Tentative Plans For Moving To 'Tower Quadrangle' Told

By Chuck Raymond
Executive Editor

Tentative plans for moving the West Campus fraternities and independent men's living units to the new "Tower Quadrangle" near the water towers were explained to unit and fraternity presidents, stewards, and resident counselors by Mr. Sumner Cohen, director of men's housing at a meeting Tuesday night at Colt House.

The plans, indefinite until May 1, call for Sherman House, Kappa Psi, Colt House, and Alpha Gamma Rho to move north in September, 1960. The remaining four houses, Phi Chi Alpha, Alpha Zeta Omega, Trumbull House, and Alpha Epsilon Pi are slated to move in September, 1961.

Women students are slated to move into the first four units next fall if the move is made. The remaining four units will be opened to women in the following year.

Mr. Cohen told the groups' officials that all units will furnish their lounges when the move is made. He pointed out that the groups could obtain four-year loans with no interest from the University to buy the lounge equipment which will be obtained from contractors through bids.

The average estimated cost of a lounge is $4500.

Cohen also stated that the University will move the fraternities and independent groups' equipment such as hi-fi and television sets and all the downstairs recreation room equipment which includes chairs and some lamps.

Comments on Move

Commenting on the move and the fact that the units would have to buy their own furniture, Richard A. Ronson, president of Colt House stated: "We realize that the lounge equipment is rented, but it might be fairer to take the furniture up with us since it is in good condition and we have paid the depreciation on it."

All units will have finished paying the depreciation by the end of this year.

Phillip Sherman, president of Alpha Epsilon Pi, stated: "I think that most of these plans are, on the whole, very good. I just object to the way that they were presented because they were presented without prior discussion and that there could only be minor changes."

Mr. Cohen stated that these ideas were presented at the first meeting where all the units were represented. He added that he had talked to unit and fraternity officials individually over the last several months.

Discussed Openly

He also pointed out that all the conditions and problems brought up at the meeting were discussed openly, with one point concerning the resident counselors being discussed for over an hour and the wording being changed.

"There is nothing secret," he said.

Phi Chi Alpha's president, John Boni, had no comment.

Other independent living units and fraternity presidents could not be reached for comment.

Election on WHUS

Tonight starting at 9 WHUS will bring the election returns to its listeners in the fastest possible manner. For on-the-spot coverage in the U. N. Room, where the votes are tabulated, Dave Schanupp, Special Events Director, will have a remote crew to bring the totals speedily to the listeners. At Election Central in the main WHUS studio, News Director Dick Rice will direct the totals board, the interviews with candidates, and the beeper-phone reports from the political parties headquarters. To hear the complete election returns, including the operation of the Hare or Preferential system as the totals are reached and candidates are elected and dropped, tune in tonight at 9 to WHUS.

New Greek House Contracts Bring Reactions Of Laughter

By Larry Dupuis
Senior Associate

Eight new points concerning the proposed new fraternity contracts were outlined by Russel March, President of the Interfraternity Council, at their meeting Monday night. Four of these points concern all fraternities, while the other four only concern the West Campus Fraternities which will move to the new dormitories being built on Watertower Hill.

In these new provisions it states that the fraternities and independent living units must use their food bill only for food, and they cannot divert some of the funds for other purposes, such as buying rugs or silverware.

A second point concerning all fraternities states that the president, steward and the treasurer will be responsible for a deficit if their budget is exceeded.

Another new point brought out in these new contracts state that Fraternities and Independent living units must carry workmen's compensation insurance and liability.

The final provision dealing with every fraternity states that the Resident Counselor is responsible for kitchen supervision.

ties and Independent houses that will move to the new Watertower Quadrangle next year. The last four also apply to these new dorms.

The first of these new points states that all food deliveries will be checked in by the Resident Counselor or the Steward.

The Resident Counselor will review all menus to ensure that basic nutritional requirements are being met in the second new point brought out in this new contract.

The third point for the new Tower Quadrangle says that the Resident Counselor will review the kitchen records weekly with the Steward.

The last new provision calls for the president of the house to countersign all checks.

All eight points were referred back to the Contract Investigation Committee.

According to Thomas Davis, secretary of the IFC, there was a general reaction of "laughter" as March read off the eight points.

John Boni, president of Phi Chi Alpha, one of the West Campus Fraternities moving to the Watertower Quadrangle said that, "these last four points could be good, if not misconstrued, and if they are taken in the spirit of the thing as Mr. Cohen told us at Tuesday night's meeting at Colt House."

The meeting at Colt House was to discuss policies and time of moving the West Campus fraternities to Watertower Quadrangle.

Boni also stated that Mr. Sumner Cohen had told Mrs. Helen Mahan, their resident counselor, that resident counselors would be in charge of keeping kitchens clean. This was told to her at a resident counselors' meeting held about two weeks ago.

Although Mr. Cohen was not available for comment yesterday afternoon, it was reported by a West Campus Fraternity president that Mr. Cohen had said that these changes "were minor."

View ISO Issues; Stress Liberalism

By Sondra Gold
Staff Reporter

"We need a totally liberal President and Student Senate to get anything done," said Ed Bates, President of the Student Senate, when summing up his views on today's elections and the issues of the campaign in an interview with the Daily Campus.

Bates went on to say, "Conservatism has been with us so long that it is choking us to death. We are almost as conservative as Administration, and this is bad. This year's Senate has set the pace in liberalism. Already WHUS and the Campus have adopted liberal policies."

"A liberal man is one who takes a stand on issues and backs them up by his actions and his words."

Bates emphasized that it is time that students stop talking about cooperating with Administration and started cooperating with each other. "Cooperation has become a banner. You can break your back negotiating and in the end you will walk away with nothing."

Bates hopes that the personal animosity incurred during the campaign will be dispelled at the first senate meeting.

When asked to comment on the chances of the candidates, Bates stated, "I have faith that the best man will win the election."

Schechter Comments

Matt Schechter, candidate for Student Senate President, reviewed his campaign by saying, "What I have tried to emphasize is that student government should go to the source of problems of the student body. That is why I feel that the President of the Student Senate should visit with the area Alumni Associations. The Senate itself should carry on a letter writing campaign to the State Legislature for an increase of funds for faculty members."

President of the ISO party,

Skip Walsh stated that "Our platform deals broadly with all the existing problems on campus, and it suggests methods of improving them. This is one of the most dynamic platforms that students have ever been faced with, and the choice is up to them. We can only hope that they will make the most intelligent choice."

Girls Report

During this last week of campaigning Schechter and Barbara Ceppetelli, candidate for vice-president of the Senate, continued speaking on South Campus. At Phi Mu, the political chairman reported that the girls felt Miss Ceppetelli was "the only person in ISO that really knows what the revolving fund is. However, Matt's idea about publishing the achievement of senators was considered childish."

Many Phi Mu girls did not feel that there is as great a problem with the 25 to 1 teacher ratio as Schechter indicated "because the University is rated tenth in the nation scholastically."

At Kappa Kappa Gamma there was no unusual interest in the ISO speakers. The sisters felt that writing letters to the state legislature would solve any problems.

'Boyfriend' Tryouts

Dr. Ester E. Pease of the University of Michigan Dance Department, and choreographer for "The Boyfriend," will conduct a try-out for the "Carnival Tango" specialty dance on Monday afternoon, between 3 and 5 p.m. in the Fine Arts Studio Theatre.

The "Carnival Tango" number in "The Boyfriend" is a humorous Spanish dance and requires one male and one female dancer. Some dance experience is desirable, but all interested students are invited to try-out.

Home Ec. Survey Shows Opportunity On Fashion Careers

A recent survey of women in Connecticut who majored in home economics while at college indicates this academic area offers women more diversified professional opportunities than virtually any other field.

More than 60 different occupational specialties were reported among the 3,500 home economics grads in the State. The women held degrees from 140 schools and colleges across the nation.

The study was prepared by the University of Connecticut School of Home Economics, the Connecticut Home Economics Assn., and the Connecticut Dietetics Assn.

A sample of the careers listed by the survey respondents indicates today's home economist is more likely to be writer, scientist, educator or business executive than humble practitioner of homely crafts.

What was once cooking has become the science of nutrition and food selection, preservation and preparation. Thus, in the Connecticut Registry of Home Economists there is listed an administrative dietitian, a therapeutic dietitian, a clinical dietitian, research dietitian, nutrition consultant and school lunch director.

What was once sewing has become the science of clothing and textiles. Connecticut business has drawn from the school of home economists women trained as dress designers, fabric designers, bridal consultants, buyers, shoppers, etc. And several home "ec" grads own or operate shops.

In recent years more and more graduates have found careers in journalism. Among the state's home economics alumnae are a feature writer, women's page editor, advertising writer, family relations columnist, fashion writer, food editor and wire service women's editor. Radio and television also employ home economists as reporters on foods, fashion, child care and household equipment.

The field of education also has opened up many positions for home economics grads. They include college professors, elementary and secondary school teachers, school lunch directors, home demonstration leaders, nursery school officials, and special educators.

Home economists are also active in interior design and architectural design, Health and welfare agencies, and Research and testing on campus and in industry, according to the survey.

Senate Elections Set Today Polling Places Designated

By Louis Platt
Asst. Associate Editor

Elections for Student Senators will be held today on the designated polls on campus, from 12 to 7 p.m.

"The process of voting will be the same as it has been in previous years," announced Howie Belkin, Co-Chairman of the Election Committee.

In order to secure a ballot, the student must present his University I.D. card to the person making the poll. The election official will then cross out his name and he will in turn initial the Student Directory where his name appears and has been crossed out.

It is important for all students to remember that they can vote in all three classes, if they wish.

In the actual voting procedure, a student registers a first place vote for the candidate he thinks most qualified; a second place vote for the candidate he thinks second most qualified; etc. Therefore, a one is better than a two; a two is better than a three; etc.

In addition to voting for Student Senators, male students will also be given an opportunity to express their views concerning the present ROTC program. On the separate ballot given them will be stated the following referendum: "are you in favor of A) voluntary ROTC, B) the present system of compulsory ROTC."

Women on campus will be given a separate ballot on which will be the names of the candidates for WSGC president. They are: Dorothy Bowering, Christine Kenney, and Carolyn Stamm. Also included will be the names of the candidates for WRA president: Patricia Irving, and Evelyn Mahr; and for vice president: Susan Drake and Valerie Russell.

Polling Places

The polling places for all living units on campus are:

Voting at Theta Chi: Eta Lambda Sigma, Theta Chi, Phi Epsilon Pi, Tau Epsilon Pi, Alpha Sigma Phi, Theta Xi, Beta Sigma Gamma, Delta Chi, and Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Voting at Delta Chi Delta: Theta Sigma Chi, Delta Chi, Delta, Sigma Chi Alpha, Phi Sigma Delta, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Lambda Chi Alpha, Tau Kappa Epsilon, Chi Phi, and Phi Sigma Kappa.

Voting at New London Hall: Hartford, New London, Middlesex, Windham, Hurley, and McConoughy.

Voting at Fairfield Hall: New Haven, Fairfield, Tolland, Baldwin, and Litchfield.

Voting at Alpha Epsilon Pi: Alpha Epsilon Pi, Trumbull House, Phi Chi Alpha, Alpha Zeta Omega, Alpha Gamma Rho, Colt House, Kappa Psi, and Sherman House.

Voting at Crandall 1C: Beard 7 A, Beard 7 B, Phi Beta Phi, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Crandall 1 C, Alpha Epsilon Pi, Crawford 3 D, Crawford 3 C, Crawford 3 B, Crawford 3 A, and Merrill 5 A.

Voting at Wheeler (2) C: French 6 A, French 6 B, Phi Sigma Sigma, Kappa Alpha Theta, Wheeler 2 C, Alpha Delta Pi, Phi Mu, Stowe 4 C, Delta Zeta Pi, and Merrill 5 B.

Voting at Whitney Hall: Holcomb, Sprague and Whitney.

Voting at Grange Hall: Grange and Hicks Hall.

Voting at the Student Union Lobby: Commuters and the residents of Manchester Hall.

It is hoped that everyone will get out and vote on Election Day.

Joseph Pendleton, Matthew Schechter, Donna Carluccio and Barbara Ceppetelli are running for two offices in this election—Student Senators and President or Vice President of the Student Senate.

Matt Schechter (ISO) presidential candidate, has been a member of the following committees on the Student Senate: Steering Committee, Finance Committee, Chairman of Ring Committee, Co-chairman of the Dining Hall Committee, Chairman of the Easter Dates Vacation Committee, Chairman of the Library Study Committee, Christmas Vacation Committee, Constitutions and Constitution Committees, and Compulsory Attendance Committee.

He has presented the following motions on the Senate floor: ROTC referendum, Contact of Senator Humphrey on Government Surplus Food, Easter Vacation Dates Survey, Motion Supporting Civil Rights, ASG Column in paper and Motions concerning the Ring Committee.

Joseph Pendleton (USA), presidential candidate, has served as class president in his sophomore and junior years.

He has been a member of the following senate committees: Blue and White Committee and Steering Committee and Skitsofuna.

Donna Carluccio (USA), vice presidential candidate, has served on the following committees: Cochairman of the Blue and White Committee, Cochairman of the Husky Handbook and Cochairman of the Public Relations Committee.

Barbara Ceppetelli, (ISO), vice presidential candidate, was secretary of her class as a freshman and vice president in her sophomore year.

She has served on the following Senate committees: Chairman of the Pied Piper Committee, Blue and White Committee, Cochairman of the Infirmary Committee and Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Military Aid
Washington, March 23 — (UPI) — Defense officials have warned Congress that two billion dollars must be appropriated this year for military aid to America's allies. Assistant Defense Secretary John Irwin told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that military aid would have to be cut by 20 per cent.

USA Optimistic; Mum On Chances

By Ronald Obuchan
Campus Heeler

The USA party closed its final day of campaigning yesterday reiterating strongly its plank of cooperation.

Although optimistic, some top party members were reluctant to comment on their party's chances in today's elections because: "This looks like a tricky election."

Variations on the cooperation theme were at Delta Pi Tuesday night from three USA senatorial candidates.

Doug Woundy, Senior Senate Candidate called for the Senate to develop stronger alumni cooperation. Jim Peck said he would work for improvement of the Daily Campus. Marge Muhlemeister indicated she was interested in a stronger Student Senate.

Answer Comments

Monday night Joe Pendleton and Donna Carluccio, candidates for the offices of President and Vice-president, answered many comments on a tour of the North Campus dining halls.

Pendleton stated he felt that there should be someone in the Associated Student Government office in the Union at all times to answer any questions that anyone might have. A student asked if Pendleton were implying that the present political party was failing in its line of duty at the Associated Student Government office. Pendleton replied that he had no such intentions.

Introducing Bills
Another student asked Pendleton how many bills he had introduced on the Senate floor.

Miss Carluccio said that one does not judge a candidate by the number of bills he has introduced on the floor. She also said that a Senator could introduce many bills on the floor, but if the bills weren't feasible and weren't passed, no good was accomplished. Therefore, this is no criteria for judging a candidate.

Pendleton then said that good student leaders could accomplish much more with Administration by means of cooperation. He used as an example the recent problem of Homecoming. This problem, he said, was solved both effectively and noiselessly. Pendleton added that he felt that the students were not cooperating with Administration as much as we should. He said that Al Hajjar was the instigator of the meetings between the Board of Trustees and the student leaders at the University of Connecticut. To this statement came the reply, "But a member of the ISO was the one who started this." Pendleton retorted that at least Hajjar followed it up.

Someone said that a student had gone over to Administration to get a copy of the Blue Book, didn't get one. Pendleton said this was because of the manner in which he approached administration and if he wanted one so badly, he should have gone over to the ROTC library.

A student asked who was responsible for the dropping of Interdepartmental 100. Pendleton's reply was that Bob Bonitati went over to Mr. Fingles and suggested that Interdepartmental 100 be dropped. Mr. Fingles thought that this was an excellent idea and a few weeks later, Interdepartmental 100 was dropped. One student commented, "Too bad Donna Carluccio didn't get to talk, and she's so pretty."

Contacts Chairman

Myke Mangen, Contacts Chairman for the ISO, who schedules speakers for all the houses, received a phone call Monday night from another "Myke Mangen," asking her if her dorm, Beard B would like an ISO speaker to talk that night.

After the speaker told her she was "Myke Mangen," the real Myke replied, "Funny, that's my name," whereupon the girl immediately hung up.

HUB Dance

The Social Committee of the Student Union is sponsoring an informal dance to be held in the HUB Snack Bar tonight, April 1, from 8:00 to 11:30. In honor of April Fool's Day the dance will feature a "Crazy Hat" theme and like decorations, and the student body is welcome to wear all sorts of crazy chapeaux.

Music will be provided by Robert Coviello and his band, and WHUS will carry the dance music over the Husky network. WHUS announcer David Schanupp will also be on hand to provide on-the-spot interviews with people visiting the Snack Bar. There is no admission fee, and the dress is casual.

Aid For Aged

Washington, March 23 — (UPI) — Welfare Secretary Arthur Flemming says the Administration opposes a Democratic-sponsored bill to provide Federal aid for medical care of the aged. But, Flemming told the House Ways and Means Committee, the Administration has no counter-measure to offer. Flemming said more discussions with experts are necessary before a decision can be made.

You And The ROTC

This afternoon male students will have their first opportunity to publicly express their opinions of the ROTC program on this campus. Included on the election ballots for all male students will be the Question: Are you in favor of: A) Voluntary ROTC or B) the present system of compulsory ROTC?

We ought to give serious consideration to the referendum question. As it stands now, it's just a "straw vote"; but if the results are overwhelming in one direction, the Board of Trustees will have little to stand on the next time they consider the program.

What arguments ought we to consider before voting? Many have been advanced for the voluntary program; a few for the compulsory one. A certain captain in the local detachment could only present this one when questioned recently. The ROTC program gives a man an opportunity to understand the military system better, so that he will be a more informed voter when considering our national defenses.

An argument such as this could be attacked on many grounds, but the most obvious question that arises in our minds is: "What sort of viewpoint does the military impart regarding military expenses?" We have been told that they favor them.

On the other hand there are countless arguments that have been presented that would tend to suggest that the students should check option "A" on the ballot today. For example:

1. A student should have the opportunity to decide for himself whether he wants to learn the military viewpoint or not. Forced learning of this viewpoint is an abridgement of intellectual freedom.

2. The compulsory ROTC program

preempts far too much time (192 academic hours over two years) from the pursuit of liberal and professional subjects. (Engineers should be going five years, anyway.)

3. Compulsory military training during peacetime only leads to an antagonism of the military spirit among citizens.

4. The 64 hours spent over two years in teaching students how to march and how to carry a rifle are a waste of time. In national emergencies the same material could be taught in one or two days.

5. Many advanced corps students have said (privately) that they would rather have a smaller group of serious and interested cadets to drill than a horde of complaining, lazy, uninterested "draftees". Far too much time is wasted each week/repeating material that should have been learned long ago.

6. Your grade in the program depends mostly on how many sections have had the tests before yours and how many friends you have in those sections. There is a considerable amount of cheating that goes on in the program, and the department, although recognizing it, has failed to do anything about it.

7. The experiences of the USAF in Korea and the Germans in Russia in 1941 have shown that a smaller, better trained and disciplined force is more effective than massive hordes of half committed fighters.

We could go on and on with the arguments against the present system; it seems to be a very popular breakfast question every few days. We only hope that the men who are so anxious to talk about it will get out and vote about it this afternoon. And, if you don't get a chance to vote before drill, remember, the polls will be open until 7 tonight.

Letters To The Editor:

American Public Not Scared

Recently there was an editorial in the Daily Campus entitled, "Censorship Or Immaturity?" which embodied many generalized statements. By and large, the article was a most insipid one and hardly worth reading.

Actually, the American public is NOT scared or afraid of anything, but what possible good can come by seeing such films as: "Lolita," "God's Little Acre," or "A Streetcar Named Desire"? We do not pretend to be non-impressionable; but, on the other hand, seeing films such as the aforementioned will inevitably produce many harmful effects upon us.

True, the impact of one two or three hour film will NOT do this, but a continuous exposure to such films can only lead toward disaster. For example, look at a person who has been afflicted with cancer. If it had been caught in its early stages a lot of pain and suffering would not have occurred. Unfortunately, the same thing is true with respect to films, books, etc. If our various mediums of entertainment are caught in their early stages help may be given where it is needed the most but otherwise...

Why shouldn't we have people do our thinking for us? Are we so superior that we can judge what is good or bad for us with respect to films and so on? Is it not true that a person who is a specialist in that field of work-censorship would know more than you or I. The average American person is NOT infallible as a human being you know.

The article also points out that, "one shouldn't be afraid of seeing frank discussion of sex and other earthy topics." May I ask where you can go today and NOT touch on the topic of sex, religion, and so on? If what we shouldn't see, hear, or speak hasn't already been seen, heard, and discussed I must be still living in the Victorian era.

Why should we bring these things out of the closet? Do you honestly believe that people will comprehend and not fear the "facts of life" by seeing them exploited and ridiculed in such a way. For instance, statistics prove that the moral life in countries such as France and Switzerland is very low. Yet these people have been exposed to sex in its rarest forms since early childhood.

Suppose we compare and contrast the theme of, "A Streetcar Named Desire" to our lives. Can we not put ourselves in place of the characters on the screen as they are acting. (A noted PH.D. once said this was a sign of maturity). As a result of our complete absorption, we—adult population—are more gullible, less mature, and more easily impressed—if we decided to go there in the first place.

What censorship all boils down to is the degree—where should the line be drawn? Until the public is mature enough to see through the "slut" which is now in demand, we certainly are NOT capable of ascertaining what is best for us. Abraham Lincoln in his Gettysburg address said the government was, "of the people, by the people, and for the people." We can and should apply this with respect to books, movies, and so on.

A Modest Proposal

Flowing Merrily Along

The other day as I calmly walked down the hall in my dorm, I noticed that the water fountain was running constantly. This is not the only place in which water fountains have been fixed in one way or the other so that a continuous supply flows unhampered until someone comes along and removes whatever is holding the valve open.

One of the smartest tricks seems to be dropping a piece of paper or rag into one of these continuously running fountains so that after a while we have virtually a small river flowing merrily down the hall. Since this prank usually takes place during the middle of the night, it will go unnoticed for some time. I decided to make a small experiment which would show the consumption of one of these fountains.

After careful measurement, it was discovered that approximately 900 gal. of water would be consumed in a single fountain running continuously for a period of 24 hours. This remember is only for one fountain. If you multiply this by the number of other fountains that are running continuously, it becomes fantastic.

I just thought that your readers might enjoy a little oddity like this which is going on every day at the University.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Washington—Prime Minister MacMillan is too diplomatic to mention it to Ike, but some of his British Empire colleagues have expressed themselves quite frankly about the man Ike picked to head the U. S. Disarmament Delegation in Geneva. He is Frederick McCordy Eaton, a Wall Street lawyer completely untrained in diplomacy, who has to stand up against such an experienced operator as Valerian Zorin, the Deputy Foreign Minister of Russia.

Eaton has held a few minor government jobs such as Counsel of the War Production Board and a member of the combined Raw Materials Board. However, he has no where near the experience of Zorin or Jules Moch of France or Gaetano Martino of Italy.

In addition, there's another little-known chapter in Eaton's background which may raise questions on Capitol Hill when it becomes known. Eaton is attorney for and a director of Monsanto Chemical which is a contractor under the Atomic Energy Commission for the operation of the AEC Mound Laboratory at Miamisburg, Ohio. Monsanto is also reported to be a defense contractor for the AEC, though these contracts are classified.

Monsanto Chemical has done well for Eaton. If you take the trouble to look up Monsanto's record with the securities and exchange commission and in Moody's—both of which are open to the Russians—you will find that, as of Dec. 31, 1959, Eaton owned a total of 1,621 shares of Monsanto stock, worth about $80,000, all of it a gift from the company. He got 500 shares as a gift in 1952, another 1,000 shares in a stock split in 1955, and smaller amounts every year thereafter.

You will also find that this stock began zooming in value after the Eisenhower Administration assumed office. Net sales in 1955, the third year of the Eisenhower Administration, totaled $525,679,000. And at the close of 1958, Monsanto had an earned surplus of $178,172,197.

With this background, and with Monsanto in a position to suffer from drastic disarmament cutbacks, Eaton's position as head of the American Disarmament Delegation is raising diplomatic eyebrows.

Marked one Canadian: "I wonder if the United States really wants to negotiate seriously for disarmament."

FORMULA FOR YOUTH
Konrad Adenauer, 84-year-old Chancellor of Germany, called on Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas the other day, looking spry and vigorous.

"How do you keep looking so young?" asked the Senate Majority Leader.

"I never get angry," replied Adenauer. "I keep busy and I like what I am doing."

MEETINGS ANYONE?

Activities On Campus

IV CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP: Ernest Harmon, New Britain, will lead the fellowship under the topic, "Christianity by Rebirth or Resolution?" tonight from 7:30 in the Community House.

SOPHOMORE CLASS COUNCIL: There will not be a meeting this afternoon at 3:30 p.m. because of Senate elections.

UConn STRING ENSEMBLE: There will be a rehearsal today at 4 p.m. in the Music Building 102. All string players are welcome. Symphonic music is played.

FENCING CLUB: Lessons and practice will take place tonight at 7 p.m. in the Hawley Armory.

ANGEL FLIGHT: There will be drill today for all Angel Flight members in the hangar at 4 p.m. All members and recruits are urged to attend, and members are asked to bring their dues.

Blue & White Committee Has Student-Leaders Talk

Each year the Blue and White Committee of the Student Senate sponsors a Student Leaders Conference to allow various student leaders to get together with the campus administrators to discuss general problems. Last Thursday the topic, "How can we help freshmen students to better adjust to campus life," was used as a jumping-off point for the discussion. The Blue and White Committee is headed by Donna Carluccio and Robert Bonitati.

The meeting began with an introduction by Stan Kamernon, general chairman of the conference. He offered many ideas on why freshmen do so poorly. These included the freshmen housing situation (especially North Campus), too many activities, rushing, and the fact that for many, coming to a large college involves a big break from the small home town high school.

Unexcused Absences
One branch of discussion concerned the fact that the freshmen lack intellectual drive. This is evidenced by the large number of unexcused absences from classes. It was then suggested that the freshmen orientation period stress the cultural, along with the social aspects of college. Another way of increasing intellectual drive might be to invite more faculty members into the living units for dinner and a brief talk on academics. Allowing freshmen to have cars on campus was also discussed.

Mr. Bain brought up the fact that the upper classes should try to spread more desirable characteristics to the freshmen. This included not mentioning "hard" professors and "gut" courses.

Those on the planning committee included Stan Kamernon, Donna Carluccio, Robert Bonitati, Joe Pendleton, Sam Nemrow, and Bobbie Beyer. Their job included scheduling the conference, sending letters, deciding on topics to be discussed, and making out the list of those to be invited.

Bulgaria Retires
Moscow, March 23—(UPI)—Deposed former Premier Bulganin of Russia reportedly has retired from his post as chairman of the Stavropol Economic Council. A reliable source in Moscow told United Press International Bulganin now is living in Moscow on a 300-dollar-per-month pension.

K of C Sponsors Adoration Night At Aquinas'

On Thursday March 31, the Knights of Columbus will sponsor Nocturnal Adoration of the Blessed Sacrament at St. Thomas Aquinas Chapel. The exposition of the Blessed Sacrament will start with the Benediction at 7:30 p.m. and will last until Friday morning at 6:45, at which time the morning mass will begin.

The Nocturnal adoration has a two-fold purpose. First, to make proper retribution for all those sins committed during the night. Secondly the adoration is in preparation for the first Friday of the month, on which day Catholics prepare to make a novena.

From the hours of 7:30 on Thursday evening to 6:45 Friday morning men of the Knight of Columbus and other male students are asked to take part in the adoration. It is a time of meditation, saying the stations of the cross, and prayer. Women students are encouraged to participate until the 10:30 curfew on Thursday night.

Gamma Sig
At tonight's meeting of Gamma Sigma Sigma, which will be held at 7:00 p.m. in HUB 101-102, there will be two speakers concerning the civil defense project.

Dr. George Van Bibber of the Physical Education Department will speak on the first-aid program for civil defense and Miss Martha Potgieter from the Home Economics Department will speak on Nutrition.

FAMILY BANKRUPTCIES

Greatest cause of bankruptcies in the USA is installment buying, according to Harold Rosner, President of Robert Hall Clothes, in testimony before the Senate Banking and Currency Committee. Senators were studying a bill introduced by Sen. Paul Douglas (D., Ill.) to require all articles sold on credit to bear a price tag showing how much interest was being charged.

Senator Douglas claims that finance companies are hiking the interest rates on installment buying so high that the buyer sometimes pays for the article twice-over.

"I am in favor of anything that will stop the increase in family bankruptcies," testified Rosner, who runs the biggest family clothing chain in the USA and on a cash basis. "In 1950 family bankruptcies accounted for 75 per cent of all bankruptcies. Last year the percentage had risen to 88. The American Bankers Association has shown that millions of families are spending up to 40 per cent of their income on installment payments. Even when 20 per cent of a man's take-home pay is spent on installment payments, it's a threat to the economic stability of the family."

Rosner proposed that merchandise carry a two-price ticket. One price would be the cash price, the other the credit price.

"Take the textile labeling act," he explained. "Every garment must be labeled so as to show what materials the garment contains. That's a considerable job, but it's done."

"What credit terms are common in the clothing business?" asked Senator Douglas.

"They vary considerably,"

The East Hartford Fire Department Benevolent and Protective Association will hold a stag party at Hilltop House Monday evening. There will be an entertainment program and refreshments. The committee in charge consists of Chief J. Frank Meunier, Assistant Chief Samuel Clayton, Adolph Rosenthal and Jacob Sutter.

The Women's Guild of the Center Methodist Church has elected the following officers; President, Mrs. George Hayes; Secretary, Mrs. Wallace Cook. A committee on the constitution consists of the officers and Mrs. Fred Beach, Mrs. Clarence Harvey and Mrs. Harriet Olding.

replied Rosner. "They range from no money down to weekly payments."

"What is the markup over the regular normal sale price?" asked Douglas.

"That's hard to tie down. It could run up to 100 per cent," said Rosner.

"Do you know of such cases?"

"Yes," said Rosner. "In the markup. There's much sugar-coating. A full disclosure of the dollars and the interest would level out the prices, and I believe prices would come down."

Homé Ec. Dept.
Plans Open House
Tonight there will be an open house sponsored by the Clothing, Textiles, and Related Art Department of the School of Home Economics. All students interested in learning about a future career in fashion are invited to attend. It will begin at 7 p.m. in the Lounge of the Home Economics Building.

Guest speakers, including recent graduates in this field will discuss opportunities in Fashion Merchandising, Fashion and Textiles, Fashion Designing, and Interior Design.

Upperclass majors in these areas and faculty members will also be available to answer questions. The program is directed especially to freshmen and sophomores from any school, including the school of Home Economics, who are interested in learning about the scope of the CTRA department.

Refreshments will be served at the open house, and exhibits, demonstrations, and displays will complete the program.

Rights
Washington, March 23—(UPI)—The way has been cleared for expected passage of a House civil rights bill. Leaders predict the House will reach a final vote by sundown on the bill to safeguard Negro voting rights and outlaw interference with school integration orders by force or threats. A move to broaden the interference section so that it would outlaw obstruction of any Federal court order was ruled out of order.

NOTICE
The meeting of the Sophomore Class Council will be postponed until next Thursday because of the Senate Elections today.

Giaimo Denounces Ike's Administration

In a statement issued to the students of the University of Connecticut on the occasion of a civil rights rally at the UConn campus, Representative Robert N. Giaimo (D., Conn.) denounced the Eisenhower Administration's voting rights plan in the civil rights bill as one "that would have solved nothing but instead would unnecessarily involve a person denied his voting rights in endless court battles." Giaimo stated that he voted for the Administration's plan in the House "only after my colleagues and I managed to secure some strengthening amendments and only after a Republican-Southern coalition blocked attempts to write a strong, effective registrar plan as originally proposed by the Civil Rights Commission."

Temporary Upset
Rep. Giaimo, who was a member of the strategy board, that, on March 15, temporarily upset the House leadership on both sides to achieve a brief victory for a "strong" voting rights measure, said that "the method by which the decision is made to employ Federal registrars must provide a simple, rapid procedure which will not become entangled in the complex adjudication of individual cases or otherwise entangled in the intricacies and delay of judicial litigation."

"According to the Civil Rights Commission," Giaimo pointed out, "a Federal election system may be required to register approximately 1.8 million negroes who are currently being denied a vote. There is no way of accomplishing this staggering task except by delegating to the President the authority to appoint a registrar in any election district where he has reason to believe that citizens are being denied registration on account of race, religion, color, or natural origin.

The registrar system which Giaimo favors would substitute for the Administration's court-appointed referee plan a provision for Federal enrollment officers appointed by the President to register Negroes after a court or the Civil Rights Commission found that Negroes in a particular voting district were discriminated against.

Giaimo charged that a Republican-Southern coalition has been working against a strong civil rights bill and he cited several instances during maneuvering on the Floor of the House when Republicans sided with Southerners.

Strong Civil Rights Bill
Giaimo indicated that a strong civil rights bill would be passed if President Eisenhower "would lend his efforts in behalf of a strong measure and participate in this great debate as he did last year during the discussions pertaining to labor legislation."

The Congressman from the Third Congressional District called for a letter-writing campaign to Senators and the President in behalf of Senator Hennings' (D., Mo.) proposals in the Senate "which would incorporate some features on the strong 'registrar' plan."

Horse Information Course To Be Held For Two Days

A short course for pleasure horse fanciers will be held at the University of Connecticut College of Agriculture, Friday and Saturday, April 8 and 9. Horse owners and lovers are invited to the two-day event.

Authorities on the breeding and management of horses will discuss selection and judging, feeding and management, disease prevention and care of injuries, stallion management, equitation, developing young horses for show and sale and other topics of interest to horsemen and horsewomen.

Speakers on the program will include Robert Casey, farm manager, North Hampton, N.H.; Fred Herrick, farm manager, Red Hook, N.Y.; Joseph Porter, Connecticut College, New London; Dr. William O. Reed, New York veterinarian; and Leslie Buckland, a 4-H horse club leader from Manchester.

The sessions Friday begin at 9:30, 1:30 and 7 p.m. Saturday's sessions begin at 9:30 and 1.

Further information may be obtained from Donald C. Gaylord, Extension service animal husbandman at the University of Connecticut.

White House Conference

Patricia Dunnells of Vernon Center, a 4-H club member and high school student, and Norreen Ray, associate 4-H club leader at the University of Connecticut will represent Connecticut's 8,000 4-H club members at the White House Conference on Children and Youth in Washington March 27 through April 2.

Miss Dunnells has been in 4-H club work for seven years and has been active in agriculture and home making projects. She has been a junior leader for three years, a county fair superintendent, active on various committees and has taken a leading role in other community and state activities.

Five other teenagers are also representing other groups in Connecticut at the White House conference. They are Daniel Keim, WEST HARTFORD; Joseph W. Becker, NEW LONDON; Linda Page, MYSTIC; Sally Ann Lyons, MERIDEN; and Roberta Gilbert, WALLINGFORD.

The delegates will discuss minority rights, education levels, welfare and community activities serving youth.

UC To Host Convention About Speech, Hearing

The spring meeting of the Connecticut Speech and Hearing Association will be held at UConn on Saturday, April 2 at 9:30 a.m.

A coffee hour and a tour of the speech and hearing clinic will begin the day. This will be the first official public showing of the new speech clinic.

Dr. David Phillips, head of the Speech and Drama Department at UConn will present a welcome speech at 10:30. He will then introduce the guest speaker, Dr. Nancy Wood, who is director of the Cleveland Hearing and Speech Center. She will discuss the "Concept of Aphasia in Children—Some Approaches to Theory and Treatment."

Luncheon in Commons
The convention will continue with a luncheon in the Commons followed by a business

Block & Bridle To Meet Monday

On Monday, April 4, 1960, there will be a business meeting of the Block and Bridle Club in Ratcliffe Hicks 10 & 11. The meeting will be followed with a talk by Mr. Fred Thurston of Guilford, Conn. He was former President of the Connecticut Horse Show Association and New England Horseman's Council. He is presently a director to the latter. He will talk about the use of pleasure horses, using his own Morgan mare as an example and show movies of Vermont trail rides. He will also show a movie taken of the Block and Bridle Club Horse Show in about 1948.

Fruit Spray

A twice a week fruit spray advisory, sponsored by the Extension service at the University of Connecticut will begin on radio station WTIC Tuesday, April 5 and will continue through the summer.

The program broadcasts will be heard on Tuesday and Friday on the 11. Atwood program at 6:45 a.m. Beginning the first week in June the program will be heard on Tuesday only.

ANSWERS

TO THE VOTERS:

"Because Miss Etkind's letter appeared on the same day that the Daily Campus enforced its noon cut-off time of all political letters, I am having this reply to Ann Etkind appear as a paid political advertisement to clarify some of the glaring misstatements and false conclusions made by Miss Etkind.

First of all, Miss Etkind refers to the great success of the ISO sponsored Academics Committee. But she fails to mention that this committee's success has been mainly due to the efforts of its two USA co-chairmen (Sarah Bragin and Carol Heutner). Then later on, the author states that although the investigation of the Bookstore profits was a USA idea, it was only because it was headed by a member of the ISO that it accomplished anything. Obviously, Miss Etkind is not consistent in her reasoning. But, most important, what Miss Etkind fails to realize is that it is not important who heads the committees, but rather that these committees are organized and do function.

Secondly, it was pointed out that the USA party pledged itself to cooperating with the administration but actually it was the LSO who followed this policy. If this is so, why did not the President of the Senate arrange for a meeting between the Senate's steering committee and the Board of Trustees as was done by past Senates? Further, I would like to note that since an attempt was first made at writing a new constitution, the USA Senators on the Steering Committee suggested that members of the administration be consulted to obtain the right format. This idea was turned down by the ISO members and subsequently a whole year was wasted in writing the constitution only to find out just last week that it was not in the proper format and that the constitution must now be started by the new senate.

Thirdly, Miss Etkind said that as the ISO promised there is provisions for a Central Judiciary Board in the new constitution. This is an obvious falsehood. The whole constitution was presented to the Senate and at no time was there mention of a Central Judiciary Board being in it.

Fourth, Miss Etkind slyly infers that we were tipped off about the change in the Add and Drop System and that we put it in our platform to make it look like we were responsible for accomplishing it. Actually, last year's USA Senate Presidential Candidate discussed this matter with the Register and it was through these discussions that the change was brought about.

Finally Miss Etkind mentions how the Sliding Activities Fee has been discussed in committee but nothing has been done about class dues. On this point I would like to refresh Miss Etkind's memory concerning the first steering committee meeting of this semester in which I presented the bill on class dues and also agreed to co-sponsor the Sliding Activities Bill so as not to make it a party issue. At this meeting I was told to hold off on the matter until the Sliding Activities Bill was completed. Since that time, the Sliding Activities Fee has never been given to the Steering Committee or the Senate and because of this, class dues has not been discussed either. Quite obviously, it is not the USA party who is dragging its feet with reference to this matter.

In conclusion, I would like to point out that much effort was made to avoid party bickering in the Senate this past year. That is why Miss Etkind can make the statement that although the ISO was in the minority they were able to accomplish some of their goals. Needless to say, these goals could not have been accomplished without the USA's aid and cooperation. But when the Vice President of the Senate writes a one-sided letter such as this at the end of the Senate's term, I wonder if such cooperation will be easily enlisted in the future. Let none of us forget that we are elected and represent all students and should work for them—not just the party that nominated us."

Phils' Cellar Lease Appears As Good This Year As Last

The Philadelphia Phillies will try hard this year to break their lease on the National League cellar.

No one likes to finish last but the Phillies seem to be basement occupants for another year.

In the expert hands of general manager John Quinn, the club has fine material coming up through the minors and there are prospects for a bright future. But other National League clubs are improved and the immediate prospects are dim.

Says manager Eddie Sawyer, "Our material is an improvement over what we had last year. We are building up one or two pegs. Rebuilding takes time but we feel we are making progress."

Some of the old Phillies are gone. Richie Ashburn has been traded to the Cubs, and 21-year-old Johnny Callison is patrolling centerfield.

Callison, obtained from the White Sox in the deal for Gene Freese, failed to make the grade with the American League champions. But he hit consistently well in the minors and the Phillies feel he has the stamp of stardom.

Callison will be flanked in the outfield by Henry Anderson and Wally Post, both veterans. Anderson was a disappointment at the plate last season hitting only .240 after batting .300 as a rookie.

Sawyer feels he has the reserves this year to compensate for any slumps. Bobby Del Greco, up from Buffalo, figures to stick if his hitting approaches his speed in the outfield. At Buffalo, he had 21 homers and drove in 72 runs.

Depending on whom he keeps, Sawyer also can turn to Bobby Gene Smith from St. Louis or Ken Walters, up from Fort Worth. Dave Philly, a veteran of the Major League wars, will be on hand for occasional duty and pinch-hitting.

The Philadelphia infield will be improved, if only because of the addition of Al Dark from the Cubs.

Sawyer believes Dark will steady the infield and give the club a much stronger defense. He says, "We plan to put Dark at third and he'll play as much as he can. I hope he can play 100 games."

Veteran Ed Bouchee will be back at first, while Sparky Anderson or Bob Kalkmus, drafted from Denver, will be at second. Shortstop duties have been assigned to Joe Koppe.

Pancho Herrera, who led the International League in home runs, batting average and runs-batted-in while playing for Buffalo, is certain to be kept. Herrera is a first baseman but he has experience at third and Sawyer has used him at second. His batting could make him invaluable as a pinch-hitter.

Ted Lepcio, obtained from Detroit in the deal for Chico Fernandez, provides added insurance and a good trial will be given to Ruben Amaro, a shortstop up from Buffalo.

The Philadelphia pitching won't be set until Sawyer takes a long look at all of the youngsters. About the only hurlers sure of their jobs are Robin Roberts, Don Cardwell, Jim Owens and Gene Conley. They figure to be Philadelphia's regular starters.

Schechter Requests All Points Be Considered

Matthew Schechter

First, I would like to point out that I consider it a privilege to be allowed to present my views on student government in the Daily Campus, in my letters to the editor and this advertisement. I would like to point out, however, that the reason for my purchasing this ad has nothing to do with the deadline for letters to the editor that has been discussed by some. I realize that it is necessary to set some time limit to meet newspaper deadlines and make note of the fact that the deadline was well publicized ahead of time.

My purpose in writing this letter is to make two statements I feel to be very pertinent to the political campaign.

May I say first of all that I have worked on the Senate with Ann Etkind for some time, and know of no one who has made a more sincere effort in the behalf of student government. Ann has consistently been one of the hardest working Senators in committee. A prime example would be the many hours she has put in as chairman of the Constitution Committee.

I also admire Ann for her near perfect attendance record at both Senate meetings and committee meetings. A mere look at the records will show that she introduced more bills to the Senate than 95% of the other senators, mentioning nothing about their individual parties.

May I say that I'm sure Mr. Bonitati, in the heat of the recent WHUS debate made statements about Ann that he really did not mean. I refer to statements to the effect that she would make an excellent propagandist, for the methods she used were frequently employed by the Communist Party. I'm sure Mr. Bonitati did not sincerely mean this and hope students on campus have not misunderstood his remark. I would much rather have this election settled on actual constructive issues and proposals than personalities. It has been this thought that has motivated my entire campaign.

Secondly, I would like to comment on a very important part of today's voting: the referendum on compulsory ROTC. Since I was the Senator who introduced this bill on the Senate floor, asking for the referendum vote, I retain a sincere interest. It is my belief that students should have their own choice as to entering any form of college military program. But here it is for the student body as a whole to decide. I hope all will give careful consideration to this important question.

It is my hope that the Student Senate will consider even more important student issues, as the ROTC question, this coming year. It is for this reason that I am hoping for a continuation of the fine leadership shown by an ISO administration headed by Ed Bates and Ann Etkind, president and vice president, respectively.

I sincerely hope that the voters will carefully consider the qualifications and achievements of all candidates before making the final choice.

In addition I would like to remind the voters that the ISO always has and always will try to represent all the students on this campus.
