PEARSON REAPPOINTED.

(Special Telegram to the Gazette)
New York, March 31, 1885.
Pearson has received his reappointment as postmaster of New York City.

The reappointment of postmaster Pearson is a most commendable action on the part of President Cleveland. And while it undoubtedly brings down upon him the envious and spiteful attacks of the hard-shell element of his party, and will cost the democracy many a vote at the coming election, Pearson's reappointment is but a direct sequence of the civil service ideas which the President has frequently expressed.

It really seems as if President Cleveland meant to bestow of good government on the people. He has not only reappointed Pearson, but he has also reappointed the other officials of the post office. This is a most commendable action on the part of the President. He has shown that he is not only a man of high character, but also a man of high ability. He has shown that he is not only a man of high character, but also a man of high ability.

An Ingenious Scheme.
Whether through suggestions of the liquor dealers, or whether through their own natural shrewdness, there are some citizens of Bridgeport who are at the top, and who are endeavoring to evade the law. They have devised a scheme by which they can avoid the tax on liquor. They have devised a scheme by which they can avoid the tax on liquor.

An Infernal Outrage.
The Sentinel last week published an account of the alleged discovery of Mr. J. M. Ellendorf, editor of the Mechanic Journal in the act of eavesdropping at the office of the late Governor. This was a most disgraceful and infernal outrage. It was a most disgraceful and infernal outrage.

Remarkable Presence of Mind.
In the reports of the occurrence, it is true, and there is no reason to believe them to be otherwise, there is one woman in the world who has more than the average share of presence of mind. She lives in New Rochelle, but her name, alas, is not to be divulged. While walking on the tracks of the Consolidated road last Tuesday she saw a train approaching. She immediately stepped upon the other track, but had hardly done so before she heard a second train coming behind her. Not having time to cross both tracks and reach a place of safety, she coolly gathered her skirts tightly about her and lay down going in opposite to the direction of the train. She was struck, but she was not hurt. She was struck, but she was not hurt.

Another Strike.
The weavers employed in the Harding Woolen Mills at Stamford, struck last week for an advance of wages. A twelve per cent. reduction in their wages was made last fall, and the rent in the tenement houses owned by the company was increased fifty per cent. The operatives accepted the new state of affairs owing to the business depression at that time. Upon the opening of the spring trade they asked a return to the former prices. This being refused the operatives returned to work.

"Becky" Free.
The contumacious "Becky" Jones who refused to testify in the Harewood case, and was, therefore, committed to Ludlow street jail for contempt, was released Saturday in accordance with an order from the supreme court. "Becky" has been in jail for over a year and as far as talking is concerned has fully proved the old saying: "Who will, she will, and you may depend on it."

Walker Gets the London Consulate.
President Cleveland on Monday sent to the Senate, among other nominations, that of Hon. Thomas M. Walker of Connecticut to be Consul General of the United States at London. The "Little Giant" will be remembered, telegraphed Cleveland just after the latter's election, that he had failed to secure a majority of the votes for reelection as governor, and added: "But in the general rejoicing over your victory, nobody cares." Our Tom now what he was talking about.

Has the Project Gone to Sleep?
New Haven has decided upon the form and location of a magnificent bridge to be erected over the Connecticut river. The project has been decided upon by the city council. The project has been decided upon by the city council.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, March 30, 1885.
DEAR GAZETTE:—It was expected that the Senate would conclude its executive session last week, but the difficulty the President has experienced in getting the persons he selects to accept office, has caused unexpected delay and an adjournment of the Senate. Disgraced Cleveland's followers say it all comes of Cleveland's foolishness in ignoring every one who applies for a place and really wants it, and going all over the country and digging up a class of men he has to coax and urge to accept. The President is quite evident in his own peculiar way, under the misapprehensions and blunders of his political supporters. He has been very severely censured by his party friends for going up into Vermont and hunting out as they say, a notorious aristocrat in the State of New York, and who has been reappointed as his minister to England. They say Mr. Phelps has nothing in common or in sympathy with the rank and file of the democratic hosts who elected him; that he is in all respects and purposes a free trade, English school, who would not soil his ill-earned laurels by shaking hands with the noisy hangers on of the party. From the abuse thus heaped upon our new minister to St. James, it is evident to the average republican mind that the President has really selected a very superior man to represent us at that important court. The most striking office that has thus far transpired, has been the appointment of Vice-President Hendricks and Representative Bynum over the Indianapolis postmaster. The battle has been most fiercely waged and both contestants have had "blood in their eyes."

It appears to be the home residence of both. The M. C. claims that according to custom and usage he was entitled, as representative, to name the postmaster. But the Vice-President with even greater heat, declared that, as he had next to no patronage he of a right ought to be permitted to name his own city's postmaster. It is said that Mr. Hendricks had been so officious in trying his favorites for so many other offices that the President finally decided to break the rule and let him name the Indianapolis postmaster so as to shut off on all his other invidious, and impertinent interferences. He is charged by Indiana democrats with being an old swine in gobbling all the offices within his grasp. He is charged with being an old swine in gobbling all the offices within his grasp. He is charged with being an old swine in gobbling all the offices within his grasp.

That "Blue T."

The Athenaeum was crowded Friday evening with a large number of people who had gathered to find out what the "Blue T" was. The room was very prettily decorated with fancy paper, Japanese lanterns and stuffed birds. In the center of the stage a large blue T was suspended and to the left of it were several well executed figures in blue paper representing, as was supposed, the Salvation Army. Just before the entertainment commenced Rev. Mr. Anderson announced that the exercises would be somewhat shortened owing to the illness of Mr. Gibson and one other who was expected to take part. The exercises commenced with a piano duet by the Misses Merrill and Betts. A series of tableaux followed, representing "Robin" in search of a wife, Miss Miller, Anderson and Curtis and Charles Miller assuming the leading parts. The tableaux were well assumed and received much applause. The Misses Betts and Miller then played a duet after which Mrs. Henry Bessell gave a finely delivered recitation of "The Heroic Deeds of the Blue T." Rev. Mr. Anderson then announced that the audience were to resolve themselves into a social, and a very socialistic rush was made for the tables in the rear of the hall, which were heavily laden with eatables. These eatables were enclosed in small baskets handsomely fringed with blue paper and so ornamented as to be very attractive. Coffee was furnished on order. After the refreshments the audience chatted and had a good time generally, until the slightest idea that we haven't the slightest idea what the "Blue T" part means but we are willing to vouch for the enjoyment produced by Friday evening's entertainment.

Farmers from Woodbury, Hillsdale and Westbury on the west and south are coming to the city. They are bringing with them a large number of sheep and a few cows. They are bringing with them a large number of sheep and a few cows. They are bringing with them a large number of sheep and a few cows.

Some nights ago, while a play was being presented in the Opera House, a dignified, heavy built gentleman with a stove-pipe hat, ferocious mustache, and sharp, flashing eyes, came in and took a seat in the center of the house. Being a stranger he attracted considerable attention, and directly the whispers were heard that he was a detective from New York, and that his "game" was a couple of actors just engaged by the dramatic company and brought from New York. When this whisper was circulated the detective was closely scrutinized by the imaginative worshippers of blood and thunder heroes, and his evident excitement and admiration. His powerful build, piercing eyes and pointed ears, were liberally commented on. The scar back of his ear was attributed to a terrific fight he once had single-handed with a gang of seventeen counterfeiters, in which he killed every one of his antagonists, all of whom were armed with cut-throat knives, while his only weapon was a broken beer glass. Numerous and thrilling were the whispers of his great achievements, feats of daring, and hair-breadth escapes, and all hands were agog in anticipation of a lively time between the detective and his prospective prisoners from New York.

Mr. Blaine is still busy on his book. He expects to have it completed by the middle of the summer, and is very well pleased with what he has done already. He has a critical eye, and has the rare quality of being able to criticize his own work as that of another. He expects this time to live and to give him a name when a long life is spent in the service of his country. He was very well pleased with what he has done already. He has a critical eye, and has the rare quality of being able to criticize his own work as that of another.

Miss Kate Grand, the actress who died Saturday, 21st inst., had been in retirement for some time. She was remarkable for her beauty, and was one of the stock company at Booth's Theatre while it was under the management of Messrs. Barrett and Grand. She was married to Mr. George Rowe in 1877, and acted in several of that gentleman's plays. Having in 1879 procured a divorce from Mr. Rowe, she went to live with her father, Mr. Perrin, South at Norwalk, Conn. One of the most exciting events in Miss Grand's life was her narrow escape from death by the explosion of a gas pipe in her room. It will be remembered that the play was the "Two Orphans." Miss Grand played the part of Marianne, the outcast. In flying from the fire she was thrown down on the sidewalk in Washington street and trampled upon. She suffered a fracture of the ribs and for some time her life was in danger.

Editor Dana seems bent on forcing the Consolidated Railroad to run trains between New York and Boston, over the Air Line connection, in five hours. President Watson recently declared this impossible, as the Air Line road is single tracked, has many sharp curves and is not in first class condition. Now comes editor Dana to the front with a job for the Connecticut legislature. He says it will only cost $300,000 to double track the road and put it in fine condition, and he calls upon the Connecticut legislature to do it as it is done.—Hartford Telegram.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Coley of Weston are the close of the war of having lost their little son Harry, who died Monday, at the age of one year and seventeen days. The sympathy of a wide circle of friends goes out to them in their bereavement. The remains of the little one will be buried tomorrow at 2 o'clock.

Cross Squad Ferry.

Work is progressing rapidly on the Joshua Lewis, the new Cross Squad Ferry steamer and she is expected to be completed and to come up to Huntington Harbor on Wednesday, April 1st. A meeting of the stockholders is to hold on Monday next, Enterprise Hall, to adopt by-laws, elect directors and complete the organization of the stock—twenty-five per cent.—will be paid and the company established on a sound basis. It is expected that a trial trip from Huntington to Norwalk will be made on Monday, April 6th. All the stockholders will be invited to go over on this occasion so as to witness the workings of the boat and to be introduced to their enterprising Yankee cousins.

We advise our farmers to conform their methods of farming largely to the new order of things and to go more extensively into the raising of early potatoes, cabbage, asparagus, lettuce, sweet corn and other highly vegetables, and strawberries, raspberries, peaches and other fruits, all of which mature from ten to twelve days earlier on Long Island than they do in Connecticut and for all of which there will be a ready market among the one hundred and fifty thousand people to be found in New York and Bridgeport and in the numerous interior manufacturing cities and towns connected with these seaports by railroad, and in the great cities of New York, Hartford, Springfield and Boston, Fall River and Providence.

At the meeting of the Norwalk Church Choral Union, held last Friday evening, it was voted to end the term with that lesson. Bridgeport is contributing towards the completion of the Bartholdi pedestal, and it is expected that about $400 will be raised there.

THE MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF NEW YORK. The Mutual Life Insurance Company is the forty-second year of its existence and since the date of its organization has accumulated and has now safely Invested for the Sole Benefit of its Policy-holders $103,876,178.51. It has during this period Paid to its policy-holders $216,094,214.98.

After careful consideration, and with the view of granting to policy-holders whatever benefits the experience of the company has shown to be wise and safe, a new form of policy has been prepared, known as

THE FIVE YEAR DISTRIBUTION POLICY. This is a well matured plan and offers to the insuring public many advantages. It introduces all the liberal features which its own experience or that of other institutions have shown to be popular, never forgetting that first of considerations—the absolute safety of the great fund held in trust by the managers of this institution.

A few of the features which characterize the "Five Year Distribution Policy," are: Policy-holders are allowed a freedom of residence and travel much beyond the ordinary limits, covering it is believed, the requirements of ordinary business or pleasure, and without additional premium or extra charge.

Death claims arising under policies issued on this plan, will be payable as soon as satisfactory proofs are presented to and accepted by the Company. Policies of this description may be issued to an amount not exceeding $50,000 upon a single life, inclusive of all other policies and additions issued by this Company, upon the same life, and at ages from eighteen to sixty-five years. Also upon lives of females to the amount of $10,000.

This Company is now paying about $1,000 per day in matured claims to citizens of Connecticut and we give below a few illustrations of policies recently paid in this State where the dividends have been allowed to accumulate with the Company.

Table with columns: Name, Residence, Policy, Dividend Additions Paid.

It will be noticed that in each of the above illustrations the Company paid dividends largely in excess of the policies.

Those who desire SAFE insurance with the certainty of securing all the advantages that a successful, conservative and strong company can offer, are invited to apply to A. H. CAMP, Agent.
