

Original Proponents Of Peace Corps To Speak

The two chief legislators who first proposed a Youth Peace Corps to the U.S. Congress last year will address the National Conference on Youth Service Abroad at The American University in Washington, D.C., March 29 through 31.

Senator Hubert H. Humphrey and Congressman Henry S. Reuss will speak to over three hundred representatives of student and youth groups from throughout the nation.

This will be the first time students and youth have come together on a nationwide basis to express their views on the Kennedy Peace Youth Corps and to learn first-hand about the thinking of the Kennedy Administration on the various aspects of the new Youth Corps.

Demonstrate Interest

The U.S. National Student Association is sponsoring the Conference in cooperation with a National Coordinating Committee composed of representatives of NSA, the Young Adult Council, various colleges and universities. The Conference is expected to demonstrate the serious interest and careful study devoted to the Youth Corps proposal by the American student Association and The American University should be commended for their work to encourage mature, intelligent and realistic discussion of the Peace Corps proposals. The opinions of the Nations young citizens need to be heard by those responsible for the establishment and administration of the Peace Corps program.

This Age's Greatest Challenge
In his reply that "If properly carried out, the Corps can take the idealism, the willingness to work hard, the sense of adventure and the desire to help others which has shown itself in so many of our young people today, and turn them loose upon the greatest challenge of the age, the surge of the developing peoples of the elementary rights of man."

Invitations have also been extended to President Kennedy and R. Sargent Shriver, head of the Youth Corps program. Students wishing to participate in the Conference may still

W.R.A. Lists Nominations For Offices

Along with extensive participation in W.R.A. clubs and intramurals, Val is a house officer and active in her sorority's functions.

Miss Meller, a sophomore majoring in Physical Therapy, is presently serving as Publicity Manager of W.R.A. A sister of Phi Mu, she actively participates on intramural teams, as well as belonging to the Hockey, Basketball, and Tumbling Clubs. Other activities are those of her sorority, 4-H, and U.C.F.

Those on the slate for the office of vice-president are Fran Wilson and Linda Chapman. Both girls are sophomores and both have been active members of W.R.A.

Miss Wilson, a sister of Kappa Kappa Gamma, is presently functioning as chairman of the Spring C.A.R.F. C.W. Playday. As a Physical Education major, she is active in intramurals and Tumbling Club, and was recently seen Winter Weekend diving at the Delphinette Show. Student Union Committee work and sorority functions round off Frannie's activities.

Miss Chapman, an Animal Genetics major, is a resident of Alesop A, supporting her house as representative and with intramural participation. She has been instrumental in the formation of Bowling Intramurals and is presently serving as co-chairman. Linda also served on various W.R.A. committees, participated in Hockey Club, and is a member of the University 4-H club.

Registration information and cards have been sent to the student body president of all colleges and universities. All students participating in the Conference must be approved by their student government. Schools with enrollments under 5,000 may send one delegate and one observer to the Conference. Schools with enrollments of over 5,000 students may send two delegates and two observers.

For More Information

Room and board expenses will be provided for delegates by the National Student Association, but participants will have to provide their own transportation expenses. Observers must cover all their own expenses.

For further information on the Conference, write to the U.S. National Student Association, 3457 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia 4, Pennsylvania, or see Matthew Schechter, president of the Student Senate.

While this Conference is sponsored by the National Student Association, it is open to participants from all accredited colleges and universities in the United States.

This Conference is made possible through Uconn's new membership in the National Student Association, and through the work of the elected national officers and the representatives on the National Executive Committee.

Christian Fellowship Plans UN Seminar

Diplomat To Lecture On Africa

Tonight at 7:30 the International Relations Club will present Richard Jolly, an Englishman who spent two years as a development officer of the Kenyan government in Baringo under U.N. auspices, as his guest speaker in the Community House. Mr. Jolly is presently an economics grad at Yale University.

During his two year stay in the northern Kenya territory Mr. Jolly realized that "the real Africa is not a continent of racial politics and talking drums, but a home of many peoples where color, laughter, family solidarity, and a good deal of well-pondered wisdom can be found on every hand. Many aspects show very little difference from village life as we know it; others show a striking contrast."

Theme of Lecture

As his theme for the lecture, Mr. Jolly will try to explain the importance of social and traditional background in Kenya. He will also show how the Community Development in Kenya and other African nations, such as Ghana, Nigeria, and Uganda, has demonstrated its effectiveness in working through traditional groups to achieve modern objectives.

Some interesting questions can be brought up as to why and how the African peoples mastered the problems of social organizations to such high degrees rather than why their technology may be lagging behind. Those students interested in providing a further background for themselves in preparation for this lecture can find several sources of varied information on Kenya in the Reading Room of the library.

Advisable also is the reading of the last five chapters of The Ugly American.

Refreshments will be served after the lecture, and anyone wishing to speak to Mr. Jolly on an informal basis may do so also after the lecture.

New Prize Offered To National College Queen

The National College Queen Contest has been greatly expanded for 1961. The search to select "the nation's most attractive and most intelligent college girl" has attracted so much interest that the Contest Committee has enlarged its plans. The national winner will now receive an automobile and an electric portable typewriter, among her $5,000 in prizes.

Several college students in this area have already entered the competition. Applications are still being accepted, because the week of the National College Queen Pageant has now been set as June 20 through June 24, 1961. In order to stage a more colorful and exciting National Finals, the event will be held in New York City.

Free Trip to Manhattan

College girls from throughout the United States will receive free trips to Manhattan, the entertainment capital of the world, so they can participate in the Pageant and compete for the National Crown.

A cost-to-coast television program is being planned to originate from New York, covering the Coronation of the new National College Queen.

The entire Pageant will be a highlight of the "New York Is A Summer Festival" Celebration, sponsored by the New York Convention and Visitors Bureau. If a girl from this college is chosen as a finalist, she will receive a fabulous five days in New York. She will visit the Fifth Avenue fashion centers, the Broadway theatre district, the United Nations, and will be photographed by newsreels, TV and national magazines.

Appearance Counts 50%

Contestants will be judged on their accomplishments as well as their appearance. This is not just a "beauty contest." Only 50 per cent of the judging will be based on attractiveness, charm and personality. Equally important will be the student's scholastic record, her campus activities, her hobbies and community service.

This search for a National College Queen has the full support of several leading companies in industry. For example, Smith-Corona Marchant has become a sponsor, to encourage scholastic achievements by the contestants. They will also award a Smith-Corona electric portable typewriter, the "Coronet" model, to the National winner.

Win an Austin-Healey Sprite

International interest has been shown in this competition. The British Motor Corporation is a new sponsor, in order to encourage safe driving among college students. Sports cars are particularly popular on every campus, so BMC will present a new car to the next National College Queen. She will soon be driving an Austin Healey Sprite, and this sports car will be one of her prizes.

The National College Queen will also receive a trip to Europe, a complete wardrobe of high fashion wearing apparel, a scholarship to the Dramatic Workshop in New York City, plus payments for modeling and personal appearances. All these activities will be arranged so that they will not interfere with her academic schedule.

May 20 Deadline

To enter the contest, just write to: National College

Queen Committee, Suite 1606, Paramount Building, 1501 Broadway, New York 36, N.Y. You will be sent an Official Entry Blank and complete details. Classmates (young men or women) and members of fraternities, sororities and campus clubs can also nominate a girl as a candidate by writing to the same address.

Applications must be received not later than May 20. Regional winners will then be chosen and will be brought to New York City, all expenses paid. The National College Queen Headquarters will be at the Hotel Manhattan, and the Pageant begins on Tuesday, June 20.

Htfd. Hosts Insurance Workshop

A three-day workshop aimed at developing more effective workers-supervisor relationships in the insurance industry will be held at the Statler-Hilton Hotel in Hartford from April 5-7.

The short course, which will be conducted by the University of Connecticut College of Insurance, will be staffed by a five-man faculty of experts drawn from the insurance field and the University staff. Director of the workshop is Dr. William T. Fisher, assistant dean, of the College of Insurance.

Discussion leader for the opening seminar on "personnel responsibilities" will be Dr. Eugene Mayfield, assistant program director, Research Division, Life Insurance Agency Management Assn.

The second session, which will stress "understanding staff members as individuals," will be led by Dr. Robert C. Nuekol, program director, Research Division, LIAMA.

The next seminar will be devoted to "tools and principles of effective instruction." Discussion leader will be Dr. Andrew Souerwine, Career Planning and Development Dept., Travelers Insurance Co., and a former associate professor of psychology at Trinity College.

Two UofC professors wind up the program April 7, when Dr. David C. Phillips is slated to explore ways to "improve oral and written communications" and Dr. C. A. Weber leads a discussion on "leadership-self-analysis and self-development."

Dr. Phillips, who is head of the University's Department of Speech and Drama, is an acknowledged expert in the field of industrial communications. Dr. Weber, acting Dean of the Uconn School of Education, has published texts in the leadership field.

Pulitzer Prize Winner Reads In HUB Thursday

By Carol Keeley
Campus Heeler

Theodore Roethke, Pulitzer prize winning poet, will read some of his celebrated works to the Uconn students Thursday night in the HUB Ballroom at 8 p.m.

The publication of the Pulitzer prize-winning "The Waking" in 1953 established Theodore Roethke as one of the most important poets of the twentieth century. Although most of his poetry draws inspiration from tangible experiences (especially those of childhood), Theodore Roethke says of the events of his earlier fifty years of life: "All such details . . . seem particularly trivial and vulgar in my case because I have tried to put down in poems, as barely and honestly as possible, symbolically, what few nuggets of observation and, let us hope, spiritual wisdom I have managed to seize upon in the course of a conventional albeit sometimes disordered existence. I have tried to transmute and purify my life, the sense of being defiled by it."

Four Best

Mr. Rufus Blanshard of the English Department feels that it has been years since a person of this caliber has come to the Storrs Campus. He feels that Roethke is one of the four or five best poets of the "Middle Generation."

Dr. Robert Stallman states that "it is exhilarating to know that the students have asked for this poet." Stallman feels that Roethke's poetry is in many ways unique. Yet he feels that it has its closest affinities with Yeatsian poetry. Roethke acknowledges this fact in his poem "The Dance" where he states "I take this cadence from a man named Yeats; I take it and I give it back again."

Mr. Stallman also pointed out that in a recent article from the New York Times it was stated that Theodore Roethke was one of the two leading poets of his generation.

The HUB Cultural Committee hopes that the students of the University will take advantage of the opportunity to see and hear Theodore Roethke recite his poetical works.

Beach Art Collection Seen In Campus Exhibit

By Cindi Murray

Paintings included in the Louise Crombie Beach art collection willed to Uconn by former President Beach in 1929, are presently being prepared for display on campus. Represented in the collection are works of Higgins, Cassatt, Gruppe, Bellows, and Thieme.

A four-man committee consisting of Thomas Ahern, John M. Evans, Walter Meigs, and Willard Sistrup has been organized to get the collection under control. They plan to install a sound program for the display of the paintings, and to eventually add to the collection. The decisions as to where the paintings will be exhibited on campus will be determined by this committee.

Being Repaired

Their immediate objective concerns the repair of some of the paintings. To determine the damage done them in the past an art expert will examine them.

Decisions concerning additions to the collection will be made with the collaboration of a committee provided for in President Beach's will including the financial head of the University, presently Mr. Evans; Mrs. Sherman P. Hollister and Mrs. George H. Hollister of Hartford.

Mr. Evans stated that his committee hopes to complete the organization of the collection.

tion by the end of this semester; however, the speed with which an art expert's opinion may be obtained will determine when the paintings will be ready for display.

Special Senate Election Today For Pharmacy

A special election for Senate, WRA and WSGC officers will be conducted today for the Seniors in the School of Pharmacy, since they will not be here to vote March 22, the regular election day.

The ballot box for this election will be set up in the Student Senate Office (HUB 109) from 2 to 7 p.m. In order to vote, these students must bring either their I.D. cards, a note from their housemother, or a note from a student senator with them. Any one of these is sufficient.

These ballots will then be sealed and put away to be counted with the ballots from the regular election next Wednesday. One of the polling places for next week has been changed. Instead of the north side of South Campus voting at Kappa Alpha Theta, they will now vote at Wheeler C.

Recent Principals' Confab Discussed By Uconn Prof

By Betsy White

Dr. William T. Gruhn, professor of Education at Uconn, recently attended the annual convention of the National Association of Secondary School Principals in Detroit, Michigan.

Panel discussions were held to discuss the problems of admission of high school graduates to college. The panels discussed ways for high schools and colleges to work more closely on problems of admissions.

Pressure Harmful

It was suggested that the highly selective admissions of students to college today may leave out some able students whose scholarship records in high school have not been especially high. Furthermore, the pressures on high school students for college admission, especially to the highly selective private colleges, have become so great that they may be harmful.

The effect of external testing programs such as the Merit Scholarship tests serve an excellent purpose, but they also may limit the high school curriculum. The high school student may spend so much time cramming for tests which emphasize written work that other learning activities are neglected. The principals felt, according to the panel, that oral expression should not be neglected as we strengthen the written work of students.

A highlight of the convention was a talk by Philip W. Jackson, assistant professor of Education at the University of Chicago, on "Highly Creative and Highly Intelligent Adolescents." His studies showed that the highly intelligent student is more anxious to conform to what he thinks will please the teacher while the highly creative student is very independent.

St. Patrick Honored In HUB Dance

It's a great day for the Irish and for everyone else as the Student Union presents the annual Saint Patrick's Day Dance, Friday, March 17 in the HUB ballroom from 8 p.m. to midnight.

Music is to be provided by the Purple Knights Band, and refreshments will be served.

Appropriate dress for the event will be jackets and ties for the boys and heels for the girls.

Dance committees and their chairmen include: decorations, Jack Novak and Dennis O'Malley; publicity, Dave Perkins; refreshments, Sylvia Knott and Val Eastman; General Chairman, Ernie D'Agata.

D'Agata stated that he and his committee hope that "this dance will be a terrific success and that everyone turns out for the fun."

Sailing Club

The University of Connecticut Sailing Club will hold an important meeting tonight at 7 in HUB 207. A vote will be taken concerning a constitutional amendment. All members are urged to attend.

Mr. Benar Heifetz is shown during Monday night's performance by the Albeneri Trio. Heifetz, as cellist, was joined by Arthur Balsam, pianist and Giorge Ciampi, violinist, the other two members of the famous trio.

This particular trio is credited with having revived interest in the piano trio as a form of chamber music. For many years, piano trios were seldom performed by professionals.

"Serving Storrs Since 1896"

To Abolish HUAC

The House Committee on Un-American Activities came off pretty badly in the debate held at the Storrs Congregational Church last Thursday evening. Its movie, Operation Abolition, didn't help it any either.

First of all, Michael Harrington was a much better speaker than Fulton Lewis. It seemed as if Lewis had been worn down a little by the hostile receptions he's been getting on the college campuses. The one he got at Wesleyan the night before is a case in point. There, the students paraded into the hall carrying signs and shouting slogans like, "We hate Commies," and "Fulton for God." Some, in their parody on super-patriots, wore DAR armbands, and one brought along a big phony bomb.

The movie was largely a farce. The soundtrack made use of canned crowd jeers backgrounds music, and a narration that claimed all sorts of things the pictures didn't show. The film did show a lot of students behaving very badly and acting silly inside the hearing room, but it also showed an awful lot of policemen dragging students down the stairs, generally, we got the impression that it was a sincere and not at all dangerous, bunch of students who got out of hand inside, but whose activities when barred from the room hardly warranted the tactics employed to disperse them.

As for the committee itself, we wonder what kind of operation it represents when it uses such dubious means to justify itself. It charges that those who oppose it are "dupes" of a giant Communist campaign to abolish it. We question whether HUAC isn't the one involved in a giant propaganda campaign. It seems to be trying to drum up support of itself through creating a huge paper dragon and setting itself up as the valiant knight who is defending us from this beast.

We think Mr. Harrington made a lot of sense when he said the American Communist Party hasn't a prayer if it really still thinks it can overthrow the United States Government. If there is a serious threat from espionage activity, we again agree with Harrington that it can be handled by the FBI. As for Lewis's claim that "cops need laws," and HUAC's purpose is to come up with them, we point to James Roosevelt's statement that almost all of the laws that deal with internal security have come from other committees anyway.

There is a serious and tremendous world-wide threat from the Communist powers. But the "cold war" we are fighting with those powers is essentially a war for men's minds. HUAC, and similar activities, only hurt us in this war by frightening good people away from valuable service to our country stifling free expression of ideas for bettering ourselves, and making us look silly abroad.

The House Committee on Un-American Activities is, we think, unnecessary, a waste of taxpayer's money, a danger to our civil liberties, and, in the long run, doing us a lot more harm than good. It should be abolished.

Letters To The Editor

'Operation' Point Missed Completely By Letter Writer

"A Letter-to-the-Editor," "Facts For Film," written by Carl Shaefer of Wood Hall, appeared in the March 9 issue of the Daily Campus in which the film "Operation Abolition" was criticized as a "mass of distortions, wild and unproven accusations, and deliberate falsifications of the facts." Furthermore, the letter stated that "It (the film) is probably a little less entertaining than a Walt Disney cartoon, but it should be taken no more seriously."

In order to prove his point, the author enumerated a few facts, which were left out of the film, having to do with police brutality and the innocence of two leading Communists, Harry Bridges and Vernon Brown, in their role at the demonstrations. It is my opinion that those facts, if true, should have been included in the film; nevertheless, they would not in any way, if included, distort the point of the film, i.e. existence and growth of Communism within the territorial United States and its target—Youth. I cannot see why the author of that letter should trouble himself with such minute details, and miss altogether the point of the film.

That it is less entertaining than a Walt Disney cartoon, I cannot deny, but not to take it seriously is to show ignorance and naivete, as well as to encourage underhanded Communist actions within the only country which and should oppose Communism.

Times' Columnist Quoted For HUAC's Support

I was somewhat troubled by Tuesday's (March 7) editorial with regard to the University of New Hampshire. Mr. Jalbert and that somewhat nebulous entity, academic freedom—which incidentally, frequently turns out to be a one-way street for the proponents of un-American ideas.

Not having been present at the University of New Hampshire, it is difficult to make proper judgment of what actually occurred there. But now, having seen the film "Operation Abolition," it is not too difficult to assess the activities of the students at the San Francisco riots. It is hoped that these maneuvers are not classified under academic freedom.

It seems fashionable today, or a mark of "superior" intelligence, to agitate for the dissolution of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, a committee authorized by Congress to inquire into the activities of known communists, klansmen, etc., in short, those who constitute a danger to the government and way of life desired by the vast majority of American people. What real American, desirous of retaining all those privileges we hold dear, will deny that we need a "watchdog" committee in these times. As opposed to Mr. Harrington's charge that we are running out of Communists, I would like to quote from Victor Riesel's column in the Hartford Times of March 10: "A reorganized underground organization of seven to eight thousand activists directed by a central secretariat to five men, an executive board of 17, and a national board of 60, all dedicated to tearing down our Democratic way, is the Communist Party of America."

Let us not confuse defiance, show hammering—a la Khrushchev, shouting and chanting with academic freedom and freedom of speech. The ability to disagree, even vehemently, without being disagreeable, is an American quality and an American privilege.

Cultural Campus Needs Change In OPR System

I am sick of the phony idealism that constantly fills the Daily Campus editorial columns. Stop looking down your nose at me, O Great Noble Editorial Writer.

Monday's editorial, "A Cultural Campus," was too much.

I too would like to study for "the sheer of learning." I too would like to attend all of the cultural events. But let any of us try it; it quickly becomes all too obvious that we fight a losing battle. The simple truth is that the opr system won't allow the serious student the freedom to learn. It forces him to work for marks. And no one gets marks for attending cultural events or for studying what he wants to study. If any serious learning takes place on this campus it is not with any help from the system; it is rather in spite of it.

However, the non-serious student obviously thrives here. The opr system functions especially for him: with a minimum of memorizing he can get comfortable marks. But this student is not the one found at the cultural movie or the recital hall. Why then do we continue to wonder when the attendance is poor?

Certainly the cultural level of this campus is low; but don't blame the students that are here; rather blame that which brings them here and nourishes them. If the Daily Campus is going to criticize anything, let it criticize that idiotic system which will as long as it exists, make any kind of "Cultural Campus" impossible.

Conference

A round table conference of Congolese political leaders has ended on the island of Madagascar. The delegates—in their final session—agreed on details of replacing a united Congo with a loose federation of semi-independent states. Congo President Joseph Kasavubu was named president of the new confederation. The exact number of states and their boundaries were left to further talks.

The delegates also demanded that the UN annul a security council resolution empowering the UN to use force if necessary to preserve order in the Congo. The big question now is whether rebel leader Antoine Gizenga who controls Oriental Province will accept the conference decisions.

Chi Phi Swamps Theta Sigma Chi In Finals

By Ned Parker
and
Dave Sheehan

Last night in the C.I.T. finals, Chi Phi rolled over Theta Sigma Chi twice to take the championship the hard way. The Chi Phi quintet took the first game 63-43 and the second by an even more convincing 63-34.

In the first game Chi Phi jumped to an early five point lead which they lengthened to 9, 10 and finally 13 points by intermission. Bill Minnerly, Johnson and Seely were the high men for the hot shooting Chi Phi team with 10, 8 and 8 respectively.

In the second half it first appeared that T.S.C. might make a comeback but nice drives by Larsen, and Seely kept Chi Phi ahead. Bill Minnerly sparked the Chi Phi team to victory with his outside shots and work under the boards.

He netted 16 points in the game but Seely, driving very well, was high man with 17. Estridge was the high man for the losers with 12 points. Most of which were foul shots in the comparatively well refreshed game.

Shortly after the first game the second game was played. In the second game Theta Sigma Chi jumped to an early 5-2 lead but long shots by Bill Minnerly kept Chi Phi in contention. The lead saw-sawed throughout the first stanza with Chi Phi on top 23-18 at half time.

In the second half Chi Phi took the initiative and out scored Shakes 5-2 during the first minutes. After 10 minutes the game became a rout with Chi Phi ahead 35-24, 38-24 and 57-34 as they scored 22 straight points.

In the game Seely, who played a tremendous second half, and Bill Minnerly were the high scorers with 18 points apiece. Schreiber scored 14 and Larsen, who also sparkled on drives, put in 7 points for the winners.

Estridge was again the high man for Theta Sigma Chi, this time with 11 points. Jones got 9 and Klimas 7 rounding out the high scorers.

The referees for the game were Joe Lenhart and Brad Leach.

Semi-Finals

The Tourney field had been narrowed to two as a result of the two games played Monday night. In the first contest the Beta Sigma Gamma squad jumped out to a quick 8-1 advantage and went on to squelch Alpha Zeta Omega's hopes of an upset with a decisive 58-32 victory.

Early Lead

Down by seven early in the game, AZO made a quick comeback by reeling off 6 straight points. But then the superior teamwork of Beta Sig team came into play and they canned 8 straight on jumpers by Bill Drakely and the ball-handling of Bob Countryman.

The scrappy AZO defense had slowed down the usually fast-breaking BSG offense but it was doing them no good as the red-shirted team merely worked the ball around for the good shot.

Early in the game it looked as though it was going to be quite a contest. Ed Fryer was out-rebounding Beta Sig's big men and AZO was getting their share of the shots. But their offense was not potent enough, they had to be content with long, desperate jump shots and were not getting enough offensive rebounds. Their shooting percentage was also low and they soon found themselves to far behind to make a comeback.

So by the half BSG was controlling both boards and had run up a comfortable 24-10 lead. Bill Drakely was the most potent force in the Beta Sig offense with 8 markers and Rock Wylis had 6 of AZO's 10 points. Reggis Martin was controlling both boards for BSG.

"Bulls-Eye" Bill Drakely. Fred Tinsley got into the scoring column in the second half and it was never close as Countryman, Tinsley, and the ever-accurate Drakely easily offset the single-handed efforts of Rock Wylis.

Fryer and Joe Clement, who are usually big cogs in the AZO attack could total just 11 points between them and Wylis topped the losers, and led all scorers with 16. But the BSG boys had 3 men with 14 apiece, Drakely, Tinsley and Countryman, and this weapon was too much for the pharmacy boys.

Chi Phi 45-40

The second game of the night provided all the excitement as Beta Sig came back on the court after a half hour's rest to face a tough Chi Phi team which was really "up" for the game.

Both teams opened with tight defenses, and Chi Phi offset an opening minute foul shot by Countryman with two long jumpers to lead 4-1 in the opening minutes.

Bill "Bull" Minnerly hit on a pretty drive to make it 6-1 and Beta Sig called a hurried time out. They could see that Chi Phi was going to run in an attempt to take advantage of their extra rest.

After the rest BSG started to feed "Bulls-eye" Bill Drakely in an attempt to stay in the game. He hit one jumper but Buzz Johnson hit two straight, then Minnerly on another drive, another BSG foul shot, and Johnson again and Chi Phi was off and running to a 14-9 lead.

But Beta Sig proved their ability by coming back on buckets by Countryman, Huckabay, and Reggie Martin to move ahead 13-14. After that the lead changed hands to a 22-21 intermission lead for Chi Phi.

C.P. Comeback

Beta Sig moved ahead early in the second half but Chi Phi came back again and, scrapping for every bucket, and trying to offset the great shooting of Drakely, they finally went back ahead to stay on Fred Larson's only bucket of the game.

After that Chi Phi stayed on top for the last seven minutes to gain the right to face Theta Sigma Chi in the final game. Bill Minnerly, Dick Seely, Buzz Johnson and Bert Schreiber all hit well for CP; Minnerly had 12, Seely and Schreiber 11, and Johnson 9. Drakely had 15 for BSG and Countryman 12.

The final count was 45-40 as Chi Phi tuned up for the big game.

Spikers Fail To Place In I.C. 4A's

By Bob Skirskanich

Uconn's Gene Bachman again broke the school record in the indoor pole vault with a leap of 12'6". Madison Square Garden, New York City, was the place last Saturday night's 40th annual I.C. 4-A track meet was the occasion.

Although this leap failed to place in the meet scoring, it is understandable when one considers the seasoned competition. Cornell's John Murry took the pole vault with a jump of 14'6". There were several other entrants up in the "cloud 14" bracket, making the pole vault one of the meets harder events to score high in.

Oberg Fails To Qualify

Paul Oberg, Uconn's 600 yard runner at this meet, did well by placing first in his heat. However, as it turned out, the best Paul ran in was one of the slower ones, thus there were no runners to push him to a better clocking, and consequently Paul's time did not qualify for the finals. It was Jim Stack from Yale in this event, with a clocking of 1:10.6, a good time for the 600, but not the world's record time he was trying for.

Mel Parsons was Uconn's

only other entry at the meet. Mel ran in two events, the 60 yard dash, and the high hurdles. Mel failed to place in the 60 yard dash, and a bad start in the hurdles proved disastrous.

The times for both of these events tied the meet record; Frank Budd of Yale took the 60 yard dash and Leon Prass of Villanova took the highs in 7.4.

Yale Wins

As was expected, it was Villanova and Yale all the way for the team titles. Yale edged out last year's title holder, Villanova, by one lone point in the end.

The scoring for the first three teams ran Yale - 30; Villanova - 29; and Manhattan - 20. An interesting sidelight to the Yale-Villanova battle was the one mile relay.

Princeton won the event in 3:20.2 and Villanova finished in third place behind them, or so they thought. The third was declared void for Villanova, and the relay team was disqualified for pushing on a turn. As it turned out, the points lost here resulted in the loss of the title won last year.

Thomas Short of 7

John Thomas fans were disappointed as Boston U's legendary high jumper turned in mark. Up until last week a 6'6" first place. This was Thomas had a string of 14 the second time in succession successive meets behind him Thomas failed to clear the 7' with 7' or better jumps.

Floyd Wants To Fight More Often Than Before

Miami Beach, Florida, (AP)

Heavyweight champion

Floyd Patterson said today he hopes to defend his title again this summer. Patterson told a news conference in Miami Beach, Florida:

"This once-a-year routine is for the birds. I feel better when I am fighting more."

Patterson, who knocked out Ingemar Johansson in the 6th round of their title fight last night, went on to say:

"Regardless of the income tax situation, I want to fight again this year. There are several good contenders. I don't know which one I would fight."

Shows Effects

Patterson, who was knocked down twice in the first round of last night's bout, showed the effects of the bruising battle. His left eye was swollen and half-closed. A patch covered his brow.

He mentioned British champion Henry Cooper as being high on the list of contenders who deserve a shot at the title. He said his next title defense will be handled by Feature Sports Incorporated, the promoter of the Miami Beach fight.

The Other Side

Ingemar Johansson says he believes he was up before the count reached 10 in the 6th round.

Referee Billy Regan says: "I had just finished the count of a full 10 when he tried to get up."

8-Count Decisive

Both fighters agree that the mandatory 8-count, following knockdowns, was a decisive factor. Johansson says that, if he had been able to go after Patterson following the first knockdown of the fight, in the first round, he might have delivered a kayo punch. Patterson admits as much, saying:

"Those extra few seconds gave my head a chance to clear."

"Sonny Liston has repeated his offer to fight Patterson for no financial return. Liston says:

"He can have the money, a return fight or anything else he wants. The title is all I want."

Mike DeJohn Fight?

Promoter Norman Rothschild of Syracuse, New York, has offered Floyd Patterson $600,000 to defend his heavyweight title against Mike DeJohn of Syracuse in June or September. Rothschild said, in an offer wired to Miami Beach Florida, that Patterson's total take could exceed one million dollars.
