VICTIMS LOST THEIR LIVES ON THE SAND BAR AT MIL-FORD.

CUT OFF BY THE TIDE.

THEIR DEAD BODIES RECOVER-ED A SHORT TIME AFTER ACCIDENT.

MILFORD, Sept. 1-A sad fatality The mother's intuition was quick. happened at Burns' Point between 4 and 5 o'clock yesterday; afternoon, whereby two little girls were brought to an untimely end and two homes made desolate. The accident was of such rapidity that not until too late could assistance be secured, although the parents and others were on the beach not 50 feet distant, and Ethel McCauley, seven years old. whose home is in New York city, but who with her parents was occupying a cottage at the beach, and Ellen Rankin, five years old, who lives in Waterbury, were drowned.

The little Rankin girl was stopping at the McCauley cottage and together with her little companion and a small boy had been playing about the beach during the early hours of the afternoon. The little ones, childlike, removed their shoes and stockings and all three went wading about the sandy shore, gathering pebbles, moss and clams, skylarking and enjoying life as only children can.

Mrs. McCauley and some company were seated on the veranda of the cottage, at times intently watching the children gambol. Occasionally the mother admonished them to be careful, then a merry laugh and a scamper off was the response.

For some time they played thus, then calmed down and seemed intent on paddling about and gathering shells. Suddenly the boy rushed from the water near where his girl companions were and with terrified air, speechless and pale as a ghost, he darted toward the cottage, pointing to the Sound.

The sad incident has cast a gloom over the locality. The two little ones were among the prettiest and most vivacious children at the beach.

Late last night an undertaker was given charge of the bodies. That of Ethel McCauley will be taken to New York for interment. Ellen Rankin's will be conveyed to Waterbury by her parents, where the funeral will be

DEAD FOUND,

Remains Had Been in the Water Nearly a Week.

PROBABLY LOST OFF PECK

Ghastly Find On Charles Island, Near Mil-

MILFORD, Sept. 1-The lifeless body of an unknown man about 55 years of age was found on Charles Island by Etienne and William Munson, residents of Walnut Beach, this afternoon. The young men had gone over to the island in search of shells and were shocked to find the body lying face downwards in the sand. It had apparently been washed in by the tide. They at once reported the matter to the authorities and Medical Examiner Heady had the body removed to Ford's undertaking rooms where it is awaiting identification.

The man had the appearance of a business man and wore a nice black diagonal suit and tan shoes. His hair was of a dark grey and he was somewhat bald. He also had a gold ring with three garnet stones and a gold watch and chain. On his person was found a receipt for a bicycle from L. Cort of Philadelphia made out to D. Fitzsimmons. Attached to a bunch of keys was an identification card of the National Reserve Company, number 50,131, and there was also a baggage check number 423 of the steamer Richard Peck. The man also had a ticket from New Haven to New York and between three and four dollars were found. There were also several cards and a note book with a number of addresses found, but the only address that could be deciphered was Miss May Williams, 265 North Ninth Street.

There were no marks of violence and from the steamer as the circumstances did not indicate suicide. The remains. had been in the water presumably about a week.

THATCHER WAS MAD.

A Funny Incident at the Minstrel Show Last Night.

A funny incident occurred last night at the performance of George Thatcher's minstrels in Hoyt's Theatre.

In the first part when Thatcher made his appearance upon the stage with Dan Waldron, the former sang a few lines of a comic song and then took his seat expecting to be recalled to finish the piece. Instead, however of the expected applause, silence reigned supreme and George was dumbfounded. Waldron, however, quickly came to the rescue with the remark, "I would make him sing it if I were you." The peculiar expression with which the remark was coupled instantly brought down the house and the delayed applause followed to which Thatcher responded. George was mad clear through, but he was saved a dead cold reception by the promptness of the inimitable Waldron.

His Ribs, Broken.

SAVED BY HIS WIFE.

But For Her Dreyfus Would Have Killed Himself.

HE AGAIN BREAKS DOWN IN COURT.

Dramatic Scenes at Rennes Yesterday-Cantain Lebrun-Renault Testifles-The Mysterious M. Weil Once Again In Evidence.

RENNES, Sept. 1 .- Dreyfus has had the most trying day he has yet gone through. The strain proved too great for him, and for the second time in the course of the trial he gave way to his factors and sought relief in tears. The generals have branded him as a traitor before the court, their subordinates have pointed the finger of scorn at him, but he only once flinched-when the official report of: his treatment on Devii's island was read before him and the pictures of his sufferings, mental and physical, were thrown vividly on the screen of his memory. Then he hid his features and wept.

He passed through another such crisis vesterday when, after Captain Lebrun-Renault and witness after witness had brought up before him again that cold January morning which ushered in the scene of his degradation, Major Forzinetti, a man of heart, told in simple words and unaffected manner the story of Dreyfus' struggle with the maddening temptation to take his life and the intervention of his wife as an angel, pointing out the road of duty. Then again the prisoner's breast! heaved with emotion, and tear drops trickled down his cheeks. He rose, stud, after a forced effort to remain calm as he spoke a few words concerning his denial to Colonel du Paty de Clam that he wrote the bordereau, he turned to forzinetti with a look of thanks for his consolation, so needed. Dreyfus then uttered these words of heartfelt gratitude to his wife for the courage with which she inspired him:

"It is due to her," he cried, "that I am alive today."

The prisoner could articulate no more, but sat down abruptly to conceal his dis-

The proceedings concluded a few minutes later, and he was taken back to his prison, where his wife visited him, and, in the presence of Mme. Dreyfus and the gendarme on guard, he broke down completely. The tension had been too much for him. He sobbed convulsively, and the partner of his sorrows joined him in h solace of tears.

Captain Lebrun-Renault and the supporters of his assertion of the Dreyfus confession had an innings lasting nearly the entire session, their depositions containing little but what has already been stated before the court of cassation.

Captain Lebrun-Renault introduced the new assertion that the fact that he had not related the incident of the confession to President Casimir-Perier was because he overheard himself called "canaille," "cur" and "traitor" while waiting at the Elysee. He, however, could not explain why he kept this to himself for so Youg a time instead of recounting the incident before the court of cassation. Nor did his explanation as to why he destroyed the page of his notebook containing the record of Dreyfus' confession sound very convincing.

The other witnesses were a repetition of Captain Lebrun-Renault. But a very significant question was put to Colonel Guerin by a member of the court, Lieu-tenant Colonel Brongniart, who sits at Colonel Jouaust's right hand and always puts pointed questions. He has thoroughy studied the Dreyfus case and is reputed to be one of the best authorities on the case. It is certain Colonel Jou-aust consults him frequently during the proceedings. Brongniart is said to be a rabid anti-Dreyfusard, and he, in a quiet tone, asked Colonel Guerin if he thought Weil, who is a friend of Esterhazy, also knew Dreyfus. The latter at once rose and declared he had never before heard of Weil. The point of this question was that Esterhazy has written to Colonel Jouaust, as announced, and has undoubtedly mentioned Weil as a go between for Dreyfus. If relations can be proved between Dreyfus and Weil, and Esterhazy admits obtaining treasonable information from Weil, then he could assume Dreyfus was a traitor. The generals, if sufficient evidence of a Dreyfus-Weil-Esterhazy connection can be produced, can abandon the contention that Dreyfus wrote the bordereau and admit Esterhazy is the author of it. This is possibly the change of tactics on the part of the generals which has been hinted at

It is reported that Generals Mercier. Roget and Gonse and M. Cavaignac, who are staying quietly at the house of a friend, some miles outside Rennes, met yesterday at General Mercier's house and discussed the evidence Colonel Schwarzkoppen's housekeeper, Mme. Battian, could give if she were subjected to a severe examination, with the result that it was decided her evidence was not conclusive enough to justify summoning her as a witness for the prosecution.

Travel Pay Reduced. WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—The discovery of a shorter route between Manila and the United States has had rather a depressing effect upon some of the troops, as it reduces their travel pay. The old route was 8,050 miles, but of late the transports have cut off the 700 miles required by touching at Honolula. Some of the soldiers at Manila had received travel pay on the basis of the old route, but part of the first payment has been refunded to the paymasters. This applied only to those soldiers at Manila who re-enlisted and received the travel pay to which they would have been enti-tled if they had returned to the United

BILL!ARDIST IVES DEAD.

The Phenomenon With the Cues Dies of Consumption In Mexico.

PROGRESO Mexico, Sept. 1 .- The phenomenal career of Frank Ives, the Napoleon of billiards, is ended. Coming into public notice with the sudden brilliance of a champion who had none of the intermediate steps to pass through, when all the present billiard died before any one of them.

His death occurred here yesterday from tuberculosis. It had been expected for several days.

Consumption made its appearance 18 months ago. Ives and his wife immediately went to the Adirondacks seeking relief from the blighting malady. After a sojourn in the northern mountains the brilliant billiardist returned to New York and played a series of games at the Academy. It was evident then to those who watched his painful efforts that Ives' days were numbered.

In January he played Slosson in Chicago at the Central Music hall, defeating him for the championship. The progress of the disease was very rapid, and Ives started with his wife for Mexico by the advice of physicians, going by way of Havana. Reaching Havana he was so weak that it was impossible to proceed on his way.

Not until a few days ago was he strong enough to resume his trip to this city. He was at the point of death when he arrived here, and died in a few hours.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—Mrs. Langtry's appearance at the Haymarket theater last evening in Sydney Grundy's new comedy, "The Degenerates," was a de cided success. ### To Study Abandoned Farms.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.-Secretary of Agriculture Wilson is arranging for an exhaustive scientific investigation of the abandoned farms of New England with a view to their reclamation. He has had many letters from New England inviting his attention to this subject and has resolved to send several of the scientists of the department thither to make a study of the conditions. Later the secretary himself will make a personal inspection. Without having investigated the conditions Secretary Wilson inclines to the opinion that the abandoned far New England have been deprived of phosphates, potash, nitrogenous matter and the other essential ingredients of production by unscientific farming and that by careful culture the fertility of the soil can be restored. A soil physicist will be dispatched to make a careful analysis of the soil to determine exactly what it lacks. The secretary thinks that the planting of grasses, legumes, clover, etc., will restore the nitrogen and that phosphates can be had by the introduc-tion of domestic animals. Potash must be purchased. The secretary is vers sanguine in his belief that science can reclaim these once fertile but long abandoned farms.

Negro Longshoremen'strike. NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Aug. 31.-Two hundred negro longshoremen employed at the Chesapeake and Ohio piers went on strike. There are about 600 colored men and only 53 white men engaged in the work of loading and unloading the Chesapeake and Ohio steamers. Recently the negroes organized a local union branch of the National League of Longshoremen. The whites refused to unite with them, but applied for a charter for a separate organiza-tion. The colored union prevented them from getting the charter and gave notice 30 days ago that they would walk out unless the nonunion whites were discharged. No heed was given to their threat by the company. The 30 days expired, and the negroes carried their threat into execution.

The Origin of Whist.

The game of whist originated in England. It is believed to have developed from the older game of triumph, or trump, which was played as early as 1350. In fact, in that year sermons were preached denouncing the game as one that tended to take the mind off the truths of religion. In 1421 whist is first mentioned in English literature.

SHALLOW CORN CULTURE.

Experiments of the Nebraska Station Show the Success of the Comparatively New Method.

A revolution in corn culture in Nebraska is promised. For some years the advocates of shallow cultivation have been endeavoring to prove the value of their plan, but have made little headway. At the request of a number of farmers the experimental station has been making thorough tests, and a bulletin announcing results is being prepared for publication. Four acres of land was divided into tracts of one acre each, and each tract was cultivated by a different cultivator. The result showed that the acre under deep cultivation yielded 59 bushels, while one under shallow yielded 68 and the other two 69 bushels each. The land receiving shallow cultivation was stirred to a depth of three inches, that receiving deep cultivation to a depth of six inches. The director of the experimental station says that the advantage of shallow cultivation lies in the fact that the air does not penetrate so deeply, and therefore does not dry out the roots in a year where the rainfall is below normal. A study of the roots of the corn plant shows that many of them would naturally grow within three or four inches of the surface, but when the upper layer is dry, their source of nourishment is shut off. Deep cultivation has the disadvantage, too, of tearing the roots, thereby hindering them from securing the proper amount of nourishment. The one thing insisted upon in shallow cultivation is frequent stirring to prevent a hard crust from forming for any time on the surface.

Wherever tried, the shallow culti-vated corn this year has proved the more vigorous, although so well timed have been the rains that the yield is certain to be enormous. The prospects are such that the millions of bushels held by speculators in cribs are being marketed as fast as possible, although the market has sagged some within the

REMOVING WOOL FROM SKINS.

An Electrically Heated Blade Does the Work with Neatness and Dispatch.

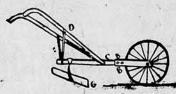

It has always been a problem how to get the wool off the skins of the many millions of sheep which are annually slaughtered in Australia, South America and on the continent of Europe. An electrical apparatus for the purpose has been patented, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. The invention, the first idea of which is said to have been struck by a lady, consists of an electric cautery or fleshing knife, by which the wool may be shorn from the skin rapidly and without injury either to the wool or the pelt. The knife has a very short and very wide blade, which is fitted on a handle electrically connected. To remove the wool the cautery is simply pushed along the surface of the skin. The red-hot knife instantly mows down the wool, and the speed at which the work can be done is governed by the deftness of the operator. The heat need not affect either the skin or the wool, provided that the knife is properly manipulated. With a few hours' practice, it is estimated, a girl can dewool from eight to a dozen skins per hour, and the cost of the current should be not greater than one cent for 18 hours' work. The advantages of the system are that the wool need not be injured by Ihme, chemicals or other deleterious influences, and the mere singing of the end of each fiber is imperceptible. It is claimed that the skin, which presum- "Yes, my dear count," was the reply.

South America, Immediately after the KERRARARARARARARAR slaughtering of the sheep, is in a more perfect condition for the purposes of the tanner. The estimate of the cost of such operations shows the great economy of the electrical method of dewooling. It now costs the fellmonger eight cents a skin to wet down, limestone, or sweat the skin into condition for the puller, and the pulling wages range from 11 cents to 17 cents per dozen skins.

ONION CULTIVATOR.

Handy Implement Which Any Blacksmith Can Make at a · Trifling Expense.

Here is an illustration of a cultivator which we have used with great success in cultivating onions. A common blacksmith can make it. The wheel can be of either wood or iron. It should have two-inch tire and a diameter of about

AN ONION CULTIVATOR. 16 inches. B B are two irons that are fastened to the beam. These irons are one-quarter inch thick and two inches wide, and bolted to the beam. C is the beam and is one and one-half inches square. D represents the handles. E is two braces made of one-fourth by two-inch iron. There can be several holes made in the braces. The handles can be lowered and raised to suit. F is the iron to which the knife is fastened and is made of one-fourth inch iron. G is the blade. We made ours out of an old cross cut saw. It is eight inches long and two and one-half inches wide. At each end there should be high guards. Then there will be no danger of covering the young plants. The blade can be made any length that the distance between the rows requires .-Ira Graber, in Agricultural Epitomist.

A Double Revenge.

German Rape in the Garden. The new forage plant-German rape which has been praised so highly for stock, is now known to be one of the best and cheapest garden crops that can be used for "greens," being su-perior to kale in rapidity of growth and yield of leaves. It can also be used for successive crops, as the seed may be sown from early spring until quite late in summer. It belongs to the kale family, and when seeded thickly in rows it produces small and tender stalks and grows wherever kale can be produced. It is really a valuable acquisition to the list of garden plants, as well as being a profitable crop for field culture.

Butter Without Churning.

It is reported that a Swedish inventor has introduced what he terms a "radiator," which produces butter from milk without churning. It combines the principle of the well known separator, so far as removing the cream from the milk is concerned, but the butter is produced from the cream. the whole operation of pasteurizing the milk, separating the cream and converting it into butter being done at the same time with the one machine.

Women Should Know It.

Many women suffer untold agony and misery because the nature of their disease is not correctly understood. They have been led to believe that womb trouble or female weakness of some sort is responsible for the many ills that beset womankind.

Neuralgia, nervousness, headache puffy or dark circles under the eyes puffy or dark circles under the eyes, rheumatism, a dragging pain or dull ache in the back, weakness or bearing, down sensation, profuse or scanty supply of urine with strong odor, frequent desire to pass it with scalding or burning sensation, sediment in it after standing in bottle or common glass for twenty-four hours, are signs of kidney twenty-four hours, are signs of kidney and bladder trouble.

The above symptoms are often at-tributed by the patient herself, or by her physician, to female weakness or womb trouble. Hence, so many fail to obtain relief, because they are treating not the disease itself, but a reflection of the primary cause, which is kidney trouble.

In fact, women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and blad-der trouble and both need the same remedy.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, is the great discovery of the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is easy to get at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar.

To prove its wonderful merits, you may have a sample bottle and book telling all about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Kindly mention THE NORWALK GAZETTE and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Bing-hampton, N. Y.

General Lawton's Tour Extending

Municipal Government In Luzon. WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. - General Lawton's course in extending municipal government in the Philippines is explained in detail in Manila newspapers just received at the war department. They state that the general has made a tour of many towns along the line of his division, including Santa Anna, Pandacan and San Felipe, and has established in each a complete system of civil government. The inhebitants of the towns are ment. The inhabitants of the towns are to have entire charge of affairs, accord ing to General Lawton's system. The general called before him the principal men of the towns and, after pointing out the general purposes and desires of the American government, had these natives designate a mayor, vice mayor and head men for the several wards. General Lawton explained to the inhabitants that the United States govern-ment did not wish to meddle at all with the local affairs of the people, and they were told to proceed with tax levies, to start schools and public improvements and to establish such civil offices as they

The people were told that, the tax money was to be expended at home, and none of it was to be contributed to the general government. General Lawton also established the first civil government at Baluag, Senor Guerero being installed as captain general. Local governments also have been put in force at Bacoor, Paranac and Las Pinas.

Thinks We Can Do It.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—The Daily Chronicle says editorially this morning: "If the United States are determined to conquer the Philippines by sheer force of arms, they can and will do it. If, on the other hand, they resolve to rule this obstinate but interesting race by making them the masters of their own destinies, the task is quite as much within their range and would involve a smaller expenditure of time and effort."

TRIES TO AVOID WAR

Chamberlain Does Everything to Prevent a Rupture.

TRANSVAAL SITUATION COMPLICATED

The Strong Feeling Against War Among Dutch Residents at the Cape Makes the Government Anxions to Keep the Peace.

LONDON, Sept. 1.-The situation in South Africa has become rather complicated. The strong feeling of the Dutch element in the Cape Colony evidently influences the secretary of state for the colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, to do everything possible to avert a rupture and explains the further endeavor, after a conference at Cape Town, to arrange for the constitution of an arbitration court and to deal with the question of suzerginty, which, rather than franchise, now takes the leading place in the controversy.

Portugal's action in permitting the transit of the ammunition consigned to the Transvaal by way of Delagoa bay occasioned some surprise at first, but after the action of the Cape government and until an actual state of warfare exists it is recognized that the Portuguese government could hardly have acted otherwise. The British papers now solace themselves with the remark that England can easily prevent such shipments if a crisis demands extreme measures and that the action of Portugal does not imply unfriendliness toward Great Britain. The special dispatches from Johannes burg express the belief that the volks raad will oppose President Kruger going to Cape Town. General Joubert is credited with saying, "There will not be war, but Great Britain will not get all she wants." The uitlanders are much irritated at the prospect of further delays.

Comments of London Papers. LONDON, Sept. 1.-The Cape Town correspondent of The Daily Mail says: "Much disappointment is felt here at the proposal of a conference, as tending to prolong the agony indefinitely."

The Daily Chronicle publishes the fol-lowing dispatch from Cape Town: "It is rumored here that Sir Alfred Milner, governor of the Cape Colony, contem-plates dismissing the Schreiner ministry under his special powers. If he does, it is feared that a rebellion will break out, as the Dutch would believe that Great Britain is again forcing Cecil Rhodes to the front."

The Pretoria correspondent of The Daily Chronicle says: "President Kruger is not likely to agree to confer with Sir Alfred Milner at Cape Town, but he might go to Colesberg, just within the borders of the Cape Colony." The Daily News says: "Mr. Chamberlain's dispatches exhibit a game of patience almost in the aspect of comedy

The Standard, however, says: "Diplomatic dalliance only postpones the evil day and prepares for us a still severer conflict. Until we resort to decisive measures every day adds to the offensive and defensive strength of the Boers and proportionately fosters their infatuated belief in their own invincibility, which lies at the root of their obduracy. Thus we are confronted with an exceedingly grave question." A petition from the Netherlands Woman's Disarmament league has been presented to the queen praying her in the name of womanhood and motherhood to avoid war with the Boers and saying it would "cast a frightful blot upon her majesty's most glorious reign.'

Another Conference Suggested.

PRETORIA, South African Republic, Sept. 1.-The Transvaal's note to Great Britain offering the five year franchise and the other concessions was strongly worded and explained that the concessions were made with a sincere desire fully to settle all differences, to put an end to strained relations and to avert a disastrous war. Therefore a prompt answer was requested. The note of Mr. Conyngham Greene in reply was conciliatory and tantamount to an acceptance of the five year offer. It agreed to waive the suggested commission of inquiry provided a representative to be appointed by Sir Alfred Milner should be given facilities in Pretoria to make an investigation of the franchise question and provided the report of such representative should prove satisfactory. Otherwise the Transvaal government was requested to await further suggestions from the imperial government before submitting new proposals to the volksraad." Mr. Greene's note, in conclusion, suggested a further conference at Cape Town.

Cadet Smith Dismissed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 .- On the recommendation of the Military academy the president has directed the summary dismissal from the service of the United States of Cadet Philip F. Smith of the third class "for harassing and annoying a fourth class man." Smith was appointed to the academy from the Fifth district of Nebraska in June, 1897. In a memorandum in regard to the case given out at the war department it is stated that "it is the intention of the secretary of war to inflict the most summary and exemplary punishment upon all cadets of the Military academy detected in hazing new cadets."

Preparing For the Census.

HAVANA, Sept. 1 .- Governor General Brooke received the census inspectors and told them he had ordered all the material necessary for taking the census to be forwarded to the various headquarters in the provinces and had authorized the inspector for Havana to take possession of the furniture and other articles now at Quinta de los Molinos. Mr. Vic-tor H. Olmstead, assistant director of the census, has been given a temporary office at the palace, where he is arranging the geographical division of the island. He has received numerous Cubans in search of positions connected with the census

Dewey Sails For Gibraltar.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—Admiral
Dewey advised the navy department of his sailing from Villefranche for Gibraltar. It is expected he will remain there until about Sept. 15. His further stay in foreign waters will be so short that the navy department is now holding all mail for the admiral and his asso-ciates on the Olympia.

Major Harrison Well Again. HAVANA, Sept. 1 .-- Major Russell B. Harrison, the inspector general, wires General Lee that he has overcome the yellow fever, adding that he has had the very best nursing and care throughout.

FIVE DIED ON VOYAGE.

Manila Transport Grant Arrives With 1.619 Souls Aboard.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31.—The transport Grant, which arrived Tuesday night from Manila, lands at San Francisco 30 officers and 516 enlisted men of the First North Dakota infantry, United States volunteers; 28 officers and 445 enlisted men of the First Idaho infantry, United States volunteers; 12 officers and 243 enlisted men of the First Wyoming infantry, two officers and 57 enlisted men of Battery A, Wyoming light artillery, United States volunteers; 25 convalescent patients, seven naval prisoners, two naval hospital patients and four civilian passengers. The transport carried in addition a crew of 156 men, making a total on board of 1,619 persons. On August 13 a supposed case of smallpox was discovered at Nagasaki on the Grant. The vessel, with troops and all hands, was ordered to the quarantine station, where the suspect was taken ashore. All hands went ashore, and passengers and ship were fumigated. The ship was released the next day, Aug. 14, and returned to Yokohama, sailing thence for San Francisco on the following day. During the voyage there were five McKinley's Proclamation to Cuba.

HAVANA, Aug. 31.-Governor General Brooke has received the following proclamation from the president: "To the People of Cuba: The disorganized condition of your island resulting from the war and the absence of any generally recognized authority aside from the tem porary military control of the United States have made it necessary that the United States should follow the restoration of order and peaceful industry by giving its assistance and supervision to the successive steps by which you will proceed to the establishment of an effective system of self government. As a preliminary step in the performance of this duty I have directed that a census of the people of Cuba be taken and have appointed competent and disinterested citizens of Cuba as enumerators and supervisors. It is important for the proper arrangement of your new government that the information sought shall be fully and accurately given, and I request that by every means in your power you aid the officers appointed in the per-formance of their duties."

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The challenging yacht Shamrock had many visitors as she lay at her anchorage off Tompkinsville, but none was allowed on board. Those who expected to see the yacht get under way and sail about the harbor were disappointed. The crew spent the forenoon varnishing the spars and scraping the deck and rails. David Barrie, with Captain Mathews and Chevalier de Martin, returned to the steam yacht Erin early in the morning. They had been to Boston and Newport. At the latter place they were entertained on board the United States cruiser New York by Captain Chadwick and the other officers of that ship. They also had a peep at the Columbia. Cap-tains Hogarth and Winge decline to say when they will put sail on the yacht and give her a trial. Her regular trial spins, however, will not begin until the day after Designer Will Fife, Jr., arrives with Sir Thomas Lipton and his party on the Campania, which is expected to reach quarantine before dark on Friday night.

1 Dangerous Operation. NEW LAVEN, Aug. 31. - The 8 month-old child of Robert Liddell, afflicted with complete ossification of the need, was a costally operated on at Grace hospi. The c. From birth the child's head similard no signs of development, and ose and on set in, causing partial paralysis of the left side. This was due to the pressure of the skull upon the brain, and by the operation a portion of the skull was removed. It is believed that the child will completely recover.

Movements of Warships.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.-The Gwin has sailed from Brooklyn for Annapolis. The Annapolis has arrived at Norfolk and the New York at Newport. The Princeton has sailed from Chee Foo for Shanghai. Orders have been given to put the practice ship Annapolis out of commission at the Norfolk navy The collier Alexander left Norfolk Tuesday with a full cargo of coal for the naval station at Manila. She will make the trip by way of the Suez canal.

A Misleading Advertisement.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Census buwashington, Aug. 31.—Census bureau officials have discovered that advertisements are being printed and circulated to the effect that 50,000 census enumerators are wanted, without examination, and that full perfeculars could be had by forwarding month to the address given. The scheme is denounced by Director Merriam, and stars will be taken to stop the circulation of the advertisements, which are likely to impose upon ments, which are likely to impose upon the credulous.

COLD STORAGE PAYS.

In Present Conditions City Merchants Reap a Big Profit Which Fruit Growers Should Sage.

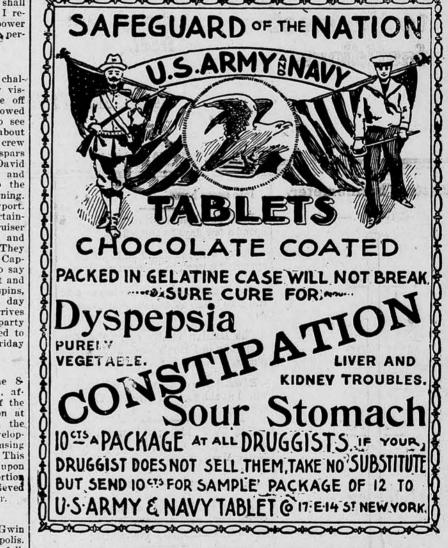

The fruit farm is the proper place for the cold storage of fruit. This is acknowledged now by the best authorities on cold storage. The reason for this is that the fruit must of necessity be injured and wasted in handling before it reaches the cold storage in the cities. In order to keep fruits for a long time in cold storage they must be raised and packed especially for this. Dealers who receive a surplus of fruit in hot weather send part of it in cold storage for a few days to prevent its rotting on their hands, but this is very different from the cold storage of fruits for a long period until all of the other fruit is off the market. Thus grapes, pears, apples and similar fruits are put away in cold storage until long past middle winter. Then they are brought out and sold for fancy prices. The loss which the dealers suffer in handling this fruit is due to the deterioration of the fruits while in transit to the city. In the great lake grape districts in western New York the growers have their own cold storage, and they have found that the grapes picked from the vines and carried direct to the cold storage house keep much better and longer than any put in cold storage in the cities. These grapes can be marketed in the middle of winter without much loss from waste.

The possibilities of cold storage on the farm will be appreciated by another generation, and every large fruit farm will have its cold storage house. The ordinary ice house is used on some farms where ice can be easily obtained in the winter season. But the farmer situated inland from any body of fresh water is not rendered helpless. The ammonia and dry air process of freezing and making cold storage is even cheaper than using ice. It costs more at the beginning to start an ammonia cold-storage plant, but after it has once been erected the cost of maintaining it is cheaper than using ice. The dry cold air that comes from one of these cold-storage plants is better for the fruits than the damp air that prevails in an icehouse. The construction of such a cold-storage house by a number of farmers in one locality would prove a feasible plan, and in the end the cooperative work would pay. The lack of cold-storage facilities has caused thousands of dollars' worth of loss on nearly every fruit farm of any size in the country. Not only would such a storage place be of inestimable value in keeping the fruits a few weeks to take advantage of the markets, but it would serve as a place to keep certain fruits for out of season markets when prices always rule high. At present the merchants in the cities reap all this profit.-S. W. Chambers, in Ameri-

The Milk Cow's Condition.

As we have before averred, the weakest spot in our dairy practice is the wintering of the milkers, the condition of poverty they are allowed to run down to when dry. A milking cow should be poor once a year, not poverty stricken, but robust without flesh, and that period should be at the drying-off point. As soon as a cow is put dry she should again begin to improve her condition and continue it surely to calving, otherwise she can never do her best. A proper cow will always run herself down the first three or four months of her milking season, and this is a very good index to a cow's merit.-Agricultural Gazette (Tasmania).

GALLANTBOYSINBLUE

Activity is the word all along the line in the preparations for the national encampment of the Grand Army next week.

In the Quaker City, which is to receive and welcome the "vets," the sounds of the saw and hammer ring loud and clear above the noise of the busy street. Banners and bunting meet the eye everywhere. Store windows are being decorated and pictures of the heroes of '61 greet the eye in every prominent place.

At Camp Sexton, upon Belmont Hil, the spot made historic by Washington, Lafayette and other famous revolutionary heroes, a tented city has sprung up, and the place has assumed a very warlike appearance. At the different barracks throughout the city, in each one of which from fifty to one thousand men are to be quartered, workmen are busy fitting them out for the comfort and convenience of the old soldiers.

The various committees of the Grand Army posts in that city are all prepared to give the boys in blue a grand welcome. Receptions have been arranged for the visiting posts, and the old "vets' will have a royal time.

Captain Clark, the hero of the Oregon, has arranged an exhibition for the benefit of the visitors to the encampment that will be unlike anything ever attempted in the world before, because of the vast cost of the exhibits and 'the impossiblity of procuring them.

In fact, the exhibition could only be given by a naval power. It will consist of four men-of-war, which will show the growth of the American navy from the slow-steaming wooden battleship to the fleetest steel cruiser in the

These ships will be the Richmond, the Catskill, the Miantonomoh and the Columbia. They are now close together on the Delaware front and on each there is a crew of men busily engaged in getting everything in readiness for next week.

At a special meeting of Buckingham Post, G. A. R., of this city, Wednesday evening, the committee of arrangements announced that everything was in readiness for their departure for Philadelphia on the 9:03 train next Monday morning.

The headquarters of the Post in Philadelphia will be at No. 254 South 9th street where quarters have been engaged, and everything possible done to make the visit a pleasant one.

The following have announced their intention of attending the encamp-

FANLIGHT THIEVES.

Finch's drug-store at the east end of the Washington street bridge was entered through the failight over the front door at an early hour Thursday morning and the cash register containing about $30 carried away.

Mr Griffin locked the store up about 12.15 o'clock in the morning and went down in the cellar to the toilet room.

He had been in the cellar but a few minutes when he heard some one up stairs in the store. Thinking the clerk had stopped in on his way home he thought nothing of the matter.

When he came up stairs a few minutes later, however, he discovered the fanlight over the front doors open and both doors standing wide open. He also made the discovery that the cash register containing about $30 was missing from its usual place on the counter.

He notified the police and two South Norwalk officers went to the scene with a lantern, but while they were group ing about with the light Mr. Griffin discovered the register in Daniel L'Hommedieu's back yard across the street from the drug store, about 3 o'clock in the morning. It had been opened and all of the money abstracted, the thieves leaving only a few pa-

The South Norwalk police are very mysterious over the affair, one of them coming to this city with an air of mystery about him that excited the sus picions of every one who saw him, and soon led to the discovery that another burglary had been committed on their

TO GOVERN PORTO RICO.

Insular Commission Recommends

Civil Form of Government. WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.-The insu lar commission, consisting of General Kennedy, Judge Curtis and Major Watkins, which has given six months' study to the conditions of the island of Porto Rico, has made its report to Secretary Root. It recommends a form of civil government of the islands, to take the place of the present military regime, and submits for adoption a code of laws. These laws, it recommends, should be placed in operation by executive decree arguing that a congressional enactment of general laws would change the status the island toward the United States and make it part of the constitutional territory of the United States. The code of laws and the civil government pro-posed do not give the Porto Ricans the elective franchise for any offices nor extend to them the privilege of trial by jury except in United States courts in cases of felonies involving an amount in excess of $500. It recommends that the military force remain in the island, but be kept in the background and touch the people only with a soft hand. English is to be made the official language of the island, but for the present all except the federal courts are to be conducted in Spanish. The code abrogates all Spanish law and royal decrees and all systems of pro-cedure and substitutes the provisions of the code modified after the laws of the states of the United States and declares the common law and principles of equity to be in future the law of the land where no specified direction is found in the

In place of the Spanish system of courts an American system is provided— a supreme court, a district court and a probate court with limited civil and criminal jurisdiction and justices of the peace and police courts in the cities, and a federal court to have exclusive jurisdiction of all federal questions and concurrent jurisdiction in civil and criminal matters.

There are to be five supreme judges, three of whom are to be Americans and two natives; two federal judges, three district judges and 11 probate judges, one attorney general and one deputy, one district attorney and two deputies, one United States marshal and two deputies, one reporter, one clerk and one deputy of the supreme court, one clerk and two deputies of the federal court, with z prosecuting attorney in each of the seven judicial districts of the island, and ay interpreter for each court.

TO INVADE COSTA RICA.

Secret Plot Between Presidents Nicaragua and Honduras.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 31 .- On the authority of an American just returned to this city from Nicaragua, where he has lived for the past seven years, it is stated that there recently took place a secret conference between President Zelaya of Nicaragua and President Terencia Sierra of Honduras, the purpose of which was to effect an offensive alliance between those two countries for an invasion of Costa Rica. The conference took place at Amalpala, Honduras, the chief seaport on the Pacific side, and it is stated that war between the allies and Costa Rica is bound to eventuate. The casus belli is contained in the fact that Nicaragua is intent upon regaining from Costa Rica the province of Guanacaste, the bounda ry line between Costa Rica and Nicara-gua and which is adjacent to the proposed route of the Nicaraguan canal. This province formerly belonged to Nicaragua, but was wrested from the latter country in the last struggle with Costa It is likewise stated that $30,000 Rica. in gold has been shipped to Hamburg and that the father-in-law of President Zelaya is now in Belgium for the purof buying arms for the allied forces also that $25,000 in gold has been sent to Zelaya's agents in New York for the

The New Bankers' Trust Company. NEW YORK, Aug. 31.-The organization of the Bankers' Trust company, with a capital of $1,500,000 and a surplus of $1,500,000, will be completed at a meet ing to be held in a few days. It will apply itself particularly to the business in the Wall street district. The president of the company will be George W. Ely, at present secretary of the Stock Ex The directors of the company will include, besides Mr. Ely, the president, Gilbert M. Plympton, George Coppell, D. Crawford Clark, Bayard Dominick, Albert E. Goodhart, Percival Knauth, John Walter Wood, Jr.; Fran cis S. Smithers, William Schall, Jr.; William H. Hollister, John F. Dryden of Newark, J. N. Simpson, Almeric H.
Paget, William C. Park, Benjamin N.
Duke, Francis H. Leggett, Ransom H.
Thomas, Edmund T. Halsey of Louisville and Edwin Gould. Mr. Ely will probably remain with the Stock Ex change until the trust company is ready to begin business, about the middle of October.

Jimenez's Arrest Unknown. WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.-Without advices from Cuba respecting the re ported arrest of Jimenez at Santiago by order of General Wood the officials here can only conjecture the motive for the order. It is suggested that Jimenez may have disregarded the original order not to land from his ship in violation of the health regulations of the port, and again General Wood may have taken the ground that he was warranted in preventing the use of Cuban soil while under American control for the organization or direction of hostile movements against a government with which the United States is at peace.

Balloonist Killed.

DUBOIS, Pa., Aug. 31.—N. E. Crissey an aeronaut, fell 600 feet to instant death on the Punxsutawney fair grounds Crissey was scheduled to make daily balloon ascensions at the fair grounds this week. He went up in a large tube, which inverted itself at the proper moment, and the balloonist and his parachute shot out and descended. When he ascended yesterday, however, the belt by which he was held broke just as he was inverting his tube, and he shot like a stone to the ground outside the fair inclosure. When picked up, he was dead. Five thousand people saw the ac-cident. Crissey was 25 years old and an experienced balloonist. He belonged in Johnstown, Pa.

Will Make Fort Monroe Impregnable WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Secretary Root has approved the new project for the fortifications at Fort Monroe, Va Under it there will be a saving to the government of about $3,000,000 as compared with the project submitted and adopted about ten years ago, while in the opinion of the engineers the defenses will be absolutely impregnable.

TROLLEYS COLLIDE.

Two loaded trolley cars of the Stamford Street Railway Co., going in opposite directions, collided shortly be for 6 o'clock last night and Miss Pauline Fox, aged 18, and Mrs. Treacey were seriously injured, Miss Fox having a leg broken, and Mrs. Treacy sustaining severe injuries to her side, her shoulder dislocated and wrist sprained.

They were both taken to their homes in the ambulance. Several other persons were injured, but not so seriously. All of the persons that were hurt jumped from the cars, while those that remained aboard escaped with a shaking up. The cars show but little damage from the collision.

On account of the great crowds that attended the swimming contest at Shippan Point extra cars were being run and through some oversight a car that should have waited on a turnout until one from the opposite direction should pass, failed to do so.

S. of T. Sociable-

A sociable in honor of the District Division, S. of T. was held in Concord Division Hall Monday night. A program of music and recitations was rendered and refreshments were served.

Ira F. Hoyt, manager of the Sterling opera house, Derby, and son of I. M. Hoyt of South Norwalk, was the hero of a life saving exploit at Burn's Point in Derby, Sunday afternoon.

About 4 o'clock several boys were in bathing, and on shore there were a few ladies promenading about. It was ebb tide, but one of the boys, named Joseph Guilfoil, who resides in Waterbury, had waded out to deep water. He was carried out with the tide and went under the surface. Being unable to swim he could not save himself and would have been drowned but for the timely arrival of Ira.

When the boy felt that he was in deep water he gave an outcry that attracted the attention of the other boys, among them being his younger brother, and they at once gave the alarm. Ira was sitting on the veranda of the Milford Beach hotel when he heard the cries of the boys and ladies, and rushing down to the beach he saw Cuilfoil struggling in the deep water.

He at once took in the situation and without stopping to take off any clothes dashed in and soon reached the drowning boy, who had sunk for the second time. Ira seized the boy by his arm and swimming out of the deep water soon had him ashore.

Young Guilfoil had swallowed some water, but remedies were applied and he was relieved.

John W. Larkin, city clerk of Derby, also heard the outcry, but was some distance away and before he could reach the boy Ira had him out of dan-P. H. Haugh, Hat-Makers' Union; ger. The people who saw the affair are loud in their praises of Mr. Hoyt for his brave act. The boy's father expressed his gratitude and offered him a sum of money, which Ira refused with thanks.

RIOTING IN CLEVELAND

Mob Attacks Street Cars and Frightens the Passengers.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 30. - Rioting and disorder occurred last night in connection with the strike on the lines of the Big Consolidated Street railway. Four cars were nearly demolished, while the crews were compelled to run for their lives. It was only after determined efforts on the part of 30 policemen under Captain Bradley that order was finally restored.

The first rioting of the evening occurred in Central avenue, where an east bound car jumped from the track at the derailing switch. It was about 6 o'clock, and workingmen were returning home from the factories and mills in the vicinity. A mob of several hundred persons soon gathered, and the lawless element began to stone the car and crew.

Another east bound car soon arrived at the crossing and was brought to a standstill. The motorman and conductor were pulled from the car and only suc ceeded in escaping after passing through a shower of sticks and stones. The crew of the first car fared as bad and even worse, the motorman being badly

A NOVEL EXPOSITION. Beet Sugar Making and a Miniature

Coal Mine In Operation. CHICAGO, Aug. 39 .- Work will be begun within a few weeks on a permanent agricultural exposition building here, to be located at the main entrance to the Union stockyards and to cost $100,000. The building will be a modern, fireproof structure, built of stone, steel and brick, three stories high, 75 feet wide and 200 feet long. On the first floor there will be dozens of rooms, where manufacturers may place on exhibition such of their products as they choose.

On the second floor there will also be number of exhibition rooms and an auditorium with a seating capacity of 700 which is to be used for holding public meetings, conventions, meeting of the state grange and other agricultural organizations.

One of the principal features now se cured will be a model beet sugar factory, showing the process of manufacture from the time the beet is seen growing until it has passed through the factory and comes out sorghum. Another feature will be a miniature coal mine in full operation. Several governors of western states have made application for space and will arrange for the placing of their products in the building. From New York, Boston and Philadelphia come requests for space from many manufacturers. There is to be no charge for admission, and the building will be open every week day, except legal holidays, throughout the

SHAMROCK ALL READY.

The Cup Challenger May Take Her First Spin Today.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.-Sir Thomas Lipton's squadron, consisting of the steam yacht Erin, the challenging sloop Shamrock, the steam tender Nonowantuck, the vapor launch Kiloween and the Tompkinsville, Staten Island, all ready for business, which is likely to begin today, when the Shamrock may take her first trial spin in American waters under her racing rig.

In tow of the tug Lawrence, the Sha rock left her pier in Erie basin at 1230. On her way out, when at a point opposite the Boston drydock No. 1, she Lincoln avenues and attacked a car. The crew was saved from serious injury grounded on the east edge of the channel. The steam dredger Samson was lying in midchannel at work. There was not room for the yacht to pass between her and the west bank of the channel. She fetched up easily and was pulled off in 15 minutes, but the incident developed the fact that the Shamrock draws fully 24 feet of water, for soundings taken after she was clear showed that depth where she had been.

It is said that the Shamrock's present rig is to be amplified considerably when she is in actual fighting trim. Those who are depressed by that statement may be consoled by the fact that she will pay the penalties in time allowance to the Columbia for every inch of sail she car-intense Interest Displayed by Britich Public and Great Indignation Expressed Against Premier Schreiner-Latest Moves.

LONDON, Aug. 30 .- Commenting on the latest utterance of President Kruger of the Transvaal government as cabled From Cape Town, that the South African Republic adhered to its latest offer and would not make any further concessions, the afternoon papers here unanimously draw attention to the increased seriousmess of the Transvaul tension. But in the same breath they express uncertainty xegarding the nature of the concessions Seyond which President Kruger says he will not go. No official announcement has been made of these, though they are generally understood to be a five year anchise and increased uitlander repremutation.

"If this is correct," The Globe says, "it connot be long before diplomacy has to stand aside as of no further service." The Pall Mall Gazette says, "President Kruger's adherence to these would mean adherence to impossible conditions, and if so the situation has come to an ugly head."

The Westminster Gazette, while la menting the immoderation which, it says, sed to the present crisis, admits that "the country is within sight of a war which may shortly be as unavoidable as, on the merits of the question, it would be inex-

To whatever dispatch or conditions President Kruger's defiant remark re ferred, it has brought home sharply the keen possibility of an impending war against no weak kneed adversary. It is said that, with recruits from over the Borders, the Transvaal would have about 60,000 men at its disposal, whereas the most the British now could throw on the frontier would be 30,000, though, of course, this number would be materially increased within a month.

The British public is taking intense interest in the preparations of their own force already in South Africa. Indignation against Hon. W. P. Schreiner, premier of Cape Colony, who in the Cape the customs convention the Orange Free State was justified in importing arms through Cape Colony, is fairly general, though that section which believes that a Boer war would be a crime are making by editorials, petitions, etc., what they appear to think is the last effort to avert wstilities.

The Johannesburg correspondent of The Morning Post says, "President Kru-ger, in the course of an interview today (Tnesday) regarding the crisis, said he considered the Boer position best defined by psalm 83."

The Pretoria correspondent of The Daily Chronicle says: "Events have tak-eu an alarming turn. Great Britain, at the request of the uitlanders' council, has enlarged the original demands of Sir Alfred Milner, the British high commissioner, and is adopting the view of Cecil Rhodes, that President Kruger will never withstand an ultimatum. I have, however, high authority for asserting that President Kruger, the volksraad and the mation will unitedly resist an unconditional demand for giving effect to the Milner programme, but will concede reforms on the conditions already reported."

the Ohio Democrats.

RESULT DECISIVELY FORECASTED.

His Managers So Sure of His Victor; That They Are Inclined to Be Liberal to Opponents-Lively Times In Zanesville.

ZANESVILLE, O., Aug. 30. - Al though the Democratic state ticket will not be nominated till today, the result was decisively forecasted in the preliminary meetings last evening. The Mc-Lean men carried a large majority of the 21 congressional districts and will control not only the convention, but also all the party machinery in Ohio until the next presidential election, since the members of all committees have been selected and through them all the officers of the convention as well as those who will be in charge of the campaign. The McLean men are disposed to be liberal to their opponents.

After it was found that McLean had at the district meetings secured control of all committees many called on him and promised support from unexpected quarters. McLean and his managers then advised that all the candidates for governor be voted for on the first ballot, as originally instructed, and it was even suggested that there might be two ballots, so as to give as many complimentary votes as possible to the opposing candidates. It was thought that this would make them feel better for the campaign and also show what foundation there was for the claims of some of the Columbus managers of Colonel Kilbourne. At the same time it would afford an opportunity for an enthusiastic and dramatic scene when all the scattering delegations flocked to the McLean standard on the second ballot. Mr. McLean was quite modest in acknowledging the ovations last evening. The visiting clubs and delegations serenaded him. He acknowledged their congratulations with thanks, but made no speeches. Colonel Kilbourne was equally happy in his acknowlegments of serenades and did some talking. Some candidates for other places on the state ticket had very lively demonstrations in their interest, and

Bryan and McLean.

It is quite probable that the name of Mr. McLean will be presented to the convention very briefly. Mr. McLean does not know who will present his name. He does not believe much in speeches and says he would prefer to have his name presented without commendation or a word of comment. General A. J. Warner will present the name of Colonel Kilbourne in a stirring speech, and much eloquence will be expended on the other candidates.

most of them were also enthusiastic for

The preliminary meetings were in some cases much more spirited than expected. The Kilbourne men contested every place on the long lists. The result shows that the McLean men carried 14 of the 21 congressional districts to five for the combined opposition, with the two Cleveland districts contested. As the McLean men control the committee on credentials, they claim that they have the convention 16 to 5 by districts as well as 16 to 1 for free silver. The McLean men carried the Toledo district by only three votes and two other districts by only one vote each, one of the latter being the district of Congressman Norton, who is the Mc-Lean man for permanent chairman. The other close shave was in the Fifteenth district, in which Zanesville is located and also Marietta, the home of General A. J. Warner, who will present Kilbourne's name. The committee on permanent organization decided to report to the convention as follows: For permanent chairman, Judge W. P. Mooney of St. Mary's, de-feating Congressman Norton by a vote of 12 to 9; for permanent secretary, W. L. Finley of Bucyrus, defeating by a vote of 12 to 9 Thomas J. Cogan of Cincinnati; W. E. Decker of Paulding for assistant secretary, A. A. Shettler of Columbus for sergeant at arms and W. E. Renan for assistant were elected without opposition. The Kilbourne men and other anti-Mc-Lean men claim this as a 12 to 9 victory, as Dr. Norton and Thomas Cogan are known to be strong McLean men. McLean men say they can afford to be magnanimous, that Judge Mooney is impartial and there is no objection to him, as there was to Norton, who had become objectionable to some anti-McLean men.

At the district meeting General Warner spoke bitterly against the McLean men. After a free for all fight the anti-McLean men bolted and left the room before this district meeting was con cluded. The McLean men control the contests, the construction - the platform and everything else, as they will the convention.

There have been several anpleasant passages between leaders, notably one between Congressman John J. Lentz and Allen W. Thurman.

The Coliseum Disaster.

CHICAGO, Aug. 30 .- Coroner Berz began an investigation of the Coliseum disaster to ascertain who may be held legally responsible for the accident. The discovery was made by the coroner that when the iron frame fell it was used to support pulleys for hoisting heavy timbers. This knowledge was withheld the day before and caused a sensation when it was obtained. search was then made for John J. Johnson, the foreman, with a view to questioning him as to whether the arches had been used as supports for the hoist ing tackle for the iron and timbers raised and lowered. Johnson could not be found. It developed that since an hour after the accident he has not been seen. He lives at Twenty-eighth street and Lowe avenue, but as far as could be learned had not been home. His wife is out of the city, and his house is locked. James Wilson, an acquaintance of Johnson, said Johnson was despondent after the accident and threatened to commit suicide. It is not believed, however, that he has killed himself, and he is expected to turn up within a few days.

Yale Professor Resigns. NEW HAVEN, Aug. 30 .- The resignation of Rev. Harlan Creelman, who for six years has been prominent in the department of Biblical literature at Yale university, is announced. He resigned to accept the position of professor of He-brew and Old Testament literature in the Congregational college of Canada. This is affiliated with McGill university at Montreal.

Positions of Trust.

CONCILIATION POLICY WON'T WORK.

Several Mayors Appointed by Advisory Commission Aided Insurgents-Trouble May Be Brewing In Manila-Other News.

MANILA, Aug. 28.-Recent events have proved somewhat discouraging to officials who are trying to accompany war with a policy of conciliation. Two new municipal governments have collapsed through the treachery of the mayors. Yesterday the mayor of Sau Pedro Macati, who was elected by the people under the direction of Professor Dean Worcester of the United States advisory commission for the Philippines, was brought to Manila and lodged in jail. The United States officers at San Pedro Macati found that he was using his office as a recruiting station for the Philippine army. Four disguised insurgent officers were helping him.

The mayor of Balinag was also arrested and confined in the same prison. The Americans caught him passing between the lines of the two armies with incriminating documents, which the authorities secured. Another prominent native mayor is under surveillance.

When the result of the election at Imus, which General Lawton and Pro-Worcester engineered, was announced, the Americans inquired as to the whereabouts of the people's choice and were informed that he was in prison at Bilibid, where the authorities had placed him on suspicion of being a revolutionist. He was released and installed as mayor.

Such events and conditions tend give color to the assertions of foreign residents acquainted with the native character, who insist that a great majority of them sympathize with the insurrection and elect officials whom they know to be revolutionists.

For two weeks Manila has been policed at night with unusual vigilance. Apparently the authorities are expecting trouble. The trend of affairs tends to make the policy of leniency unpopular among the Americans. When they abandoned Morong, they burned the whole town.

Colonel Smith of the Twelfth infantry, who is in command at Angeles, is skeptical regarding Filipino friendliness. Instead of allowing the natives to return to the town, as heretofore, he has ordered his troops to shoot all men trying to pass the lines and to turn back the women and children.

He recently gave the amigos in the town an opportunity to prove their pro-fessed friendship, putting them to work at digging trenches and cleaning streets, but this only displeased them.

The foremost citizen of Angeles, a lawyer who had welcomed the Americans with a great show of cordiality, was found communicating with the insurgents. The Americans promptly marched him off to San Fernando to stand trial.

Want Discharges For Their Friends. CLEVELAND, Aug. 28 .- A determined effort is being made to secure the discharge of a number of volunteers in the Fourteenth United States infantry, now stationed at Manila. A meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Alexander. 751 Giddings avenue, to discuss means to secure the discharge of the boys. There are over 200 Clevelanders in the regiment, and they should have received their discharges April 10. Two letters from Adjutant Ward were shown at the meeting. They were dated a few hours apart, but each was a direct contradiction of the other. In one the adjutant said the boys of the Fourth regiment would arrive home from Philippines on the Pennsylvania, and in the other letter he said the department was unable to say when the boys would arrive in this country. The letters will be submitted to Congressman Burton. The petition asking for the discharge of the volunteers has over 1,200 signatures.

He Will Be the Nominee of Filipinos Act Treacherously In Chicago Building Crushed by Its Own Weight.

AT LEAST SIX WORKMEN WERE KILLED

The Structure, Which Was Not Quite Finished, Fell to the Ground Because of Its Top Heavy Supporting Arches.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.-Twelve steel arches, each weighing 33 tons, which were to have supported the superstructure of the Coliseum building, in course of erection on Wabash avenue, between Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets, fell to the ground late yesterday afternoon. It is known that six lives were crushed out. The bodies of three men are supposed to be under the wreckage. Seven are in the hospital with injuries received in the accident, and of these two will surely die, one may possibly recover, and the rest are for the greater part seriously injured.

The dead are: Charles Walpot, crushed to death; Stephen J. Thompson, crushed to death; John Fay, head crushed; Richard Sherman, head cut off; Edward Murray, head and both legs cut off, and Theodore Thorne, crushed to death. The missing, supposed to be under the ruins, are Frank Logan, Alexander Mil-las and Samuel Smith.

The fatally injured are: John Dowd, both legs broken, both eyes knocked out and internal injuries; John White, cut on head and right side and internal injuries. Others injured are: Cornelius Toomey, head crushed and internal injuries, may recover; Peter Delletre, crushed about shoulders and chest, serious; John Hawthorne, head cut and internal injuries, se-

All of the 12 arches were standing, the twelfth and last having been completed yesterday. It was the intention of the steel contractors, the Pittsburg Bridge company of Pittsburg, to turn over its work last night to the general contract-ors. The immense "traveler," or derrick, which had been used in the erection of the arches had been removed, and the agents of the bridge company were accounting their work as practically completed, when suddenly and without the slightest warning the arch last put in place suddenly fell over against the one next to it. The weight was too much for this. It gave way, crashed against the third, and then one by one the great steel span fell over to the south precisely in the same manner as a number of cards would fall.

Nearly all the men who were killed were at work on top of the arches 30 feet above the ground. Some of them made futile attempts to slide down the side of the arches, but before they could save themselves were hurled to the ground. Many of them uttered piercing shricks for aid as they fell. Most of them were killed outright by the awful nature of their injuries. The skulls of the unfortunate men were crushed into shapeless masses, their limbs were cut off as if by a monster knife, and they were mangled beyond recognition. The immense structure began falling slowly, each arch being sustained by the crossbeams supporting the entire structure. As the mass gained impetus bars of iron inches thick snapped with a loud report, and the great mass moved faster and faster in its descent. With a crash that was heard blocks distant the structure fell, leaving the walls practically uninjured.

An immense crowd gathered around the place, and, despite the efforts of the police, who were close at hand, they swarmed over the mass of wreckage, making desperate but ill directed efforts to drag out the dead and to save the wounded. It was only with the greatest difficulty that the police were finally able to drive back the crowd and give the firemen and uninjured workmen a chance to rescue the injured. That more men were not killed and injured was almost a miracle. Fully 50 men were at work in the space covered by the arches as they fell. A number of the men jumped into small excavations, of which there are many in the ground beneath the steel works, and were saved from the grant masses of steel that crashed down out them. Several of them were standing inder the arches when they commenced to fall and, amplies to the side walls by great good. running to the side walls, by great good fortune happened to stand in the space left vacast by the curve of the arches away from the side walls. Had the arches fallen to either side the loss of life must have been much heavier, but they fell true to the south on a line parallel to the side of the building, and none of them save the two southern arches fell at all outside of the space to be occupied by the building.

Edward Bindon, engineer, who was tending one of the engines at the south end of the structure, attributes his escape to a sudden inspiration. He was at work at his post, when he heard shouts from above and the noise of twisting girders. Ten feet away, on the ground floor, was a pile of ironwork which had not yet been used on the building. Bindon threw himself against the pile of girders on the floor, and under its protecting sides he lay while the massive beams from above fell on all sides about him. One of the largest arches fell dirictly across the pile, but Bindon was not

Four Are Dead, and but For Rapid Work by Inmates Many More Victims Would Have Fallen In the Flames.

SPARKILL, N. Y., Aug. 29.-A fierce fire, swift and terrifying in its destructive power, swept through the group of buildings at St. Agnes' convent yes-terday and left in its ashen wake the bodies of four victims. It wiped out nine out of a total of ten buildings in the group, and that it did not claim more victims is due alone to the bravery in the face of danger and death of the Sisters of Charity who conducted the convent and orphanage and the heroism of some of the older inmates.

The fire occurred about 1 o'clock in the morning and found the 400 tenants of the institution asleep. There was a hasty but timely warning that started the he roic work of rescue. Hundreds were got out in almost perfect order, but a score who risked their lives to save others were finally forced to either jump from the upper stories or make desperate dashes through stairways and corridors filled with flame and smoke. The known dead are: Helen Brown, aged 6 years; Emma Mackin, aged 7 years, Jane —, aged 70 years, and Mary Kate McCarthy, aged 28 years. The missing and unaccounted for are: Therese Murphy, aged 16 years, and Mary Brown, aged 4 years.

The fire was discovered in the lavatory, a separate building, which stood in the northwest corner of the almost perfect square formed by the ten buildings in the group. It was seen first by Watchman John Lynch, who gave an immediate alarm. The clang of the electric gong and the loud cries of the watchman had hardly begun to ring through the convent before the fire had attacked the archway and was eating its way into the first dor-mitory, in which slept 200 boys.

The boys in the first dormitory got the first warning. Sister Reginald, who had trained the lads in the fire drill, rushed down the line of white beds and, arousing the sleepers, clapped her hands, the simple fire signal followed in the orphanage. The little chaps turned out with a rush, and while some waited to hustle into clothes the majority rushed to the front of the building. By that time the second dormitory, where the little shavers slept, was ablaze, and the older lads soon realized that there was work for them to do. To a boy they made a dash for the building and were soon carrying the smaller fellows out. There was death in the flame and death in the smoke, but no one hesitated. The sisters stood at their posts, and little squads of truly great heroes dashed in, bundled up the sleepy waifs and dashed out with them. These lads are the waifs of the streets, the tough little lads that the Gerry society reaches out for, but they were offering up their lives for their weaker fellows.

Meantime there were other stirring scenes. The convent and chapel made a great stack of flame, and between them and the second dormitory the girls' dormitory blazed and crackled as the fire leaped up its wooden walls. A dozen sisters were cut off in the upper stories of the convent building. They were forced to the windows, and while some climbed out to the sills others knelt at the casements in prayer. There were cries for aid. Engineer L. Otto placed a long ladder against the outer wall and by speedy and heroic work managed to res cue half a dozen. Six were forced to jump for their lives, and fortunately, with one exception, Sister Bertrand, all escaped without serious injury.

The fire reached the girls' dormitory last, but once it took hold of the building it burned fiercely. Most of the girls were on the upper floors, and it was with the greatest difficulty that they were got out. Here again did the sisters make a wonderful display of self sacrifice. They were the last to leave the building. Shortly after the last of the rescuers left there was a counting of heads, and the discovery was made that two baby boys were missing. They could be no where but in the building that seemed completely enveloped in flame. It seemed too late to save them. Suddenly out of the crowd broke John Cody, a 15-yearold boy. He made straight for the door and paid no heed to the calls that warned him of his danger. He gained the corridor and disappeared. It was thought that he would suffocate in the smoke. minute later Cody came dashing out of the building, and under each arm he carried one of the missing boys. His tearful friends embraced him in their joy. Firemen came rushing from Piermont and Nyack, but the best they could do was to save the hospital, a large frame two story building that stood immediate ly in the rear of the main group. Hundreds of townspeople of Sparkill and the surrounding country gathered very quickly, and they, with the sisters, who quickly recovered their composure, joined in the care of the injured and unhoused children. It was decided to remove the entire party to the Blauvelt mansion, and soon teams were provided and the scantily clad children were being hurried over the hills to that point. As far as known but one person actually perished in the fire itself. That was Jane, an old pensioner, aged 70 years. She was asleep in the servants' quarters. and if she heard a warning could not heed it. Helen Brown and Emma Mackin died from convulsions that resulted from fright. Kate Mary McCarthy was servant in the convent and had organic heart trouble. She was badly frightened, collapsed in the grounds and died later. The case of Therese Murphy and Mary Brown is a mystery. It is believed that they both escaped from the fire, but that the former became demented and is leading the other girl in a wild chase through the woods in the Rockland hills.

There were 326 children in the orphanage, 60 of whom were girls, and their ages ranged from 2 to 16 years. Most of them were from New York city and were in most instances committed by the Gerry society and city courts. The house was incorporated and got most of its support from public funds, but it also had a private income. The value of the property destroyed is placed at $150,000, and the insurance is roughly stated to be The heaviest individual loser is Rev. St. Agnes' Convent at Sparkill | Bakers and Hackmen Threaten to Join the Masons.

WOULD CAUSE A BUSINESS TIE UP.

Private Householders Would Also Suffer, as Few Have Facilities For Making Bread-Other

News of the Capital.

HAVANA, Aug. 28 .- The strike in Havana is beginning to cause genuine alarm among the citizens, as it is supas they have threatened. A strike on their part would cause a good deal of hardship, as few private households have facilities for baking their own bread. The hackmen also threaten to strike within the next few days, if the strike of the masons does not soon terminate. The merchants say everything is ripe for a strike that would mean a general tie up of business for a fortnight, as a majority of the employees. who have had employment for some months, have saved money and want a rest. A sympathy strike would give them their opportunity. Senor Perfecto Lacoste, the mayor, and General Rafael Cardenas, chief of police, are doing all in their power to persuade the bakers not to go out.

The Nuevo Pais, a paper which strongly favors an American protectorate, says:

"We are not so solitary in urging a protectorate as some seem to think. There are many who, like ourselves, desire a practical solution of the problem instead of a sentimental one. Not a few who call loudly for independence are secretly indulging in fears as to what would follow independence.

"A protectorate is desired by a large proportion of the Cuban people, including some of the best informed and most respectable. Perhaps a protectorate will be the verdict of the country given at the elections, as the most advantageous solution, shortening the period of the intermediate stage of construction and harmonizing the opposing parties, advocating annexation and independence. If Cuba becomes free and her own government fails to justify its existence, then there will be no outcome but annexation; whereas, by choosing a protectorate now, when our choice would be untrammeled, our national dignity would be preserved. A protectorate would supply it absolute guarantees of law and order, which independence could not give.'

El Heraldo calls attention to the adultreation of wines sold in Havana. The Barcelona wine merchants recently appointed an agent to come here to inquire into the matter, as the decrease in the exportaions of wine from Spain had been accounted for by adulteration here.
"We do not know," says El Heraldo, "whether war, sickness or the adulteration of liquors is the most to blame for deaths in Cuba, but we do assert that the dulteration of wines is a menace to the health of the island."

To Welcome the Tenth.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 28.—The First regiment, N. G. P., from Philadeiphia, arrived here yesterday evening to be in readiness to take part in the reception to be given the Tenth Pennsylvania today on its return from Manila. The regiment, with its full complement of officers and men, made a fine appearance as it marched through the streets from Union station to old city hall, where luncheon was served. A large crowd was lined up along the route and gave the soldiers a hearty welcome, very different from the reception given the regiment on its last visit during the Homestead riots. Then the men were received with hoots and derision; this time with cheers and praise. After luncheon the men were taken to their quarters in a large warehouse on Liberty street which has been specially prepared for their comfort.

Will Uphold British Rights. SHANGHAI, Aug. 28 .- As the outcome of a dispute regarding the possession of some lands at Hankow, on the Yang-tse Kiang, about 700 miles from the sea, which were purchased in 1863 by the firm of Jardine, Matheson & Co., but were subsequently included in the new concessions to Russia, the owners, under the advice and direction of Mr. Hurst, the British consul, sent workmen to fence in the tract. After the work began a dozen cossacks from the Russian consulate appeared on the scene and forcibly ejected the workmen. The captain of the British second class gunboat Woodlark, specially designed for river service, after consulting with Mr. Hurst, landed a party of bluejackets and moved the Woodlark into firing distance of the Russian consulate. For a time a fight seemed imminent, but nothing further occurred. The bluejackets are now guarding the property. The British third class gunboat Esk has been dispatched to Hankow from this port. Great Britain is evidently determined to uphold British rights.

A Race of Iron Versus Wood. PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28.—Two clipper ships, the Tillie E. Starbuck, built of iron, and the St. Francis, a wooden vessel, both owned in New York, left this port yesterday to race to San Francisco for stakes aggregating $10,000 put up by prominent shipping men. Their time will be counted from the momen they reach Cape Henlopen light. Picker crews are aboard each ship, and the race is expected to determine the mooted ques tion as to whether the old wooden or th modern iron or steel ships are the mos speedy. The ships are about 1,800 ton each and carry a general cargo. Th Starbuck is commanded by Captain Cur tis and the St. Francis by Captain Winr

ALLY DEFEATS INSURGENTS. Sulu Sultan's Chief Begins Fighting at Once.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.-An important dispatch from General Otis received at the war department on Saturday night has just been made public. Following the visit of General Bates to the sultan of Sulu, Datto Mundi, one of the sultan's officials, asked permission to drive the insurgents from Zamboanga, the capital and principal town of the island of Mindanao. It appears from General Otis' dispatch that Mundi visited General Bates at Sulu and later was transported to a small island near Zamboanga. that time he was told by General Bates that American troops would be sent to Zamboanga. On Saturday, however, Datto Mundi led an expedition against the insurgents and defeated them. General Otis says that the enemy were under Spaniards and lost 30 killed. His dispatch is as follows: "Datto Mundi, Zamboanga, attacked and defeated insurgents there, killing 30, this date, under Spaniards. He had supervision of the Moros of entire southwestern peninsula, Mindanao island. He visited General Bates at Sulu to give adhesion to United States. Bates returned him to small island near Zamboanga, when he requested permission to drive out insurgents, but was told that troops would be sent to Zamboanga soon. Insurgents there offered several weeks ago to turn over the city on promise of surrender in case Aguinaldo successful in Luzon. Proposition declined. Datto Mundi able man, educated abroad, thoroughly loyal to American interests. Bates leaves 30th to place troops in Sulu is-Will soon place troops Zamboanga and Isabela island, the naval station in Basilan islands."

The war department has also received a dispatch from General Otis telling of the ambush of four soldiers a few miles south of the city of Cebu. The information was received at Manila by cable from Colonel Hughes at Iloilo.

TRIAL OF THE ALABAMA.

New Warship Exceeds the Required

Speed and Proves a Success. LEWES, Del., Aug. 30.-The builders' trial trip of the battleship Alabama resulted in the development of a maximum speed of 171/4 knots. There was a drizzling rain part of the run, and a fog hung over the water throughout the day. the first run the Alabama, under 103½ revolutions per minute, averaged 15.25 knots per hour over a course of 111/4 knots.

She steamed over the course twice in a moderate sea, half the way against the wind. On the second run, under forced draft, 114½ revolutions per minute, the average speed was 16.33, and on this run the Alabama attained a maximum of 1714, or 114 knots above the required 16. The trial was made in open sea and in shoal water, between the northwest and southeast five fathom lights. The wind was from the northeast, about 30 miles an hour.

The trial was satisfactory in every re spect, and Edwin S. Cramp of the William Cramp & Sons' Ship and Engine Building company said the builders were delighted with the showing made. Several officers of the Russian navy who were aboard expressed favorable opinions of the Alabama's seagoing qualities.

To Combine Trusts.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 30.—To combine the combinations of trusts is the object of an incorporation the papers for which were taken out in New Jersey a short time ago. This movement is the outcome of the studies for many years of Russell Thompson, a Cleveland newspa-per man, working upon the problem of giving profitable employment to the immense productive capacity which, though obviously available, is not used. His study has led him to declare in what is pronounced to be the foundation of a new school of economics that a business sys-tem in which establishments are disconnected is organically incapable of using more than a small part of all industrial power in reach, but that a comprehensive consolidation could use most of it, with a consequent wealth increase so great and rapid as to change the whole condition of society. Mr. Thompson formed a corporation some months ago under the name of the Central company, filing a charter at Trenton through a New Jersey registration and trust company. Several prominent business men in Cleveland have been quietly aiding and encouraging these preliminaries. Those who have financially assisted the promoter have extensive corporate and banking connections. Communications were addressed to most of the consolidation directorates, announcing the project and explaining it.

Another Dreyfus Case.

PARIS, Aug. 30 .- A case somewhat similar to that of Captain Alfred Dreyfus, now being tried before a court martial at Rennes for treason, is reported at Nancy. The police claim to have found at the residence there of a French artillery subaltern a commission in the German army and valuable French maps. The suspected man belongs to an old Alsatian family, other members of which are suspected of complicity in the affair.

MORRIS CANAL BREAKS LOOSE. Heavy Rain at Phillipsburg Weakens the Bank.

PHILLIPSBURG, N. J., Aug. 28 .-The Morris canal broke from its banks yesterday morning and did great damage here. There was a violent thunder-storm, the rain falling in torrents. The canal wall on the river side was weakened by the strain and the soaking it received and gave way in three places.

The first break appears to have occur-red in plane No. 10. The other two were at lock 11. The water released from the two levels of the canal rushed out upon the lower lying lands, sweeping all be fore it. Two small houses and several barns were carried from their foundations and damaged. Outbuildings of small size were swept away in the flood and lost.

D. W. Hagerty's sawmill was exposed to the full force of the onrush of waters and was carried away and washed into the Delaware river. It is a complete wreck and cannot be repaired. The stone wall which ran between the canal and Hamlin's creek was washed out and most of the stones fell into the canal. The canal is now filled with the stones and mud which collected after ward. The work of repair will take weeks, and the canal may not be fit for use again this season.

The water had spent itself pretty well before it reached the tnickly settled portions, so that the damage was not as great as at first feared. The water, however, left behind it a vast amount of mud, which it carried out of the canal and which it picked up as it ran down the hillside. This mud was deposited in gardens and cellars, doing great damage.

During the storm the barn of T. Heitzman was struck by lightning and set on It was destroyed with its contents, which included the summer's harvest of grain and hay. Three valuable horses were burned to death. It is impossible to estimate the total damage done by the storm and flood.

Our Manufacturers Praised.

CAIRO, Aug. 28.-In the course of his speech Saturday at the opening of the Atbara bridge, which was constructed by a Philadelphia firm after competition with British firms for the contract, the sirdar, Lord Kitchener of Khartum, said: "The construction of this magnificent bridge, I think, may fairly be considered record achievement. So far as the failure of the efforts to place the construction order in England is concerned, I think it demonstrates that the relations between labor and capital there are not sufficient to give confidence to the capi talist and to induce him to take the risk of establishing up to date workshops that would enable Great Britain to maintain her position as the first constructing nation in the world. But as Englishmen failed I am delighted that our cousins across the Atlantic stepped in. This bridge is due to their energy, ability and power to turn out works of magnitude in less time than anybody else. I congratuthe Americans on their success in the erection of a bridge in the heart of Africa. They have shown real-grit far from home, in the hottest month of the year and depending upon the labor of French Pretender With Guerin.

PARIS, Aug. 29.-The Courrier du Soir says it has learned of the importance which the government attaches to the siege of the house in Rue de Chabrol, in which the anti-Semite leader Guerin and a number of his friends have intrenched themselves against the authorities. If true, it explains the reason why the place was not attacked days ago by military. The paper declares that the government believes that one of the pretenders to the French throne, presumably the Duke of Orleans, is in the house with Guerin, and it wishes to capture him alive in view of the proof that his presence would furnish of the monarchist conspiracy. If an assault should be made on the place, it might happen that the pretender would be killed, and this the government wishes to avoid.

Santo Domingo May Have Fallen.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.-A cablegram received yesterday by the representative of the Dominican revolutionists in-this city from Santiago de Cuba stated that the government had surrendered to the forces of General Jimenez. While the authenticity of the report is questioned advices from Santo Domingo, which have been delayed in transmission, state that on Friday the revolutionists were only a few hours distant from the capital and that the government was tottering. Advices from correspondents at Cape Haitien and Puerto Plata also tell of insurgent gains and victories and of a truce asked by the government.

Georgia Race Riots Cense.

DARIEN, Ga., Aug. 29.-The race disturbances in McIntosh county have ceased, the military companies are in com-plete control of the situation, and there has been no further outbreak on the part of the negroes. The negro preachers and political leaders issued a strong appeal to the colored people to give their arms and to return to their homes, restoring peace in the community. The appeal has had a quieting effect on the riotous negroes.

HANNAH MATILDA'S WEDDING CAKE

Ey Dorothy Leonard.

MITTES, I was determined Hannah Matilda should have the best cake to be had!" said Mrs. Benson, as she opened the oven door and looked in at the beans. "Guess I may as well take 'em out," she continued; "some folks likes their beans baked to a crisp. we like 'em brown but not over-done.'

"I'm sure your beans are always most delicious, Mis' Benson," answered her visitor. "I like 'em myself, but down to our house I 'most have to burn 'em to suit! I s'pose your Hannah can turn her hand to most anything in plain cooking?"

"Yes, indeed! there ain't nothing in that line Hannah don't understand, plain or fancy; but a weddin' cake, why, that's kind o' different, you see, and me and Benson made up our minds that our only child should have the very best. It's going to be from a first-rate city confectioner's, and I don't feel any doubt but it'll more than suit."

Mrs. Prentice set her thin lips together and made no answer for a minor two; then she said:

"Well, it ain't the first time it's been tried in these parts, a-makin' the wedding cake out o' the house! Some folks think it bad luck, and, though I'm no believer in such things myself, I shan't try it for Sarah."

"Why, do tell!" exclaimed Mrs. Benson. "I didn't know Sarah was keepin' company with anyone. Hannah," her daughter, who had just entered, "did you hear what Mis' Prentice said? Now, Mis' Prentice, do tell us all about

"I don't know as I said Sarah was a-keepin' company with anyone. I said I should make her wedding cake myself."

"Well, but is she keeping company? And who's the fellow?" demanded Hannah, placing herself directly in front of Mrs. Prentice, with her arms akimbo.

The poor woman, who, stung by jealousy, had implied more than she meant, was silent. There was now no way out of her difficulty but to say that Sarah was not having any attention, and she would rather die than say that before that saucy Hannah Matilda-Hannah. who had enticed Jerry Rogers away from Sarah, and who gloried in the "Well?" said Hannah, impatiently. The thought of the Benson riches was uppermost in Mrs. Prentice's mind, and again she spoke unadvisedly. "I guess whatever young man is showing my daughter attention, she didn't have to use money to entice him away from another girl!"

Hannah, who well knew that she could not compare with Sarah in looks. flushed crimson. "I understand!" she exclaimed: "vou're just pretending, so that I won't think Sarah is dyin' of a broken heart!"

Mrs. Benson, whose attention since Hannah's entrance had been absorbed by the beans, started and upset half of them. "Hannah Matilda!" she cried, "what can you be thinkin' of, to use such words to Mis' Prentice in this

"Well, ma, why can't she answer, instead o' beatin' about the bush so? Now," to Mrs. Prentice, "is Sarah engaged or not?"

"Yes!" and for the first time in her life Mrs. Prentice had told a lie.

Hannah, anxious to show that she was not jealous of her former rival, brought out various articles from her trousseau and displayed them proudly to Mrs. Prentice, advising her how to have this and that made for Sarah. Every word cut the poor woman to the heart, and the lie loomed up more black and fearful before her. Dimly she noticed the dainty embroideries and laces, and the marking (she remembered that marking afterward)-Hannah Matilda Rogers, not Benson.

By the time Mrs. Prentice reached home she felt a little better. One can become accustomed to almost anything -even to telling lies.

"There ain't any way out of it now," she kert saying to herself. "I've just got to bear it. Perhaps Sarah will get engaged to some one before the year is out, and then they'll never suspect."

As the days passed by Mrs. Prentice was struck by Sarah's cheerful manner. She went frequently to the woods for mayflowers, and came back with rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes.

"She certainly doesn't care any more about Jerry Rogers," thought her mother. "There may be some one else she's a-thinking of, but I don't see how she can be so cheerful when Hannah's marriage is so near. I just feel in my bones that it'll all come right."

The wedding day came at last, and, like one in a dream, Mrs. Prentice found herself seated in the Bensons parlor, near the window, waiting for the minister. She had been among the first to arrive, for she knew that Jerry's deser- | ing in at the door as he drove away.tion of Sarah would be the principal theme of conversation if her back were turned. Sarah, of course, was not present; but she had begged her mother to go, and Mrs. Prentice was sure that she had seen tears in her eyes when she bade her good-by.

"I'm so afraid she does care, after all," she said to herself. "I'm just glad I did tell Hannah Matilda that lie!"

The past week had hardened Mrs. Prentice, and she looked her neighbors boldly in the face and talked volubly about Hannah's trousseau. The minister arrived promptly at two o'clock, but still the guests sat waiting.

"I guess it's a-goin' to be something cut o' the ordinary," said one woman at hast. "Do you know, I jest went into the other room to look at the clock, and it's goin' on to three." "We all know it's late enough," answered another woman, who sat near Mrs. Prentice in the bay window, "but I guess you ain't given the right rea- | W. E. Carlin, in Ainslee's.

dow steady ever since I came in, and Jerry Rogers ain't arrived yet! No one can make me believe he has."

The guests all startled and looked at each other in amazement, then sought conference with her nearest neighbor.

"I shouldn't say it to others, Mis' Prentice," whispered the one who had spoken last, leaning over and laying a black-mittened hand on Mrs. Prentice's arm, "but I don't feel no confidence that he intends to turn up. I always thought Hannah caught against his will, and he ain't the kind that can say no to a body's face."

Mrs. Prentice turned a white, scared countenance upon her. "You don't think, you don't mean—" she said, below her breath; but she never finished the sentence, for the door burst open and Hannah Matilda stood, in all the splendor of bridal array, before them. Her veil was thrown back, showing her large, plain features, white as marble, and her hands, in their tight white gloves, clutched nervously at the folds of her rich satin skirt-almost as if seeking support under some new hor-

Her eyes scanned the frightened faces before her, one by one, until they fell on the group in the bay window; then singling out Mrs. Prentice, she screamed:

"O, you wicked, deceitful woman! I wanted to know whether you had dared to come here, before I asked my guests to come out and try my wedding cake. Here!" extending one hand with a crumpled paper towards her, "yes, you'd better take and read it, though you already know it well enough. And I just blame you more 'an I do Sarahyes, I do!"

Her voice rose to a scream, and the minister forced his way through the crowd of women, some of whom were sobbing with fright, and laid his hand upon her arm.

"Miss Hannah," he said, kindly but firmly, "you forget yourself in speaking so to this good woman."

Hannah Matilda turned toward him like a child with no idea of conceal-

"See!" she said, her lip beginning to tremble, "this note's just been left at the back door. It's from Jerry Rogers, and he and Sarah Prentice left on the 2:30 train for Boston, 'cause he coulán't speak out plain to a body's face. And that woman knew and planned it all, that's what I mind."

All eyes were turned toward her, and Mrs. Prentice was quite forgotten. She now tottered forward, stretching out her trembling hands.

"It's that lie I told! It's that lie! O, if I had never told it she wouldn't think I had known! O," she went on, catching her breath, "I told you Hannah Matilda, as Sarah was a-keepin' company 'cause I was so jealous. And O, what joyous hearts which tell better than I've suffered this week! I wouldn't live words the estimate of your countrymen through it again for any money."

Hannah turned her eyes upon Mrs. Prentice, and her expression seemed to soften a little, but she made no reply. For a few seconds there was a breathless silence, then Hannah turned toward the others.

"I want you all to come out and have a slice of my wedding cake," she said, adding with some spirit, "it came from a first-rate city confectioner's, and it'll taste just as good as if there were a dozen weddings."

Mrs. Prentice allowed herself to be led out and helped in without a word, and the minister had unfastened his horse and was just climbin in when he was startled by a cry: "Wait! wait!"

He turned quickly and saw Hannah Matilda running down to the gate, her ample train over her arm. "Here!" she gasped, "Here Mis' Prentice!" and she thrust a parcel, wrapped in a napkin, into her lap. "It's some of the wedding cake," she added, softly, "and there's a piece in there for Sarah."

She turned and hurried back as abruptly as she had come, and the minister saw her tall, white figure disappear-Boston Globe.

The Trapper's Story.

I have always been of the opinion that owing to his keen senses the bear is our first game animal, and should be carefully protected by law. His depredations on live stock are not worth taking into account, and I am quite ready to agree with an old trapper who was sleeping soundly in his cabin one day when an eastern man in search of hairbreadth stories of adventure, and knocked at his door. The door was opened by the trapper's partner to whom the visitor made known his er-

TREMENDOUS ENTHUSIASM SHOWN.

Mr. McKinley Makes a Speech In Which He Lauds the Returning Volunteers - Pittsburg's Greatest Day.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 29.—The president reviewed the Tenth Pennsylvania volunteers, just returned from the Philippines, yesterday. The occasion was one of tumultuous enthusiasm. The only thing lacking to make the day one of supreme happiness was the absence of the brave well beloved Colonel Hawkins, who led the boys in all of their battles and shared in all of their sufferings, but who was denied the privilege of marching at their head when they returned home to receive the plaudits of a grateful people.

Although the people from the surrounding counties began literally "pouring" into the city soon after the dawn of the day, the police had made such preparations that this influx did not create any throng so as to interfere with the line of march. From the point of starting in Alleghany over 2,000 officers, enrolled for the occasion from the different municipal departments of the two cities, were located along the line at certain intervals, and in this manner the immense concourse of onlookers was kept well under control.

The reception to the Philippine heroes began at New Brighton, Pa., when a committee of prominent Pennsylvanians welcomed them as soon as they had crossed the borders of the state.

After brief exercises and a hearty breakfast tendered by the citizens of New Brighton the regiment was rushed into Alleghany. The train came in three sections, and immediately after the soldiers had disembarked the line of march to Schenley park, where the exercises were to be held, was taken up. The parade moved in the following order:

Mounted police. Chief marshal. General Charles Miller and staff of Pennsylvania national guard officers. Carriages containing President McKinley, General Wesley Merritt, General Francis V. Greene, Colonel Secretary Treadwell, representative of Governor Roosevelt; Governor William A. Stone of Pennsylvania and visiting senators, congressmen and other distinguished guests. Delegations from various posts of the Grand Army of the Republic.

manded by Colonel S. W. Hay. Reception committee in carriages. Upon reaching Schenley park the umn was reviewed by President McKinley, after which he proceeded to the music pavilion, where the exercises were held. Seats had been provided for 25,000 friends and relatives of the members of the Tenth in front of the music pavilion, but these were filled before the exercises began, and thousands were unable to secure even standing room within hearing

At the conclusion of Governor Stone's address President-McKinley was introduced and, after the applause had ceased, spoke in part as follows:

Governor Stone and My Fellow Citizens-I am glad to participate with the families, friends and fellow citizens of the Tenth Pennsylvania volunteers in this glad reunion.

"You have earned the plaudits not alone of the people of Pennsylvania, but of the whole nation. Your return has been the signal for a great demonstration of popular regard from your landing in the Golden Gate on the Pacific to your home coming, and here you find a warmth of welcome and a greeting from and their appreciation of the services you have rendered the country. You made secure and permanent the victory of Dewey. You added new glory to American arms. You and your brave comrades engaged on other fields of conflict have enlarged the map of the United States and extended the jurisdiction of American liberty.

"But, while we share in the joy that is yours, there remain with us softened and hallowed memories of those who went forth with you not found in your ranks today. Your noble colonel, devoted to his men, beloved by his command and respected by his superior officers, gave his life to his country, with many others of his comrades. The nation sorrows with the bereaved. These heroes died for their country, and there is no nobler death. "The mighty army of volunteers and regulars, numbering over 250,000, which last year responded to the call of the government with an alacrity without precedent or parallel, by the terms of their enlistment were to be mustered out. with all of the regulars above 27,000, when peace with Spain was effected. Peace brought us the Philippines by treat cession from Spain. The senate of the United States ratified the treaty. Every step taken was in obedience to the requirements of the constitution. It became our territory and is ours as much as the Louisiana purchase or Texas or Alaska. A body of insurgents in no sense representing the sentiment of the people of the islands disputed our lawful au-thority and even before the ratification of the treaty by the American senate were attacking the forces who fought for and secured their freedom. "This was the situation in April, 1899, the date of the exchange of ratifications, with only 27,000 regulars subject to the unquestioned direction of the executive, and they for the most part on duty in Cuba and Porto Rico or invalided at home after their severe campaign in the tropics. Even had they been available, tropics. Even had they been available it would have required months to trans port them to the Philippines. Practically. a new army had to be created. These loyal volunteers in the Philippines said, We will stay until the government can organize an army at home and transport it to the seat of hostilities.' They did stay, cheerfully, uncomplainingly, patri-otively. They suffered and sacrificed, they fought and fell, they drove back and punished the rebels who resisted federal authority and who with force attacked the sovereignty of the United States in its newly acquired territory.

"Without them then and there we would have been practically helpless on land. Our flag would have had its first stain and the American name its first ignominy. The brilliant victories of the army and navy in the bay and city of Manila would have been won in vain, our obligations to civilization would have remained temporarily unperformed, chaos would have reigned, and whatever government there was would have been by the will of one man and not by the con-sent of the governed. General Wesley Merritt was then introduced and made an address on behalf of the army.

After the soldiers had eaten a late dinner at the race track the several companies were taken in hand by committees from their several home towns and escorted to special trains to carry them home. Some of the boys decided to remain in the city overnight, the result being that the streets were filled with soldiers and those who helped them to enjoy themselves.
