartford, Enfield resident Andrew Melechinsky claims that he was "kidnapped", "robbed", and "harassed" by court personnel.

allowed to disqualify the judges in the case. He has sought to remove Judges Graham, Bernstein, Covello, Monchum, Armentano, and Dwyer. Melechinsky has said that all of the above were "not competent".

Melechinsky is appealing a guilty verdict in the case, which was originally tried in Court of Common Pleas, GA 13 in Windsor Locks.

In the controversial document Melechinsky says, "The Defendant Andrew J. Melechinsky is the victim of numerous errors in judgements and violation of constitutional (and other law)." He also says, further down in the paper, that he is being forced, against his will, to participate in an "illegal trial".

Melechinsky also alleges that he was denied his right to have the case dismissed and his right to be heard".

Due to the fact that none of the jurors were from Melechinsky's "home district" he says that he is not being given a fair trial.

Specifically, he states that he was "forced to submit to trial by jury of six. Denied a fair and impartial jury. 1) The jury was biased. 2) The jury members perjured themselves. 3) The Prosecutor knew which jurors had voted for or against acquittal in previous trials".

Due to this, Melechinsky feels that "The Court had no right to try the Defendant because of the above denial of rights."

While many of the points which Melechinsky makes seem valid, some have accused him in the past of specious reasoning. It is hard to determine at this point what direction the trial may take, however, it is obvious that Andrew Melechinsky will be fighting "tooth and nail" every inch of the way.
