NORWALK

GAZETTE.

Founded in 1800.]

An Entertaining and Instructive Home Journal, Especially Devoted to Local News and Interests.

[$1.00 a Year

Vol. XcvII.-No 24

NORWALK, CONN., FRIDAY, JUNE 11, 1897.—12 PAGES.

PRICE TWO CENTS

THE CARNIVAL.

The Norwalk Business Men Represented on the Stage at Music Hall.

Under the Auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the East Avenue M.

E. Church.

Music Hall was packed last night with an appreciative audience, to witness the first night's production of the Business Men's Carnival, which was given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the East avenue M. E. church.

The whole was under the direction and management of Carrie Carleton Seeley, of Walton, N. Y., with Miss Evelyn Hawkins accompanist. That the carnival was a success every one present will testify.

The opening was the entrance upon the stage of the Queen of trade, Mrs. T. I. Raymond: Miss Hattie Smith, herald, and the Misses May Higgins, May D. Smith, Emilie Jennings and Florence Kendall as maids of honor, and the Misses Ora May King, Alice Pierce, Mildred Decker, Grace Patchin, May LeCount, Lora Baker, Eva Bowen, Ethel Glover, Ethel Sprague and Edith Sanford as pages, while the representatives of the several business houses marched down the aisles, carrying banners. At the conclusion of the march the Queen stepped to the footlights and delivered the opening address. The carnival was then opened and the several business firms were represented as follows: Norwalk Iron Works, Mrs. Hipson; The National Bank of Norwalk, Mrs. Frank Day; J. M. Layton, general insurance, Miss Carrie Wood; The Hatch & Bailey company, lumber, Miss Minnie Janes; Charles Trowbridge & Son, paper box factory, Mrs. Harry Finch; Old Well Laundry, Miss Blanche Rose; Scofield & Hoyt, dry goods, Miss Eleanor Smith; Comstock Brothers, clothing, Miss Fannie Janes; Theodore H. Olsen, shoe store, Miss Carrie Readman; J. M. Benedict, books and sta tionery, Miss Emma Hansen; A. Solmans, livery, Miss Grace Patchen with her Fairy Team; F. S. Ambler, bicycles, Mrs. Brown; Robert Joselovsky & company, grocers, Miss Flora Reynolds; The W. A. Benedict company, clothing, Mrs. Paddock; Twin City Wheelmen, Miss Irene Brown; Taylor & Golden, fire insurance, Miss Ellendorf; Paul Schultze, meat market, Miss Blossom Smith and Master Harold Day; Hill & Hubbell, Lumber, Miss Florence Bell; The Evening Sentinel, Miss Abendroth; H. Glendenning & Co., druggists Miss Daisy Roberts; Dr. Benedict, postmaster, (as "Uncle Sam") Mr. J. E. Russell; Wm. Podmore, furniture, Misses Grace and Nina Godfrey; Lewis the photographer, Miss Lyon; Norwalk Hotel, Mahackemo Hotel and City Hotel, "The Porters;" U. V. U., Goddess of Liberty, Miss Alice Seaman; M. H. Glover, shoe store, Miss Cecil Osborn; Robertson Brothers, grocers, Misses Alice Pierce, Mildred Decker; Luther M. Wright, carriage manufacturer, Mrs. Osborn; The Fairfield County Savings Bank, Miss Bessie Wilson; Tristam & Hyatt, dry goods, Miss Addie Eason; Raymond Brothers, coal, wood, etc. Miss Nellie L'Hommedieu; A. Dickerman & Son, dry goods, Miss Carrie Schuman; Miss S. S. Tillottson, milliner, Miss McEwen; United Order American Mechanics, Miss Fairchild; The Boston Store, Misses Sheldon and Roberts; F. W. Rogers, bicycles, etc., Miss Irene Brown; Adams Brothers, meat market, Miss Louise Smith; H. Krieger, millinery, Misses Retta Ainsworth, Minerya Gillum, as the "lovely young woman" and "funny old woman;" S. S. L'Hommedieu, life insurance, Miss Libbe Day; J. Wallace Marvin coal dealer, Carnival Chorus; J. Spencer & Co., jewelers, Mrs. Illing; Edward Street, dry goods, Misses Annie Smith, Annie Warden, as "Two Little Girls in Blue." Legal Profession, goddess of justice, Miss Ida Thornton; W. M. Betts, grocer, Miss Lottie Morrell; The Gazette, Miss Flora Reynolds; F. A. Lane, restaurant, etc., Miss Vivian Soderstrom; E. E. Gorham, wall paper, etc., Miss Mabel Illing; H. V. Carr, contractor and builder, Miss Gertrude Lyon; First National Bank, Miss Minnie L. Ferris:

Mrs. Owens, bakery, "Jubilee Gems:"

W. S. Hanford, grocer, Miss Florence

Powell; Ferd Hayes, meat market,

Miss Ida Burr; F. R. Starr, ice cream, etc., Miss Alice Byxbee; Fairfield

Randall; Nash & VanScoy, crockery,

Miss Bennett; Rundle's Bakery, Mr.

· [CONTINUED ON PAGE FIVE.]

GUILTY SAY HIS PEERS! DIED ON THE LAWN.

GUISEPPA FUDA COMMITTED MURDER AND MUST DIE UPON THE SCAFFOLD.

FOUND GUILTY IN THE FIRST DEGREE.

THE AWFUL CRIME OF FEBRUARY IT FIXED AT LAST UPON THE STOLID ITALIAN, WHO GIVES NO SIGN OF FEAR.

guilty of the murder of his wife at East Norwalk on the night of February 17 last. The trial has been on in the Superior court before Judge Ralph Wheeler and a jury for the past two weeks. At all times the court room has been crowded with men, women and in some cases children.

When the court opened yesterday morning Stiles Judson, the attorney for the defense, opened his argument. It was an able one. He was followed by State Attorney Fessenden, who arraigned the prisoner in his blunt and cannon like manner. The arguments were finished at about 2:15 o'clock and then Judge Wheeler delivered his charge. It is one of the best and finest ever given in this state and was remarkable for its fairness to the prisoner. · When Judge Wheeler had concluded his charge the jury were ordered by him to their room. They filed out. At that time Imapassino sat in the dock with a deputy sheriff on one side of him. He was very nervous. His hands twitched and his eyes shot glances right and left. On the other side was Fuda, also guarded by a deputy sheriff. He had no change in his Guisseppa Fuda has been declared | Mr. Judson also laid stress upon the presumption that a motive for the crime was far more easily laid to Imapassino than to Fuda, Mr. Judson, by consent of the state exceeded the time alloted to him by ten minutes.

State's Attorney Fessenden's arraignment of the accused was merciful in its severity. He emphasized every point which the prosecution had sought to prove with a force that almost visibly tightened the coil of hemp about the Italian's neck. He attacked Attorney Cuneo, for the defense for taking the witness stand and quoted Swift on Evidence on the breach of legal etiquette that Mr. Cuneo's act involved. He brought out in striking contrast Fuda's many contradictory stories and finished in one of the most eloquent pleas he has ever made for the conviction of an ac-

Judge Wheeler's charge to the jury and defined the different degrees of and two for murder in the second de-gree. The second ballot stood 12 for The family are loath to believe that demeanor from that he has displayed murder in the first degree.

_TO MERCHANTS.

The EVENING GAZETTE will publish a special illustrated bicycle edition on the day of the Alpha Wheel Club's races, Thursday, June 17th.

Space in this special edition will be given merchants of the Twin Cities at a very low price, and all who desire to take advantage of this opportunity to place their goods before the public are invited to send in their advertisements at once.

all through the trial.

At 4:15 o'clock there came a knock on the jury room door. The court were summoned. The jury filed into their seats and were polled by Clerk Haviland. When he had propounded the usual questions he asked if the jury had agreed upon a verdict.

"We have," said L. V. B. Hubbard, the foreman. "We find the prisoner guilty of murder in the first degree." Judge Wheeler thanked the jury for their attention during the trial and discharged them When the verdict was announced to Fuda he appeared indifferent. But in the case of Imapassino it was another matter. Both men were taken into the sheriff's office and while manacled Imapassino was shaky. He glared at the newspaper men who were about him and refused to make a statement of any kind.

□The jury are credited with having taken two ballots after they retired. The result of the first ballot was ten for murder in the first degree and two for murder in the second degree. The two latter were, however, not very positive in their convictions and were soon brought around by their colleagues to see the heinousness of Fuda's crime. They then voted with the others for conviction of murder in the first degree, which means that Fuda must pay the penality of the awful crime upon the gallows. The morning session opened with Mr. Judson's argument for the defense. It was a masterly effort, and judge, jury and spectators followed every word with the closest attention. He dwelt upon the fact of the murdered woman's notoriously bad reputation; in the hope of leading the jury to believe that Fuda had acted under the unendurable prov-County National Bank, Miss Sadie ocation; Fuda's own previously peaceable disposition, his sobriety, and his standing among his neighbors were Clarence Parsons; E. Apell, steamship points that the defense made much of.

Imapassino who is charged with complicity in the affair, will be put on trial

THE GAZETTE WOULD LIKE TO SEE

A telephone at Dorlon Point.

Those newspapers who failed to get their correspondent in at Hartford keep on kicking.

Harry Leobold win the Judge's prize. A large crowd at the Business men's Carnival to-night. GAZETTE subscribers in arrears step up to the Captain's office.

A clear day in June. Something done to get the city out of its lethargy. Two hundred entries for the Alpha races next Thursday. Handsomer young ladies than those representing the business men at the Carnival. Captain Chinery teach his men to ride a wheel.

Mike Ratchford give the newspaper boys a grand barbecue on his Winnipauk farm.

A Councilman Tumbles.

Last evening, Councilman Chinery who by the way is an amateur bicycle rider and professional fireman, came bowling down Main street on his wheel at a fair pace. Suddenly there was a fall and down came the Councilman, wheel and all. And that is a jout all that is worth publishing, unless it be the fact that the rider escapec injury.

important Meeting.

The committee appointed on the matter of widening and paving of Wall street, will meet this afternoon, and there is a possibility of the "finals" being reached, at least so far as the committee is concerned.

Dies at His Home on East Avenue.

An Aged And Respected Man Gone to His Eternal Rest.

Mr. Horace W. Bartlett, a man quite well known in town died at the home of his son-in--law George W. Cram, just before noon to-day with a suddeness that shocked even those who were in the knowledge that he was not altogether well.

It was thought that he was improv ing in his general health, in which belief he himself took pride, and over 80 years of age as he was he went out on the lawn and for pastime engaged in pushing a lawn mower.

Just before noon his daughter noticed him sitting under a tree and going to him found him in a semi-conscious con-

Help was called and as it proved, the dying man was taken into the house. and the family physician, Dr. J. G. Gregory, summoned, but before he could reach the house the man was

The cause of his death is attributed to heart trouble, with which he had been more or less afflicted.

KILLED BY GAS.

Arthur P. Reed found Asphyxiated in Bath Tub.

Arthur P. Reed, of Danbury, bookoccupied nearly an hour. He thorough- keeper at the wholesale establishment ly reviewed the evidence in the case of D. G. Penfield, was found dead yesterday in the bath-room of his home on murder. The jury were out but 54 New street. The body was lying in minutes. Two ballots were taken, the the bath tub, and the gas jet in the first 10 for murder in the first degree from was turned on. Death was > Mr. Reed took his own life, and think that he may have been taken suddenly ill while in the bath-room, and that the gas may have been extinguished accidentally. Mr. Reed was widely known, and the intelligence of his death was a severe shock.

A Connecticut Man.

Of course some people thought that Frenchtown, N. J. the convention should not go outside the diocese to select a bishop-coadjutor, but Chauncey Bunce Brewster of Brooklyn, in ancestry, birth and training is essentially a Connecticut man. Those who know him best like him most. His 1899. qualities make for righteousness, usefulness, ripe culture and patriotism, and his professional career has been conspicuously honorable and honorably conspicuous. His varied attainments are supplemented by a winning personality. We are confident that the wisdom of the convention's choice will be justified by the logic of events.-Waterbury Republican.

Mrs. Eunice Mallory Dead.

Mrs. Eunice C. Mallory, 78 years old widow of Charles H. Mallory, founder of the Mallory Steamship line, died at her home in East Port Chester yesterday. Mrs. Mallory was born in Mystic, Conn., where she married Henry Mallory in 1842. Mr. Mallory died in 1890. Mrs. Mallory was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church of Mystic, Conn.

Have Furnished Ambition.

Ex-Senator Dubois, of the new party of silver Republicans, says one of the amiable objects of the party is to "wipe the Republican party off the face of the earth." The same job, and the pursuit of the North Pole, have furnished opportunity for the surplus ambition of cranks and "patriots" for generations. -New Haven Palladium.

The Trouble.

Weather prognosticator Thomas Cooney informs the GAZETTE that the 'cogs" have dropped out and he has no control over the weather at present. He suggests, however, that when Grover have some pleasant summer weather.

Captain Jack Released.

James, the Norwalk player, who has been holding down third base for the Bridgeport's, yesterday asked Manager O'Rouke for his release. James is a hatter and has secured a good offer at his trade. His release was granted .-Bridgeport Standard. 🕷

-Do you want a refrigerator that is all that is claimed for it? You make no mistake in calling at Raymond & the Green, this afternoon.

K. OF M. C.

Council in South Norwalk.

All Knights Well Pleased with their visit to the Oyster City.

The sessions of the Supreme Castle Knights of the Mystic Chain came to a close yesterday afternoon.

members here which included reprecidedly unpropitious but all delegates felt free to say that Norwalk must sure-kindly welcome accorded them on coffee were served and a most inviting every hand.

Among the delegates as by states: Pennsylvania, D. K. Rettew, J. W. Hamer, M. D., Charles Ashcom, George P. Chandler, Ralph B. Clare, L. C. Gotthold, J. G. Leezer, H. E. Wainwright; West Virginia, W. B. Williams; New Jersey, Harry Kroesen, Joseph A. Walker; New York, B. W. Terry, V. L. Tyrrell; Delaware, C. A. Crosgrove, Clifford McCall; Ohio. G. J. Clems, J. H. Cloud; Maryland, J. W. Reck; Virginia. W. E. Brown;

At the session yesterday afternoon the following officers were elected: Supreme Chaplain, John Percy of Connecticut, George W. Coffin; Indiana,

Jacob Fox; Massachusetts, Lewis Pic-

Wilmington, Del. Supreme Commander, A. B. Miller, of Dayton, Ohio. Supreme Vice-Commander, Dr. J. W. Harmer, of Johnstown, Pa.

Supreme marshal, Solomon Scam of South Norwalk, Conn.

Supreme recording and corresponding scribe, John J. Davis of Pittsburgh, Pa. [His 22d continuous term in that office.]

Supreme treasurer, W. C. Brown of Pittsburgh, Pa. [His 21st continuous Supreme inside guard, F. W. Rose of Piedmont, West Virginia. Supreme outside guard, L. C. Gotthold of Philadelphia, Pa.

Supreme trustees, George W. Coffin of South Norwalk, Joseph Mitchell of Pittsburgh, Pa. and G. L. Pierre of

The ritual as regarded the work in subordinate lodges was revised.

It was decided to hold the next session of the Supreme Council at Lancaster, Penn., the second Tuesday in June, wishes to thank Mr. F. M. Rose, the official reporter of the Council, and who is also the publisher of the Secret Society Gossip, at Piedmont, W. V., for the many courtesies so willingly extended. It does one good to meet such a man as Mr. Rose. And may this not be his last visit to Norwalk.

A resolution of thanks to the local councils, the public at large, and the ment of the kindly treatment accorded | Clara Brown. the visiting delegates.

APPOINTED CURATE

Of St. John's Episcopal Church, Stam ford.

The many friends of the Rev. Louis A. Parsons are congratulating him on his appointment as curate at St. John's P. E. church, Stamford. He is a son of Professor E. A. Parsons, the wellknown pianist and teacher of New Haven, and has just graduated from Berkeley Divinity school, Middletown.

He commences his duties on October

Came to the Rescue. There was an unlooked-for dog fight between two canines, "Bruno" and 'Nick" by name, in an orchard on Butler street last night. The owners of the dogs tried to separate them, but to no purpose, until finally a woman came Cleveland gets through fishing we will to the rescue with a tea-kettle of boiling-hot water. There were several ki-yis, and it may be that the dogs have returned, but at the gait in which they started away it is fair to suppose that both of them have either broken their necks or have landed on Long Island.

Atternoon Te 1.

An afternoon tea in honor of Miss Mary Ferry of Washington, is being held at the home of Miss Sally Betts on

-Advertise in THE GAZETTE.

SOLDIERS' HOME DAY

Horace W. Bartlett Suddenly Final Session of the Supreme Members of the Woman's Relief Corps Visit the Old Veterans at Noroton.

> And Carry Fruits, Jellies and Other Delacacies to Them.

Thursday, June 10th, is a day set apart by the Woman's Relief Corps of During the three days stay of the Connecticut as "Soldiers' Home Day," and yesterday the Corps throughout sentatives from nearly every state in the state were represented by some the Union, the weather has been de- ninety-one members at the "Home" in Noroton.

Each lady visitor had provided her ly be a delightful place in which to lunch, and when the veterans had dined the tables were reset with plates, knives They also greatly appreciated the and forks, spoons and bowls. Tea and lunch was partaken. The ladies also carried with them donations of fruit, jellies and other delicacies to gladden the hearts of the old

Every department was visited and perfect order was found everywhere, much to the credit of the management.

A musical entertainment was given by three of the veterans, and several ladies gave recitations, after which the hospital was visited and songs sungs for the pleasure of those who were unable to go out. The veterans and their visitors passed a most enjoyable day.

-With Malaria Cure.

You should always have Riggs' Malaria Cure at hand. Taken at the first symptoms the cure is easier. Don't bother as to the how. If malaria poison is in the system, Riggs' Cure will search it out and kill it out—if you give the Cure a chance.

J. 10 tf

BIRTHS.

McDonald.—In South Norwalk, June 9, a son to Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. McDonald.

MARRIAGES.

BURROUGHS—SCOFIELD.—In Stamford, June 9, Samuel McF. Burroughs and Miss Emily A. Scofield.

FARRELLY.—In Bridgeport, June 9, Patrick Farrelly, aged 28 years. FAYERWEATHER. - In Bridgeport, June 9, Mrs. James B. Fayerweather. Kearney — Skidd.—In Norwalk, June 10, by Rev. Mr. Barry, John Kearney and Miss Mary Skidd.

MAYO-RATCHFORD .- In Bethel, June 8, Frederick Mayo and Miss Nellie Ratchford both of Bethel.

OTTMAN-LAUBSCHER. - In Bridgeport, June 9, Rev. Frederick Ottman of Hartford, and Miss Mary Laubscher. SHELDON-MORGAN.-In Norwalk, June 9, by Rev. F. A. Scofield, Louis F. Sheldon and Miss Annie Morgan.

councils, the public at large, and the Seeley-Brown.—In Bridgeport, press was passed, as a partacknowledg-June 9, Robert C. Seeley and Miss he visiting delegates.

Right here the GAZETTE reporter reporter vishes to thank Mr. F. M. Rose, the visiting delegates.

TAYLOR-NORTHROP.—In New Milford, June 2d, Arthur Taylor to Mrs. Kate V. Northrop, both of New Milford, V. Northrop, but the New Milford, V. Northrop ford.

DEATHS.

ALLIS-In Shelton, June 5, Wells Allis, aged 84.

BARTLETT.-In Norwalk, June 11th, Horace W. Bartlett, aged about 82

BENEDICT-In Norwalk, June 7, Linus St. John Benedict, aged 84 years. BUCKMAN.-In Norwalk, June 8th, John Bucknam, aged 74 years.

CROFUT—In Huntington, June 4, Mrs. Sarah Crofut. aged 78 years. DUNN-In Bridgeport, June 4, Ros-anna, daughter of Martin and Mary A Dunn, aged 6 years.

DARAGAN—In Danbury, June 7th, Frederick Daragan, of Redding Ridge, aged 34 years.

HAEFELE—In Bridgeport, Friday June 4, John Haefele, aged 44 years.

JOHNSON.-In Stratford, June 9 Pierrepont Edwards Johnson, aged 64. LEONARD.-In Bridgeport, June 9,

John F. Leonard, aged 26 years. MASON—In Washington, May 30, Charles Mason, aged 62 years.

McKissock—In Washington, June 1, Jennie McKissock, aged 60 years. NASH-In Danbury, June 7th, Jennie, daughter of Patrick, and Mary

Nash, aged 12 years. PAINE—In Bridgeport, June, 7, Lizzie Paine, daughter of W. H. and Amarin-

PARROTT—In Bridgeport June 6, Andrew B. Parrott, aged 62 years.

REED .- In Danbury, June 10, Arthur F. Reed, aged 55 years. Rowe-In Bridgeport June 7, Lizzie

L., daughter of Lewis P. and Jan. Rowe, aged 12 years. STARK.-In Norwalk, June 11, Rufus

Stark, aged 17 years.

SUNDERS-In Lakeville, June 3, Walter Sunders, aged 66 years.

THOMPSON—In Danbury, June 8, Edward Starr Thompson, aged 39 years-

Seem to Suffer More Than Indicted Tobacco Kings.

PINKERTON MEN IN COURT.

They Are on Hand to Watch Talesmer For the Tobacco Trust, and Policemen Are Also Present to Watch the Detectives.

New York, June 10 .- The trial of the ten millionaire Tobacco trust directors, so pleasantly arranged that they do not even know they are being tried, except by hearsay, was resumed in part one, general sessions. Their lawyers were present to stand between them and the complaint of the people. When the court officer called out, "James B. Duke!" Joseph H. Choate was there to answer, "Present, by power of attor-

The questions put to the talesmen have already outlined the plans of the defense. The American Tobacco company asserts that spite on the part of a rival has dragged it into court. The rival company is to blame for all.

"If it is shown that this is simply a contention between two rival concerns, you will be prepared to decide fairly?" is a question put to talesmen.

Sufferings of Talesmen.

The talesmen summoned are suffering more than the millionaires they may be called on to try. Indeed, it would appear to the lay observer that it is the talesman who is on trial. One man was forced to admit that he didn't live with his wife, and counsel just stopped at asking him why. Another was asked twice if he were quite sure that he owned $250 worth of property over and above his debts. Another talesman said defiantly that he was born in Tipperary, and got very red in reason, everybody laughed.
"If the judge should tell you that the burden of proof was on the prosecution," one of the lawyers asked a tales-"what would you think he

"I would think that the prosecution had the best of it," was the reply.

"Then you would vote to convict the defendant? "Sure. I think the honorable judge knows what he is talking about.' This talesman took a seat in the jury box. Another man was asked, "Would you accept the judge's interpretation of the law or stick to your own in case they conflicted?" "I would go by the majority," was

"Do You Smoke Cigarettes?"

Every talesman is asked whether or not he smokes cigarettes. Most of them so far have confessed that they take an occasional puff, and no one has been found to admit that he had a prejudice against them. Counsel for the defense asks all of them if they know anybody connected with cigarette manufacturers who are rivals to the American Tobacco company. It is a contention of the defense that the present charge is inspired by the animus of business competitors. Other questions asked are as to what the talesman understands by a "trust" and what newspaper he

Besides such eminent lawyers as Joseph H. Choate, W. W. Fuller and Daniel G. Rollins, the trust has Pinkerton detectives to watch-no one knows what. Five or six Pinkerton detectives were scattered about the courtroom. Their keen eyes watched everything that was District Attorney Olcott, who first observed the presence of a Pinkerton man, was later told by an employee of the district attorney's office, "There are a lot of Pinkerton detectives in the courtroom and about the building."

Police to Watch Pinkerton Men.

A message was sent to police headquarters, and half a dozen policemen n civilian clothes came down this morning to watch the Pinkerton men, on the theory that the Pinkerton men will bear watching more than the people.

The Pinkerton detectives will inquire into the surroundings of all concerned in the people's case, jurors and wit-If there is any unpleasant secret in the life of any of the witnesses for the people the detectives will ferret They will inform the trust's attorneys, who will try to discountenance the witnesses by asking them embarrassing questions.

The lawyers said that it would take most of the day to complete the jury. The attorneys for the trust ask all sorts of questions, and much time is wasteda man's age, his birthplace, what he was engaged in ten years ago and always whether or not he is addicted to tobac-co or cigarettes. The attorneys themselves distinguish between tobacco and eigarettes.

Pennsylvania Crews Off.

Philadelphia, June 10.-The Pennsylvania varsity and freshman crews left for Poughkeepsie at 8:20 a.m. The two paper shells, the new cedar shell and the pair oared gig were taken with the crews. McAvoy accompanied the crews and will undoubtedly steer the varsity boat in the race.

Torpedo Boat Porter's Trial.

New York, June 10.-Uncle Sam's new flier, the torpedo boat Porter, is having her official trial and is expected to prove her claim to being the fastest boat in the navy. The trial, under the direction of Commodore Dewey, is on Long Island sound.

Peasants Killed by Soldiers.

Budapest, June 10.—Socialist peasant riots have taken place in the communes of Nadudvar and Alpar. The gendarmes at both places fired upon the rioters. Two peasants were killed, 40 were severely wounded and 28 were arrested.

Welty For Governor.

Canton, O., June 10.-Hon. John C. Welty formally announces that he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor at the state convention and that he will have the support of his home county.

Both Men Must Die. Albany, June 10.-Governor Black has refused to pardon or commute the sentences of death of Guiseppe Constantino of Utica and Howard Scott, a negro, of New York.

ASTOUNDING EVIDENCE.

Of Norwalk's Needs.

And Remarkable Proofs that the National Disease Long Considered Incurable.

Can be Cured and Has Been Cured Right Here in Norwalk.

Mrs. William W. Bloom, who lives at Water street, Norwalk, says: "I have been troubled with cataarh in my head and throat for some time. My whole head was stuffed up; the passages of my head and throat would at times become so filled with mucous that I could not talk, and altogether it was very annoying. I also suffered a great deal of the time with headaches. I got a bottle of California Cataarh Cure at Plaisted's drug store in South Norwalk, and I it is the grandest stuff in the world. It has cured me of all the disagreeable suffering I have had for so long; my throat troubles me no more, and I haven't had a headache for weeks. I have recommended it to several friends who have used it with satisfactory results, and we all unite in saying it is a wonderful medicine."

California Catarrh Cure is especially prepared for treatment of the mucous membrane. It allays the inflamation, checks the disease and arrests and re-pairs the decay of this delicate lining. It is a curative agent for colds, coughs hay fever, bronchitis, asthma, and all purely mucous affections. Use it during and after a cold, and you will never have a cold "hang on," or even reach the catarrhal stage. When catarrh is once firmly fixed in the nasal passages and throat, it begins to attack the mucous membrane of the passages leading either to the lungs or to the stomach. The result of the former course is ultimately consumption, of the latter what is commonly called some form of indigestion or dispepsia. It is catarrh of the stomach, intestines, kidneys, and various internal passages. California Catarrh Cure will prevent and cure all forms of catarrh, whatever the part affected, and even will check incipient consumption. It is sold by all dealers; 50cents, three times as much, one dollar

The Queen's Awkward Present.

The French colony of New Caledonia s troubled by the depredations of deer, which multiply with marvelous rapidty and invade the plantations, where they do great mischief, even climbing Jp into the granaries. A curious feature of the trouble is that the deer are not native, but are the offspring of a present made to the colony by the Queen of England.

A scientific writer draws from this act a lesson that it is well to be cautious concerning the gifts of animals we may bestow upon other countries, and not make them without advice from experts concerning the conditions and contingencies. Rabbits in Australia, the mongoose in Jamaica, and he New Caledonian deer afford instances in which such gifts, made with he best intentions, have resulted dis-

It is said that the farmers of the State of Maine have also suffered from the incursions of deer since restricions were placed upon the hunting of Queer Reetles.

There is a species of beetle in Australia which acts the role of energetic casses left on the soil. As soon as they smell a field mouse, a mole, or a fish in a state of decomposition, they come by troops to bury it, getting under the body, hollowing out the ground with their legs, and, projecting the rubbish, they dig in all directions. Little by little, the carcass sinks; at the end of twenty-four hours the whole is several inches deep. They then mount it, cast the earth down into the grave so as to fill it and hide the body from sight. The females will then lay their eggs in the tombs, where the larvae will afterward find an abundance of food.-Golden Days.

It Always Leads

with the nearest competitor way astern-Because B-L tobaccos are always the same —made from best leaf, of finest flavor, last the longest and always satisfy.

Chewers know good tobacco as sailors do a boat—that's why B-L always leads.

THE EVENING GAZETTE

CHECKER-BOARD BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

| NORWALK FIRE INSUFABLE CO. In Successful Operation Since 1860, No Outstanding Claims. | | Safes For Rent- VALUABLES STORED IN Safe Deposit Vault OF THE NATIONAL BANK OF NORWALK, | | PIEL BROS'. Real German Lager, On draught and in Bottles, —AT'— RATCHFORD'S, 44" Main Street. | Chas T I savard | FRED A. WALTE MAKER OF AND DEALER IN HARNESS AND HORSE GOODS. Repairing of all kinds done at short notice Harness made to order a specialty. 31 MAIN ET. NORWALK, CONN. | |
|---|-----------------------------------|---|---|--|---|---|---|
| | GAZETTE ADS. BRING GOOD RESULTS | | Geo. W. Raymond, DEALER IN Staple and Fancy Groceries AND Provisions No. 9 Main St. | | Chas. T. Leonard Wholesale and Retail Dealer in COAL, WOOD. LUE STONE AND MASONS' BUILD- ING MATERIALS MANUFACTURER OF CEMENT -:- PIPE. Office and Yard, 33 to 43 Water Street. | | W. H. BYINGTO INSURANCE. Room 3, Sazette Buildin |
| G. Ward Selleck, BEST GOODS, TEAS and COFFEES 18 WALL ST. | | |  | Furniture or other articles taken in storage by the week, month or year at low rates. For terms apply to— S. B. WILSON a Builder, 92 Wall St. Norwalk. Conn. | 55 to 45 Water Street. | | |
| | | | Edgar Buttery, Nurseryman, NORWALK, CONN. Trees. Shrubs and Plants. Strawberry Plants a Specialty. Brandy Wine, Itio and Marshel. 30 other Varieties. Office, 6 Water St. Nurs'ys, Broad River. | The state of the s | A. R. MALKIN Carpenter and Builder, SAWING AND PLANING 76 Franklin Ave., NORWALK, CONN. | | Painting, Paper Hanging, Kalsomin- ing and Hardwood Finishing. C. L. PLATT, 52 Wilton Avenue, Norwalk, Com Send for book con- taining samples. |
| DENTIST, B West Avenue. | | | | | | PARLOR BARBER-:-SHOP, H.S. LEOBOLD. 47 Main Street. | |
| | | | HUNT & ZELUFF, Fish, Clams, Oysters, Fruits and Vegetables. 69 Washington 8t, SOUTH NORWALK. LOBSTERS CAUGHT OFF NORWALK ISLANDS. Leave your orders and have them delivered every Saturday, a. m. | | TRY WEED'S SODA WATER 38 Wall St. | - Maill Garde. | • |
| | | Bottling Works, 7 Wall Street. FINE ALES AND LAGER EXPRESSIVE FOR FAM- LLY USE. Mail orders receive prompt attention. | | | | | |
| NASH & VANSCOY —Dealers in— CROCREBY, CHINA AND GLASS WARE. PLUMBING, STEAM AND GAS FITTING. COr. Main & West ts SO, NORWALK, CT | | | | EMBOSSING DONE AT THIS OFFICE. | * | | Job Printing OF EVERY DESCRIPTION EXECUTED AT THE GAZETTE OFFICE |

Advertising that Pays

The Successful Merchants in Norwalk all advertise in The GAZETTE, because it keeps them in touch with the entire purchasing community.

New York and Norwalk Freight Line DAILY.

PROPELLERS

Will Leave Pier 23, E. R., N. Y. (Beekman St.), or

AT 5 P. M.

Leave South Norwalk Daily at 6 P. M.

Leave Norwalk Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 5 P M.

JOU read this advertisement If it had been yours and others had read it, how much good it might have done. Send in your adv and we will do the rest. Rates on application.

SCHLEICHER & SON'S

There is simply no use comparing this piano with any other on the market.

IT-LEADS

when it comes to

TONE, FINISH. DURABILITY. RIGHTNESS IN PRCIE.

-Office and Factory, Pacific Street. STAMFORD, CONN.

This is the Package—remember it. It contains

Washing Powder

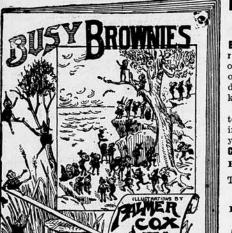

that cleans everything quickly, cheaply and perfectly.

Largest package-greatest economy. THE N. K. FAIRBANK COMPANY, Chicago, St. Louis, New York, Boston, Philadelphia,

TO OUR READERS (THE EVENING CAZETTE.)

Beautiful Illuminated Covers

HIS QUAINT CONCEITS HAVE NEVER BEEN EQUALLED ALL HIS

BIRDS, BROWNIES, AND BEASTS are a rayed in varied garments, much as ordinary human beings dress. Walk on two legs, think as men and women do, talk to each other, go to housekeeping, dance at weddings, etc., etc. These books are crammed from cover to cover with the quaintest conceptions in PICTURE and STORY; enough to crack your sides with merriment and SET THE CHILDREN WILD WITH DELIGHT. He Never Was all the children love Palmer Cox's Brownies. . We want every tot in town to have a set of these, so they will be given out [FREE TO:OUR READERS. All we ask is that you send this order to the publishers. It Cets the Books.

That Could Hold Palmer Cox!

Send this "Order" direct to the publishers and books will be sent you by return mail

Cut This Out

ORDER HUBBARD PUB. CO..

60c Worth Free.

1023 Filbert Street, Philadelphia, Pa. Please mail me the Following Four N w

Palmer Cox Brownie Books: Busy Brownies Funny Foxes

Gock Robin Birds' Wedding

Enclosed Please find 10c. to pay Wrapping and Postage. (STAMPS ACCEPTABLE.)

Address, State Charge to Account EVENING GAZETTE, Norwalk, Conn.

Warranted Solid Cold. Beautiful Chased Holder.

You may think it cannot possess merit or durability, the price is so low; but the "Lincoln" is a $2.50 pen reduced to $1.00. It is durable, always ready to "go" but never drips, the ink flowing steadily and uniformly. They are in use in this office, giving the best of satisfaction, and they are in use in the bas, insurance and business offices and among all classes of users of pens in Norwalk and vicinity.

LINCOLN FOUNTAIN PIN 1 1 4 0 6

Orders are received from all parts of the country. Samples to be seen and orders received at the GAZETTE OFFICE.

IFIRE INSURANCE

A Wise Man Keeps his Home Insured Against Fire.____

BEST COMPANIES REPRESENTED

W. H. BYINGTON,

ROOM 1, GAZETTE BUILDING, 🕒 🎏 🕟 NORWALX, CONN

LUCKY LARZ ANDERSON

He Is Now the Husband of a Girl Worth $17,000,000.

SHE WAS ISABEL PERKINS.

Details of the Brilliant Wedding In Classic Boston—The Bridal Gown of the Happy Girl Who Married an Untitled American.

Boston, June 11 .- A wedding ceremony, the character of which placed it in rank as the grandest this city has ever seen, was that whereby Mr. Larz Anderson, until very realtly member of the United States diplomatic corps at Rome, and Miss Isabelle Perkins of this city, heiress to $17,000,000, became husband and wife.

The bride is the daughter of Captain George Hamilton Perkins, U. S. N., retired, and a granddaughter of the late William F. Weld of this city, whose millions she inherits together with her cousin, Mrs. Charles F. Sprague, the wife of Congressman Sprague of Massawell known Washington family, the head of which, General Nicholas Anderson, died abroad a few years ago. He is a Harvard graduate, and was associated with Hon. Robert T. Lincoln in the United States embassy at London and later was first secretary of the legation in Italy under Hon. Wayne Mac-

MRS. LARZ ANDERSON.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. John Cuckson in the Arlington street church at noon, and among those who were present as the guests were some of the most wealthy and prominent members of society in nearly every large city of the United States.

The historic auditorium, with its ancient pillars and box pews, under the skilled hands of florists and designers of highest repute, presented a most beautiful appearance. Potted plants, majestic ferns and massive banks of cut flowers of every description were used in profusion.

The Great Bridal Bell.

The bridal bell was one of the largest, if not the largest, ever constructed in Boston. It was composed of hundreds of bride roses, fringed with lilies of the valley and small white buds. It was suspended from the ceiling by strands of broad white satin sash ribbon. Each column of the church was wound with asparagus and bomousa vine, and great ropes of long stemmed roses, trained on asparagus vines, were suspended between the pillars and across the altar in endless profusion and with great heaps of roses made the front of the church resemble a dense garden. When the hour for the performance of the ceremony arrived, the organ broke into strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, and the bridal party enter-Preceded by ushers and bridesmaids and the maid of horfor, Miss Elizabeth Anderson, sister of the groom Miss Perkins proceeded to the altar, leaning upon the arm of her father. Two lads dressed as sixteenth century pages followed the bride as train bearers. As the bride neared the head of the broad center aisle. Mr. Anderson, who was accompanied by Charles Francis Adams second as best man, advanced and meeting Miss Perkins beneath the floral belt, they stood together before the clergy-

The Wedding Breakfast.

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party proceeded to the Perkins home, on Commonwealth avenue, where the wedding breakfast was served upon a temporary balcony which has been built in the rear of the mansion. If decorations in the church were beautiful, those at the house were surpassingly so. All that could be accomplished with flowers, arranged by most artistic taste, seemed to have been done. The bay windows were banked and garlanded with growing plants and festoons of pink and white roses. Around the rooms were draped beautiful tapestries from corner to corner, and their folds were filled with roses thrown with all the seeming carelessness of art and left as they had chanced to fall. From the center of the walls of the main rooms ropes of long stemmed roses attached to asparagus vines radiated to the ceilings. The candelabra supported pendent pouches of white silk filled with bridal roses till the effect of bursting was produced. The banisters and balustrades were intertwined with white ribbons and strings of roses and lilies of the valley, and the reception rooms up stairs were equally embowered.

The Bridal Gown.

In the great drawing room were the tables holding the great number of presents. The breakfast tables in point of floral decorations were most simple. Tall, slender vases fashioned like a Greek lecythis held long stemmed roses, and lilies of the valley were heaped in shal-

After the breakfast the couple departed for New York en route for Europe and the far east. The brides-maids were Miss Eleanor Gray, Miss Susan Dalton, Miss Theodore Knight and Miss Bessie Seabury. The gowns of the bride and the bridesmaids were the exquisite creations of Worth, Doucet and Faxon. The bride's gown was composed of heavy cream satin lined throughout with taffeta silk. The seams were outlined from waist to hem with orange blossoms and the corsage had a surplice effect, with fiuffy trim-

One very important feature of the marriage that will serve to keep it fresh in the minds of all Americans is the fact that the young bride is a thorough

BEAR THIS IN MIND.

The Statement of a Norwalk Citizen That May Save You Much Future Trouble.

You contract a cold in the chest. One You contract a cold in the chest. One that stays a while with you. It won't leave even after you have abused it to your heart's content. You have to eject it, break it up, or scatter it; Goose grease freely rubbed in has been known to do the trick. Well, after you have gotten it there is no reason why you should not contract a second in a month or perhaps in a year. Frail humanity is no more cold-proof than buttel proof. It is so with other ailments of the body. Take the kidneys. They go wrong and Take the kidneys. They go wrong and raise an internal row. They often right themselves like the liver, without using any medicine, but as a rule kidney troubles stay awhile. Then linger on and recur semi-annually or periodically and as the victim ages he is crippled in the back—twisted and contorted out of shape and is a regular hotbed of pains and aches. If you have anything wrong with your kidneysfollow the planadopted by G. S. Partrick of 127 Main street, Notary Public, who says: "Mrs. Partrick had a severe attack of backache. Just at the time we both noticed an announcement about Doan's Kidney Pills and came to the conclusion if they only carried out half what they promised they would remove the trouble. My wife got a box at Glendenning's drug store and took them. They gave her relief. We can recommend the preparation.' Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers, price 50 cents per box, 6 boxes for $2.50. Sent by mail on receipt of price. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States Remember the name Doan's and take

Some days life seems too hard to be borne and in twenty-four hours perhaps the sun comes out and we think this world a very pleasant place in which

MOTHERS FIND NOTHING EQUAL TO DR. HAND'S COLIC CURE.

Waterbury, 4-2-'97—Hand Medicine Co.:—Dear Sirs:—"I am using Dr. Hand's Cough and Croup Medicine and Colic Cure for my children and find nothing to equal it. They work like magic. I would not be without them in my house. The little ones love Dr. Hand's Colic Cure and cry for it; it relieves them almost instantly. Mrs. Frank Smith, 22 Wood st." All druggists, 25c.

The long frock is undeniably graceful, but it means larger laundry bills and an unprecedented chumminess with the bath tub.

MOTHER, HAVE YOU A BABY? If so, get from your druggist to-day for 25c., a bottle of Dr. Hand's Colic Cure. Every baby often has distressing colic. Dr. Hand's Colic Cure gives immediate relief by removing wind from the stomach and quieting the nerves, giving restful sleep. Mother, think of the worry and anxiety this saves you. If your baby is teething, Dr. Hand's Teething Lotion for 25c. soothes and relieves all pain. Sold by all druggists.

The cool day is not the one you should select for head washing unless you are especially sure of getting your hair dry.

GLAD TIDINGS.

The grand specific for dyspepsia, liver complaint, rheumatism, costiveness, general debility, etc., is BACON'S CELERY KING, for the nerves. This great herbal tonic stimulates the digestive organs, regulates the liver and restores the system to vigorous health and energies. Sample free. Large packages 50c and 25c. Sold only by Edward P. Weed. Norwalk, and Geo. C. Stillson, South Norwalk.

To feel a sense of utter helplessness one has only to lose their bicycle pedals going down hill and discover when too late that the brake won't work. What happens next cannot be recorded in a few brief lines.

ONE WAY TO BE HAPPY.

Is to attend to the comfort of your family. Should any one of them catch a slight cold or cough, call on Edward P. Weed, Norwalk, or George C. Stillson, South Norwalk, Conn, sole agents, and get a trial bottle of Otto's Cure, the great German Remedy, free. We give it away to prove that we have a sure cure for coughs, colds, asthma, consumption, and all diseases of the throat and lungs. Large size, 50c.

There is one thing certain, the Bird of Paradise plume has not yet reached a price that will permit of its getting

SAVE YOUR LIFE. By using "THE NEW GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN KIDNEY CURE." This new remedy is a great surprise on account of its exceeding promptness in relieving pain in the Kidneys, Bladder and Back in male or female. It relieves retention of water, and pain in passing it almost immediately. Save yourself by using this marvelous cure. Its use will prevent fatal consequences in almost all cases by its great alterative and healing powers. Sold by E. P. Weed, Druggist, Norwalk, Conn.

The date of the annual meeting of the Center School district has been changed from Monday evening, June 14th to Friday evening, June 18th.

THERE IS A CLASS OF PEOPLE Who are injured by the use of coffee. Recently there has been placed in all the country stores a new preparation called GRAIN-O, made of pure grains, that takes the place of coffee. The most delicate stomach receives it without distress, and but few can tell it from coffee. It does not cost over 1/4 as much. Children may drink it with American herself and is not marrying great benefit. 15cts. and 25cts. per package. Try it. Ask for GRAIN-O.

WRECKED BY A WASHOUT.

Three Dead In a Preight Wreck on the Boston and Maine.

Exeter, N. H., June 11 .- A serious freight wreck occurred on the western division of the Boston and Maine railroad near here. Train No. 600, known as the Portland and Boston through night freight, ran into a washout at Fernald's culvert. The locomotive and seven cars were demolished, and three men were killed. They were: Charles Rankin, engineer; A. C. Young, brakeman, and Albert Chandler, brakeman all of Portland.

Daniel King, the fireman, was badly burned and was otherwise injured in the wreck. He will probably recover. The train was a heavy one, consisting of 20 cars, and was about half an hour behind time. It was speeding along at a good rate, and the engineer apparently had no warning of the washout

The locomotive left the rails, which for a distance of 20 feet had been unneath the culvert, and with seven heavily laden freight cars went over a 40 foot embankment. The engine and cars and contents of the latter were practically ruined. The engineer and the two brakemen, who were on the front portion of the train, were dead when found some time later. They had no chance to jump, and were caught in the wreckage. The fireman, Daniel King, went down nearly the entire distance with the engine, and was badly burned and

GENERAL COX DECLINES.

He Is Unwilling to Assume the Responsibilities of the Spanish Mission. Cincinnati, June 11. - A Commercial Tribune reporter saw General Jacob D. Cox and asked him, "Are you going to accept the offer of appointment as minister from the United States to General Cox answered promptly, "I am not." He said that he had received no official notice of this offer, but had been semiofficially informed that it would be made if he desired the place. Through this intermediary he had thanked President McKinley for the compliment and given his reasons for declining.

His principal reasons are that he has for several years been engaged in literary work that will take some years to complete, and he cannot afford to abandon it. Furthermore, the position offered imposes great responsibilities and labor at this time. General Cox has been offered a professorship in the law department of Cincinnati university, which he will decline for the same

Bodies of Two Students Recovered.

Newton, Pa., June 11.-The bodies of John Fox and Alfred Watson, the two students of George's school, near here, who were drowned in Neshaminy creek, were recovered. Fox's home is at Short Creek, O., and Watson came to the school from Yardley, Pa. Fox was drowned while endeavoring to rescue Saved by His Parachute.

Nashville, June 11.—Professor Bar-nard undertook another voyage in his airship. The balloon appendage had been too highly inflated, and when high in the air the machine began to descend rapidly. The balloon had burst, but the parachute appliances enabled the professor to land safely.

Man and Wife Try Suicide. New York, June 11.-Peter Tronesco and his wife, Barbara, tried suicide at their home at 201 East Fourth street. They inhaled gas. Both may die.

Professor Wilkens Commits Suicide. Vienna, June 11.-Dr. Wilkens, professor of animal physiology, has committed suicide. He was suffering from an incurable disease.

White Whale Dead. New York, June 11 .- One of the white whales, the latest additions to the aquarium at the Battery, is dead. The Weather.

Generally fair; rising temperature; northwesterly winds.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

Closing Quotations of the New York Stock Exchange.

New York, June 10.—Money on call nominall at lal½ per cent. Prime mercantile paper 3½a4 per cent. Sterling exchange steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.86% a4.87 actual business in bankers birs at $4.09,604.07 for demand and at $4.85\%,44.86 for 60 days. Posted rates, $4.80\%,24.87 and $4.88. Commercial bills, $4.85\%. Silver certificates, 60af0\% Comment bonds strong. State bonds quiet. Rail-mad head attacks. road bonds strong.

Chesapeake & O.. 17% Northern Pacific. 14 Chicago Gas..... 86¼ Do. pref............ 40½
Cordage...... N. Y. Central.....100¼ | Del. & Hudson | 10736 | Ontario & West | 1478 |
| Distillers' Trust | Pacific Mail | 2284 |
| Erie | 14 | Readirg | 2196 |
| General Electric | 3316 | Rock Island | 6912 |
| Hocking Valley | 214 | Silver Bullion | 60 |
| Lackawanna | 150 | St. Paul | 7776 |
| Lake Shore | 170 | Sugar Refinery | 12316 |
| Louisville & Nash 4934 | Union Pacific | 976 |
| Missouri Pacific | 1716 | Wabash pref | 1436 |
| Northwestern | 109 | Western Union | 8176 |

General Markets.

NEW YORK, June 10.—FLOUR—State and western quiet, but held higher; city mills patents, $4.70a4.90; winter patents, $4.50a4.85; city mills clears, $4.70a4.80; winter straights, $4.10a

4.25. WHEAT-No. 2 red opened steadier an ladvanced on light northwestern receipts and lovanced on light northwestern receipts and local covering; July, 74 1-16a745/c.; September, 697/a704/c.

RYE—Dull; No. 2 western, 365/c.

CORN—No. 2 was firmer on the bearish price current crop report; July, 295/a295/c.; September 203/c.

er, 3034a31c. OATS-No. 2 were quiet and firm in sympathy with wheat; track, white, state, 25a3lc.; track, white, western, 3lc. PORK-Steady; mess, $8.50a9; family, $9.50a

LARD-Quiet: prime western steam, $3.771/2.

BUTTER—Steady: state dairy, 10a14½c.; state creamery, 11a15c. CHEESE—Steady; state, large, 8½c.; small, 7%a8c. EGGS—Steady: state and Pennsylvania, 11½ a12c.; western, 10¼a11c. SUGAR—Raw strong: fair refining, 3c.; centrifugal, 96 test, 3.7-16c.; refined firm; crushed, 5%c.; powdered, 5c.

TURPENTINE—Firm at 27½a28c.
MOLASSES—Quiet; New Orleans, 22a28c.

RICE-Quiet; domestic, 41/4a6c.; Japan, 41/4a 41/2c. TALLOW-Firm; city, 3a3 3-18c.; country, 31/2

SUBSTITUTION

the FRAUD of the day. See you get Carter's, Ask for Carters, Insist and demand

Carter's Little Liver Pills,

The only perfect Liver Pill. Take no other, Even if Solicited to do so. Beware of imitations of Sar e Color Wrapper, RED.

Raymond & Son.

Successors to George H, Raymond

Furniture Dealers and General Funeral Directors 46 and 48 Main St., Norwalk, Conn.

Residence, Berkeley Place. Telephone No. 77-4.

- MANUFACTURERS OF --

IMPROVED SODA AND MIN ERAL WATERS.

Flavoring Extract,s Also the Syrups and Fruit Inices. Root Beer. Jemon Soda, Soda Water Sarsaparilla, Supplied in Birch Beer. Steel Fountains. Seltzer and Vichy in Siphons.

H. J. & G. S. GRUMMAN,

D RAUNSCHWEIGER

A PURE MALT EXTRACT. A SUBSTITUTE FOR SOLID FOOD.

Highest percentage Extract. Lowes percentage Alcohol. An effective Tonic, An agreeable Beverage. A mild Stimulant. Just what physicians will pre scribe for Nursing Mothers Convales-cents and victims of Insompia or Nervous Disorders resulting from Impaired Digestion and Overwork.

For Sale and Delivered Anywhere

Long Island Bottling Co.,

280-284 Bergen St., Brooklyn, FOR SALE BY EDWARD P. WEED.

W. H. HAYWARD & CO.

Prusing Attorneys and Solicitors.

WASHINGTON, D. C

709 East Capitol Street,

All classes of claims prosecuted before the Interior Department. Rejected pension claims a specialty Correspondence solicited.

PRIVATE

Instructions given in

BOXING

at the pupil's home.

CLASS

Now forming, and applicants desiring to join should apply at once to

Prof. Geo. Yoerger. South Norwalk, or at this office.

NORWALK GAZETTE

· Truth above oil things.'

Entered in the Post Office as a Newspaper

FRIDAY, JUNE 11, 1897

A Correction.

The very much esteemed Hartford Courant is informed that the article credited to its columns approving of the election of U.S. Senators by a popular vote of the electors of the several states, was scissored from the Washington Post, which paper credited the paragraph at its top, to the Courant. If the GAZETTE has thus innocently misrepresented the position of the Courant on this interesting and much discussed subject, it is only too glad to make the amend honorable.

A Prayer That Beats The Record.

We notice that a certain adjutant of the Salvation army, a long-distance singing champion, beat the record by singing through a certain number of hymns in a certain number of minutes. He, however, is not in it with the Rev. David G. Bradford, chaplain of the Illinois House, who on Thursday opened the proceedings with a prayer that drew out loud applause from both Republicans and Democrats. Here is the "Almighty God, we seek thy presence and blessing at the beginning of another day's diligent labor. Help us, we pray thee, in the discharge of this day's duties. Help these men to remember the poor tax-burdened people of this great state.

"Contract, we pray thee, the capacious maw of the penal reformatory, charitable and educational institutions of Illinois. May they learn to be content with less money and may we, who refuse to worship a golden calf, refuse also to worship gold in any other form. Forbid that any foreigner visiting our shores shall ever again have occasion to write:

"Money, money is all their cry: Money's the total sum.

Give us money or else we die; Oh, let the money come!

"And we will ever give thee endless praise. Amen." Similar incidents to this have not been uncommon in years gone by, remarks the Waterbury American. There, for example, was the prayer delivered (as we recall it) by Bishop Newman at Charles Sumner's funeral in the Senate when he forgot to mention to the Almighty the grief of the vice-president and amended his omission by sending out "an insert" through the Associated Press so that the Almighty might be informed of his intention all right in the morning paper. There, also, was the Virginia clergyman who was noted for the picturesqueness of his prayers. His pastorate was in a little country place where newspapers were few and far between. He himself was a diligent newspaper reader, and he would begin his prayer somewhat after this fashion: "Oh, Lord, thou knowest how the staunch ship Virginia of the George Washington line, ran onto the rocks off the coast of Nova Scotia in the thick fog and how 20 souls went down in her to their eternal doom, etc., etc." This gentleman's prayers were so graphic in the story telling interest of their detail that his services were always crowded, people coming from miles around to hear him pray. It could not have been in any such community as that that the far western elitor lived who went to the state Cap-with prayer, whatever that may be." But we are ready to match all the prayers of recent history, whatever their uniqueness, profanity or sensationalism, against this prayer of the Rev. David G. Bradford, chaplain of the Illinois House. The prayer gauge goes to him as a prize for introducing an innovation that, so far as we have known, has never been resorted to before, that of dropping into poetry. His little version of "money makes the mare go" as a feature of solemn prayer was a conception of his own and worthy of the source from which it proceeds.

ital to report the Legislature and commenced his first report with the statement: "The proceedings were opened

For our own part we have often won dered how the Deity must regard vulgarity and cheapness of prayer; not that which comes when the person praying is sincere and knows no better, but that which is perpetrated with malice aforethought for the purpose of exploitation. We doubt very much whether such prayers are not counted in the courts above as worse blasphemy than out-and-out swearing.

FEMININE CHAT.

Some of the very newest gowns have a very old-fashioned look about them. Jewelers say that the amethyst is gradually becoming one of the most popular stones for unique rings and

People who can't say disagreeable things often possess the faculty of writ-

We never dream of the evil that is within us until circumstances develop

The girl whose complexion allows her to wear bright red becomingly feels that she is blessed indeed this

Just fall from your bicycle and see if it does not appear that people spring from the earth and fall from the trees.

It seems as though some motormen take a fiendish delight making the car go through some unusual gyrations jus as a woman arises to go toward the door or starts for a proffered seat.

Why is it the mangy dog that you wish to lose always finds his way back home, while the family pet can't be left out on the porch for three minutes without disappearing from the face of the earth, as though an abyss had opened and swallowed him.

Until one rides a wheel they have very little sympathy for the bicyclist, but when once the craze seizes you heart and soul go out to the individual on the fin de siecle steed.

Until a man is absolutely master of the bicycle he had better not attempt to raise his hat to some fair acquaintance, or the impression he makes may not be altogether such an one as he had hoped it to be.

Long Murder Suspect Held.

The man who was arrested at Long Ridge by Sheriff Miller, on suspicion of connection with the murder of young Long in Greenwich on Sunday morning last, was brought before the borough court yesterday morning. No charge was preferred against him, and it was requested that permission be given to hold him pending further investigation. Another hearing will be held Saturday morning. In court the man said his name was John Lane, and he claims to be able to prove an alibi. Sheriff Miller expresses himself as confident that he has the right man, and states that he will locate the mysterious woman in the case to-day.

TO RENT.

TO KENT-Four rooms, corner of Wall and River street. Possession wiven immediately. Rent reasonable. Inquire of John Hadden on the premises.

To RENT-Upper part of house, No. 20 Center avenue. Suitable for two per-sons $6 per month. At ply at No. 6 Orchard street. Three minutes' walk from trolley line.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE-A Goat, two years old and well trained to harness. Apply to the Miller Boys, Wilton, Conn. M26-tr

Rolt SALE—At a bargain, or to rent. The residence corner of Camp street and Adams avenue, house contains 13 rooms, large attic, gas, sewer connection, water, barroom and stationary tubs in laundry. Barn, carriage house, with considerable fruit on the premises. If sold, terms will be essy-for further particulars, inquire of the undersigned, near the premises or at No. 5. Masonic Building. Chas. OLMSTEAD, Agt.

LEGAL NOTICES.

DISTRICT of Norwalk, ss. Probate Court,
June 10th, A. D., 1897.

Estate of JASER P. NICKERSON, late of Norwalk in said District, decea ed.

Whereas, writ en application has been made to this Court by the administrator of said estate, praying for reasons therein set forth for an order of sale of certain real estate of said deceased which is fully described in said application on file;

Ordered, That said application be heard and dere mined at the Probate office in Nor alk, on the 15th day of Jule, 1837, at two o'clock afternoon; and that pubne notice thereof be given to all persons interested therein by publishing this order in a newspaper having a circularion in said District, at least ten days before said day of hearing.

ASA B. WOODWARD, Judge.

ASA B. WOODWARD, Judge.

A Ta Court of Probate. holden at Norwalk, within and for the District of Norwalk, on the 10th day of Jun- A D., 1897.

Esta e of Monson Hoyr, late of Norwalk in said District, deceased.

The administrating represents the Estate ins lyent and prays the appointment of Commissioners thereon: Therefore.

Ordered, That Commissioners to receive, examine and decide upon the claims of the creditors of said Estate be *populated at the Probate Office in Norwalk, on the 21th day of June, 1897, *12 O'clock, afternoon; of which all persons in interest will take notice and appear, if they see cause, and be heard there in. And said administrative will give public notice thereof by a copy of this ord ron the public sign-post nearest to the place where the deceased last dwelt and within the same town, and by publishing the same in *newspaper having a circulation in said District, at least ten days before said 21st day of June 1897.

ASA B. WOODWARD, Judge.

OVER RIVER SCHOOL DISTRICT.

The legal voters of the Over River School district are hereby notified and warned that the annual meeting of said district will be held at the school house on Academy street.on Wednesday even-ing, June 16th 1897, at 8 o'clock, to hear the reports of the Committee and Treasurer for the past year and to elect a member of the district committee to serve for the succeeding three years and other officers for the ensuing year; also to lay a tax to meet the expenses of the district and to pay so much of the indebtedness of said district as shall be deemed advisable: also to consider the matter of building a suitable addition to the school building, and to appropriate the amount of money required for such purpose; also to transact any other business proper to be brought be fore said meeting.

Dated at Norwalk, May 27, 1897.

FREDERICK MEAD, CHARLES F. TRISTRAM, Committee. JAMES W. STOREY, and How to Furnish Them."

Norner's Furniture.

tending Furniture buyers owe it to themselves to examine our incomparable stock and note our plainly-marked moderate prices before making their selection, even if only requiring a single article.

Lines for Summer Furnishing embrace ENAMELED BEDROOM SUITES in all the various tints and decora-BEDROOM SUITES in Birds-eye

Maple, Birch, Oak and Mahogany. ENGLISH BRASS BEDSTEADS in all the new patterns and styles, single, double and twin, from $18.50 to $500.00.

ENAMELED IRON BEDSTEADS, with brass trimmings; all sizes and prices.

R. J. Horner & Co., Furniture Makers and Importers, 61, 63, 65 W. 23d St., N. Y.

DO YOU KNOW

That you can save money by buying your Meats and Fish at

F. W. SMITH'S. 55 Main Stree Everything First Class.

OPEN EVENINGS

DORLON HOUSE

GREGORY, S FUIN

NOW OPEN FOR THE SEASON OF 1897.

SHORE DINNERS.

RHODE ISLAND CLAM D. .. BATHING, BOATING, FISHING.

Electric cars to Hotel, every twenty

JOHN E. O'SULLIVAN,

DAVID W. RAYMOND

Funeral Director and Embalmer

93 Washington Street South Norwalk

Residence, Manackemo Hotel

P. W. BATES 42 WATER STREET,

You can find as fine an assortment of

Monnmental & Cemetery Work

an be found in any Yard in the State. Look it over and get prices before going elsewhere,

AT HOME.

Don't go out of town to have your Awnings made when you can get them right here at home just as cheap. If you want a canopy for a party or a wedding, I will supply it at two hours' notice. A letter or postal card will receive prompt attention.

P. E. CALLAHAN, Awning Maker, 53 Cross St., Norwalk.

OF NEW YORK CITY

Have Purchased the Entire Stock of

M. F. LAWSON & SON

at 501 Hudson St., cor. Christopher, at 50 cents on the dollar.

Children's Clothing,

at ONE-HALF (1-2) OFF LAWSON'S PRICES,

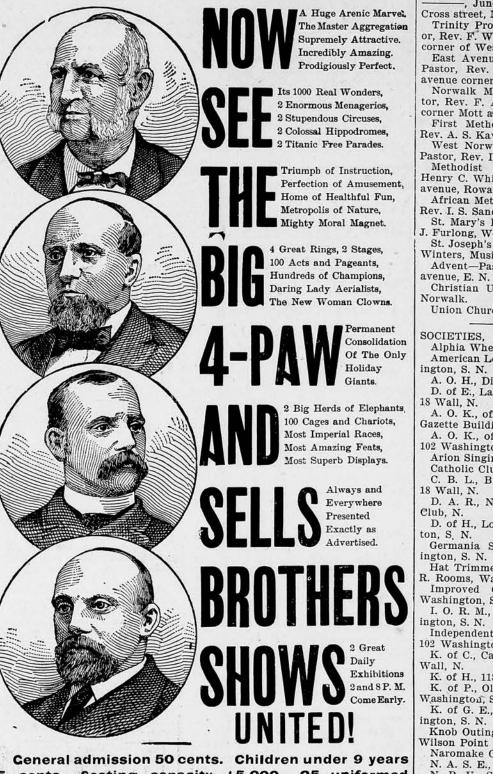

SALE NOW ON AT OUR OWN STORE,

211 6th Ave., near 14th St., N. Y.

Men's, Youths' and

STAMFORDJUNE 15, 1897.

EXHIBITION GROUND, SUMMER STREET!

25 cents. Seating capacity 15,000. 25 uniformed ushers. Numbered coupon, actually reserved seats, on sale by John C. Robinson, Columbia Bicycle Agent, 71 Main Street.

GO TO

F.J. Curtis & Co.

FOR

Ranges, Blue Flame Oil Stoves, Baldwin Dry Air Retrigerators, Tin and Sheet-Iron Work.

Leaders, Cutters and Roofs Repaired and Put On.

> THIS SPACE

CONTRACTED FOR BY GARDINER & MITCHELL.

LOCAL DIRECTORY.

NOE WAL : POLIC : DEPARTMENT. Ca. f, nomas Bradley; Captain, Wali e i an. He idquarters Gazette Build ag.

SOUTH NORWALK POLICE DE-PARTMENT. Chief, William Vollmer:

George W. Gladstone. Headquarters, Haviland street.

NORWALK FIRE DEPARTMENT. Chief Engineer, J. T. Prowitt; First Assistant Engineer, Fred. W. Smith; Second Assistant Engineer, Thomas S. Murray; Fire Inspector, George H. Al-

SOUTH NORWALK FIRE DEPART-MENT.

Chief Engineer, Edward V. Baker; First Assistant, D. W. Harford; Second Assistant, George W. Bogardus; Secretary Department, Andrew J.

PUBLIC LIBRARIES. City of Norwalk-Librarian, Miss Dotha Stone Pinneo, 20 Wall N. South Norwalk-Librarian, Miss Angeline Scott, 103 Washington, S. N.

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS. Allen, Lauren M., 15 Wash'n., S. N Allen, Sarah E., Mrs. 11 New, E. N. Baker, Frederick B., 12 F. P., E. N. Baldwin, Arthur H., 83 Wall, N. Bean, Wright B., 5 W. ave., S. N. Benzdict, George W., 25 W. ave., S. N Bohannai, Chas. (k., 64 S. M., S. N. Bohannai, John C., 64 S. M., S. N. Brein, F. I., 57 E. verside ave., E. N. Buris, W. J., Jr., Vash'n, S. N. Buris, W. J., Jr., Vash'n, S. N. Clerk, Artiur N., 17 S. Main, S. N. Clerk, Artiur N., 17 S. Main, S. N. Coburn, M. 55 S. Main, S. N. Coburn, M. 55 S. Main, S. N. Coburn, J. M., 55 S. Main, S. N. DeWolfe, D. C., 64 S Main, S. N. Dumortier, John, 9 Wash'n, S. N. Fairchild, J. B., Winnipauk, Glines, W. C., 59 Wall, N. Griegory, James G., 5 W. ave., N. Higgins, Royal L., 55 W. ave., N. Hitchcock, Dexter, 16 W. ave., N. Hitchcock, Walter, 68 Wall, N. Huntington, S. H., 129 Main, N. Kennedy, John T. 185 Main, S. Newson, S. M. S. Main, S. M. Kennedy, John T., 18 S. Main, S. N McGonegai, G. R., 59 West ave., N. Pardee, E. V. D., 35 N. Main, S. N Peck, Eli J., 66 Gregory P. R., E. N. Phinney, L. N., 26 W. ave., N. Schavoir, Fredk., 9 Wash'n, S. N. Sherer, Henry C., 10 Wash'n, S. N. Smith, Edwin E., "Kensett," N. Tito, V. G., 2 Burbank, S. N. Tracey, William J., 23 W. ave., N.

CHURCHES. First Baptist-Pastor, Rev. Frank E.

Robbins, 71 East ave., N. First Baptist-Pastor, Rev. F. V. Atkinson, Main street, Rowayton.

South Norwalk Baptist-Pastor, Rev. Richard O. Sherwood, 7 West ave. S. N. First Congregational-Pastor, Rev. Thomas K. Noble, corner Park and Lewis streets, N.

Congregational—Pastor, Rev. Gerald H. Beard, West street, junction North Main and West avenue, S. N.

Swedish Bethlehem Cong.-Pastor, Rev. Otto Swenson, Riverside avenue, German Evangelical St. Peter's— Pastor, Rev. Mr. Kohler, North Main street, S. N.

St. Paul's Episcopal—Rector, Rev. S. B. Pond, East avenue and Church st., and Chapel of Our Holy Savior, Berk-lev street. N. Grace Protestant Episcopal—Rector, Junction Belden avenue and Cross street, N. Trinity Protestant Episcopal—Rect-or, Rev. F. W. Norris, Fairfield avenue corner of West street., S. N.

East Avenue Methodist Episcopal-Pastor, Rev. Arthur J. Smith, East avenue corner Henry street, E. N. Norwalk Methodist Episcopal—Pastor, Rev. F. A. Scofield, West avenue corner Mott avenue, N.

First Methodist Episcopal—Pastor, Rev. A. S. Kavanagh, West ave., S. N. West Norwalk Methodist Mission— Pastor, Rev. Isaac B. Brown, West N.

Methodist Episcopal—Pastor, Rev. Henry C. Whitney, Main corner Maple avenue, Rowayton.

African Methodist Episcopal—Pastor
Rev. I. S. Sands, 15 Knight street, N.
St. Mary's R. C.—Pastor, Rev. John

J. Furlong, West ave. corner Chapel N. St. Joseph's R. C.—Pastor, Rev. J. T Winters, Music Hall, S. N. Advent-Pastor, --, Van Zandt

Christian Union Association-West Union Church Society-Cranbury.

SOCIETIES, ASSOCIATIONS, ETC. Alphia Wheel Club, 51 Main N. American Legion of Honor, 92 Washington, S. N.

A. O. H., Division No. 1, 18 Wall, N.
D. of E., Ladies' Auxiliary, A. O. H., 18 Wall, N. A. O. K., of M. C., Pioneer Castle, Gazette Building, N.

A. O. K., of M. C., Palestine Castle, 102 Washington, S. N.

Arion Singing Society, Madison, S. N Catholic Club, West avenue, N. C. B. L., Bishop McMahon Council, 18 Wall, N.

D. A. R., Norwalk Chapter, Central Club, N. D. of H., Louis Lodge, 102 Washing-

Germania Saengerbund, 162 Washington, S. N. Hat Trimmers' Association, G. A. R. Rooms, Washington, S. N.

Improved Order Heptasophs, 102 Washington, S. N. I. O. R. M., Uncas Tribe, 118 Washington, S. N. Independent O. R. M. Schiller Stamm 102 Washington, S. N. K. of C., Catholic Union Council, 20

Wall, N. K. of H., 118 Washington, S. N. K. of P., Olive Branch Lodge, 83 Washington, S. N.

K. of G. E., Union Castle, 83 Washington, S. N. Knob Outing Club, Club House near

Wilson Point Naromake Gun Club, 9 Main, N. N. A. S. E., 8 North Main, S. N. N. P. U., Security Council, Gazette

Building, N.
N. E. O. P., P. C. Lounsbury Lodge, Norwalk Barbers' Union, 66 Washington, S. N., 13 Main, N. Norwalk Club, 63 & 65 Wall, N. N. H. F. A., of the U. H. of N. A., 102 Washington, S. N.

Norwalk Hospital Assoc., 24 Leonard,

Norwalk Lawn Tennis Club, Mott Norwalk Medical Assoc., 63 & 65

Norwalk Yacht Club, Hickory Bluff, O. B. A. Lodge, 100 Washington S. N.

O. D. H. S., Humboldt Lodge, 102 Washington, S. N Painters' and Decorators' Union, 45 Pequonnock Club, 13 Main, N.

Pine Ledge Outing Club, Roton Point Robert Emmet Club, 20 Wall, N. S. A. R., Norwalk Branch, No. 5. Sons of St. George, Welcome Stranger Lodge, 13 Main street, N.

Twin City Wheelmen, 83 Washington, S. N. O. U. A. M., Defender Council, N. U. B. of C. & J., of America, Norwalk Local, Gazette Bldg., N. U. O. G. C., Sherman Commandery, Gazette Building, N. Central Club, 57 West avenue, N.

Woman's Exchange, 57 West ave., N. MASONIC. St. John's Lodge, Masonic Bldg., N. Old Well Lodge,, 29 S. Main, S. N.

Washington Chapter, R. A. M., Maonic Bldg., N. Butler Chapter, 20 S. Main, S. N. Clinton Commandery, K. T., Masonic Bldg, N.

ODD FELLOWS. Our Brothers Lodge, 16 Wall, N. Butler Lodge, 130 Washington, S. N. Kabaosa Encampment, 16 Wall, N. Colfax Encampment, S. N. Eureka Rebakah Lodge, 130 Wash-

Norwalk Lodge, G. W. O. of O. F., 83 Washington, S. N. FORESTERS OF AMERICA.

ngton, S. N.

Court Mahackemo, 83 Wash'n, S. N. Court Narruk, Gazette B'I'd, N.

Star of Columbia Circle, 83 Washington, S. N. ROYAL ARCANUM.

Ponasus Council, Water, S. N. Sherman Council, 126 Wash'n, S. N.

TEMPERANCE SOCIETIES. I. O. G. T., Washington Lodge, Cranbury.

Concord Division, Gazette B'l'd., N. Minnehaha Division, 83 Wash'n, S. N Rising Star Division, Crow's Hall, Rowayton W. C. T. U., City Mission Room, S. N

Y. W. C. T. U., City Mission Room,

G. A. R.

Buckingham Post, Wall, N. Buckingham, W. R. C., G. A. R., Hall

Douglass Fowler Post, 102 Washing-Douglass Fowler Post, W. R. C., 206

Washington, S. N.

O. S. Ferry Command, 100 Washington, S. N.

SOUTH NORWALK

Branch Office of GAZETTE No. 12 North Main Street

This has been hard weather for shore resorts.

The North New York Presbyterian church will picnic at Roton Point to-

Don't fail to attend the Business Men's Carnival at Music Hall to-night. It is most interesting.

The Washington express was nearly eight hours late yesterday morning. A bad freight wreck at Stonington Junction was the cause.

The members of the police department who were witnesses in the Fuda trial, were subpœnaad in the Imapassino trial while at Bridgeport yester-

Arthur Bruno lost an arm at the Long wharf crossing of the Consolidated railroad, in New Haven yesterday. Bruno was a car inspector, and was knocked down and his left arm crushed under the wheels. The injured arm was amputated at the hospital, and the physicans are confident of Bruno's recovery.

Good catches of the genus Limulus, commonly called horse feet are reported along the shore. "Speaking of horse-feet" said Evangelist and saw filer Wheeler, this morning, "one day last season I caught 600 of them and sold them at a good profit to a farmer who crushed them up and put them in his corn-hills, and he had a crop of corn that surprised the natives."

The shoe factory of Lounsbury Mathewson & Co. will probably shut down next week.

-Prof. M. S. Rosen, the well-known oculist optician, can be consulted at his office in the parlor of the Mahackemo hotel, South Norwalk, Tuesdays, from 9 a. m. to 8. p. m. Eyes examined free.

Chief Vollmer has summoned eighteen witnesses to appear in Bridgeport to-day, to testify in the case of the State vs. 'the Italian' Imapassino for the murder of Mrs. Fuda, and of which crime Fuda has already been found guilty.

Albert Bouton was arrested last night for propelling his bicycle through the city streets without a lighted lantern. The usual fine is $1.00.

Charles Holmes is convalescent of a severe attack of the mumps with which he has been wrestling for nearly four weeks.

It has been suggested that a dealer in megaphones might do a thriving business under the railroad bridge on Washington street.

Pyrotechnic Fred Coleman went to New York yesterday and placed orders for a large amount of fireworks to be used at shore resorts.

LOCAL AND OTHER NEWS.

Charles E. Miller of Grand street, who has been seriously ill, is able to be out again.

There are 120 entries for the Alpha Wheel club events which take place on the 17th

"Uncle Walter" Fitch has sufficiently recovered of his illness to be on a still hunt for the party who robbed his chicken roost last week.

A bicycle rider collided with a team driven by George Finch on Main street last evening, but escaped injury. The rider apologized to Mr. Finch and was allowed to proceed on his way.

—Ozone and Babbitt's soap, seven bars for 25c; Gold Dust, 4lb. package, 19c; best flour, 63c per bag; best butter, 19c lb. W. R. Bates, cash grocer, 47 Main street.

Butcher Smith's newly painted delivery wagon attracts nearly as much attention as did the rainbow, Wednesday afternoon.

-At Raymond & Son's, on Main St. can be found an assortment of baby carriages that ought to make glad the heart of any proud papa.

Cyrus Parks, Butcher Whitlock's right hand man is on the sick list. His many friends will unite in wishing that he get well as suddenly as he became

The T. G. L. C. will meet at the home of Miss Helen Quintard, this afternoon.

-Sideboards, dining chairs and tables, rattan furniture, piazza chairs etc., lowest prices in town, at Raymond

A colored lad named Rufus Stark died at his home on Henry street this morning, aged about 17 years.

Miss Amelia Williams gave a Marguerite lunch to a number of her friends at her home on Cannon street yesterday. It was a "daisy" affair, and replete with pleasure to all.

-White enamel furniture and brass bedsteads, unequalled as to style and price, at Raymond & Son's.

Band Concerts.

Dywer's City of Norwalk band will give an open air concert on Friday evening. It will be the opening concert of the season for which a new and it is believed pleasing programme has been arranged.

ICEBERG ENTERTAINERS.

Old Ocean's Strange Principal Performers.

When for a whole winter New York City uproariously applauded and laughed over the incredible and inimitable acts and antics of Capt. Woodward's only school of trained sea lions and seals, their status as public entertainers was conclusively established, and has been elsewhere maintained wherever they have appeared. They now form one of the many exclusive and specially attractive features of the great Adam Forepaugh and Sell Brothers' menageries, circuses, and hippo-dromes: to make their first combined appearance in Stamford on Tuesday, June 15. Skill, patience, and kindness have at length actually taught these queer amphibious creatures to use their flippers with the deftness of artistic hands and feet, in the accomplishment of a number of most wonderful and amusing tricks and imitations. They really drill, dance after a mermaid fashion, play upon musical instruments, sing solos and choruses, pitch and catch with marvelous accuracy, and do many other things in most human fashion.
"Leo" the monster and only sea lion marine comic, makes more fun than any whole company of bipedal clowns, and the entire performance is of a character to make even old Neptune's grim visage relax into a broad grin in his surliest mood.

Bicycle Legislation.

The following is a summary of all the bicycle legislation at Hartford this ses-

That any person willfully or maliciously injuring a bicycle path should be fined not exceeding $50 or imprisoned not more than three months or both.

That if any bicycle rider on the highway runs against any person and injures him, and does not stop, render aid, and give his name and residence, he may be arrested and fined up to $500 or imprisoned not exceeding six Limiting speed of bicycles in thickly settled sections to ten miles an hour, and requiring an alarm bell and requiring that it must be sounded on approaching a person from the rear; prohibiting riding on sidewalks and defining what shall be held to be sidewalks; fast riding for races, etc., may be permitted by local authorities. Penalties for violation not to exceed $20.

Imposing penalty of not more than a year imprisonment for stealing a bicycle valued at over $25, and not over $50 fine, or not more than three months' imprisonment for willfully taking a wheel without leave of the owner.

That the word "vehicle" in Sections 2,689, 2,690 and 2,691 shall be construed to include bicycles, tricycles, and "driver" shall be construed to include persons riding bicycles. If one or two vehicles passing is a bicycle or tricycle 'a fair opportunity to pass," and not necessarily one half the travelled path shall be given.

-All the Successful Merchants of this City Advertise in THE GAZETTE.

PERSONAL NOTES.

Mrs. Charlotte Ferry and daughter Mary, leave town to-day for their accustomed summer residence at Pigeon

Mrs. T. K. Noble, Mrs. Frederick Belden, Mrs. Robert van Buren and Miss Angeline Scott are attending the D. A. R. meeting in Middletown to-

Miss Jennie Dickson has returned from a week's visit with relatives in Westport.

Miss Alberta Abbott, of Spring Hill, left, yesterday, for an extended visit with relatives in Waterbury. Miss Clara I. Dorrett and Miss Laura Lawrence, of Academy street, left yesterday afternoon for a visit with relatives and friends.

Mrs. Sarah L. Bessey, of Merwin street, and Mrs. James Forbush, of Berkeley street, are visiting friends in Stamford.

Miss Minnie Bailey, of Ridgefield, who has been visiting her friend, Miss Cora J. Byxbee, of Norwalk, returned home to-day. Mrs. Sylvester Grumman, of School street, will spend the summer months with her daughter, Mrs. William Parsons, of Bridgeport.

Charles Taylor, of Danbury, is paying relatives in this city a few days' visit. Incidentally he may angle for blackfish, which do not thrive in the ponds within the town where he makes it his home.

-No claims, no affidavits, but a GAZETTE advertisement gets there

EAST NORWALK.

The first large vessel to discharge a cargo of lumber in East Norwalk is now lying at the docks of the East Norwalk Lumber company. A strange and novel sight to the old residents of East Nor-

A large portion of the East Side residents attended the "Business Men's Carnival" in Music hall last evening. All expressed themselves as being highly pleased with the entertainment.

Mrs. Lewis Reed of Norwalk, and Mrs. Clara Tristram of Brooklyn, were calling on friends here yesterday.

E. Groeschner of Fort Point street, is having the roof of his house shingled.

The residence of George Ferris, on Riverside avenue, is in the hands of the painters.

CARNIVAL .-- Continued.

agent, Miss Irene Brown: Gardner Crockett, life insurance, Mrs. Brown: G. Ghiotto, fruit and confectionery, Chorus: H. A. Saunders, bicycles, Miss Addie Eason: Miss R. Dawson, fancy store, Miss Edna Ainsworth; Charles S. Finch, druggist, Miss Nellie Fancher; J. W. Studwell, music store, Miss Minerva Gillum; E. K. Banks, dry goods, Miss Sheldon; East Norwalk Lumber Company, Mrs. Bean; Samuel Comstock, Jr., grocer, "Reuben and Rachel:" South Norwalk Hardware Store, Miss Lulu Reynolds as "Maud Muller;" M. W. Stevens, marble and granite, Miss Clara Day, with Misses Ryder, Taylor, Byington, Beers and Soderstrom as statuary.

Each and every business was so ably represented that it would be hard to particularize, but that of Mr. A. Solmans by Grace Patchen and her little fairy team is worthy of special mention. Paul Schultze, also, who was represented by Blossom Smith and Harold Day came in for a large share of applause. Little Grace and Nina Godfrey, representing William Podmore, were also the recipients of much applause. Photographer Lewis was represented by Miss Gertrude Lyon, the popular elocutionist, who gave a pleasing although short recitation on Mr. Lewis' business.

The Norwalk, Mahackemo and City hotels were represented by "The Porters" headed by Mrs. J. E. Russell-They were by far the most entertaining and received a well merited encore from the audience. They also appeared as the "Carnival Chorus" and "Jubilee Gems.'

Miss Alice Seaman, Miss Vivian Soderstrom, Mrs. Brown, Miss Edna Ainsworth and Miss Fairchild ably repre sented their parts.

Miss Addie Eason, representing Col. H. A. Saunders' Orient wheels was also one of the best of the evening, as was

Mrs. Brown as the representative of the Columbia wheels sold by Fred Am-

One of the most enjoyable representations was that of H. Krieger, whose millinery business was advertised by Miss Retta Ainsworth and Miss Minerva Gillum. They were excellent and responded to a well deserved encore.

The closing was a tableau representing the marble and granite business of M. W. Stevens of this city. The par-ticipants were Miss Clara Day with Misses Ryder, Taylor, Byington, Beers and Soderstrom as statuary. It with the different colored fires the picture was a most beautiful one.

The GAZETTE was represented by Miss Flora Reynolds, to whom we are greatly indebted to the excellent rendition of her lines.

The carnival will be repeated to-night and deserves a crowded house. 66000~~+0000+00+0++++++

For Sick Headache, Biliousness and that miserable feeling, use Dr. Herrick's Liver Pills

A CUSTOM MADE TO ORDER

$19. SACK SUIT 7.50

the old reliable and sure cure.

2,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,, DIRECT FROM MILL TO WEARER, Which Saves you 4 Big Profits. The Commission House, The Wholesaler, The Jobber and Store Keeper. E. ROSENBURGER & CO. 202-204 E. 102nd St., NEW YORK CITY

$5.00 Our Great Bargains $2.98 Boy's Adonis Suits, Sizes 3 to 15, with Extra Pair of Pants, $2.98

These Suits are GUARANTEED to be made from imported Wool Cheviot, in Black, Blue, Grey, and Brown, in sizes from 3 to 9 years of age. Made up double-breasted, with Sailor Collar—Collar fancy embroidered—lined with fast Black Albert Twill Sateen and Patent Waist Bands. Trimming and Workmanship the very best. Same in Sizes for ages 10 to 15 years, without Sailor Collar. See Pattern's Below.

Guaranteed to be made from All Wool, Fancy Brown, Gray. Black, or Blue Worsted Corded Cheviot, made in latest style, lined with Imported Farmer Satin, trimmed and finished in the best of Custom Tailor manner. You cannot duplicate it in your town for $16.00. Sizes $4 to 42. The same goods made for Youth's, :36.25 to 18, in Long Pants, Coat and Vest, o Heel for We Pay Ex-press Char-ges, and should you Remember You buy Money Order or Registered Letters, also age at last birthday, and if large or small for his age. Money cheerfully refunded if not satisfactory. Send 2c. stamps for samulation and managing blanks etc.

A DAY

Premium

Subscriber

999 Paintings.

Elegant

Le Roy's

Product.

9 9 9 9

* * * *

Latest

Useful

Books.

Framed

Pictures,

Etc., Etc.

Fine

To

Every

For those who cannot leave home. You can get a grand prize without leaving your Sitting Room.

FINE Pianos OUTFITS.

Organs SILK LINE, HOUKS, ETC. ACTUALLY GIVEN AWAY.

WANTED IN

NOW!

Worth $15.00. One Day's Work Will Often Cet a Fine Camera, Retail Price, $12.00.

000

One

Young Lady

$100 Bicycle

Two Day's

Work Will

In Three Days

Bring a Watch

Earned a

Send for a copy of * "CREAM," the best magazine published, containing our great PREMIUM LIST. Free for the asking. Nothing like it ever offered before. It beats hard times.

$100,000 will be expended to increase the circulation of "CREAM." Our offers are genuine. Ex-Mayor E. F. Hanson is Manager and Treasurer of the company. References, People's National Bank, of Belfast, or any mmercial agency. Address Cream Publishing Co., Belfast, Maine.

Luther M. Wright

CARRIAGE BUILDER AND DEALER,

MADISON AND FRANKLIN STREETS, SOUTH NORWALK.

Agent for

Pierce. Rochester, Ames, Buffalo. Lenape Black Diamond Northhampton BICYCLES.

Prices from $37.50 to $100.

Hotel and Grove Renovated. Special Attractions. Concert by ful band, Monday. Smythe's augmented orchestra will furnish music for dan-

Shore dinners, clambakes, Athletic sports, and continuous perform ances in Auditorium.

Electric cars at short intervals.

ROTON POINT IMPROVEMENT CO. MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY!

The "Orient" and "Saracen Are THE wheels of to-day. At Saunders,' No. 12 North Main Is where they hold full sway. He carries every part in stock And treats you all alike, No trouble if of him you buy Your Ninety-Seven Bike. At coasting or at racing They've always stood the peer,
The reason is, they're fitted with
The famous "Pitch line gear."

The crack-a-jacks all ride them, You know the reason why, They're just the class of riders

Who know what wheel to buy. Prize winners are these wheels: And ahead they'll always be, Just watch them in the races, And for yourself you'll see.

And when the victory's over, When time prize has been won, They'll quietly speak for themselves And simply say, well done.

Yours Until Death, H. A. SAUNDERS, Expert in Bicycles, 12 North Main Street, South Norwalk.

SPECIAL SALE!

improvements. Made by the Acme Mfg., Co., makers of the celebrated Stormer bicycle. A chance to get a fine wheel for ittle money.

THE J. T. PROWITT CO.

Made the Following Gains in the Year 1896:

Increase in Income, $1,057,816.28. Increase in Assets, $1,997,234,42.

Increase in Surplus, $198,816,81, Increase in New Life Business,

$1,598,668,00. Increase in Life Insurance in Force,

$5,608,680.00. Increase in Accident Insurance in Force, $21,736.500 00

Increase in Accident Premiums, $175.086.72-or 62 per cent, Increase in New Life Insurance Written in Connecticut. $310,642.00.

Increase in total Life Insurance in Connecticut. $472,569.00.

From the increased Surplus the usual increase of dividends to policy-holders will be paid in 1897, making the Twenty-Fifth Regular Annual Increase of Dividends to the insured, and a record unparalleled in the history of life insurance. Notwithstanding the material increase of new business on which the expense in Life Insurance is chiefly incurred, the ratio of expense to income on the Life business of this company, excluding the Accident business, is somewhat lower than last year, and is 23 per cent. less than the average expense of the ten leading "purely mutual" companies for the Year 1895.

Their figures for 1896 have not been published.

MORGAN G. BULKELEY, President.

J.C WEBSTER, Vice-Pres. J. L. ENGLISH, Sec. H. W ST. JOHN, Actuary. C. E. GILLERT, Ass't. Sec. W. C. FAXON, Ass't. Sec. Accident Department. G. W. RUSSELL M. D., Med. Director JAMES CAMPBELL M.D., Med Ex. E. E. HALLOCK, Ceneral Agent, 5 Hubinger Bld'g., New Haven.

SUGAR IN THE SENATE

The Much Talked of Schedule Come Before the Statesmen.

TILLMAN ON THE TARIFF

He Pleads For the Farmer and Says H Wants to Help the South-Mr. Cannon's Agricultural Export Bounty Is Defeated.

Washington, June 11.-The senate be gan work at 11 a. m., and the tariff bil was taken up as business was out of the way. Mr. Till man (S. C.) took the floor on the pend ing amendment of Mr. Cannon (Utah) providing an export bounty on agricul tural products. He said he desired th attention of his associates, and as the attendance was meager he noted the absence of a quorum. The call dis closed 54 senators present, nine more than a quorum, and Mr. Tillman pro-He said the tariff debate had disclosed a nebulous condition in the minds of senators. The Republican sen ators sat quietly, apparently controlled by the caucus, refusing to discuss the iniquities of the bill and unanimously voting for the exactions in behalf o. trusts and monopolies.

"Don't Know Where They're At." "On the other hand," proceeded Mr Tillman, "the Democrats are in a period of transition. They don't know where they're at. The older, more ex perienced proclaim their allegiance to the old time honored doctrines. We had an impassioned speech Wednesday (by Mr. Mills) in behalf of the Walker tariff principles, brought forward at this late day as Democratic doctrines Secession, nullification and other issues which have passed out of the minds of men might as well be brought here.

"The tariff is merely a question of policy as to how the government will raise its revenue. I say without hesitation it is to the best interest of the American people that the articles con sumed by our people should be pro duced by our people. If that is Republican doctrine, well and good. If that is not Democratic doctrine, is ought to be."

Mr. Tillman went on to show that diversified industries gave diversified means of labor. As to the farmers, the need was not for more farmers, but for a tariff which no longer would rob the farmers we have. The farmer stood, his skinny, bony hand outstretched, ask ing this export bounty to overcome the robbery of the present system, and yet senators sat in stony silence expecting this idotic farmer, with the mortgage gnawing on his home, not to know that they refuse to give him relief.

Prepared to Throw Rocks.

Mr. Tillman vehemently pledged his word to his colleagues that they would not deceive the farmers and that the 9,000,000 followers of the plow "will settle with you at the ballot box."

Referring to any bill not giving adequate relief to farmers, Mr. Tillman exclaimed, "I am prepared to throw some rocks that will stagger some of you men."

The senator analyzed the extent of agricultural interests throughout the country, including the south, "the Ishmaelite, the section that has had no rights since the war."

While that section had labored under the ban of secession, paying billions as a result of its attempt to secede, it was still face to face with the demand of the horse leech, crying "More, more, more." This section and the agricultural interests always had been at the mercy of tariff bills, which found their genesis in the benefits conferred on New England.

As Mr. Tillman spoke the galleries filled in anticipation of a lively time. While speaking with his usual vehemence of voice and gesture, the senator adopted an argumentative style to show that the farmer was receiving the burdens without the benefits of the tariff. When he referred at one point to the Chicago platform declaration on the tariff, it brought Mr. Vest to his feet in explanation. He voted in the Chicago convention amid great uproar and confusion, said Mr. Vest, for the long and in part nebulous platform.

That Little Word "Only."

He never knew until it had come out here that the word "only" had been left out of the declaration for a tariff for revenue. "If I had known it," proceeded Mr. Vest. "I would have risen in my place and moved to insert it, for it is in the creed of the Democratic party. And I believe a majority of the convention did not know of the omission, as all our attention was concentrated on the money issue.'

Proceeding, Mr. Tillman turned to his Democratic associates and said they now had a chance, with the votes of a few Republican senators "not lost to all sense of shame and decency," to give some measure of relief to the farmers. They would receive little or no benefit from the duty on cotton and cereals. They asked for bread and were given a stone. They asked some relief, and Democratic senators set up a mummy and labeled it "tariff for revenue only."
"Great God! Such Democracy!" exclaimed Mr. Tillman with dramatic em-

Democratic senators had spoken of a "new evangel," he said, and had twitted him and others for leading the Democratic party into the Republican camp. These senators, instead of offering the cardinal Democratic doctrine of equality, gave the Sodom apple of "Tariff for revenue only" to their constituents.

"You are holding the telescope with the big end to your eye," declared Mr. Tillman, addressing his associates, "and at the little end you see the legend, 'Tariff for revenue only,' instead of that great doctrine of Democracy, equal rights for all, special privileges for none."

To Help the South.

In conclusion, the senator said he believed in securing for the south as many benefits as possible.

He arraigned Republican senators for the inequalities of their legislation and for "keeping Cuba under the heel of Weyler." They claimed, he said, to be followers of Lincoln, "but you are unworthy to tie the shoe latches of that great man," he said. The Democratic senators claimed to be followers of Jefferson, while they were abandoning Jefferson's cardinal principle of equal rights to the people.

Mr. Allen (Neb.) briefly spoke in favor of an export bounty.

Mr. Perkins (Cal.) announced his readiness to support the export bounty amendment if modified so as to confine the bounty to goods exported in vessels flying the flag of the United States and documented in custom houses of the United States. He proposed an amend-ment to this effect.

. There was some opposition to this from Mr. Tillman and Mr. Allen, but Mr. Cannon, author of the original mendment, said he was disposed, as a means of securing the support of Mr. Perkins and others on the Republican side of the chamber, to accept this new proposition if 75 per cent of the bounty should go to the agricultural exporter and 25 per cent to the American vessel. Mr. Perkins declined to accept this suggestion, saying he was not seeking a subsidy for the vessel men, but merely to limit the bounty to goods carried in American ships. The Utah senator could, Mr. Perkins said, either accept or reject the amendment as a thole. Mr. Cannon declined to accept the amendment, and Mr. Perkins thereupon with-

No Agricultural Export Bounty. The discussion became general, many senators engaging in a "crisscross de-bate," as Mr. Tillman termed it, as to the effect of the bounty on shipping. The vote was then taken on the Cannon amendment providing an export bounty for agricultural products, and it was defeated—yeas, 10; nays, 59. The affirmative vote was given by Messrs. Allen, Butler, Stewart, Harris (Kan.), Heitfeld, Populists; Cannon, Mantle, Pettigrew, silver Republicans; Roach and Tillman, Democrats.

Mr. Tillman announced that his colleague (Mr. McLaurin) would have voted for the amendment. This closed the consideration of the cereal paragraph of the agricultural schedule, and Mr. Allison, in charge of the bill, asked that the further consideration of the agricultural schedule be postponed and that the senate go back to the sugar schedule. There was no opposition, and the senate thereupon entered upon the consideration of the sugar schedule.

The Sugar Schedule.

Mr. Pettigrew (S. D.) gave notice he would offer his amendment to admit free of duty goods made by trusts, in connection with the schedule. The original amendments of the senate committee were withdrawn by Mr. Allison without objection. The house provisions were then taken up. In connection with the first paragraph of the schedule (206), Mr. Allison asked that the proviso relating to the Hawaiian Islands go over. He said in this connection that the action of the senate committee relative to the Hawaiian proposition was not due to any purpose to exclude Hawaiian sugar. committee had never considered the question and had let it go over for future consideration. Later, he thought, a proposition on that branch of the subject would be presented, but for the present he asked that it go over. Mr. Allison, in behalf of the committee, then moved an amendment striking out 1 875-1000 and inserting 1 95-100 as the duty on refined sugars. Mr. Jones (Ark.) was recognized for a speech on the general features of the sugar sched-

The senator had before him small bottles showing the various grades of sugar, raw and refined, and with these illustrated his argument as he proceeded. He asserted that the new sugar proposition would increase the profits of the sugar refiners in every point. If that was the purpose of the managers of the bill they should let it be ksown. He was in favor of a tax on sugar, but he believed that it should be made as light as possible and should give no special benefit to anybody by the way in which the duty was arranged. He in which the duty was assured on said there should be a single rate on said the said th raw and refined sugar, giving one-eighth of a cent additional, which would make the rate plain.

O'Connell For Solicitor.

Washington, June 11.-The president nominated Maurice D. O'Connell of Iowa to be solicitor of the treasury.

Turkey Will Leave Thessaly.

Constantinople, June 11.-Since the last conference between the embassadors of the powers and Tewfik Pasha the Turkish minister for foreign affairs, the Ottoman officials have been more conciliatory on the subject of Thessaly and it is now believed Turkey will yield on that point and agree to withdraw her troops. This change of front is said to be due to counsels from abroad.

Indian Trouble Probably Over.

Washington, June 11.-Officials of the Indian office believe the disturbance among the Cheyennes at the Tongue River Agency, Mon., is over. No report has been received from Captain Stouch since last Sunday, which is taken as ar indication that the braves have quietly acquiesced in the arrest of the Indian murderer and dispersed.

A Corner In Beef?

New York, June 11.-Another rise in the price of beef is predicted by the re tail dealers, and they and the wholesalers are indignantly denying that they could prevent the increase if they wished. They say the "big four" combination of packers in Chicago has cornered the market.

Tragedian Taylor Dead.

Philadelphia, June 11.-James Hughes Taylor, a veteran tragedian of wide reputation, is dead at Downingtown Pa., a victim of dropsy. Mr. Taylor who was a native of Philadelphia, was 73 years of age.

Governor Black's Outing.

Albany, June 11.—Governor Black, in company with Superintendent of Public Works Aldridge, has gone to Rochester to attend the excursion of the Rochester chamber of commerce to Niagara Falls.

Killed In Train Wreck

Geneva, N. Y., June 11. - Fireman Ryan of Towanda, Pa., was killed in a wreck on the Lehigh Valley railroad near here. His engine crashed into the rear end of a freight train.

Foster's Successful Mission.

St. Petersburg, June 11.—It is reported here that Mr. John W. Foster's mission concerning the Bering sea seals is meeting with great sympathy and support in official circles.

Queen Regent Saves a Life.

Havana, June 11 .- A cable message was received from the queen regent granting a pardon to Jose Carabre, who was sentenced to be shot.

A Harmony of Detail.

Grace, Durability, and Finish.

IVER JOHNSON CYCLES

Made in New England. Send for Catalogue.

Tver Johnson's Arms & Cycle Works Fitchburg, Mass.

USE BRUMMELL'S Celebrated

Sure relief for all diseases of the throat. Genuine have A. H. B. on each drop.

COUGH DROPS.

SOLD EVERYWHERE.

Pleasure for warm, thirsty people, - it's so delightfully cooling and refreshing invigorates the whole system -soothes the nervespromotesrestfulslumberand a hearty appetite for food.

Catalogues

Furniture, Carpets, Oil Cloth and Linoleum Parlor Suits, Chamber Suits, Iron and Brass Beds, Baby Carriages, Refrigerators,

BEDDING; RUGS, MATTINGS. Send for Illustrated Catalogue of the kind of goods you want Prices guaranteed to be the lowest.

263 Sixth Ave. 104-106 W. 17th St., N. Y

25C.

Ask Your Druggist

HERE'S YOUR CHANCE.

A fine building lot on Wilton avenue. If you intend to build, look at this before purchasing. Water, gas and sewer on the avenue.

Will be sold at a Bargain.

W. H. BYINGTON, Real Estate and Insurance

Ruom I. Cazette B'l'd.

J. D. JENNINGS,

NIGHT BELL AT OFFICE.

THE MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE CO.

OF NEW YORK.

RICHARD A. McCURDY, President.

the Year Ending December 31st,

According to the Standard of the Insurance Department of the State of New York.

INCOME,

Received for Premiums $ 39,593,414 20 From all Other Sources 10,109,281 07 $ 49,702,695 27

DISBURSEMENTS.

To Policy-holders for Claims by Death $ 12,595,113 39 To Policy-holders for Endowmens, Dividends, etc. 12,842,456 !! For all Oher Accouns 10,781,00 $36,218,575 14 ASSETS.

nited States Bonds and other Securiles $ 1 1 0,125,082 14 Firs lien Loans on Bond and Morgage 71,543,929 64 Loans on Socks and Bonds 11,091,525 00 Real Esas 22,767,666 60 12,680,390 00 Cash in Bans and Trust Companie s Accrued In eres, Ne Deferred Premiums, etc. 6,535,555 £ 66

$ 234,744,148 42 Reserve for Policies ando her Liabiliies 205,010.633 72 $ 29,733,514 70 Surplus

I have carefully examined the foregoing Statement and find the same to be correct liabilities calculated by the Insurance Department CHARLES A. PRELLER, Auditor.

From the Surplus a dividend will be apportioned as usual

Report of the Examining Committee

Office of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York

TO THE HONORABLE, THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF

Insurance and Annuities in force

THE MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF NEW YORK

The undersigned, a Committee apppointed by your honorable body on the twentythird day of December, 1896, to examine the Annual Statement of the Company, and to verify the same, respectfully

REPOR

That, pursuant to the power and authority thereby conferred, the Committee have at various dates between the date of the said reference and the date of this Report attended at the office of the Company, and have been waited on by the Treasurer, the Comptroller, the Auditor and and the Cashier, together with the the respective assistants of such officers, and have carefully gone over all the items contained in the said Statement, and have found the same to be correct. They have examined and counted every certificate of stock, bond and other obligation held by the Company, and compared the price at which the same are carried in said Statement with the market quotations and find the same not exceeding such quotations—in fact, in many cases below them. They have examined and counted the bonds and mortgages on real property held by the Company, and find the same to be as stated. They have also verified the valuations of the Company's holdings of real estate and have verified the deposits of money in the various banks and trust companies, and have counted the cash on hand held by the

And the Committee certify that all the books, papers. documents and evidences of title of every description necessary in such examination have been freely submitted to the Committee by the said officers and their assistants, and that the same are accurate, in good order and well kept. And the Committee further certify that the investments of the Company are of a high order, and that the system and methods adopted by the Company in recording its transactions and caring for the assets are entitled to commendation ROBERT OLYPHANT All of which is respectfully submitted

NEW YORK. JANUARY 25, 1897.

JAMES N. JARVIE JAMES C. HOLDEN

J. HOBART HERRICK CHARLES D. DICKEY, JR. CHARLES R, HENDERSON

$ 918,698,338 45

The company has issued an order whereby women can be insured without the extra charge heretofore required. More definite information on the subject will be furnished by the local agent, Mr. A H. Camp.

Board of Trustees

SAMUEL D, BABCOCK RICHARD A. McCURDY JAMES C. HOLDEN HERMANN C. VON POST LEWIS MAY OLIVER HARRIMAN ROBERT OLYPHANT GEORGE F. BAKER DUDLEY OLCOTT

FREDERIC CROMWELL JULIEN T. DAVIES ROBERT SEWELL S, V. R. CRUGER CHARLES R. HENDERSON RUFUS W. PECKHAM J. HOBART HERRICK WM P DIXON ROBERT A. GRANNISS

HENRY H. ROGERS JNO. W AUCHINCLOSS THEODORE MORFORD WILLIAM BABCOCK STUYVESANT FISH AUGUSTUS D. JUILLIARD CHARLES E, MILLER WALTER R GILLETTE H, WALTER WEBB

GEORGE G. HAVEN ADRIAN ISELIN JR. GEORGE S. BOWDOIN THEO. A. HAVEMEYER WILLIAM C. WHITNEY WILLIAM ROCKEFELLER JAMES N. JARVIE CHAS D. DICKEY JR. ELBRIDGE T. GERRY

ROBERT A GRANNISS Vice-President.

WALTER R. GILLETTE, General Manager.
ident. HENRY E. DUNCAN, Jr., Corresponding Secretary ISAAC F. LLOYD, 2d Vice-President. ALBERT KLAMROTH, Assistant Secretary. WILLIAM J. EASTON, Secretary.

FREDERIC CROMWELL, Treasurer JAMES TIMPSON, 2d Assistant Treasurer. JOHN A. FONDA, Assistant Treasurer EDWARD P. HOLDEN, Assistant Cashier. WILLIAM P, SANDS, Cashier. EMORY McCLINTOCK, Actuary.

JOHN TATLOCK, JR, Assistant Actuary.

Auditor. WILLIAM W. RICHARDS, Comptroller. CHARLES A, PRELLER, Auditor. C. CLIFFORD GRETSINGER, As-istant Auditor. HENRY S. BROWN, Assistant Comptroller. JOHN C. ELLIOT, Superintendent of Domestic Agencies. EDWARD LYMAN SHORT, General Solicitor.

MEDICAL DIRECTORS: ELIAS J. MARSH, M. D. GUSTAVUS S. WINSTON, M. D.

GRANVILLE, M., WHITE, M I

JOHN W. NICHOLS New Haven, General Agent for State of Connecticut

A. H. CAMP.

Local Agent.

P., Lippman's Great Remedy, Saves a Man From Becoming a Cripple.

r. Asa Armons, a well-known en of Jacksonville, Florida, was uted by a terrible ulcer. Medical seemed unavailing in stopping the ges of the terrible disease. The ges of the terrible disease. The was swollen and intensely painful, the ulcer had eaten its way down o the very bone. All medicines and reatments having failed to effect a cure, the doctors said the leg must come off. Just when it seemed that Mr. Ammons would become a disabled and a crippled man, he tried P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, and the result was wonderful.

P. P. P. SAVES HIS LEG.

"Jacksonville, Fla., July 1, 1895.— Two years ago I had the worst ulcer on my leg I ever saw. It had eaten down to the bone, and my whole leg below my knee, and my foot was swollen and inflamed. The bone was swollen and painful, and discharged a most offensive matter. My physicians said I had necrosis of the bone, and my leg would have to come off. At this stage I commenced to take P. P. P. and to bathe my leg with hot castile soap suds. It began to improve at once and healed rapidly, and is to-day a sound and useful leg.
"I think P. P. P., Lippman's Great

Remedy, is all a man could ask for as a blood purifier, as I have known it to cure so meterrible cases of blood poisoning in a remarkably short time. "ASA AMMONS."

TERRIBLE BLOOD POISON.

The body covered with sores—two bottles of P. P. P. made a positive and permanent cure. This is only one of many thousand similar cases.

Catarrh yields at once to P. P. P.
That smothered feeling at night, that heavy feeling in the day—can and should be removed; P. P. P. will do it if you only give it a chance.
Indigestion and constipation go hand in hand. Headaches and total loss of appetite are the results. Regulate yourself and tone up your stomach with P. P. P.

Sold by all druggists

LIPPMAN BROS., Apothecarles, Sole Prop'rs, Lippman's Block, Savannah, Ga.

the ghastly terror of consumption stares a man in

HONEY

HOREHOUND the face who neg- | AND lects a cold.

It's so simple to get rid of a cough or throat trouble by Hale's Honey of Hore-hound and Tar. Acts like magic. Sold Pike's Toothache Drops cure in one minute.

Special to Realers of This Paper

THE GREAT AMERICAN TEA CO., 31 and 33 Vesey St., N. Y., P. O. Box 289.

Horace E. Dann,

EXCELSIOL

Livery and Sales Stable

Opposite Danbury and Norwalk Railroad depot Norwalk, Conn. Stylish Single or Double Teams with or without drivers Safe horses for women andchildren. .

SADDLE HORSES A SPECIALTY

AT P. W. BATES' 42 WATER STREET,

You can find as fine an assortment of

Monnmental & Cemetery Work

As a n be found it any Yard in the State, Look it over and get prices before going elsewhere, Piano Lessons.

MRS. GEORGE W. BRADLEY, (daughter and satisfactory instructions on the Piane's her home No. 193 Main street.

FARRINGTON UNDER ARREST.

ccused of a $4,269 Defalcation From the National Academy of Design.

New York, June 10.-Claude S. Farrington, for seven years superintendent of the National Academy of Design, was held to appear in Yorkville police court to explain a shortage in his ac-counts of $4,269. Farrington lives in good style at 211 West One Hundred and Twenty-third street and is a member of several up town clubs. He is married and has four children. The warrant was issued by Magistrate Crane on June 2, since when the de-tectives have been looking for Farring-

Treasurer James D. Smilie was the complainant in the case. The warrant formally charged Farrington with the larceny of the money. He admitted that a shortage existed several days ago, but denied emphatically that he stole the money. He had been working overtime, he said, for the place of assistant treasurer and had driven him-self into a sort of mental aberration. While confused from exhaustion and overwork, he said, he might have paid out the money for something, though for what he had no clear idea. He did not convert it to his own use, he insisted, but spent it for the academy.

According to Smilie's complaint, Farrington's method of taking the money was as follows: He was the receiving agent for sums realized from the sale of pictures, from tuition fees and from other receivable accounts. He could indorse for deposit checks thus received. When, however, he would receive a check, the superintendent, according to his accusers, would withhold from cash received the amount the check called for, put the cash in his pocket and credit the check. This system was so conducted that the deficit did not appear on his books.

THE MURDER OF RUIZ.

Report That Spain Will Have to Do Mor Than Give Indemnity.

Washington, June 10.-William J. Calhoun, the president's special commis-sioner to Cuba, had another interview with Mr. McKinley at the White House. He went there shortly after 9 o'clock in order to have as much time as possible to tell his interesting story before the departure of the president for Nashville. The Ruiz case was talked of, but Mr. McKinley will not take definite action in regard to the murder of the physician until after his return from his southern

He is anxious to know all the details of the case in order to consider with the members of his cabinet on the Nashville journey the character of the representations to Spain. On the basis of the report made by Consul General Lee this government cannot afford, without injuring itself in the eyes of other nations, to let the matter end without a demand for indemnity in behalf of Mrs. Ruiz and her children. It is believed here that the representations that will be made will extend even further than a demand for personal indemnity.

The murder of Ruiz, in the opinion of the state department, calls for more than mere pecuniary satisfaction for those who have been left without means of support by the cruelty of Spanish officers.

KILLED BY A MOB.

Negro Andrews Taken From an Officer at the Courthouse Door.

Princess Anne, Md., June 10.-William Andrews, colored, alias "Cuba," taken from the officer at the door of the courthouse and killed by a mob. Andrews had been tried, convicted and sentenced to death for feloniously assaulting Mrs. Benjamin T. Kelly near Marion on May 5.

Judge Page, who passed the death sentence upon Andrews, endeavored to reason with the excited crowd, but in A Point to Save Durrant.

San Luis Obispo, Cal., June 10 .- A. S. Austin, formerly a prominent attorney of this city, writes to County Clerk Whicher from Newport, Or., that he was in San Francisco the night Blanche Lamont was murdered.

"I think I know a point that will save Durrant," he says, "although if I was to speak out and say so people would say I was crazy. I am morally certain of Durrant's innocence and mathematically as to whom is guilty from what I saw the night of the murder. I think I should quietly tell my story to Durrant's attorney." Austin was a man of strong intellect when here and is known to have been in San Francisco at the time of the murder.

Declamation Prizes at Williams.

Williamstown, Mass., June 10.-At the sixth annual contest in declamation of the freshmen class of Williams college the first prize, $20 in gold, was awarded to Fred Wilder Cross, whose subject was "The Spirit of History," and the second prize, $10, was given to Charles Denison Makepiece for "The New South." Honorable mention was made of John Athanasius Djerff, who spoke on "Ultimate America."

Closed Lavigne's Eye.

Brooklyn, June 10 .- "Kid" Lavinge, the champion lightweight boxer, was fined $10 for intoxication in Justice Nostrand's Coney Island court, and held for examination on the charge of resisting an officer. One of his eyes was almost closed and his face was swollen and discolored. Detective Vaches arrested him. Lavinge said he had been brutally treated by the police and that he would get even.

Armor Plate Factory For California. San Francisco, June 10.-Should the government accept the proposition of the Union Iron works to provide diagonal armor for the battleship Wisconsin, an armor plate plant will probably be established here by Abbott Brown of Edinburgh, known all over the world as an expert in such matters.

Minister Draper In Rome.

Rome, June 10.-General William F. Draper, the new United States embassador to Italy, was received in audience at 3:30 p. m. by the minister for foreign affairs, the Marquis Visconti Venosta General Draper requested an audience of King Humbert for the purpose of presenting his credentials.

Yerkes Wins His Fight.

Springfield, Ills., June 10.—Governor Tanner has signed the famous Allen street railway bill, giving Millionaire Yerkes what he wants.

Ladies' Waist.

No. 191 PRICE, TEN CENTS

HINTS BY MAY HOWARD.

either of silk, percaline or "Near silk". The pattern provides for a neatly fitted number of seams and darts and closing in the centre front. Gathers at the neck and shoulder edges adjust the becoming fullness of the fronts, which are again gathered at the lower edge, falling over the crush girdle in slight is applicable to all manner of weaves blouse effect. The right front overlaps the left and finishes with standing rufclosing is effected. Smooth under-arm gores render the adjustment more perfect and the back has a slight fullness for medium 21 yards. drawn well to the centre. A plain standing band completes the neck with

This bodice is particularly designed | decorations of embroidery above. The for light sheer summer fabrics, such as sleeves present the latest caprice folbarege, organdy, crepe-de-chene, mous- lowing the arm closely from the elbow seline, grenadine, gauze, etc., all of to the wrists, which are bell shaped which can be made over colored linings and have deep ruffles falling over the hand. The small puffs of sleeves may be caught through the centre in butterlining or foundation having the usual fly effect, as seen in engraving, or the shirring can be omitted when a short, modified puff will be the result.

The material selected for the waist exhibited is figured dimity with collar and belt of silk. The mode, however, and textures and permits of a wide range of decorations including lace, fles of embroidery, beneath which the embroidery, quilled ribbon or knife plaited mousseline.

Quantity of material 44 inches wide Sizes 32 to 40.

Ladies' Wrapper.

No. 189, PRICE TEN CENTS.

dimity neatly trimmed with embroidery waist line to position and the finishes and insertion. The pattern provides with a neat rolling collar. The one for a fitted lining fronts that close in seamed sleeves are mounted upon coat centre the upper portions of which are shaped linings, the fullness at the top covered with the material to the depth being gathered. The lower edge of of a double breasted yoke. Gathers adjust the becoming fullness of the embroidery similar trimming finishing fronts which are sewn to position at the top beneath the lower edge of the yoke. | yoke. Smooth under-arm gores render the adjustment more perfect the back having curved side and centre back seams. including challis cashmere, henrietta A wide box-plait falls from the neck to etc. the lower edge of the skirt in graceful fullness thus presenting the stylish for medium size 61 yards. watteau effect. The pointed belt sec- Size 32 to 42.

Dainty at home gown made of spotted | tion serve to hold the fullness at the the garment has a foot decoration of the wrists and defining the pointed

The mode is desirable for wash fabrics as well as soft woolen materials

Quantity of material 44 inches wide

Ladies' Shirt Waist.

No. 192-PRICE, TEN CENTS.

shirt waist that is neatly finished with machine stitching. The front and back have fullness collected in gathers at the upper edge. The back and front yoke are made double the upper yoke being straight on its lower edge. The gathers are joined to the straight lower edge of the under yoke or lining and the pointed yoke is stitched down on its lower edge, thus ensuing a neat and strong finish. The right finishes the box-plait, through which buttonholes are worked for the studs or buttons used as closing. Gathers at the waist line adjust the fullness under the belt that encircles the waist. A close Figured dimity made this stylish standing band finishes the neck band or made adjustable, if preferred. . The sleeves are of the modified dimensions that fashion dictates and are gathered top and bottom, straight cuff bands completing the wrists that are closed with link studs.

The waist can be developed in any one of the new designs of wash fabrics intended for summer wear or made of light inexpensive silk in glace or taffeta, the preference being given to red, blue, changeable striped or checked machine stitching. The fronts are deeply faced and reversed to form long lapels that meet the rolling collar in notches. They are usually worn open but can be closed at the bust if so desired. The back fits smoothly, side back and under-arm gores with a curved centre seam securing a trim adjustment. Plaits are laid underneath below the waist line in back to form a bust measure.

Quantity of material required 36 inches wide, medium size 31 yards. Sizes 32 to 42.

Ladies' Blazer.

No. 103, PRICE TEN CENTS.

One of the newest styles of the popul slight fullness. The stylish sleeves lar reefer coat is here shown in tobac- have upper and under portions the fulco brown cloth neatly finished with ness at the top being collected in gath-

> Coats of this discription are suitable for traveling, shopping, cycling, or general utility wear and can be successfully developed in any one of the seasonable fabrics.

Quantity of material 44 inches wide for medium size 31 yards.

Sizes 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inch

THE "WEEKLY GAZETTE" ORDE BLANK FOR PATTERNS ON THIS PACE.

Cut this out, fill in your name and address very distinctly, and mail to "PAT-TERN DEPARTMENT OF WEEKLY GAZETTE" with 10 Cents for each Pattern wanted.

Always give bust measure for Waists, Sacques, Coats and Jackets. Give waist

| measure for Skirts. | FOI CHILDREN IN IS WITH WAY | da i da di ci di ci di ci | |
|---------------------|-----------------------------|---------------------------|-----|
| Send Pattern No | Bust Measure | Waist | Age |
| Send Pattern No | Bust Measure | Waist | Age |
| Send Pattern No | Bust Measure | Waist | Age |
| Send Pattern No | Bust Measure | Waist | Age |
| Send Pattern No | 48 | | Age |
| Name | | ********** | |
| Add | ress | | |

lights the way and stays lighted. All brass, nickel-plated-no tin; outside oil-filler; cotton packed oil fount; double convex ground photolens: burns kerosene, throws a light 90 ft. and weighs but 12 ounces.

Three years a leader, and three years' improvements now added. Absolutely the handsomest and best bicycle lamp ever made. Sold by all leading dealers.

THE PLACE & TERRY MFG. CO., 247 Centre Street, New York.

See our new, cheaper lamp-the "Scorcher."

Use for Nickel Steel.

Nickel-steel is considered by some as the building material of the future. It is produced by the combination of iron and nickel, the success of the alloy depending upon the quality of the nickel. Quite recently nickel-steel has also been employed in the manufacture of bicycles, and a German wheel of this material, weighing but thirteen pounds, is said to have compared favorably with bicycles made of com mon steel.-New York Sun.

Giving Him Fits.

Arabella (scared)-Oh, mammy! Miss Smiff say her ole man gits fits eb'ry tahm he come home drunk, an' I's fraid I cotch 'um."

Mammy-G'wan, chile; fits ain' ketchin'. Arabella-Dey mus' be,' 'kase Miss ! Smiff says she give 'um to him herse'f. -Judge.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the deseased portion of the ear-There is only one way to cure Derfness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube get inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F I. CHENFY & Co., Toledo. O.
Sold by D#ruggis, 75c.

The woman who goes about with her hair in curl papers has no reason for wondering why her husband wants a

TRY GRAIN-O! TRY GRAIN-O! Ask your grocer to-day to show you a package of GRAIN-O, the new food drink that takes the place of coffee. The children may drink it without injury as well as the adult. All who try it like it. GRAIN-O has the rich seal brown of Mocha or Java, but it is made from pure grains, and the most delicate stomach receives it without distress. ¼ the price of coffee. 15c. and 25cts. per package. Sold by all gro-

HAM-EATING IN PARIS.

The Bones Used with Pork Cut into Shape to Imitate the Genuine Article.

Parisians of a certain class are inordinate eaters of ham; in fact, almost as many hams are eaten in Paris as could be furnished by all the pigs killed throughout the whole of France, even allowing for both shoulder and leg being ham-cured in accordance with French practice. The demand was formerly-and may be now-met in this wise. The dealers in cooked hams bought up the old ham-bones at a couple of sous a-piece, and ingeniously inserted them in pieces of pickled pork, which they trimmed into shape, and coated with grated bread-crusts. In this way many bones did duty hundreds of times over, lasting, in fact, for years. They would leave the dealers in the morning and frequently return to them the same night, to quit them again the following day. Nevertheless the supply could hardly keep pace with the demand. Only fancy the inconvenience of having to wait for your ham until your neighbor's servant took back the ham-bone which the charcutier relied upon receiving yesterday! It was to obviate such a state of things that an ingenious individual conceived the idea of manufacturing ham-bones wholesale, and ere long he drove a thriving trade, at ten sous the dozen: since which time the stock of hams has augmented, and the delicacy has become less difficult to procure,

No Mistaking the Likeness.

Photographer-Your son ordered this ikeness from me. Father-It is certainly very much ike him. Has he paid for it? Photographer-Not yet.

Father-That is still more like him.

A Remarkable Tree.

A redwood tree which was recently cut down in the state of Washington was 465 feet in height, or about oneeleventh of a mile. To the point where the first limb branched out was 220 feet. At the base the circumference was found to be 33 feet 11 inches. If it were sawed into lumber it would make 96,345 feet of boards. This amount of lumber would serve for the construction of eight cottages two stories high, each containing seven rooms. The age of the tree is said to have been 684 years.-New York Tri-

M'KINLEY AND SPAIN.

Report That His Forthcoming Ultimatum Will Stir Up the Dons.

THE WAR MUST BE STOPPED.

Peace, With Indemnity, to Be Proposed. American Citizens Must No Longer Be Ill Treated-Spain May Resent the Interference of Uncle Sam.

New York, June 11.—Spain has lost control of the island of Cuba. Spain has failed and is powerless to protect the lives and property of American citizens. Spain has failed to comply with its treaty obligations. These are said to be the vital points of President McKinley's forthcoming ulti-matum to Spain, according to the New York Journal, which declares further that every diplomat, every member of congress, every politician is asking the natural question, "Will the president's ultimatum mean war with Spain?" All are agreed that it does mean a grave crisis, with a declaration of war as a distinct possibility. It further means that the position of the United States will be made known to Spain and with that country will be left the responsibility of graver proceed-

Time to Call a Halt.

Consular reports that have told of a terrible state of affairs in Cuba whereby American citizens and the property of American citizens have been unsparingly robbed of treaty rights by Spanish officials and the distinct tone of the report of the commissioners who inquired into the Ruiz outrage have impressed President McKinley with the necessity of bringing Spain to a realization of the position in which her violations of her friendly agreement with this country have placed her.

The president has determined, The Journal says, that American property shall suffer no longer, and that outrages on Americans like that which brought about the death of Dr. Ruiz must not be repeated. To this end he will address to Spain a communication, friendly in tone and intent, but firm and unwavering in its demands.

Terms of the Note.

This communication to Spain is being prepared under the direction of Judge Day, the assistant secretary of state. While it will go directly from the state department, it will bear the information to Spain that it has been written at the direction of the president himself. The mediation of the United States to bring about peace on the basis of Cuban independence on the payment of an indemnity will be offered. The note's first representation will be that Spain has lost control of the island of Cuba, and evidence of the existence and maintenance of a successful revolution will be given showing the sections and areas held by Spain and the revolutionists in a comparative shape. Then it will be

That Spain has failed and is powerless to protect the lives and property of American citizens.

The strongest of the representations, the one most likely to bring about direful complications, is this—that Spain has failed to comply with her treaty obligations. In one long list will be given the cases in which American citizens have been illegally arrested and illegally punished by the spanish officials. These will be the stated reasons for the offer of mediation by the United States. The note will argue the reasons for the presentation of the note.

In plain but diplomatic language it will be proved that Spain is powerless to crush the revolution; that it cannot pacify its rebellious colony.

Effect of Recognition.

It will then be intimated that the effect that might follow the recognition of the Cubans by the United States would be that the island would at once take its place among independent nations, and Spain would be regarded as an intruder fighting for the dominion of a people recognized as free. In this connection the bearing of the Monroe doctrine upon such a state of circumstances will be clearly outlined.

The indemnity to be paid by Cuba, to be determined by arbitration if necessary, will be large enough to reimburse Spain in a large measure for the value of Spanish property in Cuba and offset the portion of interest on Cuban bonds now paid out of the revenue coming from the island.

Will Spain Accept?

The Spanish minister, Dupuy de Lome, has been given an intimation of the contents of the president's ultimatum. He has given a diplomatic reply to this intimation. He has declared that Spain will accept the note in a friendly spirit. That answer, however, carries with it no indication that Spain will accept the offer of mediation.

It is with the knowledge of this noncommittal attitude of the Spanish representative that the belief is held in diplomatic circles that the sending of the ultimatum may result in grave complications between the two countries, certainly in a forced recognition of the belligerency of the Cubans, no matter what Spain's answer may be, and possibly in a war which the United States must begin in order to insure the safety of her subjects in Cuba and that of her property.

Basrelief of Russell Sage.

Troy, N. Y., June 11.-The unveiling of a bronze bas-relief of Uncle Russell Sage was a feature of the Emma Willard seminary commencement exercises here. The bronze is the gift of Mrs. and not Mr. Sage. Uncle Russell was too ill to attend the commencement. Mrs. Sage, who intended the likeness as a surprise to her husband, made the presentation address.

President McKinley Criticised. London, June 11 .- The Pall Mall Gazette publishes a long editorial on the business and political outlook in America and criticises President McKinley who, it says, instead of playing the part of president, has been satisfied with the role of a party man. It also says his efforts for international bimetallism are Rogers to Row Durnan.

Toronto, June 11.-Erastus Rogers of Worcester, Mass., has accepted the chal-lenge of Eddie Durnan of this city to row for $1,000 a side, the race to be rowed in Worcester.

-Advertise in THE GAZETTE.

THE TROUT LAW.

Open Season for Taking the Fish Ends on June 15.

Exceedingly few interests have escaped the attention of the Connecticut general assembly, and certainly trout fishing, rearing or hatching have not been among the few. All sorts of schemes were sprung upon both branches early in the season under various pretences. Some were in the interest of one class and some another. Many of the pet measures fell by the a broken spoke. wayside; others were successful in running the gauntlet of the committee rooms and became laws. The one, however, that the average business F. S. AMBLER CYCLE CO.. man who takes his rod for a day's sport among the streams away off in the hills defines the "close" season. The act is as follows:

SECTION 1-Every person who shall catch any brook trout or brown trout except with a hook and line, or shall sell, expose for sale, purchase, catch or have in his possession any such trout, except from the 1st day of April to the 15th day of June, shall be fined not more than $50 and costs or imprisoned not more than thirty days, or both; provided, however, that any person may take such trout in waters owned and enclosed by him for the purpose of stocking other waters, or take and sell any trout reared by him in such enclosed waters.

Memories of Famous Friends.

Rev. Dr. Edward Everett Hale, who ing Machines, 50c per val. is original in all things, discovered a unique way of celebrating his seventyfifth birthday. That was to write his recollections of some of the eminent men who were his closest friends, among them Lowell, Longfellow, Emerson, Dr. Holmes and Wendell Phillips. The Youth's Companion has had the good fortune to secure these intimate and charming papers, and the first in the series appears in its issue of June 10. Edward Everett, Dr. Hale's uncle, is the subject, and a very lifelike picture is given of this famous Massachusetts man, the hero of countless interesting incidents, who entered many fields of effort-ranging all the way Here Are a Few of Our Bargains for from preacher to diplomat—and won success in all.

In the same issue of the Companion President McKinley's Cabinet officers Round Steak, are described, with portraits. The editorial page of the Companion presents many subjects of current interest, and every other department of the paper reminds one, indirectly, that the Companion is giving its subscribers a great deal for their money.

Mustang Kicked Him.

Chester Coley of Chestnut Hill, has an ugly wound on the back of his head. This morning, whip in hand, Coley was driving a mustang colt into the barn when the animal suddenly elevated one of his hind feet striking Coley in the back of the head, knocking him almost senseless. The wound is being treated for by Dr. A. H. Baldwin. Coley saw the hoof coming in his direction and evidently aimed at his face, and dodged only to receive the force of the blow on he back of his head.

She Went Daft.

Delia Blackwell, colored, who has acted in the capacity of a domestic at the homes of several families in town and who it seems had previously developed signs of insanity, caused a disturbance at her home on Harriett street last night.

Irving Reed who lives near by was called in to quiet the woman but without effect, and he then enlisted the services of Officer Morehouse, who after securing a carriage took the woman to the station house.

The Czar Again a Father.

St. Petersburg, June 11.-At noon the czarina gave birth to a daughter at the Peterhoff palace. The first child of their majesties was born Nov. 3, 1895, and is also a daughter, known as the Grand Duchess Olga.

A Young Girl Missing.

Red Bank, N. J., June 11:-Julia, the 14-year-old daughter of John Valleau of West Red Bank, has been missing from home since Monday. She was seen in the company of two strange women. It is believed that she went to New York with them.

Jones-Laughlin Strike Off.

Pittsburg, June 11. - The strike at Jones & Laughlin's American works was declared off by the strikers' committee, and all the old men who can get work will go back at the reduction. About 500 new men have been taken on.

Four Bankers Indicted.

Minneapolis, June 11.—The grand jury indicted four officials of the failed Washington State bank—A. C. Haughen, the president; J. H. Field, cashier; A. E. Johnson, the steamship agent, and Olaf Searle, who were directors.

Lady Mildred Jessup Dead.

London, June 11.-Lady Mildred Jessup, wife of Mr. A. E. Jessup of Philadelphia, died in France. She was a daughter of the Earl of Strathmore and Kinghorne, and was married to Mr. Jessup in 1891.

Came From Italy to Kill.

Washington, June 11.-Mrs. Chiara Giulani, the Italian woman who was shot by Jacopo Ferrari, is dead. Ferrar! wooed the woman in Italy, but was rejected, and came to this country to Sighted Four Icebergs.

New York, June 11.—The steamer Michigan, which arrived from London, reported sighting four icebergs. One

COLUMBIA___

SURETY

SPOKES

All spokes may break-the spokes that break the least are the spokes you wantthe Columbia bicycle direct spokes can't easily break—they are almost spokes of certainty—over 100,000 mileage without Catalogue free if you call.

29 Wall Street.

LAWN MOWERS!

PHILADELPHIA and FAVORITE, Gar den Tools, Rubber Hose, Wire Cloth, Window Screens, Screen Doors, Oil Stoves, Mixed Paints.

Lubricating Oil for Lawn Mowers and Mow-

17 MAIN STREET, NORWALK, CONN.

5 RAILROAD PLACE AND XXXX WASHINGTON ST. BRIDGE ×××

This week:

Shoulder Steak, 12c 75C. 10c Lamb Chops, Stew Lamb. Plate Rib, Fresh or Corned, FRESH FISH OF ALL KINDS.

Blue Fish and Weak Fish are especially nice just now, and prices are way down.

Paul Schultze, Jr

Fairfield County National Bank

44 Wall St., Norwalk, Conn.

Capital, 200.000 INCORPORATED, 1824. EDWIN O. KEELIR, President. DAVID B. MILLER, Vice-President, L. C. GREEN, Cashier

Mosses H. Glover. EDWIN O. KEELER, A. J. MEEKER, DAVID H. MILLER, F. ST. JOHN LOCKWOOD, THEODORE E. SMITH, CHAS. F. TRISTRAM. IRA COLE, Accounts of Manufacturers, Merchants, and Individuals solicited.

Safe Deposit Foxes fee to Depositors.

26 WALL ST., NORWALK.

CORPORATED SEPT. 1, 1876. CAPITAL, - - - -GEORGE M. HOLMES, President.

E. L. BOYER, Vice-President.

WILLIAM A. CURTIS, ashier

DIRECTORS: H. E. DANN, GEORGE M. HOLMES, P. L. CUNNINGHAM,

J. Cousins, JR

Discount Day, Saturday

Mrs. MEAD'S

At Hillside -:- -:-NOW OPEN.

APPLICATIONS

For admission shoul made at Hillside.

MEEKER COAL CO. PLOWS, PLOWS REPAIRED,

COAL, WOOD, BRICK,

LIME, CEMENT, TILE PIPE. OFFICE WITH G. WARDSELLEC WALL STREET. NORWALK

THE SILK AND BOSTON STORE THE ... BIG ... STORE.

NORWALK, CONN.

HORRIBLE WEATHER FOR THE DRY GOODS BUSINESS!

Is the cry we hear in every house in the wholesale district of New York. It is the cry that we heard all spring in Norwalk. What does it mean; it means that we are heavily stocked and that we must unload now or carry over until next season, and that we won't do! We shall CUT PRICE and let the profits go to the winds. We shall make every inducement for you to buy. We shall cut some prices in TWO. We shall mark everything down. We shall give another

$75.00 BICYCLE AWAY

Saturday night June 19 at 10 o'clock. Save your duplicate checks of every purchase you make. Here are a few of the bargains for this week.

WASH GOODS.

8c Lawns, fast colors, new goods, Half Price 4c.

25c Organdies, 12.

" Lappet Mulls, 12. 30c All Linen Batiste, colored stripes,

49c White Mull, 25c. " Igc. 39c 66 " IOC. IQC

DRESS GOODS.

30c Check and Mixed Suitings all this season's styles, 25c.

49c Silk and Wool Suitings, 39c. $1.00 Checks and Mixture, 52 in. wide, 75c Blk. Sicilian Mohair, 54 in. wide, 6 1=2c Full Bleached 4=4 Muslin, 4c.

Muslin, 12 1=20 7c 4=4 Uubleached muslin, 4c. Quan: tity limited.

CHILDREN'S JACKETS

Now here is a snap.

All $7.50, 7.00, 6.50 and 5.00 Jackets at Here are the names of the winners of one price, $3.00.

All $4.50, 4.00 and 3.50 Jackets at one class and never give them any trouprice, $2.00.

All $3.00, 2.75 and 2.00 Jackets at one price, $1.00.

LADIES' JACKETS.

All $13.98, 12.50 and 10.50 Jackets at one price, $7.00.

All $10, 9.50 and 8.50 Jackets, at one price, $5.00. All $8, 7.50 and 6.00 Jackets, $3.50.

Shirt Waists that are beautiful, by the thousands. Silk Waist $1.98 to $5.75 that fit.

MEN'S FURNISHINGS.

Don't be afraid to come in young men, the ladies will make room for you, the counter is next to the door on your left as you enter.

The Manhattan shirt, $1.50. 75c Neglige shirts, 50. 98c Unlaundered shirts, 49. Largest line of neckwear in Norwalk.

KITCHEN FUSNISHINGS.

Fruit Jars 25 per cent lowerthan any= body else.

Screens, 25 per cent lower. Granite Iron Ware, 33 1=3 per cent

Crockery 25 per cent lower. Glass ware 25 " " "

Remember that we can't mention everything. Come here and save money.

our wheels who will say they are first

Miss Williams, Arch Street, Norwalk. Mr. Polinsky, New Canaan. Mr. C. H. Downs, South Norwalk. Miss Mary Gorman, Norwalk.

Mr. Theo. Olmstead, North Wilton. Miss Mary Toale, South Norwalk. Mrs. William T. Wood, Westport. Miss Kate Harrigan, Norwalk.

Miss Kate Claven, Norwalk.

Save your duplicate checks and you may win this $75.00 Bicycle Saturday night, June 19th, at 10 o'clock.

BOSTON STORE,

CORNER MAIN AND WALL STREETS, NORWALK, CT.

PLATE

THE

Mutual Plate Glass Insurance Company

OF CONNECTICUT,

At HALF THE RATE charged by other stock companies

BYINGTON.

ROOM 1, GAZETTE BUILDING

NORWALK

HE THREW A BOMB.

A hearing in the matter of the proposed widening of Wall street was held in the Council rooms Monday night.

The hearing was of much importance to property owners on Wall and Main streets. Among those present or represented who objected were A. H. Byington, E. K. Lockwood, O. E. Wilson, Robert Dix, LeGrand Jackson, Jeremiah Donovan, Thomas Cousins, A. E. Austin, Frank J. and Eversley Curtis, Isaac Lee, J. Belden Hurlbutt, W. F. Acton, John Hadden, L. C. Hanford, Manice De F. and Buckingham Lockwood, C. N. Wood and others.

The clerk read the report of the committee as previously printed in full n these columns, with the additional manifesto, that personal notice had been served by Officer Morehouse on those interested, as to date and hour of hearing.

Mayor Wheeler remarked that the committee appointed at a city meeting had labored long and earnestly, and felt confident that they had presented their report in the best of faith. He then invited any one present who objected to the acceptance of the report to state such objection.

Among the property owners interested were: Julia P. Wilson, Michael Ratch-ford and Mary Ratchford, Edward Merrill, Manice De F. Lockwood, Buckingham Lockwood and William B. E. Lockwood, Jane L. S. Bishop, and William F. Lishop, Elizabeth Raymond, Lewis H. Raymond and Hannah R. Ampler, LeGrand Jackson, George C.Lockwood, John Hadden and Isabella M. Hadden, The Fairfield County National Bank, The Norwalk Savings Society, William E. Dann, Sophia A. Weed, Samuel L. Weed and Edward P. Weed, Harriot S. Byington and Aaron H. Byington, The Bridgeport Savings Bank, Estate Joseph W. Hubbell,—George M. Holmes, Trustee, Jeremith Donovan, George W. Selleck Isaac Selleck and Henry Selleck, The Norwalk Street Railway Company, William Meseberg, Estate of George Holmes, -(Stephen H. Holmes, Execu tor,) Francis E. Quintard and Frederick Quintard, John J. Hanlon and William P. Hanlon, Mary E. Honneck er, William A. Vogel, Sophia A. Weed, Estate of Edward P. Weed, The National Bank of Norwalk, Andrew Selleck, The Danbury and Norwalk Railroad Company, The New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company, Rebecca I. Cole, Ira Cole, Edward K. Lockwood, Estate of James ward K. Lockwood, Estate of James Mallory, deceased, Estate of Lupertia L. Beebe, deceased, F. St. John Lockwood, John O'Sullivan, Sarah E. Sta-ples, George C. Lockwood, Charles O. C. Betts, The Fairfield County Savings Bank, Ralph Moody, Joseph P. Moody, Franklin J. Curtis and Anna E. Curtis, Charles DeKlyn, Sarah E. Lockwood, Charles S. Lockwood, Estate of Samuel E. Olmstead, deceased,—(Edward K. Lockwood and Rebecca G. Olmstead, Administrators,) Joseph Matheis and Henry Matheis, Louise O. Coolidge, Noah Wood, Isaac Lee, Platt Price, Estate of William K. James,—(F. St. John Lockwood, Trustee,) Ebenezer J. Hill, The Norwalk Street Railway company, The Norwalk Tramway com-

A. E. Austin appeared for the Lewis Raymond estate, and claimed that there "was not one cents worth of benefit" to be gained by his clients in the proposed improvements.

Manice De F. Lockwood asked as to upon whom would fall the cost of putting a new front in what is known as the Blascer building. He was informed that the matter had been considered and awarded in his assessment.

General Manager Acton of the Street Railway line asked if there was to be a relocation of the electric car tracks. He also protested against the assessment of his company for benefits.

C. Eversley Curtis representing the Curtis estate protested.

. Charles S. Lockwood also objected, and facetiously asked why the committee did not continue their assessments of benefits around and down Hoyt

E. K. Lockwood objected on the grounds that the assessment was unequal.

J. B. Hurlbutt, attorney for Mrs E. P. Weed et. al. threw a bomb into the camp by the sweeping assertion that the entire proceedings, both as to assessments of damages and benefits, did not come properly under the charter rights of the city. He objected as he said to any act of the city council that was not in strict conformity with its charter rights.

Noah Wood said that he had been assessed $80 for Main street improvements and felt sore that he should be asked to help pay for what might be done on Wall street.

Jeremiah Donovan, Jr., made no objection to the amount of his assessment on the Boston Store property, but thought that others had been awarded damages considerably in excess of what they ought to have received, such damages being at the expense of those claimed to have been benefitted. He said that he had already paid $2,000 for improvements at or about Main street. He pertinently asked the question, "Does not a part of the Wilson building stand on town property, and is it not on record that the owners have paid rent for the same?" He then sententiously remarked, "You can certainly stand it if they can." Referring of course to the Electric Railway companies. Mayor Wheeler read the list of those property owners interested and dwellance.

but he had nothing to say. John Had den got into the same boat.

Attorney E. M. Lockwood entered a protest on the part of A. H. Byington who was unable to be present.

Isaac Lee believed that increased value on Wall street lessened values on Main street. He objected to the assessment, but thought the improvement a wise one.

Major G. M. Holmes representing the Hubbell estate was not able to be present but wrote a very caustic but at the same time friendly letter in which the idea was conveyed that it was the electric roads that ought to bear the brunt of the expense in the proposed improvements. He made the pat remark in his letter that the owner of the Boston store building as well as others could not get $1 more a month rent on their buildings by reason of the widening. He did not wish to be unreasonable, and thought that $200 ought to be the maximum benefit assessed to any one. Councilman Kent said that if the work was to be done, the quicker it were done the better, and suggested that if there was to be an adjournment of the hearing it be an early one. Out of compliment to several property owners the hearing was adjourned until this Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

LOCAL NEWS.

Roton and Dorlon Point opened for the summer season on Saturday, and large crowds visited both of these popular resorts. On Sunday crowds again journeyed to the seashore while on Monday both points were crowded. Each had music during the afternoon and evening and the sun coming out after the hard rain sent thousands to enjoy a half holiday.

The crowd at Roton Point was something enormous, and the Tramway company did not begin to have sufficient cars to transport in comfort the thousands who desired to visit the point during the afternoon.

At Dorlon Point another large crowd congregated and remained until late in the evening enjoying the fine music provided by Landlord O'Sullivan.

At the Knob a large and select company enjoyed the beauties of this most popular resort. President Golden was on hand to make every one at home, and Captain Joe Lockwood, the club chef, furnished a most tempting lunch of hot chowder and delicious coffee, which was generously partaken of by the club members and their guests. Mr. John H. Ferris kindly ran his handsome launch between the Knob and Yacht club during the afternoon and brought hundreds of passengers to the grounds.

The Pine Ledge club also enjoyed a most pleasant afternoon, and quite a number of the members turned out to enjoy the opening day at this prominent resort. Here, too, everything was done to entertain the members and guests and a most happy afternoon was spent despite the stormy morning. The club enjoys a rapidly increasing membership and promises to rival the older organizations in popularity.

At the Yacht club the members were conspicuous by their absence. In the yacht race, which was an uninteresting drifting match, Dr. L. M. Allen's Bon Bon had a walkover in the cabin cat race and came in far ahead. The Ward V won in the jib and mainsail class and the Daphne in the open cat

All sorts of weather prevailed during the annual regatta of the Harlem Yacht club, which was sailed on Long Island Sound yesterday afternoon. But one serious accident marred the sport, that being the collision between the sloop Millionaire and the coasting schooner L. L. Hamlin of Providence, R. I. The yacht, which at the time had right of way, strictly speaking, tried to cross the bows of the coaster, and when her skipper discovered that the manœuvre was impossible, he went about. Just as she filled away the big schooner struck the yacht with the bluff part of her port bow, and, tangling her cat, head and bowsprit spreader in the port shrouds of the yacht, she carried her stern first for some distance before the gear gave way. Then the sloop, her topmast going by the board, dropped astern.

Three men were knocked overboard from the yacht. One was picked up by Captain William H. Bouton of the Eagle of the New York & Norwalk Steamboat company, and lines were thrown to the other two, who were struggling in the water. Beyond the involuntary bath the men were not injured. The yacht, however, was towed to Harlem by the Eagle minus her topmast and her port shrouds. E. Wheeler while engaged in paint ing the Mrs. Hannah Hill residence on West avenue, Saturday suffered a fall that gave him a sprained shoulder. One of the rounds in a ladder which he was mounting precipitated the precipitation, which was an unlooked for as it was unwelcome.

The County Commissioners have made the following distribution of license monies according to law:

Norwalk, $608; Bridgeport, $73,758; Fairfield, $95; Stamford, $855, and Danbury, $1,201.75. As five per cent. of ing on each name gave the parties an the gross receipts goes to the county, opportunity to speak as to their griev- $4,027.05 was paid to the County treasurer.

The most sensational testimony that has thus far been given in the Fuda murder trial was brought out yesterday. From all appearances it looks as though Fuda and Imapassino had planned to murder Mrs. Fuda in some lonely spot where the body could not easily be found. As far as the testimony is given it appears that the murder was instigated by Imapassino and that he had a hand in it. Such at least is the nature of the testimony given by Leo Donatell, an Italian who had a talk with Fuda last March and to whom, he alleges, Fuda confessed the crime.

A new interpreter was in use yesterday. He is Atonnio Spinello, a lawyer of New Haven, and he is a bright and intelligent young man. He is a graduate of the Yale Law School and has thus far been the best interpreter that has as yet been in use in the case.

The first witness called in the case yesterday was Joseph Pannetta, a young man. He testified that he was present in Fuda's apartments a night or two before the murder playing cards. Fuda and his wife quarrelled. Fuda picked up a hatchet and placing it against his wife's neck said that he would kill her.

Leo Donatell was the next and most important witness in the case. It was he who had the conversations with Fuda and Imapassino. He said that he first became acquainted with Fuda on the morning of his arrest. He had a conversation with him on Saturday in New York; had another one on the Monday following. He related the particulars of the first conversation. He said:

"I went to the house where Fuda was stopping and found Fuda eating his breakfast. I said to him Guisseppi, do you know that your wife has been killed in Stamford. You had better go back again. He replied that 'I know nothing about her, she left my house, she ran away. ' "

Witness told of the arrest that followed. On the way to the police station witness had another conversation. Fuda then said that his wife got out of bed on the 18th at 4 o'clock and went away, taking $26 with her. He had come to New York to find her.

In the conversation which took place on Monday, Fuda said his wife left him Wednesday night, some time between 7 and 8 o'clock. Fuda did not know where she was. He thought she had gone away with Imapassino.

The next conversation took place the Wednesday following. Witness had been to Buffalo and had a conversation with Imapassino. Witness told Fuda that Imapassino accused him of killing Mrs. Fuda, and that the shoe which had been taken from Fuda fitted the tracks. Fuda said that Imapassino had borrowed his coat and shoes and also taken his hatchet.

Witness told of other interviews which he had with the accused. Upon one occasion Imapassino was brought before Fuda. Imapassino said: "There is the man who killed his wife." Fuda replied: "That is what you say."

Another conversation took place later on. Fuda said he must tell all about it. Continuing witness said: him: 'I am tired of your wife; she is a bad woman; she has called me bad names and called my sister in Italy hard names. Now if you do not kill her, I will shoot her with my revolver. We can take her away to some lonely spot near Stamford and kill her. ' "

Donatell detailed the actions of the men, as told by Fuda, and of their taking the 9:21 train and of Mrs. Fuda being sent to a seat in the rear coach. Continuing he said that this is what was told him:

When they reached South Norwalk, Fuda suggested to get off. Imapassino said "we will go to the next station. This town is too large." They talked in Italian. When they got to East Norwalk, Imapassino said "we will take a walk." Mrs. Fuda asked "where are we going?" Imapassino said "We will take a walk and then take a trolley car." While they were walking Fuda was on one side and Imapassino on the other. They changed positions often. When they got to a point below the bridge, Imapassino said "Now catch her." He caught her about the waist, threw her over on one side and then delivered the blows upon her head. She screamed "Holy Virgin! Holy Virgin!" and to each exclamation Fuda replied "Holy Moses! Holy Moses!"

Fuda and Imapassino then ran up the bank. Imapassino assisted himself up street bridge. the bank by crawling on his hands. far from the railroad bridge.

While they were walking to East Norwalk, Imapassino called Fuda's attention to blood upon his coat. Imapassino said cut it out and it was done. When they got to East Norwalk, Imapassino said that he had no money. Fuda declared that he had and drew a $20 bill from his pocket. They could not get a train and took a trolley car. They then went to South Norwalk and got off at the depot. When they got to the depot Imapassino suggested that they should buy tickets to Greenbrook. Fuda objected to this and then Imapassino said that he would get off at Stamford. Then Fuda bought some fruit for 15 cents. A policeman changed the $20 bill, of which Fuda took $14 and Imapassino the balance.

When they tourded the train at Stam-

LeGrand Jackson was recognized FUDA MURDER TRIAL. ford, Fuda asked what would the neigh-sitting. The only explanation Loehner that she got up early in the morning some purpose and a lurc's of the boa and went away with some of my money." They agreed to this and when they got off the train at the depot one went home in one direction and the other took another route.

He also testified to the fact that Imapassino asked for a hatchet and when asked what he wanted it for said that he "needed it."

Mr. Spinello was called to the stand. The letters which Fuda had written to his cousin were read as translated by him. In one letter Fuda said that he had fallen into the mire by heeding the advice of Nicodemo. They were to act in unison, but Nicodemo had deserted him. He tries to throw all the blame upon him. He needs money and wants one hundred dollars. He will sell all he possesses in Italy, as he wishes none of his property to go into the hands of strangers. He prefers that it should go to the hands of relatives.

In the second letter, which was exhibit 16, Fuda stated that a woman had brought about his ruination and had led him to this road. He asked that his cousin should not send him anything as he cannot tell when he will get out of his present trouble.

Detective George Wilkes, of Pinkerton's National Detective Agency, was the next witness. He said that he had been employed by the Pinkerton's for the past five years and was sent to this state to work on the Fuda case by his superintendent. He went over the ground where the body was found and made several measurements and also noted his time. His first visit was made on March 19. He pointed out on the map the place where he visited and said that since that time several changes had been made. The bank was quite steep at that point. He walked from Bridge street down to the trolley track and judged that the distance was about half a mile. The notes he took down and the questions answered were noted by him and formed part of his report. He first saw Fuda at the jail March 19 and had four interviews with him. The statement made by Mr Donatell in regard to the interview with Fuda he agreed with, that is the question of the time of the murder.

Dr. Burke was recalled and was asked by State Attorney Fessenden in regard to what he called stab wounds upon the body of Mrs. Fuda. He said that he did not say that the wounds were not made by a knife. They were what are styled incised wounds and might have been made by a stone or some instrument. To Mr. Judson he said that he had probably meant that the wounds would have been made by a knife or some other instrument. The doctor corrected his statement as given Fr-i day to the manner in which the first blow was struck. He said that he believed that it was delivered from the

The court adjourned until this mornng while Dr. Burke was on the stand.

A SAD DROWNING.

A sad drowning accident occurred between Dorlon Point and Commodore "Fuda told me that Imapassino said to Burritt's about 8:30 o'clock Tuesday night.

Frank Britto, accompanied by John White of Danbury and Charles Loehner of Newark, N. J., started out yesterday morning on a fishing trip down the harbor.

When the boat approached Cockeno's a sudden gust of wind split the sail and the party waded a shore for repairs. While on the island a squall came up and they were drenched and gave up all idea of fishing.

When it was thought safe to start for home they got into the boat and sailed to Dorlon Point, where they remained for some time, White leaving them there and taking the trolley for South Norwalk.

Young Britto and Loehner started from Dorlon's about 8 o'clock, the latter tending the sheet and the former steering the boat with an oar. When the boat, which was a long, narrow skiff with centreboard, tacked across onto the flats, Loehner suddenly heard a splash and saw Britto in the water. Loehner called to him to keep up, but Britto came to the surface but once and then disappeared.

Loehner, who knows nothing whatever about a boat, called lustily for help and Charles Byxbee, who was eeling, came to his assistance and towed him in the boat to the Washington

The story of Britto's drowning was The two men met on the street, not soon told and a party went down the harbor in search of his body, but gave it up at midnight.

About five o'clock this morning George Byxbee saw the body on the mud flats and James Whitney, Robert McAllister, Robert Gates and John Britto, father of the boy, went to the spot and recovered it.

When found the body was on the flats near Burritt's creek. Coroner Burke was notified and after viewing the remains had them removed to D. W. Raymond's morgue.

Mr. Loehner told a GAZETTE reporter this morning that he could not explain how Britto got overboard. Loehner says he was sitting in the waist of the boat "tending sheet rope" while Britto was behind him steering with an oar. The boon did not hit him as it was too short to reach where he was bors say. Imapassino said, "Tell them can give is that Britto stood up for threw him overboard.

When found Britto had removed his coat from his shoulder and one arm, but the other arm was in the sleeve He was a good swimmer and why he did not strike out for the boat cannot be explained unless he was taken with a fit or cramp.

Mr. Loehner, who is a son-in-law of Charles B. Schuman of Orchard street, was very much affected by the fatal ending of the day's sport and could not give a very clear account of the accident.

Deceased was not quite twenty-two years of age and leaves a wife and two small children to mourn his loss.

Coroner Doten has been notified and an inquest will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

GEORGETOWN.

Memorial Day was observed Monday by a large concourse of people. James E. Moore Post of Danbury, which has a local membership of thirty, was present together with a band of twenty pieces and a drum corps.

The crowd was so large that the ser vices could not be held in the church and a large wagon was placed in a field, from which addresses were made by Rev. U. O. Mohr, Rev. G. Lansing Taylor and others. The principal address of the day was made by Rev. Father Shortell.

After the ceremonies the citizens of Georgetown furnished refreshments.

Upon the request of William Haff, who visited Robert Wherle, winner of the Burritt cup, in Bridgeport, the latter readily gave up the cup only stipulating that his name should be engraved upon it as the winner in '96. The handsome trophy is now in the hands of the Alpha club to be again contested for on the 17th.

Judge Ralph Wheeler has given a decision in the divorce case of Daisy Comstock of Stamford, against William M. Comstock of New Canaan, granting the petition. The case was tried March 31, and was contested, the co-respondent named being Mamie Comstock. Al- Brooklyn, spent Memorial Day at Mrs. though of the same name she is no rel- Lichenor's, on Henry street. ative of the defendant. Judge Wheeler finds the allegations in the complaint true and grants the plaintiff the custody of their minor child, Florence, aged three years. They were married Nov. 3, 1892.

-Live Merchants keep their names before the Public. An Advertisement in THE GAZETTE will be read.

EAST NORWALK.

Prof. William Harbottle, Fobert Hill and Albert Bradley started on a century run Sunday morning at 6 o'clock by way of Portchester, Tarry. town, New York and Brooklyn.

Hugh McClusker has left the Iron Works and accepted a position with B. McGovern at Lime Rock.

The Epworth League prayer meeting of the M. E. church which is usually held on Monday evening, will unite with the class meeting this evening at the parsonage. .

Arthur Waldron is building an addition to his barn on Cottage avenue.

Miss Gussie Rivers spent Sunday and yesterday at Long Ridge.

The Annual Memorial service at the East avenue M.E. church Sunday evening was of a very interesting order. The program consisted of several fine selections by the Appolo orchestra; singing by the regular quartette choir; recitations by Mrs. Harry Hipson, Mr. Jackson, the Misses Hattie Smith, Tessie Hendricks and Mabel Knapp. Words of Welcome by the pastor Rev. A. J. Smith, and an address by the members of the Douglass Fowler Post, the U. V. U.'s and Lincoln Council, O. U. A. M. The Auditorium of the church was well filled notwithstanding the rain which came down in torrents at the time for the service to commence.

Mrs. Alva Longstreet of Cottage avenue, who has been spending four weeks in Lewistown, Penn., returned to her home last evening,

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert V. Carr, who have been visiting in Northport, L. I., returned to their home on Cottage avenue, yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Smith, of Cottage avenue, entertained a party of friends yesterday. Among those present were: Rev. A. J. Smith and family, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Seymour, Mr. and Mrs. John Wheeler, Mrs. Charles Glover and Mrs. Esther Wheeler.

Mrs. Charles L. Ainsworth and Miss Clara Ainsworth are visiting friends and relatives in Brooklyn.

Rev. W. E. Schoonhoren, of the Knickerbocker Avenue M. E. church,

A local paper announced that the Wheeler Straw factory would be closed on Saturday last for the season. A mistake of several weeks as to date of closing. If orders keep coming in as at present icicles will be forming before the proprietor of the factory says "Whoa!"

UNY CHILDREN

Half the children die before the age of five years; the result in many cases of being left to "outgrow" a puny, emaciated, bloodless condition.

ANGIER'S PETROLEUM

feeds the starved tissues, restores plump and vigorous bodily conditions and helps the stomach and bowels to digest other food. Unlike Cod-Liver Oil it is perfectly agreeable to take. Invaluable in cases of scrofula, wasting diseases and impoverished blood.

Druggists, 50c. and $1.00. Pamphlet Mailed Free. ANGIER CHEMICAL CO., BOSTON, MASS.

The New York Weekly Tribune

FOR

TEVERY m mbr of EVERY family on EVERY farm, in EVERY villag, ir EVERY Stat or Trri: ory. OR Education,

FOR Nobl Manhood, R Tru Womanhood.

IT GIVES al important news of the Nation. IT GIVES all important news of the World.

IT GIVES the most reliable market reports. IT GIVES brit lant and instructive editorials.

IT GIVES fascinating short stories. IT GIVES an unexcelled agricultural department,

IT GIVES scle it the and mechanical information. IT CIVES it userated to shion articles,

IT GIVES humorous illustrations. IT GIVES entertainment to young and old. IT GIVES satisfaction everywhere to everyboy.

We furnish The Wekly Cazette and New York W kly Tribune both papers), ONE YEAR FOR ONLY $1.00, CASH IN.

ADDRESS ALL ORDERS TO THE GAZETTE, Norwalk, Conn, Write your name and address on a postal card, send it to Geo. W. Best, Room 2 Tribune Building, New York City, and a sample copy of THE NEW YORK WEEKLY TRIBUNE will be mailed to you,

WHEN I HAVE TIME.

When I have time so many things I'll do 'lo make life happier and more fair For those whose lives are crowded now with I'll help to lift them from their low despair, When I have time.

When I have time, the friend I love so well Shall know no more these weary, toiling days; I'll lead her feet in pleasant paths always.

And cheer her heart with words of sweetest praise,

When I have time.

When you have time! The friend you hold so May be beyond the reach of all your sweet intent; May never know that you so kindly meant To fill her life with sweet content, When You had time.

Now is the time! Ah, friend, no longer wait To scatter loving smiles and words of cheer To those around whose lives are now so dear. They may not meet you in the coming year— Now is the time.

-The Indianapolis News.

LOVE IN A MINOR KEY

The inhabitants of Harplestowe had ceased to discuss Hannah Fletcher's questionable position toward her lodger, and any interest attached to her unconventional attitude had quietly fizzled out along with her meagre claims to beauty. When the world had gone well with Hannah, and she had possessed the irritable devotion of an invalid mother and the undivided love of a selfish father, she had worn modestly the good looks which belong to a middle class young woman who enjoys excellent health and a wholesome temperament. Now the light in her abundant hair and her bright color had died for want of vital sustenance, and her rather prominent features had bleakened with the unresting struggle for existence. A stranger would not trouble to question if her unsympathetic manner was the result or the cause of an unsatisfied existence.

Hannah Fletcher had spent the best years of her youth subduing the passions and emotions which make a beautiful woman irresistible, but she had not studied her own ugliness and mastered it, as some women do. A plain woman's battle in life is defying her own ugliness.

Hannah's lodger was, it is true, an "elderly party," so the maid-of-allwork described him, "always messing about with them chemistry fizzicks; 'e's wonderful clever, but it don't bring in no money, and if it wasn't that Miss Hannah was a bit sweet on him sh'd 'ave cleared 'im out along with his rubbishing smell long ago." Hannah was a "bit sweet" on the "elderly party." When her mother and father had died, her lodger had not given a thought to the fact that, for the girl's reputation in the village, it would be advisable for him to feave his comfortable quarters. Hannah had grown necessary to him in his work, and he had learned to depend on her as a man of powerful intellect grows to depend on a practical woman with an intelligent brain, who is his daily and hourly companion. Habit is stronger in men than in women. Five or six years had passed since her parents' death, bringing little or no change into Hannah's life. She slaved and toiled and pinched for the "elderly party," who was too self-centred to guess at the true extent of her poverty. He was casual about his payments, and she would never remind him. To brighten up her room and a little pleasure into her day, he would now and then go out and bring her home an extravagantly beautiful bunch of flowers, or a pair of palais, and present them to her with a touching enthusiasm for his own generosity and thoughtfulness. Her practical mind would fly with a woman's quickness of thought to the four months' rent which was still unpaid; but only a feeling of tenderness for his eccentricities would come over her, and she hugged to her heart the thought that waiting for the over-due rent. He was poor, and his income would have barely covered the modest necessities of his simple life if he had devoted it to them, but "he spends all his money on them messes and inventing things as aren't no use to no one," as Arabella remarked when he overlooked her tip one Christmas day; "I ain't got no use for the like of his Clothes he never bought, and Hannah, with a beautiful regard for the feeling of the man she loved, stitched and mended and patched, and bit by bit replaced his worn and shabby wardrobe. She was careful never to put into his room any new garment she had made until the ruthless laundress had robbed it of its newness Then she would substitute it for one which was beyond even her clever needlecraft to mend, and the "elderly party" would put on a new snirt of wear the new socks without the signtest suspicion that the familiar parches and darns were missing. He acted as intellectual food and nourishment to her starved brain, and she became the practical part of his unevenly balanced character, which nature had left want she could help him in his work by

One day the peace of Hannah's lift was broken by the coming of a cousin an orphan like herself, who had written and asked Hannah to give her a home while she looked for work. Hannah wrote and welcomed her with bit ter misgivings at heart. She had to toil night and day to make money to pay for food enough for herself and her lodger.

Madeline came, and like a hot wind passing over a sensitive plant she with ered up Hannah's courage. She was young, and the beauty of her animal health was startling. She stood in Hannah's humble parlor in the noon day sunlight, straight as a young palm tree, and beautiful in symmetry a pulsing, tingling piece of fiesh and blood, colored like a pale pink peony.

Weeks passed into months, and Mad eline had planted herseif firmly in the house. Hannah could not turn her out, and she never suggested going, and never made any serious attempt to get work. Her orphan and penniless condition served her as a useful means of appealing to the sympathy of the "elderly party." As time went on, Hannah saw less and less of her lodger, her cousin appropriated as her charge his study and laboratory, and it was bitterness and gall to Hannah to see her administer to him all the little attentions which she had been wont to perform. Hannah, with her heart smarting at the bitter injustice of things, could not tell her that she was day by day robbing her of all that made life bearable.

And as, when a woman is particularly busy, a man generally thinks she is "fussing," and choosing to do something totally unnecessary, the "elderly party" came to look upon it as quite natural that Madaline should be his hourly companion, and that she should sit in an easy chair while Hannah, hot and weary in mind and body, should toil and strive for them both.

After Madaline had been with them three months Hannah's lodger came into a fortune. It was not a large one, but it would enable him to live in ease and comfort for the rest of his life. When Hannah heard the good news, what she dreaded most did not happen. He did not suggest moving into more luxurious lodgings; he seemed to consider himself a fixture in the wainscoted room with its cottage window and old oak floor; but he bought more pretty plants and fresh hothouse flowers, which Madaline now accepted with a blush and prettiness that sent his blood coursing through his veins.

One morning, when Hannah was ironing, with the table piled high in well bleached linen, the "elderly party" came into the kitchen with Madaline. He walked straight up to where Hannah stood, with her hot face bent over the steaming shirt, and drew Madaline forward. "Hannah, your cousin has promised to marry me. She is young and beautiful, and I am only a plain scholar, but I will do my best to make her a good husband."

As if it had been thrust through her body with the point of a bayonet, each word went to Hannah's heart. It ceased beating. Madaline, of course, knew why her cousin had so suddenly fainted, and the poor little bit of triumph made her heart beat quicker, but when she looked up at her lover his face was pale with fear. She saw a look of agony in his eyes as he turned them to her for help, which told her that she did not possess the heart of the scholar so completely as she thought, and the devil in her was roused.

"Oh, you need not be so alarmed; she has fainted through sheer jealousy."

For one moment he stood transfixed; all that he had been blind to for years was made plain to him pow, and in that moment he recognized the heartlessness of the wor an he had proposed to only ten minutes ago.

"Are you a woman to tell a woman's secret and make light of it?"

Madaline was frightened at the look of scorn and contempt in his eyes, which had always looked at her so gently. She stood at bay, and watched his trembling hands sprinkling Hannah's face with the cold water she had used for sprinkling the linen. It was marked shortly: kept in a small white bowl on the ironing table.

"I've not said anything that the been waiting to marry her lodger for the last ten years."

"Then, by God, I'll marry her now. pale cheeks, and rubbed the thin hands. "I've always loved her. Oh, my God, Oh, my God, what a selfish fool I have been!"

"You loved me but ten minutes ago. For a simple scholar you are wonderfully quick in love."

"Ten minutes ago I did not know that it was Hannah I loved as a man ought to love the woman he marries. Your beauty deceived me into believing that I loved you. I had not given thought to love until you came. I ask your forgiveness."

Tears, which were always ready, came into her blue eyes at the harsh words he had spoken, but she knew that they were true. She had no love for the grave and elderly scholar; he was to be her refuge from work, and she loved ease. She stood for a moment or two and watched returning consciousness quiver over Hannah's pale face, and then she turned to go. "After all, Hannah is growing old, and she has been good to me. I will not rob her of her elderly lover."

A lover was waiting for Madaline half a mile out of the village. He was a provision dealer, and Madaline would have preferred being the wife of a scholar.-The Queen.

The First English Duke. Of the five titles of nobility in England, the highest in rank and honor is that of Duke. It is the first title of dignity of the royal family, but not the highest in antiquity. There is no proof of its being used in England before it was introduced by Edward III., about a year before he himself assumed the title of King of France. Edward, the renowned Black Prince, was created Duke of Cornwall, and he was the first Duke in England after William the Conqueror. After this creation the title of Duke was fre quertly given, especially to members of the royal family .- Harper's Bound Table.

Cobwigger-Poor Waggs! He was a most genial soul.

Merritt-Yes, indeed he was. The only thing he ever took seriously was the cold that killed him.-New York Journal.

A DIPLOMATIC HASH.

Lady Whichels was thinking. A letter lay in her lap, and her correspondent was her son-not the baronet, but his brother Bertie- who had written to say that he meant to run down to see her the same afternoon.

She knew what he was coming for perfectly well, Rumors of his infatuation had already reached her. He was coming to tell her that he was engaged to marry Miss Daisy Dornton, who sang for a couple of weeks in the chorus of the Coronet theatre. Lady Whichels groaned, and her lips were pursed in annovance.

"Your brother is an idiot, Philip," she said sharply to a young man who entered the room a moment later. "He is the worst kind of an idiot-for he is not only idiotic, but he is pigheaded.'

Sir Philip Whichels twirled his moustache and grinned.

"Has the climax arrived?" he asked. 'What is the matter?"

"Bertie will be with us today. He wants to see me on 'a matter of importance.' The matter is, of course, that he has proposed to that creature and has been accepted, and now he is coming to try and win my consent."

"Well," said the baronet, "and shall you give it? They say she is a very ladylike girl, thoroughly respectable, lives with her mother, and that sort of thing. Her father, I think, kept a large drapery shop in Bermondsey. Bertie might easily have done worse, not being overburdened with brains."

"You need not joke," said the mother; "it is not a joking matter, Have you ever seen the girl?"

"I suppose I have seen her on the stage, but her name does not figure on the program, and I can't identify her, She is simply one of a crowd of damsels who troop on and off in a pose, I have never seen her outside the theatre, if that is what you mean,"

"That is what I did mean, So her father was a linen draper, and Bertie wishes to make her his wife, Really, this is horrible! It only remains for you to fall in love with a barmaid, Philip, to complete my happiness,"

"Oh, I?" said Phllip. "I'm not a marrying man, mother,"

"Advise me, Philip, how to bring this ninny to his senses."

"I'm sure I don't know what you can do," replied Sir Philip, "If you bully him he'll marry her tomorrow, If you cajole him, he'll try to bully you, I don't see what you can do, upon my soul. It is a cul-de-sac."

The lady, however, was not disposed to be beaten so easily. It was ten o'clock, and Bertie might be expected at the Firs by the express which reached Three-gates at four-fifteen, She had six hours for meditation, in which time an idea might occur to her, The post lay on the table beside her, unheeded, as she sat glaring at the lawn with puckered brows. The barenet lounged out to see his dogs. Prosently my lady uttered an exciamation, and sent a servant to fotch him,

"Philip," she said, "I have a notion at last. Miss Dornton is, of course, Impossible. There can be no question about that. It is only necessary to make Bertie see it,"

Philip had been amusing himself outside, and did not relish having been brought in so summarily, so he re-

"To make Bertle see it is the original difficulty, is it not?"

"I know that!" impatiently; "but I whole vilage does not know, Arabella know also how to do it now, She is, of included, that Hannah Fletcher has course, awkward and ignorant as she can be. He has seen her with the glamour of the footlights on her, and in the poky lodgings where she lives. I love her, I tell you." He chafed the Now we shall see her here. I shall invite her down to stay with us, and ask a lot of people to meet her. Bertie is not brilliant, but he is as sensitive as a girl. When Miss Dornton has committed half a dozen solecisms, and he feels that people are ridiculing her, he will be as anxious to break this engagement as I am."

> "By Jove!" said Sir Philip, "You ought to have been a diplomatist, mother."

> "It is good, isn't it?" said Lady Whichels, complacently. "I felt that there must be a way out, and now I've found it. I think your brother will be rather istonished by my reception of his news this afternoon.

So, the vexed question being settled, mother and son went to luncheon.

Bertie arrived at the hour expected. He certainly was astonished at his mother's demeanor. He had looked for remonstrances, threats and tears, and been doggedly prepared for all. Instead of these he was met with smiles and cordiality. He could not understand it.

"I had heard something of the matter," said the mother, "Well, it is a democratic age, and if you are satisfied nobody has a right to complain, Her father was a linen draper, I hear, and her mother is quite a respectable person, who lives in, or lets, lodgings,'

"Er-they live in apartments, yes," said Bertie. "But-er-she is charming. I am sure you can trust my taste."

"Emphatically I can, and I am not going to be so absurd as to raise may objections, my dear boy. You want to marry Miss Dornton-marry her, You have my full and free consent, and I should like to be introduced to her. When am I to see her?"

"I-I really don't know," stammered the boy; "whenever you like." The question was so entirely uncx-pected that he was almost speechless. "Well, the best way would be to ask her down here for two or three weeks. Can she come, do you think?"

"It could be arranged-oh, yes, She s at the theatre every night, but I want her to leave the stage, and-oh, yes, she could come as soon as you

"Then I will write and ask her for the first of next month," said my lady, conclusively. "And now you must tell me all about it-how nice she is, how pretty, and nobody ever loved a girl so madly betfore in all the world."

Lady Whichels dispatched her charming letter to her prospective daughter-in-law on the morrow, and on the day after came the answer, thanking Bertie's mother for her kindness, and gladly accepting the invitation.

The company, sipping tea and nibbling cakes, struggled to hide their curiosity and impatience. Then there was the sound of an arrival, and the guests fixed their eager eyes on the door. As it opened Miss Dorpton came in and advanced to be presented to the hostess.

Lady Whichels started, and the baronet's eyebrows went up. Nothing could have been in better taste than the manner of the girl who crossed the big room under an ordeal which might have shaken the composure of a society belle of half a dozen seasons. Her costume was perfect, and her words were all that the most fastidious could have desired. She was not pretty, but beautiful, the most beautiful girl present. The fact could not be disguised; if Miss Dornton's first appearance was to be taken as typical of her, Lady Whichel's plot had failed. That night. when she sat in her dressing room before the fire talking to her favorite son, the mother came nearer crying than she had done for years.

"She isn't vulgar at all, Philip," she moaned disconsolately; "she is prepossessing and really good style. Where does she get it from-the daughter of a linen draper? It is awful! They imitate our clothes, these people, and our very phrases; and now they even manage to acquire our style. Nothing is left us-nothing!"

"She is a very charming girl," said the baronet; "that is the truth. What on earth she saw in Bertie beats me!" For ten days Bertie had been feeling less sure of himself than he had done Opposition was the breath of life to him, and, with the course of true love running perfectly smooth, he began to ask himself whether it were true love, after all.

In the meantime the baronet's first impression of his brother's flancée had been more than confirmed, and, fickle on the young lady's part as it may look, she appeared to find more pleasure in Philip's society than in Bertle's.

Well, one night when the brothers were alone together in the smoking room, the younger man unbosomed himself. He told the baronet that his engagement had been a mistake, and he wished to goodness that he had never blundered into it. Sir Fhilip, who had been mixing himself a whiskey and soda, dropped the glass, which shivered into fifty pieces in the Abbotsford stove. As a man not given to dropping things, the accident was noteworthy, and suggested that his nerves were not properly under control.

"You have treated the girl damned badly!" he said, sharply. "You think that I ought to marry her?" "I think that you oughtn't to have asked her if you weren't sure of yourself. What are you going to do?" "I am going to jilt her," said Bertie, sulkily. "That's what I am going to do-and I don't fancy it will break her heart, either. I don't believe she likes me as much as she did, Philip." "A good thing for her, if she doesn't!" opined the other. It was on the morning of the next day but one that Sir Philip, who had spent the previous afternoon in London, disturbed his mother's repose in the fashion alluded to. He told her that he was going to be married. Lady Whichels wrapped in a dressing gown, listened to him with ashen cheeks. "To Miss Dornton, mother. Bertie has jilted her, and I proposed yesterday. I don't suppose you'll be pieased, but she is the nicest girl I ever met in my life, and I mean to make her 'Lady Whichels.' "

"Bertie has jilted her!" gasped the widow. "And you-you-"

"Yes, even I! Last month I scoffed; today I fall. Perhaps it is a judgment on me. Perhaps it is a judgment on you for plotting her downfall as you did. I certainly should not have had the opportunity of falling in love with her if you hadn't. Anyhow, I worship the ground she walks on, and we are engaged."

And, what is more, he married hera fact from which an interesting moral may be drawn by ladies who fancy they have abilities for diplomacy. The deposed dowager never forgave him nor herself, and when she reflects that it was all entirely due to her own brilliant interference, she feels there are certain emotions which language is wholly inadequate to convey.

Noteworthy Advice.

"Pay as you go, William," said the grocery man to his assistant. "It's a good motto." "Yes, sir."

"And, by-the-way, you needn't bother so much about Mr. Jaykins. He always pays cash, and when he takes anything he knows he can't get his money back. But be very e reful about Mr. Faykins. See that he gets the best of everything. He owen as $27."-Washington Star.

Plants Near the Sec.

Plants that grow near the sea have thicker leaves than those growing inland. Apparently the sea gult is the cause of this phenomenon, as plants cultivated in artificially-salted s.i. yield thicker leaves ...

An Appreciative Ms den. "Belinda, how do you treat a stupid man who admires you?'

"Really, I don't know: when a man idmires me I never do myreif the injustice to consider him st. pid. - ('hiago Record.

DAINTY LINGERIE.

Silk Underwear Fashionable Again After a Period of Eclipse.

(By Special Arrangement with the N.Y. Sun. Women's undergarments are ex quisitely dainty and beautiful this spring: Beruffled and befrille i lin gerie has held its own against vigor ous attacks made by dress reformers. health culturists, and short-skirted sisterhoods, to say nothing of the organized efforts of new women to oust it.

'The finest articles of underwear are made of silk, nainsook, and linen lawn. It makes a woman glad she is a woman just to look at them, whether she can afford to indulge herself in a single piece or not. For a time silk lingerie fell somewhat into disrepute, but is now possibly more fashionable than any other. Word comes from Paris that the latest fad there is for undergarments of flaming red silk in all the new shades, varying from the soft reds to the brightest scarlets, but these Mephistophelean freaks have not yet reached this shore. It is said, however, that they will be landed later on. Pale pink, pale blue, purple, and yellow China silk sets, both figured and plain, are displayed in some of the most exclusive shops and are being much worn. They consist of the four regulation pieces and two underskirts, one being very short.

Dimity underwear, in white, pink, light and dark blue and lilac, is being worn. It is much betrimmed with lace and the colors are fast. It saves lining thin dresses and freshens them up after being laundered. These sets are far cheaper than those made of silk and are almost as effective.

The night dross with the square yoke shown in the illustration is also made of French nainsook. The trimming is of fine beading and Maltese lace, and it is as practical and comfortable as it is pretty.

That little garment, the corset cover, plays an important part in the success or failure of the summer girl's wardrobe, for upon it depends the fit of her sheer dimities, gauzy organdies, and dainty Swisses and batistes. All of the newest models are gathered into a belt at the waist and can be let out or drawn in at will. Most of them are laid in plaits or finely tucked behind but they are marvels of elaborateness in front. Some are V shaped, some round, others square, and others droop from the shoulders in the quaintest old-fashioned way.

While tea jackets do not properly they are close kin. The newest models are made of handsome brocaded silks, yellow being in the lead when it comes to color. They are cut with a straight box back and a loose front, and are trimmed with handsome lace or plaited chiffon and lined with thin soft silk. Jackets of a silk and wool mixture or fine French flannel are trimmed with frillings of wash net edged with wash ribbon.

THE TEXAS RANGERS.

A PECULIAR ORGANIZATION OF THE LONE STAR STATE.

Prowess of the Frontier's Men-Desparate Experiences With the Outlaws-A Grewsome Tale of the Killing of One by a Ranger.

The Texas rangers form a military organization peculiar to the Lone Star State. Never was there a more appropriate name for the fighting portion of a frontier people. From the beginning it has been their business to range over the frontier and hunt thieves and outlaws, and fight bands of hostile Indians.

At this time there are only a few companies of rangers in the field. Doubtless Capt. Brooks' company, with headquarters at Cotulla, is not only the most conspicuous organization in the service, but one from which the most is expected. This company is engaged in protecting and guarding the Rio Grande border.

A ranger carries a Winchester in a scabbard attached to his saddle under his left leg. With a revolver at his belt, the inevitable lariat at the horn of his saddle, a blanket and a little wallet containing a morsel of food, the ranger is accoutered for galloping over a hundred or more miles of the Rio Grande plains without ever dismounting. This company lives in camp and their presence on the border is accounted for by the fact that the country for a considerable distance on both sides of the Rio Grande is the hiding place for desperadoes, outlaws and cattle thieves.

A stout ranger tells a story of a recent battle with a desperate outlaw that presents features of such a startling and horrible character that the bare recital of the cold facts taxes the credulity of one not familiar with scenes upon a field of carnage. This ranger suddenly rode within earshot of the man he wanted, and he called to him to surrender. The outlaw replied with a rifle shot, accompanying the echo of the firearm with a laugh and the words, "The guard dies; it never surrenders." "Ah, you have been reading Victor Hugo while hiding in the brush," muttered the ranger to himself. The ranger opened fire with his Winchester, but his horse was almost flying over the rough ground, and he failed to put a bullet either in the body of the thief or his horse. He drew his revolver, but to his chagrin there was something wrong with the mechanism of the weapon, and it failed to fire. A dozen bullets whistled about the ranger's head, but fortunately not one struck him. It soon became evident to both parties that each one had emptied his weapons. The ranger, by the merest accident, had at his belt an old Mexicon sword. It was a long, straight blade, as sharp as a razor and resembling a monster Bowie knife more than anything else.

A TEXAS RANGER AND HIS COMPANION.

He was almost at the heels of the outlaw's horse, and happening to think of the old sword, he drew it from the scabbard and, swinging it over his head, once more he called to the outlaw to surrender, but the desperate man replied by driving the steel into the flanks of his horse. The bright blade flashed through the air, and stuck the outlaw on the back of the neck. It was a master stroke, the result of which astonished the ranger. The head of the outlaw spun through the air and fell into a bunch of cactus. That of itself was sufficiently horrible, but there was something still more amazing and blood-curdling in front of the ranger. The headless trunk of the outlaw did not fall from the flying horse. The blood was spurting high into the air from the arteries of the neck, but the body sat in the saddle with arms and legs clinging to the animal and looking as rigid as if they were made of iron. A dozen or more ranchers who were riding the range had heard the firing, and they were riding in a gallop to the ranger's assistance from an opposite direction. As they rode over a low ridge the first thing they saw was the headless outlaw, not twenty steps away, and coming towards them as if the horse's feet were hardly touching the earth. Not one lacked courage. They had proved that in a dozen battles, but they had already began to retreat into the brush, too much terrified to open their mouths, when the headless body of the outlaw dropped from the saddle and struck the sand like a log of wood. The body had clung to the saddle for 200 yards. The ranchers corroborate the story of the ranger, and they say that the arms and legs of the dead man were like pieces of iron. The limbs were so firm and rigid that it would have been impossible to have bent them in any direction without breaking them.

The Texas rangers are brave men. It is doubtful whether there is another military organization on earth that endures so many hardships and faces so many dangers. Ola soldiers familiar with campaigning say they would rather serve in the ranks of any army in Europe during actual war than to be a Texas ranger. Watchful and rave enough while riding through the netus, the moment that they get out en the plains where they can look about them they are ready to tell a story or sing a song .- St. Louis Globe Democrat.

DON'T CROWD.

Don't crowd! this world is large enough For you as well as me; The doors of art are open wide, The realm of thought is free Provided that you do not try

To crowd some other man Don't crowd, proud miss! your dainty silk Will glisten none the less Because it comes in contact with

A beggar's tattered dress; This lovely world was never made For you and me alone; A pauper has a right to tread The pathway to a throne.

Don't crowd the good from out your heart By fostering all that's bad, But give to every virtue room-The best that may be had; Be each day's record such a one

That you may well be proud; Give each his right, give each his room, And never try to crowd, -Alice Cary.

AFTER MANY YEARS.

"I have brought your tea." It was the voice of the dragoon that roused me from my siesta, as he stood by my deck chair, tea-cup in hand, as wholesome a specimen of young England (five feet eleven in flannels) as you would meet any day between Port Said and the Gulf of Aden. His face showed that he was brimming over with a matter of weighty importance, so I gathered my self together and prepared to listen and advise thereon, for, being an old stager, I was used to the confidence of subalterns.

"Fact is, I've been hard hit," began the dragoon, sitting down on the deck. "Miss Stanton?" I inquired, sympathetically, for that young woman on her way to marry a planter, had worked havoc among the unappropriated masculine hearts.

"Miss Stanton! No. I mean the woman who sits next you at table, the one with the beautiful eyes." "My cabin companion, Mrs. Trinder!

She is probably going out to join her husband," I added warningly.

"Oh, no. She's a widow. Hunt of the Fourth told me all about it; he has an uncle who has a place close to old Trinder's, and he, Hunt, I mean, knew them well by sight. Old Trinder was old enough to be her father. He made a pile in cotton or something of the sort, and died last year."

"Well, you know more about her than I do. Though she is my cabin companion, I have not found her particularly sociable-"

"That is just it, one does not get any 'forarder' with her; she won't talk to anybody." "Well, I don't see how I can make her-" "But if you were to ask her to tea or something of the sort-"

"And ask you to meet her, of course. I don't mind; so be here at four tomorrow," and I proceeded to scribble a note to Hunt of the Fouth, in consideration of his uncle having known old Trinder.

Somehow, that tea was not a success, although the cook surpassed himself in tea-cakes, and that subtle flavor of stewed cockroaches that pervades the ship tea was reduced to a minimum.

Hunt contributed many anecdotes of his uncle (who knew old Trinder), but Mrs. Trinder would not be drawn into conversation.

The sound of the dressing-bell broke up the party, leaving the dragoon baffled in his object, but more in love who take the complaint seldom, but badly; and Mrs. Trinder, with her slim figure, big eyes, sweet smile and monosyllables, was in his eyes the perfection of womanhood.

"You'll come ashore?" said the dragoon, four hours later, as we steamed slowly into harbor at Aden.

I consented, for a coaling ship is not a delectable place; but, in spite of allpervading dust, Mrs. Trinder could not be persuaded to accompany us, and we left her surrounded by a swarm of native merchants, who, with unerring instinct, marked her as an easy prey.

The journey to the empty tanks was as jolly and dusty as ever. Having inspected the few trees, we commenced our descent, and in so doing came across the Worst-tempered Man. In the course of an eventful life it has been my misfortune to foregather this one could give points to any two other men of my acquaintance.

He was an ill-favored, unwholesome looking individual, with puffy cheeks and watery eyes, betokening a too great affinity for the insinuating peg. His carriage had come to grief on the road, and he was standing among the debris apostrophizing. From one or two expressions borne after us on the breeze, we learned with sorrow that he was to be a fellow passenger to

"On our return to the ship a couple of hours later, I found Mrs. Trinder sitting in her cabin among her purchases, wearing a very frightened expression; she was a timid little thing, and about as fit to knock about the world alone as an untiedged canary, having evidently been kept in a bandbox all her life.

"They've put a madman next door,' she began in a low voice. "He's dreadfully violent. Listen."

A string of Hindustani invectives. mingled with blows falling on some dull substance, and exclamations of "Sahib! Sahib!" reached our ears riage fees."-Ashland, Ky., News. through the open grating that headed the partition walls of the two cabins, and I recognized the accents of the Worst-tempered Man. "It's only temper," I said, reassuringly; "you will get used to that sort of thing. He's beating his servant, and you may be sure the 'boy' is well paid, or he wouldn't stand it. If the man swears too loudly, I'll speak to the captain."

"Beating his servant! How dreadful. Let us go up on deck."

Outside we came upon the whiterobed "boy" rubbing his shoulders, with a smile of satisfaction upon his face. "Sticks?" I inquired, sympathetically.

The "boy" grinned. "Sahib make plenty bobbery," he replied.

That night, leaning over the prow of the vessel, watching the glimmering, fantastic lights in the phosphorescent waters, Mrs. Trinder waxed confidential, and I learned the reason of her journey.

She was unused to traveling, having never been fifty miles away from home before. Ten years ago she had loved and been beloved; but the loved one was ineligible, and her parents, fully alive to the advantage of wool, had persuaded her to marry old Trinder; but now that she was on her way to India to seek out her early love. They had always been faithful, though they had not corresponded (that would have been wrong) but she had frequent news of him from a mutual friend. That he still cared for her seemed certain, for he had never married, although he had attained a good pesition.

There was something touching in her simplicity, and I felt a greater interest than hitherto in the little woman, and a degree of respect for her childlike fidelity.

"You have written to say you are coming?" I inquired.

"Oh, no! I could not do that; it would seem like asking him to marry me. But I know he is in Bombay; I shall see him, and then-" She broke off with a happy smile; then, after a pause, continued: "You must have thought me stupid and unsociable; but every moment of the day I am thinking of our meeting and looking forward to it. If the days would only pass quicker. They are so terribly

Later in the evening I reported our conversation to the dragoon, and he took it distinctly bad, for the little woman exercised a strange fascination ever him.

The Worst-tempered Man was a source of much annoyance to the passengers generally, and especially to my cabin passenger, who fled from his presence. His language, too, was not always confined to Hindustani, and although one could not help admiring the breadth of his vocabulary, I felt it my bounden duty to report him to the captain, who moved him to the port side of the ship, which caused further deterioration in his temper.

One morning we were awakened with the glad tidings that Bembay was in sight. It took Mrs. Trinder little time to dress and collect her impedimenta; before I was up she was on the deck, where I joined her later. The passengers' luggage was being drawn up from the hold, and near the saloon companion way sat the Worsttempered Man's servant upon two portmantaux, bruised but cheerful, counting rupees into a small canvas bag. There were a goodly number, the price of many beatings.

"So we are really there at last," began Mrs. Trinder. Then she suddenly stopped and stared at something in front of her. Following the direction of her eyes, I encountered a portmanteau, and read the inscription in white letters, "Fenthan B. Davenant." Then I understood.

At that instant the Worst-tempered Man appeared. Trinder, and for the first time their eyes met; a dawn of recognition broke over him.

"Is it possible?" he began. Mrs. Trinder bowed.

"You have a time-table," I interrupted, quickly; "kindly tell me what time the evening train starts for Poonah."

Before he had answered my question Mrs. Trinder was half way down the companion, and when I went into the cabin a few minutes later she was sitting ferlorn on her cabin box, the picture of disappointed hopes.

The blow had been a hard one. "Everything seems to have come to an end," she said mournfully. "I dont know what to do or where to go." "But I do. You will come with me to Poonah, and stay there until you have decided on your future.'

Then I returned to the deck, where with many bad-tempered mortals, but I I found the dragoon standing by his guncase, his face gloomy and clouded. "My leave isn't up for a week yet," he remarked, "so I'm going up country for a big shoot."

"You won't do anything of the sort. Mrs. Trinder is coming to stay with me."

"And her friend too?" I pointed to the deckhouse, where stood the Worst-tempered Man, pegglass in hand and profanity on his lips.

"That is he," I said. The clouds cleared from the dragoon's face instantaneously. "Mashallah!" he exclaimed.

Financial Heresy in Kentucky. A newly ordained minister of Carter County, who was recently called upon to marry a certain couple, after managing to wobble through with most of the ceremony, wound up as follows: "I charge you in the name of the laws of the State of Kentucky, and the laws are laid down by Moses and G. Washington, $5 for this ceremony. I am a free-silver man, but I'll be durned if I will take any more coonskins on mar-

Educational Problem.

"Some men," said Uncle Eben, "kin trin er dog ter do anyt'ing dey tells 'im an' at de same time raise de mos' disobejintest chillun in de neighborhood." -Washington Star.

Irishman's definition of the grip. "It's a disease that keeps you sick a long time after you are well."

THE FAMINE IN INDIA.

A FEW GRAPHIC INSTANCES OF THE SUFFERINGS ENCOUNTERED.

Great Britain's Responsibility. What has Become of the $20,000,000 Set Aside in 1877 for such Distress as is now Experienced by the Mchammedans.

Fifty million human beings starving to death-one-tenth that number already beyond all suffering-that is the frightful story to be recorded in telling of the present famine in India.

It is a black spet in British history, and naturally the British papers, with their misplaced patriotism, are anxious to conceal the true state of affairs.

To more fully understand how it is possible for one of the wealthiest countries in the world to be thus periodically afflicted it should be remembered that almost the entire wealth is in the hands of the few-a few thousand peraaps-and that the great mass of nearly three hundred million beings live in abject poverty.

Then, too, nearly every Hindoo is a vegetarian, and would rather die than touch meat.

After the famine of 1877 the Government set aside twenty million pounds sterling to be used in case of another famine. Crops proved good for nearly twenty years, and then came the scarcity of last year. Of course, the Viceroy at once inquired for the fund in question and learned that it had been diverted into other channels. Report had it that the money was used to repair roads and to fortify certain mountain passes, but the term diversion in this case covered a multitude of sins. The fact of the matter was that the money had disappeared with the exception of about $1,000,060, which was not even a drop in the bucket.

The truth of this accusation is attested by the missionaries distributing recent famine funds.

They all say the money has been diverted from its original purpose, and some assert that much of it was stolen by an English political ring.

The great Famine Fund was raised by taxing the natives, and handled solely by Englishmen, thousands of whom are now living in luxury in London, while their victims starve on the plains of India.

To show the extent of the famine, a Methodist missionary, stationed at Jabalpur, can be quoted as saying that in that district alone 28,000 died from starvation in four months. At Poona, one of the plague centres of India, the state of affairs beggars description. The unfortunates simply drop wherever they may be, and, being fatalists, they simply remain passive until death overtakes them.

In one instance, a group of father, mother and two children was being photographed. When the photographer sought to alter their poses he found that the entire family had passed into the next world. The blood of the starving wretches becomes so thin that the brain ceases to act, and they sit in a dull stupor, caring for nothing and practically oblivious to everything.

One of the missionaries reports a trip he took through the central provinces. According to him, the natives are so emaciated as to scarcely resemble human beings. They fight like tigers over a grain of rice, and in many cases commit suicide through means of poisonous herbs obtained in the jungle.

The description of one of these stricken beings is awful. The head is out of all proportion, the legs and arms are like sticks, the skin looks like shrivelled up parchment and is covered with bleeding festering sores.

In many cases the women try to sell their children to the Europeans in hope of saving the lives of the babes. When the parents find that children are not saleable merchandise they return to their villages in the vain hope that aid will come. First they live on one meal a day, then on one meal in two days. and finally they starve.

One very interesting phase of the famine is that the natives consider it a visitation of their gods, and refuse to help themselves, declaring that fate meant them to starve. So strong is this inrooted feeling of fatalism that a Hindoo wil not get out of the way of an approaching carriage.

"If the gods will that I be run over, it will be so," he says, and he will not budge an inch. Entreaties, and even beatings, will have no effect, and the carriage will have to turn aside.

The constitution of the Hindoo is illfitted by nature to withstand such a visitation as a famine. Insult a Hindoo and he will squat himself in a corner and determine to die. And before a week has passed he will have pined away. His blood is naturally thin, and in no condition to long withstand the ravages of hunger. The cases of the wives of the better class natives is very sad. These are the people of whose sufferings one hears least. Mohammedan women are never seen, of course. They live for no eyes but their husbands'. In many and many an empty house in India to-day these poor women are proudly but surely passing from health to entaciation, and from emaciation to death. The great question of caste that divides the people of India into numerous social strata and which is enexricably mixed with religious, commercial and political prejudices obtrudes itself even in the face of death .- New York Journal.

"That was a mean thing for Roundr to do."

"What was it?"

"When his former wife married he sent the groom a copy of 'The Taming of the Shrew."-Philadelphia

LEOPOLD ON A LARK.

The King of the Belgians Off on a Mysterious Jaunt.

London, May 31.-There is a good deal of mystery about the recent movements of the king of the Belgians. This state of things cannot be regarded as unusual, for Leopold II has long been the most unconventional of monarchs. In the middle of last week the official court chronicler in Brussels gave to the press the customary paragraphs that the king breakfasted so and so, dined at such an hour, went to walk in the park, etc., while all the time his majesty was strolling about London seeing the jubilee preparations and enjoying himself generally in a quiet sort of way. Some say that he perpetrated a little joke by proceeding to Sheffield last week when Queen Victoria paid a visit to that city, and the old lady was scared to see her royal kinsman on foot in the front line of the big crowd of enthusiastic Yorkshiremen.

Whether the story is true or not, it is certain that King Leopold might have seen the queen at any moment before her departure for Scotland on Friday evening and did not take advantage of the opportunity. But on Sunday last he suddenly started off after her majesty and traveled to Balmoral as an ordinary passenger.

After seeing the queen the king made tracks for Glasgow, where his yacht was opportunely anchored, and aboard that vessel he sailed on Wednesday morning for parts unknown. If the list of people aboard the yacht could have been obtained, light might have been thrown upon the mystery, but the vessel was jealously guarded while in port, and the king selected the witching hour of midnight for joining her. The natural impulse of those unacquainted with King Leopold's ways would be to connect such a journey as that to Balmoral with affairs of state. But those who know the man would scout such an explanation. Five years ago, during a similar mysterious jaunt, an enterprising Belgian journalist had the king watched for 24 hours in Lon-The result was poor reading indeed, for the king rose at 11 o'clock in the morning, lunched at a cafe in Regent street, walked in the park most of the afternoon, dined at the same cafe, visited a fashionable music hall, returned to his hotel at 11 p. m and presumably went to bed.

THE EMERGENCY RATION.

A Test That Fully Proves Its Efficiency

In Military Movements. Fort Sill, I. T., May 31.-Troop E, First cavalry, has just returned from a ten days' march on five days' emergency rations. The trip was made as a The troop was commanded by test. Captain W. S. Brown, and he was followed by Lieutenant W. H. Osborne, one day behind, with a relief detachment in case of trouble. The troop was accompanied by Colonel Charles Smart, surgeon, detailed from Washington to make a report upon the The troop as it came into the post looked well and hearty for the usual wear and tear of field service. The horses suffered some, as they were deprived of grain. Captain Brown expressed himself as well pleased with the results, and except for some minor changes in equipments suggests no improvements upon the ration as adopted. Colonel Smart says it is now fully demonstrated that a body of men can march ten days on the prepared half rations and be as well equipped physically at the end of the trip to meet the enemy as when they started. The men lost about four pounds each, none of them were sick, and Colonel Smart says the results of the trip are satis factory in every respect, fully establishing the emergency ration as a permanent and tried institution in every equipment.

Township Records Missing.

Atlantic Highlands, N. J., May 31 .-The books and records of Middletown township, Monmouth county, have disappeared. The officials are about to begin an investigation into the affairs of the town, and it was while preparing for the work that the books were missing. The news led to the report that there was a shortage in the accounts of some of the township officials, and that books had been stolen to hide the matter. This is denied, but no one can account for the disappearance of the Nellie Bly's Latest.

Chicago, May 31.-Nellie Bly, who achieved notoriety a few years ago by a lightning chase around the world and later married an aged millionaire, Robert Seaman, now wants to be detective. With that end in view, she now is in this city. She believes Chief Kipley is in need of a woman of her attainments to do fine police work, but as yet she has not succeeded in convincing the head of the police department.

Knights of Pythias Lose.

Lansing, Mich., May 31.—The Improved Order Knights of Pythias has won a victory in its controversy with the supreme lodge, Knights of Pythias. The latter sought to enjoin the former from using the ritual and jewels of the Order of Knights of Pythias and from using the name Improved Order Knights of Pythias. The supreme court sustains the circuit court in Detroit in dismissing the bill for an injunction.

Delaware's Legislature.

Dover, Del., May 31.-The Delaware legislature has adjourned until Jan. 11, 1898, when it will again meet to enact the legislation necessary to enforce the new constitution soon to be promulgated by the constitutional convention.

Philadelphia Gets Dowd.

Philadelphia, May 31.—A baseball trade by which the Philadelphia club secures the services of Dowd of the St. Louis club in exchange for Hallman, Grady and Harley has been consum-

An Adirondack Bank. Washington, May 31.-The comptroller of the currency has given authority for the organization of the Adirondack National bank of Saranac Lake, N. Y., to begin business; capital, $50,000.

Died For a Jilt.

Syracuse, May 31.-George A. Beggs. a drug clerk, received a letter from his sweetheart yesterday breaking off the engagement, and he immediately tock cyanide of potash and died.

MARK TWAIN'S CONDITION.

London Friends Deny Stories of His III Health and Poverty.

London, June 2.- The friends of Samuel L. Clemens, Mark Twain, deny the stories in circulation regarding his ill health and impoverished condition. The humorist is in better health and spirits than for years past. The report of last autumn that Mr. Clemens was living in quiet lodgings and working day and night at his book in order to pay his creditors and provide for his family was perfectly true. He had then reached London, after the death of his daughter, in a terribly depressed condition and in bad health, but he seems to have thriven on hard work. For several months he and his family have been living in a prettily furnished house situated on a charming square at Chelsea. His book is now finished, and the publisher is on his way here from the United States to take back the manuscript. Mr. Clemens and his family will leave London at the end of this month to pass the summer in Austria. On last Thursday Mr. Clemens dined with a few men friends, including Mr. Nelson, the editor of Harper's Weekly. Mr. Clemens' hair is almost white, but his face has a good color, his eyes are bright, and his figure is upright and alert. He talked most entertainingly all the evening about his travels, his books and his experiences in London. After he had left. Mr. Nelson, who is an old friend, said: "I have never seen him in better form. He looks far better than when I saw him in New York a few years ago."

Tillman on the Dispensary Law.

Washington, June 2.-When Senator Tillman was asked for an expression concerning the decision of Judge Simonton in the South Carolina dispensary case, he said that the state undoubtedly would appeal the case to the supreme court of the United States. He said the decision practically annulled the Wilson act of 1890, and that if it should be sustained by the supreme court nothing would be left but to get congress to pass another law that could be made binding. This, Senator Tillman says, he will use his best efforts to accom-"We don't surrender the principle," he said, "and I shall take some step here to maintain it."

Twenty Christian Insurgents Killed. Khania. Crete. June 2.-Fighting occurred here between a band of bashi bazouks and a force of Christian insurgents. Twenty Christians were killed, but the loss of the Moslems is not known. Further conflicts are feared, owing to the inactivity of the British troops, which have been relied upon to keep order.

Strike In Havana.

Havana, June 2.-The street car and stage drivers and stable hands of this city have gone out on strike owing to the failure of the companies to comply with their promises to increase the wages of their employees, as a result of the fall in the value of bank bills.

Five Children Murdered. Welsh, W. Va., June 2.-Five chil dren were burned to death in the residence of J. H. White, two miles from Enemies of the family are believed to have fired the house. Bloodhounds will be used to trace the mur Murderer Escapes on a Wheel.

Springfield, O., June 2.-James Young and Dan Smith quarreled at Cedarville, ten miles south of here. Young killed Smith by shooting him through the heart and then made his escape on a bicycle.

Refuses a Decoration.

Athens, June 2.-It is reported that Ricciotti Garibaldi, son of the Italian liberator, has refused to receive the Order of the Redeemer offered to him by the king of Greece in recognition of Agricultural Works Burned.

Cummingsville, N. Y., June 2.-The George Sweet Agricultural works burned to the ground.

The Colton Murder.

St. Louis, May 31.—Two women, one of whom is supposed to be the wife of Michael J. Colton, the young Irishman who was murdered in his home at Bloomington, Ills., recently, were arrested here just as they were about to step from the gangplank of a steamer. It is said they are charged with complicity in the crime.

Shot In Court.

Salt Lake City, May 31.—Richard Harvey was convicted of burglary and sentenced to prison for three years. While being handcuffed in the courtroom he made a break for liberty, knocked down several bailiffs and was finally shot and dangerously wounded by Deputy Sheriff Burt.

A Canadian Innovation. Ottawa, May 31.-The Dominion government has decided to do away with controllers in the Dominion government. The controllers of inland revenue and customs will be made full fledged ministers and have position in the cabinet.

Presidential Postoffices.

Washington, May 31.—The following postoffices will be raised to the presidential class on July 1: Edgartown, Mass.: Roslyn and Chautauqua, N. Y .; Helmetta, N. J.; Coraopolis and Rosemont, Pa., and Delaware City, Del.

Child's Death From Creosote.

Seneca Falls, N. Y., May 31.-The infant daughter of John Cunningham has been ill for some time and has been given medicine regularly. Last night a dose of creosote was given to the child by mistake, and it killed her.

Green and Needham Matched.

San Francisco, May 31.—George Green (Young Corbett) of this city has signed articles of agreement for a fight with Danny Needham to take place before Brady's new eastern club some time in A Wheelman Killed.

Philadelphia, May 31.-Frank Logan, aged 46, who started for an outing on his bicycle, was struck by a heavy wagon and thown under its wheels and The Louisville Postmastership. Washington, May 31.—The president pos master at Louisville.

A VALUABLE FIND.

Early Christian Documents Uncarthed In Egypt by Grenfell and Hunt.

London, May 31.-A great find of ancient papyri in Egypt has been made by Grenfell and Hunt, who are working in behalf of the Egyptian exploration fund. At Behneseh many ancient rubbish mounds yielded a rich store. In three mounds the quantity of rolls found is large enough to warrant the assumption that a part of the archives had been thrown there.

The papyri range from the Roman conquest to early Arab times. Each century is largely represented. Most of the documents are written in Greek, with a sprinkling of Latin, Coptic and Arabic. Little is vet known of the contents, but Grenfell's hope in digging at the site of Oxyrynchus of finding early Christian documents is realized.

Among the papyri is a leaf from a third century papyrus book containing a collection of the sayings of Christ. Some of these sayings are not in the gospels, and others exhibit divergencies from the gospels. It is believed that when the papyri are examined in detail further discoveries of Christian records, as well as fragments of lost classical literature, will be found, since n some of the mounds a large proportion of the papyri are written in uncials, which were largely employed during the first few centuries of the Christian era.

One hundred and fifty rolls, in many cases several feet long, have been retained at the Gizeh museum, and the rest are on the way to England.

Besides the papyri a number of coins. 200 inscribed tiles, bronze and ivory ornaments and other objects of the Roman and Byzantine periods have been

POWERS AND PORTE.

The Military Armistice and the Discussion of the Peace Conditions.

Constantinople, May 31.-The embassadors of the powers, in their reply to the porte's note of May 28, saying the Turkish government consents to negotiate for peace provided the Greek commanders first sign an armistice and that so soon as this is done the Turkish government will negotiate the peace conditions with the embassadors the treaty to be signed by the Turkish and Greek plenipotentiaries in Thessaly, announced that they do not object to the conclusion of a military armistice and will take steps at Athens with the object of securing it, but in the meanwhile they are of the opinion that the discussion of the peace conditions should begin without delay.

Loyal to the Royal Family.

Athens, May 31.—There appears to be little inclination here to accept the accusations against the royal family made in certain of the newspapers, and the maintenance of order is fully assured. Crown Prince Constantine has received an invitation to attend Queen Victoria's diamond jubilee next month. The opportunity for such a visit on the part of the crown prince has given rise to much discussion.

Mutiny Among Convicts.

San Francisco, May 31.—Another serious outbreak occurred among the rebellious convicts of San Quentin prison. Seven hundred prisoners, who refused to work in the jute mill on Thursday, complaining of the prison diet, and who had been since confined on a bread and water diet, made a combined attack on the handful of guards. The latter turned their rifles on the malcontents, seriously wounding several. The outbreak was quelled after a hot fight lasting only a few minutes.

Too Much Athletics. Hanover, N. H., May 31.-J. F. Moody, the best two mile runner in Dartmouth college, lies in the Hitchcock hospital in a critical condition with one side his services as a volunteer in the Greek paralyzed and a blood vessel in the cause. uted to the effects of the hard race he ran in the intercollegiate games at Worcester, May 22, after which he was physically exhausted.

The McCord Charges. Washington, May 31. - The senate committee on territories has postponed inquiry into the charges against Hon. M. H. McCord, who has been nominated as governor of Arizona, until next Thursday, in order to allow Attorney General Wilson of Arizona, who is prosecuting the charges, to put them in shape for presentation.

The Albany Capitol Contract. Albany, May 31.-After a long conference with Governor Black and Capitol Commissioner Perry, State Superintendent of Public Works George W. Aldridge was awarded the contract for completing the state capitol to the Halowell Granite works of Hallowell, Me., whose bid for the same was $259,000.

Bicyclist Choked to Death.

Chicago, May 31.—Desire Bruno, a professional bicyclist, was riding in the street here on a bicycle and carrying the frame of another wheel hanging about his neck. The wheel that he was riding collapsed, and the frame caught him in such a manner as to choke him to death.

The Wrecked Ohio.

Edinburgh, May 31.—The position of the British steamer Ohio, which went ashore yesterday in a dense fog ten miles north of Wick, is precarious in the extreme. Her rudder is damaged and her engine room and all her hold: are full of water.

Roosevelt to Speak. Washington, May 31.—Assistant Secretary Roosevelt has gone to Newport, where he will deliver the annual address upon the opening of the Nava: War college. He will return to Wash-

A Milling Company Fails. Mankato, Minn., May 31.-The Hubbard Milling company and P. D. Hub-bard have failed. Hubbard estimates his liabilities at $550,000 and assets not over $350,000. A Mexican War Veteran Dead. Saratoga, May 31.—Henry Vanderbogart died at Milton, Saratoga county.

officer in the Mexican war.

The Gold Reserve. Washington, May 31.-The treasury report shows the gold reserve to be $144,261,249. has nominated Thomas H. Baker as

He was 80 years old and served as an

WHITE BULL WARLIKE.

His Cheyennes Ready For Trouble With the Settlers.

A BAD CARLISLE GRADUATE.

Little Whirlwind, the Murdener of a Sheep Herder, the Cause of All the Trouble-Sioux Asked to Join In the Fray.

Helena, Mon., June 2.-Reports of the killing of several soldiers by the Cheyenne Indians at Lame Deer Agency are not verified by later accounts of the trouble. It is not believed that any one was killed except a sheep herder named Hoover, whose murder some time ago caused the excitement. Settlers and cowboys determined to avenge his death and give the Cheyennes an object lesson to deter them from similar acts in the future. They sent all the women and children to places of safety, armed themselves and congregated near the agency and demanded the surrender of the Indians accused of murdering Hoo-

The Indians armed themselves and made threatening demonstrations against the whites, but no battle has been fought nor massacres begun so far as is known. Six companies of United States troops are, however, at the agency. The Indians declare that they do not want to fight the soldiers, but are anxious to have a brush with the white settlers and cowboys.

Lame Deer is 60 miles from a telegraph office, and it is hard to get details, but the trouble is due to the charges of settlers that Indians kill and steal their cattle and countercharges of Indians that the settlers continually intrude on the reservation.

A Carlisle Graduate at Fault.

It is reported that Sioux Indians from Dakota have come to the agency and that runners have been sent to invite more Sioux to join them on the war-path. Senator Carter will ask President McKinley that Indian Agent Stouch be instructed not to interfere with the sheriff's posse, and that the military authorities, support them in case the Cheyennes resist the arrest of the Indian Little Whirlwind, known also as Stanley, a graduate of Carlisle, who admits the murder of the sheep herder, Hoover. White Bull's band of warriors, numbering 125, who escaped from the agency Friday night, are in the hills on the Tongue river, near Ashland, and this will be the scene of the first bloodshed, should there be any. The settlers are not as well armed as the Indians, though arms and ammunition are being forwarded as rapidly as Intense Excitement Prevails.

Washington, June 2.- The official report of the trouble among the Cheyenne Indians in Montana, dated May 25, has reached the Indian bureau from Captain Stouch, in charge of the Tongue River Agency. It confirms the dispatches attributing the trouble to the murder of a sheep herder and indicates that the motive of the murder was to prevent the herder from giving testimony as to an illegal slaughter of beef which he had witnessed. The agent reports that intense excitement exists among the settlers and that there is a liability of further trouble. He says there are a great many bloodthirsty young men among these Indians, and that if the settlers and the young In-dian men should meet trouble would be the result. For the peace and safety of all concerned he advises the stationing of two troops of cavalry in the neighborhood.

The murder undoubtedly was committed by Indians, and it has exasperated the settlers throughout the country, and they are crying for justice and retribution. The man was an inoffensive hunchback, and has been an object of sport for the Indians. The carcass of the slaughtered beef was discovered

The interior department will make a formal request to the war department to station cavalry at the camp and the agent will be instructed to use every effort to secure the punishment of the perpetrators of the crime.

County Attorney T. J. Porter wired Senator Carter from Miles City that Agent Stouch ought to be suspended Immediately for resisting state officers serving process in driving off the sheriff from the agency. He claimed the situation was serious and that bloodshed would result. If the agent is instructed not to resist the sheriff's posse, he added, conflict will be avoided, though the county attorney regarded an outbreak as certainly imminent.

A Shooting Near the Vatican.

Rome. June 2.- A sensation was caused in Vatican circles by an attempt at murder, followed by an attempt to commit suicide. A stable hand named Roswho had been dismissed from the Vatican employ for misconduct by Commander Martinucci, director of the major domo's office, shot and wounded the commander in the left arm. Believing he had killed his supposed enemy, Rossi shot himself in the head, inflicting a wound from which he may not recover.

Shot by Italians.

Millville, N. J., June 2.-At New port Falice Carfagna, Giuseppe Tra-mati and Angelo Disimore, three Italian berry pickers, boarded a boat to go fishing, and when ordered off by the owners, George Kates and Alfred Bradford, the Italians pulled revolvers and riddled the men with bullets. Kates was shot through the lungs and is slowly bleeding to death. Bradford will die. The Italians were Vanderlip Sworn In.

Washington, June 2.—Mr. Frank A. Vanderlip of Illinois took the prescribed official oath as assistant secretary of the treasury in the presence of Secretary Gage and a number of other prominent officials of the treasury de-partment. Assistant Secretary Vanderlip at once entered upon his new Legalizing the Chicago Gas Trust.

Springfield, Ills., June 2.-The senate bill authorizing the consolidation of the companies forming the Chicago Gas trust has passed the house. Much pressure to obtain a veto will undoubtedly be brought to bear on Governor RECIPROCITY WITH HAWAII.

Senator Davis Introduces an Important Amendment to the Tariff Bill.

Washington, June 2.-Senator Davis has introduced a proposed amendment to the fariff bill providing that nothing in the act shall be held to repeal or impair the provisions of the reciprocity treaty with Hawaii. Senator Davis says that the treaty contains a solemn declaration that it should not be abrogated except upon one year's notice. The bill as it came from the house contained a provision substantially the same as the amendment of Senator Davis, but it was stricken out by the finance committee. The senator from South Carolina, John L. McLaurin, who succeeds the late Senator Earle, was sworn in at the opening of the session. This establishes the personnel of the senate as it will remain for some timeviz: Republicans, 43; Democrats, 34; Populists, 7: silver Republicans, 5; vacancy, 1 (Oregon); total, 90.

The tariff bill was taken up immediately after the disposal of the routine business. Mr. Aldrich, in charge of the bill, returned to paragraph 90, relating to china, porcelain, etc., and withdrew the proposed committee amendments, leaving the rates as reported by the house-viz: Decorated, 60 per cent ad valorem; undecorated, 55 per cent.

Mr. Jones of Arkansas moved to reduce these rates to 35 and 30 per cent respectively. Without debate a vote was taken, and the proposed amend-ments were defeated—yeas, 23; nays, 34. The paragraph was amended to omit clock cases, and was then agreed to. Before leaving the paragraph Mr. Vest (Mo.,) stated briefly that the effect of the rates was to be absolutely prohibitory on the grades of china and crockery in ordinary household use.

The committee amendments were withdrawn also on the paragraphs covering "all other china not specifically provided for," leaving the house rates at 60 for decorated and 55 for undecorated. Mr. Jones again offered an amendment similar to his former one. supported it in a speech, stating that at the rates of the present law the producers claimed to doing a prosperous

Mr. Sewell (Rep., N. J.,) answered, reading a statement showing that many potteries had failed and a large number of pottery workers were out of work as a result of the present low rates.

The Jones amendment was defeated —yeas, 21; nays, 32. The committee offered a substitute, which was agreed to, on the paragraph covering tiles, glazed or unglazed. It is practically the same as the house paragraph.

When the house met after a recess in continuation of Monday's session, Mr. Lewis (Wash.) inquired of the speaker if he could temporarily withdraw his demand for the yeas and nays and read from the record of the Fifty-third congress to inform the house what took place at that time, which he said would show the basis of the claim that the resolution was a matter of privilege. The speaker replied that he could not and directed the clerk to proceed with the call of the roll. This was the order of business on Thursday last when the house adjourned, the vote then taken having shown the lack of a quorum.

The speaker on Thursday refused to entertain as a matter of privilege Mr. Lewis' resolution regarding the right and duty of the house to act upon the Morgan resolution recognizing the belligerency of the Cuban revolutionists, and Mr. Lewis then appealed from that Mr Dingley moved to lay the appeal on the table, and on that motion a vote was taken.

The vote resulted-yeas, 88: nays, 56; present and not voting, 37. The appeal was laid on the table.

Ensign Stone's Case Dropped. the conduct of Ensign George L. P.

Stone of the United States monitor Pu-Brooklyn, June 2.—The inquiry into ritan, in his love affair with Miss Marie Conde, has come to an abrupt termination. The inquiry is indefinitely postponed, and it is understood that a truce has been patched up between Mr. Swits Conde, the father of the young woman, and Ensign Stone. It is asserted that Secretary Long has intimated that too much attention has been given to the case and that he wished it to be dropped. It is also said that the ensign will not be so demonstrative in the display of his affection for Miss Conde. Ensign Stone, however, his friends say, by no means intends to give up all intentions of winning the hand of Miss "Pashful Joe" Testifies.

London, June 2.-When the inquiry of the parliamentary committee into the Transvaal raid was resumed, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, the secretary of state for the colonies, testified that he was convinced Dr. Harris had not said to him that a force of the British chartered South Africa's troops would be on the border ready to assist the uitlanders if a rising occurred at Johannesburg. Such a statement, Mr. Chamberlain added, would have aroused his attention at once. In answer to Labouchere's question he declared that he did not know the Jameson raid was to occur.

Doctors Celebrate Golden Jubilee.

Philadelphia, June 2.-The American Medical association began the celebration of its golden jubilee in the Academy of Music by a convention which will continue for four days. The convention was called to order by the president of the association, Dr. Nicholas Senn of Illinois, and members and their wives to the number of over 3,000 were Mayor Warwick welcomed the association on behalf of the city and in the absence of Governor Hastings Hon. Charles Emory Smith performed a similar duty on behalf of the

A Young Jesse James.

North Tonawanda, N. Y., June 2 .-John Wichterman of Shawnee, a ham-let near this city, is a young fellow of 17 years, who aspires to be a Jesse James. He shot little Johnny Kline in the head with a 22 caliber revolver out of pure wantonness. He then mounted his father's horse and galloped away. Warrants are out for young Wichterman. Some time ago he tried to shoot a man with a rifle, but missed his aim.

Japan's Loan Popular.

London, June 2.—The Japanese loan of 43,000,000 yen, equivalent to about $21,947,916, at 5 per cent, and payable in gold, the issue price of which is 1011/2, was subscribed to several times over within an hour.

SEARLES NOT GUILTY.

Justice Bradley Orders the Jury to Acquit Him.

NO CONTEMPT IN EVIDENCE.

The Justice Declares That the Secretary of the Sugar Trust Answered All the Legal Questions Asked Him.

Washington, June 2.- Justice Bradley rendered his decision in the case of John E. Searles, who was accused of being a recalcitrant witness before the sugar investigating committee. He ordered the jury to find a verdict for the defendant. Mr. Searles and his counsel were present in court, but the fa-miliar form of Mr. H. O. Havemeyer was missing, as well as those of the senators and others who had been present at the trials during the past week. Justice Bradley, as soon as he opened court, took up the motion of Mr. Johnson for the defense, that the case be taken from the jury and a verdict returned for the defense. The arguments were heard on Friday, so that all that was necessary was the opinion of the judge.

The Julge's Opinion. Judge Bradley gave a review of the case from the beginning of the investigation by the committee. He said that Mr. Searles had testified very fully before the committee and had testified that no funds had been contributed to the Democratic national campaign fund. The evidence showed that while contributions had been made to the campaign funds in various cities and states no contributions had been made to secure or defeat federal legislation. Taking up the report of the minority of the senate committee, made to the senate regarding the alleged contumacy of the witnesses, Justice Bradley referred to section 102 of the Revised Statutes of the United States.

This is the one under which all these prosecutions are conducted. He said that the state required all persons to be prosecuted where they had been summoned by the senate to testify and had refused to answer questions pertinent to the matter under investigation.

It was a question for the court to determine whether the witness had declined to answer a question which was pertinent to the investigation, and also whether the matter was within the power and jurisdiction of the senate. Questions Not Pertinent.

The senate obviously had the power to conduct such an inquiry, according to the supreme court decision in the Chapman case, and as far as the questions asked Chapman were concerned, they were within the scope of the powers of the senate.

The justice then took up the relations between the Chapman case and that against Mr. Searles. It was apparent that the questions put to Mr. Searles were not pertinent to that branch of the inquiry regarding the allegation that senators had voted for the schedule on account of money given to the Democratic campaign fund. He held that the second subdivision of the resolution for investigation relating to the contributions made to the Democratic party was under a reasonable construction, was within the power and jurisdiction of the senate. Continuing, he said that the right of corporations to make contributions to campaign funds could not be denied. He held that a reasonable construc-tion of the third subdivision of the resolution required that it be considered in one, "to secure or defeat federal leg-islation," being considered part of the preceding clause regarding the contributions to political parties. Under this construction the senate had the right to conduct such inquiry as was then being made.

An Unwarranted Search.

Certainly, the judge said, a simple investigation as to whether the Sugar trust had contributed to a campaign fund would be an unwarranted search into the private affairs of the company and plainly beyond the power of the senate. Here he referred at length to the Kilbourne case. The senate committee had reported that no testimony had been produced to show that the Sugar trust had made any contributions to any national campaign fund or for the purpose of affecting legislation. If money had gone for the purpose of electing members of state legislatures who in time would select a United States senator, it was beyond the power of the United States to go behind the election of legislative members. If this were true as to state matters, how much more true was it of local elections. "How remotely speculative" was the way he characterized District Attorney Davis' suggestion made in his argument that local and state contributions could have been traced to their ultimate destination, possibly into the pockets of United States senators, if the defendant had given the names of the persons to whom the moneys were first paid. It would be the wildest conjecture to assume that the money so contributed in any way had gone to make up the sugar

The cases of E. J. Edwards and John S. Shriver, the newspaper correspondents, were postponed until next Monday.

Yellow Fever at New York.

New York, June 2.-The Allianca of the Panama railroad steamship line has arrived from Colon and was detained at quarantine because a second class passenger died of yellow fever on the voyage. The Allianca left Colon on May 25. On the next day Angus Mc-Lennan, a mining engineer, was taken ill. He died of yellow fever on May 31. He was buried at sea in latitude 36.30, longitude 74.

Bernaral Blames Uncle Sam.

Madrid, June 2. - General Bernaral, who has just returned to this city from Cuba, has informed the minister of war General Azcarraga, that the prolonging of the rebellion in Cuba is only due to the assistance which the insurgents receive from the United States.

Ten Per Cent Cut In Wages.

Pittsburg, June 2.-A 10.per cent cut in wages, affecting all men not under the Amalgamated scale, was ordered a Jones & Laughlin's American Iron works, and about 200 men refused to go to work. The firm employs nearly 3,000 A COMPLETE LIST.

Owing to the accidental omission of three names, which have now been added, the following list of deceased soldiers who are buried in the cemeteries in this city, are republised.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCHYARD. Bishop, Oliver, Hospital Steward 28th Bishop, Edward G., Asst. Pay. U.S. N. Daskam, George F. 2d Light Battery. MacLean John A., Smith, F. B. 1st Lt. Co. C. 2d Ill. Art-St. John, David, War of 1812. Taylor, Edward, War of 1812. Wilcoxson, Albert H., Lt. Col. 17th. Wilson, Henry, U. S. N.

UNION CEMETERY. Allen, Henry, Lt. Col. 17th. Allen, James L., Co. D, 7th. Ambler, James L.. Co. C, 27th. Annin, Charles, N. Y. Regt. Burtis, Geo. W., Co. G, 10th. Beckwith, Theo. L., Cap. 28th. Bodwell, Wm. L., Co. C, 27th. Brady, Thomas, War of 1812. Brown, John T., Co. C, 27th. Brotherton, N. W., Co. G, 14th U. S.I. Bogart, Gilbert, 1st Lt. Co. E, 12th. Blake, Dan'l Hoyt, Chaplain. Blackman, Chas. E., (unknown.) Benedict, Lewis, Co. A, 17th. Barbour, James E., Hosp. St. 21st. Burton, Augustus, Co. B, 29th. Cargill, Charles A., Co. F, 17th. Camp, Isaac, Co. F, 17th. Crozier, James W., 12th U.S. In. Comstock, Jos. A., Co. G, 23d. Clarke, Samuel M., U. S. Navy. Cockefur, Horace A., Co. G, 28th. Cockefur, John, Co. H, 8th. Carpenter, Edward, Co. K, 17th. Charlton. James, U. S. Navy. De Forest, Albert, Co. A, 14th. Dudley, Arthur W., Co. B, 17th. Dver, James L., Co. A, 17th. Disbrow, Justice, Co. I, 41st Ohio. Ells, R. Lorenzo, 1st Lt. Co. A, 17th. Foster, Henry, Co. L, 1st Cav. Ferry, Orris S., Maj-Gen. Vols. Fox, William H., Co. A, 17th. Finch, Hiram L., 6th N. Y. Art. Fink, Geo. W., Co. H, 5th U. S. Art. Fitch, Edward H., Co.C, 5th N.Y. Cav. Flinn, Robert, Co. A, 17th. Grindrod, Edward, Co. A, 17th. Gorham, Hiram W., Co. G, 17th. Godfrey, Wm. O., Co. F. 17th. Holly, Edwin, Co. I, 10th N. J. Hubbell, Robert S., (Unknown). Hearne, James, Co. I, 17th. Hill, Moses Ashbury, Maj. U. S. A. Hoy, Wm., Co. D. 36th N. Y. Hall, Alfred, Co. E, 5th N. Y. H. A. Hoyt, John E., Co. A, 28th. Hoyt, Monson, Co. E. 5th. Hamilton, Wm. H., Co. H, 8th. Hyatt, Chas. E. Co. A, 22 N. Y. Jennings, G. J., Capt. 59th N. Y. Johnson, Philo, Co. D, 17th N. Y. Jarvis, John, 1st Sergt. Co. A, 17th. Keeler, Samuel, Capt. C. M. Kellogg, George, Co. C, 27th. Kent, Eli R. L., Co. A,4th N. Y. H. A. Lockwood, Albert N., Co. E, 23d. Lockwood, Gershom, War of 1812. Lineburgh, Edward R. 5th. Lineburgh, Edward, Co. H. 8th.

Mead, F. L., Co. G, 10th N. J. Marvin, George F., Co. G, 28th. Mitchell, James H., Co. G, 28th.

Low, George, Co. B, 2d H. A.

Lounsbury, Alex., Co. A, 17th.

Lounsbury, Joshua, Co. F, 17th.

Merrill, Wm. Henry, Co. C, 5th.

Lyon, E. F., 1st Sergt. Co. H, 2d H. A.

Lees, H. M., Co. A, 14th.

Moffatt, Co. D, 7th.

Murphy, Owen, Co. E, 5th. Nash, Cornelius, Co. B, 29th. Nash, Nathan, Co. G, 18th. Nelson, Edward, Co. E, 5th. Pattendon, Ebenezer J., Co. H, 17th. Perry, Robert N., Co. F, 17th. Prowitt, Henry M., Co. E, 17th. Palmer, D. C., Co. A, 6th. Platt, Fredk. M., Co. G, 10th. Prentiss, Wm. DeF., Capt. 31st N. Y. Richter, Gustave, (unknown.) Swartz, Jacob, Co. I, 9th N. Y. Shepard, Edward, (Unknown.) Sargent, Chas. H., Co. A, 13th N. J. Stevens, George J., Co. H, 17th. Smith, Charles L., Co. F, 17th. Smith, Andrew, Co. F, 17th Vt. Sherwood, Jesse, Co. C, 28th. Taylor, Roswell, Co. B, 13th. Volk, F. A. (unknown.)

Williams, Henry H., Co. A, 17th. Wyman, Samuel, Co. A, 17th. Wetmore, Henry A., Capt. 2d N. Y. C. RIVERSIDE.

Ainsley, John, U. S. N.

Abbott, Alonzo P., Co. E, 12th.

Ballard, Elijah, Co. Y 6th N. Y. H. A. Bishop, Albert R., Co. H, 7th. Brown, Augustus B., Co. D, 1st Cav. Brown, John R., Co F. 17th. Brush, Theodore, Co. F, 17th. Canfield, A. R., 2d Lt. Co. F. 8th. Doechel, John, Co. B, 119th N. Y. Ellendorf, Julius A., Co. I. 1st N. J Farwell, William W., Co. F, 6th. Gilbert,-Henry, Cornelius, U. S. N. Hobert, Henry M., Co. B, 25th. Kellogg, Enos, Capt. Co H, 17th. Laramie, James, (unknown.) Lawrence, Charles, (unknown.) Lack, Christian, Co. E. 1st N. Y. Cav. Nichols, Thos. F., Co. D, 51st N. Y. O'Neal, Thomas, Co. G, 15th N. Y. A. Pope. Austin, Co. B, 7th N. Y. Packard, Joseph, Co. C, 139th N. Y. Smith, Isaac A., Co. F, 17th. Smith, Charles, 1st Lt. Co. G, 17th. Taylor, Nelson, Gen'l. U. S. Vols. Taylor, George, Co. C, 2d H. A. Titus, William A., Co. A, 17th. Van Clief, Emanuel, U. S. N.

Weed, George W., Co. H, 17th. Weed, Samuel D., 1st Lt. Co. A, 17th. Westerfield, Wm. W. Co. K, 48 N.Y. Westlake, Wm. W., Co. A, 17th. Williams, John, U. S. N.

ST. MARY'S.

Avery, Elbert, Co. B, 17th.

Ayres, Albert, (unknown.)

Boyle, Peter, Co. H, 8th. Brown, John, Co. H, 13th. Burns, Martin, 69th N. Y. Carew, Michael, N. J. Vols. Cockefur, Wm. 9th N. Y. Cahill, John, Co. F. 17th. Cahill, John, Co. M, 2d N. Y. Cav. Colbert, Richard, N. Y. Vols. Dunlavey, Patrick, Co. K, 23d. Duggan, John, Co. F, 17th. Ellis, James, Co. A, 13th N. Y. Eng. Farrell, Thomas, Co. F, 17th. Fitzgerald, Michael, Co. C, 2d N. H. Ford, Patrick, Co. A, 17th. Gilhooly, Thomas, Co. G. 28th. Grady, Henry, Co. F, 8th. Hayes, John, 88th N. Y. Harkins, John, Co. H, 8th Hopkins, James, Co. E, 170th N. Y. Hennessey, John, Co. G, 5th U. S. I. Kearney, Joseph, U.S. N. Layton, Henry, U. S. N. Leonard, M. B., Co. D, 8th N. Y. McGowan, Michael, U.S. N. McCoy, James, Co. I, 35th N. Y. McCormick, Joseph, Co. H, 1st McCormick, John, Co. G, 28th. O'Connor, James, Co. A, 3d. O'Brien, James, Co. G, 28th. O'Brien, Michael, Co. G, 28th. Perry, Andrew, Co. A. 17th. Pomeroy, Armstead M., U. S. N. Strapp, Joseph, Co. G, 2d N. Y. H. A Sheldon, Warren, Co. K, 1st. Shields, Michael, 69th N. Y. Tracey, John, Co. F, 17th. Walsh, John, 12th.

WILTON.

Mr. and Mrs. Schlichting of Joe's Hill, entertained friends from Darien and Brooklyn on Memorial Day.

The services at the Congregational church on Sunday were impressive and interesting. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers, red, white and blue predominating.

The cemeteries in town were visited by numbers on Sunday. Kindly hands placed flags and flowers upon the graves of the patriots who fought to gain a nation in 1776, as well as those who fought to preserve it in 1861. On Sunday, June 6th, there will be memorial services by a delegation of Grand Army men from Norwalk and the veterans of our town.

The entertainment given under the auspices of the Y. P. S. C. E. last week. was a great success financially and otherwise. The strawberries and cream were supplemented by a literary program consisting of a recitation, admirably rendered by Miss Angie Post and a song sweetly sung by Miss Susie Dann and Miss Georgie Comstock. Mr. Rundall of New York, was stopping with his daughter Miss Abbey

Rundall, on Decoration Day. School Visitor G. W. Ogden is inspecting the schools previous to the summer vacation. Mrs. Edward Olmstead, Mrs. W. Merwin and Miss Florence Hurd, attended the state meeting of the Daughters of the Revolution, at Bridgeport, on Friday. Edward C. Whitney of Australia, was in town last week. Mr. Whitney says it is his intention to remain on this side of the world.

The condition of Mrs. Susan Green who has returned to her home in Chestnut Hill, remains about the same.

Parties fishing at the reservoir recently, report a number of large owls flying about and regretted their inability to change their fishing rods into

Mrs. S. P. Fitch and R. H. Fitch entertained a house party over Sunday. Among the guests were Mrs. Foster and daughter, D. D. Telford and family, William Lyall, the Misses Lyall and E. S. Fitch and daughter, and Miss Maud Fitch, all of New York.

Harry Benedict and George Woodward enjoyed a bicycle trip to Long Island on Saturday, staying for the Milburn-Irvington races.

John Brooks, of New York, arrived in town on Saturday. Arthur Nesbit has been spending several days with his Aunt Mrs. J. M. THREE HUNDRED LOADS OF Betts at Four Pines.

Mrs. Mariana Jones, and Messrs. Herbert S. Ogden, Frederick Middlebrook and families arrived in town from New York, on Saturday. Trey will summer at the Jones Homestead. Mr. Rice and Fred Weston of New York, rode a tandem from that city on Saturday making the distance in four hours. They were guests of H. G. Thomson over Sunday.

Mrs. Slack of Philadelphia, with her little daughter Hazel is stopping with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Charles

Miss Sally Middlebrook who has been spending the winter with her brother in New York, is in town for the sum-

Mrs. Stephen Thayer and Miss Zelma Thayer have returned from a visit with relatives in Palmyra, N. Y. Miss Mamie Hadden and Miss Grace Hadden of Norwalk wheeled to Wilton on Saturday, and were guests of Miss Lena Miller. David Evans of Wilmington, spent Memorial Day at his home at Drum Hill. He was accompanied by Mr. and of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mrs Frank Evans and William Evans

SPOTINE

akes out ink, paint, tar, pitch, grease and stains from SPOTINE clothing and car-pets quickly and completely and Never Leaves a Ring

—No Acid.— 10c., 25c., at Drug No unpleasant odor. and Dry Goods Stores Not inflammable. L. B. SUTTON, New Canaan, Ct.

Sold by FINNEY & BENEDICT.

J. C.NEWKIRK. -:- DENTIST. -:-

Dentistry performed in all branches.
Gold and Porcelain Crowns inserted.
Gas administered for the Painless extracting of Teeth. Appointments can be made by mail.
OFEIUE—Lewis Street, near the Congregational Church, Norwalk, Conn.

Real Estate, Insurance and Investo en Securities. -MONEY TO LOAN.

Insurance Placed in First-Class Companies.

Office - Corner Main & Wall Sts., Norwa

Wm. Lockwood,

PETER L. GUIGUE, Florist and Nursery man Union Avenue, north of Union Cemtery Norwalk, Conn. Dealer in Green House Hot House and Bedding and Vegetable Plants. Fruit and Ornamental Trees Shubbery, Vines, Cut Flowers, always on hand, and all sorts of designs in flowers arranged to order. ranged to order. Grading and refilling cemetery lots at-

ETNA INSRUANCE CO., of Hartford Incorporated 1812. Charter Perpetua Capital and Assets, $8,902,272.64. Insures against loss and damage by FIRE on terms adapted to the hazard and consistent with the laws of compensation
COWLES & MERRILL,
Sole agents for Norwalk and vicinity

J. Belden Hurlbutt, Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

Room 4, up stairs, GAZETTE BUILDING.

ADAMS EXPRESS COMPANY

Low Rates. Prompt Delivery Erachh Office, Norwalk, at Morris Benedict Main Office, depot. South Norwalk, L. HUNT, Agent.

The Norwalk Fire Insurance Co

Has now Completed ts 32d SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS YEAR,

And has not outstanding a dollar of unpaia losses or claims for losses. No soun company insures for less
A. G. McIlwaine. Pres..G. B St. John, Vice-Pre
F. E. Shaw, Sec. Geo. R, Cowles, Resident Sec

NEWYORK.NEW HAVEN & HARTFORD -New York Division

January 17, 1897, Trains leave South Norwalk as follows:

Trains leave South Norwalk as follows:
For New York—Accommodation trsius at 9.36 a.m., 1.11, 2.54, 4.07, 5.30, 6.41, 8.11, 10.20 p.m. Express trains at 4.55, 5.45, 6.15 (local) 6.55, (local), 7.05, (local), 7.52, (local), 8.12, 9.03 (local) 9.58, 10.35, 11.37, (local) a. m. 12.52, 2.25, 5.25, 6.20 7.56 p. m. For Washington via Harlem River 12.53 a.m. (daily)
SUNDAYS.—Accommodation 9 15 a. m. 5.43, (local), 7.23, (local) 9.28 p.m Express 4.55, 5.45
a. m.

a. m.
FOR NEW HAVEN AND THE EAST.—Accommodation trains at 6.32,7.42, 8.46 and 11 42 a. m., 1.37, 2.42, (to B'p't), 4.20, 5.27, 6.27, 7.28 (to B'p't), 4.10, 5.27, 6.27, 7.28 (to B'p't), 4.10, 4.11, 9.11 10.05, 11.08, a. m. 12.02, 3.05, 5.04 (Naugatuck Express) 7.10 p. m.
SUNDAYS.—Accommodation 7.42, 9.12 a. m. and 7.15 p. m. Express 12.40 and 1.11 a. m.

C. T. HEMPSTEAD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

HENRY TILLY, CARRIAGE MAKER.

SOUTH NORWALK, CONN,

-Manufacturerof-

Family Carriages, victorias. Buggies 🐉 ALL KINDS OF REPAIRING.

G. A. FRANKE, THE HAIR CUTTER No. 1 Gazette Building, Norwalk

HOT AND COLD BATTE

BARN-YARD MANURE, MAPES AND BRAD-LEY'S FERTILIZERS, GROUND BONE, LAND

> PLASTER, ASHES AND LAND

> > -For Sale By-

SALT.

SOUTH NORWALK.