their treaty obligations were secretly assisting Phillip to lay waste, with fire and temahawk, all the settlements of the Colonists. Only the suddenness of the blow saved the Colony from extermination.

In 1774 the Indians had nearly disappeared from the town-only nine remained. In 1790 there were none. Probably a few of them removed to other localities; but that nearly all of the tribe died here is evident from the numerous shell graves found in the old Field.

Fifty years ago, a descendant of the tribe, as was supposed, came to view the graves of his ancestors. As he stood on the hill, his great height, broad shoulders, and wild costume, in the absence of the men, frightened the women and children of the neighborhood. It was just before the close of day. He turned to the north, to the east, to the south, then towards the setting sun, and seemed to converse with the Great Spirit. Then he departed. Whence he came and whither he went no one could

The charge oft repeated that our fathers were cruel and exacting in their dealings with the Indians of Norwalk, is without foundation. All the facts in their history show that they were governed by Christian and patriotic principles in their intercourse with their fellow beings. To be sure, they their hand, and did chew thereof. And resented every encroachment upon their civil rights with patriotic fervor. And their filthily. And it further came to pass that mantles have fallen upon their descendants; as more than a hundred battle fields, in the manly, and said: We are enslaved and canhistory of the past two hundred years, bear not cease from chewing it. And the mouths witness.

In the French War there was no lack of patriotism on the part of the people of the town. Upon receiving information that a battalion of Regulars were to be quartered here, the people in town meeting voted to tax themselves for their support. Many of them joined the army, and were at the reduction of Louisburg, July 25th, 1758.

In the days of the Revolution the patriotism of the sons of Norwalk was aroused to resist the unjust demands of the British Crown. They met in town meeting, and to one end thereof, and did look very grave called upon all the people to exert themselves to fill up the battalions ordered by the Continental Congress, and provided for the support of the families of those who should enlist. They closed their appeal in the following quaint language: "That the virtuous sons of Liberty cheerfully and readily engage in said service, so that peace and rest may once more be restored to the United States of America, by means whereof this meeting have reason, by the blessing of God, to expect the same may be effected.

The young men of Norwalk have ever been ready to defend the Republic, and their fathers and mothers, their wives and sisters cheered them on. In Colonial times, in the French War, in the Revolution, and in the War of 1812, as in the Rebellion, they sprang to arms with a zeal and patriotism worthy of their sires and the cause of liberty. No town in the State has a better record in proportion to its inhabitants .--Some have received honorable mention in the history of their country, for deeds of the name of Capt. Ketcham, who in the last and dark brown hair and white teeth. war with England, at the battle of Niagara, suites and conducted them to the rear of any other contributed to the success of our arms on that day. They are also familiar with the name of Frank Gregory, son of Captain Moses Gregory, who Headley erroneously says was a native of New Haven, but who was born in Norwalk. Here are the graves of his ancestors. He entered the naval service in 1800, when a boy. In the last war with the British he was taken prisoner and impressed into their service; but soon escaped. Commodore Gregory won every promotion by his intrepid daring. In the Rebellion he hastened to Washington at seventy years of age, and offered his services to his government, which fact alone would immortalize his name. When Tryon crossed from Long Island to destroy the town, old and young shouldered their muskets, and met his forces with a determination unsurpassed in the annuls of the Revolutionary war. From the moment the enemy landed they were assaulted with so much spirit at every step of their progress by the Continentals then quartered here and the town militia, that he left, according to his official report, one hundred and ten. killed, wounded and missing, behind him in his retreat. The battle of Norwalk was a series of battles. The English were repulsed on Flax Hill, at Pudding Lane, and Frank street; they were repulsed, and at every point of attack. The burning of the town was a great | first boy be a girl I ask it az a favor to me disaster to the people. Historians have made this fact prominent, and have lost sight of the patriotism, zeal and courage displayed by the few Regulars and the town militia, and the successes gained on that memorable esful in bringing the Aboriginees into day over Tryon's soldiers, and the tories who led them through the town. We call it the battle of Norwalk, for such it really was; and its worthy sons ere this should have commemorated the event by erecting a monument to perpetuate the names of those who fell on that day in defense of the town and the cause of liberty. Who then found fault with the men that laid the foundations upon which we stand? They were the nullifiers who opposed taxafor raising funds to arm and equip Continental soldiers, and support their families.

tion and paying any interest on obligations The Revolutionary fathers said they were 'Inimical persons, and Riotous, and dangerous to the liberties and independence of the United States of America." The habits of thought and the principle of action, as well as the form and features of the fathers, by a law in the constitution of race, are transmitted to the children. The descendants of the "cow-boys" and tories of the Revolution were not the men who sympathized with the government in the late Rebellion. Those who stood up to defend the country came from sires in whose veins coursed patriotic blood, who gave their wealth, their life, and their sacred honor to establish a Republican form of government upon this continent, branches of which are preading over the civilized world; and beneath them, before another century passes away, the masses of every clime may gather to sing the universal song of civil liberty, to effect which, the patriotic dead of Norwalk

The precious boon of civil liberty came through sufferings by disease, by hunger, by nakedness, by bloody footprints in the wintry snow, by burnings, by butchery, by rapine, by wounds and by death.

And it came to pass, in the course of time, that the sons of men looked upon it, and thought it beautiful to look upon, and much to be desired to make lads look big and manly. So they put forth some it made sick, and others to vomit most those who chewed it became weak and unof all that were enslaved became foul, and they were seized with a violent spitting; and they did spit even in ladies' parlors, and in the house of the Lord of hosts. And the saints of the Most High were greatly plagued thereby. And the cultivation thereof became great and mighty business in the earth; and the merchantmen waxed rich by the commerce thereof. And it came to pass that the saints of the Most High defiled themselves therewith; even the poor, who could not buy shoes, nor bread, nor books for their little ones, spent their money for it. And the Lord was greatly displeased therewith, and said: Wherefore this waste; and why do these little ones lack bread, and shoes, and books? Turn now your fields into corn and wheat, and put this evil thing far from you; and be separate, and defile not yourselves any more; and I will bless you and cause my face to shine upon you. But with one accord they all exclaimed We cannot cease from chewing, sunfling,

Rich and Poor.

There are many men who cannot bear prosperity when it comes to them, but their number is small compared to those who cannot bear the prosperity of others. There is no finer test of true nobility of character than that furnished by the effect of the good fortune of friends. The poor man who rejoices in the prosperity of his neighbor, and meets him always without distrust and with unshaken self-respect, betrays unconsciously a nature and character which a king might envy. To such a man every rich man bows with cordial recognition, while he cannot fail to regard with contempt the insolent churl who meets him with bravado and the offensive assertion of an equality which he does not feel, as well as the cowardly sneak who avoids and distrusts him.

A great deal is said about the insolence of riches and the neglect or disregard of the poor on the part of those who possess them, but, in sober truth, there is a neglect of the rich on the part of the poor that is as unjust and quite as hard to bear. If there is a gulf between the rich man and the poor, the latter does quite as much to dig it and keep it open as the former. There are multitude of rich men whose wealth has the tendency to enlarge their sympathies, and fill them with good will, particularly toward those whom they have known in their less prosperous years. To these men of generous natures the loss of sympathy and friendship

Substances in the Ear.

The passage of the external ear does not extend more than half an inch in length, being closed at the bottom by a membrane called the tympanum. Substances, such as a pea, cherry stones, or a bit of slate pencil. often become lodged in this passage among children and school boys and require to be removed. The best and safest method to accomplish this, is to inject luke-warm water forcibly into the ear, by means of a rather powerful syringe; it should be one that will hold at least two ounces, to be efficient for the purpose. This will rarely be found to fail, the water passing beyond the substance, and being there confined by the tympanum forces the former outwards. It occasionally happens that the foreign body has become firmly fixed, either from its having swelled through the moisture, as a pea, etc., is apt to do, or from the surrounding parts having become swollen; in which case, should a few trials with the syringe not succeed, and the ear be very tender, it will be the better plan to pour into the ear a little sweet oil, and leave it till the next day when the syringing may be renewed.

We have seen a child releived of a bead by his mother's placing his head between two pillows on the table, the affected ear downwards, and striking the upper one smartly, once or twice, when the bead drop-

Glass beads and similar substances have been extracted by a probe, dipped into some appropriate cement, being introduced into the ear, and kept in contact with the body to be removed for a few moments, till it has become set, and then pulled out, bringing the offending substance with it. Anxiety may never be felt for fear of a foreign substance getting into the head, when lost in the ear. It is an impossible thing. It can go no further than the tympanum.

Upon the precise nature of the answers by the little children in the Sunday schools to questions put by their teachers it is not always safe to count. At Bethany on Sunday last an assistant superintendent was engaged in addressing the children. His sub- 6-11 WASHINGTON STREET, SOUTH NORWALK children," he continued, after explaining the JOHN P. How nice that was, all of you like honey, particularly on your hez got a hean ov good common sense, stud- buckwheat cakes. Just think of it-not a land where the milk and honey come like they do here, but a land flowing with them. Just think, in the promised land, what a good time the boys and girls must have had! Now let me see how well you remember what I have told you. " Who led out the Israelites ?"

" Moses," was the prompt reply. " From whence did he lead them?" "From bondage," answered several of

"To the promised land." "That's right my little dears, now what

"Come, children, some of you surely re nember. When you were bables what did your mother give you? What else did the promised land flow with " Again a blank pause,

"I know, thir," said a five year old, rising o his feet and elevating his little hand. " ] know what it was, thir, I know, thir." "What was it, my dear?"

"Why it was titty, thir." The questioner collapsed into a hymn.

"TEA AND PRAYERS."-Fashionable chris ianity in London is growing to be very amusing. People are now invited to prayer meetings precisely as invited to a social soiree or an evening party. The Newcastle Chronicle prints, with the exception of names, dates and places, the following transcript of a card which it has received: "Mr. and Miss - propose (D. V.) to hold Bible reading on - evening, at 71 o'clock, when the company of friends is requested.

Subject, Rev. II. Reading from 71 to 91. Under such a prescription as to costume, one can faintly imagine the consternation which might ensue if a guest should arrive in a business suit or an afternoon gown. It also suggests the possibility that evening, and perhaps even fancy dresses may yet be allowed at prayer meetings. A writer in the Broad Churchman also states that he got a card of invitation, which, as far as the body of it was concerned might have applied to a dance or card party, but in the he corner were the characters" Tea and P.

After a while he discovered that the cab alistic sign stood for tea and prayers. He went, and when he found them handling pibles round on a tray, he left disgusted. An old friend of the late Chief Justice ells us an anecdote showing Mr. Chase's cleverness at repartee. While on a visit to he southern states, after the war, Mr. Chase was introduced to a very beautiful woman, who prided herself on her devotion to the Lost Cause" Anxious that the chief justice should know her real sentiments, she remarked, as she gave him her hand: "Mr. Chase, you see before you a rebel who has not been reconstructed." Madame, replied he, with a profound bow, you are so perfectly constructed that any reconstruction i altogether impossible."

Don't be discouraged if occasionally you slip down by the way and others tread of your slittle. In other words, don't let failure or two dishearten you. Accidents will happen, and miscalculations will some-times be made; things will turn out differ-

City Election and City Officers.

The annual election for city officers, on Tuesday last resulted in the choice of the Citizens' Ticket for general officers, and the election of the regular nominees for councilmen, with the exception of D. R. Selleck, in the second ward, who defeated Chester F. Tolles by one vote.

The interest in the election centered in the third ward, where great efforts were made to defeat the regular nominees for councilmen. There were sixteen different tickets in the field, but when the contest was over the result showed the election of all the regularly nominated candidates.

For the offices of 'Treasurer and Collector two independent candidates were run, but without effect, the voters generally casting their ballots for the regular nominees. The officers elected are:

Walter C. Quintard, Mayor Edwin Wilcox, City Clerk. Franklin A. Tolles, Treasurer. Charles W. Smith, Collector. Robert H. Rowan, Auditor James L. Russell, Marshal. Theodore Wilcox, John B. Bouton, Mem bers of Board of Registration.

COUNCILMEN. - FIRST WARD. Thomas Guyer, Morris M. Norton, Henry W. Lester, Nelson J. Craw. SECOND WARD. Robert H. Rowan, David R. Selleck.

Robert I. Tolles, John L. Richards. THIRD WARD. Jos. R. Raymond, Henry H. Elwell, Charles E. Doty, Henry Seymour. INSPECTORS OF ELECTION. -FIRST WARD. Wm. W. Comstock, Charles F. Hallock.

SECOND WARD. Edwin A. Whitman, Samuel A Weed. THIRD WARD.

James C. Crowe, James L. Russell. The official returns published in another column gives the vote for each candidate. Though Mr. Ely was not a candidate, and had positively refused to have his name used as such, some few of his friends persisted in casting their votes for him. During the three years he has filled the office of mayor he has faithfully served the city, and used his best efforts to secure an economical and effectual city government. No detail connected with the office has been too minute or unimportant for his consideration, and the result is that he retires from the office with the thanks of the community, and in the assurance that he has discharged his duties thoroughly, and for the best interests of the city. His successor, Mr. Quintard, is a thorough-going gentleman. One who has convictions of duty that nothing will prevent his fulfilling, and we predict that under his administration the interests of the city will not suffer from any dereliction of duty on his part.

The unanimous election of Messrs, Wil cox, Rowan and Russell, is a sufficient comment upon the estimation in which they are held by their fellow citizens.

The Messrs, Tolles and Smith, though op posed by very worthy gentlemen, came off victorious; and it is no disparagement to either party to say that the result is satis-

The Board of Councilmen, with the exception of four, remains the same as last year. The new incumbents are gentlemen worthy of the confidence of their constituents. There seems to be a doubt as to the legality of the election of D. R. Selleck, Esq , and the probabilities are that a new election will be called to decide the matter.

Letter from Judge Butler.

Our readers may remember a sermon or "Christian Charity," preached last fall by the Pastor of the Congregational Church in this city, and published and distributed by a member of his congregation. Chief Justice Butler received a copy of the sermon, and sent to the author the following letter, which we have solicited for publication, as illustrating his stanch and decided Christian beautifully decorated. The stage was con-NORWALE, Nov. 4th, 1872.

REV. H. N. DUNNING, DEAR SIR .-

I received on Saturday, through the mail, your sermon on "Charity." No indication of the source from which it came appeared upon it or the wrapper, and I opine that it came from the Author

Permit me to thank you for it. I have read and re-read it with pleasure. It is creditable to you, and the printing creditable to those who requested it. It is logical in arrangement, happy in the style that embodies a single thought, illustration, or exposition of the apposite connection between thought and illustration, in single, brief, clear and pointed sentences, and just in respect to the discrimination between selfish censoriousness and that just and merited censure of wrong, which constitutes a to breakfast at the hotels and be ready for healthy and necessary public sentiment. But pardon me for a single suggestion in relation to the rules, by which we are to be of the pin, the party left Pottsville by special controlled. Those you give are well in their place. But the great rule, applicable to all. is: "Appreciate your position as a member of the community, of a Christian church, the entrance is by a slope, 1146 feet. Five and of any minor associations-and the duties they impose; and act always from a sense of duty."

The great or general law of Brotherhood underlies all others-Christian Brotherhood and all, and it is mainly because church members do not recognize the duties that imposes, that they fail to set the example expected of them, and require such pointed preaching. They are often exemplary as Christians and mean and contemptible as men. They recognize the law of Christian brotherhood, but fail to appreciate their duties under the great general law of brotherhood.

I hope to see the time when the pulpit will more fully realize the importance of the cars drawn by mules; there is an exten urging an appreciation of the duty of being sive stable where these mules are kept, and governed by the great law of brotherhood, mentally necessary to a perfect out; in the darkness they soon become blind church. If going west, we can take the 3.47 A. M. train, but the 3.47 P. M. can't stop. It is too unreasonable on the face of it, to need argument to prove its unjustness. We were much better off under the old arrangement, and we wish that we were now enjoying the facilities we did before the change.

Norwalk Horse Railroad. A change in the superintendentship of the

Norwalk Horse Railway took place last

Thursday, by the voluntary retirement of Mr. Wm. Trubee, and the election of Mr. James W. Hyatt to take his place. This move had long been contemplated on the part of Mr. Trubee, but it was only when the ownership of the road passed from the Lockwood family that he decided to make it. Under his management, covering a period of nearly eighteen months, the road has prospered, paid good dividends, and given good satisfaction to the directors and the public. During the prevalence of the horse distemper last fall, Mr. T.'s efforts, under decidedly unfavorable circumstances to keep cars running, are well known; and through severer winter than we ever before knew, marked regularity was maintained. Mr I---- W Hratt his successor, is a man of experience and business capacity. see that naught is left undone, that can be done, to preserve the good name won by the institution. The venerable Mr. Edwin Lockwood as President of two roads, while keeping one eve open for the Danbury and Norwalk, will with the other observe that noth, ing goes astray on this, thus securing just what we would have in the line of easy transit between the city and borough. Mr Trubee departs, carrying the kindly wishes of the Board of Directors, and in friendly accord with business men in Norwalk and vicinity with whom he has associated

A poor woman with a little child, by mis-Friday night. When she found she was on the wrong boat she was overcome with grief. She was allowed her passage to South Norwalk free, officer Waterbury procured her lodgings at Mr. Hanahan's, and the next morning she was put upon the train for Stamford. The kindness with which she was treated by steamboat officers ton street, we notice a complete stock of and policemen, shows that feeling is not yet extinct with corporations and officers.

Some doubt the truth of our statement last week as to the influence of music upon that High street dog. It is true nevertheless, that dogs are singularly effected by music. We whistled after a strange dog once, we remember. The dog stopped, listened attentively, looked a moment sad, as though the notes awoke some tender memories within him and then came bounding towards us count we spoke of in these columns some and embracing the calf of our leg in the most affectionate manner. He could hardly tear himself away, and wouldn't if his owner hadn't come and choked him off.

> The tuneral of Judge Butler, on Thursday last, was largely attended by friends, as other parts of the country. Places of bussell 'preached an elequent sermon, and spoke of the deceased in terms of highest praise. The remains were buried in Norwalk Cemetery with Masonic honors. Senator Buckingham, Chief Judge Seymour, Judges Waldo, Parks, Foster, Carpenter, Hon. Roger Averill and Hon. J. B. Ferris served as pall bearers.

A horse belonging to Mr. James Farringon, having probably become infected with the excitement of the city election, started the barrel had pulled the horse out of the off on an "independent" run Monday afterbunghole and plugged its thirst with a noon. Having thrown overboard his friend Mr. F., and hurt him in feelings and limb, he rushed down Railroad Place to Main and Washington, where a knot of candidates attempted to expostulate with him on his course. But he wasn't to be governed by egular nominations. He proposed to act independently of caucuses, and split off down Main street, scratching a wagon standing in front of Comstock Bros. clothing store. Once fairly on his way, and freed from the restraints of railroad ties and crossings, he made a lively run down all purchasing their tickets at S. F. Peek's Main street leaving behind a cloud of dust Drug store. This liberal offer should secure that obscured him from the sight of the who rushed into the streets to witness the of Mr. Frank Burritt, he passed in the gate, and imagining he was elected to some office she appeared more at home with her subjects, or spoke of them in a more happy manner. The receipts from refreshments must have amounted to a handsome sum.

General Davis's mode of dealing with the Modocs has at least the merit of soldierly simplicity. He proposed to hang a dozen of the principal men, and then to travel northward through the uneasy tribes of Oregon and tell them what he had done. He thought -and we think-that this plan would have done much to facilitate peace in that quarter. The question whether the arrangement would be satisfactory to the Modecs, is an other matter. It would certainly prevent any further war-like manifestations on their part, since the tribe would be practically exterminated. General Davis thinks it a hard had taken the trouble to procure "lumber chains, rope and tackle, and all the para-phernalia of execution," and had read the death sentence to Captain Jack. What the Modoc chief thought is not on record, bu if you don't like that, drink his beer or he could not be expected to sympathize very deeply with his would-be executioner.

It is rather cool in a San Francisco paper to advise a young man to "go West." A Dubuque (Iowa,) woman found a longlost brother, recently, by reading over the certificates of remarkable cures in a quack doctor's almanac. Go get one, everybody.

Josh Billings defines a "thurrer bread biziness man" as "wun that knows enuff about steelin so't there kant ennybody steel from him, and enuff about law so that he can do his own steelin' legally."

Said a testy lawyer, "I believe the jury have been inoculated for stupidity." "That may be," replied his opponent; "but the bar, and the court, are of opinion that you had it the natural way." Samuel Chamberlain and wife, of Salem, Mass., celebrated their golden wedding on Monday of last week, on which occasion the bridesmaids who stood with Mrs. Chamberlain at the altar fifty years ago were at her side once more.

A ten year old, boasting to his schoolmate of his father's accomplishments, put it thus: " My father can do almost anything. He's a notary public, and he's 'pothecary, and can pull teeth, and he's a horse doctor, and he can mend wagons and things, and he can play the fiddle, and he's a jackass at all trades.'

A gentleman, talking to another on the subject of marriage, made the following observations: "I first saw my wife in a storm; courted her in a storm; was betrothed to her with her in a storm all her life; but, thank heaven, I buried her in pleasant weather.

A very devout looking Bible peddler call ed upon a Detroit widow and proposed to FOR SALE BY sell her one of his books of holy writ. She refused to buy, whereupon he proposed marriage. The vigorous widow has all her chairs at the factory, being repaired, and the Bible peddler, when last heard from, Druggist, South Norwalk, Conn was "going west" on a lightning express.

"What are you drawing, Anna?" "I'se making your picture." So the gentleman sat very still, and she worked away very earnestly for awhile. Then she stopped compared her work with the original, and shook her little head. "I don't like it rauch," she said. "'Taint a great deal like you. I dess I'll put a tail to it and call it a

A long-headed old maid appeared at the with Choice Meats, door of a farm-house in Iowa, the other day and wanted the farmer's wife to subscribe for some woman's newspaper and sign a paper for woman's suffrage. The wife called Charles, Tom, Richard, Lucy, Jane!" and was soon surrounded by a crowd of 10sycheeked children. She then turned to her visitor and said, "Have you any of these?" 'No," was the sharp reply. "Then," replied the buxom wife, "go get a few, and afterwards come to me about women's rights, if you feel like it."

A clerical gentleman, in examining a Sunday school, asked the class before if any of them could tell him anything about the Apostle Peter. A little girl raised her hand, much to the gratification of the examiner. "Come up here, my good little girl," said he "I am glad you remember your Bible lesson so well. Now, tell the other boys and girls what you know about Peter." The little girl was quite willing, and commenced: Peter, Peter, punkin cater, had a wife and

What shall be done with him? Love him as none but a mother Bear with him. Take an interest in his af-& fairs; win and respect his confidence. Go to his bedside at night with a kiss, and a blessing, and whispered prayers. He may pretend slumber, but he will tell his wife of it with tears in his eyes years after you have gone to your reward. When he sees that you are less offended with his boyish rudeness and follies, than with the slightest want of integrity, that you are proud of him, content with him, he will make the mother's great heart of love a resting place. Let the spirit of adventure take him the world over, he will never forget whose idol and pride he was in those days when he was " in every one's way, and of no use." If the mothers of our land must engage in politics, fill the professions, and live, in public, God help the boys from nine to sixteen! They are friendless indeed! They have lost the only being capa ble of steering their bark safely through the quicksands, rocks and shoals that lie in the way from boyhood up to a virtuous, glori-

VINECAR BITTERS

of the stomach, and great torpor of the howels, being elagged up with vitiated accumulations. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no catheric for the purpose equal to Dr. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the howels are of the directive organs.

Wimegar Etters are not a vile Fancy Driak, made of Feor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors, dectored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tenics," "Appetizers," "Restorers, "Ac., that lead the tippler on to drankenness and rum, but are a true Medicine, made from the native roots and herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the Great Blood Purifier and a Life-giving Principla, a Perfect Renevator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition, enriching it, refreshing and invigorating both mind and body. They are easy of administration, prompt in their action, certain in their results, asfe and reliable in all forms of disease.

He Person cam take these Elitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepata or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Cougha, Tightness of the Chest, Dissiness, Sour Errectations of the Stomach, Ead Taste in the Mouth, Billous Attecks, Palpitation of the Heart, Infammation of the Lung, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the ofsprings of Dyspepsia. In those complaines it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarante of its merie than a lengthy advertisement.

For Femalle Complaints, in young or old, marned or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the torn of its, these Tonic Bitters displays so decided an infuence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.
