There can be no objection to letting he general public know, as a great many ustomers already know, and buy their nilk with that knowledge. The principal ingredient is water, which, if pure, is harmless, and only serves to increase the quantity. Now, I venture to ascrt that the majority of cow's milk, fresh from the cow, would not stay upon the infaut's stomach. Again, without salt, it is almost impossible to keep milk sweet but a very short time. It sours soon, and here again the poor milkman comes in for abuse. If you pay eight or nine cents a quart for your milk, you will get a good, nutritious article, but not pure milk. So what can you expect when you pay only five cents a quart ?"

> Adopting Children. The practice of adopting children is sting for more than one reason. The old nan who has been adopted is Mr. Frederick Crouch, the composer of "Kathleen lavourneen," and the young man who has adopted him is Mr. James Marion Roche, of Baltimore. In a petition on he subject addressed to the Circuit Court of Baltimore, Mr Roche sets forth that he s more than twenty-one years of age, and hat he desires to change his name to that of James Marion Roche Crouch, "inasmuch as he has become attached and devoted to Frederick Crouch, the composer of "Kathleen Mayourneen," and his family in their adversity. "He feels," the petition continues, " that by adopting the name of Crouch he can better look after and care for his adopted father in his de clining years, and that after he is gone his little children can have a brother to look up to and call upon for aid and protection. Before making the acquaintance of the generous young man who has now taken charge of him for the rest of his days, Mr. Crouch was indeed in the greatest poverty. The fact of his being the composer of the ery melodious ballad with which, in Eng land at least, his name is always associated did not seem to the known to the Americans until one day he introduced himself n that character to the late Mile. Titiens ho was astonished and delighted at making the acquaintance of one whose exist ence in the flesh she does not seem to have suspected. From that time until now Mr. Crouch has met with many friends; and it is gratifying to hear that, thanks to the paternity of "Kathleen Mayourneen" having been fixed upon him,

MR. BLAINE'S BOOKS.' Wo Works Which Will Enrich the Mair Statesman

Mr. Blame has nearly completed his istory of "From Lincoln to Garfield." He will then begin upon a history of the war of 1812. No satisfactory history confined to this interesting period has ever een written. Mr. Blaine proposes to fil up this gap in our history and has already gathered a mass of material for it. From a personal friend of Mr. Blaine's I have learned that he was offered $100,000 in cash for the two volumes of "Lincola to Garfield" he is now writing. Mr. Blaine was new to the book business and was about to accept the offer, when a friend arged him not to, but to insist in its place ipon a royalty of 50 cents a volume. His riend, who has some experience with publishers.said :- "You will make much nore money by insisting upon a royalty." Mr. Blaine, however, was not so sanguine in his belief in the great sale of the book. He finally agreed to take $75,000 and a royalty of 15 cents a volume. This friend of Mr. Blaine said :- "I believe the royalty will bring him in nearly as much as the cash down." The publishers have advance orders for 100,000 of the history and are perfectly confident they will tell 300,000 volumes. Mr. Blaine has a great mass of material for the history of the Garfield administration and the canvass preceding the election. Mr. Blaine has preserved all of the papers of his term of office as Secretary of State by having official copies of everything made before he left the department. He has also a number of Garfield's personal papers. In addition to this he has a very large number of letters from General Garfield wher he was organizing his Cabinet. In the month of December following his election Garfield came to Washington and sent for Senator Blaine. He offered him the place of Secretary of State. Blaine considered the office two or three days and then accepted, his acceptance being kept officially secret. Garfield soon after returned o Mentor. From then on he wrote very reely to Mr. Blaine. There was scarcely day that passed without Mr. Blaine's receiving a long letter from the President'select, asking his advice upon nearly every public man. His success may bring other public men into the ranks of historical writers. It is one of the complaints of students of American history, and particularly the history of politics, that so little has been done by the leading men of the times, to leave upon record a true inside prominent actors. There is hardly a man of long experience and public affairs who does not possess an endless fund of personal rem'niscence. They are fond of relating but not of writing their experiences. Some of the best pictures of current hisory are wasted in the social chat of a well-arranged dinner-table. If public men learn something from Mr. Blaine's eximple the future student of politics wil e greatly the gainer.

Sensible Advice

There is nothing like their own home or married people, and especially young narried people, even if the wife does have to cook and sweep the floor and clean the windows. If she be a healthy girl the exercise will do her good-and no young nan who has to labor for his living should narry a girl that is not healthy, strong and willing to do her own work while they are too poor to hire a servant. This thing of marrying a girl that you have to hire another girl to take care of is not a wise thing for a poor young man to do. He should look out for a girl that is broad shouldered, strong in muscle, having, of course, the other virtues.

The ideal girl, the consumptive, tight laced, party-going, piano-playing, Frenchtalking, fashionable girl, can be no proper wife for him. This language the girls better for girls that are not fitted to be a poor man's wife to remain with their parents than become such. It will be better for their lovers, too, and better for Lord Higgleton In Arkansas. Lord Higgleton who came to Arkansaw with a view to the purchase of a large tract of timber land, does not like certain social conditions which he found in the re mote regions where the steam whistle has never disturbed the quiet of the squatter. In 1875, thirteen men comprised the entire working force used in the manufacture of the James Boss Gold Watch Case. Now over five hundred are employed, and the number is constantly increasing. The reason of this increase is this: In the James and subject to wear is solid gold, while the re-mainder, which only lends strength to the case, is of stronger metal than gold, giving gold where gold is needed, and strong, elastic metal where strength and elasticity are needed, a combination producing a watch case better than solid gold and at ONE-HALF the cost.

Over 200,000 of these cases have been sold, and every jeweler in the country can testify to their quality and merit.

The bashikouai ants must be a terrible lague. They travel, we are told, night and day, in armies miles long. The elephant and gorilla fly before them ; the black man runs for his life so soon as the ants are seen. it is related by a traveller that as he was ing up one of the mouths of the Zambese e saw a whole village suddenly deserted by e inhabitants, who fled with all they could ery off, a proceeding which, as there was to fee in sight, rather puzzled him, till he and they were fleeing from the ants. When these ants enter a hat they clear it of very living thing in a few minutes. ing discovery, brought to light in the course of some excavations which are being carried out in the island of Delos by the pupils of the French school at Athens. In the neighborhood of the Theatre of Apollo they came upon the remains of a private house, which apparently belonged to the Alexandrine epoch. A court surrounded by pillars and twelve chambers has been opened out. The floor is composed of mosaic, representing flowers, fishes and other ornaments. In the middle of the court is a well. The door of the house and the line of roadway or street leading to it have also been discovered. The excavations will be continued.

All the tories of tribes without language or with anguages more like the twittering of birds than the articulate sounds of human beings belong to the chapter of ethnological fables. THE lower part of the house corner of Union and Belden avenues. What is more important still is that many of the so-called savage languages have been hown to possess a most perfect, in many cases too perfect, that is to say, too artificial rammar, while their dictionary presents a wealth of names which any poet might envy. True, this wealth of grammatical forms and this superabundance of names for special objects are, from one point of view, signs of ogical weakness and a want of powerful eralization. Languages which have cases express nearness to an object movement dongside an object, approach toward an object, entrance into an object, but which have no purely objective case, no accusative, may be called rich, no doubt, but their richness is truly poverty. The same applies to their dictionary. It may contain names of every kind of animal; again for the same animal when it is young or old, male or female; it may have different words for the foot of a man, a horse, a lion, a hare; but it probably is without a name for animals in general, or even for such concepts as member or body. There is here, as elsewhere, loss and gain on both sides. But however imperfect a language may be in one point or ther, every language, even that of Papuas and Veddas, is such a masterpiece of abstract thought that it would baffle the ingenuity of

Nice tripe or cowheel is excellent; but indeed nothing comes amiss that one eats one's self, only we must be careful to give bread and vegetables as well is meat. Raw beef minced finely is often given to cats when ill; so are boiled eggs and cream. Milk seems to be one of the necessaries of life to a cat; let it be good and abundant. Few people know that cats cannot be kept in health unless they be supplied with water. If a cat does not get water, she will have to help herself to it. more expensive or difficult to execute than the ordinary jig-sawed, ginger-bread box like work that have had their day; to prove to the masses that the false ideas of ornamentation without constructional qualifications are as vulgar to the true mechanic as brass compared with gold to the goldsmith; to help those who are seeking to help themselves and to promote a higher artistic feeling in connection with the every day work of the mechanic and to do the same without any more cost than if the old ruts were followed. Among the details given are for brick and stone work, water tables, sills, belt courses, steps, window and door openings, cornices, chimneys, pannels, and other miscellaneous brick and stone work, including terra cotta work of a large variety. For exterior wood work, framing, giving plans, elevations and sections of same; water tables, belts, gables, brackets, bal conies, verandas, porches, door and window frames, towers, cupolas, ventilators, roofs, store fronts, steps and buttresses, balustrades for all kinds of balcony and verandah finish, wood fences, in such style and variety never before dreamed of, but all very practical and elegant in their simplicity; barge-boards, rafter feet and cornice in endless variety; overhanging projections; combinations of brick, stone and wood finish; dormer windows of different styles and finish adapted to modern work, creatings, finials, front and outside doors, conservatories, plant cabinets, drive porches, finish for barns, out-houses, wellhouses, summer-houses, grape art or and other details too numerous to mention. For interior work will be found different styles of finish for every part, and which includes doors of almost every kind and finish, window finish, casings and architraves, base-boards, chair boards, wainscoting, sideboards, side table, hall stands book cases, tables, chairs, benches, pews and seats for churches, stands, drawers, and wardrobes-all easy, practical designs, such as a master mechanic can readily ex ecute. Staircases, newels, rails, balusters, mantel pieces, picture moulding, wood and plaster cornices, center pieces, brack ets, beam and arch finish, wooden ceilings, finish for side walls, inlaid floors, bank counters, desk and office fittings. Also a new, full and comprehensive method of stair building and hand railing, prepared expressly for this work. The easiest and simplest yet devised, having few lines and complications, hence can be readily understood. Every one of these stair problems is drawn to a scale of 11/2 inch-s to the foot, and are such as the carpenter has to Budget encounter in his every day work, hence their usefulness. The convention then proceeded to informal ballot for state senator, Mesers. Fairchild and Underwood actingus tellers, with the following result: James W. Hyatt, 6; Thos. H. Morison, 6; R. C. Ambler, 1; M. H. Bracken, 1; J. S. Toomy, 1. Some doubt having been expressed as to the legality of Mr. Hyatt holding the offices of Bank Commissioner and senator, if elected, the chair consulted a lawyer, and found that there was no law which would prevent Mr. Hyatt from holding the two offices. The convention then proceeded to a second informal ballot, resulting as fol-J. W. Hyatt, 8; Thos. H. Morison, 5;

Mr. Hyatt being absent from town there was no means of definitely ascertaining; but he had always been a true Democrat, and had never been known to go back on the party.

On the formal ballot Mr. Hyatt received the entire vote of the convention and his nomination was made unanimous! After appointing a senatorial committee and a committee to wait upon Mr. Hyatt and inform him of his nomination, the convention tendered a vote of thanks to the Phalanx club for the use of its rooms, and then adjourned.

The cause of this is said to be unprincipled men who fire upon them when they first begin to fly, thereby violating the law. The committee appointed at the annual session of the encampment of the Grand Army to visit Fitch's home for soldiers at Darien performed that duty last Thursday. There are thirty old soldiers cared for at the home, and six or eight more will be received during the week. The trustees of the home are General Couch, Senator Tallmadge Baker and Mr. Fitch, nephew of Mr. Berjamin Fitch, of New York city, the donor of the institute.

Hon. Samuel F. Cary of Ohio, whom Manager Mitchell has secured to deliver a lecture at the Opera House, this evening, is one of the most brilliant orators of America. His lecture, entitled "Then and Now," has a humorous as well with joy. The lecture is especially dedicated to the G. A. R. and thus will be of unusual interest to veterans of the war. As this is the farewell appearance of Mr. Carey, no one should lose the opportunity to hear him. Of the "Atkinson' Jollitics" which are night, the Dramatic News speaks as follows:-Atkinson's Jollities produced their new opera, "The Electric Spark," last evening. The performance was of surprising excellence, and we do not hesitate to pronounce it by far the best thing of the kind that has appeared in New York for years. As an extravaganza it can stand on its merits, which are of the first order. The Newburg Celebration.

Connecticut contributed quite largely to he crowd at Newburg. The New England road took thousands of excursionists to and from the patriotic city on the Hudson. The Hudson river, West Shore and Erie roads, and river steamers scemed taxed to their utmost capacities. Some estimate the crowd as high as a hundred

The Putnam Phalanx of Hartford, and Colonel Henry Huss' little boys drum corps, attracted special interest and won no end of applanse. General Hawley occupied a seat on the speaker's stage, as did Secretary Chandler and Albert Rel yea, of Norwalk. The speeches of Senater Bayard and ex-Secretary Evarts were able and elequent, but were heard with difficulty. The poem of Wallace Bruce was very fine and beautifully rendered.

The music of forty bands and singing by a thousand voices filled the air with be wildering music and signal guns from the war ships, and steam whistles from river crafts and locomotives, filled one's ears to bursting. The fire works were reasonably good, the parade of firemen superb and the day gorgeous, but the accommodations for "man and beast" were inexcruibly bad, and some of the Newburg hotels should be made to wait another hundred years before getting a chance to "take the

We present Testimonials of Leading Physicians and Citizens of the City of New Haven, (who can be found, not myths), who have used Lewis' "Red Jacket Bitters" with such universal success, and cheerfully recommend them to suffering humanity. From William

Fuller, of 349 Howard Ave. one of New Haven's Most Prominent Citizens:

NEW HAVEN, CT., MESSES. LEWIS & Co., Gentlemen:—For the last two years I have been afflicted with a combination of Liver troubles and Malaria, and have employed many prominent physicians and have tried a change of climate, but with no success. My stomach was very weak and I could retain little or nothing upon it for days at a time. I also had occasional sinking spells that my friends regarded as very serious. I had lost fifty pounds of flesh, and was rapidly on the lecline, so that I was unable to attend to my business, when a friend suggested a trial of your "Red Jacket Bitters." I began to make inquiries of many who but one sentiment expressed in regard to their great medici virtues. My faith was still limited in their being a swice of anyhe'p or benefit to me in my complicated disease. I finally thought best to make a trial of them, and have aken two bottles. I have gaine seven pounds of flesh and I am rapidly on the gain. I can cheerfully say that they are the best medicine I have ever used for the above troubles and I feel as if I had a new lease of-life.

land of the dead. For thousands of years in burying each other. It is the habit of the Celestial mourner to "plant" his relative in a grave that shall last. In the North there are few graveyards; that is to say, few places exclusively devoted to defunct celebrities. The person who is dead is placed in the most convenient and comfortable spot which offers itself, and that may chance to be in the centre of a field of rice or on the roadside. After using it three days she was so far improved that she could get from her bed to her chair without assistance, a cir cumstance that had not happened for months. Previous to taking it she was troubled more or less with short breath, requiring a continuous fanning to keep her ative. This gradually improved as we continued the use of Hunt's Remedy, and on the fourth bottle she was able to citup all day. She was bloated terribly in both limbs, and body upwards to the lungs. The tenth day the bloating left her bowels, and now she is not swollen above her knees. Her kidneys were very bad at the time, discharges being of a bloody character and emitting a sickening odor. I can say that the change in her case has been wonderful, and Hunt's Remedy has worked a miracle in her.

On My Feet All Day. On My Feet All Day.

Mr. George II. Lowden, of Pittsfield, Mass., writes, May 28, 1883: "I have for many years been troubled with kidney complains and indigestion. Attimes the pains in my back were so severe that it was impossible for me to at tend to my business, it being such that I am on my feet all the time. I had tried many medicines, and all other means that I knew of as I was growing worse, but all to no account, until I commended by one of our drugglist here. I purchased a bottle and used it according to directions, and found it did me more good than all the others that I had tried. I have used in all six bottles, and it has cured me. It a wonderful medicine, and I can truly say that I consider it the very bestfor kidneys and liver troubles."

An observer placed near the Equator, who takes the bearings of one of these small planets in the evening as soon as it can be stiuctly seen after its rising, and again shortly before dawn, has in the meanwhile en carried thousands of miles by the rotation of the earth, and will see a con siderable apparent change of the position of the planet in relation to the selected stars.

GEO. MERTZ, JR. This change is paraly due to the parallactic displacement but chiefly to the parallactic displacement rising from the rotation of the earth, and the consequent displacement of the observer. The amount due to each of these due to the motion of the planet itself may be estimated, by careful and repeated easurements of its place in relation to the stars among which it passes. Dr. Ball names two planets, Victoria and Sappho, as lending themselves particularly to this method of research, which has already been oursued with hopeful results; and he confidently expects that before the occurrence of the next transit the problem of the solar listance will have been solved within the thousandth part by the aid of the minor planets. Already, he thinks, the last estiment of 92,700,000 miles is not likely to be erroneous to the extent of 300,000 miles.

heir weight should read the report of Dr. disturbance which was the origin of the malady to which the Comte de Chambord succumbed. The Count, it must be renembered, was in his early days thrown rom a horse, with the twofold result of laming him and destroying his nerve. He was unable in consequence either to walk or o ride; and having exhibited a taste and even a passion for hunting, he caused rides to be cut in the forest of Frohsdorf, along which, driven in a carriage, he was accustomed to pursue his game. This, during form in which he took exercise; and as a natural consequence he became inordinately stout. He had recourse to Bantingism : and the dietary system he adopted had the effect -as he first and Dr. Vulpian afterward believed -of bringing about the condition of stomach which at last killed him. "Some four or five years ago," says Dr. Vulpian's report, "the Count, urged by a d sire to diminish his stoutness, submitted himself to the Banting system in all its rigor, and in a few months had lost nearly fifty pounds of his weight. This rapid emaciation had produced weakness and at the same time perhaps digestive troubles, and several people have told me that that was the case, and have even traced to the same date the first attacks of the malady." The immediate effects of severe Bantingism seem to have passed off, but later on the Count was twice attacked by acute indigestion and was obliged
