POLITICAL REVIEW. THE NET RESULTS OF THE LATE CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS. States Which Show the Division by Figures Between the Parties as Compared with the Present House—The Democrats Hold a Working Majority.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—A correspondent of a New York paper has given the following summary of the election: The members from the congressional districts give the Democrats total of 168; Republicans, 154; Labor, 2; and one vacancy in Rhode Island—a possible majority of 14 and 13 without the labor vote for the Democrats.

There is one vacancy in Rhode Island. The figures give the Democrats a safe margin. Mr. Carlisle's majority is small, but Mr. Thoburn points out that the election law was violated in several instances.

Mr. Emma Matthews started on Saturday last for California where they intend spending the winter.

The infamous circular which was sent out under the signature of "Labor" proved a boomerang. It is due to the labor organizations of the town to state that the circular was unauthorized by them, and they could not do so in a manner creditable thing to do to any party.

It was issued by the same person.

Rev. Dr. H. Read, D. D., pastor for many years of Grace Street Presbyterian church of Richmond, Virginia, and formerly of the Pearl Street Presbyterian church in New York, will celebrate his 76th birthday on the 12th of November.

Dr. Read is a native of Reading, England, and formerly resided there after his ancestors, the first settlers.—Religious Herald.

The truth, so far as anything yet is definitely developed, as to the status of Deputy President of the little Danbury, is that Crawford, the little Danbury, is that President Barnum recognizing his superior abilities in railroad matters has determined upon calling him up higher in his office for the purpose of retaining him in service as long as he is able to remain in charge of the Danbury as heretofore, where he has shown so much skill and wisdom.

It is the election of a President in 1888 should be thrown into the House of Representatives, the democrats could not elect their man. They have elected a miscreant, and should not unduly be surprised if the House of Representatives should elect that state shall cast a single vote for the candidate who shall be the choice of a majority of the Representatives from that state. Twenty states, a majority of the thirty-eight, are required to elect a President.

Pioneer Hook and Ladder company are making arrangements to have a "balling men's" dance, "One of the Barretts," presented in the Opera House this month for their benefit. Our citizens will have an opportunity to at once enjoy a first-class performance, and by their patronage manifest their appreciation of an efficient local firemen's organization. The tickets will be sold mostly by members of the company, and should be undoubtedly will meet with a large sale.

Of Samuel C. Waterbury, of Stamford, who was buried last Wednesday the 42nd inst. says: "His relation to public affairs in Stamford was extensive and honorable. He served the town as first selectman from 1870 to 1874 inclusive, and again in 1880; as third selectman, in years of democratic ascendancy, he served in 1879 and from 1881 to the present year. He was elected representative on the republican ticket with Beth B. Cook in 1885, and in every public position was known and honored for that integrity of character which marked him in business and private life."

The marriage of Mr. Charles L. Warren and Miss Adie Kelly was celebrated in the Methodist church last Wednesday evening in the presence of a large company of spectators. Rev. W. M. Clark performed the ceremony. Mr. E. H. Morehouse officiated as best man, Miss Frank H. Runce and Legrand Raymond, ushers. The wedding over, the company repaired to Mr. Kelly's home on Main street where a festive time was enjoyed until a late hour, and the happy bride and groom took up their abode in their future home on Orchard street.

The Bridgport News prints an interview with Selectman Strong as to the cost of the court house at Bridgport and the expense of securing its location there, it says in part: "Mr. Strong also said that in building the new court house the building committee figured in this way. The $30,000 for the Kiefer site was paid out of the original $100,000 appropriation, leaving $70,000 with which to put up the building. They did not consider that the money spent in lobbying the court house bill through the legislature ought to be, or would be deducted from the $100,000 appropriation. They expect the town to pay for that outside the appropriation. As the News has previously stated, these expenses amount to $14,496.80."

It has sometimes been said to the reproach of Norwalk that a good course of lectures cannot be sustained here. Such a claim on our fair name ought to be wiped out, and a brave little woman of our borough bearing an honored name and enthusiastically devoted to the education and elevation of her pupils, proposes, we are informed, to make an earnest effort in that direction with the sympathetic aid of a number of gentlemen favorably known here. During her studies in the higher department of her school will be illustrated by lectures in a public hall, viz.: "English Literature," by Rev. Edward Johnston; "The Theocentric Visions," by G. H. Shelton M. D., of Montreal, N. J.; "Modern Warfare," by Prof. Alexander Johnston, of Princeton College, N. J.; "Physical Culture," by Prof. W. G. Anderson, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; "The American Spectator in Nature's History," by Prof. Scott of Princeton College, N. J. This last lecture is not certain, but quite confidently expected from the distinguished scientist who gave one lecture here. Due notice will be given of times and place. It remains to be seen whether this laudable effort will be duly seconded.

Our citizens this week are having a rare opportunity to witness the presentation of standard orders by a good company, the National Rifles. Their opening piece, La Mascotte, given last night in the Opera House attracted a large and select audience and gave excellent satisfaction. The cast is a strong one, backed by an excellent chorus, magnificently costumed. Miss Letitia Parker, who, in her previous charmed the audience with her winsome ways and sweet, powerful voice and was enthusiastically applauded. Mark Charles as Pippo, won storms of applause, and with Miss Gray, was repeatedly encored, their rendering of the Gobble Duet being especially pleasing to the audience. Miss Letitia Parker, Frances Farnham, and Miss Letitia Parker, were particularly successful in their respective parts.

When the man who had done the shooting was arranged before the police sergeant he gave his name as Bertram Bruce Rowley, aged 44, a native of England, and presented a license 208 East Twelfth street. He said the man he had shot was his wife, that he did not know why he had shot her, and seemed greatly relieved when he was told that the woman was not necessarily fatal.

Mr. and Mrs. Rowley came to this country from England, where they had been married, seven months ago, and with them came Miss Letitia Parker, Mrs. Rowley's sister. Rowley and his wife had been in the city for some time, and were known to the police. They had been in the city for some time, and were known to the police. They had been in the city for some time, and were known to the police.

Rowley had no communication with his wife save through his sister-in-law, and that by writing. In his pocket when arrested letters from his wife were found, all of which were of a kind, tender nature, and urging her to return to him. The police sergeant, Saturday, urged him to return to the old country, where he would be sure to get work, and to return to his wife, promising to join her there. It was his better opportunity which led to the tragedy.

Miss Parker, Mrs. Rowley's sister, said that Rowley told her that he had a ticket to sail on the Alaska for England today, and requesting a last interview with his wife. She said that she had been in the city for some time, and was known to the police. They had been in the city for some time, and were known to the police.

Rowley had no communication with his wife save through his sister-in-law, and that by writing. In his pocket when arrested letters from his wife were found, all of which were of a kind, tender nature, and urging her to return to him. The police sergeant, Saturday, urged him to return to the old country, where he would be sure to get work, and to return to his wife, promising to join her there. It was his better opportunity which led to the tragedy.
