"I WOULD NOT LIVE ALWAY."

The glorious hymn commencing with "I the world, and will be repeated by militons in patients. ages yet to come. The authorship of this beautiful hymn belongs to Dr. William. A. Muhlenberg. The original first appeared in the Episcopal Recorder, in Philadelphia, in 1824, and read as follows: " I would not live alway-live alway below: Oh! no; I'll not linger when bidden to go; The days of our pilgrimage granted us here Are enough for life's woes, full enough for its cheer;

Would I shrink from the paths which the prophets Apostles and martyrs, so joyfully trod?

Like a spirit unblest o'er the earth would I roam, While brethren and friends are all hastening home? 'I would not live alway; I ask not to to stay,

Where storm after storm rises dark o'er the way:

Like the patriarch's bird, and no resting is found;

Where, seeking for rest, we but hover around,

Where Hope, when she paints her gray bow in the Leaves its brilliance to fade in the night of despair, And joy's fleeting angel ne'er sheds a glad ray, Save the gleam of the plumage that bears him.

"I would not live alway-thus fettered by sin, Temptation without and corruption within; In a moment of strength if I sever the chain, Searce the victory is mine, ere I'm captive again E'en the rapture of pardon is mingled with fears, And the cup of thanksgiving with penitent tears; The festival trump calls for jubilant songs, But my spirit her own miserere prolongs.

"I would not live alway-no, welcome the tomb Since Jesus hath lain there, I dread not its gloom: Where he deigned to sleep I'll too bow my head, All peaceful to slumber on that ballowed bed. Then the glorious daybreak, to follow that night, The orient gleam of the angels of light, With their clarion call for the sleepers to rise And chant forth their matins, away to the skies.

"Who would live alway, away from his God, Away from you heaven, that blissful abode, Where the rivers of pleasure flow o'er the bright

And the noentide of glory eternally reigns; Where the saints of all ages in harmony meet Their Saviour and brethren, transported to greet, While the songs of salvation exultingly re And the smile of the lord is the feast of the soul?

"That heavenly music! what is it I hear? The rotes of the harper ring sweet in mine ear! And see, soft unfolding those portals of gold. The King all arrayed in his beauty behold! Oh! give me, oh give me the wings of a dove, To adore him, be near him, enrapt with his love; I but wait the summons, I list for the word-Alleluia - Amen -evermore with the Lord!"

In 1826 the General Convention of the Episcopal Church appointed a committee to prepare a collection of hymns, to be added to the fifty-six, then the whole number attached to the Prayer-book. This measure was in consequence of an awakened interest in hymnology, brought about by articles on "Church Poetry," and "A Plea for Christian Hymns," addressed to the authorities of the church by Dr. Muhlenberg through the religious press. He was chosen by the Convention as one of the committee, and the Rev. Dr. H. Onderdonk, the rector of St. Ann's in Brooklyn, as another. The I would not live alway." Dr. Onderdonk abridged into a hymn of suitable length for divine worship and submitted to Dr. Muhlenberg for revision. There were no changes from the sentiment of the original composition; only four lines in the new differed from the original, and those in a fow words, as will be seen by comparison between the two. As it is now printed in the "Church Hymnal" it reads :-

"I would not live always; I ask not to stay Where storm after storm rises dark o'er the way The few lurid mornings that dawn on us here Are enough for life's woes, full enough for

"I would not live always, thus fettered by sin, Temptation without and corruption within: E'en the rapture of pardon is mingled with fears, And the cap of thanksgiving with penitent tears.

'I would not live always; no, welcome the tomb; Since Jesus has lain there, I dread not its gloom; There, sweet be my reast, till he bid me arise To hail him in triumph descending the skies

"Who, who would live alway, away from his God. Away from von heaven, that blissful abode, Where the rivers of pleasure flow o'er the bright

And the noontide of glory eternally reigns "Where the saints of all ages in harmony meet, Their Saviour and brethren, transported to greet

While the anthems of rapture unceasingly roll, And the smile of the Lord is the feast of the soul? The general committee did not meet until 1839, and then the members assemble o in the house of Bishop White, in Philadelphia. The report of the sub-committee was presented, and each of the hymns was pass ed upon separately. When this one came up one of the members said it was very sweet and pretty, but rather sentimental, upon which it was unanimously thrown out. Dr. Muhlenberg, who was not suspected as the author, voted against it himself. Thathe supposed was the end of it, for the committee agreed upon their report that night and adjourned.

But the next morning Dr. Onderdonk, who had not attended on the previous evening, called on Dr. Muhlenberg to enquire what had been done. Upon being told that among the rejected hymns was the one representing their joint labors, he said :- "That will never do," and went about among the members of the committee, soliciting them to restore the hymn in their report, which accordingly they did, so that to him is due the credit of giving it to the church at that

Dr. Mulenberg is still living, being nearly eighty years of age. The following brief sketch of the author of "I would not live alway," will not prove uninteresting to those with whom the hymn is a favoite

Dr. Muhlenberg's full name is William Augustus. He was born in Philadelphia in 1776, and is the great great-grandson of the Rev. Henry Melchior Muhlenberg, the founder of the German Lutheran Church in America. He is the grandson, too, of General Peter Muhlenberg, the patriot clergyman, who one hundred years ago was settled in Woodstock, Va., and who, mounting his pulpit one Sunday morning early in the Revolution, preached his last sermon, upon the duties which men owe to their country, saying, in conclusion, "There is a time for all things-a time to preach and a time to fight—and now is the time to fight," the victim of a false man's false pretences, with which words he stripped off his clerical gown, appeared in full uniform, read and protectingly to his heart. We believe his commission as colonel in the American that the son is often tempted to evil comarmy, and straightway formed a regiment among his parishioners. From this grandsire down Mr. Muhlemberg inherits the repour itself out upon the irrepressible boy.

To fall in love with an honerable man is as proper as for an honorable You whose brothers are but well-dressed man to fall in love with an amiable and loafers. We pity any girl who is so verdant, virtuous woman: and what would be a so soft, to think less of a young man for bemore gratifying spectacle than a sight so ing a mechanic—one of God's noblemen pure, so approaching in its devotion to the celestial? No, fall in love as soon as you like, provided it be with a suitable person. Fall in love and then marry, but never marry unless you do love. That's the great point. Never marry for a home or for a husband. Never degrade yourself by becoming a party to such an alliance. Never sell yourself, oody and soul, on teems so contemptable. Love dignifies all things, it ennobles all conditions. With love, the marriage rite is truly a sacrament. Without it, the ceremony s a fraud and the act a human desceration. Marry for love or not at all. Be an old maid, if fortune throws not in your way the man of your heart; and, though the witless may sneer, and the jester may laugh, you have a roof and windows, or even a tent, might your reward in a clear conscience and a answer, as it once did; and if we are to be comparatively peaceful life. Thinning Corn.

Prof. Roberts, of the Cornell University, made some experiments in growing corn on the college farm last season, the results of which are valuable.

He planted three plots or three sixteenths of an acre each with corn and thinned the thinned. The first plot yielded at the rate of 160 bushels, the second at the rate of 125 bushels and the third 106 bushels (of ears) to crops of corn were made by growing three lenium. Better wait for the steeple, the will produce more than five stalks. If every | not for the new and splendid edifice itself three feet apart each way, there will be it? nearly one hundred bushels of shelled grain per acre. To grow maxmium crops of corn, upon a stalk, and ears of such a size that a hundred of them will make a bushel of grain. In view of this, it is strange that with so prolific a grain as corn, a yield of 100 bushels to the acre should be considered as something almost impossible to obtain.

A Beautiful Answer.

When the Emperor of Germany was latey on a visit in a distant portion of his deminions, he was welcomed by the children of the village. After their speaker had nade a speech for them, he thanked them: then taking an orange from a plate, he asked :

"To what kingdom does this belong?" "To the vegetable kingdom, sir," replied the little girl.

The emperor took a gold coin from his pocket, and holding it up, asked: "And to what kingdom does this belong?" "To the mineral kingdom, sir," replied the little girl. "And to what kingdom do I belong, then?" asked the emperor. The girl colored deeply, for she did not ike to say "the animal kingdom," as he hought she would, lest his majesty should be offended; when a bright thought came, has not only been always on the side of good she said, with radient eyes:

"To God's kingdom, sir," The emperor was deeply moved. A tear tood in his eye. He placed his hand on the child's head, and said most devoutly : "Grant that I may be accounted worthy of that kingdom."

Encourage your Children.

Encouragement works wonders with alnost anybody, no matter what his occupaion in life may be. A boy likes to be encouraged, so does a girl; a man likes it, also woman; and even the old grandfather and randmother have a relish for it.

Some parents often make a mistake in not giving their children credit when they do a hing well; and some unintentionally let a lesson that has been studied very hard, or piece of work that has been well done, by boy or girl, pass by without the least notice. This discourages a child, and has a ad eff-ct otherwise.

Encouragement puts new life into a child, especially if it be bestowed by a parent. Yet here are people who, though anxious to have their children do well, are continually, and in a dispiriting way, telling them they shouldn't do so and so, and that is wrong, etc, without ever having a little friendly alk with them, and giving them good adthe family portrait gallery. Beware, young ladies, how you treat young men who work for a living, for you may one of these days be menial to one of them. Far better to discharge the well-fed them. Far better to discharge the well-fed pauper with all his rings, jewelry, brazenness and pomposity, and to take to your affection the industrious mechanic.

TWO WAYS OF LOOKING AT ONE SUB-JECT .- The question of building costly churches is commented upon by the New York Observer thus: A church edifice is not merely a building in which to worship God; four walls, with barns substituted. A church edifice is itself an expression of worship, and is offered to God as his house, and should therefore be such as the people are able and willing to devote to Him whose stewards they are. But the Christian Union thinks that if costly churches plunge congregations into debt it would be better to build cheaper ones. Here is the argument Church debts are becoming a nuisance and a scandal; church loans are an incuhills in one lot to 3 stalks to a hill, another bus which none but the best saints have to 4 stalks to a hill and the third was not grace enough to carry; church finances are more than a match for an angel's wisdom. Better worship, we say, in an old barn, or under the open canopy of heaven, than the acre. NAST THE ARTIST. - Nast, the artist, says correspondent, seldom goes to New York. His work is done at his house in Morristown, N. Y. His genius is searcely more wonderful than his readiness. He sketches with equal rapidity and originality. He has W. R. TOLLES, done enough already to render his fame immortal, but there are scores of years left to him in which to achieve new wonders. He morals, but has resisted the strongest possible temptation to swerve from the path of rec'itude. He was the only man who inspired Tweed with absolute terror, So Tweed's men made insidious approaches to him and offered him a fortune if he would desist from pursuing them. The only consequence of this attempt at negotiation was that he exhibited their rascalities in still more vivid colors. His dislike of frauds and shams is ineradicable.

FOR THE GIRLS .- An old stager, who has b en through the mill gives the following parental advice to the girls:

Take lessons on the piano, and learn to paint and sing, but let your mother do the washing.

Do worsted work, and make nice little neckties for the heathen, but don't acquire that mystic art to "cook pork and beans." Go to boarding school and pursue some French, Spanish and German, but neglect your good old mother English.

Fiatly deny the soft impeachment that you are engaged. Treat your young sprig precisely as if you were ashamed of him. It is complimentary, anyhow, to the young sprig.

THURSDAY, JUNE, 24, 1875.

SOUTH NORWALK, a city of 3000 inhabitants, is situated on Long Island Sound, the New York and New Haven Railroad, and at the terminus of the Danbury and Norwalk Railroad; 42 miles from Grand Central Depot, New York; 32 miles west from New Haven; 16 miles from Bridgeport; and 22 miles M. M. south of Danbury. Fourteen passenger trains arrive from and 14 depart for New York, and 9 to and from Danbury daily. A line of freight propellers runs reguularly to and from New York, and a large and comnodious passenger steamer makes daily trips during the summer months. Vessels drawing 12 feet of water discharge their cargoes at the wharves. South Norwalk has grown rapidly and substantially, more than doubling its population within the past ten rears, and is now one of the most important stations on the New York and New Haven Railroad. The chief pursuits of the inhabitants are the manufacture of machinery, steam engines, locks, hats, straw goods, 'ship building and the cultivation of oysters. Hundreds of barrels of oysters are shipped daily to the large cities, where they are appreciated on account of their extra size and peculiarly fine flavor. As a location for manufacturing establishments it offers unusual facilities. Here are the Norwalk Lock Co., manufacturers of Locks, Knobs, Bronze Goods; The Norwalk Iron Works Co., manufacturers of the Norwalk Iron Works Co., manufacturers of the Norwalk Iton Bengine and Earle's Celebrated Steam Pumps; Crofut & Knapp, A. Solmans, G. & W. H. Benedict, Smith & Palmer, Adsms Bros., & Brush, the latter five are manufacturers or fine hats. The Hat Forming Co., and Prentiss Hat Forming Factory, manufacturers; of hat bodies. Beatty Brothers, straw hat manufacturers; The Excelsior Gas Machine Co., (recently of Warren, Mass); Lounsbury Bros., & Rockwell, shoe manufacturers; Fairfield Co., Planing, Mills, Robert H. Rowan's Paper Box Manufactory, Geo. S. Bell's Ship Yard and Marine Rallway; Richards, Weed & Boat Builders; builders and contractors, lumber yards, coal yards, nurseries, florists, etc. For the general retail and local business, see advertising columns of this paper. There are 5 churches, Congregational, Episcopal, Methodist, Baptist, Catholic. One National Bank; one Savings Bank; one Banker; The Fairfield Fire Insurance Co., which has agencies in every state in the Union, and one of the most successful companies in the country. There are excellent graded schools, gas works, paved streets, delightful and extended views of the Sound as far as the eye can reach, cast or west, from the clevations rising from the business centre, where are situated many beautiful summer villas, and commodious residences, owned by those not engaged in business here, the occupants of which contribute much to the life, fashion and prosperity of the city during the summer months. There is no city debt, and the rate of taxation is small. There are twowell appointed and well facture of machinery, steam engines, locks, hats, one to none in the state. The South Norwalk Sentinel is the only paper published, and occupies a field poculiarly its own in the dissemination of news in the city and throughout the county. To capitalists and manufacturing establishments looking for a place to locate, we recommend this city. Any information desired will be cheerfully given by addressing any member of the City government, whose names will be found in another column! South Norwalk offers anusual facilities and inducements to the capitalist, mechanic or laborer, as it is a city of great possibilities, a city now of importance and influence—a representative New England town, having every facility present and prospective for making and saving money and enjoying life.

CITY ELECTION.

The annual city election held on Tuesday last resulted in the choice of all the regular nominees. There was no excitement in the first ward, and the vote there shows a fall ing off from last year, while in the second and third wards the increased vote brings the total up to within five of last years vote. The highest number of votes cast in 1874 were for Mayor and Treasurer, each receiv ing 320; this year Alden Solmans, Water Commissioner, receives the greatest number, 318. In the third ward there was the usual struggle, and an increase of fifteen votes over last year. Hanford Wilcox ran on an independent ticket, but was defeated by two votes. The efforts to defeat Messrs. Elwell and Doty, so far from being successful, seems rather to have increased their votes-Doty's being 19 more than last year, and Mr. Elwell's 12 more than in 1873. Joseph R. Raymond received seven more votes than last year. In the second ward an effort was made to defeat David R. Selleck by running John L. Richards as an independent candidate, but it didn't prove successful, -and the next Board of Councilman will contain at least one meddlesome, tricky man .- whose character is known to be contemptable, and whose election is the endorsement of dishonesty and hypocracy. Below we give the official vote.

The "motor" is several are now neither heeded by the pot hunters of this county or enforced by the law. If this state of affairs continues, in a few yours we shall not have a quail or a woodcock to President Grant, a few days ago, having shoot at when the law is off. In Stamford glanced at Sherman's "Memoirs," said that, there is a well regulated gun club. Surely so far as he had read, he found the state | South Norwalk is not behind in the mater ments in the book accurate and just in the lial for one. I can, myself, name at least a acter. By provision of the discipline of that dozen men in this city that with a little church, a certain Sabbath in June (usually practice at the trap, would make it a hard the second) is set apart for the benefit of the matter for our neighbors of the Stamford children, and all the preaching and speaking vein, thus: "Well, I am begining to find out | Club or any other to beat. Where is there a that I didn't have much to do with the last | more manly or instructive pastime than | Sunday school work. The church was elewar." We can imagine that Grant looked | when you are with your dog and gun? To quizzical when he said it, and that Sherman | learn to cut your bird down in his flight is a brave and gailant act. For the benefit of some of our younger sportsmen I will quote some lines on wing shooting:

. "Follow it not along the sky To take a formal aim, but try At your gun's end the object view At first obeying well the sight. Your hand has ever chanced to be Betrayed by such uncertainty Proceed then, as I just have taught. The pleasing knack will soon be caught But let me re-advise, for this Prevents, I'm certain, many a miss, Close neither eye, some good shots say Shut up your left, that's not my way But still a man may take his oath I've heard of men (it may amaze) Who never care their guns to raise, But fire them from the hip as true As we can the shoulder do. I mention this that you may see How motion doth with sight agree If you'r collected I believe Your hand will ne'er your eye deceive

But I have already occupied to much space in your valuable paper, Mr. Editor, and hope you will assist the sportsmen of South Norwalk to form a gun club.

City boarders do not put in their appearance as usual, except a few who have retired on an income, and they chosing to study economy have hired empty houses that are numerous, and bring up some furniture and board themselves. Those who are prepared for boarders think this economy is the cause of hard times, but they say extravagance is the cause, and so they curtail expenses.

They are waiting to contest for any silver speaking trumpet lying around loose which may be offered for competition, It is not usual for members of the legislature to leave off their pant doons when at work in committee, but the instance of a representative from Fairfield County (no reference to Westport) who found himself in that predicament is recorded.

Foreman E. Wheeler of 'Vigilant' engine company, lost $5 last week betting on Compo engine boys. He claims there was gouging somewhere between the referee, the time-keeper and the stake-holder. The winner of the money has not been seen since. Certain young men in the village should know better than to steal horse feet from fishermen on Sunday's and hang the poor creatures up by their tails to the froat door knobs of the stores of merchants. Such will not find in their chatechisms any authorsty or said proceedings . The oyster question was discussed in publie meeting in the village last Saturday, but no special results were arrived at. The object in view was to take action looking to protection from neighboring thieves, and to settle the question as to what are and are not public oyster grounds. Friday's rain helped my pole beans wonteachership will be vacant at the end of the present term. As there was great parade getting the teacher over here from Norwalk last fall, the change called for does not reflect much of credit to the district committee, who had thirty candidates to choose from. If the district has a good teacher why not keep him?

I rejoice with exceeding great joy, not only that warm weather has returned, but that the glorious Fourth is approaching, and I can once again look upon the young folks enjoying themselves touching off gun powder. It was my grandfather who got in his first vote for Jefferson for president and as a democratic successor of his I may say that I am against "third term," and in favor of giving more than one man a chance. The Fourth will witness some blowing up, and if "third term" blows up with it, the day will not have been made in vain.

Bob Coley is a plucky boy. He found dogs biting his sheep and went for the biggest one. He caught him by the tail, and the deg ran dragging Robert, who held on with amazing tenacity, notwithstanding his passage up hill, down dale, over stone fences and through prickly bushes. An ordinary tail would have pulled out, but this tail, like the tale I'm telling was a remarkable tail and didn't budge a hair. At last Robert caught the dog by the nape of the neck and seizing an ax, chopped that dog's head off. on Union Park; request allowed, 8 inches of curb to be above the ground. Petition of W. Hendenbrook and others for by Ketchum has a bully dog also, but he went for Mr. William Coley's sheep, and drank the blook of eight of them. Of course the town will foot the bill.

That the people of Greens Farms should petition the legislature to be set off from the own of Westport and become a portion of the town of Fairfield is a surprise to those who thought they positively knew that such a thing never would be done. The grievance which Green's Farms has, so they pretend to say, is Westport taxes are too high. it is too far to go to market, the town debt is awful, and then the society is not what they like to circulate in, but the real trouble as alleged, is, certain Greens Farmers hanker for, but who cannot get office here, believe their ambition can be gratified in nets. Fairfield. I'm growing old, but I can see hat they'le find somebody around even hough they have Westport, and in leaving t'rey'le have to shoulder their proportion of Westport's town debt. Quaker Bitters

Herbs,—the great Blood Purifier of the day,—restoring vitality and energy. To the Aged, they are a blessing, -removing the infirmities of age, strengthening and stimulating the body and cheering the mind. Mothers and Maidens will find the Quaker Bitters a safe and reliable remedy, in all cases of illness incident to the sex, -purifying the blood, - producing not only a vigorous circulation, but a beauvigorous circulation, but a beautiful and healthy complexion.
Children suffering from sudden or severe attacks of illness peculiar to early life, often find ready relief by taking one bottle of Quaker Bitters. No one can remain long unwell (if curable) af-

Hair Vigor For restoring to Gray Hair its color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimulated into activity, so that a new growth of hair is produced. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. The restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so unscalp arrests and prevents the form tion of dandruff, which is often so us cleanly and offensive. Free from the deleterious substances which mal lous to the hair, the vigor can one conefit but not harm it.
