Comfort.

This is a very comfortable word, and it is strange that there are so many who do not know what it means, and a greater pity that those who do not know its meaning should so often sacrifice it for the most foolish reasons. The fact is we are ashamed to be comfortable, least we should not appear fashionable. The largest and best rooms in our houses must be reserved for company and the lightest and best parlor must be closed and kept for the same purpose. We must occupy a large house for the sake of appearances, costing perhaps, half our income, and debar ourselves from receiving visitors, because in our own mind we cannot afford to receive them with the show and display as our more wealthy neighbors. If we cannot afford to be fashionable, as the world calls it, we can at least be comfortable, and if we can procure display for strangers, why not enjoy it ourselves? Why must the best furniture, warm carpets, and easy-chairs, and the large airy room be closed up three hundred | machinery for the manufacture of that artiand sixty-five days in the year, for the purpose of now and then being opened and lighted for display and criticism and content ourselves with thread-hare carnets, broken down sofas and chairs, and dilapidated crockery, for every day life. Why do we not remember our comfort by living in smaller houses and enjoying what we have. Wearing such clothing as is most comfortable without being either roasted or squeezed, for fashion sake, we can dress respectably without losing our comfortability. Why should we refrain from society because we cannot outshine our friends in dress and refreshment. No people in the world have such a dread of public opinion as we have. Our domestic life should be a matter of more contern to ourselves than to the public, and we ought to have courage to study our own comforts and to please our own tastes. Our manner of visiting and receiving company is labori-ous in the extreme. If friends are staying with us we feel as if we must devote every he rapidly increasing sales.

This NEW FAMILY MACHINE is capable of This NEW FAMILY MACHINE is capable of a range, and variety of work, such as was once thought impossible to perform by machinery. We claim, and can show that it is the cheapest, most beautiful, delicately arranged, nicely adjusted, easily operated, and smoothly running of all the Family Sewing Machines. It is remarkable not only for the range and variety of its sewing, but also for the variety and different kinds of texture which it will sew with equal facility and variety on a projection, using silk twist, lines or cotton kinds of fexture which it will sew with equal facility and perfection, using silk twist, linen or cotton thread, fine or coarse, making the interlocked-elastic-stitch, alike on both sides of the fabrie sewn. Thus beaver cloth, or leather, may be sewn with great strength and uniformity of stitch; and in a moment, this willing and never-wearying instrument may be adjusted for fine work on gauze or gossamer tissue, or the tucking of tarletan, or ruffling, or almost any other work which delicate fingers have been known to perform.

Ours having long been the popular and practical machines for manufacturing purposes, some dealers using "the tricks of trade" take advantage of this Ours having long been the popular and practical machines for manufacturing purposes, some dealers using "the tricks of trade" take advantage of this in trying to persuade purchasers that our Family Machine is not equal for family sewing, to our Manufacturing Machines for manufacturing purposes. But purchasers and they are set to examine carefully before choosing—have not been merely persuaded, but convinced that our new Family Machine embodies new and essential principles—simplicity of construction—case of operation—uniformity of precise action at any speed—capacity for range and variety of work, fine or coarse, leaving all rivals behind it.

ON THE BURIAL OF A KITTEN Not a mew yow was heard, nor a feline note As his corse to the barn-yard they hurried Not a groan came forth from a mouser's throat At the grave where the kitten they buried.

They buried him quickly toward morning light. The earth with their paws a turning. -With never a ray of the moon's pale light,

His paws were folded across his breast His tail was twisted around him: And he lay like a tom-cut taking his rest. With cats and kittens, confound him

Not a tear was dropped-not a prayer was said-Not even a word of sorrow But they thought, as they gazed on the face of th Of the fight this would have on the morrow.

They thought when they hollowed his narrow bed. Without gi ng him ever a pillow. That many a row would be had o'er the head Of the long tailed kitten - poor fellow '

And foes may talk light of the kitten that's gone. And through the dull earth try to scratch him. But never a once, if they bet him sleep on. Above the greensward will they catch him.

The whole of their heavy task was done When a cock crowed the hour of sunrising . And the way they took to their heels and run.

mentary testimonial to himself. At the end of the first act he addressed the andbence as follows: "Ladies and gentlemen, with your kind permission I will conclude the evening's entertainment by singing 'I would not die in spring time,' as I find the part of Claude a Several places have claimed the champion mean man, but Lowell, Mass., can take the belt, and it isn't Ben. Butler, neither. A man there, who employs his father in his shop lost a child, and, naturally, the grandfather of the child wanted to attend the funeral The son permitted the old man to go to the grave, and when he got home he docked the poor fellow for half a day's lost time. A sharp student was called up by a worthy professor of a celebrated college, and asked ne question: "Can a man see without eyes? Yes, sir," was the prompt reply. "How, sir," cried the astonished professor, "can a man see without eyes? Pray, sir, how do you make that out?" "He can see with one, sir," replied the ready witted youth and the whole class shouted with delight at the triumph over metaphysics. Eloquence has not entirely died out. The

WESTERN, CANADA,

GEORGIA LUMBER,

Dr. Guilmette, Physician and Chemist of forty years' experience, after many costly trials, has suc-ceeded in producing a pure Juniperine Extract, war-ranted free from the deleterious oils usually found in foreign and domestic gins, and which, by their action upon the fluids and tissues of the body, aggravate the disease, rather than effect a cure.

This Pure Extract of Juniper is a pleasant, health-ful beverage, and is superior to all other remedies for

DEBILITY OF STOMACH AND BOWELS. DISEASE OF THE KIDNEYS. FLATULENCY, DYSPEPSIA. DIABETES.

AND ALL DISEASES PECULIAR TO

It is an infusion of the berries of the celebrated Italian Juniper in the best quality of Gin. The result is a Pleasant, Stimulating, Chemically Pure Health Giving Preparation, which has received the endorsement of eminent Physicians and Chemists, as well as the general public. As a safe, sure remedy for all affections of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs it has no equal. It entirely counteracts the ill effects produced by drinking impure water.

Try it and be convinced.
